In addition to student government, I'd like to welcome each of you back to another school year.

Dr. William R. Locke, professor of religious education, has announced that the Kappa Chi, Chapter of The Kappa Chi, National Fraternity for students who are preparing for the Christian ministry, will pledge new members during the months of October. Replacing the former Ministerial Association, the Kappa Chi Chapter organized last May, with members from the Duke University Chapter administering installation ceremonies. Officers installed in the initial ceremonies are Dr. James Moffitt, president; Miss Cassie Barrett, sophomore; Dr. J. Groce, Jr., vice-president; Mr. Will Brown, secretary; Mr. Charles Good, treasurer; Mr. Dan Brown, S.C.A. representative; and Dr. William R. Locke, faculty adviser. Fourteen members remain from (Continued on Page 3).

FROM YOUR PRESIDENT

Hello Everybody,

Well, it's back to school at H. P. C. It's certainly a genuine pleasure to see so many old friends again and to meet such an enthusiastic freshman class. On behalf of the student government, I'd like to welcome each of you back to another school year.

Your student government has held one meeting and plans to hold one every two weeks in the future. We have several constructive ideas under consideration at the present time. Let me inform you of the earliest possible moment. Incidentally, your interest and suggestions are heartily encouraged. We wish as many people as possible to take part in student affairs.

Now at the risk of being presumptuous, I'd like to offer a few suggestions for a more successful year:

First, attend every class and assembly unless you have a real reason for being absent—prominence is important, also. Second, set aside some time for study each day. Remember that preparation for final exams begins with your first class meeting. Third, take part in all your class activities. Try to make your class the best in the school. Finally, and this is chiefly for new students, read the Bulletin book at least once a day.

Looking forward to a great year for everyone, Yours very sincerely, STUDENT GOVERNMENT, DOUG HOLBROOK, President

Mrs. Bill Hill Assist Librarian

Mrs. Bill Hill has been added to the staff of H. P. C. in the capacity of assistant librarian. Mrs. Hill, the wife of the head of the biology department at H. P. C., Dr. J. Groce, Jr., is a graduate of Salem College, where she received her bachelor's degree in English, after receiving her M.A. in English from Columbia University.

In addition to her duties as assistant librarian, Mrs. Hill will assist in the English department. Dr. and Mrs. Hill, with their daughter, live in High Point. Their daughter, who is in Junior High School, is a member of the Senior High School Orchestra.

New Students Bring New Life To H. P. C.

Enrollment Totals 609

Of the 609 students enrolling at the beginning of semester, the registrar's office announces there are 122 seniors, 135 juniors, 149 sophomores, 184 freshmen, and 31 special students. Of this number, the 184 freshmen have captured the interest of upperclassmen and teachers alike by their wholehearted entrance into campus activities accompanying the Freshman Talent Show, in which every type of entertainment from boogie and rhythm dancing to Bob Covey's "Concerto in A Minor" was featured.

An annual event for freshmen during their first week on the campus, year's performance was given before an almost capacity audience in Roberts Hall. Audience comment indicated approval and payment through applause and two hours of impromptu entertainment.

Given Welcome By Methodists

The High Point College freshmen were given a welcome by the First Methodist Church, September 18, at Camp Betty Hastings. The party was in the form of a hay ride and a banquet, followed by a fellowship hour of singer songs with Wilsen Rogers, superintendert of the Sunday school, giving a brief talk. Reverend Ken- neth Goodson extended an invitation to the freshmen to be among his congregation each Sunday.

The HI-PO

To the Freshmen

As president of the Sophomore class, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to High Point College, which is to be home to most of you during this year. I hope that you will be very happy here and will not hesitate to offer any and all new ideas to us which could help us to improve our ever-expanding college.

It is within my capacity to remind you that you are in line for the annual freshman "rat week" which will be coming up within the next few weeks. I'd like to remind you also to retain that while Sophies are your only lords and masters, the majority of students may only watch our proceedings and join in the fun spectators. "Rat week" has long been an enjoyable occasion, not only to the sophomores, but to the freshmen as well, although most of them are unable to see the joy in it until the week is completed. It is always a pleasure to act in the role of the Dean, and as president of the Sophomore class, I would like to extend my congratulations to you for your participation in these affairs.

