ALUMNI ISSUE — JANUARY, 1972

Homecoming, 1972

Make plans now to attend Homecoming, 1972, Saturday, February 19.

The days activities will include registration, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.; lunch, 12:00 to 1:00 p.m.; class reunions, 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.; reception for alumni and faculty, 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.; Homecoming Banquet, 6:00 to 7:00 p.m.; and basketball between High Point and Catawba, 8:00 p.m.

Class reunions will be held for the Classes of '27, '32, '37, '42, '47, '52, '57, '62, '67, and '71. Locations and directions will be available at registration in the student center.

Dean of Student Affairs Bill Guy and his wife, Edna Rose, will receive alumni and faculty at their home, 821 W. College Drive, 3:00-5:00 p.m.

The Homecoming Banquet will be held in Harrison Hall. Crowning of Homecoming Queen will take place at 8:00 p.m. in Alumni Gymnasium prior to the tip-off of the High Point-Catawba game. A section of the gym will be reserved for alumni until 7:45 p.m.

You will note on the bottom of your reservation card for Homecoming a request for your preference of the date of Homecoming. Please return the card indicating your preference as the executive committee of the Alumni Association would like alumni feelings on this. If an early December date is favored, future Homecomings would then be set for a game early in the Purple Panthers' season.

High Point Chapter Annual Meeting

The High Point Chapter of the High Point College Alumni Association elected officers for 1972 at their annual banquet January 12 in the College cafeteria.

D. Clark Johnson was elected president, with Nido Qubein being elected vice-president. Other officers are Bobby Yates, second vice-president; Floyd T. Craven, secretary; Mrs. Clyde Hedrick, treasurer; and Mrs. Meta Heath Jackson, historian.

Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of High Point College, delivered the main address entitled "HPC Today". Dr. Patton discussed the many changes both academic and physical, which have taken place at the College in recent years and also discussed plans for the future. Among items discussed were the new curriculum, the contract program, Campus Afloat, and the construction of new facilities.

Alumni Establish Scholarships

THE ANZELETTE PREVOST
SMITH SCHOLARSHIP FUND

High Point College has received a scholarship trust from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Chapel Hill. The principal of the trust will be known as The Anzelette Prevost Smith Scholarship Fund.

Mr. Smith, a graduate of the Class of 1933, has been an investment counselor with Harris Upham & Co., Inc. in Chapel Hill. He has served as a member of the Board of County Commissioners in Orange County and is representing the 20th District of Chatham and Orange Counties in the North Carolina House of Representatives at the present time.

Mrs. Smith, for whom the scholarship is named, is also a graduate of the College, Class of 1932.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been active in alumni activities. Mr. Smith has served as vice-president of the Alumni Association and as president of the Durham-Orange City Chapter of the High Point College Alumni Association.

Interim Term

Thirty-seven High Point College students began foreign studies programs January 5 with the beginning of the 1972 Interim Term. Twenty-five students will tour England for the term which will end January 26, while six have chosen to go to Mexico and six more to Israel.

In addition to these, approximately 125 other students will be taking part in work study programs and independent study, while others will be attending Interim Terms at Greensboro College and Wake Forest University, which have working academic agreements with High Point College for this study period.

High Point College, now on a 4-1-5 academic calendar, is providing its students with an Interim Term for the first time.

Students will receive academic credit for all trips, independent study, etc., and are bound to guidelines laid down by the respective programs. One of the main purposes for such a study period is to offer students many varied, interesting, challenging, and timely programs which might not be offered during a regular semester.

Community — High Point College Prayer Breakfast

The Board of Trustees of High Point College held the first annual Community — High Point College Prayer Breakfast December 17, 1971.

William Henderson, Western North Carolina Conference lay leader of the United Methodist Church, presided at the breakfast. The invocation was offered by Dr. James Huggin, District Superintendent of the High Point District of the United Methodist Church.

Following the official welcomes by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., President of High Point College, and Dr. Holt McPherson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the College, short presentations were offered from different faiths within the community, including Father Adrian Romanlusces, Rector of Christ the King Catholic Church in High Point; Rabbi Robert Sandman, Rabbi of B'nai Israel Synagogue; and Dr. L. H. Hollingsworth, Minister of Emerywood Baptist Church.

Dr. C. Excellence Rozelle, retired minister and faculty member of High Point College offered prayer within the program, as did Dr. Ralph Taylor, retired minister of First United Methodist Church in High Point.

It is hoped that this may become an annual event as a prelude to Christmas on the High Point College campus.

DAVID ALLEN CULLER SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Friends and classmates of Lt. Commander David Allen Culler, Class of 1963, have established a scholarship fund in his memory at High Point College.

Culler, a native of High Point, was killed last December at the age of 33 when his plane crashed at Jacksonville, Fla. He had served two tours of duty in Vietnam as a Navy pilot and had received the Distinguished Flying Cross for Valor, the Navy Commendation Medal, the Achievement Medal, the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry and 18 other air medals.

While a student at High Point College, he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and served as president his senior year.

Culler is survived by his wife, the former Sandra Lee Cooper and three children.

Seniors Named To Who's Who

Seven High Point College seniors have been selected for the 1971-72 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. They are Tom Barrows of Beltsville, Md.; Mary Ann Shaw of Westfield, N. J.; Mrs. Bonnie Schrader Bretzmann of Winston-Salem; John Young of Reidsville; Linda Bagby of Annandale, Va.; Nathan Cagle of Wilmington, Del.; and Donald LaMar of High Point.

LaMar is currently serving as Speaker of the Student Legislature of the Student Government Association. He has been active in work with Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity. He has taken an active part in student affairs at High Point College and has served on numerous orientation committees.

Barrows has been active in student affairs at High Point College. He has served for two years as the Student Government Association Judiciary Council Prosecutor.

Barrows is currently president of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. He has also been active in the Tower Players and acted in the two productions last spring and the fall production of Dracula. He is a prelaw major at the College.

Miss Shaw, a mathematics major at High Point College, has been active on the Women's Dormitory Council, having been a representative for three years and also president of the council. She has taken an active role in the activities of the Panhellenic Council and has served as president, treasurer, vice-president and assistant treasurer of Kappa Delta Sorority.

Mrs. Bretzmann, a physical education major at High Point College, is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Order of the Lighted Lamp, a junior Marshall and has been a participant in the College's honors program.

She holds membership in the Alpha Gamma Delta, Physical Education Major's Club, Women's Recreation Association. A Dean's List student, Mrs. Bretzmann received a William Thomas Powell Scholarship.

Young, a Human Relations major, has been active in Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity, Student Government Association and Student Humanics Association. For four years, he has been the recipient of the Tom Haggai and Associates Foundation Scholarship.

A Dean's List student, Cagle is president of the Student Government Association. He has served the SGA Judiciary Council as Chief Justice and has served on numerous freshman orientation committees.

Vice-president of the SGA Linda Bagby has been involved in numerous student government activities and has taken an active part in freshmen orientation. She is the Southern Universities Student Government Association Women's Division representative from North Carolina. A Business Administration major, she has worked on the College newspaper staff as business manager.

First Interim Term Successful

Thirty-seven High Point College students began foreign studies programs Wednesday, January 5, with the beginning of the 1972 Interim Term. Twenty-five students toured England for the term which ended January 26, while six chose to go to Mexico and six more to Israel.

In addition to these approximately 125 other students took part in work study programs and independent study, while others attended interim terms at Greensboro College and Wake Forest University, which have working academic agreements with High Point College for this study period.

High Point College, now on a 4-1-5 academic calendar, provided its students with an interim term for the first time.

Students will receive academic credit for all trips, independent study, work study, etc., and are bound by guidelines laid down by the respective programs. One of the main purposes for such a study period is to offer students many varied, interesting, challenging, and timely programs and courses which might not be offered during a regular semester.

The trip to England, for which students receive credit in either English or history, took the students to London, Stonehenge, Stratford, Canterbury, and the Lake Country, among many other places.

The trip to Mexico, for which credit is given in Spanish, was centered in Mexico City with trips to several colonial Mexican cities such as Guadalajara, Puebla, San Luis Potosi, Cuernavaca and Taxco. The trip to the Holy Land placed emphasis on sites of historical significance in the Old Testament and New Testament times.

Another group of students spent part of the term on campus at High Point, but took time out for a week-long trip to New York and Wall Street. Twenty-five students took part in this business program which observed the activities of the New York Stock Exchange, the American Stock Exchange, Federal Reserve Bank, the New York Cocoa Exchange, and the New York Cotton Exchange.

Students took part in independent studies in business, human relations, chemistry, and sociology, while 31 others took part in the Corporate Work Experience course which gave them an opportunity to earn academic credit for on-the-job training.

Among many areas of independent study programs in which students took part were government and political campaigns, youth work in underprivileged areas, and youth work within the church.

A laboratory field-work experience was also offered in the area of the church's program for the nurture of children in the Christian life and faith. This was a study of the characteristics of children, methods, resources, and various related activities.

Team teaching was also incorporated within the interim term as instructors from the English, Religion and History Departments taught Afro-American History from the Seventeenth Century to the Present. This was a survey of the political, economic, social and intellectual problems arising out of the position of the black in the United States, with an emphasis on his many literary and religious contributions.

In addition to these, courses were offered in mathematics, education, geography, speech, psychology, art, data processing, biology, sociology, linguistics, chemistry, physical education, music, German and economics.

Course Offered On Responsibility Of Business To Society

High Point College and the High Point Chamber of Commerce cooperated to produce a first-of-its-kind course in January at the Montlieu Avenue institution.

The experimental course is Business Administration 356, a study of the responsibility of business to society.

Through the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, the College was able to secure 16 leaders representing the fields of business, industrial, commerce and government to speak to students.

Emphases for the course which met in three-hour sessions were placed on subjects such as recent trends in corporate social responsibilities and the "role of business in the realization of the need for a better human environment."

Other topics discussed by speakers and during question-and-answer periods included relevant problems in which economic and noneconomic factors are involved and the importance of a professional code of ethics.

The course brought Richard Meisky, vice-president, Central Savings Bank; Carl Wills, director of High Point's Department of Public Works; James Berry, vice-president of the North Carolina National Bank at Greensboro; and Robert Leak, director of the Office of Industrial and Tourist Resources of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources at Raleigh.

Other speakers for the course through January 26 included in order:

William Henderson, president of Carolina Cape Fear Corporation; Clarence Keever, president of Patrician Furniture Company; Carl Horne, president of Duke Power Co.; Arthur Kirkman, High Point City Councilman; James H. Millis, president of Adams-Millis Corporation.

Robert Brown, special assistant to President Nixon, spoke on January 20 to the group. He was followed by Howard Pancoast, past president of Bryant Electric Company, Inc.; Joseph A. Hayworth, personnel director of Alma Desk Company; Frank Wyatt, High Point attorney; Arthur Utley, High Point attorney; Harold G. Hoak, senior vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company; and William F. Freeman, president of William F. Freeman Associates.

McKeithen Named National Chairman

The Honorable John J. McKeithen, Governor of Louisiana and an alumnus of High Point College, has been named the National Chairman for the 1972 High Point College Alumni Fund Raising Campaign.

The announcement was made by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., President of High Point College who remarked, "Governor McKeithen is one of our valued alumni and has been a faithful friend of High Point College for many years. We are extremely pleased that he has agreed to accept this most important assignment."

Governor McKeithen attended High Point College for two years, 1936-38, before returning to his native Louisiana State University. He was awarded an honorary Doctors of Laws Degree from High Point College in 1964.

McKeithen, now in his second term as Governor of Louisiana, has also served his state as a legislative representative and a member of the Public Service Commission. He had lost the race of Lieutenant Governor in 1952, but 12 years later he won the governorship over the strongest Republican opposition in modern Louisiana history.

A member of the Methodist Church and of the official board of his local church, Governor McKeithen is a licensed lay speaker. He has also been named in Who's Who in the Methodist Church, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, and Who's Who in America.

He is married to the former Marjorie Funderburk, and they have six children.

Former Professor Honored

Dr. E. O. Cummings, former head of the Chemistry Department at High Point College, was be honored Wednesday, February 16 as an honorary member of The Federation of Societies for Paint Technology. Dr. Cummings was the guest of honor at the monthly meeting of the Piedmont Society of Pain Technology at the Howard Johnson's Restaurant on Highway 29-70 between High Point and Greensboro.

Dr. Cummings retired from High Point College in 1968 after 40 years on the College's faculty. He began a program of paint chemistry at High Point College in 1943 and at the time of his retirement the College was one of very few in the country offering such a course of study. He was also Director of the Chemical Coating Center from 1964 until 1968.

Innovation In Summer School

Summer School at High Point College will take on a new look this year as the college opens its doors and classes for the first time to area high school students. The session, which begins June 12 and July 17, will allow qualified high school juniors to take any course offered, both as day and dormitory students.

Rising high school seniors, who have accumulated an overall academic average of "B" or better, or whose instructors highly recommend them for such a program, will be eligible to enroll in summer school. Students who do not have an overall "B", but who are recommended because they excel in a certain field, will be eligible under the latter provision.

A precedent for this course of action was set last year when Dr. William Matthews, Chairman of the Department of Behavioral Sciences, offered a psychology course to high school students who met the necessary qualifications. Sixty-five students began the course, with approximately 40 completing all of the course requirements. Several of those students are presently enrolled in the freshman class at High Point College.

Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College, emphasized that students accepted in the program would not be labeled "experimental students", but would be considered and treated as any special student attending the college's summer program.

Eliminate Air Pollution At High Point College

High Point College has taken steps towards eliminating its contribution to air pollution in the city of High Point and Guilford County. The college has installed air induction valves on the two main boilers of the heating system, which are expected to eliminate approximately 95 per cent of the smoke emissions.

