FALL

You Came to High Point College

Years from now when you look back upon your college days you will remember that morning last September when another scholastic year at H.P.C. was set into motion. Sweltering, travel-dishevelled students came from all parts of the country—from Florida, from Michigan, from Tennessee and New York. Through all the years of your life, you will never again feel the thrill that came with coming to college. For both freshmen and upperclassmen it was a special feeling.

This was a new life for you freshmen. For many it was the first time away from home. You will long remember how bewildered you were, and how determined not to show it. And didn't it make you feel good when someone asked if you were an upperclassman? There was little time to think—your life was filled with meeting your roommate, wondering how you two would get along, finding your way around, unpacking, registering, to say nothing of taking placement tests and beginning classes. In your heart was the sudden thrill of hearing the college song for the first time, and of meeting and liking new friends. You will remember those first days as days filled with standing in line. You stood in line to buy your freshman caps, to register, and when you went to the dining hall there was another long waiting line. Soon after you arrived on the campus came that dreaded time in every freshman's life—rat week. Remember how you hated it? Yet at the same time it was fun.

You upperclassmen—it would be even harder to describe your feeling on returning. It was as if you had never been away; yet there was something different. When you arrived, the football team was getting into shape for its first game, a week away. The campus was the same, but there were many new faces and some of the old ones were gone. Your first days were spent in that long registration line, and in jam sessions where there were long discussions as to who dates whom now, how pretty Sally's wedding was, and whom you saw at the beach when you were there. You began dreading attempts at notetaking in those 8:20 classes and those long afternoon labs. You stored memories, as those golden fall days passed, of football games, cabin parties, waiting in line at the Center, those "wee hour" jam sessions, hamburgers at the Kopper Kettle, cokes and sundaes at Jeff's, dinner at the Asia, dancing at the Casablanca or Plantation Supper Club, the Block H Dance, the pep rally and weiner roast after the Homecoming parade, those informal dances after the football games, or the peaceful hush of the evening as you came from the library.

Those golden fall days passed quickly, and as they passed you dimly realized, especially you seniors, that this was one of the most beautiful parts of your life. Too soon it would be a thing of the past and each would go on his separate way.

Seniors of 1948—Proudly we repeat this phrase, and equally proud are we of our four years at H.P.C. May the thirty-first means the completion of one phase in our lives. Some will regret not having fulfilled their earnest intentions made in their freshman year, while others will look back with pride on their accomplishments.

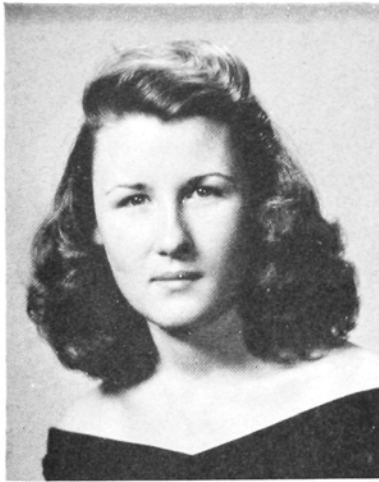

These four years, filled with events big and little, tragic or comic, seemed very brief. There were small daily events, already forgotten or that passed unnoticed and will not be remembered until long after June has come and gone. These things along with our priceless friendships, our dreams, our ideals, and our characters, which we hope have expanded and strengthened for having been here—these things we will take with us.

It almost frightens us to realize that without our presence and all activities we had counted so important, things will continue—still there will be the spring dance, and the ZENITH will still be sponsoring the Beauty Queen.

To those who come after us we fling the torch—
Hold high H.P.C.'s tradition!

You Juniors came into this year of your college life ready to make a name for yourself. Most of you were set on the course you wanted to go.

You missed those who did not return to H.P.C. this fall, but enjoyed meeting and knowing those who transferred from other schools. They had much to offer to you, and you, in return, could give to them. You missed also those who went ahead of you and graduated with another class.

Now you begin to realize that the last year of your college life is fast approaching. You feel a sense of responsibility as you watch your college days running out. Next year one of you will be President of the Student Government, one of you girls will be President of Woman's Hall, and one of you will have the position of Editor of the ZENITH. You, who will take over the senior positions of next year, hope to make it a year in which to make the greatest contributions to the college and to yourselves.

Sophomores—now you know your way around. You have come back to “dear old H.P.C.” realizing the new responsibilities which you have acquired by becoming a member of this class. You know that you must meet the challenge of the future.

