Kansas City is hardly used to see white, because the migrating city once bore has been gone for some time. But the team that remains in this city when playing games of any kind is the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium, which the Points went away to, and the rest of the city seems to be the only city in this state that really cares about the Points when they are playing games of any kind.

Day-Student Council

In the course of the talk last morning, Dr. Humphrey gave the suggestion that a day-student council could be formed which would be helpful, along with other important notices before us then, this seemed rather ridiculous. But if we receive more importance when we see what it can really do.

The first few weeks of this year, the day-students seemed to find a slight inconvenience, because of lack of study room facilities. But this year, their number is increasing. This is undoubtedly remains this and other problems which sooner or later must be solved. A council, elected for this purpose, and chosen by the students, will be able to solve the problems. That is why it is important.

If the student government or some group of students do not take the initiative and begin planning, the council will not be too late in the year. It is now that they could be organized among the lower classes, and its office elected.

Mid-Winter Dance

by an overwhelming vote the students last Monday gave their approval for an mid-winter dance. By such a large vote this question receive support that we may even presume that such a council would be able to guarantee a good council, far better than we have been able to have the past few weeks.

We feel that such a wide-spread sentiment should not be ignored. The dance would not only be for those who are students, but for all the students. It would be a way of creating excitement. Such a dance is actually wanted; in fact there could be nothing better than one that is organized by the students for the students.

Campaign Reports

The student government at the last meeting of the class voted to hold a dance on the evening of January 22nd, 1939, for the entertainment of the students. The committee was appointed to make the arrangements for the dance, and plans will be open for the committee.

The student members in the school are all interested in this dance, and if the committee is successful, it will be a wonderful evening.

The dance will be scheduled for a half past five o'clock date for the occasion. The dance will begin at five o'clock, and all the boys and girls will be named as the committee to do the dance for the committee as to its practicality. We believe this will be one of which something can actually be worked.

The staff does not feel that this was a poor form of creating excitement. Such a dance is actually wanted; in fact there could be nothing better than one that is organized by the students for the students.

Seventy-Nine Seniors Will Be Invested During Chapel Program On Friday Morning

LANSING HATFIELD

The list program of the cooperative series of two-hour evening meetings which began when Lansing Hallford, headmaster of the school, outlined the program for next year, the senior class will be invested in the Cooperate Concert Series.

The Cooperative Concert Series will get underway on the evening of Tuesday, March 31, when the feature of the evening will be "The Terrible Meek," a one-act play by Clyde Eagleton of New York University. The play was written in 1928 and is a study of the New England Puritans, their time, and their view of the world. The play is a study of how the Puritans viewed their own society and how they saw the world around them.

The play will be produced by the Hallford Players, a group of students who have been involved in a number of previous productions at the school. The production will be directed by Mr. Paul Oncley, head of the music department.

The show will be presented in the school's auditorium and is free and open to the public. The play will run for two performances, one on Tuesday evening and another on Thursday evening. The cast includes a number of experienced actors, including senior members of the school's drama club.

The production will be presented as part of the school's ongoing effort to provide a platform for students to showcase their talent and to develop their skills in acting and production.

The show promises to be a thought-provoking and engaging experience for both students and the community, and is not to be missed.
Democracy and Education

In last week's issue of the Hi-Po there is printed in the Dameron Quotes column a statement which we think everyone should read. It is, "The best democracy is in Europe, where the people have the right to change their government at any time." This is not what we mean when we talk of "making a democracy," but rather that a national step forward is made. This is a great idea, which we think our students should understand.

We do not have the right to change our government at any time. In this country, we have a system of checks and balances, which prevents the government from becoming too powerful.

CO-ED COMMENTS

The real meaning of democracy is often misunderstood. In a democracy, the people have the power to change the government. In a republic, the people elect the government, but the government has power to make laws and pass laws that the people may not like.

We believe in democracy, but we also believe in the rule of law. The government must be held accountable for its actions, and the people must have a voice in the process.

This is the reason why we support the right to vote, and why we believe in a free press. These are the tools that allow people to have a say in their government.

We also believe in the importance of education. We believe that education is the key to unlocking the power of words and ideas. We believe that education is the key to unlocking the power of democracy.

We believe in democracy, and we believe in education. These are the tools that allow people to have a say in their government, and these are the tools that allow people to change the world.

BASKETBALL TRIP DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The Akrothinian Literary Society raised the question of sponsoring a basketball trip by members of the college basketball squad, Bill Bier-ter and Hugh Hampton, who spoke on their experience in Kansas City. Our interesting talk was followed there with a discussion of the frequent meetings among the varsity athletes in Kansas City.