High Point College was one of the a number of schools and businesses in High Point to receive a letter from the Guilford County Health Department requesting that improvements be made in the emission of smoke and air pollution. The valves were installed during the month of January at a cost of approximately $2,000, and are now in full operation.

The valves, which are not patented, allow air to pass through the stoker at all times, and allows the raw fuel to continue to burn rather than just setting there smoldering — which is the chief cause for large amounts of smoke emissions.

The method was designed by Bill Honeycutt, a friend of Jack Thompson, Superintendent of Maintenance, who was formerly associated with the B & O Railroad.

Circle K Club Plans Walk For High Point Agencies

The Circle K Club of High Point College has a planned "WALK" of 25 miles in the High Point area on April 22. The Circle K Club whose motto is "We Build" is using this "Walk" for the benefit of four agencies in High Point: Kindergarten for the Handicapped; The Drug Action Council; The Comprehensive Health Service for Dentistry; and Meals on Wheels for the Elderly.

The Goal for the April event is $25,000 to be shared by the Key Club for expenses and $6,000 each to the agencies. The Furniture and Kiwanis Club will sponsor the walk along with WGHP-TV.

Those involved in the actual walk will be members of Key Club, sorority and fraternity members, faculty members, students, and others in the City who will involve themselves in raising funds for the four agencies which have not received Federal or local governmental funds for support.

In talking to Wayne Black, president of Key Club he said, "we members of the Club and residents of High Point College want to do something positive to help our community. We often hear criticisms of conditions which exist in the city, but we are attempting to become involved in areas which need our help. We are trying to help people."

The Kiwanis Club, Key Club, and WGHP-TV seek sponsors for individuals and groups of walkers at rates established, or by making a contribution to the fund. These young people are giving themselves for the community without any thought of personal advantage.

Alumni Provide Scholarship Trust

High Point College has received a scholarship trust from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Chapel Hill.

The principal of the trust, which will be known as The Anzelette Prevost Smith Scholarship Fund, will be held in perpetuity with the income to provide scholarships for students in attendance at High Point College. These scholarships will be awarded in the discretion of the Trustees or their designated representatives.

Anzelette Prevost Smith is a 1932 graduate of High Point College. She was active as a student in various campus activities, among which was the Drama Club, Girls Glee Club, Women's Student Government Association, and was also an honor student and junior marshal.

Carl Smith, a graduate of the class of 1933 at High Point College, has been an investment counselor with Harris Upham and Company, Inc., in Chapel Hill. He has served as a member of the Board of County Commissioners in Orange County and was Chairman of that Board for two years. He also represented the 20th District of Chatham and Orange counties in the North Carolina House of Representatives.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been active in alumni activities for High Point College. He has served as Vice-President of the Alumni Association and as President of the Durham-Orange City Chapter of the High Point College Alumni Association.

Sound Estate Planning Is Important

Have you ever taken a good hard look at the Federal estate tax? You should, for it may pose a real threat to your family's security.

Assuming that your estate is too small to be hit with a big tax can be a tragic mistake. The tax is imposed on your capital — all the property you have accumulated with a lifetime of effort. And in today's inflationary economy, it is highly probable that most of our friends will have estates well in excess of the $60,000 estate tax exemption.

For proof, add up the present values of your home, your bank accounts, your securities, your business interests, your realty investments and all your other assets. Then add in the full value of your jointly owned property, the full proceeds of all insurance on your life and any death benefits that may be payable to your family. Is the total over $60,000?

Recognizing the danger is the all-important first step. After that, there are many roads open to minimize or avoid the tax and still carry out your objectives. If you're married, the so-called marital deduction can greatly reduce your estate tax liability. However, the marital deduction can be highly technical. So you'll want to be sure its benefits aren't inadvertently lost.

Married or single, you can reduce your estate tax liability by making a gift or bequest to High Point College, for our Federal tax laws, including the Tax Reform Act, encourage the generous private support of America's colleges and universities by providing many tax benefits for gifts to education.

Thus, by making a deferred bequest to our institution, your estate can gain a large tax-saving deduction even though your family receives all the income from all your property. A friend with a $300,000 estate can actually leave an additional $15,000 fund to provide income for his wife if he leaves one-half of his property to her outright and leaves the other one-half to a trust under which she will get the income for life and principal will go to High Point College when she dies.

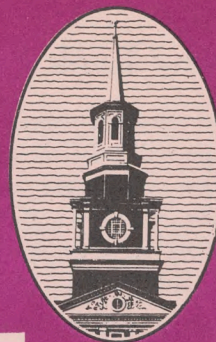

Trusts are important. They can often avoid a costly second tax on the same property and still give your beneficiaries sound, flexible security. And trusts created during your lifetime can also minimize your income taxes, separate for you the burdens and anxieties of ownership from the rewards of ownership and serve as a cornerstone for a very effective estate plan.

Can you afford to ignore the Federal estate tax? Few can. The price is too high. And careful, skillful planning — taking advantage of trusts, the marital deduction and deferred gifts to education — is too rewarding to pass up.

High Point College has a publication explaining the estate tax and time-proven techniques for lessening its impact. We urge you to send for it as a first step toward an estate plan which will accomplish all your objectives.

High Point College News Bureau

The year was 1927. The Great Depression was just feeling its pangs of birth, World War II and Pearl Harbor were more than a decade away, Vietnam wasn't even listed that way in a world atlas, and the moon was something romantic to be viewed from the rumble seat of an automobile, rather than a place for astronauts to leave their footprints.

The year was 1927, and 13 High Point College seniors made history. They were the first to graduate from Guilford County's newest four-year college. They were pioneers of sorts, and paved the way for thousands of other High Point College graduates over the next 45 years.

The class of '27 assembled again Saturday afternoon at the home of its permanent president, Herman Coble, who is now a member of the faculty at the college. Of the 13 members there were eight present. Others had planned to attend, but were prevented by the weather or by distance.

Forty-five years is a long time, but one member, the Rev. W. M. Loy of Burlington, remarked that "it doesn't seem like 45 years."

It really doesn't seem like it's been over 20 years. When I think about it, it makes me think I'm getting old," he chuckled.

In those 45 years High Point College has grown from a muddy campus with three buildings — all of which are still in use — and a student body of 132 members, to a campus with 23 buildings and a student body of 1,050.

"I remember distinctly what the campus looked like when I first came to High Point," recalled Loy. "The grounds and the buildings weren't completed and it rained continuously for 17 days. I've never seen so much mud in my life. They had little boards for us to walk on between buildings, but that didn't help much."

All of the 17 original members of the class—four did not graduate — were transfer students from other colleges. They came from seven different colleges in North

Homecoming '72 Observed

For the first time Homecoming activities were combined with the annual Parent's Day. Saturday's activities included meetings, conferences with faculty, reunions, receptions, the annual Homecoming banquet, and a basketball game with the Panthers defeating the Indians of Catawba College.

Included among the reunion classes was the first graduating class, Class of 1927. Other classes meeting both on campus and in the homes of High Point classmates were graduating classes 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, and 1971.

Following a reception for alumni, parents, and faculty at the home of Dean of Students Bill Guy, the Homecoming banquet was held in Harrison Hall. President of the College Wendell Patton, Jr. related to returning alumni campus changes both physical and in the area of curriculum.

Prior to the game, the Homecoming court was presented with Miss Dawn Reynolds of Durham being named Homecoming Queen. Runner-ups included Miss Amy Harshman of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Donna Hill, Silver Spring, Md.

Delta Sigma Phi took the first place award for displays erected on the front lawn of the campus. For the first time an award was given for the best banner being displayed in the gymnasium and other buildings on campus. Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity was the recipient of first place banner award.

New Look For Summer School

For the first time summer school at High Point College will take on a new look as the college opens its doors and classes to area high school students. The sessions beginning June 12 and July 17, will allow qualified high school juniors to take any course offered, both as day and dormitory students.

Rising seniors, who have accumulated an overall academic average of "B" or better, or whose instructors highly recommend for such a program, will be eligible to enroll in summer school. Students who do not have an overall "B", but who are recommended because they excel in a certain field, will be eligible under the latter provision.

Dr. William Matthews, Chairman of the Department of Behavioral Sciences, established a precedent for this course of action last year when he offered a psychology course to high school students who met the necessary qualifications. Several of those students are presently enrolled in the freshman class at the College.

Explaining this summer session, Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College, said, "High Point College will admit these qualified students in the summer as special students. Should they ultimately decide to come to High Point College, we will count the successful completion of these courses toward graduation, thus giving the student an opportunity to get a headstart in his college experience."

Among new courses offered this summer during summer school will be two elementary education courses aimed to fill the needs of local school teachers who will be renewing their teaching certificates. One of these courses will be concerning teaching of the academically talented, and the other will be teaching slow learners.

Ancient History Comes Alive For High Point College Students

Five High Point College students made ancient history come alive as they took part in a 10-day tour of Israel and Greece during the Interim Term at High Point College during the month of January.

Prior to the trip some classroom time was spent during the month long study period, followed by these students; their instructor, Dr. William R. Locke, professor of Religion and philosophy, Mrs. Locke; James Brown, a student at Wake Forest University; and six other High Pointers began their journey to give them first-hand visual illustrations of what had before been only names and places in a history book.

The tour included the ruins of the Acropolis of Athens, the ancient city of Jerusalem, the Masada, a large rock which rises out of the desert near the Dead Sea, the Wailing Wall in Old Jerusalem, and the Mount of Olives.

Although any trip can be described as "too short", Miss Helderman concluded, "I think we all got a great deal from the experience." She further stated, "For myself, I know that the places that I've read about in ancient Greece and Israel will always be very much real to me now because I had an opportunity to see them first-hand."

Forsyth Co. Chapter Selects Alumnus Of Year

Mrs. Donna Lawrence Staley, a 1963 graduate, was named Alumnus of the Year by the Forsyth County Chapter of the High Point College Alumni Association at their annual meeting January 27.

Dr. Murphy Osborne, assistant to the president at the College, presented the main address in which he discussed current trends in the institution and the trends among students now entering college. Also, taking part in the program were seniors John Young and Linda Bagby, both of whom have been very active in student government at High Point College.

Officers were elected for the coming year at the banquet, which was held at Centenary Methodist Church in Winston-Salem. Elected president was Donald Dwiggin; president-elect, Barbara McDiarmid; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas Staley; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Paul Davenport; and treasurer, Frank Foster.

Carolina and Virginia — Wake Forest, Salem, Shenandoah, Greensboro College for Women, Guilford, North Carolina College for Women, and Elon.

"I think one thing that made us come to High Point College was that it was a Methodist college," said alumnus Loy, who's brother O. C. was also a member of the class of '27 and is also a Methodist minister.

"High Point College was a project of our church and we wanted to support it. I felt then that High Point College was equal with any other college in the area, and actually the home-type atmosphere made us all feel like brothers and sisters."

"I came to High Point College because I lived down Montlieu Avenue about three blocks away and it was cheaper to stay at home in those days," offered Rebecca May Frazier Ferree. "Money was a problem then and I think it cost approximately $100 a year to go to High Point that year."

THE HOLT McPHERSON CAMPUS CENTER

Ten Years -- Great Satisfaction

by

W. LAWSON ALLEN

These last ten years with High Point College as Director of Development and Endowment, Director of College Affairs, Acting Business Manager, and lately as Vice President for Public Affairs have been both satisfying and filled with activity. With this issue of Highpoints I will relinquish the editorship of the Development Issue to other hands. Before this happens there are many things to wrap up.

The first task is to complete the Alumni Annual Fund effort. To date this purports to be one of the best years as regards alumni response. The credit for this accomplishment goes to a fine group of volunteer workers in addition to the office staff. Former Louisiana Governor McKeithen is the national chairman. Mike Fleming did a great job with special gifts. Class chairmen and class agents added to the effort. Tommie Lou Herndon along with Miss Louise Adams in the office worked indefatigably to keep the campaign moving ahead.

How Needs Are Met Will Determine Progress

Some very definite needs appear on the horizon. With all the new buildings on campus there is an increased demand for funds to staff and maintain these new facilities. These facts are not usually taken into consideration and add to the budget of the College when each building is constructed.

In the next two years other buildings and facilities under the Golden Decade Development Program are proposed: (1) The Swimming Pool for which about 20% of the total cost is in hand. (2) The Library which will cost from $600 thousand to $850 thousand. Federal funds may be secured for a portion of the cost. (3) The new and final dormitory which may be built with a self-liquidating loan. In addition at least two old dormitories need complete

Tenth Parents' Day Held

Parents' Day 1971-1972 was held in conjunction with Homecoming on February 19. Parents came to the campus and became a part of the combined program resulting.

A representative group of parents was nominated and elected at the business session held in the Memorial Auditorium.

This was the tenth annual parents' day since the first meetings was held in November 1962. The list of officers elected and directors formerly chosen for two year terms are listed below.

Board Of Trustees Holds Spring Meeting

The Board of Trustees at High Point College increased themselves to 35 with the addition of three members to full voting rights. The three to be included will be the President of the SGA, the Chairman of the Faculty Affairs Committee, and the Executive Director of the College Co-ordinating Council, who is Dr. James Fowler of Charlotte.

This action becomes effective at the October meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Patton, when making the announcement, remarked, "We feel that we have broadened our base with this action, as it gives us representatives from all or of our supporting groups. We already have alumni and ministers on the Board and we hope that this will improve communications between all of these groups. We hope that this helps our Trustees relate to our other bodies, and vice-versa."

The new campus center, which is scheduled for completion prior to September 1, was named the Holt McPherson Campus Center in honor of McPherson, who has served as Chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1953.

Among other actions the Board discussed recent student recommendations and re-emphasized their intent to operate the College as a Christian institution concerned with character education and moral values.