I hope that you will let us be your brethren in the battle for democracy abroad. But who is manning the important posts? Are they singing, "Till the day we die, They tease us, torment us, Boy! Who was that freshman blonde That just walked in?"

Memo to all students in Mr. Withers' classes: This is one of his famous sayings—"quote: "If you raise your hand above your ear, your eye, you've become a volunteer...""... unquote... A couple of new hits on top of the record parade are: "Because of You," sung best by Tony Bennett, and "I Get Ideas," sung best by Tony Martin... Have you seen "A Place in the Sun," coming to one of the local theatres? It rolls down one hill but hardly another... See where Buddy Morrow's orchestra is attempting to roll down the same cliche groove cut out by the Ralph Flanagan organ during the past two years. He has a good hand, but Flanagan is tops with me... Plenty of bobby-soxers are being sent spinning with Billy Eckstine's singing of "Enchanted Land."

I'll be seeing you around.

The Least Known Side of Athletics

Too many people look upon athletics from the physical side only, and in so doing they err. Athletic participation offers mental and emotional training too. Great lessons are learned by the athletes. Athletics, which are formed that are carried through all phases of life. The athlete's victories are instances an indirect, yet most effective course in philosophy.

Early one spring, our high school baseball team was playing in our first game of the year. The pitcher had progressed to the last half of the ninth inning, and we, the home team, were at bat. There were baserunners on second and third and a score tied. The next pitch was a strike. The crowd levelled as the next pitch was a ball. The pitcher delivered the ball. There was a sharp crack as Jack propelled his bat around with the strength of his wrists, swayed by the athletes, and let the ball squarely. The ball was just a white speck as it hit the ground between the left and center fielder and rolled to the fence. The two baserunners who were running with the score made the tying and winning runs amid the shouts of the crowd.

Later, in the dressing room, Jack asked one of the younger members of the team why Jack, aren't you worried when the count reached three-two? Jack looked around and a slow grin spread its way over his face. "No, I wasn't worried," he replied. "You see, the count was three and two on the pitcher as well as on me, and I just let him to the worrying."
TO OUR MEN IN SERVICE

As we take time to gather around the Book Store and Student Center for a few moments of relaxation between classes, we shall probably give new students the impression that you are legends, the tireless sources of many jokes and endless tales. But that something lacking here without you, an emptiness that cannot be filled by recanting old times. It would take the sound of your voices and the sight of your faces to fill that emptiness. To all of you who have gone from H. P. C. into the service of our country, we pay tribute. We shall remember you with a great sense of pride.

The following men are listed as being in the service:

Stuft About Things:

In case you haven't noticed, that time of year is here again... The time of year when you first realize that those frosh you saw last year and looked down upon with such disdainful eyes are no longer that way. They're the Wise-Fool sophomores now, and no purple caps... That time of year is here again when the snakes 'n snails and things of Spring are gone and the madness that is Fall and that is Football is here; the Saturdays when spirits are high and the people with spirits are higher... Those delightful, balmy days that shouldn't be schooldays at all are here, and you're beginning to feel a bit wistful of those days you spent with spirits that shouldn't be schooldays at all are here, and you're almost glad to be back and you're reminiscing of those days you spent with spirits that should have been in school but that you want to laugh and live and some of you will look back and marvel at all about that fellow who said: "When Love breathes the first sigh, Wisdom breathes the last."... Yes, it's that time of year; when you'll be glad that all of the green from the trees has not yet left... You'll know it's Fall and yet at the same time when you see the blind beggar on Main Street, it'll remind you all of a sudden of the immortal beggar who once stood pitifully on a street corner, carrying a sign that reads simply: "It is Spring—and I Am Blind."