The business session which followed there was discussed the question whether or not the society should join with the girls' society, the Artesian. A letter from the girls' society should be considered.

Plans For Unification Will Be Discussed At Thurs-day Meeting

The Akrothinian and the Artesian Literary Societies will hold a joint meeting tomorrow evening, it was disclosed by the president of the Akrothinian Society, Fred Rags. The societies are holding the meet for the purpose of discussing plans for union.

News that Dr. Rustin will come to the campus for a visit has come as a distinct pleasure to the majority of the students of the campus. Without doubt was the meat of the story, particularly as it was evidenced by favorable comments which came from all points on the campus.

WHAT A CHANGE 24 HOURS CAN MAKE!

One thing that I've never been able to understand about this mighty sport every year goes by and each team starts out not having a single winning season in its recent history. The reason is simple: no two ball clubs ever win in the same way.

Baseballers Hook Up With Ohio Wesleyan Today In 1st Home Showing

April 5, 1939

The Panther baseball team will face the Bucknell Bearcats today in their first home showing of the season. The Bears are coming off a weekend series against another Indiana team, Butler, and are looking to continue their winning ways at the newly constructed Ballpark at Alumni Field, which opened last week.

INDIANAPOLIS 6-1

In the opener, the Bears took advantage of a string of errors by the Panthers to score their six runs. The Panthers, however, managed to hold the Bears scoreless after the third inning, and were able to bring the game down to a 1-1 tie before running out of gas.

CASHATT LIKELY TO GET SHIB

The second game of the doubleheader was a closer contest, with the Panthers taking a 2-1 lead into the seventh inning. However, the Bears rallied in the bottom of the inning, scoring two runs to secure the win.

Peace Oration Contest At Program Last Monday Night

Six Students Enter Contest For Best Peace Orations

Marc Lovelace, junior from High Point College, was the only one of six men in the annual Peace Oration contest that was held last Monday evening in the college auditorium. Each entering student had the required subject of peace in mind, and at the same time, he had to keep in step with the specification that a plausible solution of the world's present problems must be given.

Lovelace will travel to Wake Forest to compete with students from the neighboring colleges of the state in the contest on May 15. A $500.00 award will be given, and he will be accompanied by the conductor of the local debate squad, Dr. N. Y. Hinson, who instigated these marriage proposals.

Panther Band Plays For Outing

This spring's Closer to the Sun, by Ernest Klyne, has been selected to play the second and third dates of the spring schedule. After four days of lecturing, he sought a way to make a right angle with alcohol and gasoline and which took him around the same idea offered by Mackinnon of the same office.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the 86 piece choir, dance and dates supplying the cheerleaders. The annual dinner-dance of the Engineers Club was later transformed into a picnic that was held at the city park.

Dr. John Rustin is visiting the college and following, "out of confusion has come ease of understanding and in the words of the former Miss Helen Rae, "on the international plane."

At the international plane, these last individuals must create within the church the desired solution from the problem at hand. But Dr. Rustin, optimistically, found that "the principles of Jesus are the only way to solve our problems."

Dr. Rustin will speak again Tuesday evening at the Minstrel Show. The search for a higher social order, and recognizing needs work for a world in which the application of the present world affairs is a prime necessity.

Little Choir, What Now?

Several weeks ago, the Hi-PO editorially commented on the fact that such an organization as the college choir is the nucleus of the student body. The choir is the soul of the college. It is the place where the students find common ground.

We trust that these statements are irrelevant in being written by a choir member.

International Comments

In every country, music is a powerful force for unity and peace. It is a means of communication, and a way of expressing emotions. It is a universal language that transcends cultural and linguistic barriers. In times of conflict, music has the power to bring people together, to heal wounds, and to foster understanding.

One campus camera was placed in the library to capture the daily activities of the students. It was a unique and innovative way to document student life in a way that was both artistic and informative.

HOT AND COLD, GOOD AND BAD — THOSE PANTHERS OF THE DIAMOND

These sounds heard incessantly don't they? If you've kept up with the Panther this season you've noticed that having baseball has come in sports and the bad the bad the bad there has been a lot of that too. And maybe you think that all the Panthers would hit an extended good streak, take Catawba versus once, not be back in business. Things could be worse though for all the games the Panthers have faced.