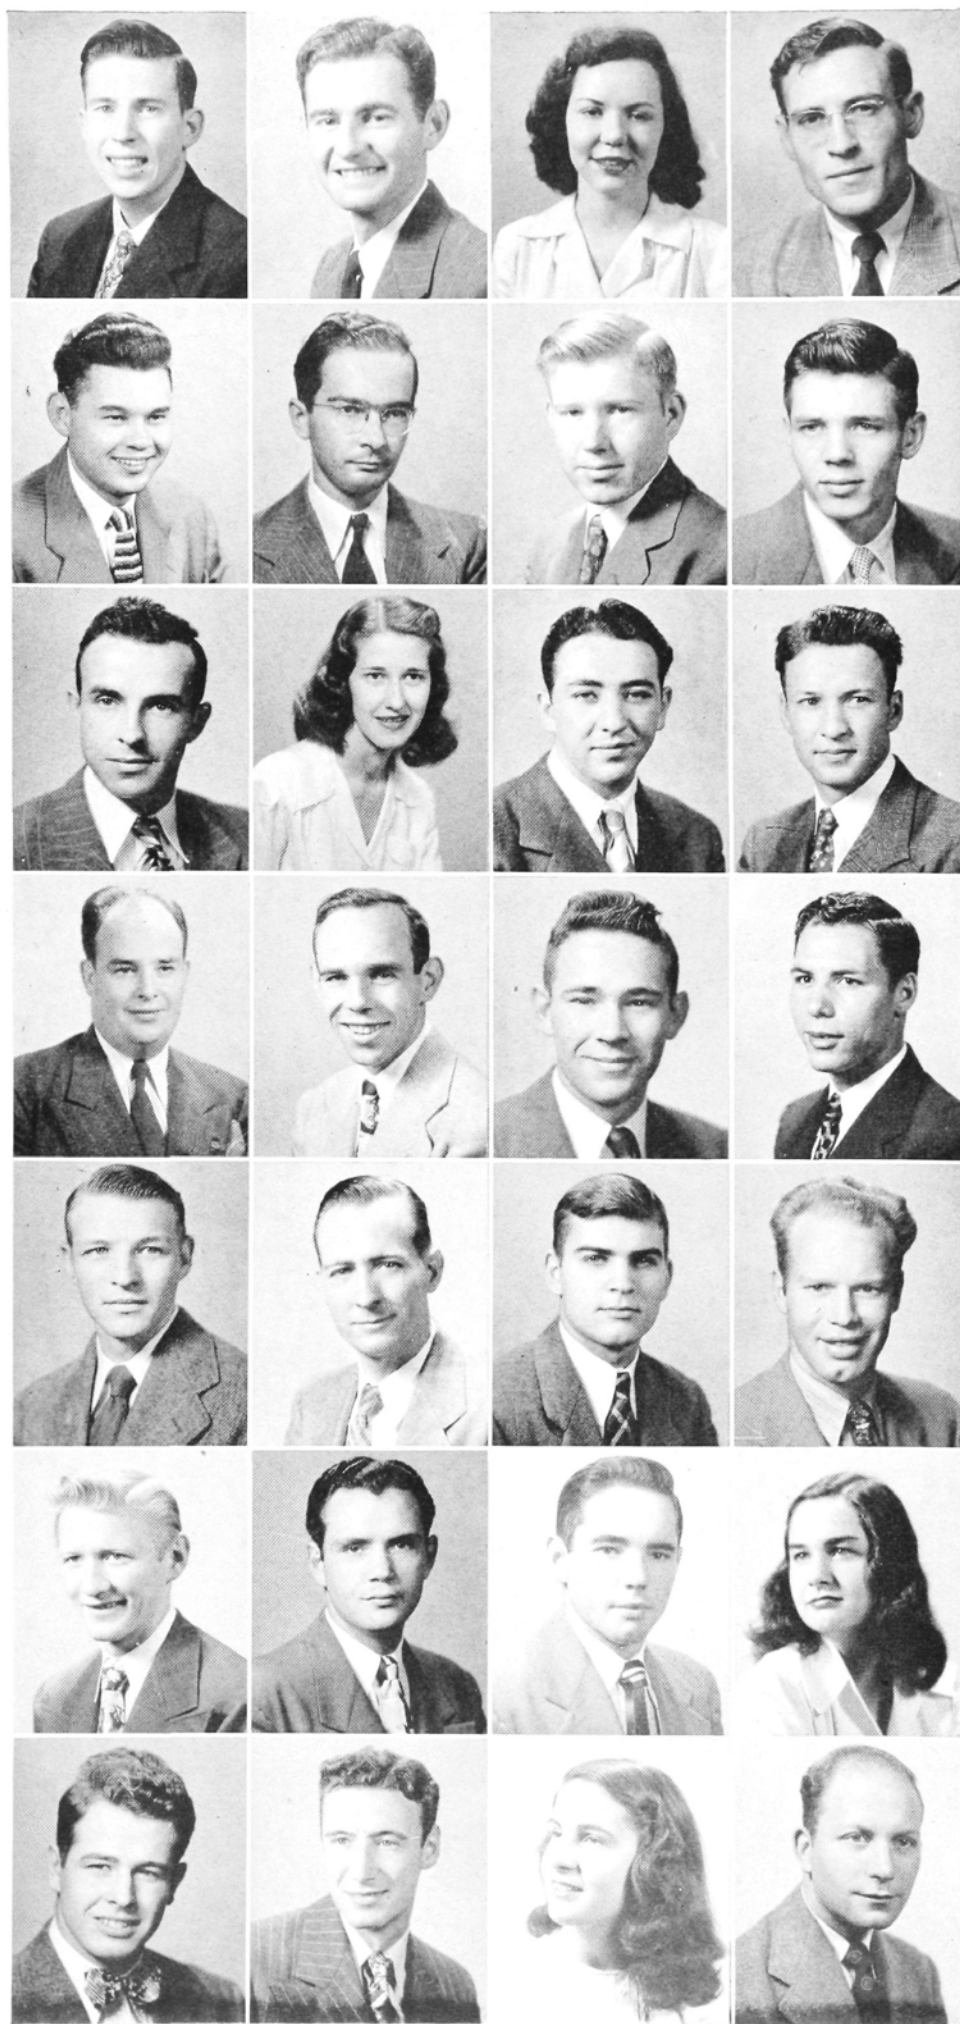

Immediately upon your arrival your work really began. You could do so much to assist and cheer those homesick freshmen. Just last year you were one of them. There were new friendships to be made and old ones to strengthen.

Your big day came during “Rat Week,” when, after weeks of gleeful planning, you tasted sweet revenge at seeing freshmen bow down to you. You really kept those freshmen a-tremble.

An important element in the class was the large number of returned veterans. More came back into your group than into any other. During these two years they have made their influence felt and have played a major part in campus activities.

You enjoyed this, your second year at H.P.C. Your Sophomore year lived up to your expectations, and you loved every minute of it. It has been a year you will not soon forget.

Your first day at H.P.C.—You freshmen will never forget that day—how frightened you were, how bewildered, but with the help of the students, and of the faculty and advisers, how that bewilderment changed to greater confidence and assurance.