Approved also was the retirements for W. Lawson Allen, vice-president of Public Affairs, and Dr. Stuart Deskins, professor and visiting lecturer of history and political science, effective at the end of the current school year. Leave of absences in order to continue work toward doctorate degrees where extended for Mrs. Carolyn Rauch who is doing work at the University of Florida and James R. Stitt who is completing work at the University of South Carolina and will spend a semester in London, England.

Introducing . . .

Clete Kruyer

Cletus H. Kruyer, Jr., came to High Point College with the opening of the fall semester as Director of Corporate Relations and teacher of Economics at the College. He occupies the Earl N. Phillips Chair of Business Administration as the first professor to occupy it.

Clete Kruyer's story reads like the thrilling episode of a man who had a dream and held on to it. He graduated from Indiana University at 28, his education having been deferred by lack of funds and World War II. Twenty-one years out of college he resigned his position as top executive officer of the First Bank and Trust Company of South Bend, Indiana, and made the announcement that he was going back to school and earn an advanced degree in order that he might teach in a college.

He enrolled at Notre Dame University and received his Masters Degree with a major in economics in January 1971. After graduation he wrote 70 colleges with enrollments less than 3,000 — the type of schools at which he wanted to teach. Sixty-nine replies came from the 79 institutions.

One of the half-dozen or so that had openings was High Point College. He was invited to visit the College and was impressed with the College as well as this area of North Carolina. Kruyer and High Point came to terms at once.

Kruyer's wife, Laura, and their two daughters, Kathleen completing her junior year at Carleton College; Karen, a senior at Ragsdale High School; and son Peter in the sixth grade at Jamestown Elementary School have rediscovered husband and father. He states without hesitation, that the adventure would not have been possible without the understanding and support of the family.

The Kruyers occupy their new home in Forestdale North in Jamestown. He is a member of the High Point Rotary Club and the St. Christophers Episcopal Church. He has already taken places of leadership in community activities.

The first of June, Cletus Kruyer will become the Director of High Point College's Division of Public Affairs. This division includes the News Bureau,

Ed Grune Study Of Ecology On Campus

Senior biology major Ed Grune from Takoma Park, Mr., has received a special grant from the North Carolina Academy of Science for us in a project designed to examine the ecology of streams on and around the High Point College campus.

He will receive two hours academic credit for this work as an independent research biology course, which is required of all High Point College biology majors.

My proposal is to examine the ecology of the stream area in this area and hope to discover the dominate types of interactions," explained Grune. "I then hope to draw some conclusions as to whether the environment that they exist in is having an effect on the streams."

Research conclusions will be given by all undergraduate grant recipients at East Carolina University on April 21.

Following graduation in May, Grune would like to continue to graduate school, studying in the field of Water Resources Biology.

renovation. (4) Parking has become one of our greatest problems. The need for additional parking and the paving of the present spaces is urgent.

The endowment of buildings become one of the priorities for the immediate future. In fact, the need is now. Capital funds for buildings, renovation, and parking are a must if High Point College is to continue its important role in higher education.

Who Will Meet The Needs

In presenting needs and providing information as to the plans, aspirations, dreams, and needs of High Point, the hope is that someone will be inspired to meet some of those needs. For scholarships, some persons or families could meet the need of countless young people and at the same time memorialize a name for the years to come. By providing funds for building, persons, corporations, or foundations could assure generations now and unborn a Christian education. Ours is a time of great (possibility) and only God can know the limits of these possibilities.

Now let us visualize a few of the needs that we have.

1. The new Holt McPherson Campus Center will open in September and the furnishings will cost an additional $50,000.
2. To staff the building and maintain it will cost another $50,000 each year.
3. To pave unpaved parking lots will cost $35,000.
4. To get ready for the use of/and the staff for the new Chapel will cost $25,000.
5. To construct one of the buildings needed.
6. To share real estate or other property by will or in trust.

What About Your Will Power?

Yes, what about the will you have made or intend to make? I say a surprising number of property owners still do not respect the power and necessity of making a Will. When they die their estate will be turned over to the State which will dispose of their property through an administrator acting under the laws of intestacy. These laws were designed to fit the average estate and distribute property solely on a basis of relationship. They're impersonal by necessity and often contribute to unnecessary loss of shrinkage of assets, inadequate security for dependents, etc.

Whether your estate is large or small, a carefully considered and properly executed Will is the only practical, economical and ultimately sensible way of disposing of your property. By its exercise, you may specify those who are to receive your property, in what proportions or amounts, the time and under what conditions, the guardian of minor children and the executor of your directions.

Former Professor Honored

Dr. E. O. Cummings, former head of the Chemistry Department at High Point College, was honored February 16 as an honorary member of the Federation of Societies for Paint Technology.

Dr. Cummings retired from High Point College in 1968 after 40 years on the College's faculty. Following retirement, he helped organize the Polymer and Coatings course at UNC-Greensboro.

The Society, of which Dr. Cummings has been active is comprised of all technical production and sales personnel connected with the coatings field, which includes industrial finishes, paints and inks, or their related fields.

College Offers Financial Planner

The Spring issue of the High Point College Current Financial Planner will be mailed soon. This issue will stress the importance of having and up to date will patterned to the specific laws of one's state of residence. The mobility of people today can give rise to legal and financial entanglements which can pose a treacherous trap for the unwary.

Each state has its own laws on wills, property ownership, intestacy, trusts and lifetime gifts. An estate and financial plan which would be quite effective under the laws of one state could be quite chaotic if it were governed by the laws of another state.

If you have changed your state of residence recently, it would be wise to be certain that the terms of your will comply with the laws of your state. Consult your attorney.

This issue of Current Financial Planner also discusses the tax advantages which may be available to a donor of real property having appreciated value.

If you are not now receiving our quarterly issues of the Current Financial Planner and would wish to be on our mailing list, please notify the College Affairs Office and we will be pleased to add your name.

Alumni Affairs, Public Relations, development, and fund raising.

Kruyer a man of proven ability in the business world left the financial security built over 20 years to follow his boyhood dream of teaching and college administration; as he expressed in an interview in the South Bend Tribune: "From the start, everything seemed to fall into place, once we'd made up our minds. I guess wanting something badly enough, helps to achieve it."

In the years to come High Point College will reap rich rewards from the dedication and determination such as Clete Kruyer possesses.

ALUMNI ISSUE — MAY, 1972

The Alumni Association This Year -- Next Year

W. LAWSON ALLEN

The year which ends on May 31 for monetary response in some measurable ways has been a banner year. To give a picture, the following facts are offered:

Gifts as of May 12:

Number of Alumni responding 1360

Number who responded last year 1889

Total gifts $99,215.79

The above may be clarified by pointing out that:

(1) The amount given is larger than last year; it is also true that the increase is contained in a few large gifts.

(2) More than half of those who are included in the 1,889 alumni making gifts last year have not made any gift this year.

(3) Thus a large number have given this year who did not do so last year.

(4) Of all our 7,333 alumni, there are 2,695 who have given nothing to their Alma Mater in the last ten years.

(5) Immediate response is necessary in order to reach our achievement of prior years.

NEXT YEAR — PLANS

W. Lawson Allen, now vice president for public affairs, will be taking a new assignment. The assignment as Special Administrative Assistant includes emphasis on Alumni Affairs and Admissions along with some help getting ready for the 3rd Phase of the Golden Decade Development Program, meeting with alumni across North Carolina and in the other areas of concentration, working with the United Methodist Churches and their pastors, speaking to various groups which have need for such services, and interviewing prospective students in the above areas.

The 1972-73 Annual Alumni Fund will require much effort again. The national (general chairman), the special gifts chairman, class chairmen, class agents and other volunteer workers will take time and effort. Promotional materials for every step of the fund drive will be provided.

Without the dedicated and unselfish service of Miss Louise Adams, the year's plans and work would not be possible. We both seek your advice; your support; your help; and information from you as we attempt to enter areas of service to alumni that have lagged in the past few years.

Annual Event Honors Alumni and Seniors

"Our missionaries need to be placed here in North Carolina instead of areas overseas," remarked Charles Dunn, director of the State Bureau of Investigation Tuesday night at the High Point College annual Alumni-Senior Dinner held at the Top of the Mart.

Dunn, who was appointed Director in 1969 by North Carolina Attorney General Robert Morgan, struck out at crime and violence and placed the responsibility upon the shoulders of the people.

"Problems have to be taken care of where the problems are," he continued. "The police can't do the job alone, nor can the FBI or the SBI. The people in the community must play a key role in assisting law enforcement in curbing crime and violence."

Dunn's appearance was the highlight of the annual dinner which honors both alumni of High Point College and the senior class. The Reverend Bernard R. Fitzgerald, pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church offered the invocation while Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., president of High Point College, extended the official welcome.

David L. Wagoner, president of the Alumni Association, recognized and welcomed the Senior Class while a member of that class, John Young, introduced Dunn.

Robert B. Rankin, the 1970-71 recipient of the Alumnus of the Year award, presented the 1971-72 award to Dell Conrad Johnson of Winston-Salem, who has served this past year as vice-president of the Association, the two prior years as a member-at-large and has held the office of president and secretary of the Forsyth County Chapter.

Three Awarded Honorary Degrees At Commencement

High Point College honored three outstanding individuals with honorary doctorate degrees during Commencement Exercises on May 28.

Reverend Bernard Ray Fitzgerald was awarded the Doctor of Divinity Degree, J. Marse Grant was awarded the Doctor of Humanities Degree, and Moe Goldman was awarded the Doctor of Laws Degree.

Reverend Fitzgerald, a native of Lexington, is currently pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church in High Point. He is a graduate of Wofford College and the Duke University Divinity School. He also has studied at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

A member of the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, Rev. Fitzgerald has served churches in Stoke County, Asheville, Charlotte, and Lincolnton, in addition to his present position. He also taught Christian Ethics at Queens College in Charlotte for two years.

His father, also a Methodist minister, served churches in Charlotte, Asheville, Greensboro, Salisbury, and was President of Cape Town College in Santiago, Cuba.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Rev. Fitzgerald has traveled in Europe, the Far East and the Near East.

He is married to the former Carol Crockett, and they have four children.

Grant, the editor of the Biblical Recorder for almost 21 years is a native of High Point and a 1941 graduate of High Point College. He was editor of Charity and Children for 10 years.

Under his leadership the circulation for the Biblical Recorder has increased from 60,000 to 90,000 a week. He is the first layman to hold this position with the 137-year old weekly journal of the Baptist

State Convention of North Carolina since 1907. For the past 15 years he has served as publicity chairman for the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, and is an ex-officio member of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention.

He was named the "Baptist Layman of the Year" for 1969 and is president of the Southern Baptist Press Association.

Grant recently published a book entitled "Whiskey at the Wheel", and is in its third printing.

He is married to the former Marian Gibbs, and they have three daughters.

Goldman, who is a native of Augusta, Ga., and a resident of Atlanta, attended Butler University. He has been active in youth work, especially in the area of scouting. He entered scouting in 1939 as a scoutmaster and has held numerous offices and positions in scouting, both on the local, regional and national levels.

He is a Vice-President and Trustee of the American Humanics Foundation, and is an Honorary Life Member of the foundation. He is on the Advisory Board of the Farmers National Life Insurance Company and a member of the Board of Governors of Tom Haggai and Associates Foundation.

In 1950 Goldman was awarded the Boy Scouts of America Silver Beaver Award — the highest award made by local councils in recognition of volunteer leaders. He was awarded a Silver Antelope — the BSA award for distinguished service to youth in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and the Panama Canal — in 1958. He received a Good Neighbor Award in 1969 from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

American Humanics Has New Counselor

James L. Roberts, a counselor for the American Humanics Foundation, has joined the Humanics Department at High Point College. A native of Milwaukee, Wisc., Roberts has had a variety of experiences in the area of humanics, scouting and counseling.

Roberts joins L. E. Moody in the Humanics Department and will be in charge of extracurricular activities. Nearly half of his time will be spent recruiting students for the High Point College program, only one of four in the country, with the remainder of his efforts being in co-ordinating retreats, workshops, field trips and assisting in counseling and job-finding at the completion of the Humanics degree.

Roberts graduated from Wauwatosa East High School in Wauwatosa, Wisc., and attended the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and Milwaukee Institute of Technology. He also spent two years at Missouri Valley College in Marshall, Mo., as a sponsoree of the American Humanics Foundation. He has an A.B. degree in Human Relations.

He has served as Assistant District Executive of Central Indiana Council of Boy Scouts of America and also as district executive of the same council. He has also served as director of program of the council and director of Support Service.

He and his wife, Pamela, have two children,

Myrick To Attend Institute

Dr. Alvin G. Myrick, Head of the Department of Mathematics at High Point College, has been accepted in the Engineering Concepts and Curriculum Project for College Personnel with Responsibilities in Mathematics and Science Education at N. C. State University.

The Institute will be held from June 26-July 21. The purpose of the Institute is to acquaint college personnel who have responsibilities in mathematics and science education with the ECCP course in a way which will stimulate them to move in a number of directions.

Personnel are urged to use the experience to provide a basis for a college level course which would prepare mathematics and science education majors to teach an ECCP-type course and provide them with a good background of general knowledge about modern technology and its interface with society.

The Institute is also established to prompt continuing education courses that will train teacher to teach ECCP, and act as a center of encouragement to school units, within the university or college sphere of influence, and to implement ECCP-type courses.

Myrick has been on the faculty at High Point College since 1965. He is a graduate of North Carolina State University and the University of North Carolina and received his doctorate from Duke University.

Suzanne, age six, and Kathleen, age four. He is a member of the Lutheran Church of America, a Rotarian, a former member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and a board member of the Association of Retarded Children.

Presidential Scholarship Awards Announced

Six outstanding high school seniors have been awarded the Presidential Scholarship by High Point College for the 1972-73 school year. Each scholarship, valued at $1,000 a year and renewable for four years, is presented annually to high school seniors who are considered most outstanding among freshman class applicants.

