Religious Emphasis
Week of April 29

High Point College Religious Emphasis Week will be conceived with special services planned by the First Methodist Church of High Point. These services mark the 50th anniversary of that Church. A program of carefully selected speakers of Methodism's outstanding speakers will be presented, beginning Sunday night, April 29, and continuing through Sunday morning.

The M. R. M. Council is making plans for the students of the College to have an active part in this special week of services. Youth Night will be observed on Wednesday, May 2, when the students of High Point will be invited along with other youth of the city to go guests at a supper meeting in the dining hall of the Central Methodist Church. At this meeting Mrs. Kay Parrell, member of the first staff of the United World Mission of the Church, Mrs. Kay Parrell will be the speaker in the classroom in the American House, address on World Mission of the Church.

Other outstanding speakers and leaders of the week include the following: Bishop Paul B. Kern, Methodist Bishop of the Nashville, Tennessee, will be the speaker in the college chapel, and again on Thursday, April 30, at the college assembly. Bishop James H. Straughn, Methodist Bishop of the Pittsburg area, Pa., will be the speaker in the college chapel on Friday, April 30. Mrs. Kay Parrell will be the guest speaker for Thursday. Thursday evening's program will feature Dr. H. L. Holland, Holton, School of Education, Duke University, and Miss Betty Brittingham, editor of "Good Housekeeping," New York City, who will speak in the College Auditorium on April evening. Dr. H. M. Knowles will give the address of "The Upper Room," Nashville, Tennessee, Saturday, May 1, with an assembly at the First Church at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The M. R. M. Council urges that the students of High Point College attend and participate in these services. Dr. G. I. Humphreys, president of the college, has given strong support to the program. Dr. E. C. Rozzelle, pastor of Wesley Memorial Church, High Point, Dr. H. K. Masteller, pastor of the First Baptist Church, High Point, and Mr. G. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, High Point, will be among participants.

Kumar Goshal To Lecture Here Soon

Kumar Goshal, world renowned philosopher, is the son of the East, who has given equal thought to the problems of the East, the West, the spiritual, and the emotional. He loves his own people and is deeply concerned with their welfare. He is a close thinking, dedicated, and analytical believer that India and her problems are an integral part of the world problem which must and will be settled. He explains the inter-relationship and inter-depending of the human beings of all the world which eventually will bring peace and the answer we all so eagerly seek.

Kumar Goshal has recently published a book which titled his book (just published by Simon and Schuster) "The People of India." It is for the people that Goshal goes to the truth of every country. He is a specialist in and an analyzing of the human condition in the world.

Mr. Goshal will be presented in the college auditorium at 8:15 p. m., on April 25, as the third and final program of the spring lecture series presented by the college. All students, their friends and townpeople, without charge. Dr. A. S. Withers says that students and faculty alike take advantage of this opportunity.

In Barre, India, A Hindu of the highest caste, Kumar Goshal was educated at the University of Calcatta and studied music and theater arts at the Sanke Parshad Academy. (Academy of Music) of Calcutta, he spent half of his life in the United States and speaks English perfectly. He is a man to America, in America, he is the proud father of a young daughter.

During his years of orientation, and while he was studying and working in the United States, he portrayed himself as an actor and technical director in Hollywood. As an actor and director in the international arena, as commentator on the radio, and as writing articles on philosophy, it was inevitable, however, that his work as a writer take precedence over his theatrical activities. Yet, he has been able to write on topics when he speaks at High Point College, "America's Stake in the Far East." To few people realize the vital economic relationship of America to the Far East. We are dependent upon India for most of our minerals, our oils; upon Ma, and "The Ministers Hold Commencement Is Announced at HPC

The Pre-Theologian of High Point College participated in a rare treat the past week end at the First Baptist Church of High Point. The traditional May Day Festival program will be opened with a Commencement Recital on Thursday evening, May 24, at eight o'clock, in the college auditorium, under the direction of the music department.

Dr. and Mrs. Humphreys will entertain the members of the graduating class with an informal buffet supper at their home on College Drive at six o'clock Friday evening. The traditional Oratorio and Essay Contest will take place in the college auditorium at eight o'clock that night.

May commencement exercises will be held on Sunday, May 26, at the First Baptist Church of High Point.

On Sunday evening at 5 o'clock a worship service will be held in the college auditorium, dedicated to the memory of our former students who have died in the armed service of our country. The address will be delivered by Rev. Clay Madison, class of 32, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Waynesboro, N. C.

The senior graduating exercises for the class of 1945 will be held on Monday morning at ten o'clock. Rev. Paul D. Douglas, president of American University, Washington, D. C., will deliver the graduation address and Dr. Humphreys will confer degrees upon the thirty-six members of the Class of 1945.

The Hi-Post Staff

Students interested in a position on the Hi-Post staff are invited to apply. The term, 1945-46, are asked to leave their names, and the position they desire. The Hi-Post staff will be selected by Dr. Harvey B. Goward, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, during the next two weeks. Names will be presented to the college committee on publications before the date of election for new editors and business staff members.

Senior Investiture To Be On May 3rd

Dean P. E. Lindley has announced that the annual Senior Investiture Program will be held in the college auditorium on Thursday, May 1, at the regular chapel hour.

