

Kappa Delta Chapter To Be Installed Here Next Saturday Night

The oldest sorority on the campus of High Point College, Theta Phi, will be formally installed into national Kappa Delta as the Gamma Gamma Chapter February 11-13. The official program of initiation will be Saturday, February 12 at 1:00 p.m. with Julia Aber, national president officiating.

Among other notable guests will be Mrs. Herbert E. Mueller, national chapterian; Mrs. Earl Jackson, Alpha South Province president, and Mrs. J. Allen Frear, province alumnae officer and wife of the senior Democratic senator of Delaware.

Second Degree Pledge Service

A second degree pledge service will be held Friday, February 11, at 7:00 p. m. in Memorial Auditorium. Mrs. Ober and Mrs. Mueller will be assisted in conducting the program by members of the High Point Alumnae Association and sisters of the sorority from the two Carolinas and Virginia.

Initiation Program

Saturday, February 12, at 1:00 p. m. approximately fifty-five college women and alumnae will be initiated into Kappa Delta. The most outstanding function of the entire program will be the banquet the night at the Emerywood Country Club. Toastmistress will be Betty Mueller. Dr. C. Excell Rozelle will give the invocation and Dr. Dennis Cooke, President of High Point College, will welcome the chapter to the campus. One hundred fifty guests are expected.

Reception — Tea

Sunday morning, February 13, the Kappa Deltas will attend the First Methodist Church as a body. The afternoon program calls for a tea-reception at the local YWCA from 3 to 5 o'clock. This tea is to be sponsored by the alumnae in honor of the newly installed chapter. Faculty, guests, parents of the initiates, and representatives from all campus organizations will attend.

The alumnae pledging Kappa Delta include: Mrs. Margaret Dalton, Mrs. Frances Dalton, Mrs. Arthur Kirkman, Mrs. Ed Mills, Mrs. Tom Powell, Mrs. Albion Mills, Mrs. Robert Garland, Mrs. Louis Voorhees, Mrs. H. I. Coffield, Sr., Mrs. Ed Mendenhall, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. J. P. Armstrong, Mrs. Kalopie Hardin, Mrs. W. B. Lewis, Mrs. Harris Covington, Mrs. Pauline Duncan, Miss Louise Adams, Mrs. Willis Slane, Sr., Mrs. B. V. Stroupe, and Mrs. Kenneth Geddie.

FOREIGN STUDY OPEN TO HPC STUDENTS

Summer study at British universities is open to American students in 1955, according to an announcement made today by Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

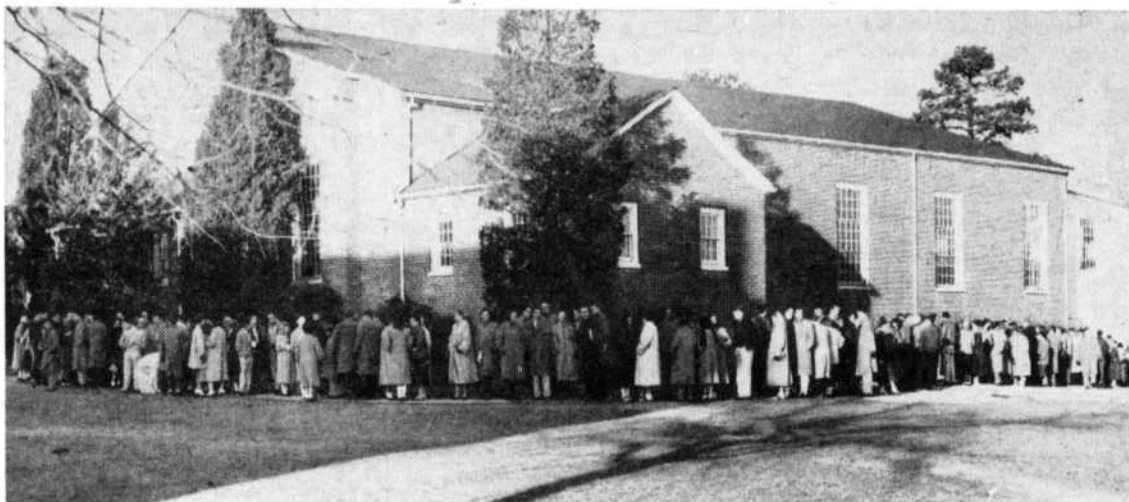

Six-week courses will be offered at Oxford, at Stratford-upon-Avon, and at the capital cities of London and Edinburgh.

A limited number of scholarships is available. Award and admission application forms may be secured from the Institute of International Education in New York or any of its regional offices. Completed applications should be returned to the Institute in New York by March 28, 1955. A limited number of steamship passages on Cunard ships are reserved for successful candidates.

British Universities have combined annually since 1948 to organize a special program of summer schools. Courses are planned to serve the needs of well-qualified undergraduates in their junior or senior years or of postgraduate students. In the past participants have come from fifteen to twenty-five different countries. Although two-thirds of the students at previous sessions have come from English-speaking countries, the opportunity to live in a university community with fellow students of similar interests from many nations has become a feature of the courses. The courses attract those ranging in age from 20 to 50. Interests vary from those of the teacher and professional to those of the scientist and business man.

The Edinburgh School, arranged jointly by the Scottish Universities, will have an historical theme, tracing the development of modern western civilization. In London the galleries, museums, records, and buildings serve as special source material for a study of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The course at Stratford-upon-Avon focuses on the literary and theatrical aspects of Shakespearean and Elizabethan drama. Contemporary politics and literature are studied under widely known lecturers and tutors at Oxford.

Second Semester Enrollment Will Be Near First Semester's Total

LONG LINES featured second semester registration January 26 when about 400 students braved the wintry blasts to get in line early to get the courses of their choice. The line began to form at 6:30 in the morning; registration began at 8:30 and continued all day and the next day.

Polio Rate Rises In College-Age Adults; Vaccine Offers Hope

The chances of college-age Americans contracting polio are greater today than ever before, but a trial polio vaccine—developed through research, much of it in college laboratories—offers a bright ray of hope for the future.

Over the past 10 years the "infantile" part of infantile paralysis has become a misnomer, according to Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"The truth is," Mr. O'Connor revealed, "that in a single decade the ration of polio patients over 19 has nearly doubled."

This increase is even more meaningful because adults, when stricken, are more likely to have the more serious and incapacitating forms of polio, he said. But the grim statistics are tempered by the growing possibility of the eradication of the paralytic disease. "Today's great hope for an effective polio vaccine comes as a result of 17 years of relentless scientific research, performed largely at our nation's colleges and universities backed by March of Dimes funds."

The end-product of this long chain of research, Mr. O'Connor pointed out, has been trial polio vaccine. Developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk at the University of Pittsburgh, the vaccine was put to an exhaustive test this past summer in a scientific study involving 1,830,000 children.

Results of the trial are now being (Continued on Page Four)

HI-PO STAFF TO MEET

All staff members of the Hi-Po are asked to remain after assembly next Wednesday for a brief but important meeting, managing editor Jimmy Reavis announced today. Articles will be assigned at that time and other important business will be discussed.

VETERAN'S LOANS EXPECTED TO GO TO ALL-TIME HIGH

GI loans are expected to reach an all-time peak in the year, 1955, according to a prediction by Thomas J. Sweeney, acting head of the Veterans Administration loan guaranty program.

In an address to a meeting of the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago, the VA official estimated that the volume of GI loans in the current year would exceed the record total set in 1954 by about seven and a half percent.

Indications are, he said, that about 4.3 billion dollars will be earmarked by private lenders for the needs of veteran homebuyers. This would be the largest amount ever channeled into the veteran home-buying market by lenders in a single year.

The speaker qualified his predictions are laid.

His estimate was that an aggregate of about 20 billion dollars will be available to lenders for financing new private dwelling units. Of that sum, VA figures that more than 20 per cent will be employed in GI loans.

Mr. Sweeney promised his hearers that VA will do all in its power to streamline its loan guaranty program further during the coming year and believes it will be able to render relatively speedy service in handling the guaranty.

SENIORS TO MAKE APPLICATION

All seniors must make application for graduation if they plan to graduate in May or August, C. R. Hinshaw, dean of instruction announced. These application blanks must be filled out in order to determine how many diplomas will be ordered. Any senior who has not yet filled out one of these blanks is asked to go to Dr. Hinshaw's office to fill one out.

Twelve Students "Flunk", Nine Seniors Graduate

Registration for the second term of the 1954-1955 school year appears to be breaking the all-time record number of students which was set first semester. To date, 827 students have complete registration.

By the official end of registration, February 11, the number of students will probably be between 850 and 875, at least a 10 student increase over last semester's 854, N. P. Yarbrough, registrar announced.

Twelve students were not permitted to re-register because of insufficient grades. That is, they did not pass nine semester hours of work and therefore do not qualify for reinstatement as bona fide students at this college.

Nine seniors graduated, making a total of 21 students who are not returning.

A considerable number of people have not completed registration because they have financial problems which take time to work out with the college administration. These include various types such as scholarships, working agreements between student and the financial department, and veterans who attend college on the G.I. Bill of Rights.

The final total is expected to be compiled on or before February 12, 1955.

RICHARD COX VOICE RECITAL POSTPONED UNTIL FEBRUARY 15

The voice recital of Richard Cox, HPC choir director originally scheduled for next Tuesday night, February 8, has been postponed until February 15, Mr. Cox announced today.

Cold infections and bad voice were given as the reasons for the postponing of the recital.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Student Government Council next Tuesday night at 7:00 in room 4 in Roberts Hall, SGA president David Abernathy announced. All council members are expected to be present for the meeting, which will include numerous items of business.

Many Outstanding Speakers To Be At HPC This Term

A rare privilege has been accorded the students and faculty of High Point College, in the coming to the campus on March 2 of Dr. and Mrs. Sherwood Eddy. World-famous traveler and speaker, Dr. Eddy has influenced countless groups of students in all parts of the globe. His brilliant writings and speeches have been of immeasurable influence in Christendom. Dr. Eddy will speak at assembly in the morning; no doubt he and Mrs. Eddy will be available for conferences at certain times during the day. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Eddy will speak to the M.S.F.

Another outstanding privilege will be the coming to the campus of Rev. Don Kuhn, from the Methodist Board of Temperance, Washington, D. C. as guest for forums, dorm meetings, coke parties, personal counseling.

On Tuesday, February 1, Alpha Delta Theta had as guest Mrs. W. B. Landrum of the New York office of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, and Miss Betsy Ewing, field representative of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee. On Wednesday, Feb. 2, Rev. Wilson Nesbitt, Executive Secretary for the Western North Carolina Conference Town and Country Commission, met with girls interested in rural summer work; at the Methodist Student Fellowship the same evening, Rev. Robert Regan, State Director of the Methodist Student Movement spoke. At the Baptist Student Fellowship, February 1. On February 7, Dr. M. O. Williams, Missionary Personnel Secretary of the Methodist Board of Missions from New York, met with Kappa Chi and others interested in missions service. Sunday evening, February 20, the Student Christian Council vespers will observe the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. On March 13 for vespers Miss Hilda Gross, student from Germany at Louisburg College, will be speaker.

The Methodist Student Fellowship plans for a special meeting on February 16 with Dr. Kenneth Goodson, now superintendent of the Winston-Salem district of the Methodist church. Later, Senator Kirkman will be a speaker. The State M.S.F. Conference will be at Myers Park Methodist Church, Charlotte, N. C. March 18-20.

Alpha Delta Theta plans for February 15 a music workshop; for February 22, a discussion of the philosophy of Christian education led by Dr. Locke; for March 8, a recreation workshop.

Fellowship Teams

The Fellowship Team Movement is going strong! Teams are requested almost solidly for the forthcoming Sundays of the year, going to churches in the environs of High Point and to same at great distances. A large number of students are participating, under the chairmanship of Faith Sneed.

Business Department Moves To New Quarters

NEW QUARTERS for the business department in the basement of Roberts Hall give the department roomier quarters and more spacious arrangement. The office practice room is shown here with professor Richard Dale instructing a student in the use of one of the machines.

HPC History Repeats Itself

History repeats itself! There is only one great change, the number of students. High Point College enrolled 854 students in the first semester of the 1954-55 school year and from all indications, that all-time record will be passed this semester.

The history of the college has been one of continual growth toward a bigger and better college, both morally and intellectually. This new increase is a notable milestone in the progress being attained. This is especially true considering 21 students are not returning; nine seniors graduated and twelve were not allowed to re-register because they did not meet the standards set forth by the administration. That is, they did not pass nine semester hours of work.

Thus far, 827 students have complete registration and a far larger number are attending classes. The deficit is made up of people who have financial problems which must first be settled before they are actually considered bona fide students of this institution.

To accommodate the increasing number in the classrooms, seven new faculty members have been added. They include: Miss Evelyn Brignull, Mrs. Anne H. Dale, Dr. Leopold M. Hays, Mrs. Charlotte C. Locke, Robert E. McDonald, Mrs. Margaret S. Perkins, Thermo Wolf, Jr.

Most schools, including the larger state-owned universities, are fortunate (and they consider themselves so) to have as many second-semester registrants as they had the first half of the school year. That indicates clearly that High Point College is not a college to be scoffed at by the proud and over-publicized institutions of learning.

We, as students should feel a great sense of pride, knowing that we are attending a progressive college which has requirements as "stiff" as the seemingly more advanced schools.

If you need a guide toward advancement in the intellectual realm, consider carefully the example at High Point College.

After all, soon we will be history too.

Give A Dime To Help A Friend

The value Americans place upon the life and dignity of each individual is not just a civics course platitude. It is a genuine and unique characteristic of our society.

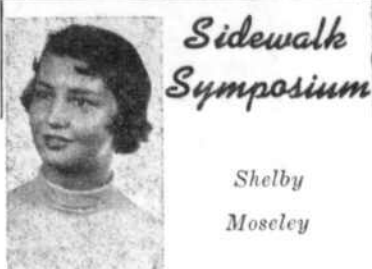

Those of us who have traveled abroad—as tourists or servicemen—know that in many lands the sight of the miserable and ill, huddled in alleys and doorways, is so common that it passes almost unnoticed. In the United States the life or death of a single person may become a matter of national concern . . . a young girl lost in the woods, a kidnapped baby, a child trapped in a well.

We do not attempt to put a price on a single life nor the value of mending it. We know that here we are dealing with the priceless.

Similarly, we refuse to accept the inevitability of disease and suffering. We band together and fight them. An outstanding example of this is the fight against polio through the March of Dimes.

In this fight millions of men and women, believing in their individual importance and in their collective strength, have joined hands in typical American fashion. They move forward with unfailing determination, buttressed by the knowledge that today's research is pointing the way to tomorrow's victory.

For the fight against polio . . . for the task of mending lives . . . give to your 1955 March of Dimes.

Sidewalk Symposium

Question of the week: What is your pet peeve against the opposite sex?

Women . . . about men

"When they slam the door in your face!" peevish Sue Tunstall. That is a rather jarring experience!

Jewell Smith admits, "I've got some, but no comment." Keeping things cooped up inside you is bad for your combustion chamber!

The main peeve expressed by Nancy Miller, advises, "You can't believe anything they tell you."

"Their long lines" (of speech, that is) annoy Carolyn Frazier as well as quite a few "crushed" young ladies.

Mary Stuart is of the belief that "they think too much of themselves." Anyone in particular, Mary?

Judy Seward's pet peeve is for girls as well as boys. She is decidedly agitated by "those who think it is cute to be late—always late."

"Boys who don't shave over a period of time" cause Margaret Westmoreland to fret. They do make a burning impression, don't they??

Men . . . about women

According to Braxton Warner "My pet peeve is when they say, 'No!' Well, now . . ."

Wesley Scott believes, "They're too easily peevish themselves. If everything doesn't go right with them—regardless of the circumstances—they're peeved." (And a married man at that!)

Confronted with the question, Coy Brown exclaims, "About women? There're just not enough of them!" How many more hundreds shall I order, Coy?

Arthur Black has a string of peevish as he will admit, but he especially mentions "the one who always gossips. I don't like gossip unless I'm in on it."

"I hate them! The general atmosphere they create provokes me." These are the striking words of the one and only Norwood Parker. Now, Norwood.

On the contrary, Lane Greene opinion that women have no faults at all. He likes them all! Or, is it that he wants his head left intact?

Tommy MacMahon states, "My one experience is never on time." But she's worth waiting for, eh?

Wilbur Everhart just doesn't like "jabber." Okay, already, that's all!!!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing this for a little crippled boy and girl. They are crippled because at one time they had what many college students do not stop to think about in their daily life—polio.

Their case is only one of countless thousands, but the pain and the suffering they have to endure exists just the same. They are fortunate, because they received aid from the National Polio Foundation; they will be able to walk again, even though the rest of their lives will be marred by using braces, but, thank God, they will walk again.

Yes, the money they needed for their treatment could not come from their dad's pocket—he has been dead since they were little kids. Some of the money came from interested friends and neighbors who were able to help in their small way. But the majority of the money came from the March of Dimes campaign, which is presently underway here in the city.

In their prayers each night, they thank God and Christian people everywhere because they helped them to be able to walk again. They're thanking YOU, if you were one of those who helped them when they couldn't help themselves.

Just one more thing, editor; I hope you will ask all your collegiate friends and classmates to donate a dime for something that really means something to those who need it.

Thanks a million,
A close friend to two polio stricken children

Band

The band has elected its officers—they are: Frank McCulloch, president; Jack Barrier, vice-president; Roy Burchfield, business manager; Regina Dunn, secretary. The band, under the direction of Dr. Lewis is playing for all home basketball games and is planning to make some out of town trips. A concert will be given for the assembly program some time second semester by the band and the choir. The band is also going to play for the May Day review.

Student Recital

A student recital was presented in the rehearsal room on January 12, 1955. The students participating were — Pianists: Barbara Payne, Lannie Marie Wright, Betty Sue Frazier, Libby Murray, Louise Farlow Gauldin. Vocalists: Betty Mullinix, Robert Combs, Shirley Corder, Ellen Torrence. Instrumentalists: Frank McCulloch, trumpet, Alex Melnik, Eugene Watkins, Regina Dunn. The accompanists were Regina Dunn, Sylvia Fox and Richard Cox.

Musical Program

On January 11, a program of American music was presented at the meeting of the Alexander Martin Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The music was presented by Sylvia Fox, Helena Smith, and Jack Peacock. Helena Smith, soprano, sang "I Wonder as I Wander" and "Tell Me, O Blue, Blue Sky." Jack Peacock, baritone, sang "My Days Have Been So Wonderful Free" and "May Maiden." Helena and Jack closed the program by singing a duet, "Why Do I Love You" from "Show Boat." Sylvia Fox played the accompaniments for the program.

Recital

On February 8, 1955, Mr. Richard Cox, head of the voice department at HPC will present a recital, accompanied by Miss Ernestine Fields, head of the piano department. The program will consist of four groups which are: a group of early English songs, a group of French songs, a group of songs by Schubert and a group of modern English songs.

Barbara Payne

Barbara Payne, a freshman at High Point College and a graduate from Rural Hall High School is majoring in Music Education. While at Rural Hall High School, Barbara was the accompanist for the glee club. She was a member of the band in which she won a medal playing the drum. Barbara studied both piano and voice and won superior and excellent ratings in local piano contests. She attended the Rural Hall Methodist Church where she sang in the choir. At High Point College, Barbara is studying piano and voice and is a member of the college choir. Barbara's future plan is to teach music in the public school system.

Avie Gunn

Another music major at High Point College is Avie Gunn from Cambridge, Va. She graduated from Cambridge High School where she was very active in the musical activities of the school. She was in a quartet which sang for chapel programs. She accompanied for various ensemble groups, soloists, talent shows, etc. At High Point College, Avie is a member of the College choir and Woman's chorus. Her future plan is to teach piano and public school music.

Louise Farlow Gauldin

Louise Gauldin is a graduate from Trinity High School. While at Trinity, Louise studied piano for ten years and became a member of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians. After graduating from Trinity High School, she went to Pilgrim's Bible Junior College. While she was there she was a member of the choir and girls' chorus.

Now a junior at High Point College, Louise is studying piano from Miss Fields. Louise is a member of the College Choir. She teaches piano and directs the Glee Club at the Archdale School. She is also organist at the First Pilgrim's Church. Her future plan is to teach music in the public school system.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is making final plans for the Sig Ep Ball to be held in Raleigh March 5.

A party has been planned for February 18, at the Marietta Cabin. The party will be with dates with a stag party afterwards.

The Sig Ep flying five basketball team is undefeated. Two games have been played, one with the "Shotguns" and another with Lambda Chi. The team is coached by Paul Stanton.

The fraternity is planning to initiate the pledges who received their C average in about two weeks.

Pi Kappa Alpha

The annual Pika Gangster Ball will be held February 12 at the policeman Club in Greensboro. Much planning has gone into making this ball a success. Alumni as well as brothers will be there. They are planning to have a band.

A birthday for Al Finley and Jack Parks was held at Gregory's in Greensboro last Saturday night.

Plans for the Dream Girl Ball are being made. The ball will be held in April at Winston-Salem.

Theta Chi

The Epsilon Alpha Chapter sends with brother Jim Cummings their sincere best wishes as he goes into the air force. They also congratulate Al and Reba Munn who were married last Saturday.

The Theta Chi's are centering their plans around bringing into their brotherhood about ten pledges on the week-end of Feb. 18-20. Also plans are being made to attend the regional meeting of Theta Chi at Durham on the week end of March 4-6.

The Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity is planning a "Break After Exam" social Saturday January 22, 1955. This will be a get together of brothers, alumni, faculty advisors, and pledges with dates. David Holt is responsible for planning the party assisted by Gattis Bullard and Bob Dixon.

Delta Sigma Phi

The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity is really planning something big for this new year. The members of the fraternity are having a stag party January 29, at the home of president, Hardy Tew, in Haw River. They will spend the night there and attend church together the next day. Their sign is almost completed and is going to be put up soon.

