Ellen Torrence Is Winner Of Freshman Talent Show

ELLEN TORRENCE
Wins Talent Trophy

Student Government To Hold Assembly, Elect May Queen

The Student Government will hold an associational meeting, with required attendance November 3. At the meeting several items of business will be discussed and proposed changes in the constitution will be voted on.

One of the major items of business will be to discuss having a dance with music by Ray Anthony, and his band in the mid-spring, here at High Point College. Other items include selecting the May Queen and voting on proposed changes in the constitution to have representatives from the IFC, ISC, and Veterans' Club on the Council.

Ballots will be passed out for all voting. All students are requested to be thinking about candidates for May Queen.

Pat Peacock Tells About Summer Trip In Germany

By Sarah Coltrane

Pat Peacock, a junior here at High Point College, had many varied experiences this summer while living in Germany. She was among ten students who were selected to go from the United States to live in a German home for six weeks in order to make friends with the people and better understand their way of life. The purpose was not to impose American ideals on them, but to let them know we are human too.

Pat was chosen on the basis of scholarship, extra-curricular activities, personality, church activities, and her ability to make public speeches. In addition to these qualifications, she won an essay contest sponsored by the High Point Junior Chamber of Commerce. They, along with other civic organizations of High Point, sponsored her trip.

When asked her feelings toward her trip, she said, "It was the most wonderful thing to happen to me and the greatest opportunity of a lifetime."

Pat, an elementary education major, is a member of the Lambda Alpha Phi Sorority, the Tower Players, Future Teachers of America, and Alpha Delta Theta, and is a newly elected marshal.

Ellen Torrence, soloist, won the loving cup award at the annual Freshman Talent Show October 15. She won a unanimous vote by singing "One Kiss" and "Blue Moon," with Sylvia Fox, accompanist.

Competing for the award were: The Four Freshman, a quartet — Mark Rose, Second tenor; Dale Swearingen, baritone and piano; Paul Atwell, first tenor; and Harry Gray, bass; A solo "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" by Pete Bourgade; piano solo "Malagena" by Avie Gunn; a comedy skit by Fred Macdon, and a piano boogie by Pat Sammons. Also featured was a hula hula dance with Le Roy Fleming, Mickey Caudle, and Walt Moore in colorful crepe with Gabby Garrett, Marilyn Lowdermilk, and Pat Moser furnishing ukulele music. The Kampus Kats, composed of Jack Parks, guitarist; Jack Barrier, drummer; Dale Swearingen, pianist; Pat Sammons with accordion, and Vincent Leong with harmonica provided a "Jam Session" of lively music.

The show, directed by David Abernathy, was presented by the Student Government.

Fraternity Rush Week Will End Tomorrow

Fraternity Rush Week draws to a close tomorrow night after six days and nights of parties, introductions, and friendly handshakes. Fraternity men and rushees alike may now breathe sighs of relief and return to the normal habits of sleeping and studying, which were virtually unheard of in McCulloch Hall this week.

A strictly enforced silent period begins at Saturday midnight, after the final rush parties are over. All fraternities must send their bids to the office of the Dean of Students by eight o'clock Monday morning, October 25, and all non-fraternity men expecting bids must pick them up in this office at 9:10 Monday morning. The rushees will have until twelve o'clock noon on Tuesday, October 26, to make their choice and to return all bids to Dean Alford's office. Rushees must answer all bids which they receive. The silent period ends at noon Tuesday after all bids are answered and returned.

Dedication Services Held Here As New Buildings Are Dedicated By Bishop Harrell; Marr Is Speaker

Sam Haywood To Lead I. R. C. As New President

Sam Haywood was elected president of the International Relations Club at the first regular meeting held Monday, October 10. Other officers elected were Mary Alice Milbury, vice-president, and Pansy Livingood, secretary-treasurer. The time of meetings was discussed and it was decided that meetings would be held the third Monday of each month.

At the meeting Monday, October 18, Aref Adelgari, High Point College student from Zerka Jordan, spoke to the club.

Dr. Moffitt, Dr. Bartlett, Dr. Deskins, and Dr. Blackwell P. Robinson are the faculty advisors this year.

Any members desiring to join the club may do so at the next meeting, November 15.

MEAL TICKETS

Meal tickets must be carried to all meals according to an announcement by Mrs. Walker, head dietitian. All students who have lost their tickets must go to the bursar's office and get a duplicate.

Mrs. Walker also asked that students speed up the line to prevent delay.

DuBose To Speak During Religious Emphasis Week

Reverend Robert N. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Whitmore, South Carolina, will be the speaker for Religious Emphasis Week, November 14-17. The theme will be "This I Believe."

The week's events will begin with vespers Sunday night at 6:30 when Reverend DuBose will speak on "A Growing Concept of God." At the weekly chapel program, which will be held Monday instead of Wednesday, DuBose's topic will be "A Portrait of Jesus."

Veteran's Club Asks S.G.A. Representation

A change in the constitution of High Point College has been proposed by the Student Government Council to the effect that a Veteran's Club representative be a member of the council.

The proposed change must be approved by a two-thirds majority vote of the student body at an assembly.

The proposal came as a result of consideration by the Council to give larger groups on campus a representative voice in the government. The Veteran's Club is the largest single group on campus, with a total of 182 veterans who are active members.

On Tuesday and Wednesday mornings at 10:20, at which attendance will be voluntary, he will speak on "A Christian's Prayer Life" and "Christianity and Our World."

At the evening programs, held each night at 7:30, the subjects of Reverend DuBose's speech will be "What is Man?" "A Christian and His Bible," and "The Importance of Our Lives Is Determined by the Importance of Our Beliefs." Also during the week, an informal coke time will be held on Monday afternoon, which will give the students a chance to gather and meet our speaker; a dormitory discussion will be held in Woman's Hall Monday night and in McCulloch Hall Tuesday night. Conferences and informal groups may be held any time.

Student leaders who will help with the various sessions are as follows: Sunday vespers, Van Bullock; Monday morning, John Mann; Monday evening, Pat Martin; Tuesday morning, Sarah Hamilton; Tuesday evening, David Francis; Wednesday morning, Hubert Clinard; and Wednesday evening, Mary Alice Milbury. Faith Sneed will assist with the discussion in Woman's Hall dormitory Monday night and Bert Westbrook will help in the McCulloch Hall Tuesday night.

Religious Emphasis Week, an annual affair, is sponsored by the Student Christian Council.

Marr Reviews Past, Forsees Great Future For HP College

Formal dedication of the new buildings at High Point College was held October 13 in the new Memorial Auditorium with the student body and numerous guests from High Point and vicinity present.

Weaver M. Marr, resident administrator of the American Humanities Foundation at Salem College, Salem, Virginia, was the speaker for the occasion.

Marjorie Case Speaks To MSF

Wednesday evening the regular meeting of M.S.F. was held with Marjorie Case from Wesley Memorial Church as program leader. With her were some of the young people who caravanned in Cuba this summer.

The "Caravaners" spoke on their experiences in meeting the youth of Cuba and brought out that Christian contact between nations is important for world peace.

The Annual Methodist Student Fellowship Retreat was held at Lindsey Memorial Hut on October 2 when the M. S. F. officers and faculty advisers, Miss Vera Idol, Miss Clarice Bowman, and Dr. William R. Locke, spent the afternoon making plans for the year's activities.

Program plans for the year include such speakers as Bob Regan, Senator A. O. Kirkman, and Dr. Kenneth Goodson with his "Sweetest Story Every Told." Other programs for the year are a tacky party on November 11, a Christmas party on December 15, and a backwards party sometime in the spring.

Meetings are held on alternate Wednesday nights throughout the year at 7:30 in the Student Center.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED MONDAY

Next Monday, October 25, at 10:20, all freshmen are requested to assemble in Memorial Auditorium to elect officers for the coming year.

It is important that all freshmen attend the meeting. Officers to be elected are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and Student Government representative.

David Abernathy, Student Government President, will preside at the meeting until the newly elected officers are installed.

MARSHALS

Junior marshals for 1954-55 will be announced in the regular assembly period next Wednesday, October 27, according to C. R. Hinshaw, Dean of Instruction. The selection was made by a faculty committee and membership is exclusively by committee selection on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and personality.

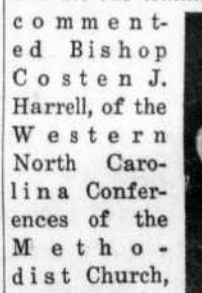

"We can look to the future with great hope and believe that God will use High Point College for the advancement of His kingdom, through the manhood and womanhood that take from here the torch of Christian service and sacrifice," the former superintendent of the High Point city schools told his audience. "I am happy to salute High Point College on this memorable occasion."

"We have reason to thank God for the building of a college like this for the training of our youth," commented Bishop Costen J. Harrell, of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, co-speaker for the dedication.

Harrell

The new buildings were officially presented by Holt McPherson, chairman of the board of trustees. Also taking part in the service were Dr. J. Clay Madison, Dr. C. Excellence Rozzelle, Mr. F. Logan Porter, Reverend J. Clyde Auman, and Dr. Dennis Cook, President of High Point College.

Susanna Wesley Hall, dormitory for women; Memorial Auditorium and Music Hall, the largest and most adequate building of its type in this area; a science and home economics building; and maintenance building are the structures that were dedicated.

Holt McPherson Is Chairman Of Board Of Trustees

Bobby Hunsucker

Mr. Holt McPherson, as an educator, is chairman of the board of trustees of High Point College. Mr. McPherson was elected to this office on July 21, 1954 and has been serving diligently since his election.

Mr. McPherson is editor of The High Point Enterprise and president of the North Carolina Press Association, he is a newspaperman of extensive and varied interest.

He started his newspaper career as a carrier boy, at the age of 25 was editor of the High Point Enterprise, one of North Carolina's leading afternoon newspapers; in 1937 his wife's health necessitated removal to Florida where he did special writing for the Miami Herald for some years, dabbled in real estate successfully but never allowed himself to be weaned away from his first love, newspapering.

KAPPA DELTA pledge initiates were inducted into the national sorority last week. The group gained 40 new members through the rush week and new member received the first degree pledge service Thursday night. The sorority is the second national to come on the HPC campus.

Theta Phi Becomes Kappa Delta Chapter To Make Second HPC National Sorority

The Theta Phi Sorority was accepted as the Gamma Gamma Chapter of the Kappa Delta, a national social sorority, on September 23, 1954, and was given the first degree pledge, September 28, in the chapel of Wesley Memorial Church.

Fourteen girls, including students and alumnae, were pledged by Mrs. Julia Fuqua Ober, national president and the Kappa Delta alumnae of High Point. Final installation will be February 11, 12, and 13, 1955.