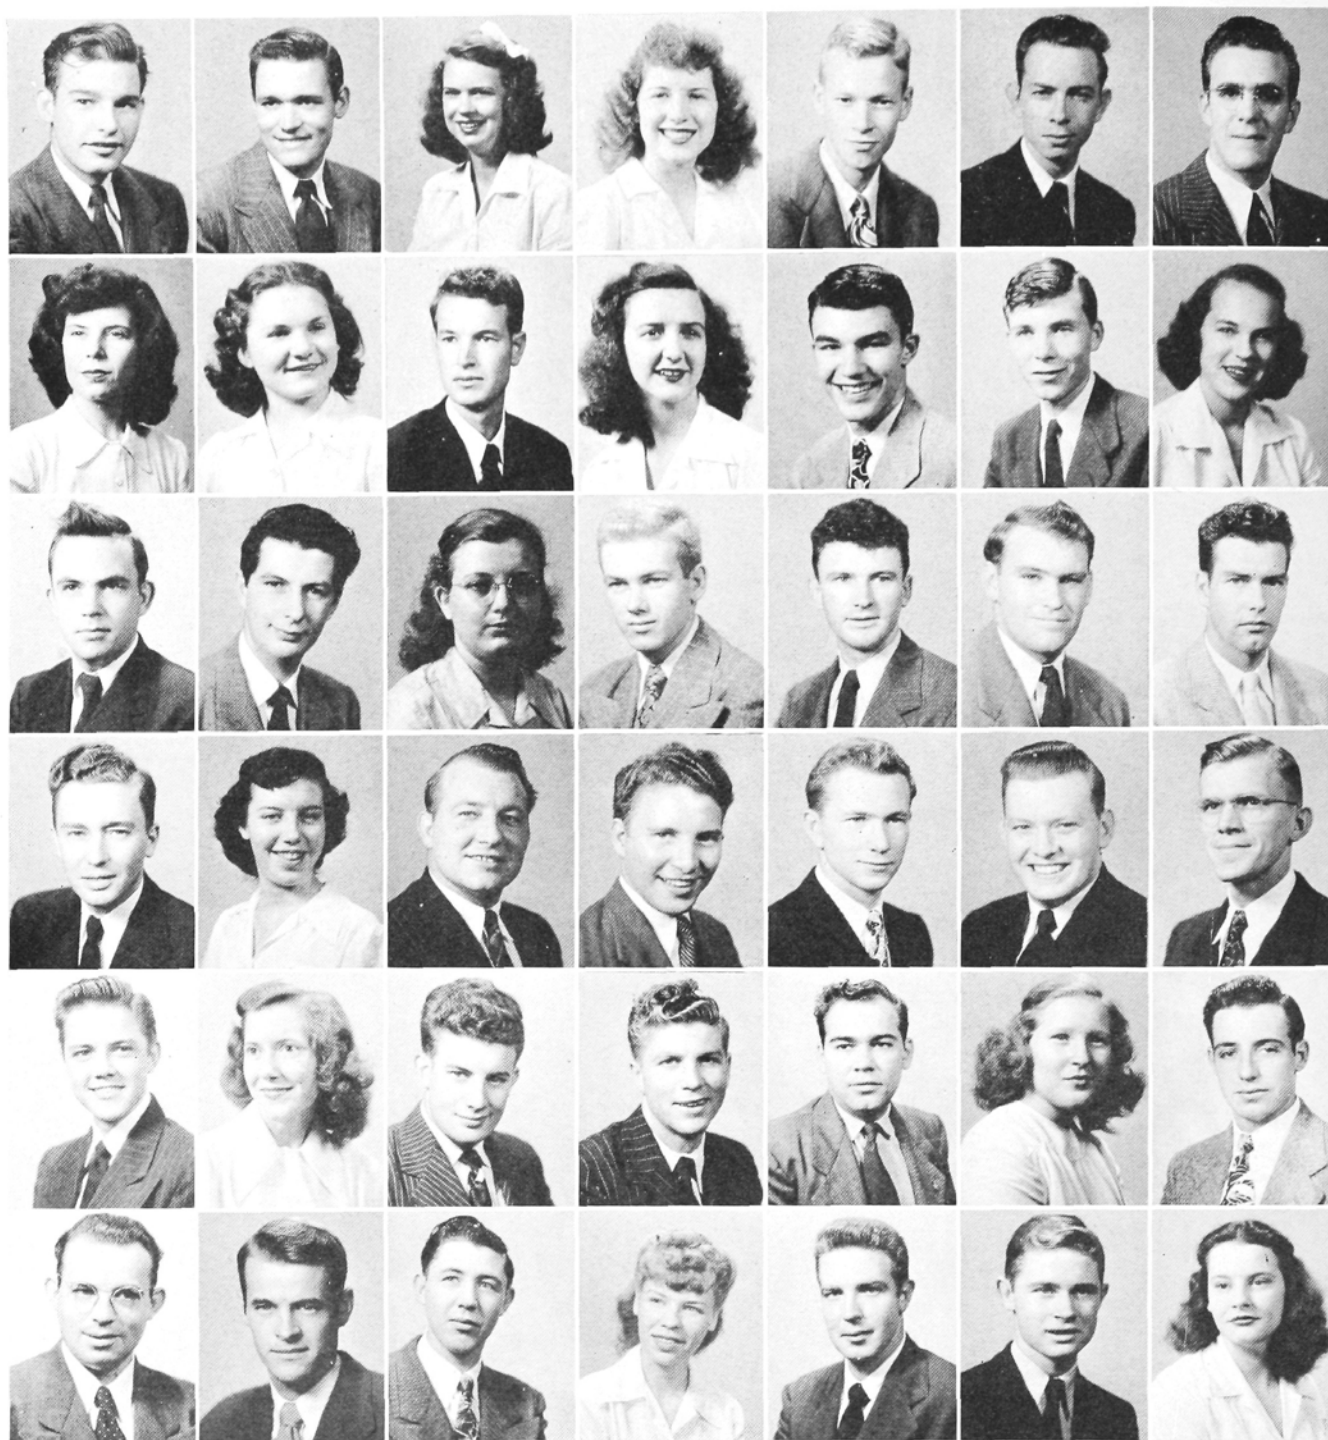

You entered the class of 1951 with high aspirations. You realized that you as a class must uphold and strengthen the high aims of the college during your four year life here.

None of you will ever forget your first impression of the campus, the faculty, and your feeling of admiration and almost awe of those wonderful upperclassmen. You knew you could never treat those poor freshmen of next year as you were treated during "Rat Week." That week each freshman was required to perform special tasks at the hands of his upperclassmen superiors, had to go without make-up—in general, "look simply a sight."

Soon the newness wore off and then came the feeling of belonging. Each freshman firmly believes that this year has been an experience he would not have missed for the world, and one that he will never forget. Many of you are already looking forward with eagerness to three more glorious years here.

High Point College's Purple Panthers ended the football season with a better-than-50-per-cent average this year, gaining five victories, and with four losses and two ties in their eleven games scheduled.

High Point, Sept. 13—High Point College's grid-ders opened their football season here in battling the strong Duke University junior varsity to a 6-6 tie.

A touchdown called back late in the third quarter cost the Panthers an upset victory.

Asheville, Sept. 20—High Point scored early in the ball game to gain a 7-6 victory over an arch rival from the mountains, Western Carolina Teacher's College, here. James Petree's true-toe from place-ment accounted for the winning margin.