The Delta Sigma Phi banquet and dance will be in May at the Emerywood Country Club. Plans have been made to make this a successful and wonderful occasion. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Fraizer who recently announced their marriage.

HPC INFIRMARY — Most of last week.

'Nursie, I'm sick, I think, I have four degrees of temperature, my stomach is upside down, my head feels like a coconut that's rolled down a beach, and I can't breathe except through my nose and my mouth.'

That's what I told the nurse last week. She took my word, gave me an aspirin, and put me to bed for the flu (Greek for 'nothing feels good').

I went into the sick bay, cranked the bed up high so I could get a good look at all the girls passing, put on my loudest and brightest colored pajamas, and settled back to try and enjoy myself as much as I could while I was there. Just as I was beginning to get used to the place, the nurse came in with a thermometer in her hand; 'lie down and rest; you're a sick person!' 'But I'm not dead,' I argued back at her, thinking I could halfway enjoy myself. She popped the thermometer in my mouth, triumphantly settling the argument.

After I got settled for a nice little nap, she came in, needle in hand, ready to give me a shot. 'Roll over' she said, aiming the needle. 'Not on your life,' I answered sarcastically, 'you can make my arm sore and I can still sleep, but when you jab the other section of my anatomy, I've had it!' She pinched up a hunk of skinny arm, aimed the needle like a sharpshooter, and bam, right in the muscle.

I thought to myself, maybe I'll get a little nap now. I did. It was good while it lasted. When I woke up several hours later, I felt worse than I had when I went to sleep. My head was reeling, my stomach going around like a mixing bowl, and my mouth tasted like the bottom of a river after a muddy rain.

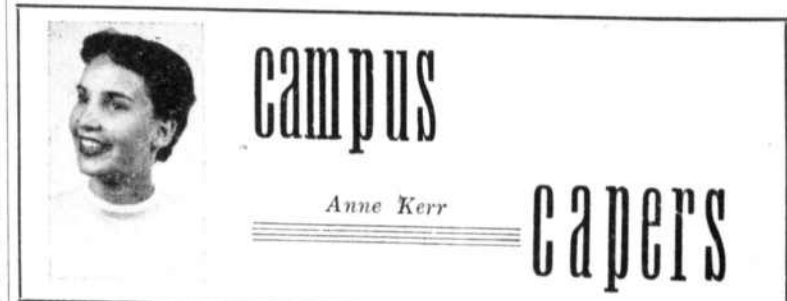

My joints ached as though I had slept in a cement mixer. I didn't feel like breathing at all, my chest ached so badly every time I expired. I felt rough, rugged and raunchy.

About the time I was almost wide awake, several visitors came in to bring flowers and ask the nearest of kin. They were sitting on the beds, chatting among themselves and having a jolly time when the nurse came in to give me another shot. She took one look at the crowd, shouted something about visiting hours, and threatened to give them all a pill and a shot if they didn't vacate, and fast. They left, post haste.

I suffered the pangs of dehydration, aching muscles, and general despondency for about three days and the nurse asked me if I felt like leaving. Naturally I said yes and started to get everything together to leave. 'I'll let you out on probation; if you start feeling bad, you have to come back,' she told me as I staggered out the door, still a little weak in the knees.

As far as she knows, I felt OK after I left. If I had stayed in that place another day or two, I really would have been sick.

I don't think I want the flu any more. I'd rather have pneumonia, they have a cure for that.

Since I have had a month's vacation from writing this column, beware! I am just bubbling over with plenty of news about you, the students of High Point College.

Before I go any further with this chat, I want to welcome all the new students and faculty members to HPC, and bid a final farewell to those who heard those far away places calling. I am sure you new HPCers will love this school as much as we do; it's great!

I am sure you have all noticed that the No 22 basketball suit has been filled with a new player. He is Jack Powell, a former H.P.H.S. cage star; and just for the facts, girls, he is married. Welcome, Jack.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity had a fabulous Founder's Day banquet and dance in Raleigh about two week ends ago. It is a memorable occasion to Joe Horney and Barbara Waggoner, Patsy White and David Moore, Patsy Cranford and David Wagoner, Louise Kennedy and Jim Stanley, Jim Hall and Ann Moser, June Crews and Ray Skidmore, Ann Hulin and Bob Carrigan, Horney King, Bob Fowler, Bob Darden, and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Palmer.

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity is having its annual Gangsters' Ball this month. Many of the girls over in Woman's Hall have been busy making their dresses and planning their outfits. I am sure you will have a wonderful time—don't the Pikas always?

It seems to me that Dan Cupid must have transferred to HPC according to all the new romances budding on campus. Trixie and Marilyn are together every possible chance; Phyllis Gant and Bob Carrol, and Nancy Morris and Ray Wicker make very cute couples.

Sonny Lee joined Uncle Sam and his fight for peace the first of January. Everyone will surely miss Sonny and his dancing.

Paul (or "Dink" to many of you) Nash visited with his fraternity brothers and friends the first of the week. "Dink" has been stationed in Germany for several months, and we are all glad he is back. Welcome home!

Have a happy Valentines Day, and oh, by the way, "Will you be my Valentine?"

Women, All About 'Em

By Robert Dixon
Special Hi-Po Staff Writer

The newly discovered element, 104, called woman, is a member of the human family and has been assigned the symbol Wo. The accepted atomic weight is 120, although a number of isotopes have been identified having a number of weights, ranging from 95 to 400.

OCCURRENCES: It is abundant in nature and is found in both the free and combined states, usually associated with men. That found in one's own locality is much preferred.

PHYSICAL PROPERTIES: A number of allotropic forms have been observed, their density, transparency, hardness, color, and boiling points varying within wide limits. The color exhibited by many specimens is a surface phenomenon and is usually due to closely adhering powder. It has been found that an unpolished specimen tends to turn green in the presence of a highly polished one. The boiling point for some is quite low, while others are likely to freeze at any moment. All varieties melt under proper treatment. The taste varies from sweet to bitter depending on the environment.

CHEMICAL PROPERTIES: The element woman (Wo) absorbs, without dissolving in, a number of liquids. Seemingly unlimited quantities of expensive food can be absorbed. Some varieties catalyze the food into fat in accordance with the formula: $PV/RT=K$, where P is the pressure of the vest and RT is the roll of the tummy. Many naturally occurring varieties are highly magnetic. In general this magnetism varies inversely with the cube of the age. Some varieties tend to form Anne-ions, others Cat-ions. Their ionic migrations vary widely. All varieties exhibit great affinity for Ag, Au, Pt, and for precious stones in both chain and ring structure. The valence toward these substances is high. Its study is complicated by the fact that residual valence is never satisfied. Many stable and unstable unions have been described (the latter in the Daily News), some varieties being highly explosive and highly dangerous in inexperienced hands. In general, they tend to explode spontaneously if left alone by men. The application of pressure to different specimens of Wo produces such a variety of results as to defy the principle of Le Chatelier.

USES: Highly ornamental, wide application in the arts and domestic sciences. Wo may act as a positive or negative catalyst as the case may be. It is useful as a tonic in the alleviation of suffering, sickness, low spirits, etc. It is a very efficient cleansing agent and is used to equalize the distribution of wealth. IT IS PROBABLY THE MOST POWERFUL INCOME-REDUCING AGENT KNOWN:

A Dream Is A Wish
Your Heart Makes

Do you have a dream? I wonder if we took a poll on the question how many would be uncertain, maybe not have one, or what is worse than either of these, how many would be ashamed to admit having a dream, would act apologetic and sheepish?

Too often our generation is accused of not having ideals. Maybe we can't be blamed for this. With the possibility of complete annihilation staring us in the face, it is hard to look up; but remember it takes more courage and even higher ideals to stand up in the face of great odds. There are other reasons why youngsters lose sight of their stars. Cynicism is one of the bitterest enemies of idealism. You have heard the saying, "there is no prude like the reformed rake." It might also be said that there is no cynic like the ex-idealist. Ridicule, laziness, and abandonment all take their share in forming the blanket that smothers the fire of our ideals.

Do you remember your high school class prophecy? Imagine yourself at a class reunion twenty years from now. How many of those prophecies will have come true? What of the boy who was chosen "most likely to succeed" or the girl who was going to write the great American novel, or the girl who was going to be another Pavlova? Maybe they haven't reached the heights yet, but at least that hope is still alive—or is it? Have their dreams been destroyed by cynicism, ridicule, laziness, or abandonment, or are their dreams still lighting their everyday lives with promise of fulfillment? It isn't necessarily attaining your goal that makes life worth living; it is that striving and working toward it which puts that extra spark in life.

Remember that "dreams are like stars." You can't touch them with your hand, but if you are lost in a desert they will guide you to your destination."

POLIO RATE RISES

ing evaluated in a tremendous statistical operation directed by Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr. and his staff at the University of Michigan. Their findings will be ready this spring.

"If the vaccine is found to be effective and is licensed," Mr. O'Connor said, "it will be offered at no charge for the product to some of the nation's most susceptible groups for immediate use."

The National Foundation, Mr. O'Connor said, will spend $9,000,000 to purchase enough vaccine for all children throughout the U. S. who took part in the 1954 vaccine field trials but did not receive vaccine, all children enrolled in the first grade of public, private and parochial schools in the United States in the spring of 1955 (estimated at 4,825,000 children) and all women who are pregnant for 12 weeks or more in the period from April 1 through Sept. 30, 1955. This will be used only if the vaccine is licensed.

Even with an effective vaccine, Mr. O'Connor went on, it will be several years before the majority of our population can be inoculated so that the incidence of polio can be sharply cut.

This research, while pointing the way to victory over polio, also has given scientists clues to the conquest of other diseases, especially those caused by viruses. Mr. O'Connor believes that the record of accomplishment of American scientists, backed financially by the American people through the March of Dimes, demonstrates the partnership between scientists and public that has resulted in new hope for the conquest of polio and other diseases.

Nominations For 1955 SGA Officers Are Open For Two Week Period

Nominations for officers of the 1955-56 Student Government Association officers have been formally opened, according to David Abernathy, SGA president. The period for nominating candidates for the four offices opened last Wednesday, March 2 and will close March 16. Any person or organization wishing to nominate a student for the office of president, vice-president, secretary or treasurer of the SGA must write the name of the nominee on a piece of paper, sign their name, and hand it to Pat Martin, SGA secretary or place it in the suggestion box in the foyer of Roberts Hall.

According to the regulations for elections in the recently passed SGA constitution, these rules must be followed before a person is properly nominated. This new system of nominations replaces the verbal nominations during assembly programs. The rules governing the elections are found in Article 6, Section 3. The president must come from the rising junior class, the vice-president from the rising junior class, and the secretary and the treasurer must come from either the rising junior or senior class. Any nominee, to be eligible as a candidate, must have a 'C' average to qualify.

All candidates for office will make a short campaign speech in the March 23 assembly program. In addition to the candidates nominated by members of the student body, the SGA will nominate a slate of officers to be presented at the same assembly on March 23.

Campaigns for these candidates will begin Wednesday, March 23, the same day as the campaign speeches, and elections will be held the following Monday and Tuesday, March 28-29, in the Student Center. All voting will be done with the official voting machine that is used in city elections. In case of a runoff election, the voting will be held Thursday and day, March 31, April 1 to determine the winner.

After these elections have been completed, the Student Legislature and the Judiciary Council will be set up. All organizations which will have representatives either of these branches must elect their delegates no later than April 22.

DR. EDDY TELLS OF EXPERIENCES AND INFLUENCES

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, famous lecturer, spoke in assembly Wednesday, March 2. Introduced by Dr. Rozelle as "a servant of Christ throughout the world for fifty years," Dr. Eddy first told of some of the people who had influenced his life. One of those was Moody, of whom Dr. Eddy said, "Before he had spoken fifteen minutes the spirit of God began to creep into my selfish, hard heart."

Another person who had a great influence on his life was Stag, a great athlete of his time. He had in his room a stock of baseballs, each a souvenir of some great game that he had played. In one particularly hard game Stag recalled that he had to win the game practically single-handed: "I prayed every ball I pitched, that game," he said. He prayed everything he did, and Yale was on a higher moral ground for the next 20 years because of him.

Dr. Eddy said, "There is too much strife in the world—strife between rich and poor, strife in race, strife between capital and labor, strife between nations." He pointed out that there is something wrong with our justice. "The rich are still robbing the poor, just as they were in the time of Amos the prophet, many years ago." Another thing he pointed out was the lack of brotherhood in the world. He said he was disappointed in the way the South was carrying out the decision of the Supreme Court. "There are two ways to be in this world, self-centered or God-centered, he went on to say. 'The joy of the Lord is the beginning of life,' he concluded.

Dr. Eddy was in the faculty lounge at 4 o'clock for conferences and autographed copies of his biography at that time.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND CONTEST TO BE AT HPC

BY HELENA SMITH
Hi-Po Music Editor

High Point College will serve as host to the annual high school district band and orchestra contest March 18 in an all day program. The event, expected to attract more than a thousand high school students from this area, will draw 17 bands and orchestras from high schools playing for ratings.

Facilities of HPC to be made available for the contest are the Student Center, where the bands will warm up, the Music Hall, and Memorial Auditorium, where the bands will play for judging. Dr. Lew J. Lewis, head of the department of music, is planning the event. He urges that all students cooperate in the problem of parking space for the visitors.

Judges

The judges for the contest are: Earl Slocom, University of North Carolina; George Dickinson, W.C. UNC and Herbert Hazelman from the Greensboro city schools. Dr. Charles Taylor, director of music in the High Point city schools is the chairman of the contests which will include choral and piano contests held at the senior high school building.

The handling of the festival will be shared by students and teachers of the high school music departments. Richard Cox, choir director, will be in charge of the contests as Dr. Lewis will be judging a music contest at Salisbury on that day.

EVELYN BRIGNULL
... Espanol, anybody?

MISS BRIGNULL FINDS HPC INTERESTING

Miss Evelyn Brignull, newcomer to High Point College finds the students and other faculty members 'interesting.' A professor of both English and Spanish, she likes the atmosphere at the College and finds her work fascinating as well as interesting.

Miss Brignull is a native of Trenton, Tennessee received her A.A. degree from Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri. She went on in her studies, obtaining her B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Alabama. She did further study at the National University of Mexico, Mexico City and at Memphis State College in Memphis, Tennessee.

Last year she taught at William and Mary College in Virginia.

Among her hobbies she rates reading as her most enjoyable pastime.

LAMBDA CHI TO AWARD TROPHY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity of High Point College is planning to award this year for the first time a trophy to the fraternity on the HPC campus for the highest scholastic improvement.

The fraternity is presenting the trophy as a challenge to the fraternities to improve their scholastic standings in competition with the other fraternities on campus.

The trophy is to be presented annually as a memorial to L. C. Ellis, a former member of Lambda Chi Alpha and president of the Student Government Association for 1953-'54.

The fraternity hopes to inspire fraternity men at HPC to dedicate their lives in service to their fellow men as they feel Ellis did.

HPC STUDENTS ATTEND GREENSBORO MEETING

Three High Point College students attended a meeting of the Interim Council of the Student Legislative Assembly Sunday afternoon, February 20. The students, members of the Interim Council, who went to the meeting are David Abernathy, Koy Dawkins, and Ernie Ball.

The Interim Council is the planning group for the Student Legislative Assembly which is held annually at the state capitol in Raleigh. The discussion centered around plans for the assembly next fall.

The meeting was held at W.C. U.N.C. in Greensboro, and representatives from approximately 20 colleges were present. The next meeting is planned in April at N. C. State College in Raleigh.

Tower Players' Third Production

"Glass Menagerie" Meets With Success

We might not have any gold Oscars to award our budding actors here at HPC, but we do have a few verbal Oscars to hand out to the members of the Tower Players for their wonderful performances in "The Glass Menagerie." Tennessee Williams' prize-winning play was presented on the stage of Memorial Auditorium last Wednesday, February 23.

Top honors go to Fred Herbert who played Tom Wingfield with uncanny insight into his character. Tom, who in his longing to escape from the narrow confines of his St. Louis home, makes a wish as he stands on the fire escape watching the "little silver slipper of a moon" rising over Garfinkel's delicatessen.

Credit is due Sara Hamilton for capturing those qualities in the comic yet pathetic person of Amanda Wingfield—the comic with her "Rise and shine!" and her tragically pathetic "What's to become of us?"

And a toast to Mary Alice Milbury who portrayed the character of Laura—Laura, the shy little creature almost too fragile to be alive, so like the little glass unicorn who, even though he was different from the other horses, never complained.

To Carl Dorsett goes an honorable mention for his role as Jim O'Connór—the freckle-faced philosopher who "might be disappointed, but not discouraged;" who, in clumsily knocking over the little glass unicorn and breaking off his horn, made him "just like the other horses." As the play leaves us with only our imagination, we might pretend that as Jim did to the little glass unicorn, so he did to Laura. In breaking off that invisible horn which separated her from the rest of the world, he made her just like everybody else.

Special lighting effects, a gauze curtain, soft music—these were a few of the qualities which created a dreamlike atmosphere, and a special note of appreciation goes to Galen Hill, Vincent Leong, John Abernathy, and David Abernathy, and the entire production staff.

Congratulations especially to Miss Jane DeSpain who directed the production. The weeks of preparation and effort which went into the presentation resulted in an effect not soon to be forgotten.

Ralph Marterie To Come To HPC For First Annual 'Spring Frolics' Dance

Ralph Marterie and his Downbeat Orchestra are coming to High Point College.

The famous nationally known band will be on the High Point College campus for the first of "big name" dance in the history of the College. Marterie will play a concert from 7:30-8:30 and a dance from 9:00-12:00 April 27 for the annual Spring Frolics, sponsored by the Student Government Association. Bids to both events are now on sale by any member of the Arrangements Committee of the Spring Frolics or at the College bookstore. Prices are concert, $1.50 a person, dance $3.00 stag or drag, or combination (both events), $5.00 a couple.

Sales on the tickets at bid prices were opened last Wednesday, March 2 and will close in two weeks, March 16. After that date, no tickets at these prices will be sold. Regular tickets will be concert, $2.00 a person, dance, $4.00 stag or drag, and no combination tickets will be offered. These prices include federal and state tax.

The concert, to be in Memorial Auditorium, will feature smooth and jazz numbers, most of them previous Mercury Recordings. The dance will be held in Harrison Gymnasium, a formal affair, no flowers.

The dance is being sponsored by the Student Government Association. The dance committee is headed by David Abernathy, SGA president; the committee is subdivided into three groups, arrangements, decorations, and publicity. Dick Hensdale heads the arrangements committee, Sue Gamble heads the decorations committee, and Dick Owens heads the publicity committee.

Bid sales are being pushed due to a stipulation in the contract with Marterie. The Dance Committee must raise a necessary amount to make the contract legal, and there is a deadline on the date for the money to be turned over to the booking agent.

Abernathy stated that the dance was "going to be the biggest HPC has ever had." He also added that Spring Frolics were planned for the benefit of the student body in an all out effort to start a practice of having a big name band every year.

A sophomore class meeting was held February 21 with twenty five members and one advisor present and Johnny Mann, class president, in charge.

Delores Stephens, a transfer student from Woman's College, was elected as a May Court attendant to replace Pat Paschal, who was unable to return this semester.

Also decided at the meeting were plans for a square dance, held in the gymnasium last night, March 3. The dance, with Elwood Mabry as caller, was open to the entire student body for an admission fee of fifteen cents a person. Mary Ruth Smiley headed the publicity committee, while Jahala Eudy took charge of the refreshments.

MIKE JANIS IS ELECTED NEW VETS CLUB HEAD

Mike Janis, sophomore from High Point was elected president of the HPC Veterans Club, replacing Paul Hampton, former president who is not enrolled at HPC this semester. Janis was elected president at a regular meeting of the club Wednesday, February 23.

Other business to come before the club included the selection of a committee to draw up a resolution to submit to the administration pledging the club's support of the administrator and the student body.

The Club will hold a meeting today at 10:20 in Memorial Auditorium. Copies of the Veterans Club constitution will be distributed to the members present. Attendance by all veterans is urged.

HPC TO SEND FBLA MEMBERS TO STATE MEET

Fifteen delegates from HPC will attend a state-wide meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America next week. The convention, an annual affair, will last three days, beginning March 11 and ending March 13.

One of the featured items of business will be the contests in which the various delegates will participate. Two HPC delegates will participate in these contests. Sara Martin will enter the spelling contest and Pete Frazier is writing a paper on a phase of the creed of FBLA; there will be an award given for the best paper submitted.

Jim Brown, president of the local chapter stated that state officers would be elected. Ramona Courie is outgoing state historian for the organization.

The three day sessions will end Saturday night with a banquet and dance.

Brown stated that there would be a meeting of the delegates planning to attend the convention Monday at 10:20 in room 5 of Roberts Hall.

HI-PO MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Hi-Po staff, both business and editorial Monday at 10:20 in the Hi-Po office. All staff members must be present. The business staff will plan an advertising schedule for the book review, editor David Abernathy, announced.

KAPPA DELTA SORORITY TO SPONSOR BENEFIT BRIDGE PARTY

The Kappa Delta sorority of HPC will sponsor a benefit bridge party March 8, next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the YMCA. The party will be held in the all purpose room of the YMCA on the second floor. Bridge and canasta will be played.

Highlighting the evening will be a fashion show staged by the Adams Shop which will furnish the clothing to be modeled. Among the girls modeling will be Jean Griffith, Barbara Going, Mary Alice Milbury, Patsy Cranford, Connie Grant, Jewell Smith, Phyllis Gantt, Vivian Jennings, Pat Jordan, Lorraine McCurry, Pat Lineberger, Shirley Jones, Nancy Crews, Barbara Payne, Jo Lutz, Harriet Shelton, Barbara Wilson, Delores Stevens, and Carol Groth. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Kappa Delta sorority.

SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS

The week of March 7-12, next week, has been set aside as special or make up exam week. If a student has a condition of any sort he should arrange to remove it during that time. Any students expecting to take an examination must go by the office of the Dean of Instruction to get a permit.

Question of the Week:

If You Had Five Minutes To Live, What Would You Do?