On Thursday, October 21, forty rushees received pledges in the Burgess Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist Church along with three Theta Phi alumnae, Jane Crews, Margie Brown, and Ann Lewis.

Theta Phi

The Theta Phi Sorority was founded at High Point College in 1927 and since that time has been very active. Its colors were green and white, the same as Kappa Delta.

Kappa Delta

The Kappa Delta was founded on the campus of Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia and now has 84 active chapters with 37,000 members. It ranks fourth in the National Panhellenic Conference, and was the first sorority to select as its national philanthropy, the Crippled Children's Work. Kappa Delta has its own Christmas seals which are designed each year by a member and are sold for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia.

Kappa Delta has many nationally known figures in its membership. Here in North Carolina, there are Kappa Delta chapters at Queens College, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina.

Charter Members

Halloween Carnival Planned For HP College Next Friday Night

By HARRY GOBLIN

The annual Halloween Carnival with all its festivities will be celebrated on the HPC campus Friday, October 29 in Harrison Gymnasium.

The event, sponsored by the Student Government, will be a gala occasion, with various groups on the campus operating booths pertaining to the Halloween festival.

The goblin hour begins at 7:30 in the Gym when fraternities, sororities, class groups, and clubs will open booths with spooky shows, games, contests, hot dawg stands, candied apples, and sassafras tea. Students may come dressed in Halloween garb, and a prize will be given by the Student Government to the couple that looks the spookiest. Horn blowing will be permitted, ghosts are invited, biology majors may bring skeletons, with or without flesh, and witches with jack o'lantern heads will have a corner reserved for them.

The whole spookin' thing will last until 10:30 or until the last witch has taken flight and the last skeleton has clanked away.

Meet you at the witches' brew!

Lambda Chi Alpha To Present Award

The Iota-Phi Zeta of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, High Point College, has announced the creation of a scholarship award.

The local Lambda Chi chapter will present the trophy annually to the senior who has maintained the highest overall scholastic average over a four period at High Point College.

The trophy will be presented at the final assembly period of second semester or at the annual commencement exercises.

OUR "BOOMING COLLEGE"

On Sunday, October 10, The High Point Enterprise published an editorial entitled "Booming College" which dealt with the growth of High Point College since it was founded in 1924 and the dedication services which were held October 13.

Some of the interesting excerpts include:

"... The new buildings are solely needed of course. High Point has been without major construction of new buildings since 1942 when the student center went up.

"Enrollment over the past few years has been increasing, but only to the extent that college officials felt they could handle the surplus with present facilities, and also that additional students could be really served by the college, and served well.

"In a manner of speaking, HPC is on a course of 'controlled growth.' As college's president, Dennis H. Cooke says that at least 150 or 200 more students could have been on campus at High Point this fall, pushing the enrollment over the 1,000 mark. But these additional applications were not accepted because it would have meant overcrowding, and in some cases the prospective pupil's academic accomplishment did not warrant acceptance.

"By keeping class small, improving the faculty, and keeping educational standards high, High Point College's growth will be lasting, and of considerably more benefit to its graduates in years to come.

"North Carolina's Methodists have big plans for High Point College. The new construction just being completed is only the first inkling. Because it has insisted on 'quality before quantity', on keeping the personal touch among its student body, and because religion is still vital, alive, and an everyday occurrence, High Point College has amply demonstrated in the last few years why it deserves one of the foremost places on the state educational scene."

A TIMELY LETTER

Mr. Hunsucker's letter to the editor, appearing in its appropriate column of this issue deals with a somewhat "touchy" subject with which the Hi-Po heretofore has not dealt.

The wearing of high school jewelry, excluding National Honor Society pins, on campus is actually the problem of the Student Government. The Hi-Po feels justified, however, in expressing its opinion and urging the Student Government to take appropriate steps to prohibit the wearing of the afore mentioned and monogrammed letters.

We feel a sense of pride for the athletes who have worked diligently to earn their letters; we are proud of the Beta Club, Quill and Scroll Key Club members too. You have undoubtedly made academic accomplishments but you have just crossed the hills; the mountains are yet to come.

If you belonged to speech, dramatic language or science clubs, you are to be commended for your achievement. But don't be satisfied!

Remember High Point College has far, far, more organizations which offer more help, recognition, higher ideals, and profit to individuals.

Why not wear a sorority or fraternity pin, a Hi-Po medal or one of the numerous other symbols of membership in prestige-offering organizations?

Sidewalk Symposium

Shelby J. Mosley

Question of the week: What is your favorite subject and why?

Norwood Parker—"English, because of the way that the course is presented. I don't think there's a teacher at this school who knows how to teach as well as Mr. Barker." That's a pretty strong statement being as how Dr. Parker is Norwood's father. There might be a little matter of after school disciplining for you, young man.

Pat Myers also chooses English as her favorite subject. Strangely enough, she likes it because "it's the easiest."

Religion is preferred by Clyde Ridgill who asserts, "Dr. Rozzelle's treatment of the Old Testament is more than adequate."

Keeping Clyde company in his web of opinion is a cute spider named Shirley Nifong who likes religion because "I'm majoring in it, and find the work very interesting as well as the teacher, Dr. Rozzelle."

Richard Nixon defiantly alleges that history is the easiest and most interesting subject. "I don't have to worry about it." The first test is tomorrow—still not worried?

"English is my preferred course," decides Betsy Hedgecock. "It's just a repetition of things I've already had. The required writing is something I like to do."

Coleen Ward has an especial interest in the methods of physical education. She says, "Where else do you get to play with the boys?"

One of the bashful boys on campus, (the understatement of the year) Johnny Abernathy, relates in a suave manner that his favorite subject is (you guessed it), but naturally -- girls. "However," he says, "I like math, for there you can deal with curves and angles."

Elaine Moore represents the feminine world as she states, "My favorite subject is men, but of course!"

Personally, my favorite subject is analytical geometry, for what other subject can you hear from East Lexington Avenue, before Dr. Hartsell makes out my "daffy" (dismissal and failure for you) papers, I'll hasten to add that he is a well-informed professor of mathematics with an usually practical outlook on life.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

From my observation of students at High Point College, I have noticed pins of all types of different organizations in high school. Some of these have been Latin Clubs, Hi-Y, and Tri-Hi-Y, Quill and Scroll, Dramatic Club, French Club, Honor Society, Beta Club, and others. Of this group, only the National Honor Society pin is recognized on any college campus in the United States. If these people wish to be recognized for some outstanding work they have done, let them participate in some of recognized here at HPC.

We are not interested in your high school achievements; you have left the old and are facing the new. Your past is gone and the future is ahead of you. What you will do in the future depends on how you start your college life here.

Other individuals have been wearing monogrammed sweaters, band sweaters, and certain types of athletic jerseys. Again I say, if you wish to be recognized for your ability, do not lean on your past, but make your name here.

When you donned the cap and gown in high school, you left these in the past; the past is only a memory, and this let it remain. You are starting your life anew, so it is up to you.

Sincerely yours,
Bob Hunsucker

Dear Editor

Congratulations to you on having such an informative College Newspaper this year.

There seems to be something of a personal touch lacking which was provided in last year's paper by the "Panther Prowls."

The students, we think, would like to see this feature added for their further enjoyment of the paper.

"Gossip" is always "news." We feel that if this column is again added to the Hi-Po, it will receive a rousing "welcome back."

The dedication of the new buildings began at 9:30 Wednesday morning, with Miss Fields playing the bells. Afterwards, the band, under the direction of Dr. Lewis played a group of religious numbers which included "God of Our Father," "Lord of Host," "Go Down Moses," "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley," and "Holy, Holy, Holy." The College Choir, accompanied by Miss Fields and directed by Mr. Cox, sang two selections—"The Church's One Foundation" by Wesley and "Hallelujah, Amen" by Handel.

The Men's Glee Club meets every Tuesday at 2:30. All who are interested and are free at this time are invited to sing.

The Community Chorus of High Point is open for new members. Mr. Clark, director of the chorus, has announced that practice for the Messiah will start in two weeks. The chorus is also going to give a concert in February. Rehearsals are at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 every Monday night.

The past two music articles have been mainly on the facilities and activities of the Music Department. Perhaps you would like to know more about the students in this department.

One of the busy music students that we have this year is Regina Dare Dunn. She is a freshman and a graduate from Mineral Springs High School. While at Mineral Springs, Regina was very active in music. She was a charter member of the band playing the clarinet. She won seven contest medals and was elected to the First Chair of America. She played with the Winston-Salem Oratorical Orchestra and also the All State Band for two years. She has studied voice, piano and clarinet. During her last year in high school, she won a trophy for the most outstanding graduating musician. Regina is also very active at High Point College. She is playing the clarinet in the college band and the High Point Civic Orchestra. She is studying piano with Miss Fields and clarinet with Dr. Lewis. Regina's plan is to become a band director.

Another busy music major this year is Libby Murray from Gastonia. She is a junior at HPC and a graduate of Franklin High School in Franklin. Libby was very active in music while at Franklin; she played the clarinet for three years in the school band. She was a member of the choir in which she did much ensemble work and was presented the senior music award and voted the "Most Talented" of her class. She sang in the community chorus and the First Methodist Church choir in Franklin. Libby has been very active in music here at school. She is a member of the college band, college choir, and women's glee club. Her plan, too, is to become a band instructor in the public schools.

Frank McCulloch, who has studied music for twelve years, is a very talented junior from Lexington. He was graduated from Lexington High School where he was presented as feature soloist. He plays the trumpet. He is now a member of College choir, men's glee club and the college band. His freshman year, Frank won the Frank M. Autry medal which is awarded to the student making the most improvement in band or orchestra during the year.

EPSILON ETA PHI

The Epsilon Eta Phi Fraternity took advantage of the fine rainless weather in Greensboro and had a weiner roast and hay ride. This was the second major party for the active members. It was a well planned, good time.

In the spotlight now is the biggest party of all, the annual party for underprivileged children.

A rush party was held Thursday night. This was a stag event to acquaint the rushees with the fraternity.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The Pikas will finish up their rush week tomorrow night. A stag party for the rushees was held Thursday night and a dance has been planned for tomorrow night.

Wednesday night, October 13, the Pikas packed up and took a local talent show to Greensboro College for a benefit show. All the proceeds went for the polio fund—all the girls gave them a dance and everyone had a very nice time.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will wind up rush week tonight with an informal dance for the rushees and their dates. This dance will make the third party in the rush program. Monday night an informal party was held at the Marietta Paint Co. cabin. This party was to acquaint the rushees with the fraternity. A second party was held at the Embassy Club in Greensboro. Mr. Bedford Black, district governor, gave a brief talk on the fraternity.