The Investiture is a formal cere- mony at which a select group of the senior class are officially recognized and presented as candidates for forth- coming graduation. Each member is to wear a special cap of the senior class, or some other student, cap to which a red ribbon for the first time, in their cap, and gowns. President G. I. Humphreys will preside, with the students and members of the 1945 graduating class. The Senior Investiture Program will be held at each chapel hour, the seniors will wear their traditional cap and gown, and will enter the chapel in formal march. Special senior chaplains will be chosen for the rest of the year.

WHERE ARE OUR LEADERS? By Doodlings

Today, we'll approach an old problem from another viewpoint. The other viewpoint is that the book of knowledge, which prevails on the campus, and the angle from which we're attacking this time is the apparent lack of leadership among students.

We have been told time and time again that everyone around here has no school spirit and cares not in the least what becomes of High Point College. However, all of that will be to no avail if no one can be found to lead the others into the right spirit. Most people are followers; everyone knows that. We probably have some very good followers in our midst, and they are, without question, the best of leaders. But how can these followers ever have a chance if there is no one to lead them?

The question, then, is: Where are our leaders? Is it that there are simply no students now attending High Point College who have the potentiality of becoming leaders? Or, is it that such people do exist, but are hiding their talents and abilities simply because they are too lazy to exert themselves or because they are selfish? If any such leaders are around, we wish they would come out of their hibernation!

We have a few leaders. Yes, but far too few! We're at a disadvantage; we've been around schools too long. Maybe if we'd forget about the people who preceded us—even though we wouldn't mind so much seeing the campus life dying a slow death.

High Point College, as an educational institution, has a great future ahead of it. A number of people are seeing to that. But what good will the efforts of the Administration and of our benefactors do, if none of us here has the stamina to get things moving? If the old school stuff is to be repeated for a third time.

THE DAY STUDENTS DODDLINGS

It was a calm spring evening, as the sun slowly set in the west, and the shadows lengthened. The campus was quiet, save for the occasional sound of a bird or a distant automobile.

Here we sit—just three little monkeys in a row. One can't see, one can't hear, and one can't talk. So, it takes all of us of us together to record a winning in the day-student room. The most prominent spectator is Betty and Dennis trying to understand, when the wind is right, but only go in the wrong direction. Can you imagine, right now everyone has turned his attention to us because we have applied themselves to making beautiful music together. It is pretty. Let's all of you try and notice their tenor add to the harmony. Have you seen, now, that Miller's "Heaven's" theme? Quite a story and quite a gal! "Dinkie" still keeps her mark and a sharper, more feminine one. She is expected to land soon. Miss everybody where you couldn't make the big picnic. Boy, we ate and ate—but dogs, peeper's and such. You should have seen Jeanie Bales as the great circus manager with a troop of fat lady, a sad clown, a monkey, and a man with a beard. Everybody is helping Anna Lee and Edwina every which way. We hope they will soon be better. The shortage of the materials, of course, is a real plus. The student union is due to the little monkey who could keep the record. Well, the just won't contrib-

With The Faculty

Dean Lindsey spoke April 3 at the Oakview P.T. A. on "Building We-Feeling." On April 12th, Dean Lindsey spoke at the Woman's Club of Greensboro, on "True Measure of Life." The society was most enjoyable. It will be more practical because they are turning brown! Ah, yes! The little bit of sense he had.

The little bit of sense he had.

The philosophy of the year is coming to an end. The first is "The Church." The little bit of sense he had.

Day Student Girls Hold Gay Picnic

Having tried big things, little pills, red and yellow, they are presently containing vitamin T, B and C. The modern girl eats from the department store cafeteria. Some of these girls emerged from the maze with a new diagnosis. The chronic condition of malnutrition, often due to serious physical or mental handicap, has been alleviated. A wave of health feeling brought on at this particular time of year, and generally in the spring months.

The sophomore day girls, sunburned and tweedled up to prescribe the one and only remedy—a good old-fashioned picnic. The day was spent at the Student Vesper Services, a part in them.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

"I've never been so insulted in my life. Here it is April 9 and they still have all those fine words, you know, like 'Please stop your butter churning,' and I don't know how many pieces of cake I've eaten, and I'm going to be in a daze on the exterior portions of the tennis courts!"

"How about a saucy game of tennis?...do you think I'm coming to a game of tennis?...are you nuts?...Why! You're not going to write to him again until tonight."

"I'm starved."

"I'm hungry."

"I'm hungry, sir."

"There was a call from the canteen asking if they'd done all right."

The transportation was arranged by Helen Upham and Jeanne Rule.

Those who invited the patients to take the prescribed treatment were: Lutcher Ellerson, Doris Lee, Anna Pearl Blackwell, and in the absence of Helen Upham, who was unable to attend.

The picnic would not have been complete, of course, without our nutrition experts. Each girl has tried her hand at housekeeping, dishwashing, something...and the things in this column! See you all tomorrow!

WELL, ISN'T IT ODD?

Bar, "The Columns" ring! Fine things happen when you believe in yourself.

"I'm hungry." (The girls attending were Martha Hendricks, Sarah King, Arlene V.Steelman is sporting a "I" of managing a family."

Those living in the practice house, especially interested in it were Peggy Briles, and Peggy Long, but no Peggy Short."