Recipients for the scholarships are Debbie Lee White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. White of Stony Point; Kevin DeNicola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sal DeNicola of Wantagh, New York; Linda Jacqueline Mangum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton P. Mangum of Bahama; James Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Goodman of Elkin; C. Michael Rardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Rardin of Coral Springs, Florida; and Terry Lee Pegram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pegram of Stokesdale.

The High Point College Presidential Scholarships were established by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of High Point College. Recipients must demonstrate high qualities of leadership, scholarship and citizenship. These are students, who by their academic records and leadership abilities would be considered an asset in various areas of college life at High Point College.

Miss Pegram, a graduate of Northwest Guilford High School, will be an education major at High Point College.

Mr. Rardin graduated from

Deerfield Beach High School and will enter the pre-law program at the College.

Mr. Goodman, graduating from Elkin High School, is undecided as to a major field of study at this time.

Miss Mangum, from Northern High School, will study medical technology and may go into research work.

Miss White, a graduate of Irdell High School, is interested in working with under privileged children in the area of guidance and will major in sociology.

Mr. DeNicola graduated from Seaford High School and won a New York Regents Scholarship. He is interested in a career of government and science.

Board Of Trustees Take Significant Action

By RAY ALLEY

The Board of Trustees of High Point College increased themselves to add student and faculty representation, and named the new $1.3 million campus center now under construction at their semi-annual meeting Wednesday, March 8 at the home of Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., President of the College.

The Board voted to increase themselves to 35 with the addition of three members to full voting rights. Included will be the President of the Student Government Association, the Chairman of the Faculty Affairs Committee, and the Executive Director of the College Co-ordinating Council, who presently is Dr. James Fowler of Charlotte.

This action will go into effect at the October meeting when and if the Board of Trustees votes to change the by-laws of the College.

"We feel that we have broadened our base with this action," remarked Dr. Patton, who made the announcement, "as it gives us representatives from all of our supporting groups. We already have alumni and ministers on the Board and we hope that this will improve communication between all of these groups. We hope that this will help our Trustees relate to our other bodies, and vice-versa."

The new campus center, scheduled for completion in August was named the Holt McPherson Campus Center in honor of McPherson, who has served as Chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1953.

McPherson recently retired as Editor of the High Point Enterprise, and he was honored by the College for his long and faithful service, and his many contributions to higher education, particularly to High Point College.

The Campus Center, which will house lounges, cafeteria, snack bars, reading rooms, recreation areas, and offices for student affairs, is currently running 67 days behind schedule. However, construction is now on a 24 hour schedule and indications are that the 67 days will be made up in order to meet the August deadline.

In other business, preliminary plans were presented for a sixlane Olympic swimming pool, which is expected to cost between $200,000 and $300,000. No immediate construction dates have been set for this physical education addition.

The new chapel, now under construction, is on schedule and is expected to be completed by the first of September.

The trustees also approved a traffic and parking study which will be made in order to improve the crowded parking facilities on the campus.

In other actions the Board re-emphasized their intent to operate the College as a Christian institution

Alumni-Senior Dinner Held

Charles Dunn, director of the State Bureau of Investigation of North Carolina, was guest speaker at the annual High Point College Alumni-Senior Dinner on Tuesday evening, May 9.

The dinner was held at the Top of the Mart in High Point.

In addition to the address by Dunn, the Alumni Association presented the Alumnus of the Year award to Mrs. Dell Conrad Johnson and officers for the coming year were elected.

Dunn was appointed Director of the State Bureau of Investigation by Attorney General Robert B. Morgan on January 3, 1969. Under his direction the SBI has greatly increased in size and effectiveness and is today recognized as one of the outstanding organizations of its type in the nation.

Dunn is a graduate of Ahoskie High School in Ahoskie, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a former newspaper reporter, and served as an assistant to former Congressman Horace Kornegay and former Governor Dan K. Moore.

He is a veteran, a member of the Methodist Church, and is married to the former Martha Sherrill. They have a daughter Sherrill, and a son Jay.

Dunn is coordinator of the N. C. Law Enforcement Associations Council, vice-chairman of the N. C. Organized Crime Study Commission, vice-chairman of the N. C. Criminal Justice Training and standards Council, and a member of the Governor's Committee on Law and Order.

Elected for officers of the High Point College Alumni Association for the coming year were David L. Wagoner of High Point, class of 1955 for president, Dell Conrad Johnson of Winston-Salem, class of 1961 for vice-president, Myra Morris Buff, of Greensboro, class of 1966 for secretary, Charles J. Fulp of Thomasville, class of 1958 as treasurer, Duffy L. Paul of Raleigh, class of 1956 as a member-at-large and Lyles H. Kearns of High Point, class of 1950 as a member-at-large.

concerned with character education and moral values. They also re-emphasized its religious foundations and purposes.

Faculty salaries were granted a 4 percent cost-of-living increase and the instructional budget was increased 5.5 percent, which is the maximum under the new federal law.

Retirements were also approved for W. Lawson Allen, Vice-President for Public Affairs, and Dr. Stuart Deskins, Professor and Visiting Lecturer of History and Political Science, effective at the end of the current school year. Two other faculty members were given extensions on their leave of absences for work towards doctorate degrees. Mrs. Carolyn Rauch is doing work at the University of Florida and James R. Stitt is completing work at the University of South Carolina and will spend a semester in London.

Five Chosen Outstanding Educators Of America

Five High Point College faculty members and administrators have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1972. They are Mrs. Emily Sullivan, assistant professor of English, W. Lawson Allen, vice-president for College Affairs, Dr. John E. Ward, Jr., assistant professor of biology, L. E. Moody, visiting lecturer of Human Relations and Mrs. E. K. Washington, assistant professor of history.

Nominated earlier this year, they were selected for the honor on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

Each year those chosen outstanding educators are featured in a national awards volume, "Outstanding Educators of America."

Nominations for the program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans and department chairmen.