A DANCE STEP doesn't exactly bear a close relationship to athletics, but if you've ever had the pleasure of seeing the Mambo done, you'll think it's about the closest thing to a dummy scrimmage on the dance floor you've ever seen. It's as though you were a dummy on the dance floor and you're looking for someone to dance with you. As though you were a dummy on the dance floor and you're looking for someone to dance with you. As though you were a dummy on the dance floor and you're looking for someone to dance with you. As though you were a dummy on the dance floor and you're looking for someone to dance with you.
PERSONALITY SPOTLIGHT
By JOYCE LAYTON

The Personality Spotlight plays over the co-eds at H. P. C. and sets one of the most popular and active, Joan Crooker. Joan is secretary and treasurer of the Student Government, treasurer of the Theta Phi Sorority, member of the W. A. A., member of the H.P.O. business staff, and was secretary of the freshman class last year.

Joan is a graduate of High Point High School, and lives in High Point. She plans to receive her A.B. degree in religious education in June, 1954.

Her winning smile and friendly "Hello!" to everyone has made her one of High Point College's favorite daughters.

Joan likes all types of sports, actively participating in the W. A. A. She likes to see people choose high ideals and cultivate good moral character. She likes those who are friendly and considerate.

Joan, we are looking forward to your future at H. P. C. May you continue in your cheerful, friendly attitude toward your fellowmen. He misses football this year, but prefers casual, comfortable.

By putting a little bit of a sophomore. "Your response to opportunities here will be written in a record which will follow you throughout your life."

W. A. A.

The Personality Spotlight falls on Doug Holbrook, our new president of Student Government. It is especially fitting that he should be introduced in our first article, since he is one of the first to welcome new students to our campus. In addition to being president of the Student Government, Doug is president of the E. H. O. Fraternity, a member of the Order of The Lighted Lamp, and was chef marshal last year.

Doug, a resident of High Point, plans to receive his B.S. degree in business administration from H. P. C. in June, 1952. He is six feet tall, weighs 170 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes, and is a ready smile. We are indeed proud of him as our student leader; and with the co-operation of all the students, we are confident that he will fulfill the trust we have placed in him.

For recreation, Doug likes sports, but strictly as a spectator. He misses football this year, but hopes it will not be too long before we can again compete for gridiron honors. Doug's clothes are in keeping with his love of sports. He does not like formal dress, but prefers casual, comfortable.

Post graduate school will probably be the next step in Doug's career. May he have the best of luck and success in that challenging adventure.

We salute you, Doug Holbrook. May you continue your progress on the road to success.

C.C.C. Conducts Employment Survey Here

The College Chamber of Commerce has initiated plans for an employment survey of all the businesses in this vicinity. By coordinating its efforts with those of the Placement Office of the college, the C. C. C. hopes to better acquaint the business establish-ments of this community with the fact that there is a desire on the part of H. P. C. to provide qualified applicants for future and present employment needs.

Under the supervision of Dr. George H. Coltrane, Dr. E. J. Coltrane, Miss Louise Adams, and Mr. Richard S. Dale, members of the club will contact personnel man-agers by means of direct mail and personal interviews in order to better understand their particular employment needs.

Dr. Coltrane and Miss Adams have done magnificent jobs in obtaining positions for students and graduates of our college in the past, and it is the desire of the Chamber of Commerce to bring more students in contact with the benefits of our Placement Office here to offer.

Williams Ends Month as Bursar

Beginning his second month in the position of bursar at H.P.C., Mr. Arthur Williams says that he is “very glad to be associated with this college,” and is enjoying his work thoroughly. He is not speak-ing altogether as a newcomer to the college, however, since he graduated here in 1948; his previous college work was interrupted by a period of service in the U. S. Navy.

After serving two and a half years as a naval aviator, Mr. Wil-liams accepted a position with the Pilot Life Insurance Company where he worked previous to ac-cepting his present position.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams make their home in Archdale, and are active in community and church activities.

H.P.C. Students Will Convene At State B. S. U.

Shirley Davis has been selected to serve as a convener at the State Convention of the B. S. U. which is meeting in Charlotte, Nov. 2, 3, and 4. Other students who will represent High Point at the Convention are Deloe Henderson, Jim-my Woolf, and Bob Bonwell.

The purpose of the meeting is to promote closer integration among the separate college organizations.

Dr. Coletrane Represents H.P.C.