A hamburger fry was held Saturday evening, October 8, at the home of John Perry. Dr. Clyde N. Parker, Mr. Richard Cox and Dr. Blackwell P. Robinson are our new faculty advisors along with Dr. Lew Lewis.

SORORITIES
SILENT RUSHING

At last, the period of silence was broken with the extreme maddening rush of sorority girls in the wee hours of the morning giving invitations to the rushees. Then the rush was really on. Ever since there has been a scramble of parties, the wearing of particular colors, initiation, and now, the girls can wear those new jackets that they have chosen so proudly.

PLEDGE GROUPS

The Kappa Delta's can boast the largest group of new pledges on campus since they have forty new ones. Lambda Alpha Phi welcomes twenty-one new ones, Sigma Alpha Phi fourteen, and Phi Mu eight. This makes us a total of eighty-three new sorority girls. We feel that this is a good representation. Installation services, formal parties, projects, and hard work follow for these girls to make our campus proud that we have these groups represented here.

Hazel and Irene

By Bertram Lucifer Shortfellow

Hazel was here. Irene's on her way;

When hurricanes come, they have their day.

The last one was rough, could have been worse,

It might have been brief, but it sure was terse.

Here at HPC when Hazel came around

She made it rough on the campus and town.

We had quite a time with the water and wind;

When she started to blow, we couldn't see the end.

Yep, Hazel is gone, but not at all forgotten,

The mess she made left us feeling rotten.

Now Irene's coming, with all kinds of force,

She'll rip and snort like a raring horse.

I'll be glad when hurricanes are through,

And I can say "Sweet Irene, good night to you."

Abbey's Amblings

David Abernathy

Hazel dropped in to see us last week.

She came a little unexpectedly, like a family of fourteen cousins who just thought they'd stop by.

Hazel brought her temper with her; she was just storming. Caught me off guard, as well as everybody else on campus.

It happened last Friday, a long time before the Ides of March, when the toothslayer said to beware. Hazel came to HPC to pay a social call; not very sociable, quite a loud call. The first time I noticed her was when I started toward breakfast with one eye winked and the other closed.

I opened the door to the outside, not paying any alimony, I mean, attention, and she slapped me right in the face. She did. I was flubberbusted, due to the early hours of the morning, I guess. She blew in my face, flipped water on my tousled head, and practically knocked me down. I muttered my pledge of allegiance to the Confederate flag, stuck out my chest, and charged down the sidewalk.

Hazel didn't like my attitude, and she let me know it. The faster I ran, the wetter I got, and the wetter I got, the faster I ran, and the wetter I got, the ranner I fast, etc., all the way to the chow hall. I thought to myself, as I heaved the door open, what have I done to make the gal mad?

I saw what we had for breakfast and forgot about Hazel for a while. Hot coffee and donuts soothed my feelings as I absorbed my thoughts in a sociology test, and that wasn't too soothing as it turned out.

Breakfast over, I wandered toward the door to the dorm, without thinking about Hazel, pushed the door open, and she slapped me again, harder this time. I looked up at her, snarled, and paddled in the puddles, trying to forget her. My attitude must have shook her up; she got violent, and that gal had a temper and 1/2.

She began to take it out on the whole campus, washing papers, cups, and everything else in a twisting torrent of water. She blew with increased violence, rattling the windows in every building. After so much of this, she began to wear out her welcome. I asked her to leave. She did. When she was ready.

I think Hazel was mad. After she left here she went down to the beach and tore up everything she saw.

Hazel was a bad girl.

Campus Capers

Anne Kerr

The end of sorority rush week has been about as hectic as Hurricane Hazel, and I'm glad both storms have about run their course.

The freshmen had their talent show Friday night. Real proud of the show; it was great!

Bill Simpson is no longer in our happy midst. Sorry that Bill decided to leave our throng. He is working on his first million dollars.

Boys, you've had it! Fraternity rush week is 'buot over. Sleepy eyes, ice packs, dark circles, and one great time have been on the menu this week.

Our dear ole' bookstore fought a noble fight against Hurricane Hazel. It was a little damp and complained of a wet floor, but from all reports, it'll survive. The girls are lucky Hazel didn't decide to enroll at HPC. What a gal!

Basketball is now in full swing. Our boys are hoping to develop speed, speed, and still more speed. They say that will fit their schedule. Yes, that will be fine.

Intramural football is a game for the rough and tough.

Among the thousands attending the Wake Forest football game were Spec Allred, Bob Carroll, Bill Simpson, Koy Dawkins, Bob Davidson, Paul Stanton, and Jim Scott. The game was a prelude to a week-end in Mount Airy at the cabin. Nothing like a party!

Betsy Rouse, Vicki Washburn and Sue Gamble spent a huge week end at ECTC homecoming.

Sonny Thornton (via letter) says he hates the army and still longs for HPC. He relates that the only news from Washington was that they were doing the mambo.

Nothing flies like time, and mine is all gone. Be good, study hard, and have fun. You can choose either if all don't fit into your schedule.

NORTH STATE CONFERENCE FOOTBALL

From the looks of things, the North State Conference is turning topsy-turvy this football season. No longer are East Carolina and Lenior Rhyne the powers in our conference. The other week, Elon smashed out a victory over East Carolina and unheralded Appalachian tore Lenior Rhyne to tatters. At the start of the season The Daily News in Greensboro picked East Carolina and Lenior Rhyne to lead the parade in "our" conference, and they picked Appalachian to end up in the cellar or near the bottom of the conference standings.

This past summer I had the privilege of meeting two of the players for Appalachian and after I closed my speechless mouth, I then predicted that it would take a pure powerhouse of a team to stop these Mountaineers. Of course, I did not expect them to prevail the victors in the conference but I did think that they would be right up there "slugging" it out with East Carolina. I still stand to be corrected should the "Apps" not win the conference, but at this early stage I feel, as many others do, that the once mighty "Pirates" of East Carolina will step down to allow room for Appalachian.

I am not trying in any way to belittle HPC but I think it should be brought out that some of the conference's smaller schools can still cope with East Carolina even though some critics think that they are too big for the conference.

FROM THE "BIG FIVE"

The Demon Deacons from Baptist Hollow (Wake Forest) gave the "Turtles" from Maryland a sound scoring by tying the 13-13. This game was played in Winston-Salem to give the Western North Carolinians a taste of major football. Even though Maryland was once a top team, there were only about 10,000 spectators at this game. Two of these spectators turned out to be Bill Simpson and Paul Stanton, (basketball players?). They came back to tell about this upset. Let's see your ticket stubs, Paul, so we can see where you sat.

The cadets of Army ground out a 28-14 victory over the Blue Devils of Duke. It was a disappointing loss to a homecoming crowd of 45,000. Duke was favored to win because of their past record and national standings. Army had won two and lost a bruising victory to South Carolina. It all goes to show you that the national rankings by the experts does not necessarily mean that a team can live up to its prediction.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Here on the homefront the intramural football league is well on its way to a successful season under director Arthur Paschal.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

The sports department of the HI PO has decided to select an "Athlete of the Week" with the cooperation of the Athletic office. The week preceding each issue of the HI-PO a student will be selected for his contribution to his team play regardless of a team win or loss. At the present, the "Athlete of the Week" will come from the intramural football league and of course when the varsity basketball season starts, some of the varsity players may make it.

Lambda Chi Alpha To Receive All-Sports Award

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will receive the 1953-54 Student Government All-Sports Award, to be presented in assembly November 3 to the Lambda Chi president, Joe Widenhouse.

The fraternity was the winner of last year's award on the basis of points scored in intramural football, basketball, volleyball, and softball.

The point system is as follows: A championship earns a team five points and a second place earns three points. Only fraternities are qualified to compete for the trophy and the all-sports championship.

The Lambda Chi teams last year won their points on this basis: Football no points Basketball 5 points Volleyball 3 points Softball 5 points

Total 13 points

LEROY SELLERS

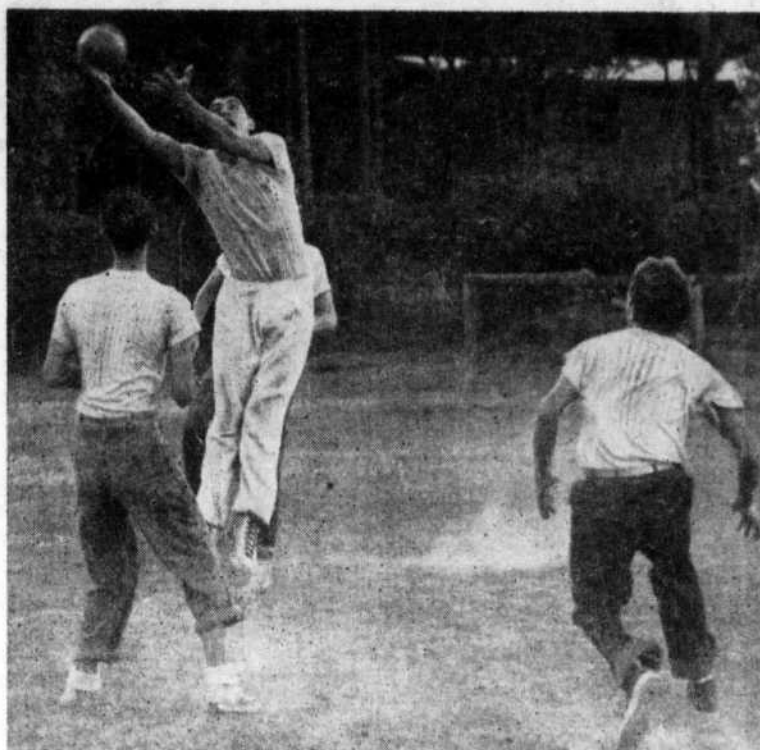

Athlete of the Week

Leroy Sellers has been chosen by the sports department of the "Hi-Po" as the "Athlete of the Week" in cooperation with the Athletic Department of High Point College. This is the first in a series of individual sports honors which will appear in each issue of the Hi-Po throughout the school year.

Leroy Sellers receives this honor for his outstanding playing ability for the TKE intramural football team. Leroy is a hard charging tackle who charges the passer hard and is considered to be in the opposing team's backfield almost as much as the other team is in its own backfield.

Panther Varsity Team Begins Intensive Pre-Season Work

by Charlie Maultsby

Full scale practice for the Panther basketball team has begun in preparation for the coming season.

"At the present time, play patterns are being drilled without defense and special emphasis on ball handling," Coach Yow stated; "we're trying to get the men to work together."

"The team, as a whole, is looking pretty good on some phases of practice," Yow added, looking forward to a better season than last year.