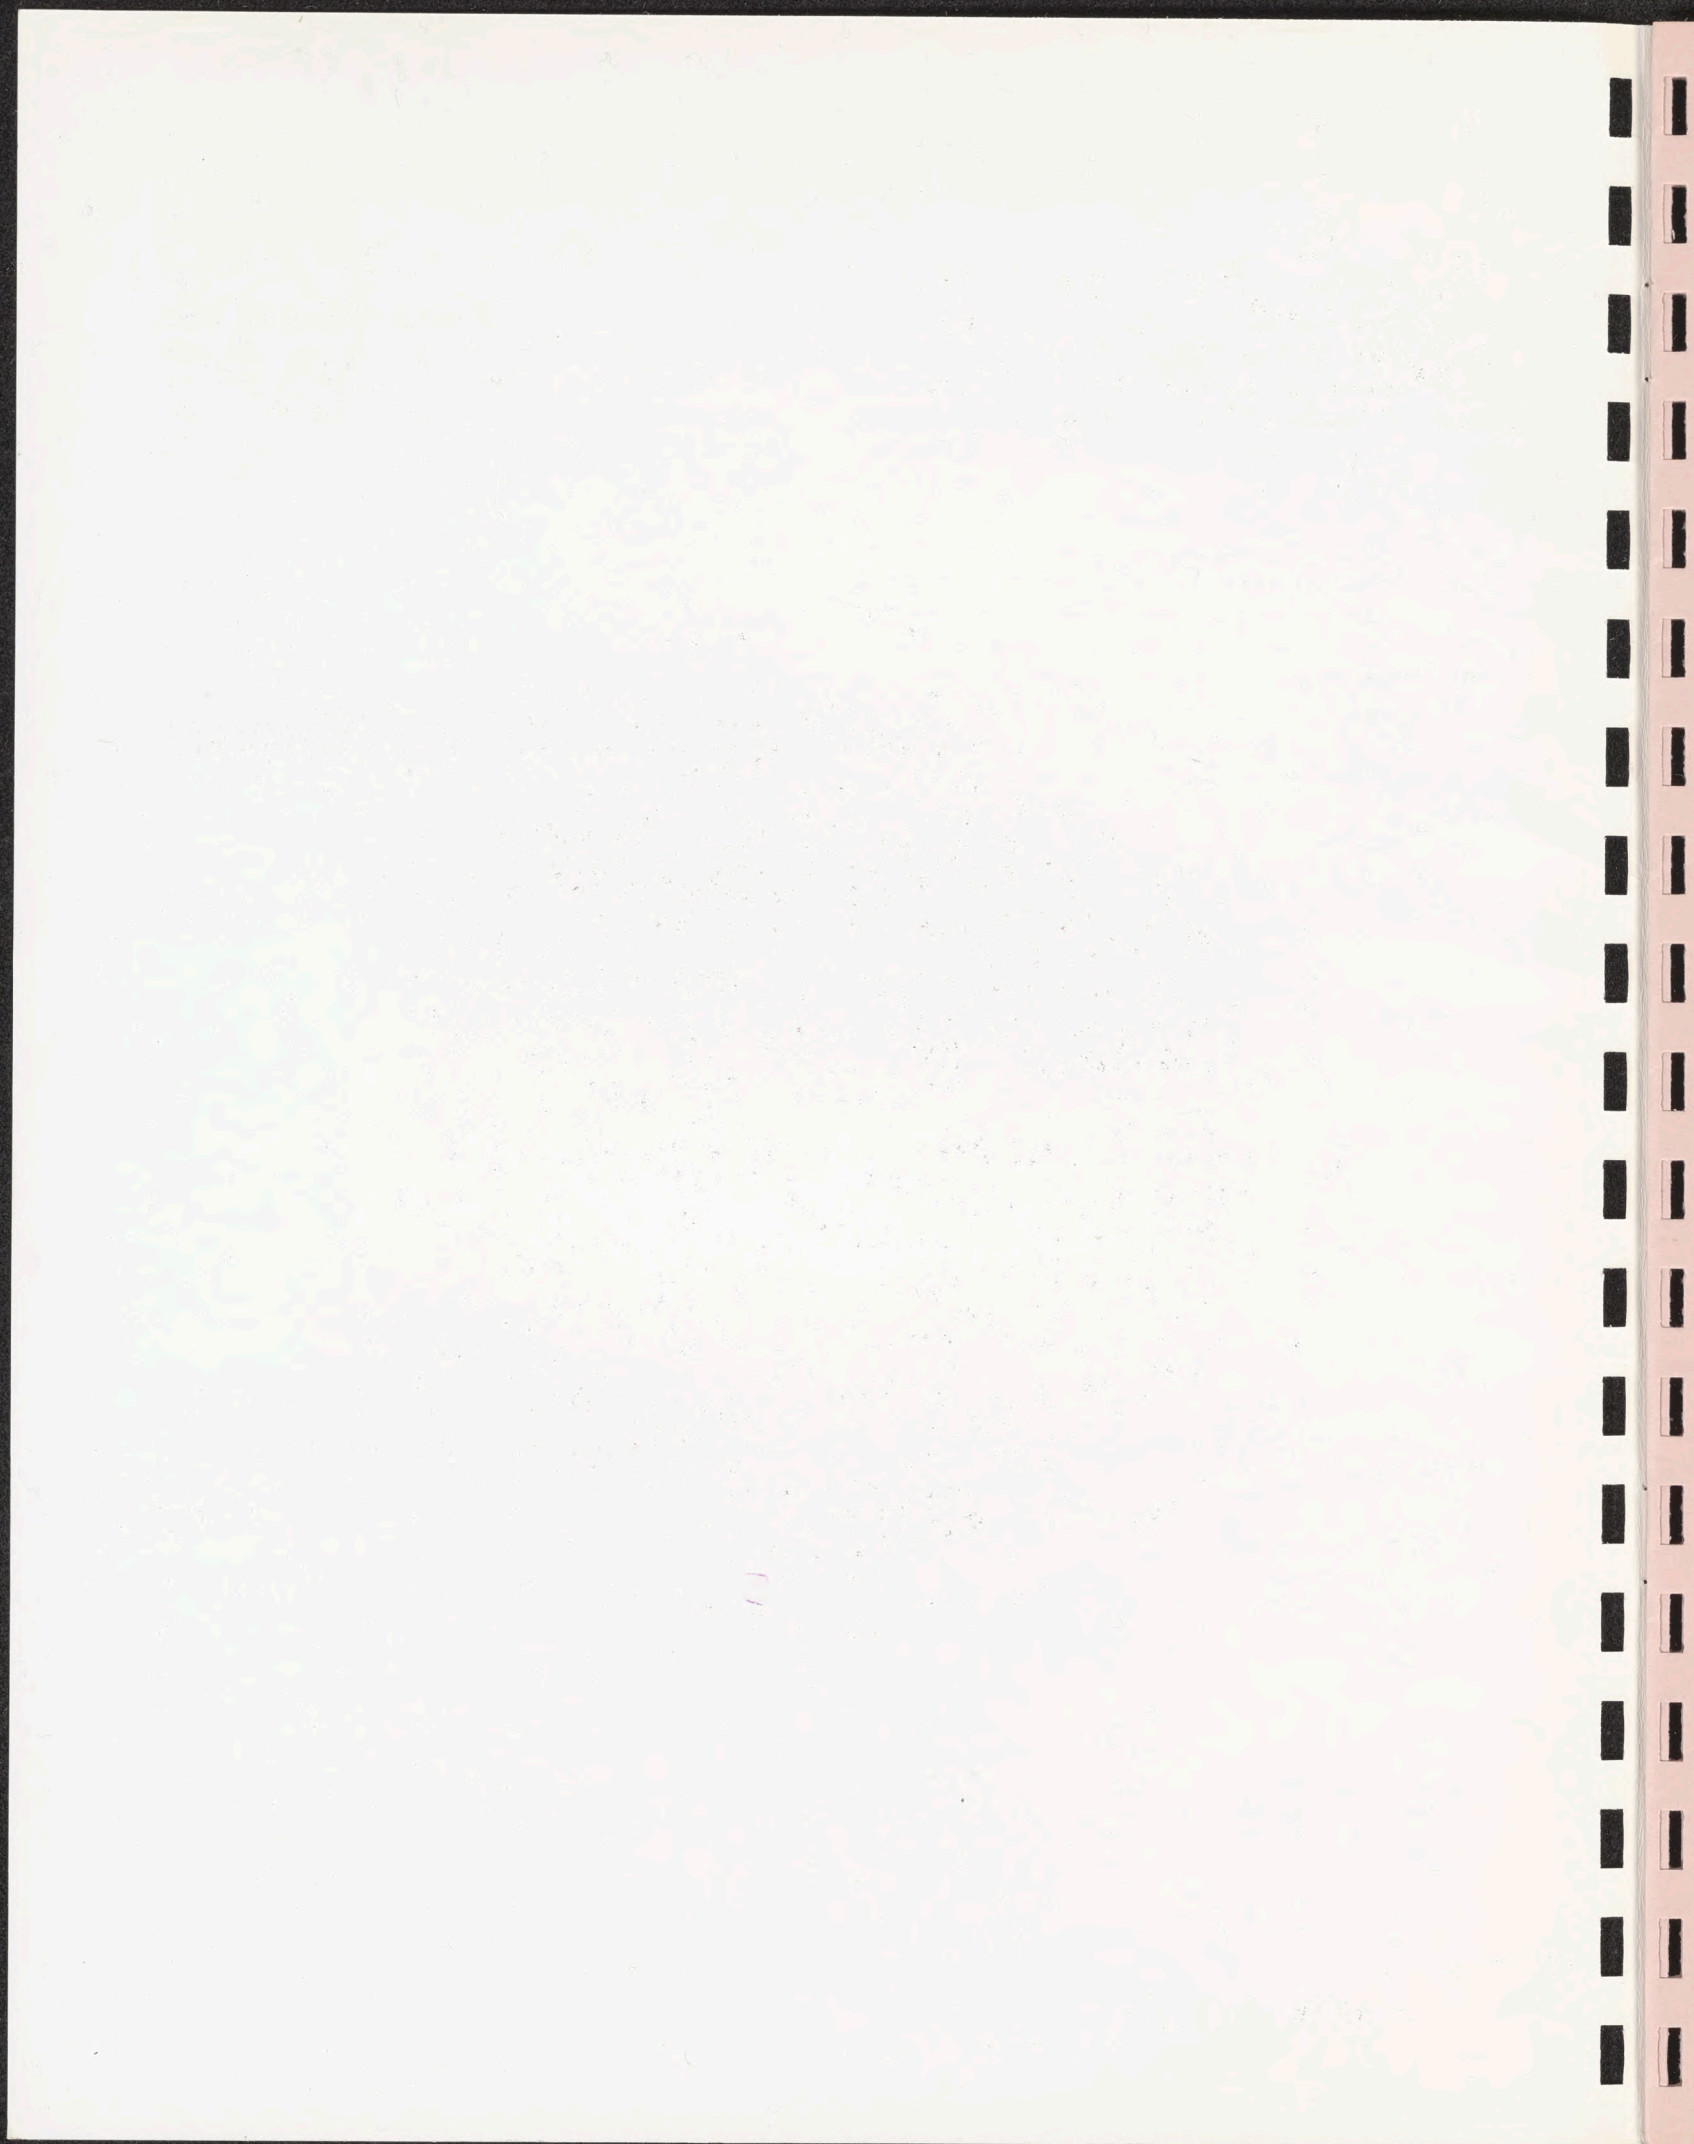

In praising the Outstanding Educators of America, U. S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D. Minn.) has said that they are "the men and women who by their actions in the classroom today mold the course of history. Our hope — the nation's youth — is in their hands. As we honor these teachers, we are reminded of their awesome duty. As they have our confidence, we must give them the tools to wage Jefferson's 'crusade against ignorance.' With men and women like these we know that our faith in education has not been misplaced."

Enclosed in this issue of the "Highpoints" you will find the report of the 1971-72 Annual Alumni Fund Drive. You should be pleased in the total contributions even though we realized a decline in the total number of contributors.

To those 403 alumni who acted as chairmen or agents in the drive, I want to express my appreciation for the time and effort you expended in the solicitation of these contributions. Everyone who had a part in the campaign deserves the reward that comes from the satisfaction of a job well done.

Our College must continue to grow even though increasing financial pressures surrounds it. High Point College can accomplish that which is necessary for growth if you continue to support it in any way that you can — the Alumni-Admission Program, the Annual Alumni Fund, and your continued interest.

Sincerely,

David L. Wagoner
President, Alumni Association

Outstanding Educators Of America

Five High Point College faculty members and administrators have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1972. They are Mrs. Emily Sullivan, assistant professor of English; W. Lawson Allen, special administrative assistant; Dr. John E. Ward, Jr., assistant professor of biology; L. E. Moody, visiting lecturer of Human Relations; and Mrs. E. K. Washington, assistant professor of history.

Nominations for the program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans and department chairmen. Selection is made on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

New Appointments To Administrative Staff And Humanics Department

Three new appointments to the administrative staff and one new instructor at High Point College have been announced by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of the College.

New appointments to the administrative staff include Dotty M. Pooser, admissions counselor; Charles B. Rabb, director of the Campus Center; and the Reverend Mr. Charles P. Teague, chaplain.

James L. Roberts has joined the humanics department and will have charge of extra curricular activities.

A Brevard native, Miss Pooser joined the High Point College staff in early June. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Salem College in Winston-Salem where she was active in the dramatics department.

Her duties at the College include working with high school college day programs and recruiting students for the College.

Prior to coming to High Point College, she served two years as assistant director of admissions at Montreat-Anderson College in Montreat and served as distributive education teacher and as a special education teacher at Marion High School in Marion.

Rabb, a native of Memphis, Tenn., is a graduate of Greenwood High School, Greenwood, Miss. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in recreation from the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, Miss. At the present time, he is working on his MS degree in recreation with a minor in student personnel at the University where he has been active in various phases of campus activities and church work.

Rabb, who will assume his duties August 1, will coordinate all social and cultural campus activities for High Point College students and faculty members.

Since 1969, Rabb has served as assistant director of student activities at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Reverend Mr. Teague is a 1968 graduate of High Point College, receiving an AB degree in religion and philosophy. He received his AB degree in liberal arts from Brevard Junior College and graduated cum laude from the Candler School of Theology, Emory University in Georgia.

His duties will be to direct all activities held in the chapel, assisting in coordinating all religious activities on campus and also will be available for counseling. He will begin his duties in July.

A Swannanoa native, the Reverend Mr. Teague is a member of the Western North Carolina Conference. He has served as pastor of Avery's Creek United Methodist Church in Arden, N. C. and has served as youth director at Ousley United Methodist Church in Decatur, Ga., First United Methodist Church in High Point and at Groce United Methodist Church in Asheville. He has served as vesper speaker at Wesley Memorial Church in High Point and camp counselor at Camp Rockmont for Boys in Swannanoa.

Roberts, a native of Milwaukee, Wisc., has joined the Humanics Department and will be in charge of extracurricular activities. Nearly half of his time will be spent recruiting students for the High Point College program, only one of four in the country, with the remainder of his efforts being in coordinating

William D. Goldston, Jr. North Carolina's Boss Of The Year

North Carolina's Boss of the Year William D. Goldston, Jr., class of 1947, Eden, has built his trucking business from the two-truck hauling business, which he took over after the death of his father in 1951, to the 330 tractors and 400 trailers currently operated by Goldston Transfer Inc.

The Eden Jaycees who nominated Goldston for the state award note that the Goldston record is more than that of a business success. Noteworthy is his loyalty to and from his employees, they point out, in their nomination summary. This is exemplified by a company policy of paying the college tuition of employees children so long as the company is financially able. Also, he furnishes a scholarship to a High Point College student each year.

In recognizing Goldston, they are quick to point out his service to the community. He has served as chairman of the Morehead Hospital Board of Trustees, served on the Leaksville Township School Board and was vice chairman of a successful countywide drive to raise $250,000 for a student center at Rockingham Community College.

Today Goldston Transfer employs 125 persons, in addition to the 310 drivers of the firm's vehicles who are employed by the lessees. His company leases equipment to 33 companies. Also in 1967, he added a dairy division to his business. The company has terminals in Eden, Elkin and Charlotte, N. C., Danville and Chester, Va., Greenville, S. C. and Buffalo, N. Y.

The Jaycees said his record as an employer is an admirable one. "He feels that his employees have been a major factor in the growth and well-being of his company and he shares his good fortune with them."

Mayor Jones Norman of Eden said, "I have known Bill since he moved here, watched him grow to manhood, make something out of his business and become an outstanding citizen. He's the kind of person that gets things done, and the kind of person that every community likes to brag about."

Mrs. Angelia Beane McCracken Wins Best Actress Award At DIONYSIA 72

Mrs. Angelia Beane McCracken of Randleman, a sophomore majoring in French at High Point College, won the award for Best Actress on the Junior-Senior level at DIONYSIA 72, the first annual Foreign Language Drama Contest held at Clemson University recently.

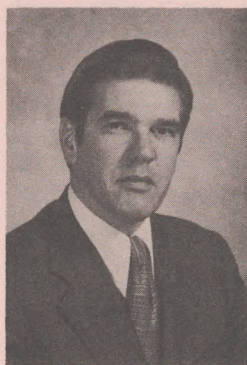

The award was made for her interpretation of the role of Johanna in a portion of Les Sequestres d'Altona, by Jean-Paul Sartre.

The cast for the High Point production included Jim Coble, a freshman from Climax, in the leading role of Franz, Barbara Chapp, a freshman from Silver Spring, Md., as a la Vieille, Mrs. McCracken as Johanna; Mike Bash, a freshman from Charlottesville, Va., as Klages; Richard Clough, a sophomore from Silver Spring, Md., as Heinrich; and Donna Goldstein, a freshman from Rockville, Md., in the stand-in role of Johanna.

The High Point College production was under the direction of Tom Scott, associate professor of Modern Languages at the College.

Three Honorary Degree Conferred

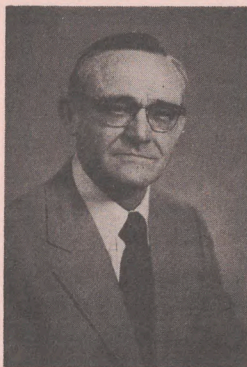

Three outstanding individuals were honored with honorary degrees during Commencement exercises at High Point College on May 28.

Reverend Bernard R. Fitzgerald was awarded the Doctor of Divinity degree. He is pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church in High Point and has served churches in Stokes County, Asheville, Charlotte and Lincolnton prior to his present pastorate. Also, he taught Christian Ethics at Queens College in Charlotte for two years.

The Lexington native is a graduate of Wofford College and the Duke University Divinity School. He also studied at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Reverend Fitzgerald has traveled in Europe, the Far East and the Near East.

J. Marse Grant, a High Point native and a 1941 graduate of High Point College, received the Doctor of Humanities degree. He has been editor of the "Biblical Recorder" for the past 21 years, and was editor of "Charity and Children" for 10 years.

Under his leadership the circulation for the "Biblical Recorder" has increased from 60,000 to 90,000 a week. He is the first layman to hold this position with the 137-year old weekly journal of the Baptist State Convention since 1907. He is an ex-officio member of the Council on Christian Life and Public Affairs of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention. For the past 15 years, he has served as publicity chairman for the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

He was named the "Baptist Layman of the Year" for 1969 and is president of the Southern Baptist

Dr. Alvin G. Myrick Collaborates In The Writing Of Space Mathematics

Mathematics serves a significant role in today's aerospace program.

Recognizing the appeal of aerospace activities, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has released a supplement to math textbooks entitled Space Mathematics — a resource for teachers.

The book was developed at Duke University under the auspices of the department of mathematics. Dr. Alvin G. Myrick, head of the mathematics department at High Point College is one of three principal writers of the book.

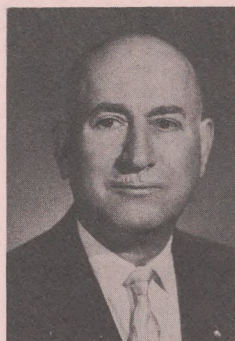

While taking a two-year leave of absence from High Point College in 1967 to study math and physics at Duke University in the doctoral program, Dr. Myrick also received a commission to work with two Duke professors to research and write a book on the applications of mathematics and physics in the space program. Half of his time was devoted to the doctoral program while the remainder was to the NASA project.

Press Association.

Grant published a book "Whiskey at the Wheel" in 1971 and it is now in its third printing.

Moe Goldman of Atlanta, Ga., was awarded the Doctor of Laws degree. He is a native of Augusta, Ga., and attended Butler University. He has been active in youth work especially in the area of scouting. He entered scouting in 1939 as a scoutmaster and has held numerous offices and positions in scouting, both on the local, regional and national levels.

He is a vice president and trustee of the American Humanics Foundation and is an Honorary Life Member of the Foundation. He is on the Advisory Board of the Farmers National Life Insurance Company and a member of the Board of Governors of Tom Hag-gai and Associates Foundation.

In 1950, he was awarded the Silver Beaver award by the local council of the Boy Scouts of America. This is the highest award made by local councils in recognition of volunteer leaders. In 1958, he received a Silver Antelope — the BSA award for distinguished service to youth in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and the Panama Canal. He was the recipient of a Good Neighbor Award in 1969 from the National Conference of Christian and Jews.

Circle K Club Receives District And Divisional Awards

The High Point College chapter of the Circle K Club received a number of district and divisional awards at the Carolinas District Circle K Convention, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Seven High Point College students represented the chapter, which was presented a second place Achievement Award for the Foothills Division. The High Point College chapter was also named the Best Improved Club in the Carolinas District for 1971-72, and received the first place Achievement Award for the district.