Phyllis Yountz confides that she would not waste any seconds getting to Ohio to spend her final minutes inhaling the soft breezes with her main interest. I know transportation is fast these days, but . . .

"I wouldn't know until that time comes, but I'd have myself some fun I'm sure," asserts T. R. Hendrix. As if he ever did anything else! Some people never get enough.

Thoughtful Garland Gammon admits he would "think of Romans 8. The Imitation of Christ, and the virtue of the absurd, whisper a profound prayer of thankfulness and gratitude for life, leave a note of faith and courage for those in struggle and despair. In view of all this death can't be discussed in an academic sense, only eternal; and every personality contains its own kingdom and mind." A busy and will spent five minutes, I'd say.

Close to nature and God is where Louanna Prince desires to die. According to her, she would "take a long last look around at the outdoors and then keel over."

Nancy Jo Kennedy would "get ready to die. Then if I had an extra minute, well—"Don't tell her what she means—let her figure it out for herself.

"After thinking about all the blessings I've had throughout life, I would die happy," alleges Voncele Linthicum. Go down smiling, eh?

Dick Wilson would "live it up" in contrast to Stanley Broadway, who guesses he would "start praying." Kinda late date to start praying — but better late than never so they say.

To occupy her last minutes, Betsy Hedgecock would do "what a friend of mine did when she knew she was dying—try to console my parents." An orchid to you, Betsy, for such an unselfish act.

Mild lamentation is expressed by Carl Nigh, who would "get on his knees and start praying for all this mess he's been doing." Not a bad idea for the general public.

As most people probably would, Don Andrews believes he would "mentally relive his years." Then, according to Don, "I'd write out my will."

Will 5 minutes do or is your savings account slim?

"I'd get ready to die; then die," affirms Betty Sawyer simply. There's nothing like being prepared before you expire.

A Bit Of Philosophy

Such Is Life!

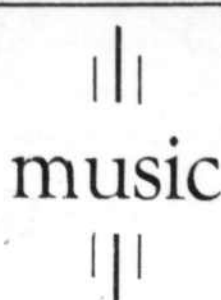

Allen de Hart

Too old to be a college student? Piffle! Excluding our second childhood, we may live to be 92 and think it treason to put aside our textbooks. Whether seventy or seventeen, there is in every heart the love of wonder, the amazement of the infinite, the challenge of tomorrow, and our youthful appetite for the joy to live!

There are those who contend, "Throw your dusty old books in the closet and live while you may. You are pushing thirty—half your gone." For a moment I consider, but I'll pacify myself with thoughts of winning the old-age sweepstakes. And while I pose on the brink of being a centenarian, I may choose to review my college textbooks. It's quite easy to forget the symptoms of senile dementia.

We don't grow old by merely a number of years. My philosophy is that the desertion of our ideals make us old. Perhaps most of us would like to be a practicing Methuselah if it were not for the increase in our life insurance premiums. I think General MacArthur's motto: "Youth is not a time of life—it is a state of mind." is good for me . . . and you! (And don't forget the women who are minus chronological age.)

"You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your hope, and as old as your despair." Anonymous

COLLEGE CHOIR

On February 20, 1955 the College Choir sang for the Trinity Methodist Church in Winston-Salem. The numbers included: "Beautiful Saviour" by Christiansen with Ruby Hallman as soloist. "Salvation is Created" and "O Praise Ye God." The speaker was Dr. W. R. Locke of the religion department of High Point College.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

On March 16 the Senior High school Orchestra under the direction of Miss Virginia Frank will present a program of music for the assembly hour.

The band and choral groups of High Point College under the direction of Dr. Lewis and Mr. Cox, will present a program of music for the assembly hour on March 30.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE DAY

On March 6, several people from the music department will represent the college in the observance of High Point College Day. They include: Ellen Torrence, Ruby Hallman, Helena Smith, Richard Cox, Jack Peacock, and Dr. Lew Lewis.

CONCERT BAND

It looks as if the Concert Band is going to be quite busy during the remainder of the year. Besides giving a joint program with the choral groups on March 30, the band is going to play at the Glenn High School, Denton High School and Randleman High School.

KAPPA DELTA

During the installation of the Gamma Gamma Chapter of Kappa Delta, Mrs. Julia Ober, national president, installed the new officers. They are: Mary Lou Lanier, president; Beverly Heavner, secretary; Sylvia Fox, treasurer and convention delegate; Sue Butt, assistant treasurer; and Bobbie Turner, membership chairman.

Marthelaine Reavis, our only married member received the "Most Outstanding Pledge Award for 1954-1955." Congratulations Marthelaine! You have done a wonderful job.

The KD's are now busily working on a Benefit Bridge and Fashion show to be at the YMCA March 8. We hope everyone will come to the benefit bridge (poker may be used as a substitute) and watch our HPC girls model the beautiful spring clothes from the Adams Shop.

SIGMA ALPHA PHI

Sigma Alpha Phi has recently taken Miss Brignull as a sorority advisor in addition to Miss Idol and Mrs. Whicker.

On March 11, the members of Sigma Alpha and the boys of TKE will get together as brother and sister groups for a Sigma-TKE party.

LAMBDA ALPHA PHI

Lambda Alpha Phi has set the date of March 5, as the date for their sorority banquet at the YMCA here in High Point.

PHI MU

On Saturday, February 26, from 2:30-4:30 the Phi Mu's held their initiation of new members at the Methodist Church. Those being initiated were Shirley Caudill, Avie Gunn, Libby Hutchins, and Mrs. Louise Ellison Hardy of Georgia.

All old and new members will meet with the Phi Mu Alumnae Chapter Monday, February 28, at 7:30 for the first ritual meeting following the initiation.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The gangster ball was a great success and everyone really had a ball. Thanks are due to the pledges who presented this annual affair.

A formal meeting was held Monday night, Feb. 21 at the Optimist Club here in High Point.

School. These performances will be during the month of March. In addition to these performances, the band will present a spring concert. Dr. Lewis is writing four things which will be included in this concert. They will consist of two tuba solos with band accompaniment, one drum solo and one full band number.

CONTESTS

On March 18 district band and orchestra contest will be held on the campus of High Point College. The handling of the festival will be shared by students and teachers of the college and high school music departments. Mr. Cox will be in charge of the contest since Dr. Lewis will be judging a music contest at Catawba College. This is the third year that Dr. Lewis has been a judge in this contest. The contest will consist of high school choral groups who will be singing for ratings.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Lewis will present its annual spring concert on April 3.

MUSIC SCHOLARSHIP

The Women's Club of High Point is offering a $100.00 scholarship for a high school senior who plans to major in music in college. Dr. Lewis, Mr. Cox and Miss Fields have been asked to judge this contest. The contest will be held in the Music Building of High Point College.

I have an anti-social room mate. He's definitely a quiet one, and, I might add, the hermit type.

He leaves our room in McCulloch Hall only to go to classes and to meals. The rest of the time he spends in silent contemplation—sleeping. He sleeps every afternoon, waking only to eat and study, then back to bed. I can go to our room any time in the afternoon, stumble in the dark looking for something while he sleeps, constantly sleeps.

Yes he's definitely anti-social. Poor fellow. He doesn't know what he's missing. He has dated only five times since he's been at High Point College, and he's a junior. He really doesn't know what he's missing. Anyway, he went to a formal dance at WCUNC last Saturday night.

I don't know how he came about getting the date—I think somebody arranged the affair for him, because he would never get up enough courage to ask a girl himself. At any rate, he got a date, and Saturday afternoon, after his infernal snoring slumber, he got up, ready to dress in his "mokey suit." He had been worrying all week about how to act, what to say, the steps to dance and everything that goes along with getting ready to go to a formal.

He jumped off his top bunk, hit the floor with a crash, and started mumbling about something I haven't understood yet. He went to take a shower, taking a chair with him so he wouldn't have to stand up. As the water trickled down, I could hear him singing, using the word a little loosely—he sounded like a sick parking meter trying to cough up a nickel. After a long shower and a quick shave, he started to dress. I've seen monkeys at the zoo, but this topped them all. He tried for five minutes to figure out where the studs were supposed to go with his ordinary dress shirt. He couldn't find a place, so he carried them in his pocket.

He finally got all his tux on properly, along with the help of four fraternity brothers, and was ready to go, down to the finishing touch of sprinkling a bit a stinking after-shave lotion on his face. Then he remembered that he was going to have to dance. He couldn't intermission too well because he didn't know what to say or do, so he had to keep his date preoccupied on the dance floor. He started sweating, trying to remember the steps. (He took one dance lesson at a local studio and learned three steps.)

He practiced dancing around the room with a broom, dressed to high heaven in a formal. That was a sight I'll never forget. My room mate, going to a formal, of all things, waltzing with a broom. Poor fellow—I bet he felt as out of place as a bedbug in the Waldorf Astoria.

He left to go to the dance, so nervous that he forgot to take his billfold, watch, and the last time I saw him that night, he was going out the door, muttering, wearing one blue sock and one green one.

Since he's sweated that one through, I doubt that he'll ever attempt it again.

Now that the tournaments are over, maybe we can settle down to the normal routine of college life again. The students are so very proud of our basketball team, and the cheerleaders are equally proud of the school spirit the student body displayed at the tournaments. Thanks to each one of you that supported our team, our school, and our cheerleaders by going to the games. I think everyone was more than willing to donate vocal chords to the worthy cause.

Have you noticed all the cases of spring fever around campus? It won't be long now until the winter will be just a memory, and spring will be here in all her glory. There will be trips to the beach (Myrtle, of course, if it is rebuilt by then), sunbaking, and that big formal that everyone has been looking forward to. The Spring Frolics will be held April 27, 1955, in Harrison Gymnasium, with Ralph Marterie and his orchestra furnishing the music. The prom will be strictly formal, but the boys will not send flowers. Make your plans early to attend the dance by asking that special someone now, and by getting your tickets now from a member of the arrangements committee.

The Sig Eps are having their annual dance and banquet this weekend in Raleigh with Betty Ann Tysinger and Koy Dawkins, Pert Pettyman and Bill Tyson, Gabby Garrett and Larry Burwell, Shirley Caudle and Stan Baker, Jane Thornhill and Paul Stanjon, and Shirley Jones and Walt Moore expected to be there. Enjoy yourselves because it is later than you think!

It seems to me that the Lambda Chis are following suit, or had the same idea as the Sig Eps, because they are planning their biggest dance of the year this week end at the Lexington Country Club. I imagine that Jean Ruffy and Graig Kester, Barbara Goings and Joe Widenhouse, Betsy Rouse and Fuzz Cranford, and Dolores Stephens and Harry Gray will have a very favorable report of the event. I hate to gripe all the time, but how about YOU giving me some news for next issue about yourself. That is the only way that this column can be what you want. How about it?

I better close for now, because my roommate is about to have a fit because the lights are on. Until next issue, I'll BCNU.

ACROSS THE Editor's DESK

The Spring Frolics Depend On You

The Student Government Association has taken a step forward for the benefit of the music loving students of HPC. In contracting Ralph Marterie and his orchestra to play for the Spring Frolics, concert and dance, they have accomplished a beginning step in putting HPC on the 'Big Time' map. It will undoubtedly be the biggest social event of the year, and we feel that is an understatement.

It will take a lot of work on the part of the Dance Committee to make the Spring Frolics a success for this year and make it possible for HPC to have big name bands in the future. You can have their assurance that they will do their best. As for the dance, the money you invest in buying a ticket will be a good investment. Ralph Marterie was voted by a Downbeat Poll as the most promising band of the year 1954 and tied with Ray Anthony as second best band for playing dance music in America.

As to the cost of the tickets, some members of the student body have complained that the price is too high. That is an unfair criticism. Ask a friend who attends another college or university the price of the bids for a dance with a big name band. Then be thankful that we can have a big name band, remembering too that the first year is always the hardest.

There is one point where the dance committee and the student body as a whole must come together—that is on the sale of bid tickets. The dance committee must raise sufficient money to make the contract stand and have some for the expenses of the concert and dance. The SGA dance committee is depending on YOU to buy a bid . . . they even went so far as to make a special price, lower than the price of regular tickets. They had to limit the time for the sale of these tickets, so now, the success of the Spring Frolics depends on YOU!

Think Twice, Then Nominate Wisely

In picking nominees for the officers of next year's Student Government Association, you as a student will have your voice in your government affairs. We of the Hi-Po staff would like to see the interest in student government maintained through the coming elections. The people who are nominated will be campaigning to get your vote. Before they can run, they must be nominated. The time to start thinking about next year's SGA officers has come.

Next year's Student Government Association officers and student government for HPC will depend on the nominees you select to operate next year's set up. Their task will be no easy one—they will have the job of organizing and setting up operations for the most revolutionary change in student government that has even been made at HPC.

You owe an obligation to yourself and your college in choosing wisely the officials who will govern you next year and begin the operation of the history making form of government we are going to have next year.

Their task is unparalleled; the job will be no light one, for any person connected with it. Think twice, and nominate wisely.

Panthers Lose Out In Semi-Finals Of North State Tourney

Maultsby's Mumblin's

Charlie Maultsby

THE END OF THE BASKETBALL SEASON

Basketball is over for the Purple Panthers for the 1954-55 season. It has been a rough road for the Panthers, the coach, and the fans alike. We have witnessed some closely contested games, some sorry referred games, and incidentally, a few well referred games. At times the Panthers looked like would-be champions and at other times they were cooler than the proverbial cucumber.

The High Point five wound up the conference season with five wins and eleven losses to place sixth in the season standings and they went into the tournament seeded against East Carolina. Tournament games included, we had a final conference record of six wins and 12 losses.

This year's team was not the best that has ever been at HPC, and, on the other hand, it was not the worst. To hear some of the die-hard students after the tournament, you would think it was the worst. The team did not get destructive criticism from those students, but the coach did. One student said that the coach took Huegele out just when he was getting 'hot' in the ACC game. For that student's information, Huegele got only three points, so how could he be 'hot'? He was trying to win the game and to please the students, but because the team lost, he had to be given the blame by those students. In my estimation this does not come out to be school spirit.

One professor said wisely, following the game, that if we had beaten ACC and had lost to Lenoir Rhyne, the coach would have been criticized, and had we beaten Lenoir Rhyne and gone to the N.A.I.A. tourney and lost, the coach would receive the same. It seems that the only way out for a coach is to beat everyone in the USA, and I venture to say than even then some would not be satisfied.

LOW SCORING GAMES ARE LOSING GAMES

The game with Atlantic Christian was just not the Panther's night. In the first half we took 41 shots and hit 17 for 41%. In the second half we took 42 shots and made 12 for 29%. For the entire game we took 83 shots, hit 29 for 35%. Let me ask, how many games can a team win with a total of 69 points?

FROM 'SCRATCH' TO STEADY IMPROVEMENT

Coach Yow came to High Point College and started from scratch. We improved 100% this year over last year. Last year we won three conference games and did not even go to the tournament. This year we won five conference games and went to the tourney and won a game there. This year we won 13 games and lost 16. Last year we won only six games out of the entire season while dropping 24. Let me ask you again, is that improvement or not?

Next year I predict an even better team because I know that Coach Yow will not 'twiddle' his thumbs between now and next season.

THE NORTH STATE TOURNAMENT IN YEARS PAST

Atlantic Christian won the conference crown this year, but have you ever wondered how many they have won before. The answer is none. Their coach, Jack McComas went there four years ago and started coaching a handful of losers. He has been building for four years, enrolling a few big men and putting his knowledge of basketball to work. This year ACC finally produced. Coach Yow will do the same if he is given enough time. One cannot build a team over night! High Point College holds the record of consecutive wins in a single season, and Coach Yow was the coach then. He won 21 straight victories and took the crown in the tournament. Only one other team has ever taken the tourney crown after winding up on top of the regular season standings, and that was ECC. Even they did not have 21 straight wins!

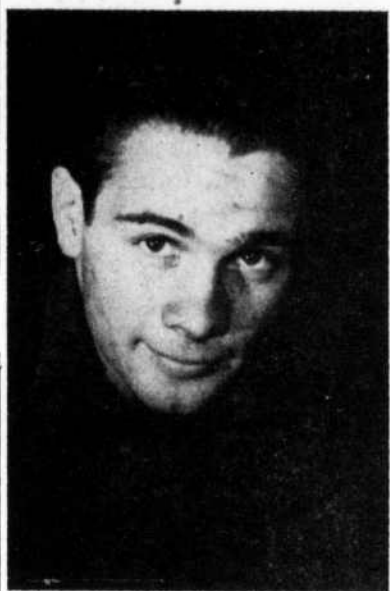

As of the games played through February 19 in the N.A.I.A. standings, HPC ranks 14th with an 85.6 average per game. Only one other team in the North State Conference is listed, and that is Lenoir Rhyne with a 90.7 per game average. We weren't left out of everything.

In the past four basketball seasons that I've been at HPC we have beaten East Carolina only twice out of twelve games. Both wins were in the tournament which is the counting factor.

NOISE AT THE TOURNAMENT

In comparison to the other colleges represented at Lexington I think HPC set the largest and loudest fans of all. This is good and should be continued, but let's all go to yell, and not to coach at the same time. A team coached by 850 students makes it hard for the team to understand.

Athlete of the Week

BOBBY DAVIDSON
... Panther Athlete No. 8

Bobby Davidson is the Hi-Po choice for Athlete of the Week number eight. Bobby played one of the best seasons of his career, so we of the sports staff feel that he deserves this mention.

Bobby is strictly a team man and drives himself in every game. He is a dead-eye free throw artist and can hit on a jump shot with considerable accuracy.

Davidson winds up his basketball days this year, having the honor of playing in the annual tournament every year he has played. Last year when HPC failed to make the tournament, Davidson was sitting out that year.

Bobby is a member of Who's Who and a yankee turned rebel. He is the Hi-Po sports department athlete of the Week and, in our opinion, should have been a member of the North State All-Conference squad.

We salute Bobby on his contribution to sports life at HPC in the four years he has been here.

INTRAMURAL TOURNAMENT TO BE HERE

By Martin E. Neustadt

The North State Conference intramural tournament will be held in Harrison gymnasium on Thursday, March 17. The tournament will consist of four games, with two in the afternoon and two in the evening. A 25c admission will be charged for each two games.

This is the first time in North State Conference history that such a tournament has been set up. The tournament was set up through the efforts of Arthur Paschal HPC Director of Athletics. The four teams competing will be Catawba, Guilford, Elon, and High Point. Starting times are: 1:30, 3:00, 7:00, and 8:30.

Atlantic Christians Defeats HPC 82-69, Wins Championship

BY CHARLIE MAULTSBY
Hi-Po Sports Editor

After a season which saw them end up in sixth place the HPC Purple Panthers went into the North State Tournament at the Lexington YMCA Gymnasium full of steam and determination. However, their spirits lasted only one night; they dumped ECC 91-70 in a spirited battle on Thursday night and on Friday night ACC rolled over the local five by a score of 82-69.

In their first round of tournament play, the Panthers moved to a relatively easy win over the Pirates. It was their second time to beat ECC in four years of North State play. From the word "go" the High Point squad began to turn it on and only after Coach Yow had cleared his bench was the final score determined.

Jack Powell led the parade of Panther scorers with 22 points. Bill Huegele was next with 12 markers followed by Bobby Dunbar with 12 and Davidson and Crump with 11 each.

Harris led the Pirates scoring with a total of 22 points.

The odds were against the Panthers at the drawings for positions in the tourney but the odds were turned back as the team swept to a victory before a HPC student body crowd of over 450 students.

Atlantic Christian

After their opening night upset the Panthers were unable to make it two in a row, losing to the Bulldogs of ACC 82-69.

During the first half in the Friday night tilt the Panthers were able to cope with ACC's shooting and matched them point for point. The HPC squad was behind four points at the halfway mark but after the half, they began to falter under the weight of ACC's advantage in height and experience. The Panthers only hit 12 of 42 shots in the fatal second half.

Jack Powell led the Panther scoring with 19 points followed by J. C. Bledsoe with 14 and Bobby Davidson with 11. These were the only men to hit in the double column for the night.

Atlantic Christian's Kim Buchanan led the onslaught for the Bulldog five with 22 markers, trailed by Jerry Williams with 18 and big John Marley with 16.

The Panthers had purposely held down the scoring against East Carolina hoping to turn on the pressure against the Bulldogs.

Had the Panthers one the game, it would have been one of the biggest upheavals in North State tournament history.

SIG EPS AND TEKES TO PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP

By Bobby Foster

The Sig Eps and the TKE's finished with identical records of seven wins against one defeat and will meet in a playoff game on Friday, March 4th to decide the intramural championship.