Last year, a team player had to be able to hit only 50% of his shots in order to make a good foul shot percentage. If a player misses his first foul shot, he has a chance to shoot again. The ruling this year, however, permits a player to shoot again if he makes his first shot. By this rule, the player gets a chance to make two points for each foul that is committed against him. Because of this new rule, Coach Yow is requiring that each varsity player has to hit on 82-85% of his foul shots. "The old theory that practice makes perfect will be emphasized," Yow commented.

The tentative list of men who are practicing in varsity slots are: Phil Crockett, Harold Crump, Bobby Davidson, Roy Dixon, Bobby Dunbar, Johnny East, Kenneth Frazier, Bill Huegel, Tom Payne, Murphy Osborne, Paul Stanton, Burt Westbrook, and Hoy Manning.

HPC Student From Jordan

AREF ADELGARI HPC Student

key dawns

Many years ago, a family left the section of southern Russia called North Caucasus and moved to the land that was to be Trans-Jordan. They moved because they could not worship in the manner they wished. Into this family was born a son, Aref Bahaddin Adelgari, who was one day to leave Jordan's banks and come to America and there to be one of our fellow students at High Point College.

In an interview with your reporter, Aref told his story: "My parents are farmers (landowners) in the country which was divided into Israel and Jordan by the U.N. My parents are Arabic Moslems. I graduated from Huzien College in Amman, and desired to come to America to study. My father refused to send me here, preferring that I go to the University of Cairo. I worked for 14 months as a truck driver and with the engines used to pump water in my country." He first heard of North Carolina colleges from a friend of his who goes to Guilford college.

He wrote to Guilford and asked for admission, but Guilford allows only a limited number from any one foreign country, and they advised Aref to transfer his credits to another school. He looked over the catalogue and selected High Point. He arrived in New York City, September the 13th.

Aref is going to major in electrical engineering, but he will return to his country after graduation. "I feel that my people have need of me there, and after all, it is my home," Aref added.

I asked Aref what impressed him about America: "Lipstick and chewing gum" he said. I asked what he liked and disliked about our country, and Aref replied without hesitation, "I like the genuine friendliness and helpfulness of the people, but I cannot stand the weather."

A student from HPC could travel around the world and never leave the campus if he would take the time to talk to some of our students from foreign lands—and it's so much cheaper!

It's Spook Time At HPC

By Jane Lucas

Spooks, goblins, witches, and pun'kins—it's almost Hallowe'en again, the eve of All Saints' festival. How strange that we should celebrate a day for Christian saints with many beliefs and superstitions of pagan peoples.

The ancient Druids believed that on the eve before November 1, ghost of the dead wandered about, and they built great bonfires to keep them away. After the day became a Christian festival the bonfires still blazed, especially in the British Isles, where groups of villagers would gather, disguised in masks and gay costumes, to hold the annual festival. This day, as they knew it, with its laughter and fun is captured by Robert Burns in his poem "Hallowe'en."

In old Rome, the festival was associated with the harvest and Pomona, goddess of fruits and gardens. Nuts and apples were roasted before great bonfires.

(Don't look now, but what is that standing behind you?)

Theta Chi Fraternity Chapter To Be Installed Here As Epsilon Eta Phi Affiliates Tomorrow Afternoon

Theta Chi Frat Was Founded In Year 1856

Allen de Hart

Theta Chi Fraternity was found by Frederick N. Freeman and Arthur Chase at Norwich University in Vermont on April 10, 1856. Their ritual embraced all that was fine, manly, and upright in the inspiring code of the military school of which they were a part; their badge displayed a gold rattlesnake, with a ruby-set eye, fashioned to form the letter Theta, over which gold crossed swords formed the letter Chi. The fraternity, having been established in a military college, took for its colors the red and white of the American flag. For its flower, it chose the red carnation.

Of the 75 national fraternities in existence today, only 19 are older, and only 7 have larger chapter rolls than Theta Chi. It has approximately 40,000 living members, all affirming allegiance to the standards of true friendship, teaching of truth, temperance, tolerance, virtue, and a helping hand to all who seek it.

Theta Chi was one of the first fraternities to set up a definite series of objectives. Theta Chi's far-flung group of chapters has generally remained above the all-men's average in scholarship. For many years in the last 30, since comparative records have been available, Theta Chi has ranked first in scholarship among national fraternities established prior to 1890 and among fraternities having fifty or more chapters.

In 1942, Beta Kappa Fraternity merged with Theta Chi. Beta Kappa was founded in 1901, and the merger brought to Theta Chi 17 new active chapters and approximately 6,000 new active and alumni members.

Theta Chi is known as the "Fraternity of Deans," there being no fewer than 26 Theta Chi deans in leading universities. It is the first fraternity to institute Mother's Day as an official fraternity calendar event.

Its creed expresses belief in the primacy of Alma Mater, in its influence and its accomplishments, and to perpetuate its ideals, thereby serving God, country, and fellow-man.

F.B.L.A. Presents Variety Show

A Variety Show of 17 acts was presented by the Future Business Leaders of America in Memorial Auditorium Tuesday, November 30.

Paul Hampton, emcee, announced the members of the Combo, who began the entertainment with "In The Mood."

Betty Mullinix, who has won state acclaim in drama, dramatized the last minutes of a man committed to cell of solitary confinement. Solemn expression changed when Aubrey "Shrimp" Flint bounded onto the stage for a minstrel act.

Rita Ward, Larry Strange, Quita Harrell, Pete Bourgaides, and Ellen Torrence sang solos with a romantic note, and Avie Gunn, Vincent Leong, and Dale Swearingen rendered musical solos. Gail DeShazo dressed in an early "twenties" costume performed lively in a tap dance and Charleston.

The Four Freshmen sang "I Spoke Too Soon" and "Blue Christmas." The Gospel Tones, a guest quartet from Concord sang two spiritual numbers, and the audience joined the entire cast in singing, "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas."

THETA CHI fraternity men who will be initiated tomorrow afternoon are pictured above, along with the fraternity officers and pledges. The chapter will be Epsilon Alpha and the 116th chapter of the national fraternity. Installation of this chapter will make a total of six national fraternities and no locals on the High Point College campus.

Thad Eure Will Speak To Men At Installation

Epsilon Eta Phi, oldest fraternity of High Point College, becomes Epsilon Alpha, the 116th chapter of Theta Chi national fraternity at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Earl D. Rhodes, national president from New York, will head the formal installation of charter members in the chapel of First Methodist Church.

Honorable Thad Eure, Secretary of State of North Carolina will greet the new members for North Carolina Theta Chi chapters at the installation banquet in the Sheraton Hotel tomorrow evening. The forty-one charter members of Epsilon Alpha will hear Joseph D. Ross, national secretary, introduce Professor N. P. Yarborough, Registrar of High Point College, who will present the welcome address. Bobby D. Allen, counselor of Region 4, South, and Fred Joyce, deputy counselor, will be among other noted guests.

Richard Owens, president of the new chapter, will receive the charter at the ensuing ceremonies. Professors Herman E. Coble, George H. Hobart, and N. P. Yarborough will represent the HPC faculty on the roster of charter members.

CHARTER MEMBERS

Other members of the charter list are: Robert Apperson, Willard Blue, Bill Bost, Billy Brown, Bob Bruce, Sid Culpepper, Jim Cummings, Allen de Hart, Carl Dorsett, Bill Gray, Bill Hedrick, Bob Hedrick, Scribe, Galen Hill, Chaplain; David Holt, IFC representative; Delbert Kirkman, Treasurer; Lawrence Lewallen, Leonard Mayo, Cliff Moran, Tom Noller, Ed Small, Vice-President; John Wiley, Secretary, and Lacy Williams.

Alumni on the charter list are: Richard Clemets, Bill King, Charles Payne, Jim Kennedy, Leon Walker, Percy Payne, Bill Ervin, Bill Cheves, Bill Trollinger, Homer Spain, Herb Potts, Keith Clark, J. D. Wade, Charlie Mann, and Henry Blair.

HPC Choir Will Present Christmas Concert Tuesday

Richard Cox

The High Point Civic Orchestra and the High Point College Choir will present a concert December 14 at 8:00 p. m. The concert is to be in the new Memorial Auditorium. All students and the public are cordially invited.

To be featured in the concert is Christmas Day by Gustav Holst. This work, by an English composer who died in 1934, combines soloists, chorus, and orchestra in fantasy on the traditional Christmas carols, "Good Christian Men Rejoice," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Come Ye Lofty, Come Ye Lowly," and "The First Noel." Soloists for the performance in December will be Helena Smith, Angie Gaskins, Pete Bourgaides, Joe Compton, and Robert Combs.

In addition to this work, which will conclude the program, the Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Lew J. Lewis, will play Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," the "Prayer" from Humperdinck's opera Handel and Gretel and a fantasy on familiar carols. After an opening group consisting of numbers by Bach, Palestrina, and Handel. The choir, under the direction of Richard Cox, will sing the advent motet, "O Saviour, Rend the Skies in Twain," by Johannes Brahms.

A group of carols will include "Sing of a Maiden Matchless," a setting of an early English poem which Dr. Lewis has made for the college choir. Ruby Hallman, Sylvia Fox, Ida Lee Wiles, and Jack Peacock, will sing solos in this number.

The rest of this group will consist of a Spanish carol, a Swedish Carol, a Croatian carol in which Ellen Torrence will be heard as soloist, and the American carol, "Jesus the Christ Is Born," arranged by John Jacob Niles.

Senior Superlatives Elected For '54-'55

Senior Superlatives from the senior class at HPC were selected by the class in a meeting recently, presided by Ken Frazier, class president.

The superlatives elected were:
Best All Around—Charles Jarrell, Pat Martin.
Most Intellectual—David Francis, Shirley Harris.
Most Popular—David Abernathy, Sue Gary.
Most Likely To Succeed—Bill Eller, Carolyn Adkins.
Best Looking—Sid Proctor, Sue Gamble.
Friendliest—Bill Hipps, Ramona Courie.
Most Athletic—Bobby Davidson, Eleanor Clapp.
Wittiest—Bill Wright, Pert Prettyman.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE WORKING ON PROPOSED SGA CONSTITUTION

A special committee appointed from the student body to study and propose a new constitution for the Student Government is now making plans to present the constitution to the student body January 12.

The committee, under the direction of David Abernathy, SGA president, has had one meeting and will meet again next Monday, December 13 at 2:30.

The proposed constitution will include executive, legislative, and judiciary departments.

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay"

Tower Players Give First Play

Mary Alice Milbury

On November 19, in Memorial Auditorium, the Tower Players staged their first production for this year, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." An excellent performance was given by a cast of 17, who brought new life and gaiety to the rollicking ship-board comedy.