Reece Black, a junior from Asheboro, was honored as one of two Lieutenant Governors in the Carolinas District, and was elected Governor of the district for 1972-73.

Wayne Black, a junior from Lexington, was named Administrative Co-ordinator for the district for the coming year.

The High Point College chapter, which has been relatively inactive for a number of years prior to the 1971-72 school year, has sponsored a number of projects — one of which was the recent "Walk for High Point" to raise money to benefit four High Point agencies, Kindergarten for Handicapped Children, Drug Action Council, Mobile Meals Program for the Elderly, and the Guilford County Health Department in the area of Dental Hygiene.

John Bewley Derieux Award Presented Ed Grune

Ed Grune, a 22 year old senior biology major from Takoma Park, Md., has been awarded the John Bewley Derieux Award by the Collegiate Academy of the North Carolina Academy of Science.

Grune received the award and a $50.00 check for a research paper entitled "The Characterization of Small Urban Streams by Qualitative and Quantitative Methods." The awards were presented at the annual meeting of the Academy held recently at East Carolina University.

The research paper consisted of a synopsis of his research work for which he had received a grant from the Academy earlier in the academic year. From his research, Grune concluded that urban streams are affected by outside influences, but when the influences are not too great, the streams have a remarkable ability to stabilize themselves.

He further showed that the communities around the streams are reflected by the changes that occur within the streams themselves.

This research was completed under the direction of Dr. Fred Yeats, assistant professor of biology at High Point College. Grune will continue his studies in the Graduate School at East Carolina University this fall.

Early Childhood Education Demonstration Center

When classes begin on September 7 at High Point College, students aged two, three, four and five years will be seen on campus. They will be a part of a new experience, the Early Childhood Education Demonstration Center at the College. In announcing the program, college officials indicated that there are a few openings for each group.

A unique program involving upperclassmen in addition to pre-primary students, is designed to offer more depth and meaning to the training of prospective teachers of early childhood education and also to offer a service to the community.

The chief goal for the Demonstration Center will be to provide quality education for the young children who participate and for the teacher trainees who work with the program. Dr. Carolyn Spillman, assistant professor of education, will direct the program while Mrs. Susan McGeogh Sumpter, a High Point College graduate, will serve as instructor. The Center will be supervised by the education department.

The Center which will be located on the ground-level on the new chapel on Montlieu Avenue, will be the nucleus of the training program. College students will be able to observe four and five year old kindergarten children from an observation facility and also will be able to participate in the program as intern teachers and teacher aides.

Classes for the 20 four and five year old students will be held each week-day morning from 8:45 a.m. until 12 noon. The two groups of two and three year old toddlers along with at least one parent will meet twice a week. One group will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. and the other group will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the same time.

Four and five year old children will be together in an ungraded situations. Each activity center will have several activities for varied mental, and physical ages.

"The program is based in philosophy on the belief that children know what they want to do and that they learn more if they enjoy the experience," said Dr. Spillman. "However, the staff recognized that children often need guidance and sometimes they need a gesture to help them explore unknown activities. This philosophy is generally known as the basis for open education but the Center staff prefers the term 'education by self-direction and guidance.'" she concluded.

The various activities that the kindergarten class will be exposed to are large muscle and building activities, family and life activities, creative, language, math and science activities.

Each child will be encouraged to select his activities for a block of time commensurate with his ability to plan ahead. Some children will be able to plan three or four activities while others will be encouraged to choose between only two experiences.

Colonial American History Caravan

History came alive again for the 13 High Point College students taking the Colonial American History Caravan course.

Travel, classroom instruction, oral reports and extensive library study — were all a part of the six-hour college credit course that has been offered at the College annually since 1963.

Under the direction of Dr. Paul Gratiot, head of the history, political science and geography departments and instructor of the course, the caravan traveled for seven days to historical sites in Virginia to review the Colonial period of struggle, heartbreak, pleasant living, war, and finally, triumph of the birth of America.

The course, designed by Dr. Wendell Patton, is a special program offered each summer during the first term of the summer school session at the College. It is primarily for students, teachers, and professional lay leaders in related fields.

"The purpose of the caravan is to carry out the original idea of Dr. Patton's," said Dr. Gratiot. "Students are naturally more interested in history when they can go out and see significant sites under the guidance of excellent tour leaders. In addition to being more educational, students get to know each other better. Consequently, the course is more enjoyable and the fruits are more profitable," he added.

Due to hurricane Agnes, the disappointed caravan was not able to visit Richmond, Va., which they normally do on their way to the historic triangle — Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg.

The students agreed that it all was so educational that it would really be hard to say what particular part of the trip was more enjoyable. The students thought that there were too many significant places and things visited to mention all of them. In addition to the movies at the information centers, the guides made it all very realistic.

The toddlers program will be involved in free play and structured activities for concept development, perceptual development and physical growth.

While the children are involved in activities, the parents will be involved in a discussion group for parent education in addition to being allowed to observe the children from an observation booth. Dr. Spillman said, "From this vantage point the parents may observe the techniques which are being used with the children."

Based on timely issues in child development, in addition to age old problems which parents face, the discussions will be led by faculty members and junior and senior High Point College students who are in the education, psychology, religion, sociology, physical education and fine arts departments.

Dr. Allen Thacker, head of the education department, said "Staff members are also hopeful that they can be of service to other community facilities for the care and education of young children by the model they set and by publications which will be sent from the Center."

Arlene Lanziere Hiss --- Race Driver

The world of racing is very real to Mike and Arlene Lanziere Hiss, class of '62, since both of them participate very actively in the sport. Mike was recently named "Rookie of the Year" at the Indy 500. Though they both race, they don't race in the same class so that they will not compete against each other. She is thought to be one of the top amateur sports car racing drivers in the country, having competed in no less than 13 circuits and more than 100 races throughout the United States. Since 1965, she has been in the top five of each race she has run.

Racing is not her only interest. She shares an interest in motorcycles with her husband — Plays around with radio control model airplanes and radio control model race cars — Teaches dance all day at Fullerton Union High School and then takes dancing lessons in Hollywood at night (has received 30 hours beyond her BS in dance and drama) — Has taken up flying gliders — Even crochets with enough speed to make all her Christmas presents last year (shawls, purses, vests and sweaters.)

Mike and Arlene met at a sports car race at Lime

Rock, Calif., where they both were competing. Prior to their move to California, they had lived in New Jersey.

Upon receiving her B.S. degree in physical education at High Point College, she returned to Darby, Conn., to teach one year in the high school she attended, later teaching at junior highs in Adelphi, Md., and Willingboro, N. J.

She races an H-Production Sprite and absolutely loves "the thrill of competing at a high rate of speed." Only once has she "rolled a car" but raced it again the next day.

In 1971, she finished second at Orange County Raceway, then settled for a 10th finish at Riverside.

She auditioned and won the part of the wicked Queen Malificent in "Sleeping Beauty" at Disneyland over the Christmas holiday. She has now received a second minor in Theater Arts and plans to try out for movies and television productions. Already she has an impressive modeling portfolio.

We wish you much luck, Arlene.

Ten High School Seniors Receive Presidential Scholarships

Ten outstanding high school seniors have been awarded the Presidential Scholarship by High Point College for the 1972-73 school year. Each scholarship, valued at $1,000 a year and renewable for four years, is presented annually to high school seniors who are considered most outstanding among freshman class applicants.

Recipients for the scholarships are Debbie Lee White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. White of Stony Point; Kevin DeNicola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sal DeNicola of Wantagh, N. Y.; Linda Jacqueline Mangum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton P. Mangum of Bahama; James Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Goodman of Elkin; C. Michael Rardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Rardin of Coral Springs, Fla.; Terry Lee Pegram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pegram of Stokesdale; Peggy Gail Collins, Kingsport, Va., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Collins of High Point; Nancy Sue Fowler of Nashville, Tenn.; Ann Link Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Hart of Williamsburg, Va.; and Teresa de los Ameles Moran of Villa Espana, Bayamon, Puerto Rico.

The High Point College Presidential Scholarships were established by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of High Point College. Recipients must demonstrate high qualities of leadership, scholarship and citizenship. These are students, who by their academic records and leadership abilities would be considered an asset in various areas of college life at High Point College.

Scholarships Offered Local Students Of Christian Youth Work

Nido R. Qubein & Associates, Inc., of High Point have approved a $500 scholarship to a young man or woman who wishes to attend High Point College, and prepare for a career in Christian youth work.

The scholarship, which is renewable annually, is available to applicants who are residents of the Greater High Point area, including High Point, Thomasville, Jamestown, Archdale, and Trinity. Applicants must enroll full-time at High Point College to qualify, and may be either freshman or upper-classmen, must be in the top half of their class.

Applications should be made by letter to Nido Qubein Associates and should include a resume and a picture of the applicant. The resume must also list three local references.

Deadline for applications is May 15, and the scholarship which will be awarded on the basis of merit and need, will be awarded on June 1.

Nido Qubein & Associates is a non-profit agency founded in 1971 in High Point by a group of business and professional men to direct and utilize the many talents of Nido Qubein, and other young people, while providing a worthwhile service to the community.

Qubein, is a graduate of High Point College, class of 1970, and also holds degrees from Al-Ummah College, and the University of London. He is also active in YMCA work, the American Humanics Foundation and the church.

Annual Alumni Fund

High Point College is facing the same budgetary problems faced by all other private higher educational institutions in this inflationary era — that of increased costs. The difference between student fees and operational expenses must be provided by you and friends of the College.

Sustained and increased commitments on the part of each alumnus are needed to help the College achieve her goal of quality Christian education. Each alumnus has a personal stake in the future of his College since any added prestige which the College enjoys increases the value of the education the alumnus received here.

Following are lists of members of the Centurion Club and contributors by class for the 1971-72 fiscal year which ended May 31, 1972. Alumni who have contributed to the College for two (2) or more consecutive years are members of the Encore Club and are designated with an (E) after their names.

History of the Alumni Fund

The Alumni Fund was activated at High Point College in 1961-62. The following is a year-by-year history of the Fund:

| YEAR | PERCENTAGE | DONORS | LOYALTY | TOTALS |
|---------|------------|--------|-------------|--------------|
| 1960-61 | 2.0% | 110 | $ 469.78 | $ 570.00 |
| 1961-62 | 18.0% | 1026 | $ 5,175.35 | $ 5,770.00 |
| 1962-63 | 25.5% | 1381 | $ 8,515.89 | $ 13,990.00 |
| 1963-64 | 25.0% | 1508 | $ 9,323.60 | $ 15,358.00 |
| 1964-65 | 31.2% | 1873 | $13,028.16 | $ 19,940.19 |
| 1965-66 | 15.3% | 950 | $ 7,327.60 | $ 29,197.88 |
| 1966-67 | 35.8% | 2232 | $12,081.08 | $ 58,498.87 |
| 1967-68 | 40.0% | 2564 | $17,597.00 | $ 57,837.52 |
| 1968-69 | 37.5% | 2471 | $22,307.75 | $ 49,424.48 |
| 1969-70 | 34.8% | 2392 | $22,497.72 | $ 40,585.31 |
| 1970-71 | 26.1% | 1889 | $22,779.76 | $ 46,172.26 |
| 1971-72 | 20.7% | 1521 | $25,569.62 | $105,610.37 |

Centurion Club

The Centurion Club was established by the Alumni Association in 1964 to recognize alumni who contribute a minimum of one hundred dollars to High Point College during any one fiscal year. Non-alumni may become members by giving one hundred dollars, or more, to the Annual Alumni Fund.

The following 102 couples, or individuals, who compose the 1971-72 Centurion Club were responsible for personal donations of $79,070.44 to the College between June 1, 1971, and May 31, 1972.

CORPORATE MATCHING GIFTS

University and college alumni in 452 leading companies and corporations throughout the nation have been given the opportunity to double their gifts to Alma Mater through a program generally known as the "corporate alumnus" plan. Under this plan many concerns match, dollar for dollar, alumni contributions made by their employees. In this manner, the alumnus can receive credit for giving double the amount he himself actually gives.

High Point College received $1,621.00 in matching gifts during the High Point College 1971-72 Annual Alumni Fund Drive.

Companies which matched employees gifts during the fiscal year ending May 31, 1972, are as follows:

Aetna Life and Casualty Company
 American Airlines Foundation
 Burlington Industries Foundation
 Continental Oil Company
 General Electric Company Foundation
 Gulf Oil Foundation
 Gulf Western Foundation
 Hercules Incorporated
 International Business Machines Corporation
 Integon Foundation Incorporated
 Jefferson-Pilot Corporation

The Past Looks To The Future

W. LAWSON ALLEN

Special Administrative Assistant

The past year we have attempted two major projects — The Annual Alumni Fund and Special Emphasis on Alumni and Admissions. The record of the first is contained in these pages, and it has been done with the help of many of you alumni, at least 1521 of you.

There has been no outside help such as consultants or contractual services. What has been done has been accomplished by members of the staff including Louise Adams, Tommie Lou Herndon, Dr. Murphy Osborne, and others who have volunteered services — 403 of you. Special mention is made of the service of Mike Fleming who assumed the task of special gifts and who did a tremendous job; former Governor John J. McKeithen, national chairman, David Wagoner, president. Without their leadership this report would not be possible.

Next year (this year) we are going to carry the Annual Alumni Fund in much the same manner. Therefore we are asking, even pleading, for volunteers to be Class Agents to contact no more than ten classmates for the Annual Fund. One of the special mailing cards on the back cover is for your use. Please help us.

The second project for alumni is to help your Alma Mater in admissions. Many of you volunteered your services the past year. We hope to meet with alumni all over North Carolina and in 8 or 10 other states. One of the cards on the back cover is for your use in letting us know that you are willing to help. Note that there are two places to offer your services — in admissions and in alumni group meetings — and in most cases these can be combined.