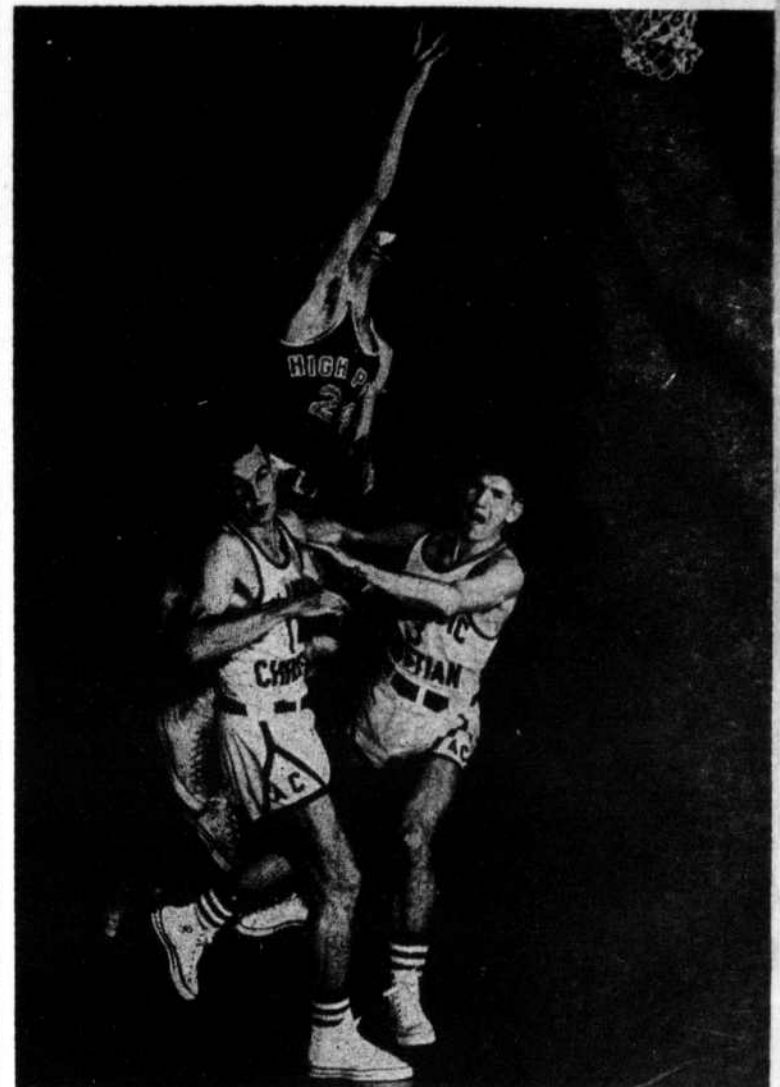

The Delta Sigs and the Lambda Chi finished in a tie for third and fourth place with six wins and two defeats. The Delta Sigs produced the top man in the point department, Vestal Potts who burned the nets for 159 points and a 19.9 points per game average.

In fifth were the PiKA's who won four games while losing the same number. The PiKA's high man in the point department was Harold White with 76 points.

The Shotguns finished in sixth place with three wins and five losses. The Shotguns were led by Frank Miller who pushed 70 points through the nets.

The other two teams to make the tournament were the Theta Chi with two wins and six defeats and the Kappa Chi who won one game while dropping seven. Bob Hedrick led the Theta Chi with 51 points while Mark Wimmer was high for Kappa Chi with 64 points.

Tourney Action Against ACC

NORTH STATE TOURNAMENT action proved to be a little too rough for the Panthers in the second round when they played Atlantic Christian, who went on to capture the crown. Here Paul Stanton drives into two ACC players in a desperate attempt to even the score with ACC. The Panthers lost by a score of 82-69.

Well Rounded Department

HPC Has Large English Department

by GELENE HUTCHINS

The English department at High Point College is one of the largest departments on the campus, having perhaps the greatest number of students enrolled for courses and a total of seven teachers. Dr. Lincoln Lorenz, head of the department, emphasizes the importance of English as follows: "Although the English department is one of the largest in High Point College, the humanities, such as English and foreign languages, should have a greater number of students, especially in the more advanced courses. It is becoming increasingly recognized today that extensive study of English literature and composition is highly important for both personal success and public service. Such study makes the businessman broader and more humane. It gives the minister greater understanding of beauty along with the truth to which he aspires. It guides the scientist to govern his inventions by the moral and spiritual welfare of society. Outstanding among the arts, literature should be one of our best influences for a free and happy democracy."

A large variety of English courses is listed in the catalogue. In addition to freshman composition and sophomore literature courses, which are required of most students, there are subjects covering the outstanding figures of English literature, the various periods of English literature, American literature, advanced composition, special literary forms, and speech and drama.

Teachers In The Department

Dr. Lorenz, who is a well known scholar and author, came to High Point College in 1948 as head of the English department, in which capacity he now serves. He received his A.B. and A.M. degrees in English at Harvard and acquired his Ph.D. at Stanford in 1927. He then taught at the Universities of Wisconsin, Texas, California, and Western Maryland. Dr. Lorenz has had published the following works: "Life of Sidney Lanier," "John Paul Jones: Fighter for Freedom and Glory," and "The Admiral and the Empress: John Paul Jones and Catherine the Great." Dr. Lorenz is originally from Philadelphia.

Mrs. Alice Paige White, distinctive as the oldest member of the faculty, was a member of the initial faculty, having joined the college when it opened in 1924, as a professor of Greek and Latin, being recognized as one of the Greek scholars of the south. She has also taught history and religion here, and at one time served as college librarian. She received her A.B. degree from Boston University and her M.A. from Columbia. She taught in several Quaker schools before she came to High Point. A native of Massachusetts, Mrs. White Claims Quaker ancestry on both sides of her family, and is an active leader in the Quaker Church.

Miss E. Vera Idol, a native of High Point, was also a member of the original faculty in 1924. She received her A.B. from Greensboro College, B.S. from Teachers College of Columbia University, and her M.A. from Columbia. She has done graduate study at the University of North Carolina, Peabody College in Nashville, and Oxford University in England. Miss Idol has had a number of poems published in newspapers and magazines and one short Christmas book, "When the Angels Sang." She has been active in the Methodist Church in High Point all her life.

Professor Arthur Withers, a native of Abington, Virginia, joined the English department of HPC in 1942. He received his A.B. degree from Emory and Henry College and, after a year in the Signal Corps of the U. S. Army during World War I, he acquired his M.A. from Vanderbilt University. He did graduate study in English for five years at Johns Hopkins University, Columbia University, and the University of North Carolina. He was teacher and coach at Vanderbilt Training School in Kentucky, Clemson College, and Emory and Henry, where he was head of the English department for 15 years. Mr. Withers is one of the advisors to the Hi-Po staff.

Miss Jane DeSpain, who is head of the dramatics department, is assistant professor in the English department. She studied two years at Iowa State Teachers College and gained her A.B. degree in theatre at the University of Iowa. While teaching high school in Maryland, Miss DeSpain studied directing at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. She received her M.A. degree in theatre from the University of Michigan. After several years of teaching in high school in Maryland and Iowa, Miss DeSpain joined the faculty here in 1953.

Addison Barker, a native of neighboring Thomasville and a graduate of HPC, joined the faculty in 1953 as an instructor in English and History. He served for over four years in the Medical Department of the U. S. Army, after which he entered High Point College, where he received his B.A. degree. In 1950 he received his M.A. in English from the University of North Carolina, where he was part time instructor in English. He then taught at Marshall College in Huntington, West Virginia for two years. Mr. Barker's book of poems, "The Magpies Nest" was published in 1950. The poems embody subjects from nature and the fields of local color and satire. In addition to teaching English he is director of the News Bureau on the campus.

Miss Evelyn Brignull, who joined the HPC faculty this semester, is a native of Trenton, Tenn. She received an A.A. from Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and her B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Alabama. She has done further study at the National University of Mexico and at Memphis State College.

Any student who wishes to further investigate the department of English will find that High Point College has a background of experienced professors as well as a good core curriculum to offer in the specialized as well as the general field.

Feeling Blue? Go To ...
The Girls' Day Room

Girls, are you feeling blue? Did your beau go off with another gal at the 10:20 free period? Do you feel in the need of a good joke, something to cheer you up? Do you have some homework you don't want to do? A sure cure for all these ills is a visit to the girls' day room. Of course there's the added attraction of the men's day room right across the way (if you've been wondering why the congested traffic in that area), and you might never even reach the girls' day room, but see what good luck just the attempt might bring you!

But suppose you do reach the girls' day room — there's fun galore. You can always get someone to hold your heels while you hang out the window to wave at a friend (m.) wandering around below. Or you can just sit and listen to the wild tales going around—the latest scandal, pet peeves about pet peeves (preferably professors), or just a good (?) joke.

Be sure not to leave valuable papers, such as your analytic geometry homework, lying around; that is if you don't want your prof to comment (in front of the whole class) on the strange little marks with the O's and X's in them, or say with equal sarcasm, "Miss Blank, I hope those potato chips were good."

Do you like secrets? Well, there you can hear more secrets that aren't supposed to be whispered to a soul. However, being a true blue member of the day room gang, you don't tell it to a soul outside the day room unless she happens to be a very good friend of someone in the day room, or unless she happens to be a very good friend of a very good friend of someone who hangs around the day room, or unless—oh, well, anyway ... even though the secrets don't stay secrets very long you at least get them first hand.

So, don't forget. If you happen to be passing the girls' day room and hear wild shrieks within, don't fail to investigate. You might get there just in time to see a pair of feet disappear over the window ledge, to hear the tale end of the latest gossip, or to see some poor child tearing her hair out upon discovering that her term paper has been used to wipe up spilled coke. Ye just can't tell what it is that ye might be missin' out on.

Jean Griffith Crowned Queen Of 1955 Intramural Basketball

Miss Jean Griffith, sophomore from Leaksville, was crowned queen of the intramural basketball tournament Friday, March 11 in a special festivity in Harrison Gymnasium. Miss Griffith was sponsored by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Before the basketball game, the judges were introduced to the people attending. They were Mrs. C. L. Ring, Mrs. Bill Lewis, and Mrs. Dennis Cooke. As the candidates were introduced, they came to the center of the gymnasium. At the half-time, Miss Griffith was announced as the winner. She was crowned by Lorraine McCurry, last year queen of the tournament.

Contestants were Ann Kerr, Delta Sig; Miriam Stallings, Shotgun; Jane Thornhill, Sig Eps; Mrs. Adrian Allred, TKE; Bobbie Williams, Theta Chi; Lorraine McCurry, Kappa Chi; Barbara Going, Lambda Chi. Each team participating in the tournament had a sponsor for the event.

The tournament was under the direction of Arthur Paschal.

High School Orchestra Performs For Assembly

The High Point High School Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Virginia Frank, played in assembly Wednesday, March 16. Included in the program were "Overture to Don Giovanni" by Mozart; two dances from "Henry VII" — the May Dance and the Torch Dance; the "Emperor Variations", by Haydn; parts from "Showboat" by Jerome Kern; "The Typewriter" by Anderson; and a waltz from "The Masquerade Suite" by Khachaturian.

The orchestra has received a superior rating at the state contest for the past three years, and members from it composed almost a fourth of the 1954 All-State Orchestra Clinic. North Carolina's outstanding music educators rate it as one of the best in the state.

Religion Department

Hilde Gross, Donald Kuhn Speak Here

Hilde Gross, a freshmen at Louisburg College, spoke at vespers last Sunday night on the subject, "What Christian Unity Means to Me." Hilde is from Lentz, Austria, where she was a member of the Caravan Methodist Church, built by North Carolina Conference Caravans. Already helping in the church, Hilde decided to study religious education. Hilda has been in the United States since last summer, during which time she visited many conference and camps. Informal discussions were also held during Hilde's visit, which is sponsored by the Student Christian Council.

SOCIAL PROBLEM SEMINAR

At a social problem seminar, held March 17 and 18, the Reverend and Donald Kuhn of Washington, D. C. was the speaker. Rev. Kuhn is director of communications and student work of the general Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church. He holds the B. A. degree from Oklahoma City University and the B. D. degree from Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Illinois. He has studied at George Williams College, Chicago, and Northwestern University, also in Evanston. In addition to his work in developing a program of alcohol education for students, Mr. Kuhn creates dramatic plays for general use in the same field. One of his plays "The Pink Christmas Tree," was produced on television for the National Council of Churches.

The meetings were held Wednesday and Thursday night in the Music Building at 7:30, after which discussions were held in the dormitories. Coke parties were held in the Student Center from 2:30 to 3:30 on both afternoons to give students and opportunity to meet the speaker.

JEAN GRIFFITH, sponsor for the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was crowned queen of the intramural basketball tournament last Friday night. Miss Griffith was selected by three judges from a field of eight contestants.

District Band Clinic Now Underway Here

High Point College welcomes more than a thousand high school students to the campus of High Point College today, playing in the annual band and orchestra contest. This contest includes one out of eight districts held last week end and this week end. The handling of the festival will be shared by students and teachers from the music department of High Point College and High Point High School.

The bands and orchestras and their directors are: High Point Junior High Orchestra, Mrs. Evelyn Turner; High Point Senior High Orchestra, Virginia Frank; High Point Junior High "A" and "B" bands, David L. Carter; Thomasville Junior High Band, Ralph Gabriel; Old Town (Winston) Jr. High Band, Tennyson Jones; Randleman Sr. High Band, Robert Clark; Denton Sr. High

New Quarters, New Facilities

Music Department Offers Varied Majors

By Helena Smith

The music department offers courses which are designed for students who wish to spend the major part of his time in the study of music with emphasis on voice, piano, organ, band, orchestral instruments or public school music. It also offers courses which may serve as electives for the student who wishes to study music for its cultural benefits only.

The Memorial Building, occupied in the spring of 1954, houses a reception room, a combination auditorium-chapel and adequate facilities for all of the work in music and dramatics. It is equipped with Steinway grand pianos for concerts and the work in music.

VOICE AND CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir plays an important part of the total college program. Besides singing every week in chapel programs, the choir is in demand by Methodist churches for Sunday services and other functions. It makes numerous appearances at church conferences. The highlight of the choir is the concert tour which it makes each spring.

The men's and women's glee clubs are non-credit organizations which meet once a week to sing music of all types. These clubs are on call for local performances for churches and civic groups.

The concert band occupies an important place in the life of the college, providing music for many events throughout the school year. Formal concerts are given from time to time.

The High Point Symphony Orchestra holds its rehearsals at the college and is directed by Dr. Lewis. It is made up of college students and people in the community of High Point.

MR. COX

Mr. Cox, voice instructor and director of the choral organizations on the campus, began his musical studies at the University of North Carolina where he studied voice and choral directing. After obtaining his master's degree from the University, he spent a year as a Fulbright scholar in Paris, France. Mr. Cox has appeared as tenor soloist in High Point on various occasions. He has presented several recitals for the Musical Art Club and community of High Point. For the past two years he has been the tenor soloist for Messiah, which is presented each year by the Community Chorus of High Point. For the past two summers Mr. Cox has played the part of a pioneer and Cherokee singer in Kermit Hunter's "Horn in the West" in Boone, N. C. Besides singing in the play, he was assistant director of the chorus.

MISS FIELDS

Miss Fields, instructor of piano, organ and theory courses at High Point College, has music degrees from the American Conservatory of Music, Hayes State College, and University of Michigan. Miss Fields is known in High Point for her appearances as accompanist for soloists, choir, ensemble groups, etc. She has been asked at various times to judge contests in piano in which high school students compete for music scholarships.

DR. LEWIS

Dr. Lewis, head of the music department, is the director of the college concert band and High Point Symphony Orchestra. He also teaches private instrumental lessons and music education courses. Dr. Lewis received degrees in music at the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Ohio State University, and Stanford Univer-

Dawkins, Tew, and Mowery Will Run For '55, '56 SGA President

Next week will mark the beginning of spring election campaigns as three candidates for the office of president of the Student Government Association kick off their campaigns in assembly next Wednesday, March 23. Running in the expected to be 'hot' race will be Hardy Tew, Koy Dawkins and Phil Mowery. Contesting for the important position of vice-president, the presider of the Student Legislature will be Ernie Ball, Johnny Mann and Garland Young. For secretary, Lorraine McCurry and Ruby Hallman will be trying for the position. Rounding out the Executive Council in the office of treasurer will be Johnny Abernathy and Bobbie Turner.

'Spring Frolics' Ticket Sales Reach Goal

Ticket sales for the "Spring Frolics" featuring the band of Ralph Marterie reached an expected goal, it was announced by SGA president David Abernathy yesterday. Dick Hensdale, chairman of the arrangements committee and sales promoter reported that enough tickets at bid prices had been sold to make the contract binding.

The bids were open for a two week period from March 2 to March 16, last Wednesday. Ticket sales closed at midnight Wednesday. The arrangements committee extended the sale of tickets at bid prices until March 22 for the benefit of the veterans. The sales will be continued only to the veterans and no other student will be allowed to buy them.

The concert and dance will be held April 27. The concert will be held at 7:30 in Memorial Auditorium and the dance will be held from 9:00 - 12:00 in Harrison Gymnasium. The dance will be formal, no flowers.

The Spring Frolics is hoped to become an annual event, featuring a big name band for one big dance each year, sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Regular tickets will go on sale within three weeks. Prices of the regular tickets are $2.00 a person for the concert and $4.00 stag or drag for the dance.

VETERANS CLUB MAKES PLEDGE TO SUPPORT HPC

The Veterans Club has adopted the following pledge of cooperation and support to the college administration, faculty, student government association and other student activities which are connected with High Point College.

"It is the purpose of the organization to promote the general welfare of the students and to foster an improved faculty-student relationship through a spirit of mutual co-operation in matters of general concern.

"We pledge ourselves to uphold and perpetuate the customs and traditions of this college; to support the policies of the administration, to be eternally vigilant in the conduct of school affairs and in the planning and execution of the academic program to work for the good of the student body, school, community, and the nation, to criticize intelligently, courageously, and impartially where the said is justified; to be unstinting in our praise where praise is merited; to support the democratic processes of representative government and to repel the collectivistic social and economic forces which would destroy individual liberty and dignity; to encourage positive constructive thought and the development of harmonious attitudes among the administration, faculty and the student government, with freedom from suspicion, envy, and unjust criticism.

"We dedicate ourselves to the above policies and toward this end we beseech almighty God to grant us the wisdom to act wisely, the courage to act bravely, and the mercy to act justly."

MRS. LOCKE ENJOYS HPC BIOLOGY LAB

Mrs. Charlotte C. Locke, wife of Dr. Locke is a new edition to the college faculty this semester. She is teaching biology, which she enjoys very much; she is also the mother of two young ladies.

Mrs. Locke is a native of Kittery, Maine where she attended Traip Academy, Bates College, A. B. She attended Simmons College Boston, Mass. for one year where she did graduate work. She also met Dr. Locke while in Boston and they were married in 1934.

Mrs. Locke has taught bacteriology in the past here at High Point College. She taught biology to the nurses at High Point Hospital and is now teaching the same course here at HPC.

Nominations were closed last Wednesday after the regular assembly period after a two week period for the write-in nominations to be received.

The campaigns will begin next Wednesday, March 23 as all the candidates make their speeches before the student body. Voting will be held in the student center Monday and Tuesday, March 28, 29. The city voting machine will be in operation for the elections. The student center will be open until 4:00 every day and the voting machine will be in use all that time.

David Abernathy, SGA president expressed his desire for every student to use his right to vote; he remarked that "every student ought to do his part in getting good officers for next year's Council—it'll be one of the most important years for student government that HPC has had in a long time.

STATE TO PLACE HPC HISTORICAL MARKER HERE

Fifteen new historical markers will soon be erected on North Carolina highways. Dr. Christopher Crittenden, director of the State Department of Archives and History has announced. High Point College will obtain one of the fifteen to be erected. The date for the erection has not been set, but is expected to be in the near future.

Inscription for the new marker is:

"High Point College—Methodist. Opened in 1924 with aid from the city of High Point. Coeducational."

The Student Government Association prompted the action of the department of archives in planning to have the marker erected. The group felt that the marker would bring attention to High Point College as a recognized institution by the people traveling through the state, and that the marker would help mark the campus as a local landmark.

FBLA TO SEND DELEGATES TO STATE MEET

The Future Business Leaders of America had a meeting last Monday to make the final arrangements for the trip to East Carolina where the F.B.L.A. convention will be held. The dates of this weekend are March 25 and 26. The following have made final plans to attend: Mr. Dale, Joseph Siceoff, Max Way, Jimmy Brown, Mickey Washam, Jo Lutz, Julia Ann Glass, Joan Crawford, Jesse Mercer, Mona Courie, David Francis, Elizabeth Mullins, Earl Barbour, Sara Martin, Jim Andrews, Johnny Abernathy, Pope Thornton, and Barbara Harris.

HI-PO TO PRESENT APRIL FOOL ISSUE

The next issue of the Hi-Po, slated to come out on April Fool's Day will be in keeping with the foolishness of the day. The issue will be strictly foolishness and none of it is to be taken seriously. The Hi-Po will not be responsible for any feelings hurt by the issue because the paper will be issued as a form of entertaining reading and should be taken that way.

We say again that we refuse to accept the responsibility of any blame that might be placed on any member of the Hi-Po staff or the Hi-Po itself.

Eddy Stimulates Thinking

Jerry Kennerly's letter addressed to the editor of the HI-PO appears on this page.

While the HI-PO encourages most vigorously such specific beliefs and appreciates correspondence addressed thus, it cannot agree wholly, and agrees only to a small extent, with Kennerly's statements.

May we point out some erroneous statements. First the statement that his sermon turned out to be a political speech is based on no foundation; neither Dr. Eddy nor Dr. Rozelle, in introducing the speaker, referred to his address as a sermon.

The statement that Dr. Eddy leaned toward socialism throughout his entire address is based on only one example (which we accept) and therefore is only the opinion of the writer of the letter, which questions the veracity of Dr. Eddy's integrity.

Although matters of religion depend principally on interpretations of scriptures, we feel justified in attacking Kennerly's stand on Eddy's belief in a universal church. One entire book in the New Testament, Philemon, is devoted to one central theme of brotherhood of all men. In view of this the simple "This seems very impractical" is somewhat weak.

One thing Kennerly failed to point out (probably because of failure to realize that even the more unpleasant things to which students are subjected often have gigantic results toward the ultimate in perfection) in his well-worded writing is the purpose of Dr. Eddy's speech. We like to feel Dr. Eddy desired desperately to stimulate the dormant minds of the students.

Jerry Kennerly will agree, we think, with the HI-PO that this purpose is well accomplished.

Question of the week:

In co-operation with the Veterans Club, which is striving to better the college in general, the question of the week is: What do you think HPC needs in the way of improvement?

Fred Noble advises "using the student center to better advantage on week-ends. Some of the students don't have anything to do on week-ends, and an informal dance or something along that line would fit the bill." Now there's a boy who has more brains than Carter has little liver pills.

"The fraternities (as well as the sororities) need individual chapter rooms for their ritual and business materials," asserts Ed Small.

Playful Arthur Black desires "more recreation—say like pool tables—as well as a larger men's day room." And you should be rejoicing over the new one you have.

When asked his opinion, Paul Atwell strongly stood up for "more pencil sharpeners, better restroom facilities, and a water cooler on the second floor." Good objective thinking, Paul! That was suggested before in a HI-PO.