The story of the play is not a complicated one, but is rich in humor. Cornelia Otis Skinner, a budding actress played by Betty Mullinix, and her friend Emily Kimbrough, a hopeful ballerina played by Mary Ann Rhyne, are on their way to Paris. Some rather odd things happen to them on ship-board; for example, Emily tries to save a drowning man by throwing a deck chair at him. Cornelia startles the steward (Vincent Leong) by pretending to be a femme fatale, and on the last day aboard ship, Cornelia comes down with the measles and has to be smuggled into France by Emily and two young Harvard medical students (Stanley Broadway and Fred Macon) who have taken a fancy to the girls during their voyage together.

After two weeks, the girls arrive at their hotel in Paris and Cornelia begins studying acting under the arrogant French actor, Monsieur de la Croix (Frank Herbert) while Emily tries to improve her "colloquial" French. Madame Elise, the proprietor of the hotel (Bronna Deaton), explains to the girls that the big bed in their room is historic because Cardinal Richieu once slept in it. The fact that the great French statesman had slept in it evidently had no effect on the bed-bugs who inhabited it. Cornelia awoke itching and swollen only to realize that the boys they had met on the ship were coming to take them to lunch that day. In the midst of the confusion, Cornelia's parents (Sara Hamilton and Bob Dixon) arrive and her father only makes matters worse by splashing disinfectant all over the room just before the boys arrive. When one of them asks what the strange smell is, Emily nonchalantly replies, "Oh, it must be the honey-suckle."

The time finally comes for the girls to leave to catch the boat for America. There is a tinge of sadness in their voices as they say good-bye to the room and the audience feels that Cornelia and Emily are saying good-bye to them, too.

Betty Mullinix did a magnificent job playing the part of Cornelia Otis Skinner, which is a role that demands a versatile and capable actress. The interpretation of the role of Emily, by Mary Ann Rhyne was both humorous and natural and was a perfect foil for the more dramatic and dignified Cornelia. Other members of the cast were Evelyn Chapman, Gayle Ford, Walton Moore, Jim Stanley, Mary Alice Milbury, Bill Straughn, Jeanine Easterling, and Priscilla Gingrich.

The play was directed by Miss Jane Despain who was assisted by Jeanine Easterling, student director, and Barbara Scott, promptress.

The stage crew, headed by Johnny Powell, deserves much credit for the excellent scenery it produced. The sets for both the scenes on ship-board and the hotel room in Paris were not full sets but had a cut away look which achieved an imaginative appearance and added greatly to the charm of the play.

Another crew which is to be applauded is the costume committee who provided authentic "flapper era" costumes which gave color and atmosphere to the performance.

Crew heads were: Faith Sneed, costumes; Martha Henson, properties; Johnny Abernathy, lighting; and Mrs. Lew J. Lewis and Sarah Pugh, make-up.

Music between the first and second acts of the play was furnished by Dr. Lewis and the college band.

Two HPC Students Die Of Leukemia

Bruce Cooper, a former sophomore at High Point College, died November 20, 1954 of leukemia in Charlotte, N. C. Bruce was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cooper of 1231 East Boulevard, Charlotte. He had been in the hospital for some time due to his illness.

Hubert Johnson, also died of Leukemia November 24, 1954. Johnson, a member of the Veterans Club and former war hero, was in the hospital only a week prior to his death. He is survived by his wife and a son.

Both these men will have their names engraved on a trophy won by the Veterans Club for obtaining the most blood donors during the recent High Point Blood Drive. The trophy will be placed in the foyer of Roberts Hall.

Christmas Holidays Start Next Friday, End Jan. 3

The beginning of the traditional Christmas holidays and the oncoming of final first semester examinations brings to realization that this semester of the 1954-1955 school year is drawing hastily to an end.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m. Friday, December 17, HPC students can breathe a long sigh of relief and proceed for the next fifteen days to enjoy a long anticipated Christmas holiday.

The dormitories will close as they are vacated by homeward bound students, eagerly packing and planning—even now—every precious moment to be spent at home with love ones.

Then, according to the school calendar on page 3 of the 1954-1955 catalogue issue of the High Point College Bulletin, classes will resume, beginning with the 8:20 a. m. class on January 3, 1955. Class absences will be considered double cuts both December 17 and January 3, as is outlined in the Student Government handbook.

Exams Begin January 19

Beginning January 19, only sixteen days after returning from a two weeks vacation, final examinations will commence. The examination schedule will be posted in due time so students may budget their time. January 25 marks the official end of this semester as examinations cease and thoughts turn to registration which begins the next day, Wednesday, January 26, 1955.

A Christmas Message

TO THE STUDENTS:

Of all the things that Christmas signifies, not the least significant is the direction of our thoughts toward our parents, our families, and our loved ones. At this season we realize again how very much we love those who are close to us and how much we are loved by them. Christmas is a season of love and good will toward men.

Wishing for you the capacity for a great love for others and to be greatly loved during this Christmas Season, I am

Yours very sincerely,

IFC Christmas Dance To Feature Westerband Here Tomorrow Night

Smooth dancing to the sweet music of Max Westerband and his orchestra will be the annual entertainment feature of the High Point College campus tomorrow night at the IFC Christmas Dance. The informal dance to be held in Harrison Gymnasium from 8 'till 12 tomorrow evening is being sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

"We are planning for this year's dance to be one of the best we have had in a long time," David Wagoner, IFC president stated. "We wish it were possible for us to have an open dance for the entire student body, but we can't because of the lack of space in the gym," he added.

IFC OFFICERS sketch plans for the Fraternity Christmas dance to be held in Harrison Gymnasium tomorrow night. The dance will be closed to fraternity men and alumni fraternity members. Pictured above are: Jerry Kennerly, dance committee chairman; Sid Proctor, vice-president; David Wagoner, president; Koy Dawkins, secretary; and Bill Wright, treasurer.

The dance, in the past years has been open to all HPC students and their guests, but this year the IFC felt that it would be impossible to open the dance to all students due to the lack of space in Harrison Gymnasium. For that reason, tomorrow night's dance will be closed to fraternity men and fraternity alumni and their dates.

Some tickets were being put on sale by the IFC, some that were left over after the fraternity members had a chance to obtain their tickets. Other than those few, the dance will be closed. The price of the tickets is $1.50.

The affair calls for informal dress, dark suits, and absolutely no flowers for the ladies.

Sponsors for the dance will be the dates of the members of the Interfraternity Council.

They are:

LAMBDA CHI: Sid Proctor and Barbara Smith; Jerry Kennerly and Anita Carter.

PI KAPPA ALPHA: Jack Parks and Alice Smith; Bill Wright and Faye Kendall.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON: David Wagoner and Pat Cranford; Bobby Valentine and Pat Stout. SIGMA PHI EPSILON: Koy Dawkins and Audrey Thompson; Bob Ross and Joan Shelton.

THETA CHI: David Holt and Helen Wood; Bobby Dyer and Anne Fitzhew.

DELTA SIGMA PHI: Harold Bull and Gail Haynes; Larry Tew and Barbara Lloyd.

During intermission these people will appear in the figure. A dance for the sponsor and their escorts will be held during these periods.

Veterans Club Wins Trophy In Recent Blood Drive

The Veteran's Club, after a successful drive to donate blood during the Blood drive last week here in High Point, was presented a trophy in assembly last Wednesday, December 8. Veteran's Club president Paul Hampton received the trophy, and stated that the Veteran's Club tried to donate the most blood out of the other campus organizations so they could do it in memory of Bruce Cooper and Hubert Johnson, former HPC students who died of leukemia recently.

The trophy is to be placed in the foyer of Roberts Hall as a tribute and memorial to Cooper and Johnson.

"We feel it is the last thing we can do for the men who lived among us here at High Point College and died from a blood disease," Hampton stated.

The True Spirit Of Christmas

From the tower on Roberts Hall comes the sound of the chimes ringing out their Christmas message to all who pause to listen . . . from the heart of each student comes the feeling of good will toward fellow men . . . from many hearts comes the thought of a Christ child, destined to save man from sin and bring redemption into the world . . . it is the spirit of Christmas, the spirit here at High Point College.

It is evidenced by the exchange of greetings as students pass each other in the hall, the prevailing atmosphere in the classrooms, everywhere on campus.

This is the time of year reserved for the Christmas spirit. At no other time in the year does this spirit prevail—it is reserved for the time of year when we celebrate the birth of Christ, a memory of a time two thousand years ago when the entire destiny of mankind was to be changed by the birth of an infant in a simple manger in a small barn. Yes, it is a spirit unsurpassed, a feeling that can not be compared, an attitude of "peace on earth, and good will toward men."

We have a humble feeling in our hearts, humble because we are different in our living because of Christ's birth and life. Christmas is truly a time to pause and reflect seriously about the blessings we have because Christ was born.

Lindley Chapel remains open, a place for meditation at any hour of the day or night, open to any student of High Point College who would like to go in and meditate; meditate on the blessedness of Christmas, the wondrous power of a Saviour who knows our hearts, and the things that come to us, students at High Point College.

Yes, Christmas time is a time to pause, collect our thoughts and share with God the feeling of "peace on earth, and good will toward men."

A New Year's Resolution

Each year this time we are constantly reminded by ministers, teachers, parents, and our elders that the new year, in all its glory, will soon be here and we should make our habitual annual resolutions, only to be broken within the first week of the new year. THE HI-PO is of the opinion, as we feel many of you are, that this monotonous making and breaking of objectives is obsolete in effect. The lack of determination, patience, sincerity and will power render the most noble intentions helpless. Therefore, we offer the following example for the new year's resolution: Seek with perseverance and diligence all the goals and aims you have made in previous years. Then, after complete success, move ever onward to conquer new goals which are appealing to you.

Just what goals should we strive to attain? That, we feel, is to be left to the individual. Remember this: if you set a low goal and standard, your accomplishments will likewise be low; if your goal is mediocre then your success will be below the height of success. However, if your aspirations and endeavors are eminent and exalted, they your acquisitions will be triumphant.

With sincerity and strength of purpose as aids, and God as your guide, you cannot fail!

Question of the week: What do you want Santa Claus to bring you for Christmas?

Coleen Ward—"A beautiful face. I need it."

Pat Hauser—"Anything nice—especially on grades."

Freda Redding—"An unusual day."

Christine Robinson—"Happiness and health."

Amanda Auman—"An electric train that gets me to HPC at 8:10 a. m."

Linwood Harris—"A living doll about 5' 4".

Don Cranford—"The science building to be open at night."

Barbara Wilson—"Anything Santa can spare. I'll be glad to take it."

Arthur Black—"I done got what I want, and I don't need nuthin else." (What's he got? A woman!)

Christine Barber—"A quiet roommate—one that will let me have a chance to talk occasionally."