Your love and concern are deeply appreciated.

Don't fail to fill out one or both of the cards.

DEVELOPMENT ISSUE — AUGUST, 1972

The new High Point College Chapel, located on Montlieu Avenue adjacent to Hawthall Hall of Science is scheduled to be ready for use when students return to campus in September for the 1972-73 academic year.

Donated by the Chas. E. Hayworth family, the chapel has been named the Chas. E. Hayworth Memorial Chapel.

Henry Gaines of the Six Associates in Asheville, North Carolina provided the architectural design and contractor for the project is J. R. Graham Construction Company.

The Reverend Mr. Charles P. Teague will serve as chaplain. His duties will be to direct all activities held in the chapel, assisting in coordinating all religious activities on campus and also will be available for counseling.

The sanctuary will have gold carpet with white and ebony furnishings. The nine decorative windows in the sanctuary will portray the history of Christianity. They are being given as memorials through individual donations for this purpose.

Designed to seat 250 persons, the sanctuary will be used for various types of worship services as directed by the needs and desires of the students. During the regular school terms, it will be open during the day and certain hours of the evening for private use in addition to other devotional services being held. Weddings will also be permitted in the sanctuary. Special activities will be scheduled through the Chaplain's office.

Meeting space will be provided on the lower level for Students for Christian Action meetings and workshops. Church related groups not connected with the college may use the chapel facilities when they are reserved through the Chaplain's office, and when they do not conflict with student activities and interest.

The chapel will house the new Early Childhood Education Demonstration Center which is a unique program involving upperclassmen in addition to pre-primary students.

The Reverend Mr. Teague is a 1968 graduate of High Point College, receiving an AB degree in religion and philosophy. He received his AB degree in liberal arts from Brevard Junior College and graduated cum laude from the Candler School of Theology, Emory University in Georgia. While attending undergraduate schools, Teague was named to the Dean's list and held offices in SGA, Student Christian Association, Delphian Society, Kappa Chi Fraternity and Golf Team.

A Swannanoa, North Carolina native, the Reverend Mr. Teague is a member of the Western North Carolina Conference. He has served as pastor of Avery's Creek United Methodist Church in Arden, North Carolina and has served as youth director at Ousley United Methodist Church in Decatur, Georgia, First United Methodist Church in High Point and at Grace United Methodist Church in Asheville. He has also served as vesper speaker at Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church in High Point and camp counselor at Camp Rockmont for Boys in Swannanoa. He is married to the former Karen Daune Ward.

New Faculty and Administrative Appointments

Four new appointments to the faculty and administrative staff at High Point College have been announced by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of the College.

New appointments include Dr. William L. DeLeeuw, assistant professor of English, Miss Jennifer Elaine Alley, instructor in physical education, Miss Joyce L. Tisdale, head nurse in the infirmary and Mrs. Gary Ragsdale, who will assist Miss Tisdale.

Dr. DeLeeuw received his BA degree in English from Berry College, Mount Berry, Georgia, where he graduated summa cum laude. He received his MA and Ph.D. degrees from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama.

A native of Rome, Georgia, Dr. DeLeeuw was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities while at Berry College and was the recipient of the National Defense Education Act fellowship while at Auburn.

Dr. DeLeeuw served as an instructor in English at Alabama Polytechnic Institute prior to coming to High Point College.

A Lenoir native, Miss Alley received her BS degree in physical education from Appalachian State University and at the present time is working on her doctorate of education at UNC-Greensboro.

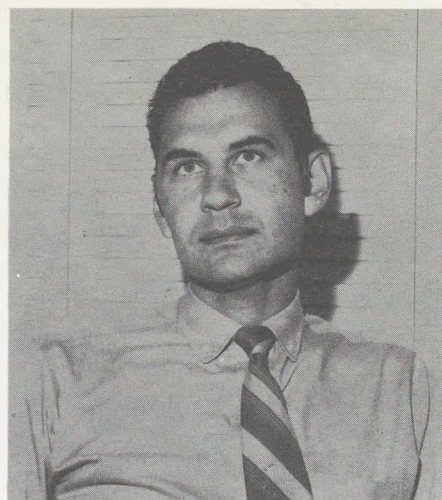

She was awarded the Honor Student Teacher award at ASU in 1969 and has been active in physical education majors club, women's recreation association, intramurals, varsity volleyball, varsity basketball, serving as captain, while in college. She is a member of the American and North Carolina Associations of Health Education and Recreation.

Prior to coming to High Point College, Miss Alley worked in the education department at UNC-Greensboro, UNC-G's Piney Lake Recreation Center, Lenoir Junior High School and Lenoir Recreation Center.

Miss Tisdale is a graduate of High Point Memorial Hospital School of Nursing where she received the highest academic average during her three years of nursing education. She is a member of the American Nurses Association.

She served as assistant head nurse from 1965-67 and as an instructor from 1967-72 at the local hospital. She will assume her duties in September and is a Sumpter, South Carolina native.

Mrs. Ragsdale is a native of Asheboro and received her training at the High Point Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. She has had extensive experience in nursing having served at St. Albans Naval Hospital, St. Vincents Medical Center and Hempstead General Hospital, all in New York; Rockford Hospital, Rockford, Illinois; and is coming to High Point College from High Point Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Ragsdale served as a nurse in the U.S. Navy for two years.

Jerry Steele Is New Athletic Director

Jerry Steele, former coach of the Carolina Cougars, has been named Athletic Director at High Point College in an announcement made by Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., President of the College.

Steele succeeds Chuck Hartman, who stepped down earlier to devote full time to teaching and coaching baseball. The former Guilford College basketball coach left the Cougars to assume the duties as head basketball coach at Appalachian State University.

Jerry left Appalachian State because he liked the High Point-Greensboro area and wanted to be with a smaller college.

Dr. Murphy Osborne, Assistant to the President at High Point College, remarked, "We feel fortunate to have found such a person as Jerry Steele for the job as Athletic Director. We feel he is the type of person who can serve in the best interest of High Point College, and the type of person we want in our athletic program."

In addition to serving as Athletic Director, Steele will also teach in Physical Education and handle administrative duties in other areas, particularly in the field of admissions.

Steele, a basketball standout at Elkin High School and then Wake Forest University, started his coaching career at Guilford in 1962 and guided the Quakers to a 152-76 record during those eight years.

His 1966, 1967, 1968 and 1970 teams advanced to the NAIA tournament in Kansas City and in 1970 advanced to the semi-finals before losing to Kentucky State, the eventual champion. Ironically, the team that broke the Quakers' hold on the district title was High Point, who went to the quarterfinals in 1969 before losing to Eastern New Mexico, the eventual champion that year.

He joined the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association following the 1970 season first as an assistant, then as head coach before stepping down as Director of Player Personnel.

Steele and his wife, Kitty, and two daughters will continue to reside in Greensboro.

Church Relatedness

The completion of the Chas. E. Hayworth Memorial Chapel for use this Fall seems to be a most timely event as we consider some recent actions taken by the General Conference of the United Methodist Church and by both Conferences of the United Methodist Church in North Carolina.

On Friday, April 28, 1972, the General Conference of the United Methodist Church unanimously voted to commend New Generations for New Days to the annual conferences, United Methodist, and others.

New Generations for New Days is envisioned as an advance in quality and service for more than one hundred colleges related to the United Methodist Church. It is seen as an unprecedented movement on the part of the educational institutions and the church to reaffirm their faith that schools and church exist together to create under God a new mind and spirit with which to confront the dilemmas, hopes, and yearnings of rising generations of youth for a world transformed by the power of Christ.

New Generations for New Days summons the church and the schools to renew the common traditions of faith and hope that first brought them together. It is a call for both to redefine and restate their goals for higher education, to unify their witness in society, and to create new ways of working together and accounting to one another as they labor for a purpose in the world larger than their own.

New Generations for New Days is proposed as an intensive program under the leadership of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church and the National Methodist Foundation for Christian Higher Education, an agency of the Board of Education. It will

- 1) state the case for the church-related college;
- 2) help the schools and colleges attract more students;
- 3) increase the moral and financial support of the educational institutions so they can rise to the full potentiality of their service to youth and society.

The formal launching of the program for New Generations for New Days came last October 6 when the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church met in special session in Washington, D. C. It approved the advance enthusiastically.

The stage for the association's unanimous action had been set by a series of meetings in 1971 between the bishops and college leaders. From these meetings there came a renewed determination to forge a new alliance between schools and church.

Subsequently, educators and churchmen petitioned the General Conference to endorse the simultaneous advance. The Committee on Education unanimously endorsed the resolution and carried it to the General Conference. The conference's vote sets schools and church upon a new unprecedented way.

To assist the schools participating in the New Generations Program, the National Association of Schools and Colleges and the National Foundation for Christian Higher Education sponsored a workshop at Duke University on June 18 through 21. The workshop provided lectures and instruction pertaining to all aspects of fund raising programs which should be of interest to the schools.

On June 29-30 Bishops Earl G. Hunt and William R. Cannon called for a Bishops' Conference on United Methodist Higher Education in North Carolina. The conference held in Greensboro, brought together about 200 of the most concerned, most involved, and most knowledgeable United Methodist pastors of the State on this subject.

Some of the ideas discussed were these: the church needs its colleges in order to insure for itself an educated Christian leadership; the country needs Christian colleges in order that high moral and ethical principles shall remain on the higher education scene; the small college, with close ties between faculty and students, has a real contribution to make; the private sector, including the churches, should remain in the education field to avoid a complete monopoly by the state and federal government.

Actually no one in this group seemed to question the need for church-related colleges. There was, however, obvious difference of opinion as to how many colleges the United Methodist Church of North Carolina should maintain.

High Point College continues its dedication to being a church related college and the responsibilities which this association implies.

What Is Development?

Development can mean many things, but at High Point College we like the Webster definition of "Develop" which follows: "To move from the original position to one providing more opportunity for effective use." We suggest that this is, in fact, the reason for a development program to exist. If a college is to validate its existence, it should continually seek ways to move ahead to provide more opportunity for effective use of its faculty, its administration, its facilities and its program.

This definition has no hint that development should be growth for growth's sake because it must be for "effective use."

It was determined long ago that a college could not expect to exist and hardly to grow, if its income were limited to student tuition and fees. Development programs have been instituted at most colleges and universities, some much more sophisticated than others, to coordinate the many phases of development planning with a realistic program for obtaining financial support for the various elements of the development plan. The Golden Decade Program at High Point College, which will be in the third phase beginning in the Fall of 1973, is the outgrowth of this type of development planning.

The development issues of Highpoints, are a part of our coordinated program and are used to provide information about High Point College and its progress and to present the opportunities which exist for support of its continued development.

Only through the generosity of many donors, alumni and other individual friends, of the College, the Methodist Church, corporations, and foundations, have we been able to develop. Our donors have invested in an institution which has continued "to move from (its) original position to one providing more opportunity for effective use".

We offer our thanks to each donor and to the High Point community for its original contribution,

"Constitution Week" September 17-23

The Alexander Martin Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has asked that we make note of the slogan for Constitution Week which is "Read and Study the United States Constitution, 'Constitution Week' September 17-23." The following information provided for use by the National Defense Committee of the National Society of the DAR is certainly worth our review and consideration!

"Our Fathers knew better than we that the specific temptation of government in all times — any government — even an American government — is to seize more power than is allotted to fit, or misuse the power it has. They foresaw the always possible use of dazzling personal leadership; they foresaw the displacement of law by temporary emotion; the tendency to unwise action under stress; and to prevent these evils, they erected certain barriers. The Presidency, the Congress and the Courts were made subordinate to the Constitution. These three powers of government, with officers' oath — bound to the Constitution are established in complete independence one of another, on the supposition that never would all three of them combine against the people or the law that gave them being.

The Constitution gives us the foundation for a free, prosperous and independent life for every citizen, but each generation, in time, must work for and claim it, otherwise, through carelessness, or indifference, the rights and liberties we have enjoyed may vanish.

Let us thoroughly acquaint ourselves with this magnificent document, which is ours to respect; ours to protect, and ours to use — Now."

and continued support, which made its possible to establish the College in this area.

ALUMNI ISSUE — SEPTEMBER, 1972

Alumni Outlook For 1972-73

The Alumni Association of the College has the following officers: David Wagoner, Pres.; Dell C. Johnson, Vice-Pres.; Barbara A. McDiarmid, Secretary; Charles J. Fulp, Treasurer.

In addition Dr. L. B. Holt, internationally recognized eye surgeon, has accepted the National Chairmanship of the Annual Alumni Fund.

Dr. Holt was formerly the president of the High Point College Alumni Association. Under his leadership the Annual (Loyalty) Alumni Fund reached a high peak.

Dr. L. B. Holt

It is possible to give only a tentative schedule:

In September and October we hope to complete the volunteer staff requirements for the Annual Fund.

During November and December all information and instructions are to be sent as well as an appeal for year-end gifts.

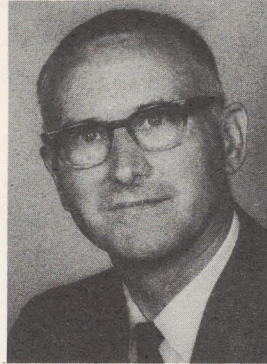

In January all assignments will be made and the campaign kicked off.

During February, March, April and May, three mailings will be sent, and solicitation of all alumni will be completed.

There are Class Chairmen yet to be secured. Class Chairmen will be expected to secure some additional Class Agents and make assignments of ten classmates to each agent.

To make the burden lighter for the Class Chairman, there is a need for a number of Class Agents from each class. The Agents will solicit the ten assigned classmates by mail or otherwise. Please advise the Alumni Office if you can serve as Class Chairman and your class is listed — 1930, '34, '36, '38, '43, '45, '46, '49, '50, '51, '55 and '65. Please help us.