A cry for "more parking facilities" is raised by Jane Bundy. Daytime, that is.

"A few new benches are needed in the bookstore," complains Harvey Warren. Sitting on that seatless bench is a stimulating process!

Athletic-minded Kenneth Black wishes for "a place for the visiting ball teams to stay."

Linda Sechrest maintains that "a water fountain is needed for the upper floor of the girls' dorm, while Norma Kearns calls for "bathtubs for the third floor."

The turnabout is fair play policy is held by Gattis Bullard, who expresses his desire to "see the students-grade-the-teachers system" practiced here. Well . . .

From Dayton Crews comes the far-from-new plea for "the football team brought back to the College." You've got company in that decision. (Dayton played football before when he was at HPC.)

The girls in the day room are far more considerate in their demands. All they want is "a bigger bookstore and a Coke machine and perhaps a radio for the day room." The better to study with, of course.

Audience Reaction!

From Our Readers

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter concerning our assembly speaker of February 25, Dr. Sherwood Eddy. Mr. Eddy has dedicated his life to the field of religion and no one can fail to acknowledge his great missionary work around the world. I have great respect for his worldwide religious knowledge, but much of his political and economic information was misleading and false.

First of all he damned American free enterprise because of the profit incentive. His statement "the rich are still robbing the poor" was used as a basis of moral code. I do not believe material things assure Christian morality. Moral code can not be bought or sold. Industry should watch the welfare of the people and take a definite interest, but to do away with free enterprise would destroy the American way of life that we all love. Sure, many people in America are in poverty, but all in all American free enterprise has helped the people and made America the world leader today. Mr. Eddy's ideas seemed to lean toward Socialism. This was evident throughout his message. His sermon turned out to be more like a political speech.

Dr. Eddy condemned the Dixon-Yates Bill solely because it is not socialistic. I do not say the bill is justified in all its points, but it certainly should not be rejected just because it does not turn everything over to the TVA. He also stated "the Republicans have done more to rob the people in two years than the Democrats did in twenty years." I challenge (Continued on Page Three)

CONCERT BAND

Besides giving a joint program with the choral groups on March 30, the Concert Band is going to play at the Glenn High School, Denton High School and Randleman High School. In addition to these performances, the band will present a spring concert in May in the Memorial Auditorium. The band will feature on this program four new novelty compositions written by Dr. Lewis. Two are for tuba solos with band entitled, "Nostalgic Music" and "Tubajollity" written especially for Robert Clark, a member of the concert band and director of bands at Denton, Randleman and Trinity High Schools. A humorous number called "The Band Auditions A New Member" features a drum solo by band member, Jack Barrier, who formerly played with Lenoir High School Band. "The Dream Music" from the overture to Dr. Lewis's opera "Gordo" will be played by the full band.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The High Point Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Lewis, will present its annual spring concert in May. The orchestra is made up of High Point College students and additional musicians from the community.

STUDENT RECITAL

A student recital was presented on March 16, in the rehearsal hall of High Point College. The students participating were — Pianists: Regina Dunn, Barbara Payne, Lannie Wright, Helena Smith and Virginia Walker; vocalists: Bob Combs, Sylvia Fox, Ellen Torrence, Jack Peacock, Mark Rose, Helena Smith; a vocal ensemble group consisting of Libby Murray, Pat Mize, Betty Frazier, Barbara Payne, and Virginia Walker. Instrumentalists: Lloyd Stiffler and Gene Watkins, trombone, Regina Dunn, clarinet, and Alex Mellinik, Saxophone.

SPRING RECITALS

A two piano recital, directed by Miss Fields, is scheduled for April. Jack Peacock and Helena

Smith will present a joint recital in Memorial Auditorium in May. The Music Department will present a program of music for the Musical Art Club of High Point in May. The Music Department will also present its annual commencement recital in May.

MUSIC MAJORS BOB CLARK

Bob Clark is a graduate of Belmont high school where he was very active in the musical affairs of the school. When he was in the seventh grade he started playing the tuba in the junior high school band and after a few months he was promoted to the high school band. While he was still in high school, he played with the Davidson College Band, the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, and Charlotte Symphony Orchestra.

After graduating from high school he was given an instrumental scholarship to the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore. After completing his studies in Baltimore he did professional playing in Indiana. Returning South again, he took a job in Lenoir High School where he taught instrumental music for two years. After being drafted into the army, he played and toured with the Army Band of Washington, D. C. Following his term in service he took a job directing bands in the Randleman and Denton High Schools where he is still teaching.

Enrolled at High Point College as a special student and a candidate for a BS degree in music, Bob is playing the tuba in the Concert Band and the High Point Symphony, and is also studying the violin under Dr. Lewis and the piano under Miss Fields.

Bob is entering his hands from the Denton and Randleman High Schools in the band and orchestra contest which is being held here today. The College Band members, who have come to respect his musicianship, will be looking forward to hearing his bands perform.

FRATERNITIES

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Last Saturday Lambda Chi Alpha held its annual Initiation Ball at the Lexington Country Club. Everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of the Downbeats. Miss Barbara Smith was escorted by Sid Proctor. In her court were Miss Arlene Hobbs escorted by Ernie Ball and Miss Barbara Going escorted by Joe Widenhouse.

On the weekend of the 18-20 they will be visited by George W. Sparsk. Chapter service secretary of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

New officers for the coming year are: president, Ernie Ball; vice-president, Jerry Kennerly; secretary, Harry Gray; treasurer, Floyd Craven; social chairman, Craig Kester; ritualistic, Dave Mekins; rush chairman, Don Cranford; pledge trainer, Clarence Poindexter; alumni advisor, Fred Cox; and correspondent, Murphy Osborn.

THETA CHI

The cycle of fraternity life peaks in Theta Chi this month. The highlight was the Macon-Dixon Jubilee, which enthusiastically started with open-house at the Carolina Chapter. Saturday brought a region wide luncheon; followed by a two-hour business meeting. Next, came a formal dance, followed by another one house at the Carolina chapter. High Point College was well represented and the enthusiasm for fraternity life became notably increased.

Theta Chi welcomes into its brotherhood Bob Dixon, a day student from Greensboro. A smoker was held last Friday as a first part of our rushing program. There will be an informal

Saturday night with dates. A theme of foreign dress will be carried out in the nature of a masquerade party.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The Sig Ep Ball is history now to all the Sig Eps. But the wonderful memories of the gala event will remain with them for a long time. About twenty-five couples attended from High Point. Several Eta alumni were present among them: Ronnie Owens, Earnest Broom, Fred Hasty, and Jack Venerable.

The Sig Ep Songsters serenaded Miss Pattie Martin in Winston Salem last Monday night. Miss Martin is engaged to Bob Dockery.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon field secretary visited the chapter the first of this week. He left the chapter with much useful information.

SORORITIES

SIGMA ALPHA PHI

Plans are underway for the annual spring banquet.

Vicki Washburn has invited the Sigma's to an April Fools Party at her home in Madison on April 2. They will round up the fun with spending the night in the Washburn home.

KAPPA DELTA

On Thursday night, March 8, Theta Phi alumnae sponsored a benefit bridge and fashion show for the Kappa Delta sorority. The latest spring fashions, modeled by the girls, were furnished by the Adams Shop. They would like to thank all the girls who modeled for them.

Plans are now being made for the White Rose Banquet which will be April 30, at the Woman's Club in Thomasville.

I was sitting in one of my classes last week (I won't say which one for the protection of my diploma, which I plan to get in May) when the thought occurred to me that classes, in addition to sometimes being boring, are fascinating, especially the people in them.

I was sitting near the back of the room, minding my own business in a certain sort of way, when I noticed all the different kinds of sitting positions, degrees of interest, and a half dozen other things about an everyday sort of class. Several of the fellows were half-asleep, due no doubt to a late gripe session or something; one joker was whittling on a pencil, another was chewing bubble gum, and two co-eds were passing notes to each other. The professor was engaged on an off the subject discussion of "The summer sex life of a nymphomaniac butterfly," and apparently wasn't even interesting himself; he didn't seem to be listening.

I sat halfway through the class, noticing what other people were doing, half asleep myself from staying up until the wee hours the night before, reading a parallel book on "Ten Easy Lessons on Good Government" by a fellow named Stalin. I woke to my complete senses when one of the guys made a sarcastic comment about a joke the prof had told—he told the prof the joke must be good—it lasted six generations. That made the instructor a little mad, so he's writing a book on "How To Lose Friends and Make Enemies" and is planning to make a fortune off the publication and take up fishing for an occupation.

Then there was a little display of pseudo-intellectualism and the bell rang.

I thought as I walked out of the class, what a life, what a life.

HIGH POINTABURY TALES

(with my deepest apologies to Chaucer)

Gather around my friends so dear,
And an amusing story you will hear.
A man named Chaucer lived many years ago,
And he wrote about people he used to know.
He knew these people so very well
That he could describe them each in detail.
I hope Chaucer won't turn over in his grave,
But read on, my friends, and please be brave.
Once upon a time (as all stories begin)
Some HPCers met to discuss their friends.
Among this group was a boy they loved quite well;
He had a voice as clear as a bell.
His hair was brown; his legs were long.
It is never known that he committed a wrong.
He was athletic and a very good sport.
And there was no certain girl he loved to court.
Now if this mystery gives you a chill,
I must tell you that his name was Phil.
Next among the group was my roommate,
And the times were few when she didn't have a date.
She was of medium weight and height.
Her hair was brown—rather light.
"Ruffy" is whom I'm talking about.
She's the greatest one without a doubt.
There was one among them who was very small.
He was constantly seen at Woman's Hall.
June Elder was his choice of a female.
He could clown and make his friends quite well.
Though he was little, he thought there was plenty.
Need I tell you his name was Little Donnie.
The next pilgrim I must tell you about
Has never been known to fuss or to pout.
He was editor of this, president of that.
He was always on key, never flat.
He was kinda thin and not at all flabby.
Yes, you guessed it; I'm referring to "Abbey."
One in the group had gold hair like the sun,
And there were many things that he had done.
He liked to travel to points yonder,
And once to Mount Airy he did wander.
All in all, he was the greatest boy,
And to a particular girl his voice brought joy.
He could make her feel like a queen bee
When he said, "You're the only girl for me."
You all know this boy as Jay.
So there is little else I need to say.
These were really a wonderful crowd,
Even if some were rowdy and loud.
Each has played an important part,
And has become endeared to every heart.
This group is the students of HPC,
The most wonderful people there could ever be.
This poem was written in fun by me—
For no special reason; that's easy to see.
I'll sign my name which is just plain Anne.
And wish each of you good luck in life's great span.

Tekes Take Intramural Basketball Championship

YOW CALLS BASEBALL PRACTICE

By Martin E. Neustadt

The first week of March rolled around and head baseball mentor, C. V. Yow was prompt to call his boys to practice. Some 25 players showed up. The baseballs started to fly early as the fresh recruits were full of determination and hustle.

There were only two lettermen returning from last year's varsity. They are Bob Duncan, towering first sacker and Elwood "Jug-handle" Mabry. Duncan played peerless ball at first last year, and was mighty handy with the stick. The promising sophomore is from Pelham, N. C. While Mabry was the ace of the staff last year, he lost a couple of toughies due to the inability of his mates to produce some vital tallies.

Backing up Mabry with the hurling will be Jack Parks, Bill Huegele, Bobby Pharr, and Frank Miller. Miller is the only other lefty on the staff and has showed a lot of promise in early workouts. His best pitch is a blazing fastball which he throws with accuracy. The rest of the staff has also showed that they will be tough when called to the slab.

The Panther's fortunes this year will rest on the ability of their hitters. Some of the infielders such as Harold Bull, Larry Toler, John Hanner, Bob Perdue, Gray Everhardt, and Bill Kiser have demonstrated their power with the wood in early tryouts.

In the outfield, Yow can pick from a group that includes Al Finley, John Sykes, Bob Hall, Jerry Rodden, and Harold Richardson. Pitcher Mabry can also be counted on to patrol the outer reaches of the park when not taking his regular turn on the hill.

The catching duties will be shared by two freshmen, George Ivey and Murphy Osborne. Both are fine hustlers and should give the Panther's the right balance behind the dish.

The team lacks in experience, but should get better as the season progresses.

Strong TKE Five Romps Over Sig Eps For Win

By BOBBY FOSTER

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity has gained another championship crown to add to its two previous championship laurels. Ending up the regular season's play in a tie with the Sig Eps, the strong Teke charges roared to an easy win over the Sig Eps to declare their strength in basketball. In winning the championship, the Tekes won the honor of representing HPC in the North State Intramural Tournament.

Tournament Play

The Delta Sigs emerged victorious from the tournament play, receiving a large trophy for their efforts. They defeated the Lambda Chi in the finals 49-44.

Vestal Potts of the champion Delta Sig team won the coveted trophy for the most outstanding player. Potts was also high scorer for all games with 206 points and a 19.7 point per game average. Jerry Kennerly of the Lambda Chi led the tournament scoring with 51 points for three games.

The All Star team is listed below:

Name	Team	Points
Vestal Potts	Delta Sigs	206
Jerry Kennerly	Lambda Chi	160
Jerry Royals	TKE	132
Don Roberts	TKE	104
Paul Jones	Delta Sigs	110
Frank Miller	Shotguns	80
John Cass	Lambda Chi	90
George Ferguson	Sig Eps	88
Bob Carroll	Sig Eps	56
Bill Eller	PIKA	56

gresses. The early workouts have indicated the team has a lot of hustle and spirit.

The official games for all home games will be the student body of HPC. Here is the schedule for the coming season:

March 23—Catawba	March 25—at Catawba
April 1—at East Carolina*	April 5—Gullford
April 16—at Gullford	April 22—Gullford
April 23—at McCrary	April 25—at Elon*
April 27—East Carolina*	May 3—at Gullford
May 4—Elon*	May 5—at Belmont Abbey*

him to try to prove this. He also condemned American religious faiths because they should all be united into one worldwide religion and belief. This seems very impractical, and little can be accomplished by his radical views toward the Baptists. His ideas would never work unless all people are perfect, and I doubt if that will happen anytime soon.

In professional football a coach is one who tells his players which play to run and also which players to run that play, meanwhile the manager sits on the bench with towel in hand and waterbucket filled to the brim waiting to refresh a tired player. Now then, did you ever stop to think that in professional baseball this procedure is reversed. The manager calls the plays and makes the necessary changes in the line up while the coach sits on the bench with the water bucket and administers any necessary repairs of an injured player.

I guess that this is just a matter of switched titles.

BASKETBALL SEASON OVER

The intramural basketball regular season is over for this year and we find that the TKE has added a few more points toward Student Government trophy. The points received by the teams thus far this season now stand like this:

TKE	15 Points
Lambda Chi	6 Points
Sig Ep	3 Points

The TKE won the regular season after being fought "tooth and nail" right down to the finish line by the red hot Sig Ep charges thus giving the Sig Eps 3 points in the race.

LET'S SUPPORT BASEBALL, GEORGE

In seasons gone past it has been the tendency for the student body to forget to go to our baseball games. Usually there are more players at the games than there are spectators. I will admit that we have not had a powerful team in the past but we have had some good games and they are well worth the price that you have to pay which is nothing. Let me ask, where else can you just walk into a game without paying cash? So this year, let's all turn out for the games and give our boys a little boost to win some games.

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroys have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroys cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Personality Of The Month

JOHNNY MANN . . . photographing personality

From the tip of his crew-cut head to the toe of his argyle socks, Johnny Mann is the very personification of energy unbound. Facetious yet sincere, determined yet humble, prudent yet understanding, Johnny has won for himself a position of high esteem among his fellow students.

Now, the competent president of the sophomore class, Johnny, a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity serves as chaplain and is a member of Kappa Chi. Also he is the assistant college photographer and Student Christian Council representative to the Student Government Association. Last year he served as vice-president of the freshman class.

An aspirant for the role of a minister, Johnny is active in all phases of religious activity, both on campus and in his church.

If you see or hear an old Chevy put-putting across the campus, chances are it's that aforementioned fine fellow hurrying (or trying) to one of his many diversified fields of endeavor.

Yesterday Marked Day
For Old St. Patrick

Well, did you wear something green yesterday, or did you forget? What? You mean you didn't know that March 17 was St. Patrick's day?

Yes, the beloved patron saint of Ireland has passed once again his special day of celebration. Perhaps, as so many legends and traditions have grown up about this great missionary, he might have walked abroad the earth once more to see a great miracle of today—that which has kept alive the memory of his great Christian works and teachings these sixteen hundred years.

Ironical fate that this man, born in what is now England, a country under which Ireland was later surpassed, should become the patron saint of that Ireland. Ironical also that he was first taken to Ireland as a slave, captured by wild Irish raiders. After six years he managed to escape to France, where he became a monk, then returned to his home in Britain.

A strange dream, and these words, "We pray thee, holy youth, to come and walk again amongst us as before," compelled him to return to Ireland as a missionary.

Many have said that there "were no Christians in Ireland when Patrick began his work and no pagans when he died." Legends such as how he made the snakes of Ireland fling themselves into the sea, sprang up about him. Maybe his powers of persuasion were a bit exaggerated, but he did much to establish Christianity firmly in the island by building churches and monasteries and converting the people.

Once, as some of his people were talking to him, they questioned the doctrine of the Trinity. The argument ended abruptly as St. Patrick held up a tiny shamrock leaf as an example of "Three in One."

Dr. Cooke Drafted To Army

Abernathy Kicked Out Of Office As SGA President

BY YMIS SIVAER

David M. Abernathy, president of the student Government Association, editor-in-chief of the High Pole, a member of Whose Who in Student Revolutions has been kicked out of High Point College announced Arthur Bee Williams, the new ramrod who replaced Dennis, now serving with the U. S. Army in Fort Freeze, Alaska.

Abernathy, better known as "Abe" (this taken from 'Honest Abe'), was instrumental in securing the petition which led to the drafting of former president Cooke and the lynching of Mrs. Balke, who was last seen hanging from the tower on Roberts Hall.

Abe was a real pioneer while he was here for eight years. A sexology major, Abe first came into the public scrutiny when he was seen carrying a charge of TRINITROTULUENE (TNT — don't let it blow up in your face) to the AD Bldg. His secret plot was foiled by three religion majors who "didn't want blood on their hands."

His next alternative was therefore to call upon the students for help. He did—948 to be exact. Being a real pioneer Abernathy didn't want to incriminate the students so he had the petitioners to sign their names backwards, a foolproof method of deceiving Detective Allred who, incidentally, has just finished an extensive course in sleuthing. George Allan, asso. secretary of state, was instructed to read the names, holding a mirror in front of them, exploiting the plot.

STUDENT REACTION

The students, who apparently don't appreciate the unprecedented dismissal, have called a six months strike in retaliation. One student put it this way: "We'll starve them (administration) to death; no students, no money!" Over 500 men and women dorm students are making final plans to remove the bathroom fixtures to take home in an effort to compensate for the balance of the $$$ not used this semester.

Abernathy, in a 'mopping up' exercise of flooding the darkroom and making a bon-fire with the $500 speed-graphic camera, had only one comment. "I knew it was coming; crime doesn't pay!"

One sad co-ed said, "I simply can't contain myself." Thereat she was arrested for indecent exposure by the campus cops and locked in the chapter room of Hi Thi (gh), honorary anatomy fraternity which boasts 286 men members. One of the arresting cops, when interviewed, described the incident as the "MOST IMPULSIVE TAKE-OFF I've ever witnessed."

Abernathy announced that since he only lacks 174 hours to graduate and is transferring to Wake Forest College the school which recently consolidated with the Department of Infernal Revenue and therefore it admits students free of charge.

Williams To Assume Duties Of President

BY HENRY SCOOP

High Pole Scoop Editor

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, former president of High Point College was drafted to the secret service investigating branch of the armed forces yesterday afternoon after quite a struggle when the men came to help him make up his mind to join. Arthur Bee Williams, long-time right hand man to the former president, immediately took over the office of president. "I've been waiting a long time for this" he smirked as your High Pole scoop editor interviewed him.

dr. rhyne to teach sexology ritchere!

By Be-hop Bill

A new course is now being offered at the great institution of book learning. There has been a popular demand for this course and with a great deal of searching the staff has finally elected to call the world renowned Dr. B. J. Rhyne a specialist in the field.

The course is none other than Sexology which has been in demand by the people of this great institution.

Dr. Rhyne will teach this course and this one only because of the great urgency for the course. He has had a great deal of experience in this field doing research in Phoenix, Alabama, Chicago, New York, Los Vegas, Paris, Germany, Mexico and Cuba.

He will use the method of working on the boys mind to enable him to know what is going on in the girl's mind and therefore, he will be the master of all he surveys. Then to combat against any unnecessary situations the girl will be in turn taught to study the boy until she will be able to know what is going on in his mind and what his plans are, be they honorable or what have you. This of course will wind up with neither the boy nor the girl getting anywhere and they will both be so mixed up that they will forget what their intentions were to begin with and they will be in an extreme case of frustration, which will in the end will find them a home in the Asylum . . .

long enough but they insist on beer. I resigned because basketball is becoming corrupt and a rich man's game. Beer indeed. "Shock-ing."

MARILYN MONROE NAMED COUNSELOR TO McCULLOCH HALL AND THE MEN WHO LIVE THERE ALREADY LIKE HER!

Marilyn Monroe, the greatest symbol of sex in our time, is the recently appointed counselor of McCulloch Hall. Extremely popular with her boys, she is the impetus behind many changes in their appearance and stability. Shiny shoes, slick heads, well-suited clothes, and wide, toothful smiles are the order of the day, evidencing the changes in appearance. As for the changes in stability—even the most proficient, well-adjusted male students have been found seeking some "personal-type" advice (conferences behind closed doors preferred). In addition, there are two proposed changes—the invention of the swivel neck, giving a 360° viewing span, and the introduction of a course in "Marilyn Monroeology" into the curriculum.

Miss Monroe, who came to us with an extensive background in handling men, says of her new occupation, "I find the position exciting. All the boys are so co-operative and attentive."