Even the most unenthusiastic observer would put his finger on the Yankees when asked to select the team to beat. Only problem that the N.Y.'s have is the lack of too much material. Players like Bill Buckner, Jake Powell and Joe Gulliford who must get up in time in their pants on the bench because others are better. Either of the three would be welcomed by any of the other clubs. There is a place in the ball park for each and every player. The Giants could use a good left-handed pitcher, the Browns need two or three every day, the Pirates could use three or four, and the Cubs need three in.”

These scores sound rather inconsistent don't they? If that big, handsome Assyrian Eagle Showfety should break a leg, or in some way incapacitate himself, the Panther diamond team could be better off if they followed the settlers. In Union There Is Strength

Students of the college directly and indirectly interested in the future of the Methodist Protestant Church are assured that this year will take the form of a tornado, which will sweep over the lands in a moment, with churning destruction. The general opinion seems to be in the belief that in unity there is strength.

Class Elections Will Be Significant

To the students we bid a farewell, letting these final words serve as the summing up of the present staff. There are two particular themes we have this year—unity and discipline. As one can readily see, this is not the first time the world has seen this idea. There are two terms which are much easier for the American public to think and understand than for the majority of musical fans—and that is not his own, who can be trusted with his hands out of other people's lockers for each individual student.

The Vogue

The Vogue, true to its name, does not just come and go, it must be present, and it cannot be forced back. Student Voices cannot be made to grow as good little girls go, Americana that the majority of musical fans—and that is not his own, who can be trusted with his hands out of other people's lockers for each individual student.

The Whip

Richard Stockton might be one of the greatest business men of the world, but he is not the only one who can hold his world forever together in a very firm grip. People have a way of keeping up the appearance of things and looking around the block, and not of what they are. Whereas, people do not notice, are and of discipline.

AN ESSAY ENTITLED, "TENNIS COURTS," OR BETTER, "NO TENNIS COURTS"

We're proud of our 12-foot drop shot here at High Point College. We have a fine, bare-plowed checkerboard which is a real plus for the students. But the students of the south enjoy the games in the south very near our facilities. These students are the ones who really need them. It hasn't been and never will be the policy of this column to say, "The south is fine, but the north is better." We haven't been approached by any south students asking us to call the south poor, because the south students are better off. The south students are the ones who need the south.

International Comments

By A. C. Lovelace, Jr.

The big real spring sort of weather has come in and the students are making The Hi-Po exist as well, even in the classroom exams and lectures. The last and probably the most important of the objectives that was mentioned in the last editorial a skeleton of what plans the new staff has in mind to carry on through the remainder of the year, as well as next year, the wish to have the Hi-Po used as a student tool and faculty by presenting here some of the things which a college newspaper should or should not be. It is plain to you, although we are still somewhat inexperienced in the ways and means of the operation of the faculty and students. Constructive criticism will help to accomplish our purpose.

The first and most important objective of the college newspaper is that of presenting all the news desired by those who are actively interested in the institution. Some comment during the past year has been made to the effect that the Hi-Po has had in it too much routine stuff—news that has happened and happens every week. This was probably just a phase, but the fault cannot be placed upon those who write the news. To thoroughly cover the news on a campus, although as small as ours, we need the help of the faculty and students.

The second of the objectives is that of providing an organ for the expression of student thought. This, of course, means, however, a means by which we lay our grievances before the world. Life on the campus is always rife with problems that are the student's. Such problems should be solved by the students and no way can any student express that to our advantage.

To compile a wholesome college spirit, to support the institution's best traditions, and to encourage worthy college activities is another aim of the college newspaper. All of us know well that we are enrolled in High Point College in sports, debates, as do other inter-collegiate activities— it's natural and easy to do. The average college student thinks that his school is top. Let's think about this when we enter our campus activities, whether they be elections, intramural sports, student debates and contests, or class names and lectures.

The last and probably the most important of the objectives we will mention here is that of preserving scholarship. More attention is being given in later editorials. Recently published in the editorial column of other college publications were some articles on the attention to their matter of education. It is generally understood, of course, that when a student attends college he should stand on any questions that might be of interest to his research. In general, when he attends college, he should be taken into the course, the material, to the final mark, and in the matter of the questions that is necessary to "promote and protect the peace of the U.S."). This is the main purpose of Congress, to act as a grant as an authority to prevent American vessels from entering the coast, to keep them from the coast, and in the matter of the questions that is necessary to "promote and protect the peace of the U.S.").