Acting Director Of Alumni Affairs

W. Lawson Allen

Former Vice-President for Public Affairs, W. Lawson Allen is now a Special Administrative Assistant and will be acting in the capacity of Director of Alumni Affairs. Alumni Affairs has been under his supervision for several years.

Allen will be directing the Annual Alumni Fund, meeting with Alumni groups across the State of North Carolina and other states, and helping with the admissions program with alumni and churches.

Working to seek a closer relationship between the College and its alumni, the Church, and the public, it is the earnest hope that much can be accomplished during the year.

In considering the new assignment, Allen said he was challenged by the record of those who have wrought so admirably in the past — Louise Adams, Duffy Paul, Dale Brown, Beverly McCabe, Tommie Herndon, and many others.

Chemist, Alfred Burger with the University of Virginia and historian Eugene Genovesse with the University of Rochester are the Visiting Scholars who will make appearances on campus Nov. 6 and 15 respectively.

Foreign Tours Available

Four foreign tours will be offered by HPC during its Interim Term in January.

The College is also sponsoring a fifth tour with Lenoir Rhyne College. Dr. Walter Nau of Lenoir Rhyne will direct a tour of England and France.

For the first time, HPC is featuring a tour of India and Pakistan. Tours will also be made to Israel and Rome, Greece and Mexico. Three hours credit can be earned, too, for participation in any of the tours.

Directing the India/Pakistan tour will be Dr. Carl M. Wheelless, professor of history and political science at HPC. On-the-site remarks will be made during the tour he promised. Dr. Wheelless lived in Pakistan for 13 years and has traveled in 24 Asian countries. Cost of the tour from Jan. 1-30 is $900 including meals and lodging.

Nov. 8 is the day to pre-register in each instructor's office and make down-payments for any of the tours.

"Each tour is open to the public," said C. H. Kruyer, Jr., vice president of college affairs. "Alumni are welcome and invited."

Dr. Earl Crow, professor of religion and philosophy, will direct a tour of Israel, the Holy Land, Jan. 9-19. The Bible Lands Pilgrimage will cost approximately $720. Last year a group visited Athens,

DEVELOPMENT

Put In Your Request For Financial Planner

The most recent issue of HPC's quarterly publication, "Current Financial Planner," stresses the importance of proper estate planning and the advantages which may be available through the establishment of trusts to meet specific objectives in your financial plans.

Good planning can include gifts to institutions such as High Point College. A return card has been enclosed with the quarterly mailing to request a copy of our new booklet, "Trusts for Family and Education."

Anyone wishing to be included on the mailing list for these timely publications should contact the Development Office, High Point College, High Point College, High Point, N. C. 27262 or telephone 883-0726 (area code 919).

Matching Gifts Programs, An Often Ignored Benefit

Are you employed by Blue Bell, Inc., Burlington Industries, Inc., Coca-Cola Co., Continental Illinois National Bank, Dow Chemical Co., Gillette Co., Gulf & Western, Hanes Corp., Jefferson Standard or Pilot Life Insurance Companies, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. or any one of the 500 companies which, directly or through foundations, will match individual gifts made to High Point College by employees and directors? If you are, then we can both benefit by the leverage which such a program will give to your gift.

Each company sets its own standards for any matching gifts made by its employees and directors; however, the usual pattern is to match gifts, dollar for dollar, up to a maximum figure per gift. Appropriate forms to be used and instructions for obtaining each matching gift are normally available through the corporation's personnel office. With very little additional effort on the part of the individual giver, his effective gift can be doubled.

Some companies stipulate that the donor must be an alumnus of the institution receiving the gift, but many do not require this relationship in order to qualify.

The Council for Financial Aid to Education recently published a survey on employee matching gift programs which indicated that at least 4,500,000 individuals would be eligible to participate by reason of their affiliation with the 500 companies which offer these programs. The discouraging note in the report was that only 2% of all eligible employees actually participated in the matching gift programs.

TRUSTEES

Charles Dunn, director of the North Carolina Bureau of Investigation, and Joseph Bethea, a member of the divinity school faculty at Duke University, were elected to serve on the HPC Board of Trustees when the board met Oct. 4. Named ex-officio members to the board were Dr. Earl Crow, chairman of the Faculty Affairs Committee at HPC; Dr. James W. Fowler, director of the College Coordinating Council in Charlotte; and Joe Yacyshyn of Wilmington, Del., president of the SGA at HPC. The trustees also announced three new appointments. Dr. David Cole, dean of the college and professor of history; Cletus Kruyer, Jr., holder of the Earl N. Phillips Chair of Business Administration; and Dr. Murphy Osborne, assistant to President Wendell Patton Jr., were named vice president and dean of the college, vice president for college affairs, and vice president of student development, respectively. Bethea is the first black trustee.

Greece, whereas this year's group chose instead to visit Rome, Italy.

Alpha Aegean, an art study tour of Greece, will be staged from Jan. 10-26. Raiford Porter, associate professor of art, and Jane Burton, assistant professor of art, may accompany the Greek tourists. The base price of the tour is $600.

The Mexican Heritage Study or a tour of Mexico will be conducted from Jan. 2-26. A unique feature of the tour is that three-hours credit can be obtained in the areas of Spanish, art or history. Mrs. Pauline Kayser, assistant professor of foreign languages, will conduct the tour. The tour is priced at approximately $585.

Tour participants will receive opportunities to see the countryside and cities of each country. Sight-seeing excursions will be made to palaces, gardens, temples, memorials, museums, libraries, fountains, tombs, colleges and universities, marketplaces, presidential palaces, parliaments and other government buildings, archeological sites, cathedrals, pyramids and ruins.

Rex Gibbs, a philosophy major from Asheville, said of the '72 tour of Israel: "I gained a better understanding of the life and tradition of Israel." The Bible now comes alive for him in a new and vivid way, he explains.

Basketball fans who contribute $100 to HPC athletics will be called Grand Panthers, according to the Panther Club. Two season tickets to all home basketball games, plus reserved parking on the newly paved lot around the gym are among the rewards of being a Grand Panther.

Life Insurance as a Way of Giving

A popular type of deferred giving is life insurance. Life insurance provides one way to assure an ultimate gift which may be otherwise beyond one's present means. Insurance to benefit High Point College may come from one of the following:

1. Life policies originally bought for protection which are no longer needed may be made payable to the College with tax advantages.
2. One may wish to make a policy payable to a spouse or some other member of the family in monthly installments for a certain number of years or for life and name the College as the secondary beneficiary to receive any remaining proceeds after the death of the primary beneficiary.
3. A new life policy may make the College an irrevocable beneficiary. All premiums are tax deductible to the insured, and the College has the advantage of having a cash value after a few years even though the insured does not continue payment of premiums.
4. Finally, a policy may be secured so that all dividends are assigned to the College.

The field of life insurance opens opportunities for the donor and for the College. If you are interested and would like to make further inquiry, please write the Alumni Office.

STUDENTS

Beginning Second Semester, veterans who attend the College can receive $1250 in financial aid. Each veteran will receive $500 in scholarships upon acceptance and $250 a year in assistance for four years, the Admissions Office has announced. On-and-off campus employment, housing and counseling are also available. The new veterans program also allows for the introduction of a Campus Veterans Club by HPC veterans. The veterans program is an experimental one . . . Roger Stamper of Middletown, Ohio, is working with several music students in High Point; they will present a Christmas musical play . . . Students in Jaime Villegas' Spanish classes are helping tutor Spanish students at Andrews High School in High Point . . . Many students like the idea of no classes during pre-registration for Interim Term and Second Semester classes . . . President Nixon received 334 votes to McGovern's 151 in HPC's mock election; 491 voted . . . Fifty-one education students continue practice teaching in area schools through Jan. 19 . . . Attending Parents' Weekend Nov. 4-5

RELIGION

Under the auspices of Students for Christian Action, the religiously-oriented organization at HPC, continuing programs of religious enrichment are being sponsored on campus.

Vesper services are conducted Monday through Friday in Roberts Hall's Lindley Chapel, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Monday and Tuesday nights are sharing groups for men and women. On these nights dormitory Bible studies are also held.

College Life, an outreach extension by SCA, is presented to get students, not directly involved in other religious programs on campus, interested. College Life meets Wednesdays at 7 p.m. in the old Student Center.

Fellowship Teams meet in the Student Center on Thursdays to prepare for visits to churches that request assistance with problems experienced by church youth groups.

Retreats and coffeehouses are also being planned for different times throughout the academic year.

And Sunday worship services are to be conducted in the new Chas. E. Hayworth Memorial Chapel.

Finding a way to keep students on campus on weekends is currently being studied by SCA members. Rev. Charles Teague advises SCA.

We Count Our Many Blessings, Attempt to Fulfill Responsibility

At this time of the year, we pause to count our many blessings. It would of course be short-sighted for us to think only of this year which is coming rapidly to a close, and we therefore reflect back to the very beginning of High Point College. If it had not been for the vision and willingness to sacrifice as demonstrated by a group of courageous people within the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina and within the High Point community, our College might not have become a reality.

Our College was actually developed through giving on the part of each of these groups whose members believed in the value of higher education and the value of an institution of higher education to the community in which it is situated. Fortunately, there have been others with each succeeding decade who have taken the place of those original contributors and the College has continued to grow and prosper.

From the seeds of the gifts of 60 acres of land and $100,000 donated by the High Point community the College has developed to such an extent that today its net value is in excess of $10,000,000 with an annual budget of more than $2,500,000. The continued interest of valued donors, combined with good management, have made this possible.

We are truly grateful for the many benefits which have come to the College and to us, and for the many friends who have assisted the College during its nearly fifty years of existence. We fully recognize that in many ways our job has just begun. By many standards a fifty year-old college is a mere upstart, and we see the need to continue to develop in order to meet the needs of each changing year and of the changing demands placed upon us for preparing graduates to adequately meet the requirements which will be set upon them if they are to play an appropriate role in the society of their time.

As we consider our responsibility in the future, we only hope that we will continue to be blessed with the on-going interest of our friends of the present and that encouragement will be found for new friends to play significant roles in the continued development of High Point College. Our sincere thanks to one and all and our best wishes for a blessed and happy holiday season.

High Point College complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972.

Who Says the Individual Is No Longer Important?

The report "Voluntary Support of Education 1970-1971" prepared by the Council For Financial Aid to Education states: "The overall increase of voluntary support in 1970-71 was due entirely to increased giving by individuals, both alumni and non-alumni. The support received from all other sources either showed no change or a decrease from the amounts reported in 1969-70."

During the 1969-70 school year "individual gifts" accounted for 46.1% of all giving to the reporting institutions and in 1970-71 "individual gifts" accounted for 50.2% of all giving to the reporting institutions. The major portion of the gifts from individuals was in the form of bequests and deferred giving represented by annuities, life contracts, insurance policies, etc.

This is clear evidence that the individual is important and we at High Point College are well aware of that importance. Each donor category is of importance to any balanced development program, and we do not intend to slight any one donor or group of donors, but we still look to our individual friends for their continued interest and support from the smallest to the largest of gifts. We thank you for your help this year as in every year in the past.

UNIQUE INTERIM COURSES

"HPC golfing students will play some of the most outstanding courses in the area," said Robert Davidson, assistant professor of P.E. and health.

Students can also participate in field trips to the State Archives of North Carolina and Virginia, perform pantomime and learn how theatrical makeup is applied, learn to play the piano, or create a vast range of sounds by using unusual musical instruments, meet businessmen and attorneys from the Piedmont area, and prepare to discuss various topics during group assemblies.

Five foreign tours are also being offered by HPC during the Interim Term. Tours will be made of the following countries and cities: India and Pakistan, Israel and Rome, Greece, Mexico, England and France.

Following the Interim, second-semester coursework continues until May 18. The semester features Homecoming, Feb. 10, spring holidays from March 23 to April 1, and an Honors Day assembly, May 2. Commencement is May 20.

STUDENTS

HPC dominated the 1972 NAIA All-District 26 cross-country team by placing five runners on the 10-man squad, including Mike Turmala and Dean Smith, both of Bethesda, Md., Lloyd Davis of Baltimore, Md., Bob Phippen of McLean, Va., and Dave Morris of Wheaton, Md. . . . Returning basketball lettermen are Pete Collins, 6-8; Bob Alymer, 6-7; Tubby Smith, 6-2; Calvin Steed, 5-11; and Gregg Bennett, 5-11. Top newcomers include Jeff Stewart, 6-7; Paul Cloud, 5-10 and Fred Bailey, 6-8; Ivey Bryant, 6-0; Dave Mingerling, 6-7; Dennie Fleming, 6-4; Mike Glover, 6-1; and Ron Schott, 6-3. The season outlook: Should be improved from last year, but the key will be how quickly Stewart and Cloud mature and contribute. Good size with fair overall speed. Outside shooting improved with good quickness in the backcourt. Rebounding should be greatly improved with the addition of Stewart and Bailey, with inside defense a question mark. Home games will include matches with Elon, Jan. 13; Pembroke, Jan. 23; Catawba, Jan. 27; Campbell, Jan. 29; UNC-Wilmington, Jan. 31; Lenoir Rhyne, Feb. 10; Pfeiffer, Feb. 13; and Mars Hill, Feb. 22. All home games start at 8 p.m. . . . Alumnus Gene Little says he's happy as long as the Carolina Cougars are winning. He's been with the Cougs all three years of the team's existence . . . Women's basketball at HPC features home games with Wake Forest, Jan. 17; Federal City College, Jan. 22; East Carolina, Jan. 24; Appalachian, Jan. 30; UNC-G, Feb. 14; and Elon, Feb. 23. The Appalachian game will be held at 6:15 p.m., the Elon contest at 8, and the Federal City game at 7:30. The rest start at 7.