When asked why they are so fond of their new counselor, several observant boys replied, "She has the kindest eyes."

ILEAN OVER REPORTED MISSING FROM DORM

April 1—HPC—Ilean Over was reported missing early this morning after an all night search to find the youthful coed. Miss Over was voted recently in a student body election the "Most Likely To Frighten Men After 12:00 in a Dark Corner." Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Miss Over should contact her parents Mr. and Mrs. Youlean Over.

It was revealed to the press that Dr. Cooke was drafted as a result of a petition signed by 948 students protesting his recent concern for their welfare. Representatives for the armed forces, when contacted by short wave radio, stated that they thought Dennis would make a good recruit.

The Plank of Trustees met hurriedly when they heard the glad tidings and immediately proclaimed Williams president and member ex officio of all classes. The chairman of the plank, Bolt MacFearless, stated "I've been wanting a change for a long time, but the rest of the plank wouldn't go along with me. I can just see Dennis now, picking up cigarette butts in boot camp." And he laughed, the big, husky, belly laugh that accompanied his apparent pleasure.

A student committee was on hand to see that the recruiting men and armed service officials had no trouble in carrying out their task. They led Dr. Cooke away from the campus and he was shouting at the top of his esophagus "They can't do this to me." I guess they showed him. Nineteen of the students who came to watch the proceedings tried to stop the men, but they were pushed aside by the men in kahki.

Commander-in-chief Bofus Blowhard stated to the press that "we have just the place for a man of Dr. Cooke's intelligence!" "We have been looking for a man of his caliber to carry out our work in the Ubangi jungles—we think some of the natives have been stealing our thunder, and we need the rain." He remarked that Dr. Cooke would be sent to Fort Freeze, Alaska for his basic training and afterwards to Camp Cool-er, Colorado.

Well wishers (onlookers who wish he was thrown in a well) who came to see him off gathered around and sang the school fight song.

When news reached the dormitories, many students went into mourning—they felt that the petition to send their president to the service was merely a prank. The IPT (Iota Phelta Thi) fraternity declared that conditions were so serious due to Dr. Cooke's absence that they immediately met and planned a party at the new union building.

Williams took over where Dr. Cooke left off, sending out a letter to all the alumni as one of his first administrative acts, demanding more money for the operation of the college. He stated "We need to operate on a comfortable margin—if we are to take care of ourselves during the depression we must pinch every dollar until the president's picture fades" as he cracked his whip.

From here on out, it remains to the student body what it will do in view of the emergency. One point of view was summed up by one of the students when he said "I think I'll die." And forthwith he hid.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER TO BREAK GROUND FOR A NEW HPC COLISEUM AND STADIUM AT LAST FINALLY BY GOSH

President Dwight Q. Eisenhower will be here for the ground-breaking of the new coliseum and the new stadium to be built on the HPC campus, Dr. Dennis Cooke, president of the college, announced today.

Plans for the coliseum were drawn up by the architects, Bunk, Bunk, and Moore Bunk. The building, which will cost and estimated ten million, will be built on the land which is now occupied by the president's residence. Dr. Cooke's house, already in the process of being torn down, will be rebuilt on the land facing East College Drive. Since the building is to be completed by September, arrangements have already been made to bring the Ice Capades here next year. Another idea now being considered by Coach Yow would be to bring the Globe Trotters here to play the Panthers in the new coliseum.

Also being built at the same time will be a 100,000-seat stadium, to replace the one presently in use. The stadium will be the site of a new bowl, to be called The Mud Bowl. The money for this building is being donated by alumni. This stadium will contain the latest word in new ideas, one of which will be cushioned seats instead of benches. A concession stand, equipped to serve anything from a seven-course meal to a hot dog will be built on the west side of the field.

NEW REGULATIONS SET UP FOR WOMAN'S HALL; THEY'RE LULUS!

By Patricia Ann Martin

The girls in Woman's Hall are really living the life of Riley these days. The latest release on headlines is that Perry Como has just been made counselor of the girls. Regulations hardly exist. Just take a look at this: Girls have permission to stay out all night on the weekends but must be in by 2:30 a. m. on week nights. Boys can be seen strolling leisurely up the hall at most anytime of day.

In the convenience line, all the floors have been furnished with ankle deep carpets—Umm! luscious! And of course we all have private baths. Telephones are installed in every room.

Out on the front lawn we see all the girls decked in shorts as they come and go to classes. What is this over here? A swimming pool? Well, that is great. Yes, that is Dr. Cooke just making a position of House Father, all high dive form the 150 ft. diving board. Mrs. Perry who has just switched from the position of counselor to that of life guard is watching the students as she gets a sun tan on her knees.

Since Eddie Fisher has taken the girls find a lot of minor problems. He has such a soft, sympathetic shoulder. Maybe the next big step will be a gift of a seven carat diamond for each girl in the dorm.

The bushes in front look much healthier along now. The secret is, kissing booths have been installed from one end of Woman's Hall to the other. I know Dean Allred is happy about it—it was his suggestion on in the beginning, and all the boys were behind him 100%.

All these changes must be the answer to why none of the students will take more than 12 semester hours of work—they will get to stay around longer. That is what I call smart thinking.

Mudface To Press Suit

Ima Mudface, beloved sophomore of HPC and a major in abnormal sexology, is pressing suit against High Point College for a grade she was given on a term paper. Miss Mudface leveled charges against the administration for "refusing to look at the sensible side of her" situation.

The case, pending the acceptance by lawyers Jarrell, Jarrell and Carroll, will be brought up in the HPC domestic relations court this afternoon at 2:30. The amount involved in the suit is $250.00, and Miss Mudface is really pressing the suit, and I really mean pressing.

The case will be opened by judge Henry Hittemhard; jurors have been picked from Miss Mudface's class. Serving as defendant in the suit will be B. A. Williams, assisted by Harry Hossfat, dean of construction.

Attendance by members of the student's body is optional, but the proceedings promise to be very interesting. The trial will take place in Truman Hall, in the conference room.

On A Warm Day In Spring

It seems to us here in the offices of the High Pole, atop the tower of Bob's Hall, that the recent move by the administration in selling half the campus facilities to Elon College was a bit unwise. Understand, we are not taking issue with the administration; we are merely cross-fingeredly expressing a portion of our views.

We realize that Elon needs some new buildings, at least some buildings that are in better shape than they ones they had, but moving the new auditorium over there in order to make space for an outside ping-pong playground seems a bit on the ridiculous side. Understand, we are not trying to say that we needed more recreational facilities before plans were made for the new student union building, but we still contend that we needed the building almost as much as Elon does. Then too, there was a terrible hole left where the Music Department was, and just the other night a co-ed, on her way hurriedly to a night class, stepped off in the little canyon and no one has seen her since.

Understand, we are not trying to criticize, but the co-ed was my girl friend, and that hits pretty close to home (If my girl friend back home believes that, I'll get hit pretty close to home) and we feel that something should be done about it.

Also, selling the north end of the ad building wasn't such a smart thing. It's gets windy, even after the vernal equinox has done come, and what with those 17 degree breezes, it makes classes a little difficult. If we can't buy the end of the building back from Elon, we should at least get a curtain to hang over the opening.

Understand, we aren't criticizing — just a few well placed (we hope) suggestions.

What really makes us mad is the fact that we flipped double or nothing for the buildings, and we lost. That's really the source of the whole trouble.

Well, since this will be our last issue of the year, we'll just say thanks for reading us this year, and if it weren't for this hare-brained idea of putting out an April Fool's issue, we'd be right here with you, laughing instead of on our way home. Oh well, better luck next year!

Hurriedly, the editor

Quotes of the Weak

By Yelsom Yblehs

Question of the weak: Do you think sexology should be added to the curriculum of High Point College?

Phil Mowery casts his vote for sexology and further divulges that "we've got a lot of experts around here to teach the course. Frankly we don't have any students to take it—they know it already." I agree with you, but I must admit you're wrong.

"I think sexology would be a fine course," alleges Anne Kerr, "except we'd all have to change our majors." Like starting something you can't begin, eh?

From the jocular-minded Wayne Brewer comes the affirmative "I don't see why not—the subject is here to stay." Izzatso?

Charles Maulsby is prone to believe sexology "would be a good crisp course." But what about the homework, Charles?

Logical reasoning (I think) is used by Roger Davis, who comments, "The birds and the bees know about it, so why shouldn't HPC students?" Don't look now, but you may have a point.

David Abernathy's conviction is that it would "be stimulating" to say the least. Well . . . !

"I most certainly do — with plenty of lab work," announces Bill Frye. This boy has got to go.

Observant Jan Kirkman doesn't "really see why it need be added." According to her "It is already here."

For a course "where the professor has the undivided attention of every student," sexology would be Barbara Morrison's choice. Nothing like this subject to enliven dull sleepers.

Then there is Anonymous Gray, who innocently remarks, "Uh huh — yeah — absolutely — by the way, what is it?" Quick, a pin! This kid's asleep!

Epistles From Indignant
Readers

Dear editor,

I'm darn mad.

I've got a right to be.

I think your paper stinks. It wouldn't make a good grade of packing material. Ever article in it speaks of pseudo-intellectualism, lofty towers, stilted ideals, trite expressions and stupid witticisms.

Yes I'm mad—I think I deserve to get better reading material. I think you, dear editor, aren't worth the food you complain about. And you know it. Neither is the paper worth the ink it's printed with.

How you got elected, I'll never know, but it was a sad mistake. If I had been here last year, I would have personally run against you just to keep you out of office.

Who do you think you are, issuing us a paper like yours? You probably won't print this letter because you are afraid of the truth. And while I'm on that subject, they put out a better paper than you do. If you think you have been getting by with that thing you call a newspaper published by the students of High Point College, you're mistaken. I'm going to have you investigated, and if possible, yea, verily, literally kicked out of school on harrass. Just wait, I'll get you yet!

Spiteingly,
B. L. S

(Editor's note: The views expressed by our kind reader do not necessarily express the sentiments of the High Pole staff and editor. If Mr. B. L. S. will meet me behind Harrison Gymnasium tonight at 2:00, I'll be more than glad to talk over this problem with him. While the High Pole staff does not claim to be a perfect publication, we feel that it could be worse.)

The music department now has Steinway grand pianos in every practice room. Since the music building has been soundproofed, the music students can't get used to the silence, so they all leave the doors open so they can hear each other. This works fine until Helena Trabell starts practicing.

The A Cappella Choir, accompanied by the Phil Harmonic Orchestra, sang on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the town." The program consisted of a group of numbers by "Batch" (Bach) which included "Shoo Fly Don't Bother Me," "Alexander's Ragtime Band" with Johnny Ray Gaskins as soloist. The last inspiring number was "The Dark Town Strutters Ball."

RECITAL

A successful recital was presented on March 31, 1955, by the students and teachers of the music department. Dr. Lewis, dressed as Gene Autry, sang "Home on the Range," accompanied by Miss Fields on the guitar. The performance was so lovely that it drove everyone to tears. Betty Mullinix was so overwhelmed that she sat down and bawled.

Carmen Mullinix with her rendition of "Habenera" sent the music department into a state of magnetism. She was accompanied by a chorus of cigarette girls consisting of Libby Murray, Barbara Payne, Louise Gaudin, Betty Frazier Sylvia Fox and Ellen Torrence all smoking cigarettes. Carmen Mullinix was featured in the center smoking a cigar.

A lovely piano duet was played by Mr. Cox and Miss Fields. The number entitled "Liberace Fantasia" turned out to be "Lib-erace is Fantastic."

Libby Murray, who has been doing some creative work, sang a number which she wrote and dedicated to her history teacher, Mr. McDonald, who had just given a history test. The number was entitled "Oh Wasn't it an Awful Sight When I Stayed Awake All Night."

Jack Peacock and Helena Smith then closed the program by singing the final duet from opera "Telephone" which was entitled "Ting Ling."

Helena and Libby will get all A's on their music courses now that they have locked the professors in their rooms and made them promise to give all A's before letting them out. (Who do you think you're kidding girls? You'll probably make all F's.)

MUSIC MAJOR

Mag Murrinostis
Mag is a very talented girl from the hills of Franklin, who has come to High Point College and made good. Being from a small town and knowing nothing about what goes on in a big city, Mag has done exceedingly well.

Struggling for hours everyday at the piano, she finally found that she could play a scale. Yes, in one year she learned how to play a scale. The second year, she practiced even longer, determined to make good. She accomplished so much that it was unbelievable. She found that she could play "Yankee Doodle" this year being her junior year she is working even harder. She practices every spare minute of the day. She doesn't even go to meals, just practices. Yes this quiet girl from the hills of Franklin will certainly go far in this world.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity initiated seventy-five new brothers last Thursday night. Sixty two of the pledges were unable to be initiated because of grades. The Delta Sigs are leading in the ice hockey intramurals with Hardy Tew as the leading scorer. Ken Frazier is the proud father of a set of quintuplets. Instead of naming them he is going to number them. The N. D. M. bombers have just accepted a bid to play in the NCAA basketball tournament.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The PiKAs flew over in a airplane and dropped out bids and pledged two hundred and twenty-eight this semester. Plans to build an annex on the the fraternity house are being made according to reports from president Bill Hipps. 42 of the members just returned from a week-end trip to the Bahamas for a party. The PiKAs are near the top in the chess tournament and are expecting to win.

Plans are being made for the annual Scream Squirrel Ball with Jazzbo Collins and Frigid Five.

THETA CHI

The Theta Chis have just moved into their new house at 3000 Montlieu Avenue. The house will accommodate one hundred and ninety eight men and is equipped with a gym, ballroom, swimming pool, and bathroom. They will hold open house soon.

The National office is contemplating moving the national offices to High Point. This was brought about by the retiring president, Dick Owens, being elected Grand President of Theta Chi.

The Theta Chis pledged ninety six this semester and dropped ninety seven.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity has purchased a seventy five acre tract of land adjoining their house. They plan to build a lake and cabin as well as baseball and football practice field. Also plans for an outdoor gymnasium are included in the project.

An activity bus has been purchased by the fraternity to tour the United States with their Clown Basketball Team. They will be at Madison Square Garden on May 14. They also plan to use this bus to "Gang Date" in.

Manpower: Alumni 2030, Actives 89, Pledges 93.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The Sig Ep pledges have just finished painting the Sig Ep house on the inside. It took four months to complete the job with about twenty of the pledges working each day.

David Abernathy was hastily married last week. Other romances in the fraternity are: Bob Ross pinned to (name withheld to protect the girl), and Wayne Brewer pinned to Rosa Jarrett. Jimmy Hunter also pinned Hazel Shore.

The chapter has already sent bids to all prospective students to join the fraternity. It is their hope that they can get the jump on the rest of the fraternities.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

The Tekes have awarded five scholarship to basketball players to play for the fraternity next year. Team went undefeated all season and has just returned from New York where the played in the T. K. E. national tournament which they won.

They pledged the largest number this semester with two hundred and forty one. They only sent out two hundred and forty bids and one person came and asked if he could join.

The TEKES and planning to have a national TEKE Ball in which all TEKES everywhere will be invited. They plan to hold this dance in the High Point College new modern Ballroom.

LAMBDA ALPHA PHI

The members of the Lambda Alpha Phi sorority have just completed plans for a trip to the planet Mars for the week following the Easter holidays. They are to represent High Point College at the Universal Sorority Convention there. This is the first delegation of its kind to represent the college in outer space.

The Lambda girls will be the guest of a relative of their sorority president, who owns the Marsland Hotel in the capitol city.

Captain Midnight of the Space Patrol will personally fly the girls to their destination and will help them get acquainted with the city.

The president of Mars announced today that the citizens of Mars would do everything in their power to make the stay of their visitors from earth a pleasant one.

SIGMA ALPHA PHI

The members of Sigma Alpha Phi have settled on the solution of joining a national organization. They and the members of the TKE fraternity have always been such a devoted group and they have found a way for them to be one fraternity. So when we speak of the TKE's now, we have a brother-sister fraternity and their handsomely built identical fraternity homes are side by side. (Continued on Page Three)

The Idiots Corner

Well here we are, just the two of us, sitting in the corner, brushing cobwebs off this corner of the paper. How are you today? I see you you, do you see me? Ha, ho, he. I'm just a babbling idiot. But I get paid for writing, so here we are, just the two of us. I'm glad you're here because I get lonely at times. It seems every time I go where a crowd is, I'm the only one left. As I said, I'm glad you're here.

What's that crawling on my arm. Oh, it's one of those itty bitty bugs. You know they're always hanging around. Hey, it's coming toward my middle shoulder — get it off Thanks.

Well, here we are, just the two of us.

Did you see the men from mars that were here yesterday? I didn't either, and I looked everywhere for them. Oh well, I guess it's OK. Somebody told me they were down at the book store looking for a mars bar.

I wish somebody would come by and untie my straight-jacket — it's hard to type with my nose. Specially since I have a cold. Well, gadzooks, here come my friend Burt Mc-Squirt. "Hello Burt." "Hello Glyzxtpt, how is everything today?" "Fine; how are you?" "Well, my girl friend just left me." "Oh, that's too bad; sit down here under the table with me and tell me all about it." "Believe I will. Say aren't you feeling bad? You sure look done in." "Done in what?" "Done in trouble — here comes the dean." "Ohmygoodness-gracious, let's get outta here before he finds out I swiped his attendance records."

The scene shifts, and so do you dear reader — you're probably as tired of reading this as I am writing it, but, as I said, I get paid, and I have to fill up this space.

Too bad about Burt. While we were running away from the dean, he fell into a man whole. What a terrible way to die.

Well, here we are, just the two of us. Wait a minute—don't stop reading. Soon as I get the lid off this garbage can so I can see, I'll write some more.

Now. That's better. Boy, it sure is hot in here. Are you hot? How about opening a window. What'd you say? He's sick? That's no accomplishment — so am I! When are the troops coming. I'm afraid. Frightened. It's clammy in here. Are you clammy? You ought to be at the beach. Dum dee dee dum dum dahn.

Here come those horrible men in the pretty white uniforms. I think they see me. I'm sure they don't, but it's not safe to risk anything. One little peep won't hurt. Just one little tiny peep. Huh O! It fell down; darn, what a noise. Oh oh, here they com . . .

(Editor's note—Our noted columnist, winner of the Loopitzer Prize for Incoherent Babbings in '55 has been transferred to another department. Due to his unfortunate haste, he was not able to finish his column, but we print it here just as we found it. Strangely enough, it was lying on the sidewalk, near an overturned garbage can. Oh well, it's 3:00 in the morning, and time for all decent people to be in the bed. Goodnight!)

Crampus Boobers

Written For All Bird Lovers

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, and the boys around High Point College are by no means any exceptions. The new romances have been budding like the pear trees behind the Woman's Hall. There is a sweet romance budding between Sue (Ebb Tide) Butt and that cute Lambda Chi. He even took phone duty for Sue the other Saturday night. Very good, huh?

"Bunny" Warren has been turning his fancies to Mona Currie and Shirley Jones. Bunny is taking Mona to the Jr.-Sr. prom and dating them both on week ends. I hardly see how he keeps from getting confused since this is a rather busy schedule for a school boy. Oh, by the way, I think that he might draw straws for his date for the Ralph Marterie Spring Frolics. (Bunny, I wouldn't put it off too long.)

When one thinks of June, he thinks of Joan Bennett, Carl Thompson, and Sandra Wilcox as perfect June brides. Their future husbands are getting some mighty fine wives. Best of luck to you all!

Joe Sourwin seems right interested in Freda Redding. Of course, he has only seen her once, but those big brown eyes pulled a snow job right from the first. Her new 55 Oldsmobile was just an added attraction, eh Joe?

When one falls desperately in love with another member of the opposite sex, there is just one thing to do and that is get married. Well, Paige Williamson and Mark Wimmer did just that! They were hitched in August, and announced their marriage the other day. I sincerely hope that the old wheel of fortune will stop on you.

I surely wonder when "Peanut" is moving in the dorm. He is just as much at home there as is the pillar furniture. Peanut doesn't come to see any one in particular, but drops by to see us all. I bet Martha Ellington wishes that she could get in on all of this, but being a day student has a few disadvantages, doesn't it Martha?

WANTED: Two hundred girls in Woman's Hall are in desperate need for dates to the Spring Frolic, April 27. They will accept any size, shape, or form just as long as "IT" is a male. Do it today; don't delay! Call 9217 at your earliest convenience, and for heavens sakes, please invite a local coed before you wander to W. C.

Pete Bougadas told me the other day that he wanted to date Helen Rakestraw. I know Pete isn't bashful, so frankly I can't understand his hesitation unless he is too busy singing.

Mount Airy was the scene of the big week end for Jean Ruffy and Craig Kester, Martha Ellington and Sleepy Burrows, and Jerry Kennerly. I think they were amazed at the Blue Bird Cafe that Andy Griffith refers to in his latest hit "Make Yourself Comfortable." Deacon Andy is from Mount Airy, you know, and as he would say, let's quit this gab and get on with it. O. K.?

This is a word to the wise! Why in heaven's name doesn't Ray Skidmore wake up to the fact that there is a girl in the dorm that is absolutely nuts about him. Ray, she is a mighty cute girl so I would look into this matter at once. I best don't mention her name, but her initials are Nell.

Everett Caise Hired To Coach Basketball Here

MURRAY FROM DUKE TO HELP; YOW TO PLAY

By Ybstuan Eilrahe

Coach Everett Case, formerly of N. C. State College will be the coach of High Point College for the 1955-56 season. (Ironically enough, this bulletin was revealed on April 1st.) Hal Bradley, former coach of Duke, also resigned from that position to become Case's assistant.

When HPC officials first contacted Case about the job, Case said, "Where's High Point?" Then HPC officials told Case about the need for a coach here and told him that starting salary was a whopping $2000.00 per year. At this point Case burst into a hysterical laugh. (We point out that Case has been receiving $10,000.00 per year.) After he had gotten control of himself he said, "I'll take the job." Case also remarked, "I'm tired of making so much money and I feel that my coaching at HPC will be an example to other coaches who have become rich at the expense of large schools."