As the official representative of High Point College, Dr. E. J. Col-trane is visiting various high schools throughout the state as part of a program for acquainting high school pupils with the various colleges and helping them to de-cide on their future courses of study. On his schedule for this week were Statesville, Concord, and Salisbury. On Wednesday, Dr. Coltrane is winning new friends for H.P.C.

New Marshalls Accept Office of Responsibility

Dr. Hinshaw Has Charge Of Installation

In a ceremony administered by Dr. Hinshaw, Dean of Instruction, Oct. 17, last year’s marshals pre-sented their sashes to 11 new mar-shals, with Douglas Holbrook as chief marshal relinquishing the office to Robert Barrett who will serve as chief marshal for 1951-52.

Dr. Hinshaw announced that marshals are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, and promise of future service. Qualities of leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities are large determining factors in the final choice of candi-dates, with membership for each college strictly limited.

To attain membership in “Who’s Who” of American Universities and Colleges is a distinct honor to the student and to his college.

By distributing student publications and pictures of campus ac-tivities, and by means of personal interviews; Dr. Coltrane is winning new friends for H.P.C.

A great deal is heard on college campuses about students who polish apples. (In the army they call it polishing brass.) According to the rationalizations of disgruntled editors, a student makes A's by getting on the good side of the faculty, who will work more likely that students get on the good side of the faculty by making A's. Be that as it may, we have noticed that students do seem to be on good terms with their professors, but could this be because they appreciate the fact that one who is popular with the students is a student who is trying to learn something valuable to contribute in friendship, as well as in education? If you know members of the faculty who are interested in the same things you are, don't hesitate to cultivate their friendship for fear you will receive an undeserved high mark. Go ahead and be friendly, but in the meantime, if you want to make that top grade, set your alarm clock for 4:00 a.m. and start digging. It's that easy!

What About Apple Polishing?

As a winter season begins to make itself felt, her entertain ment is becoming more and more urgent. As theกะ longings of the dashes which the kids hold sing its tunes, interest in recorded music of all descriptions is on the rise more and more. This week there was a world of every kind, from the boogie-woogie to the so-called "highbrow" classics. From the platters released, there is no reason why the choice of everyone cannot be satisfied. Even Vaughn Monroe put out some extra fine platters, such as Cole Porter's famous "In So Love", "Easy to Love", "Don't Fence Me In", and many others. But, not least, is I Got a Kick." This one is a real exclusive from Vlue colonies. There was a wittily saying on a subway station platform, the sign read this way: Quote: "It's not the size of the cat that makes the mouse run." Unquote: "Make Mo a Blooming" stirred the hearts of the congregation and prepared the way for Billy Graham's challenging message. The congregation, after a moment of quiet, began to compose for which some people had been waiting for months. The moment for which we, P. C. students, were eagerly waiting. A snappy band, composed of "work-week" or "work-week" days those new members who are interested to co-operate in this plan, and I can say that I have already planned such a program. Perhaps the local fraternities and sororities may see no reason why sororities could not co-operate in this plan, and I can say that I have already planned such a program.

H-1951, THE COCA-COCA COMPANY

NOTHING DOING TODAY

"Now's the time you ask the guy in the street, and he shakes his head and says, 'Nothing.' Nothing now. . . . But there's always something stirring in this town. No matter where you're standing, no matter what the hour, you know that something is going on at the moment — if it's only the muted sounds of the pigeons in a church tower on Main Street . . . Sometimes in this town drama is being enacted. You may never see them. But once you've tried to know this town, once you've explored the buildings and the basements and the alleys and the little streets, you know that news is breaking around the clock — twenty-four hours a day.

"Nothing new," the man says . . . But at night a taxi rounds a corner and slides and barely misses a drunk and nobody knows his name, and you know that this, in a way, was almost news . . . You know that somewhere in the city a lonely woman is looking out the window and wondering whether her son will ever return from across the sea; her innermost thoughts, and the thoughts of all those like her — these are news, the kind of news you can't set down on paper . . . No matter what time it is by the clock on Main Street, you know that a story is breaking at that instant on some street in the West End or the Emearywood section or on the other side of the tracks; some kid with hate in his heart (or maybe just holes in his shoes) is stealing a car, or sizing up a place and wondering when he can break into it, or looking at a guy with a diamond ring on his finger and figuring the best way to match it and run . . .