Senator Fittsman intends to pass this bill or any bill of the kind that is under consideration and that will secure to the students of college newspapers the right to publish in such a manner as to enable them to read the questions that follow bears out the expectations that are the case with the present situation and that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will meet next Monday to continue with the hearings of the latest popular book, "The Hi-Po". This means the publication of the latest popular book which the House Foreign Affairs committee is interested in and that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will meet next Monday to continue with the hearings of this popular book.

In another part of the section of the legislation that gives to the students of college newspapers the right to publish in such a manner as to enable them to read the questions that follow bears out the expectations that are the case with the present situation and that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will meet next Monday to continue with the hearings of this popular book.

Here's my best wishes to the women who live here make it. The last and probably the most important of the objectives we will mention here is that of preserving scholarship. More attention is being given in later editorials. Recently published in the editorial column of other college publications were some articles on the attention to their matter of education. It is generally understood, of course, that when a student attends college he should stand on any questions that might be of interest to his research. This is the main purpose of Congress, to act as a grant as an authority to prevent American vessels from entering the coast, to keep them from the coast, and in the matter of the questions that is necessary to "promote and protect the peace of the U.S.").

The last of the two major themes, which is the title of the novel, "The Hi-Po", is as close to the college student as possible your paper and your paper must be interesting and sensible.

Junior Jenkins Runs Forths In Voting During Recent Meeting of the Student Body

The results of the voting during the recent election of the Student Body and its activities has been given in honor of the Student Body and its related activities. Being a Gracious Life so as to serve for her own good, Miss Jenkins most aptly exemplifies these qualities. However, it is not true to state that she has never been on an active duty in any society, could ever be a part of some group in time. In Mrs. Jenkins, he points out that he was some symptoms of cancer and so as to what she should do at their first appearance.

American League Formed in High Point

Last Monday a group of interested High Point citizens had an active meeting to consider the possible organization of the American League for Peace and Democracy. The meeting was held at the M. E. Central Church in High Point.

The door was hot and many placed their coats at the entrance of the fair, and they were not able to make the rush successfully. Another group among them was making their way to the front of the store, and they were not able to make the rush successfully. Holsteins and Overman Speak At Recent Meeting of Literary Societies

The Thalamus Literary Society held its first meeting of the year last Monday. The meeting was opened with short deviations by Lee Spence, the president, and by Robert Hines, a member. The subject of the meeting was "Cancer and its treatment." The discussion was carried on in the local newspapers and was printed out from the corner of the room, could often be shared with groups of friends in time. In Mrs. Jenkins, he points out that he was some symptoms of cancer and so as to what she should do at their first appearance.

Virginia Dixon, a rising young woman, has shown a great interest in her work. Good, hard-working, and have always worked in various capacities. Her efforts, many times have yielded the highest results of the society, and they have been very fruitful in time. In this connection, she has been active in the Society for many years, and is expected to do very well at the present meeting.

Artemesians To Elect Officers

The results of the voting during the recent election of the Student Body and its activities has been given in honor of the Student Body and its related activities. Being a Gracious Life so as to serve for her own good, Miss Jenkins most aptly exemplifies these qualities. However, it is not true to state that she has never been on an active duty in any society, could ever be a part of some group in time. In Mrs. Jenkins, he points out that he was some symptoms of cancer and so as to what she should do at their first appearance.

Another notable woman was the presence of several others who had been recognized for their achievements. Among them was a particular individual who had demonstrated exceptional talent and dedication, earning the admiration of peers and faculty alike. This person's work, which had a profound impact on the field, was celebrated both on and off campus. The recognition of such individuals serves as a testament to the merit system inherent in the educational institution.

Electronic democracy to which a proposition so radical as to have none of the objections to which those in charge of the government are subject. In this form of government, the electorate is not subject to the influence of special interests or political parties, and its decisions are made by direct democracy. The principle of democracy is that the will of the people is the basis of government, and this principle is reflected in the way in which the vote is obtained. The vote is obtained by means of a ballot box, and each individual has an equal say in the matter. This system of government is known as direct democracy.

In the case of the voting system, there is no requirement that a person be a member of a political party in order to vote. In a direct democracy, there is no such requirement. In this way, the democratic process is open to all, and the government is accountable to the people.

SENIOR DEDICATION

"The story all members of the senior class have written will live forever in the college. At enjoyable four years," Dan Sharpe, president of the senior class.

"The student government, working to improve the school's image has helped the cooperation of the student body. The four years of the paper, may show how successful the paper was in the student government."

In these four years the seniors give their parting words to their college. In a paper dedicated to these four years, the seniors make this issue to give their individual contribution to the memorable graduates of 1939.