When a High Pole reporter approached Hal Bradley concerning the coveted $1500.00 a year asst. coaches job at HPC, he remarked, "Duh-h-h." He also said, "I can't beat Case so I'll join him."

The question now was what to do with Virgil Yow. After a quick check into the registrars files it was found that Yow has another year of eligibility. Then some "jerk" wanted to know what courses he would take and Dean Allred revealed that Yow had cut assembly 5 times in his senior year, and if he would go to chapel he could get credit for it. Former Coach Yow said, "I would also like to take a refresher course in Spanish for I really need it in the sports world."

With coaches Case and Bradley and front line man Virgil Yow the panthers are sure win. Gene Duke has been promoted to water boy, taking over Marty Neustadt's job after Marty tendered his resignation. Former Manager Neustadt says, "I've watered the boys

Dr. Cooke And Trustees Give $500,000 For Scholarships

By Ima Sport

Sunny Jim Tatum is a very confident man this spring. He feels he's got a winner at powerful HPC. His players sense the same thing, and they are going through their drills with hustle and determination. The blockers are blocking, the runners are running, and the passers are passing. What more could anyone ask?

We first met Jim in the spacious and picturesque stadium of High Point College. His big growling voice could be heard above the sound of grinding cleats. His will to win makes this reporter feel that he is the best man for the job of bringing a successful team to HPC. He has been at various other schools such as Carolina, Maryland, Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa, Yale, East Overshoe, Waybelow Normal, and now High Point College.

Dr. Cooke and his Board of Trustees have been more than helpful in providing $500,000 in scholarships for his athletes. They have even been so good as to employ three assistant coaches. Red Saunders from UCLA, Herman Hickman from Yale, and a comparative newcomer in the ranks Alonzo Stagg. However, there is one coach that Sunny Jim would like to have obtained, but couldn't, due to the man's loyalty to his old alma mater—Podunk U. The man he is referring to is the incomparable Joe Whatshisname. This is still a very impressive group that has been gathered together. They will be very valuable in giving Tatum sound advice, good organization, and keep him company on those long trips to the Midwest.

We asked Sunny Jim what the exact amount of funds he has at his disposal. Only 500,000 dollars was the reply. (Of course this includes equipment) He said he would use the money for 36 scholarships to players, hire 8 managers with dry towels and full water buckets, and then give the rest to Mr. Williams. Some yokel in the crowd asked Jim if he intended to keep the trainer with the big muscles and small heat lamp, Marty Neustadt. At this point his voice grew mellow and calm, and then said "Shoot the damyankee." The reporter, being from Indiana, grew insulted and quickly rode away on his speedy bicycle.

Through finegeling, Jim has come up with a bumper crop of athletes. Such stars as Paschal and Jurgensen of Duke, Ken Keller of UNC, Bob Federicks of Wake Forest, Pete Vann and Pat Ubell of Army, Mickey Bates and J. C. Caroline of Illinois, and Bill Cassidy of Ohio State. These players will all have 4 years of eligibility at HPC because they are over 18 years of age. These stars were all

Now that football is returning to High Point College some new rules have been uncovered in the National Inter-collegiate Football Manual. Each player is allowed one wide open "slug" at an opponent in each quarter without penalty. It seems that this rule was enacted to prevent a player from "gouging" an opponents eyes out under a pileup. In our opinion this is a most generous ruling for now a player will not have that "sneaky" look on his face after a game. Another rule that we uncovered that will help High Point College get on its feet is that in the event a player with the ball cannot advance with the ball he may turn around and run a touchdown to the other goal, provided he does not get slugged in the process. We think that this style of play will eventually lead to more and better prize fighters. This style of play may seem a little harsh to some but just think of how tough your fist will be after a few games and also it is very becoming to a boy these days to have a dark circle around his blue eyes. Any way you look at it every one will benefit from these new rules.

NEW REGULATIONS

After reading about all those scholarships that are being given away one might think that there could be no catch but I, Grotto the sport, have news for you. You must join a club which meets every Monday and the only way to get in the door is to present your membership card which is a Maryln Monroe Calendar. It must be an original and we will have an expert, Joe Dimaggio, at the door to inspect the calendars. So you see it will not be an easy task obtaining those membership cards for it has become a collector's item.

NEW PLAYERS FOR BASKETBALL

Some new players have been added to the basketball team which will add to our prestige. Such notable stars as Jonny Ballbelly, who starred at Pumpkin Creek High; Bill Bowlegs, from Saddlehorse, N. C.; David Crooked, from Snakecrawl, Va.; Charley Pumphandle, from Leaksville; and Joe Jones from Nowhere. I am sure that these players will put HPC back on top.

PUT AWAY THE MILK, COACH

From the breweries at Milwaukee word comes that beer is not harmful to athletes, in fact they contend that it aids a player to sweat in case he is not hustling. This will make the coach think that he is playing his heart out and all the while he may only be loafing. So athletes, don't listen to that old fashion "sob" story that the coach hands you, when you feel like it just go out before each game and get a few "cool ones" if you feel like not hustling in a game. (Flash—Coach Yow just made a raid at Steeles.)

OUR OWN BEGONIA!

Begonia Swizzlehip, the woman's basketball star has just been elected as Miss Potato Sack of 1955. Begonia beat out 43 other contestants for this coveted award. She won on the basis of her basketball skill and of course, her beauty. She appeared at the contest draped in a full flowing burlap bag sprinkled with silvercolored potato eyes. Her two front teeth were missing and her face was as bumpy and dirty as usual. Her legs had a full years growth of flowing black hair on them which she had parted down the middle. She was a sight to behold and I would like to emphasize "sight." Our congratulations to Begonia Swizzlehip who in our estimation is a credit to High Point College for her outstanding basketball play and her beauty.

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip ... and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette ... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Slob of the Year

BY HARVEY HOSSHEAD

Our personality of the month is that well known personality of the campus, Lena Ginster. Lena is that charming, vivacious, emaciated hulk of a bag who is considered by many (well, one anyway) the pride of the campi. Lena was born in the famous town of Big Butte, Montana, but at an early age she developed a bad case of sinus in her middle nostril, and was forced to move to the dry climate of High Point College. The unusual thing about Lena's coming to our campus is that she arrived in 1918, and the college wasn't built until 1924! When asked about this, Lena gave me that big toothless grin she's so famous for and said simply (How else?) "Intuition, I guess."

LENA GINSTER

... Man What Ham!

Lena remembers many things about our campus, and at any time she is willing to drag some helpless victim into a dark corner and tell him at gun point of her many interesting experiences. Things like: When Duncan Redditt didn't go to school here, when "Dirty Lil" wasn't a mother, and when the Coach didn't even have a program!

I was surprised that Lena would know all these things, but she merely replied, "After 95 semesters as a freshman, what did you expect!" Lena is especially interested in politics and law, having been a prominent witness at the McCarthy trials (she wears red CENSORED), and at the Jelke trials because she CENSORED (whew!, Ed.) Lena is prominent in campus activities, and serves as president of the "Thank Gosh it's Saturday Club."

I left Lena (at the point of a gun, she doesn't like people who won't stay!) as she was rolling another wad of cigarette butts in an old Hi-Po. "Milder, much milder," she coughed.

(The character mentioned above is not actual, and any one who thinks they know Lena, should have their mouth washed out with soap.)

THE HEREIN AND WHEREAT OF THE NOBLE
TALES O. KING OGLETHORPE AND HIS SQUARES OF THE NIGHT TABLE
A Tale Told by an Idiot

Act I, Scene II (scene I omitted for reasons omitted)

(Scene II takes place in the hall of O. King Oglethorpe's castle where he is awaiting the roundup of his most noble squares.)

Enter squares: Sir Cube (real solid square), Sir Glance-a-lot (drink-a-lot, dance-a-lot), Sir Galahadn't, and many others.

Sir Cube: Hail, O. King!
Sir Glance-a-lot: Sleet, O. King!
Sir Galahadn't: Snow, O. King!
O. King Oglethorpe: Sloppy weather we're having, eh wot?
Sir Cube: Whyfore hast thou summoned us, O. King?
Sir Glance-a-lot: Yes, Whyfore hast thou?
Sir Galahadn't: Yes, whyfore?
O. King Oglethorpe: My niece hast ridden from yon towers for the most noble purpose of hooking one of you squares.

Sir Cube: O prithee who shall be the lucky dog, O. King?
Sir Glance-a-lot: Yes, who shall be the dog?
Sir Galahadn't: What dog?

O. King Oglethorpe: All of you must vie for her hand.
Three Squares: Let's get on with it, vie all means.
(Three squares vie.)

Sir Cube (leaping to his feet as he wins) Curses! Just my luck!
(Enter niece, E-lane, E-path, or E-road)

E-lane, etc. (running to Sir Cube) Man, if you ain't the coolest!
And they lived ever before and after.

EXIT, FINI, AND THE END

Reavis, Perry Selected To Head Positions On The Hi-Po Staff

Reavis, Editor Perry, Business Manager

Jimmy Reavis has been recently named as Editor-In-Chief of the 1955-56 HI-PO, the official college newspaper. John Perry has been selected to fill the position of Business Manager. This was recently announced by David Abernathy, retiring editor, after the usual procedure of nomination by the staff and approval by the publications committee.

Reavis, a native of Kannapolis, has been an editorial staff member for two years, serving as subordinate to Abernathy this year as managing editor. Reavis' journalistic interests date back to his high school days when he edited the Cannon Report, the high school's monthly publication. He is a pledge member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and is married to Martha Elaine Reavis, a rising senior.

Perry, a rising senior from High Point, will assume the duties of Sue Gary, retiring business manager. John has served as associate business manager of the Hi-Po this year and his services have been invaluable toward the success of the seven-column bi-weekly paper. Perry, outstanding on campus and known familiarly as "Sober Son" is a brother of N. C. Eta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Both Reavis and Perry will assume their official duties with the printing of this issue.

Johnny Mann has been named by Reavis as managing editor. Barbara Wilson will assist Perry as associate business manager. Other staff positions will be announced in the first publication of the next school year.

DORM MEN ENJOY TV

The men students of McCulloch Hall are now enjoying television at its best from a new Westinghouse 21-inch set. David Francis, president of McCulloch Hall, said that the new set was purchased by the dormitory council from dormitory funds and the trade-in value of the old set. The new set is in operation almost twenty-four hours a day, Francis stated.

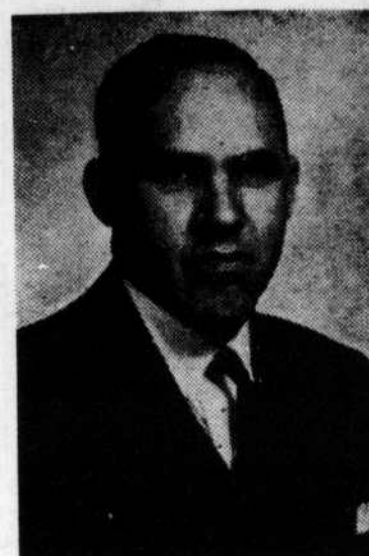

Commencement Exercises For Senior Class Of 1955 Are Announced By Dr. Cooke

C. P. Morris

Allen, Bowles and Morris To Receive Honorary Degrees

Assistant Secretary of State George Allen, the Rev. Charles P. Bowles, and the Rev. C. P. Morris will receive honorary degrees at the High Point College Commencement exercises to be held Monday, May 30, at 10:30 a. m. Recipients and their respective degrees are as follows: Allen, Doctor of Civil Law; the Rev. Bowles, Doctor of Divinity; and the Rev. Morris, Doctor of Divinity. The Board of Trustees of High Point College voted in a recent meeting to make these awards.

Born in Durham in 1903, Allen received the A. B. degree from Duke and the M. A. from Harvard. After employment as a high school teacher and a newspaper reporter, and service with the Department of Commerce, in 1931 he was appointed a Foreign Service Officer and assigned to Kingston, Jamaica. Successive foreign posts included assignments in the Far East and Near East, and ambassadorships to Iran, Yugoslavia, India, and Nepal. He served as Chairman of the United States Delegation to the UNESCO Conference held in Beirut, Lebanon, in 1948.

The Rev. Bowles was born at Guilford College in 1906. He was graduated from Greensboro High School and attended Guilford College and Duke University, receiving the A. B. degree from the latter institution in 1928. He received the M. A. degree in 1931 and the B. D. in 1932. The Rev. Bowles joined the Western North Carolina Conference in 1930, and since 1949 has served Dilworth Methodist Church in Charlotte. He has thrice served as delegate to the Southern Jurisdictional Conference; has served on the Conference Board of Education, and at present is on its executive committee; he is a member of the Conference Board of Investigation; a trustee of Duke, Brevard, Children's Home and Camp Tekoa; a member of the Board of Managers of the Methodist Home for the Aged; and vice-president of the North Carolina Pastors' School.

The Rev. C. P. Morris was born in Fallston in 1911. After attending Fallston schools he was graduated cum laude from High Point College in 1933 with an A. B. degree. He later attended Westminster Theological Seminary and in 1938 received his B. D. degree from the Divinity School at Duke. He was elected executive secretary of the Board of Education of the North Carolina Conference in 1950 and has served in that capacity since. Through the Inter-Conference Commission on Student Religious Work, he has given considerable time to development of the Wesley Foundation and Methodist Student Work in the colleges and universities of North Carolina.

Program To Begin Wednesday, May 25

By Gelene Hutchens

Commencement exercises for the 1955 graduating class of High Point College will be in Memorial Auditorium on the morning of May 29 and 30. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday, May 29, at 11:00 A. M. by the Rev. Charles P. Bowles, pastor of Dilworth Methodist Church in Charlotte. Monday May 30, at 10:30 A. M., assistant secretary George Allen will deliver the commencement address.

The Rev. Bowles has the A. B., M. A., and B. D. degrees from Duke University. He has served various pastorates since joining the Western North Carolina Conference in 1930 and has held many executive positions in various Methodist organizations and institutions. He has attended and spoken at conferences, assemblies, and religious emphasis weeks.

In addition to the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, two musical programs from the Tower bells by Miss Ernestine Fields are scheduled for 10:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. There will be a senior vesper service in Memorial Auditorium at 5:00 p. m.

Allen, a native of Durham has devoted many years to public service on the national and international levels. He holds the A. B. degree from Duke and the A. M. from Harvard. He has held foreign posts in the near east and far east, and ambassadorships to Iran, Yugoslavia, India, and Nepal. He has done work in the United Nations and was recently appointed assistant secretary of state for near eastern, South Asian, and African affairs.

At the final graduation exercises on Monday the Rev. Tuttle, pastor of First Methodist Church of High Point, will deliver the invocation. Degrees will be awarded by Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, assisted by Dr. C. R. Hinshaw and Prof. J. H. Alred. Dr. Hinshaw will also make the presentations of honors and awards.

The Rev. Morris and the two speakers are slated to receive honorary degrees from High Point College at the commencement exercises. The Rev. Bowles will receive the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree; assistant secretary of State Allen, the honorary Doctor of Civil Law degree; and the Rev. Morris, the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

The Rev. Morris holds the A. B. degree, cum laude, from High Point College and the B. D. from Duke. He has held pastorates in the Methodist Church as well as many executive positions. Through the inter-conference commission on student religious work, he has given considerable time to the development of the Wesley Foundation and Methodist Student Work in the colleges and universities of North Carolina.

Officers Elected By The Day Students

The Day Students of High Point College, in a meeting held April 29, voted to give $100 of the $321.74 in their treasury toward the Student Government debt incurred by the Spring Frolics.

Other business approved was the election of a new slate of officers and the decision to set aside $100 into a scholarship fund for a worthy non-ministerial student from the Children's Home.

At a later meeting it was decided to have a picnic May 15, at 2 o'clock at the City Lake. The co-chairmen for the arrangements committee were Barbara Wilson and Larry Strange.

Tower Players Present Final Play, 'Nick Of The Woods'

Have you hissed the villain? Have you applauded the hero? If not, you had a chance. Last Thursday and Friday at 8:00 there were two presentations by the Tower players of "Nick of the Woods."

Here is a real old-fashioned melodrama originally produced at the Bowery Theatre in New York in 1839. The Tower Players are excited over discovering this genuine piece of American folklore. The version they used has been edited by Tom Taggart, the well-known playwright.

You've heard of dual roles in the theatre and movies, where one character plays two people? "Nick of the Woods" goes that "four" better for in this play was a character who appears as six different people. This virtuoso part which is known at various times throughout the play's progress as Reginald Ashburn, Bloody Nathan, Nick of the Woods, The Jibbenainosay, Spirit of the Waters, and The Avenger, is played by Mark Rose.

Other equally important roles are the lovely heroine, Jeannine Easterling; the noble hero, Larry Strange; the wicked villain, Bob Davidson; while Betty Mullinix appeared as Tellie, the Renegade's daughter, the Indian maiden who gives her life for love.

Others in the lengthy cast were: Bill Straughn, Charles Maultsby, Bob Scott, John Burton, John Riersen, Bronna Deaton, Ellen Torrence, Helena Smith, Vincent Leong, Jim Scott, and Emma Hart-sell.

In the chorus of settlers who add music to the drama were Angie Gaskins, Pat Mize, Sara Martin, Betty Rose Templeton, Jack Pea-

Mister High Point College

To describe David "Abbey" Abernathy, his offices, and his accomplishments is virtually impossible.

Yet, his accomplishments for the college and for the student body seem equally difficult. He began his intensive and extensive career at High Point College almost as soon as he came here in the fall of 1951. His freshman year was filled with activities with work in the book store, post office, Hi-Po staff, Zenith staff, I. R. C., M. S. F., Kappa Chi, Tower Players and his position with an up-town studio.

Through the next three years Abbey came to hold two of the highest offices on campus—president of SGA and Editor-in-Chief of the Hi-Po.

Abbey is the very personification of energy unbound. Facetious yet sincere, determined yet humble, prudent yet understanding, he has won for himself a permanent position of highest esteem among his fellow students and the faculty.

Largely through his efforts the new constitution was drafted and adopted unanimously by the student body. With his experience and leadership the Hi-Po received a second-honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press; the paper increased from a six to a seven column publication.

Photography, relatively unknown at HPC in 1951, has grown by leaps and bounds until High Point College now boasts of the best publicity departments in any college in North Carolina. Abbey pioneered in this field.

If you have bothered to read any commentaries on the Tower Players' productions you will notice that the lighting effects are always, without a doubt, rated as 'excellent.' Abbey controlled the lighting.

"Spring Frolics" featuring a big-name band was a first this year; Abbey materialized the long-thought-of dream.

A charter member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, he has always served his brotherhood well. He served as vice-president his senior year.

A member of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, Abbey intends to enter Emory University to do a three-year graduate course in religion and sociology; these studies lead to the B. D. degree.

Abbey, personality of the year, pioneer for the cause of student liberties, journalist, leader extraordinaire, and friend of all will be missed!

David Myles Abernathy, Mister High Point College.

This Issue Dedicated To Seniors

Once again that "long line of splendor" winds its way down the aisle, across the stage, and out into the world. Always constantly moving it passes year by year. With it goes many pleasant memories of the years past, and many hopes and expectations of the years to come.

There is not one here who does not envy the position of each senior as he or she gets his degree. Many hours of hard work have been put into their accomplishments; many class have been met, many trials have been overcome. For their work and endurance they deserve much praise and honor.

In this the last issue the Hi-Po is dedicated to them, the class of 1955!

Question of the week: What are your plans for the summer?

Hazel shore plans to get a job for the summer. That is, after she "lives it up" at the beach with the KD's."

When asked his agenda, Wayne Ruth had this to say: "Have you forgotten, Shelby, I'm getting married?" I guess that will have to do for an answer.

"Me. I'll be living on the golf course getting ready to beat Ben Hogan and all those other boys," asserts Franklin (Flatboys), the new champ will be top) Rutledge. Better watch it, moving in.

Two serious-minded boys, Tom Skelton and W. L. Ward, have summer school as their fate. just can't "get away from the lovely classrooms."

Meet the lucky one, Dale Swarngen, who "never plans—Marcia does it, for him. Result: One interesting summer coming up!

Skippy Feldman is aiming to "play ball all day, loaf, and forget all about High Point College." Now, is that a nice thing to do ??

From now on just call Johnny Mann "Bridge-building Johnny—the construction Mann." His summer work is with the State Bridge Construction Company.

"To work at the city playgrounds and goof off at the city lake pool" is Martha Ellington's idea as to how to spend a summer! And I thought a pool was for swimming!

Linda Sechrest will "be busy cleaning house—the family's of course." But, natch!

Summer spells baseball for Barbara Putt, who plans "to move," figuratively speaking, "over to Finch Field for the baseball season."

Zack Clinard's course of action includes "summer school, more books, and more studies." According to him, "I just can't get enough of them." Something tells me you are being the slightest bit ironic, Zack.

"I plan to work at the city recreation department. You've got it made there—work and play at the same time. Sometimes it is all work and no pay though." These are the future aspirations of David Lowe. Note: There's always a catch somewhere.

Lazy (pardon me) Ruth Reynolds doesn't "plan anything and doesn't expect anything. Then if I get a chance to do something, it will be a pleasant surprise." Happy unexpectancy, Ruth!

STUDENT WRITES

HPC Intramural Program Is Criticized

Dear Editor:

I have a definite complaint to make concerning the management of intramurals at High Point College. This could be construed to be directed to one man; it should be.

This letter is not from the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, but from one man in that fraternity although it reflects the sentiments of the Tekes and many other people on campus.

Mr. Paschal, admittedly, has many and varied duties and responsibilities; that just serves to point out the fact that the man in his position should be more concrete in defining the policies to be followed.

I have no argument concerning the policies followed in deciding the champions of football, volleyball or basketball; not because we won those sports, but because there was a definite policy explained about each before the season even got underway. Softball is a different story; again, not because we lost, but because there was no policy until the final game had already been played. This could easily lead one to believe that a rearrangement was made in order (as much as possible) to direct to the championship the team which he favored.