High Point, Sept. 26—A late rally in the second half netted the High Point Panthers a 14-7 triumph over Milligan College here. A 20-yard touchdown plunge by Hugh Giles highlighted the game.

High Point, Oct. 4—Catawba, riding the crest of the North State Conference since 1941, handed High Point College its worst football defeat in two years here with a 21-0 lose. The Indians captured the conference laurels again this year, going undefeated in the North State loop.

Wilson, Oct. 10—High Point College's football machine roared back from a 21-0 licking from the hands of Catawba to shellack Atlantic Christian College here, 33-0. Curtis McDonald's 76-year gallop in the second period limelighted the Panther triumph.

Hickory, Oct. 18—Playing in a drizzling rain and in mud ankle deep, the up-and-down Bears from Lenoir-Rhyne College battled High Point to a 6-6 deadlock here. The game was postponed one hour because of rain.

High Point, Oct. 24—High Point's Panthers hit their stride of the 1947 football season here in shellacking Newberry College with a 27-0 polish. Bill Loyd, Glenn Painter, and Curtis McDonald shared the honors in gaining the triumph.

Greensboro, Nov. 1—The major upset of the North Carolina conference was witnessed here tonight when the Quakers from Guilford College rolled out like a herd of lions and crushed High Point College, 28-7, with one of the best aerial attacks in Guilford's history. Guilford held a 14-7 lead at intermission. Bill Loyd accounted for the lone High Point tally in the second quarter.

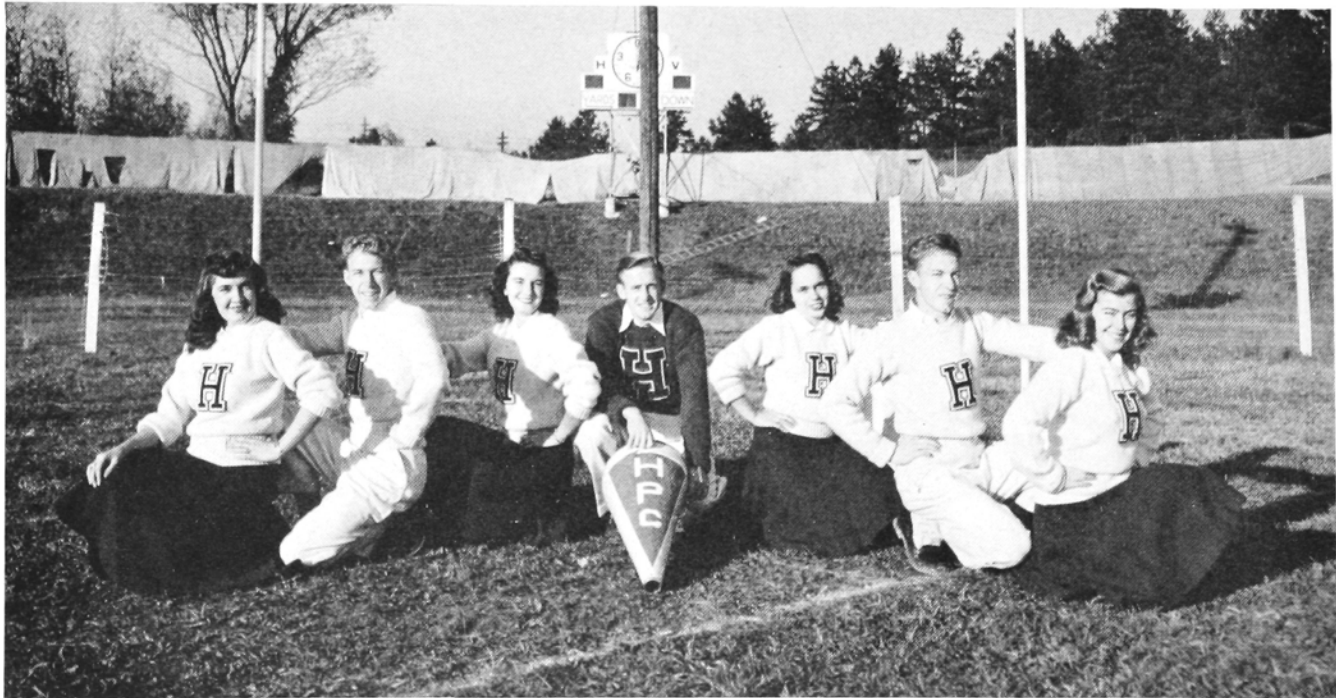

High Point, Nov. 8—High Point eked out a 14-7 victory over the stubborn Elon eleven here tonight in the annual Homecoming affair. A pass from McDonald to all-conference end Carl Tipton netted the winning score.