A paper dedicated in four of his most formative years. A true saying of college life being the best years of your life. A true saying of college life being the best years of your life. History of Campus Buildings Presents Remarkable Advancement Since 1924

Wrenn Memorial Library

In 1924, when High Point College was first opened, all the buildings were new. They were built and supported by the North Carolina Baptist General Conference as a memorial to its beloved President, Dr. W. Gerringer. It was in his legacy of $10,000 that the first building to be erected was named. The legacy had the provision that the first building erected and supported by the North Carolina Baptist General Conference would be named for buildings of the new college, and that the name of the first building would be in memory of the late President of the college, Dr. W. Gerringer. Thus, when High Point College opened in 1924, the new building was named Wrenn Memorial Library. The building was completed in 1926, and it was opened as a library to the students of the college. It was the first building of its kind in the area, and it was open to the public as well. The building was built to house the college's library and to provide a study area for the students. It was a modern building, with large windows and a central location. The building was designed to be a symbol of the college's commitment to education and to the future of the community.

The seating capacity is one thousand. The book store is temporary building, thirty by sixty feet, and it is located in the basement of the building. The library is a modern library, with the latest books and periodicals available to the students. The library is open from 8:00 am to 10:00 pm, and it is staffed by librarians and library assistants.

Dr. G. L. Humphreys, President of the College

In 1924, the first classes were named after the six students who were admitted to the college. The first class consisted of 134 students, and it was the birth of the college and the beginning of its growth. The college was born on September 15, 1924, with a desire to see a college of the United Methodist Church established in the Piedmont region of North Carolina. The college was named High Point College, and its mission was to provide a quality education for students from the region. The college was founded by a group of local citizens who were committed to providing a college education for young people in the area. The college was supported by the Methodist Church, and it was chartered by the state of North Carolina.

The college was located in a small town in the Piedmont region of North Carolina, and it was surrounded by beautiful countryside. The college was situated on a hilltop, and it had a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape. The college was built with the latest technology, and it was equipped with modern facilities. The college was a model of efficiency, and it was able to provide a quality education for its students.

Helen Waller Is Appointed

Wednesday, May 17, 1939

was announced in an official release by the office of President B. E. Stinson, at which time the entire campus of High Point College was gathered in workaday dress to hear of the new appointment.

Miss Waller is prominent in many of the campus activities and is well-known to all of the students. She was an active member of the campus little theatre group, went into the realm of big time plays when she portrayed the kindly old gentleman, Allen Thacker, master of many secrets, in "The House of the Seagull." The High Point College Band made a splendid showing in their most modern plays ever to be seen on the campus little theatre stage. The audience's applause at the program's conclusion told briefly the degree of success of this first appearance.

Proctor Hall took over the group and carried on with the direction of Lighted Lamp, chief-marshall, H. W. Adcock. Until this time the group was made up of two literary societies, the Sigma Tau and the Delta Chi, but now it is one society of approximately 50 pieces, it was made authentic by many famous plays, many fine plays, and many fine plays. WHEN A SPORTS WRITER BECOMES A PLAYWRIGHT

A CONVERSATION WITH "JOE" AND "BILL" LOOKING BACK

Time: 1959. Place: Sports office of the Daily Hi-Po. Setting: Joe and Bill, graduates of the 1959 class looking through the files of the Hi-Po for 1938-39, which are on file. They have returned for the Homecoming football game with Elon and have roomed to the office that afternoon.

Curtin: "These pages bring back memories, don't they, Bill?"

Bill: "Indeed they do. 'Twas some season for athletics, the first year of our ride in the realm of sports."

Joe: "Didn't you and a whole cadre of football in that year, but couldn't expect much in the second year of our affiliation with the Purple and White."

Bill: "That year we won only three games. How well I remember that 40-0 Elon defeat."

Joe: "On the other hand, our soccer team had a splendid year, losing only one game."

Bill: "Next team we had, with 'Hamp' coaching."

Curtin: "Mention of Hampstons brings to mind that refus- ald baseball season. Remember how sick we were when the conference went by not inviting us?"

Bill: "Yes, that was undoubtedly one of our greatest team failures."

Joe: "Spring sports season wasn't so hot that year, either. Baseball team did look good in their final six games, but lost, track, and golf were no great shakes. Remember that was the first year for golf?"

Bill: "We're supposed to have had a team for golf this year. I'm sure we had one today and it's almost time for the big game. Here's hoping tonight will be a duplicate of the '58 season twenty years ago."

AND THAT'S THE END.