Jean Marr—"A 6' Santa without whiskers."

Margaret Whitesell—"Two months vacation."

Elmo Marsh—"A $100 bill would do."

Jo Ann Meredith—"I want a princess ring and something to go with it." (Maybe a prince?)

Phillip Kennedy—"An 'A' or Spanish."

Coy Brown—"A funny bunny."

Betty Barker—"Health, happiness, and continued peace in the world."

Eddie Martin—"A baby doll, big and pretty." (The walking, talking, cuddling kind, eh?)

Louise Pugh—"good long rest."

Doug Bartlett—"A hard-top or a convertible."

Bill Eller—"Celia Sherrill."

Nancy Morris—"A Cadillac."

Freddy Purdue—"An 'A' on analytics." (Keep your nose down there, Freddy, ole boy, and you'll get it.)

Jimmy Loftin—"A little doll from Decatur, Georgia."

Anne Kerr—"I want Santa to bring my mother a son-in-law."

Joe Davis—"A week longer."

Don Andrews—"A good place to park my car out here every day."

J. C. Bledsoe—"A successful basketball season." (with plenty of points in his favor, of course.)

Nancy Ingram—"A baby blue Cadillac and a blonde." (Boy, that is.)

Bob Hoover—"A baby bed, so I won't have to buy one." (Are congratulations in order, ole chap?)

Don Smith—"A new Cadillac would be all right." All right?

Lady Williams—"I want THAT for Christmas. (That is definitely an object with human characteristics.)"

Braxton Warner—"Nuts, fruits, and candy." How original! The more serious side of Braxton wants the presence of the Christmas spirit.

Jimmy Lain—"My hot-rod finished."

Charles Maulsby—"A solid gold suit for my Cadillac." (When he gets it, that is.)

I'm sure Santa will do his best to fulfill your wishes and make your holiday happier. Or perhaps you're like a certain wit here at HPC who isn't going to have a holiday (hollowday)—he's going to stuff himself. Catch on?

A Letter To Santa

Dear Santa,

Here at High Point College we are a pretty good bunch of boys and girls. Maybe there are times when we don't study as much as we should, or maybe we are a little late for some classes, but as a general rule, we do the best we can.

What we want for this Christmas, something that is beyond material things that come wrapped in gaily colored packages. We would like to see a little peace on earth, especially in the hearts and minds of men who live here, and live together.

Please, Santa, see what you can do for us. We all appreciate it more than words can express.

Sincerely,
The Students of HPC

On December 14, the College Choir and High Point Civic Orchestra will present a Christmas concert in Memorial Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. The orchestra will open the program with "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, "Prayer from Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck, and "Christmas Carol Fantasy" by Syc-kin. The Choir will then sing a group of songs. The program will end with the choir, assisted by the orchestra, singing Holst's "Christmas Day." The soloists will include the following: Helena Smith and Sylvia Fox, sopranos; Ruby Hallman, Angie Gaskins and Ellen Torrence, mezzo sopranos; Ida Lee Wiles, contralto; Pete Bougades, tenor; Joe Compton and Jack Peacock, baritones; and Combs, bass.

VOICE RECITAL

Richard Cox, her- of the voice department and director of choral work at High Point College, presented a delightful musical program for the Musical Art Club on Monday night, November 15. Mr. Cox was accompanied by this voice teacher, Walter Golde. Mr. Golde has been accompanist for several concert artists, as well as voice coach at the Metropolitan and Cologne Operas. At the present time he is teaching privately at Chapel Hill.

Mr. Cox's program consisted of four groups of songs. The first a cantata "Crudel Tiranno Amor" by Handel. A group of Brahms' songs was second on his program and the third, a group of modern numbers sung in English. A composition of Mr. Golde's was included in this group. The final group included four French folk songs.

COMMUNITY CONCERT SERIES

The second in a series of community concerts presented George London, bass-baritone, on Wednesday, November 17. In the short span of three years Mr. London has achieved distinction as the leading bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Association and has appeared both in opera and concert in all leading European capitals. Dates for the other concerts of the series have been announced as follows: On January 24, Whittemore and Lowe, duopianists; February 22, Mildred Dilling, harpist. Tickets will be available at the bureau's office.

INSTRUMENTALISTS

On November 23, a group of instrumentalists from High Point College entertained the Optimist Club of High Point at one of its meetings. Students participating were Regina Dunn, clarinet, Alex Mellinik, baritone saxophone; Eugene Watkins, trombone, Jack Barrier, drums. The accompanists were Sylvia Fox and Regina Dunn.

FOLK SINGER

On December 1, the chapel program featured the noted singer of folk songs, John Jacob Niles. He has made numerous concert tours, is a famous recording star of folk songs and has published a large number of choral arrangements.

COLLEGE CHOIR AND WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

The College Choir sang at the Grace Methodist Church in Greensboro on December 5. The program consisted of Christmas music.

The College Choir and Women's Glee Club presented a program of Christmas Music for the chapel program on December 8. The Women's Glee Club is scheduled to sing at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church on December 15. This program will consist of Christmas music.

OCTET

An octet consisting of Angie Gaskins, Ida Lee Wiles, Sylvia Fox, Helena Smith, Richard Cox, Pete Bougades, Joe Compton and Bob Combs, presented a program of Christmas music at the First Methodist Church on December 8.

MESSIAH

On December 5, at the First Baptist Church, the Community Chorus of High Point gave its annual presentation of "Messiah." The chorus, under the direction of George Clark, consisted of sixty voices from all walks of life here in High Point. The soloists were Nancy Anne Staley, Betty Sue Coltrane Johnson, Helena Smith, Willie Davis Johnson, Richard Cox, and Allen Stanley. The chorus also anticipates a secular concert tentatively set for February and an Easter oratorio in April.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

At the last assembly before the holidays, the chapel program will consist of Christmas carols sung by the entire student body and directed by Richard Cox.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

Dr. Lewis, choir director of the Calvary Methodist Church will present a Christmas Cantata, "Peace on Earth," on December 19, at 7:30 P. M. The music for the cantata was written by Dr. Lewis and the text was taken from scripture.

MUSIC MAJORS

Betty Frazier, a sophomore at High Point College and graduate from Celeste Henkel High School in Statesville, N. C. is majoring in Music Education. While at Celeste Henkel High School, Betty was very active in the music activities of the school. She studied piano, was the accompanist for the Glee Club for four years and was director of the Junior Glee Club. Betty, being very active in ensemble work, won the ensemble music award. At High Point College she is studying piano under Miss Fields and taking courses from Mr. Cox and Dr. Lewis. She is a member of the Woman's Glee Club and College Choir. Betty's future plan is to teach music in the public school.

Another busy freshman, who is majoring in music, is Alex Mellinik, from Toccoa Falls High School. He went to Buffalo Bible Institute for one year where he was a member of the band, glee club and men's chorus. He has directed several church choirs and at present he is directing the choir at the Pisgah Baptist Church. At High Point College he is studying piano, voice and saxophone and is a member of the choir, band and men's chorus.

The Music Department would like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

GREEK FRATERNITIES PI KAPPA ALPHA

On November 25, a new brother joined the ranks of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is Dick Charleville from High Point. He was initiated in the formal initiation ceremony at the Optimist Club.

Last Saturday night a dance was held at Thomasville. Several of the alumni attended.

The Pikas, keeping with their tradition gave Kerlee Litrell a merry chase around the campus, but as usual the lover always loses so he was dumped in the fountain. Congratulations Kerlee and Peggy.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity held its Christmas party and dance Saturday night, December 4, at the Marietta Cabin. The event began at 5 o'clock with an informal supper. The group returned to the college at 8 o'clock for the basketball game and then returned to the cabin for an informal dance. About forty couples attended the holiday event.

Four pledges were initiated into the brotherhood of Sigma Phi Epsilon Friday, November 26. They were John Perry, Garland Gammans, John Petty, and Bill Ward. The four men are from High Point.

The fraternity serenaded Miss Ruth Ann Kelly Wednesday night, December 1 at W. C. U. N. C. Ruth Ann was recently pinned by John Mann.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

The High Point Tekes, N. C. State College Tekes, and the Lenoir Rhyne Tekes are pretty busy planning for the annual Founders Day banquet and dance to be held around January 10, 1955.

The Tekes are planning a dance in celebration of the Christmas season.

Lloyd Jones has been elected president of the pledge class under the direction of pledge trainer, Robert Fowler.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

With the Christmas season rapidly approaching, the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha are preparing for many festivities that will highlight this season. A annual event is the jointly-sponsored party with their sister sorority, Phi Mu. This party will be held December 10 and presents will be given out for sisters and brothers.

In appreciation for the fine work done by Theta-Tau Zeta of Wake Forest College in their installation last year, the HPC Zeta will send a delegation of brothers and pledges to Wake Forest December 2, 1954, for the purpose of presenting a plaque to the Degree Team for its work at our installation.

The pledge class of Lambda Chi has elected to sell light bulbs for their annual first semester project. This will take place immediately and will cover the areas of Greensboro, High Point, and Winston-Salem. These areas have been blocked off into equal sections and certain pledges and actives to supervise will canvass their specified areas.

The Brothers of Iota-Phi Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity wish to extend to each and every student and faculty member a very Merry and Happy Christmas with equal wishes for a very prosperous New Year.

EPSILON ETA PHI

Fraternity news is beginning to focus on the event that climaxes the life of local fraternities on the campus of High Point College. Epsilon Eta Phi will become the Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi tomorrow night. The advantages of this national fraternity will offer many benefits to the group and to High Point College.

The pledges have already received their Theta Chi pledge pins, and the red ovals, bearing a white cross, are already becoming recognized on the campus.

SORORITIES

SIGMA ALPHA PHI

The Sigma Alpha Phi Sorority had a White Christmas sale Thursday night, December 2 in the Student Center. Many articles suitable for Christmas gifts were sold such as: stuffed animals, cookies, candies, knick knacks, socks, and many other articles.

With the Volleyball tournament just getting underway the Sigma's are hoping for a very successful season. They opened the season by playing Kappa Delta and won the best two out of two.

KAPPA DELTA

The Kappa Delta's wound up their pledge training Monday night, November 20, under the direction of Mrs. Hunter Dalton, Jr. From now until the first of February they will be busy preparing for the installation. The Kappa Deltas have decided to make contributions each month to a needy person or to a charitable organization. This will be the local philanthropy. A committee of alumnae and pledges decide where or to whom the money should be given for that month.

The group is publishing a monthly newspaper called the KADETTE. It is written by the editor, Marthelaine Reavis and the associate editor, Harriet Shelton and their staff and distributed to the Kappa Delta girls and alumnae.

The Kappa Delta's are looking forward to their Christmas party to be held December 10 at the American Legion hut in Thomasville.