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 15—Wofford's Red Terriers staged a late rally in the second half to spell defeat to High Point College here tonight. High Point missed three scoring opportunities when they advanced within the 10-yard line.

on the High Point College football season by gaining a hard-fought, stubbornly earned 12-7 victory here. Curtis McDonald scored High Point's lone marker in the second quarter, and High Point went ahead at halftime, 7-6.

High Point, Nov. 27—Appalachian closed the lid

High Point College's first postwar soccer edition, fresh as a green apple, materialized into one of the finest soccer elevens of any school of its size. Since most schools were inactive in soccer competition, the Panthers had to resort to a high type of competition. The soccer team ended the season with two victories against four losses. Hebron Coble, flashy center, was invited to compete with delegates from other schools in the nation for a berth on the United States soccer eleven which will play in the World's Olympics in England this spring.

The Panthers suffered double losses from Duke and the University of North Carolina, while subduing twice Roanoke College, of Salem, Va.

WINTER

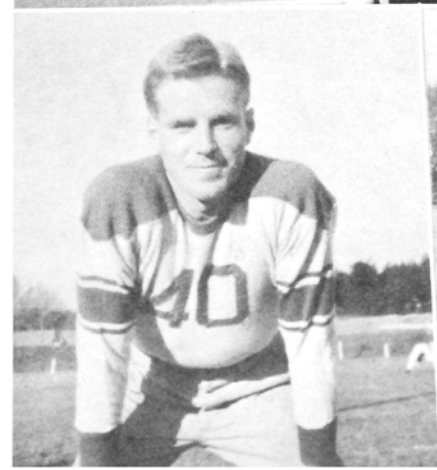

Preparing for the long winter ahead, H.P.C. students brought out dust covered boots and mittens. The memories of autumn had been brushed aside for a year of hard, tedious work—and unforgettable fun. Somehow your work seemed harder—term papers to write, extra-curricular activities—even your homework was harder. The days just were not long enough. They were filled with dreams of the coming Christmas vacation, having your picture made for the ZENITH, sitting in crowded booths at the bookstore, attending sorority, fraternity, and club meetings, and then the Christmas parties.

Soon you were on your way home for vacation. You went by car, if you were lucky, or by bus, train or plane. You went to all parts of the country—to Wisconsin, to Pennsylvania, Virginia, South Carolina and

New Jersey. You came back with memories of the Christmas parties you had at home, and the friends you saw. The first few days were filled with discussions of who received diamonds during the holidays, and who got what for gifts. Soon attention turned to speculation about who would win the Beauty Contest. Amid the rush of basketball games, dates, and classes, suddenly there came a silence. Examinations had arrived. Everyone carried cram notes . . . to the bookstore, Student Center, even the dining hall.

For a moment your heart was heavy, as you thought of those who were graduating, those whom perhaps you would never see again. Then they were gone—scattered to the winds as they filed out of the auditorium for the last time in January. All you could do was smile and wish them success and happiness.

SPRING

Spring was here—you first realized it one sunny morning when you were walking to class and noticed the trees in bloom. It seemed to you almost as if they had blossomed overnight, because you could not remember having seen them the day before. One day you walked towards the gym, past the tennis courts and everything was brown and bare; but the next time you walked by, you were amazed at the solid wall of green color around.

There were other ways of knowing—you knew it by smelling the freshness of the cool green grass as Ed mowed the front campus. You knew it because you had to close your eyes to shut out the glare of sunlight on the gleaming white library steps. There was a different feeling about the campus—a sort of "Zippa De Doo Da" feeling.