"What's new?" the girl in the drugstore asks you as she serves you a coke, and you shrug: "Not a thing" — and as you say it you know that a thousand things are happening while the ice melts before your eyes . . . a big manufacturer is loud and drunk at a party (and that's not news because he's always drunk anyway) and right outside a man and woman collide head on and one of them falls to the pavement (and an editor would say that's not news because one of them was blind and the other one doesn't mean anything to anybody — not even to himself, probably).

"Never seen it so quiet around town," says the cabdriver as he Succors you in his cab and he slows down so you can hear the birds . . . You can barely hear the click of the door behind a little store as a couple of guys are let into a basement crap game . You can barely hear the click of the blonde's high heels as she walks down the street alone. You can barely hear the click of the hand of the match as they light the cigarette . . .

Searching for the campus for an outstanding mind, the Personality Spotlight immediately fell on the pretty brown hair of Lucille Craver. Lucille's brown eyes twinkled on the Spotlight settled on her five feet and six inches revealing her notable personality. Lucille's numerous activities and achievements are worthy of the recognition she has received for being chosen for membership in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. She is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp and is assistant business manager to the Zeta. Since entering H.P.C., she has become secretary of F.T.A., vice-president of Woman's Hall, secretary, treasurer, and S.C.A. representative of the Religious Education Club, a member of the Dramatics Club, and a marshall. She was also a May Queen attendant last year. Lucille has truly shown the characteristics of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Lucille is the daughter of Mrs. Connie Craver and the late Mr. Craver, of Lexington. She graduated from Arcadia High School in 1948 and plans to receive her B.A. degree in English in 1952. She likes all kinds of people and her winning personality and big smile have won the hearts of all who know her.

Halloween Ball Is Big Success
By HOWARD GRIFFIN

An evening of fun and dancing enjoyed by all attended the Halloween Ball presented Saturday night in Harrison Gymnasium, sponsored by the Homecoming Committee and the Student Government.

The ball opened with both word and beautiful creatures arriving from a world of splendor. Students and faculty members were present in costumes ranging from the modest bathrobe to evening dreams of exquisite nature, and other formal evening wear. First prize for the most original costumes went to Miss Betty Sloper and Bill Miller, who came as a cowboy and queen and a pirate respectively.

Adding much to the dancing pleasure of each couple was the soft, sentimental music provided by Ed Sueta and his band. Vocal numbers were presented by Miss Georgia Swift and Ed Sueta. Proceeds from the dance will go into the treasury of the Dance Committee, which is used for other social events planned by the group.

Members of the S.G.D.C. are: Lea Holcomb, Sue, Betty Alexander, Frances Deaver, Julia STroese, Maxine Swanger, Betty Stehr, Bunny Lisk, Barry Newcomb, Sheldon Mann, South, M. B. Pittman, and Charles Caulfield.

Dr. COOKE (Continued from Page 1) said, "Americanism through Christian Education," on Nov. 4, he is to speak at the Front Street Methodist Church in Burlington on the topic "Peace but not Without Freedom," following on Monday night with an address to the P.T.A. of the Asheboro High School on "The Most Immediate Need in American Education." Concluding the present schedule, Dr. Cooke will visit the Oak Hill School in this city with a discussion of "The Characteristics of a Good School Teacher."

"I'm late now!" you ask the man on the corner, and he says "Nothin', same old thing..." but it's never the same old thing any more. It's even more strange than usual.

For recreation, Bill still prefers reading. He finds his hobby in literature, and has adopted South Carolina's motto, "While I breathe I hope." But he also likes North Carolina's motto, "When I breathe I hope."

New Home Ec Addition Ready For Work

Miss Matthews to Assist

The new foods laboratory in the basement of Woman's Hall is now ready to do some practical work in learning "the way to a man's heart," which they say has not changed, even though the electric stove has replaced the old fashioned range of a generation ago. Necessary need not take the forms of a dreamy expression on the faces of young men selecting Woman's Hall too seriously—it may be just the aroma of apple pie coming from the basement which is affecting them.