PHI MU

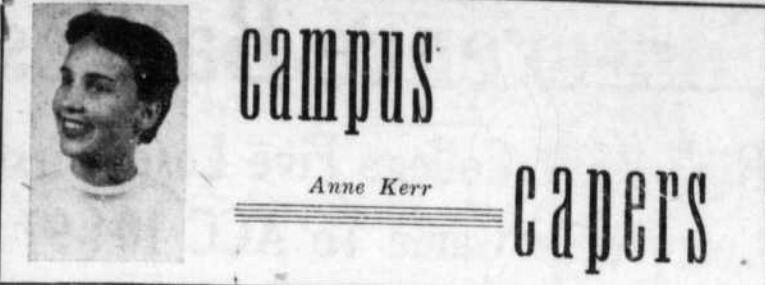

Everyone seemed to have had a grand time at the Carousel Dance Phi Mu sponsored November 20. Barbara Huntley escorted by David Francis was crowned "Carousel Queen." Barbara represented the Sigma Alpha Phi Sorority.

Phi Mu's and their brothers, the Lambda Chi's are planning their annual Christmas party for Friday, December 10. The actives are also planning another Christmas party with their little sisters, the pledges. It will be held on Monday night, December 6, at the home of Donna Burns, Phi Mu alumnae advisor.

LAMBDA ALPHA PHI

The Lambda's took an interest in some needy families here in High Point during the holidays and gave several baskets of food. To see the expression of joy and thankfulness on the families' faces in return for the gifts gave our Thanksgiving a deeper meaning.

These girls took time to have a lot of fun together with a "House Party" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stephens on the night of Saturday night, November 20, and are looking forward eagerly to their Christmas Party which is approaching.

Santa, with his white beard and all, will soon have his bright red nose in affairs at High Point College. There are a few people, our basketball players, that I want him to be sure to remember. Lend me an ear, Santa, and meet "My Heros."

"MY HEROS"

There is a school called HPC,
And it is so dear to the heart of me.

At this school they have a team,
And most people think that it is supreme.

On this team they have some boys,
Who are our pride and joys.

Come in and meet them one by one.
It is sure to be a lot of fun.

First of all comes little B. D.
He loves basketball so dearly.

He is from Indiana, and just 5 feet 9
But his passing and playing are mighty fine.

Next comes Huegele, the Florida cat.
He likes red sock sand such as that.

We all think he is the thing
But he has a Florida girl, by the name of Jean.

Then there is Paul, who plays hard to get,
But confidentially, Connie is his pet.

He is from Greensboro and quite a star;
He hits on the court from near and far.

Next comes "Dixie," "Trixie," or Roy,
He is his folks pride and joy.

He is a former all state star,
And that is a nice long shot you got, Pard.

Have you met Phil, the Greensboro thriller?
On the court, he is a killer diller.

He is big and tall and fast too.
All in all, we think he will do.

Crump or Crunch Baby as he is called
Is pretty hot stuff with that ball.

He thinks girls and sports don't mix,
Which leaves us girls in a fix.

Ken Frazier, from Virginia, is a fine guard,
Who runs and plays very hard.

Sazy is the love of his life,
And soon he will be sporting a mighty cute wife.

Dunbar is a star from Allen Jay.
They grow good players out that way.

He is a freshman, married, and all,
But he can really shoot that ball.

Bevo, Bledso, or J. C.
A former star from Copeland, N. C.

Good rebound, shot and pass
Is all this, he is pretty fast.

I could tell you more about this real great bunch,
But I have gotta rush since it is time for lunch.

There is just one final word to our basketball men—
We love you and we want you to get out there and win!!

And Santa, as for myself, please bring happiness, good cheer, and good health to all my High Point College friends. May they have the true spirit of Christmas where ever they are.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

A Christmas Eve

By Shelby Moseley

The last rope of tinsel is curved in place,
The last weary shopper has beaten the night,
The last spray of holly is spread in its space,
The last letter to Santa is tucked in sight,
For it's Christmas Day in the morning.

The last carol has sounded and died,
The last faltering prayer has been said,
The last gay ribbon has been tied,
The last tiny foot has tottered to bed,
For it's Christmas Day in the morning.

The last plump fruit cake is golden brown,
The last glistening snowflake is at rest,
Quiet peace reigns throughout the town,
Tomorrow every heart will be blest,
For it's Christmas Day in the morning.

Personality Of The Month

ERNIE BALL

key dawns

personality plus

You don't have to hang around the High Point campus long before you'll know the Personality of the Month, Ernie Ball. "The Ball" is that fabulous college educated laundry man who makes his calls twice a week in McCulloch Hall. "E" Ball was born a damyankee in Cincinnati, Ohio, but became a southerner, thank goodness, before it made an impression on him. Ernie graduated from Mooresville High (with "Fuzz") where he picked up his now famous nickname. After graduation, he spent four years in the Navy as an electronics technician. This reporter asked Ernie if he had to do it all over again, would he go into the Navy before he went off to school; he said he would.

Ernie has certainly made a good record on the campus for the two years that he has been here. He was the freshman representative to the Student Government Association, has been vice-president of the Vets' Club for the past two years, is at the present time vice-president of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, a senator at the state student legislature, and a member of the interim council of the legislature. Ernie's pet peeve on the campus is the lack of facilities offered the fraternities; his joy, the social life. After graduation, Ernie expects to enter law school at Wake Forest. I asked Ernie what he would do if he had his wish (as far as campus activities go), and Ernie answered, "If I had my way, the first thing I would do on campus would be to make the 'Chow Hall' a cafeteria where you could select and pay as you go."

Well, I have finished this article, so now I shall put on a fresh white shirt, and go out to look the world in the face; that is, everybody but "E" Ball, cause I still owe him for

Faculty Members Are Planning For Holidays

By Marthelaine Reavis

Since the "antics" of professors are always good conversational material for students, it was deemed wise to inform the student body of the professors' plans for the holiday season.

Mr. Yarborough seems to top our list as far as excitement and secrecy are concerned. His marriage to Miss Margaret Austin will take place at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, December 17. Honeymoon destination — strictly unknown! (Anyone with old shoes or tin cans is asked to meet in the foyer of Roberts Hall one hour before the wedding.)

The festive season will find Dr. Bartlett at her mother's home in Centerville, Maryland.

Dr. Rozelle will be speaking on several occasions during the holidays, but will be with his grandchild in Winston-Salem Christmas Eve.

Our author-professor, Dr. Lorenz, will use a part of his time to do some critical writing. Other plans are indefinite now.

The Hartsells and Smyths, neighbors here in High Point, will journey to Tennessee to spend Christmas with Dr. Hartsell's folks. (We hope Santa will be able to find the little Smyth and Hartsells.)

Mr. and Mrs. Paschal have chosen to spend the season at their home in Glendon with family and friends.

The "tour" Dr. and Mrs. Hinshaw are taking sounds like a train schedule. Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, and Washington, D. C. are on their itinerary.

"To stay quietly at 804 Woodrow" are the plans of Dr. and Mrs. Moffitt. Dr. Moffitt's sister from Chattanooga will visit them.

Mr. Withers and his family plan to visit with their folks in Tennessee and Virginia.

South Carolina will claim another guest as Miss Bowman goes to be with her family.

Home by the fireside seems to be a popular place for Mr. Coble, Dr. Locke, Dr. Deskins, Miss Adams, Mrs. White, Miss Idol, and Miss Steelman.

The traditional "... over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go" is characteristic of the Perkins as they and their three children drive to Massachusetts to be with Dr. Perkins' mother and father.

Playing Santa will be the main pastime of the Palmers for their daughter (wonder if she'll get golf clubs?) Mr. Palmer will make a trip to either Tennessee or Georgia; he has space in the car for any blonde that would be interested in going. While he is gone, Mrs. Palmer will probably be "doing the mambo without you-know-who" under the Christmas tree.

Although some of these plans are tentative, we can be assured that they all have the same intentions for January 3 — back to school!

Thoughts For ChristmasYou Are The Innkeeper

Gelene Hutchins

There was no room in the inn so the innkeeper turned Mary and Joseph away and the baby Jesus was born in a lowly stable. How do you feel toward this innkeeper? We should have no harsh feelings toward him because his inn was full, and how was he to know that the babe to be born was the Son of God?

No, I do not blame the innkeeper for his actions back there almost two thousand years ago for he did not know that God was sending to the world His only Son. He did not know that this babe was to be the Savior of the world, the Prince of peace.

But there is an innkeeper I do blame, and that is the innkeeper of the heart and soul in which Christ does not live today. If this Christmas there is an innkeeper who knows about Christ, knows of His glorious birth, His most perfect life, His death on the cross, and His resurrection, and still does not have room for Him, then he is much more at fault than the innkeeper who had no room two thousand years ago. And this fault will deny him eternal life.

Of course the innkeeper of your heart and soul is YOU. What about it? Do you have room for the Christ child? Do you have room for the Christ who lived His daily life for God? Do you have room for the Christ who died and arose again to save you from your sins?

If you have not let Christ really and truly enter the door of your heart and soul and let Him live there, then there IS still room; because no heart is full or complete until Christ has entered and no soul of any value until given to Christ. Your life is never as rich as it can be until you let Christ enter in.

Do not be as that innkeeper on the first Christmas who did not know. You do know. This Christmas make room in your heart for Christ and let Him always live there.

Store windows bright with Christmas cheer

Santa on every street corner

The holly over the mantle and mistletoe over the door . . .

The tinkle of sleigh bells in the night

Logs crackling and sparkling in the open hearth

Packages under the Christmas tree

Brightly colored paper and ribbon all over the house . . .

Giving and being glad you can

Fellowship with family and friends

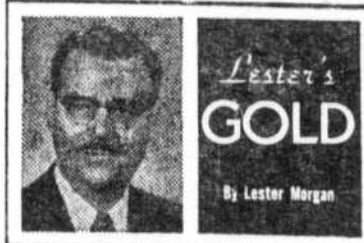

Sharing turkey and all the trimmings with loved ones . . .

The squeals of the children on Christmas morning

Feeling secure in the knowledge that God gave His Gift because He loves us.

The Purple Panthers rolled to a slow-moving edge over Guilford College last night to defeat the Quakers in a 88-79 North State Conference victory. After an average of 104 points per game, the total score set back the overall average.

A close game all the way, bad passing hampered the HPC charges and an excessive number of fouls prevented a higher score for the Panther five. Guilford's Lance, a fast guard, continually slowed down Panther action by stealing the ball.