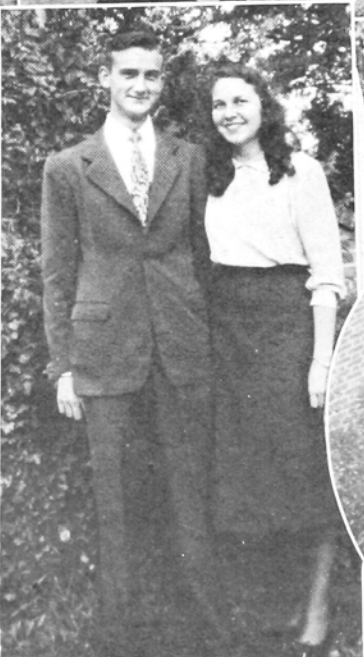

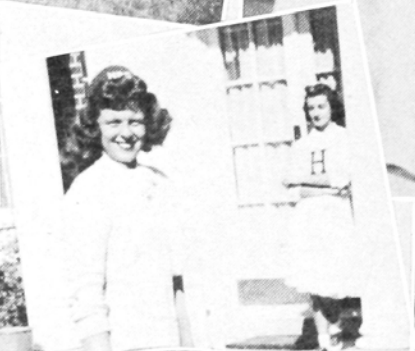

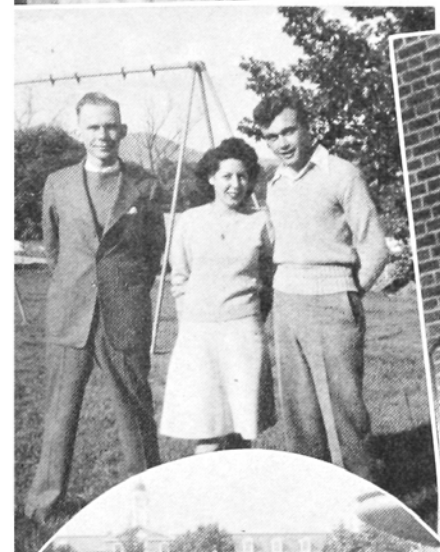

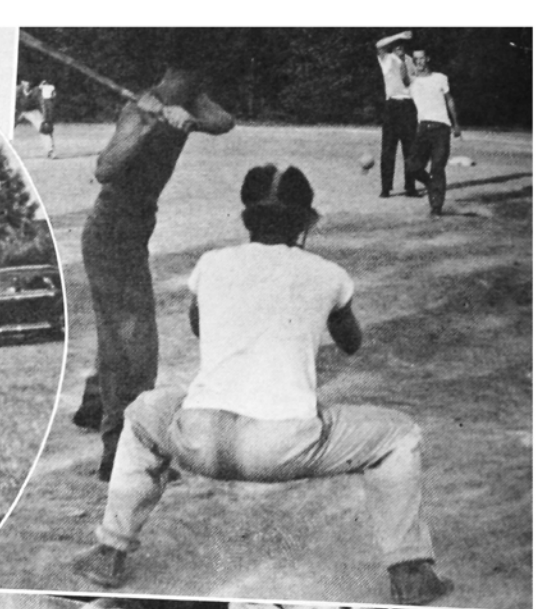

Easter came. You heard the choir at church sing, and as you listened, maybe you felt it reach something deep inside of you. You seniors knew this was your last Easter at High Point College.

Sunbathing became a part of each girl's daily schedule. There was so much to do—and so little time. May Day dance practices took much of your time, and there were dances, banquets, tennis matches, and just loafing.

With thoughts of graduation and leaving, seniors began counting their cuts and quality points; underclassmen vied for rooms, and combined packing with exams, finding neither beneficial to the other.

Then came May. One moment we were happy with our usual Spring sentiments of the happiness and newness of things and the next minute we were thinking of Spring as being the end of many things which we shall always hold close and remember.

WOMAN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The physical education department has progressed rapidly under the capable leadership of Miss Hope Pate, physical education director, and Miss Anna Mae Tucker, president of the W.A.A.

During the year the women athletes have participated in soccer, hockey, volleyball, basketball, badminton, ping pong, softball, tennis, and swimming. Working closely with the department, the Woman's Athletic Association has realized broad development and an extensive program of organization and promotion of student participation in athletic and recreational activities.

Many events highlighted the year, the first of which was a wiener roast for freshmen girls held at the wiener pit back of the dormitory. This annual event is held to acquaint the freshmen with the activities of the W.A.A. in which they may participate.

October 25 was the date on which the W.A.A. sponsored the Halloween dance. All students were invited. Several clubs and organizations on the campus cooperated with the W.A.A. in having booths as added attractions.

On December 10 the W.A.A. Christmas party was held in the basement of Woman's Hall. There were games and refreshments and everyone had fun.

The W.A.A. Board consists of the following: Anna Mae Tucker, president; Ovida Lineberger, vice president and head of hockey; Lib Sifford, secretary and head of soccer; Connie Nunn, treasurer and head of ping pong; Lovedia Stewart, sergeant-at-arms and head of softball; Gay Hayes, publicity manager and head of basketball; Margaret Phelps, volleyball; Doris Pickler, badminton; and Pat Isenhour, tennis.

W.A.A. has done a fine job in planning and carrying out an extensive program for women. The important part this organization plays in campus activities is fully realized by faculty and students alike.

RADIO STAFF

The campus radio station, WHPC, is the newest improvement on campus this year. The students are proud of it, especially considering this is probably the first small college in the state to have a radio station of its own.

Located backstage in the auditorium, the station is not only for entertaining purposes, but it is a means of giving information about the various campus organizations—when and where meetings will be held, elections, the outcomes of sports games and other announcements.

WHPC is directed by Horace Billings, station director; Bob Marley, assistant director; Thomas Cooke, talent director; and Bill Marley, program manager.

Each evening at 7:30 WHPC goes on the air for an hour and forty-five minutes, stopping at bookstore time for an hour's break. Programs are continued then by Moe Merhige with "Sandman's Serenade," which is followed by Dick Ditullio and Stan Roberts' version of "Rendezvous in Purple."