Home Ec Program Enlarged

To assist Miss Ada B. Johnson in the enlarged program of the Home Economic department, Miss Edith Matthews has accepted a position in charge of the clothing and sewing courses. A graduate of Winthrop College, received her degrees in home-economics from Woman's College in Greensboro. She has had experience as supervisor of one of the departments at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., preceded by wide experience in public school teaching, including the high schools of Charleston, South Carolina, Richmond, Va., Hickory, N. C., and Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Other Improvements Suggested

The new quarters for the food laboratory is one of the many improvements scheduled for the increased efficiency of the various departments of H.P.C. New buildings which are to be financed by the New Era Fund will add immensely to the facilities of the music and science departments.

R. E. Club Will Send Gifts To Vassiliki Douna

Members of the Religious Education Club for girls have announced a party to be held Dec. 13, with the purpose of sending gifts to Vassiliki Douna, 12-year-old Greek girl adopted by the Methodist Christian Council.

Owen Cotte or faculty members who wish to send gifts to Vassiliki may leave packages in the Club Room of Woman's Hall before Dec. 13 to be included in the packages from the R. E. Club.

The Methodist Student Fellowship adopted Vassiliki two years ago, and has been responsible for all things just as if my father were still alive."

The year got to be a big start for the Methodist Student Fellowship with a Heddon on the 12 inch. Knowing how it is with the bidders, they are always willing to bid for as much as is possible in order to get the car. In true Christmas spirit the holiday mood was carried out with...

Students Give Talent Show November 20

Tuesday evening, November 20, at the First Methodist Church a group from the college sponsored a talent show as part of the Fall Festival.

David Auman served as the master of ceremonies. "Reggie" Cooke was the "barker," and Jewel Jones sold tickets. Now that the last remnant of Thanksgiving turkey has found its way to the salad bowl, it is time to begin preparing for Christmas. We like to think of Christmas as a time of happiness for everyone, but especially for the children; and since we, the students of High Point College, are foster parents to Vassiliki Donia, it is natural that we should be concerned about giving her the kind of Christmas that everyone, but especially for the children, would enjoy making clothes for a doll; that would be very important to her. Maybe she still likes dolls, but she is keeping with the dignity of a twelve-year-old. And you ears when her mother wasn't looking.

along with the necessary items we have been in the custom give Vassiliki and her mother some of life's little extras one! If we don't, nobody else will.

The High Point College Choir will give its first big concert of the year December 11, in the auditorium of Purdue University. They told some of their experiences to the group which the scene symbolized the spirit of the season. Our fagots into the fire, felt God so very near, sang the Puerto Rican area, in for fif- settled in Japan. And that's of their experiences to the group:

1. Center—"Easy" Ed Surra—Hails from Erie, Pennsylvania, weighs 190 lbs., 22 yrs. old. Senior Ed without any doubt, is the foundation of the "Panthers" this year—the most valuable player we have, unbeatiable re-bound man with a dangerous hook shot from 24 yrs. old. Senior Paul is the R. L., weighs 200 lbs., stands 6'1", good set shot artist that should aid in rolling up the "Panthers" scoring record. Don't let us down "Flip"—we're with you.

2. Forward—"Billy" Hilda—Transfer from Oak Ridge, weighs 185, stands 6'2", 22 yrs. old, Jr. Hilda's hard to move beneath the boards—should get many of teams rebounds—fine shooter—drives hard. Coach has "unsung hero" of the Panthers—fine pivot man, has plenty of co-ordination, good rebounder, with a lot of scrap. Passes the right attitude and should go a long way. We all wish you luck for a great season, Bob.

3. Forward—"Baby" Frazier—The man from Narrows, Va., weighs 160 lbs., stands 6'4", 18 yrs. old. Fresh. Ken's willing to listen and has lots of ability to develop into a fine ball player—good defensive man—comes through under pressure—fine ball handler—smart ball player. Stay in there, "Baby", we're with you.