After a see-saw first half which found the score much closer than the second half, the end of the first half found the HPC team with a 42-41 lead. After a hook shot by J. C. Bledsoe, the Panthers took their biggest lead of the night at 71-59, the highest margin in the game. Bill Huegele was high man for the Panthers with 16 points, seven field goals and two foul shots. Atkins of Guilford was high man for the night with 24 points.

The Panthers were guilty of 22 fouls, while the Quakers had 24 for the game. HPC got 18 points from foul shots out of a possible 35 while Guilford made 30 out of 41.

With two minutes remaining in the game and the score at 85-77, the Panthers held the ball in a successful freeze. Dunbar hit on two foul shots with 25 seconds remaining to put the final score at 88-79.

"We've got a long way to go," Coach Virgil Yow remarked dryly after the battle was over. "We should have done better against Guilford's team—we've just got a long way to go," Yow stated, looking toward a better clicking team in future conference games.

The scoring is as follows:

Second Half Combination Leaves YMCA Behind; NS Record Set; Dixon Gets 23

The High Point College Purple Panthers turned on full steam December 2 as they smothered the High Point Y.M.C.A. 124-2 in a cross-town battle.

Coach Yow cleared his bench in an effort to give all of his men some experience. Every man on the squad got into the game and every one got into the scoring column.

After a not-too-impressive first half which ended in a 48-4 score, the Panthers roared back and no one seemed to be able to miss the bucket.

Although it was a team scoring spree, it would be hard to pick out any star. Roy Dixon, however, found his range and poured ten field goals through the nets and three of four foul shots for a total of 23 points. Dixon was the high scorer for both teams.

The Panthers, with 124 points, set a North State Conference record set by the 1951 HPC quintet; they scored 118 points against Atlantic Christian College. Coach Yow did not want to "rack-up" such a score but when you have a group of men who are "hot," there can be no holding back. The Panthers made 40 field goals and 44 foul shots. This is an average of 60% from the foul line.

Superior conditioning seemed to be the deciding factor in the second half. The "Y" players just could not keep up the fast pace set by the Panthers. Leftwich and Dillon shared the scoring honors with 11 points each for the "Y" squad.

ACC-HPC conference tilt brought quite a bit of fast action as the Bulldogs edged by the Panthers 104-97. In the photo above, Marley of ACC has just snatched the ball in a scramble in the first half. The tilt proved to be a surprise to the fans, the Bulldogs being favored by at least 10 points. Foul shots accounted for almost half the ACC score as they poured in a total of 50 points from the foul line.

The Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs defeated the purple Panthers of High Point College 104-97 in the Panthers' 1954-55 North State Conference debut.

The Bulldogs took the lead from the opening whistle and were never overtaken but once, that being a one point edge for the Panthers.

Last Half Spurt Puts Hot Team In Permanent Lead That Pays Off

After trailing by as much as 16 points at one time, the Purple Panthers of High Point College came through to post a 100-94 victory over Presbyterian College of Clinton, S. C.

After five minutes had elapsed in the third period, Bobby Dunbar connected to tie up the game at 78 all. A moment later, Phil Crockett hit the nets for two points and the Panthers enjoyed their first lead of the night, 80-79. With three minutes to go in the game, the team had its biggest lead which left no doubt as to who the victors would be; a lead of 93-85. Paul Stanton connected on two foul shots to hit the century mark with two seconds to go.

Bill Huegele was high man for the HPC charges with 27 points. He hit 13 field goals to show what a "hot" night is.

Ron Ragan, the red-headed flash for Presbyterian hit the nets for a record 44 points to keep his team in the game. The rebounding of Phil Crockett played a major part in keeping the Panthers rolling.

Coach Norman Sloane of Presbyterian stated after the game, "We lost to a fine team that has greatly improved over last year's squad in its teamwork."

The game was an offensive battle with defense at an ebb. The Panthers outscored the Bulldogs points. Bobby Davidson, who incidentally hit 100% of his fouls—10

The game was an offensive battle with defense at an ebb. The Panthers' outscored the Bulldogs from the floor but ACC won the game from the foul line in setting a North State record of 50 foul shots in a single game.

Big John Marley was the star for the Bulldogs with a total of 19 points. With such tremendous height under the boards, the HPC quintet was forced to hit from the outside and it did just this. Bill Huegele, Ken Frazier and Bobby Davidson, all guards, were the big runs for the HPC course. Ken Frazier was high man with 23 points. Bobby Davidson, who incidentally hit 100% of his foul—10 for 10—took second scoring honors with 16. Bill Huegele, hitting with phenomenal accuracy, was third with 15.

The Bulldogs hit 50 of 61 possible foul shots for an 82% accuracy while the Panthers hit on 37 of 44 for a 84%.

In the rebound department the Panthers did an excellent job considering their lack of height. They took 22 rebounds off of the offensive board and 39 off of the defensive board.

Should this game be an indication of games to come, the foes of High Point College will have a fight on their hands.

With only the bowl games left to be played January 1, football is fading from the picture for another colorful season to make room for basketball. This football season has seen former gridiron powers fading out and some unheard-of teams taking the spotlight. Illinois, for instance, last season was in the race for the Rose Bowl only to be nosed out by Michigan State. This year they did not win a single big-ten game.

On the other hand, Arkansas, which has not been ranked very high in the nation is enjoying a bid to the Cotton Bowl. This is the first time in 18 years that Arkansas has won a championship of any form.

I think that come New Year's Day, 1955, the folks looking at TV throughout the United States will see some of the best bowl games ever to be played.

I have been a bit cautious this season in the way of predictions but I thought that I would predict the outcome of the major bowl games. My predictions (personal, mind you) are as follows:

- ROSE BOWL—Ohio State to take Southern California.
- COTTON BOWL—Arkansas will subdue Georgia Tech.
- SUGAR BOWL—Navy to stomp Ole' Mississippi.
- ORANGE BOWL—Duke will definitely beat Nebraska.

BASKETBALL DOMINATES

Here on the home front, basketball is dominating the picture. In the games played to date, the Purple Panthers have shown that games are to be won from the free-throw line as well as from the floor. Coach Yow has substituted freely throughout the games, giving all the men a chance to show their ability under pressure. This experience will be needed when North State action is increased. I predict that the Purple Panthers will be in Lexington in February to participate in the North State playoffs.

FRESHMAN OUTSTANDING

Some of the freshman players are doing well thus far this season as you have probably noticed. Bobby Dunbar who was a star for Allen Jay last year is showing us that he can stand up under college competition. Bill Huegele has a deadly eye for the basket and shows plenty of drive and hustle. These are but a few of the future HPC stars.

J. C. Bledsoe, who came here from the JV squad has been doing a fine job at center. Bobby Davidson is still capable of taking rebounds off the opponents' backboards as he has done in seasons past. Paul Stanton, who incidentally was my Spanish tutor last year, has a driving style that you don't see too often in North State competition. Ken Frazier, the Narrows, Virginia, flash is an old standby who will see action a plenty this season. Tom Payne has proved long ago that he is one of the top ball handlers on the squad. Though I did not mention all of our players, they too should be commended for their fine spirit and hustle which helps round out a future championship team.

BERMUDA SHORTS IN SPORTS

Changing over to the lighter side of the sports world, I thought I could not let this article go to press without a good laugh. It all began one Saturday night two weeks ago. I went into the gym like any other person would do, and was startled to see our own beloved manager, Marty Neustedt, in his Bermuda shorts, stockings, hairy legs and all. I, for one, do not see anything wrong with it, but it does go to show you that if you go to enough basketball games, you are liable to see anything.

NEGRO SPARKS FLYERS

The Langley Air Force team, the Flyers, brought a Negro player with them who was as good a player as I have seen in some time. It is the first time I have ever seen one play in Harrison Gymnasium and he was well received by our student body and players alike. He was the spark plug of the entire Langley team; he dumped 33 points through the nets.

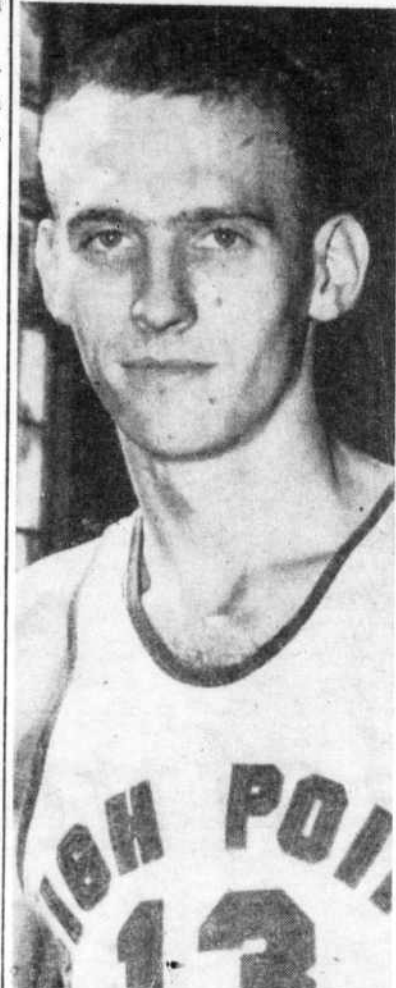

I had better mumble to the rest of sports page.

Lambda Chi Leads Volleyball League

Tekes In Second Place In Intramural Volleyball Program Now Underway

The unbeaten Lambda Chi Alpha forces are leading the intramural volleyball league with a record of six wins and no losses. The league, made up of seven fraternities, is under the direction of Arthur Paschal, HPC Director of Athletics.

Athlete of the Week

KEN FRAZIER

... hustling Panther

Charlie Maultsby

Ken Frazier has been chosen as the fourth athlete of the week by the sports department of the HI-PO.

Ken Frazier, who is a senior, hails from Narrows, Virginia. He has been chosen for his determined drive and scoring ability.

Ken has an eye for the basket and can hit when given half a chance. This can be backed up by the fact that he hit the bucket for 23 points in the Atlantic Christian game in which he was high scorer for both teams.

He can handle both the ball and himself with true basketball skill. Ken is a team player and only shoots when he sees that there is a clear shot from the floor.

Ken Frazier is a member of Delta Sigma Phi and has been president of that fraternity. He is a friendly person to meet on the campus and an all-around fine fellow.

All of these things make us feel that we have made a wise choice for athlete of the week.

Second place in the league is held by the Tekes with two wins and one defeat. The Sig Eps and Kappa Chi are tied for the third spot with two wins and two defeats. Following them are the PiKAs with one win and two losses, the Theta Chi with one win and three losses. Rounding out the standings are the Delta Sigs with no wins and four losses.

Round Robin

At the completion of the first round of play the three bottom teams will be automatically eliminated and the top four teams will play a round robin tournament to determine the first place winner. All games won and lost during the season will be figured in the final standings.

The top team will receive individual trophies and the second place team will receive individual medals.