PUBLICITY

Another badly needed department was added at High Point this year, too, that is the publicity division, headed by Bill Currie and Horace Billings. The purpose of this department is to acquaint the public with college activities, to maintain a close relationship between the town and the school, and to promote our athletic programs.

EDITORIAL STAFF

The Hi-Po rounds out another year of recording in black and white the story of the activities of High Point College students.

Elected to fill the Editor's chair of the Hi-Po this year was Horace Billings. Wayne Cagle was associate editor. Sports editors were Marvin Cooper, Henry Maddux, and Gay Hayes. Percy Payne held the position of News Editor and Homer Rogers was Feature Editor. Lorraine Chapman, Bette Rader, and Mary Lib Vaughn were in charge of social news. Members of the news staff were E. W. Alexander, Ellie Prince Cutchin, Herman Coble, Betty Spearman, C. W. Stewart, Betty Gibbs, Joe Veasey, Doug

Williams and members of the Journalism class. Circulation of the paper was accomplished by Elizabeth Sifford, Circulation Manager. Bill Shatterly handled the photography.

The amount of advertising carried in the paper was kept at a high level by a hard working advertising staff. Robert Cress began this year's work as business manager. After his resignation early in the year Richard Noble assumed the position and carried on the remaining months. He was assisted by Gordon Cress, Jimmie McGhee, Marguerite Taylor, Billy Vendrie and Donna Burns.

The Hi-Po office is located in the basement of the Student Center. The paper is published by the students and for the students and can be picked up from the big table in the foyer twice a month. Professor A. S. Withers is the faculty adviser to the students who publish this newspaper.

The paper began this year with an experienced staff, most of them having worked on the Hi-Po before or some publication before coming to High Point College. Regularly, the Journalism class, under the professorship of Mr. Withers, made contributions to the paper, also.

There was a great deal of resigning and accepting of offices on the Hi-Po staff this year. Starting off with Billings, as editor, and Cress, as business manager, it was not long before Cress had resigned and his duties were assumed by Richard Noble. Soon Billings relinquished his position as editor, in order to devote all of his time to his duties as president of the student government. He was succeeded by Henry Maddux. Then Marvin Cooper and Arthur Stevenson were appointed business managers to fill the vacancy left by Richard Noble.

Every member of the Hi-Po staff hopes that it has been successful in informing the students on all matters pertaining to their interest and welfare.

"The ZENITH is out!" With these words the staff turns over to you your yearbook, and the responsibility of judging the worth of the book belongs to you students who have been asking, "When?"

Actual preparation began last summer and continued through to the day the book was delivered to you anxious students. Our aims in this 1948 yearbook were to bring to you, step by step, a one-year story of college life. We have combined the use of words and pictures to cover every phase of H.P.C. life, its student body, and its organizations.

Pandemonium reigned as the staff worked to meet that deadline. There was the dummy to be drawn, pictures to be made, ads to be collected, snapshots to be brought in, write-ups to finish, letters to type, and bills to pay. Any member of the staff will be willing to tell you what a job it really was.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Seated: Editors, Lo Chapman and Betty Hayes. Standing are: Horace Billings, Jacksie Miller, Elizabeth Clifton, Helen Hough, Gay Hayes, and Bill Shatterly.

Above the pecking of a typewriter, assistant editor, Lorraine Chapman, asks Betty Hayes, editor, who leans over a dummy, "What happened to the sophomore class write-up?" Margaret and Ann, business manager and her assistant, rip through a mountain of papers on the desk searching hopefully for another ad.

Gay Hayes and Horace Billings did splendid work on the boys' and girls' sports pages, while Lib Clifton collected information about the seniors for their write-up. Amy Buckner took a load off the editor's mind by being in charge of collecting snapshots.

Miss E. Vera Idol, faculty adviser, through several years of experience, aided inestimably in guid-

Will we... ... keep our place in the world?

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—first among nations in national income! First in production of wheat, corn, cotton, petroleum, coal, and iron! First in communications, in motor vehicles per capita—first in many essentials to good living and prosperity.

And directly related to that position of leadership is our standard of education—for it has been shown that a country's wealth and welfare rise along with its educational standards. And countries rich in natural resources can be poor and backward without the benefits of education.

Yes, the United States is a leader in the field of education too—but for how long? Appalling conditions prevail today in many of our schools. Many of our most brilliant teachers are working against odds—crowded classrooms, shortages of equipment and textbooks, long hours. . . . Thousands have left the profession for other work.

You, and every United States citizen, will suffer from this situation, because it cannot help affecting our national prosperity before long.

WHAT TO DO?

Today—make it your business to take these two steps: 1. Check up on educational conditions in your local schools; 2. Back up and work with organizations seeking to improve teachers' working and living conditions. For only by keeping our educational standards high can we hold our place in the world—and assure a prosperous future for our children.