Mentor Bob Davis Says—

Mentor Bob Davis says: The three scrimmages we played against the High Point Y, Davidson, and Davidson did the boys a lot of good. We looked rugged against the Y. At Davidson we looked like a college team should look. At Duke we learned a great deal; by the way—our teacher at Duke was All-American Dick Grant.

All in all, I would say we are in fine condition for this time of the season. Our offense is sharp but our defense is our weakest link. The loss of Bob Desper and Bill Waiz will hurt us, but Sueta, Joyce and Davidson will be better than they were last year, and if we can find two members to round out the team, I see no reason why we should not have a team that will amount equal last year's team. We hope to repeat the trip to Kansas City.

Support of students is a factor that plays a big part in the won or lost columns.
Civic Symphony Visits College

Visiting H.P.C. for the first time, the newly organized Civic Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Joseph M. Wilson gave a program of widely varied numbers at the All-Student Assembly last week.

Outstanding performances included "Rhapsody in Blue" by George Gershwin, head of the piano department at Appalachian, as guest soloist; and Dr. Wilson's own arrangement of the World War II popular song, "I'll Remember April."

Made up of students of the college and city schools playing together with business and professional people of the city, the orchestra shows promise of becoming a real source of pleasure and pride to the community.

Kappa Chi Gives Banquet

The Kappa Chi, social fraternity for ministerial students, held its annual initiation banquet in honor of new members at the Elwood Hotel dining room, Nov. 16.

Bobby Joe Dennis served as toastmaster for the occasion, with greeting to new members being given by Bob Barrett, president. Response in behalf of new members was made by Johnny Hawkins.

The following new members were present: John Burton, George Auman, Johnny Hawkins, David Auman, Ray Enbanks, William Dupree, Reginald Cooke, Howard Coleman, and Carol Neighbors. Edwin Needham, transfer student from Duke University, was welcomed to the High Point Chapter.

Dr. William A. Locke and Dr. P. E. Lindsey, professors of religious education at H.P.C., attended the banquet.

Kappa Chi's Christmas Program

Dr. and Mrs. Cooke have expressed pleasure with the spirit in which students have responded to invitations to the informal socials in their home. Dr. Cooke says the two parties were well attended and students seemed to enjoy themselves.

Other parties will be planned after Christmas, Dr. and Mrs. Cooke have announced, and every student of H.P.C. will receive an invitation during the school year.

Students have found the charming informality in the home of President and Mrs. Cooke so pleasing that many of them have been waiting for them if they might visit again when one of their other classes receives an invitation.

The little Purple Panther has had a gay Thanksgiving holiday, but that hayward fowl had its revenge—what would I have done without Arthur Godfrey's Tunes! "Chief," you should give us more samples of that good cooking.

Dot Stone has been floating around on hillowly clouds of gappiness lately. I don't blame you, Dot, that Bill is some man! Here's hoping he can talk Uncle Sam into giving him more vacations.

The D.A.E. Fraternity sounded mighty good singing those love songs to Ann Lewis, and it made my little panther heart flutter to think about how wonderful love is. It couldn't happen to nicer people than Ann and Sonny, so here's wishing you the very best.

Oh, Oh, Oh, here comes the fire truck and it is headed towards Woman's Hall! I got out quick! I bounded from my daytime balling place right out in the sun-sine to find out who the future owner would be. One dozen beautiful red roses for Miss Elizabeth Ochreman. Lib seemed surprised, but happy—and in her calm manner, I heard her remark, "Bill, [spencer and I are just friends]."

Call it friendship if you like, but Spencer would like to call it something more.

What do you want Santa to bring you for Christmas? A prickly voice from the Boys' Dorm says "All I want for Christmas is my little panther heart nutter to songs to Ann Lewis; and it made my little panther heart flutter to think about how wonderful love is. It couldn't happen to nicer people than Ann and Sonny, so here's wishing you the very best."

The proceeds from this event will be presented by the E.P.O. to the Boys' Choir who are on the prowl. If you want to see Santa, bring him to your Christmas tree! A prickly voice from the Boys' Dorm says "All I want for Christmas is my little panther heart nutter to songs to Ann Lewis; and it made my little panther heart flutter to think about how wonderful love is.