Upon two occasions the coach of the Tekes asked Mr. Paschal just what policy he would follow, this was even after the season (Continued on Page Six)

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Mr. Cox, sang for a vocational conference at Morganton on April 30. On May 1 the choir sang for the First Methodist Church at Hickory.

The choir has elected its officers for next year. They are: Frank McCulloch, president; Joe Compton, vice-president; Angie Gaskins, secretary; Garland Gammon, business manager; Bobbie Barret, historian; Harry Long, student legislature delegate.

THE CONCERT BAND

The Concert Band, under the direction of Dr. Lewis, will present an evening concert on May 25 in Memorial Auditorium.

BACCALAUREATE

The A Cappella Choir will sing for the Baccalaureate and commencement services. An instrumental group from the band will also render music. Miss Fields will play the processional and recessional marches.

CONCERT AND RECITALS

The High Point Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Lewis, presented its annual Spring concert in Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, May 14, at 4:00 o'clock. The orchestra is made up of college and high school students and community musicians. Among the compositions played were Gluck "Iphigenia in Aulis", J. Haydn's "Military Symphony" and selections from "Charterhouse" suite by Vaughan Williams.

On May 10 there was a concert of secular music presented by the Women's Glee Club, Men's Double Quartet and men of the A Cappella Choir. Soloists were Betty Mullinix, Betty Rose Templeton, and Sylvia Fox.

On May 16 the Music Department presented a recital for the Musical Art Club. Students participating are: Robert Clark, tuba; Regina Dunn, Clarinet; ene Watkins, trombone; Pianists are: Barbara Payne, Libby Murray and Louise Gaudin. Vocalists: Angie Gaskins, Ellen Torrence, Helena Smith, Jack Peacock and Bob Combs.

Another recital to be presented by the music department will be the commencement recital on May 26. Both recitals will take place in Memorial Auditorium.

KAPPA DELTA

The KD's held their white Rose Banquet April 30 at the Woman's Club in Thomasville. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Josey-Brown Combo from Albemarle. Their sweetheart was Jimmy Reavis.

Since it was voted not to have the May Day dance, Kappa Delta held a May Day dance in the student center. "Big-name bands were present galore as the students danced to the records of Ray Anthony, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, and others.

Three new girls will join Kappa Delta as they hold their second initiation service tomorrow. Shirley Jones, Ruthie Ridge, and Barbara Payne will be initiated at that time. Tomorrow night both girls and pledges will have a weiner roast at the lake of an alumna, Mrs. John Yow of Greensboro.

SIGMA ALPHA PHI

The Sigma girls held their banquet and dance April 30 at the Starmount Country Club. Music was by Anne Shipwash and her orchestra. Jim Stanley was chosen Sweetheart, and everyone present had a wonderful time.

Approximately 20 girls are going to Myrtle Beach after exams. They will leave May 30 for a week's stay.

Sigma sorority is also proud of its members who have won some outstanding honors recently. Sue Gamble reigned as Queen of May in the 1955 court, and Faye Kendall was elected "Dream Girl" at the recent Pika Dream Girl Ball.

PHI MU

Pert Prettyman, Betty Ann Tysinger, and Venetia Wilcox represented High Point chapter at the district convention held in Charlotte two weeks ago. The local chapter's scrapbook won first prize in the scrapbook contest.

Betty Ann Tysinger was a marshal at the Lion's Club Horse Show, held at Sedgfield. Another Phi Mu girl, Susie Gray, represented the freshman class in the May court.

LAMBDA ALPHA PHI

New officers for the sorority were installed May 2 in Robert's Hall.

The old-clothes drive was a huge success, thanks to the co-operation of the college students. The clothes have been sent to Overseas Relief.

Lambda wishes the best of luck to the seniors who are leaving the HPC campus, and hope that the rest of the student body has a big summer.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

The big blast of the year for all the Lambda Chi's in the state, the Inter-Zeta, came off April 29. It was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Sir Walter Raleigh. Barbara Smith represented them as Crescent Girl. Immediately after the ball most of the brothers left for the beach at Morehead City. Everyone enjoyed himself very much.

Three of the brothers will take that fatal step during the summer. Widenhouse, Proctor, and Phillips will all be married men soon. It must be Spring Fever.

Week before last the brothers went to the Calvary Methodist Church here in High Point to do some work for their "Lend a Hand Project." They waxed all of the pews, and did some other work in the basement.

The Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity had a stag party on Wednesday night of May 12. Everyone attending enjoyed the party. The chapter is planning a hayride for Saturday, May —. The fraternity had also made plans for a beach party to be held the first week in June. A party has been planned for May 28, as a send-off to the beach.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

On May 2, 1955 the Pikas installed their new officers for the coming year. They are: Ear Earl Barbour, president, Jack Parks, vice-president, Joel Nimion, secretary, Johnnie Abernathy, treasurer, Al Finley, pledge master, Bob Smith, rush chairman, Bob Hunsucker, and Frank McCulloch, editor of the newspaper, Cecil Thomas, Shield and Diamond Correspondent, Historian, Bob Lee, Guard, Fred Noble, and James Andrew, Alumni secretary.

On April 23 the Annual Dream Girl Ball was held on the Roof Garden of the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem. Max Westerband furnished the music. The high point came when Miss Faye Kendall was chosen as "Dream Girl." The two runner ups were Connie Grant and Miss Barbara Payne.

Delta Omega had accepted five new men into pledging during the second semester. They are Buddy Sink, Brice Hunt, Benny Phillips, Odell Draughn, and Jack Lucas.

There comes a time in the life of every senior in college when he realizes that he must move on. That thought, in addition to being startling, causes shock as well as sadness. Sadness for the many things that can not be put on paper—the many happy hours, puzzled days, frustrated weeks, difficult moments, all of which make up a great part of four hectic years of a man's development.

Standing on the threshold of a new adventure, a man begins to think of the future and what it might or might not hold. Where to from here? That's a good question, and somehow the misty eyed senior hardly finds a ready answer. It just doesn't seem to be there. It would seem that four years of preparation would give all the answers, but far from it, it makes more questions.

You sit down on the steps of Roberts Hall just after supper, listen to the chimes, smell the fragrance of dewy-wet grass, lean back against a majestic white column and wonder, and recollect.

Your thoughts carry you back to the first time you ever saw High Point College, back when you were a puzzled freshman, green, wet behind the ears, and just out of high school. You were cocky, pseudo-intelligent, and had plans to set the campus on fire with your superior intelligence and charm. You've been planning for this day for a long time, and you're going to use your time, you told yourself, for studying, and that comes first. After the pangs of orientation and registration have passed, things begin to settle down. Then, wham, out of the clear blue sky, you find out what the score is with a few things. You get the blocks knocked out from under you when the professors slowly begin to let you realize that you don't know quite everything.

Then you join a fraternity, and never regret it. You get to be a brother to those who have selected you, and you begin to enjoy the comforts of having somebody to tell your troubles to. Your brothers help you to catch the swing of studying and classroom work, all except biology, which they know no more than you. Then you start to spend a little more time with everything but studies and you get behind.

Your classmates, with whom you whiled away many hours, studied some with a radio in the background, wafting music that made you want to do anything but study; the first date you ever had at HPC, and the things that followed, pinning, even engagement; the little walks through shaded paths; hours spent in conversation sitting on a bench, watching the lazy clouds and blue sky above—all the things you ever did in college slowly come through your system, a sort of flashback of four years history.

Words can't tell the feeling that creeps into your system and makes you want to have the privilege of living it all over again, holding on to the happiest moments, trying to skip over or disregard the rough times, but you realize it's all over and time for somebody else to have his opportunity. It's a feeling that you don't experience until you reach that point in your life where the world is waiting to take you into its cruel arms and squeeze every dollar it can from your paycheck. You almost begin to get materialistic, saying, now that I've got a college education, I still have to go out and feed a family. You almost begin to wonder if it was worth it. Then a friend comes by and sits with you. You begin to talk about the first time the dean called you into his office and you were trembling for a day—the time you had a blind date at WC—the time you had to stand on the window ledge and hang down to take a picture—the day you had an exam and a party the night before—the water fights at 3:00 in the morning at the dormitory. Then you laugh and say to yourself, how stupid can you get, not seeing the forest for the trees.

Your friend walks away to the student center for a little ping pong and social life, leaving you sitting there on the steps, the dark shadows beginning to form at your feet, the cool of evening beginning to freshen the atmosphere from a sultry May day. Laughing couples slowly and smilingly pass you, a carefree expression on their faces that tells you that it's time for a little break from everything and time to spend a few unhurried moments with the one you love. You get a heavy homesick feeling in the pit of your stomach, wishing you were about a hundred miles away.

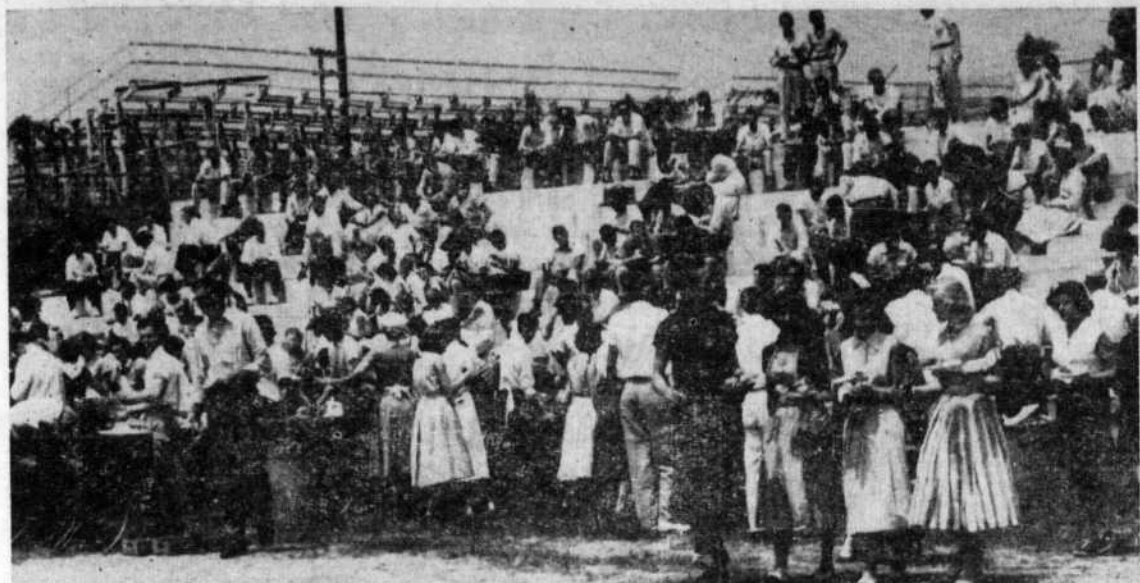

You sit, leaning against the huge columns that take you back to the days of the Greeks and your thoughts wander. You wish you had crammed more book learning into your wooden head. Then you realize that it's a little late to be thinking of learning everything you should have.

Darkness falls but night's chilly air somehow doesn't affect you—you're in a world of your own, the world of memory. It gets late, the stars come out, but you don't feel the urge to move. You could sit in memory forever, it seems like, drawing out of your mind all the pleasantries and varied experiences of college life.

Suddenly you get up for no reason whatever. You come to your senses again and realize that less than a week from today you'll be gone, leaving the college that has become a part of you and leaving the friends you'll remember forever. Your eyes begin to get misty and you have trouble swallowing. You cough but it doesn't do any good. Then tears well out, unashamedly as you walk down the steps toward the dormitory. You hate to think about leaving, but you realize your time has come.

And you say goodbye.

A Total Of 800 Students, Faculty Members Enjoy Administration-Sponsored Picnic

THE STUDENTS of High Point College were given a picnic dinner by the president of the college, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke. The picnic, held on May 11, was given at the 12:20 class period, much to the glee of many students. A number of the day students along with most of the dorm students ate barbeque with tomatoes, slaw, and onions. Along with apples, oranges, and cokes were a variety number of cookies, all of which made the meal a real treat. Many thanks to Dr. Cooke for his interest in the students, and may we have another picnic real soon.

The all college picnic sponsored by the administration of High Point College was a howling success. Approximately 800 students, faculty members, and staff members, attended the festivities held on the college athletic field.

The meal consisted of barbeque, salad, fruit, and other accessories that accompany a picnic. Ice cream and cokes were also served by the members of the cafeteria staff. Mrs. Walker, dietitian of the college, said that four hundred pounds of potatoes were used in making the salad. Servings were prepared for around 900, Mrs. Walker stated.

The picnic was a wonderful gesture on behalf of the administration. Such "family outings" help to build a better relationship between the administration and students. We hope that this "family outing" idea can be carried further in the future, and that we can have another all college picnic next year.

Johnny Mann Elected To Head Student Christian Organization

Johnny Mann (center) was recently elected president of S. C. A., Ellen Torrence (left) from Davidson, secretary-treasurer, and Libby Broome (right) Aurora, vice-president.

Johnny Mann has recently been elected president of Student Christian Association, which is a coordination group for all the religious organizations on the campus. Also elected as officers were Libby Broome, vice-president, and Ellen Torrence, secretary-treasurer.

Mann, a native of Sanford, North Carolina, is a ministerial student and served as S.G.A. representative from the student government last year. He is very active on the college campus. Mann is a representative to the student legislature from the sophomore class and will be the school photographer next year. His interest also includes the Hi-Po.

Broome, a rising senior from Aurora, is a major in religion. She is well known in the religious circles, being a member of the Methodist Student Fellowship and also a member of one of the fellowship teams. Her other activities include membership in the woman's chorus and post-mistress for the college.

Torrence, a rising sophomore, hails from Davidson. She is interested in music; she won the trophy in the freshman talent show for her exceptional singing ability. She is also interested in religion, and plans to take further training in this field. Torrence is a member of the Lambda Alpha Phi sorority, and is a representative to the inter-sorority council from this group.

The new officers held their first meeting May 29, 1955. A new constitution was adopted and a speaker for religious emphasis week was contacted. A picnic for all those interested was planned for Sunday, the 22nd of May, from five until seven in the evening.

Speaking of Public Safety

The nation's traffic accident tolls in injury, death, and property damage on our highways would be cut tremendously if all states followed California's procedure to assure safe visibility at night.

The National Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau points out that all California freeways now have safety lighting as an integral part of the original construction plans.

"This is a tremendous forward step," Edmond C. Powers, Lighting Bureau educational director, says.

"Only a few years ago, it was not uncommon to build a freeway, expressway, or highway first and install the lights later.

"This was extremely costly in economic losses from accidents caused by unsafe visibility and in ing, running in conduit, setting the expense of tearing up the pavements, etc.

"On all new freeways, it is now the policy in California to illuminate deceleration lanes and ramp outlets, ramp inlets and acceleration lanes, as well as other points of conflict in interchange areas.

"Rural traffic accidents now account for 2 1/2 times as many deaths as urban mishaps and accidents due to unsafe visibility due to inadequate lighting are a major factor in this tremendous toll.

"Engineering safe lighting into the original plans for new highways, rather than installing the lighting after the highways are built would greatly reduce the accident tolls and save road construction dollars as well.

"The procedure of designing lighting into original plans seems worthy of serious consideration of the present time in view of the extensive highway construction program proposed for the Federal government in addition to those planned by the states."

PROF DISCOVERS HONORABLE THIEF

AUSTIN, TEX. — (ACP) — The University of Texas' honor system revealed an honorable thief in the class of Dr. Norris G. Davis, assistant professor of journalism. In a recent quiz, one student signed his pledge like this:

"I have neither given nor received any aid on this quiz, nor have I seen anyone doing so. However, I stole the paper on which it is written."

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

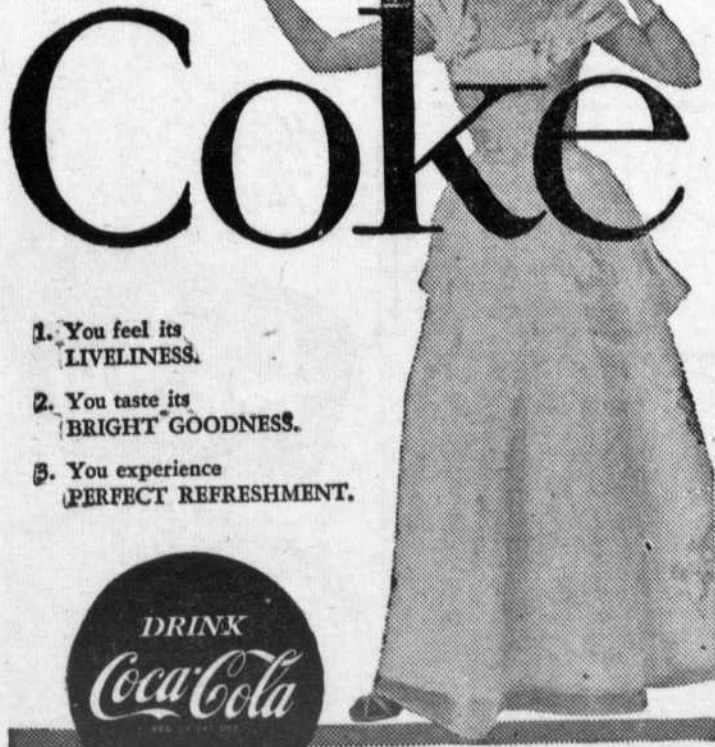

20,000 TINY FILTER TRAPS... plus Richer, Smoother Flavor

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

There's nothing like a

1. You feel its LIVELINESS.
2. You taste its BRIGHT GOODNESS.
3. You experience PERFECT REFRESHMENT.

Intramural Softball Champions

THE SIGMA PHI EPSILON fraternity is the champion softball team for the 1955 intramural season. Slugger Roy Dixon hit a home run which put the team ahead of their opponents, who failed to make a winning comeback. Other players contributing to the champions' team play are: (front row) G. W. Furgeson, Bill Tyson, Stan Baker, Roy Dawkins, Paul "E" Stanton, Jim "Turkey" Hunter, and Bob "Yankee Doodle" Ross; (back row) Bob Dockery, Bob "Pop" Carroll, Roy Dixon, Dale Swaringer, C. N. Pope, Ravnelle Stepp, and Buck Willford.

SIG EPS TAKE SOFTBALL HONORS

A big change came over the intramural league this week, as the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity won the softball championship. Until the Sig Eps took the softball laurel, the TKE men had a monopoly on all the other top honors in intramural sports. The TKE's had previously won the volleyball, football and basketball championship.

The Sig Eps defeated the Pikas in the final play-off game to capture the crown. They had defeated the Kappa Chi in the first game of the play-offs. The championship game was highlighted by a grand-slam home run by Roy Dixon of the Sig Eps in the sixth inning; the team went on to win 12-5 and claim the title. Dale Swaringer was the winning pitcher and Kerlee Litterell was credited with the loss.

The TKE finished the regular season with the best won-loss record as they won 7 while losing only 1, but that one game eliminated them from the play-offs and a chance for the title. Including regular season and play-off games, the big Sig Ep team won 8 while dropping only 1 contest.

One of the big surprises of the season was the fine competitive spirit shown by a good Kappa Chi team. Victors of only 1 game last year and finishing last, they jumped up to third place this season, winning 4 and losing 3.

The High Point College tennis team, undefeated in season play, retained the North State conference title which has belonged to them for the past seven years. Mike Reyes (third from left, back row), captured the singles crown.

HPC Netmen Are Undefeated; Varela Captures Championship

BOBBY FOSTER
Hi-Po Sports Writer

For the fourth consecutive year the High Point College tennis team has won the North State Conference tennis championship. The HPC netmen have captured the conference title seven times in the last eight years.

The outstanding team, coached by J. F. Jones, has a record which holds its own compared to any set by other conference teams, or possibly any of the larger colleges. This year the team took 16 matches while losing only 1 contest. The lone defeat was at the hands of East Tennessee, a non-conference foe and one of the top teams in Tennessee. Of the 16 victories, 10 were in conference competition.

The largest winning streak in the past years is currently possessed by the team; they have 15 straight victories to their credit.

Top man on the team was Mike Reyes Naula from Mexico City who went undefeated during the season. Mike won the single title in the North State tournament for the third time within the past four years. Because of illness, Mike did not complete last year. He did not lose a set as he won easily. His opponent in the finals was another High Pointer, Bill Huegele.

Bill Ellen and Vincent Leong, HPC's representatives in the doubles, were eliminated in the semi-final round.

Number two man was Vincent Leong, who lost only 2 out of 17 singles. Vincent hails from Malaya and is the former Malayan champion of 1952. He has not played competitive tennis for the past two years.

Bill Eller, the number three man, lost only 3 out of 17 single matches. Eller and Leong formed the other double team which lost only 1 out of 16 matches.

Bill Huegele, who also played the baseball, took time off to win 4 out of 4 single matches and Raymond Skidmore also won 4 matches without losing. An interesting note on Huegele is that in one afternoon, he won his tennis match against Eller and then went to Guilford to pitch the baseball team to a 21-9 victory.

Coach Jones believes that with two more good men to go along with Huegele, Paul Stanton, Ray Whicker and Elon Cook who will return, we will win the title again next year.

Foreign Study Is Now Available

Programs for junior year and graduate study abroad are listed in Group Study Abroad, 1955-56, pamphlet recently published by the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

The study opportunities for American college students are in Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Mexico, Peru, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland.

General purpose of the Junior Year Programs is to give the American student an opportunity to live in another country, to acquire fluency in another language, to understand the culture of another people, and at the same time to earn credit toward a bachelor's degree from his own college in the United States.

Americans may take graduate courses in English at universities in Sweden and Denmark. The University of Stockholm has an International Graduate School for English-Speaking Students.

HARE'S LAIR IN THE AIR

BERKELEY, Calif.—(ACP)—A pink and yellow rabbit is an oddity in itself, but a pink and yellow rabbit clinging to a spire some 307 feet off the ground defied explanation, or so thought the Daily Californian.

The floppy-eared "victim," which turned out to be a stuffed rabbit, was rescued after hours of work from the thin, sharp copper spike on top of the University's Campanile. The only clue offered police and college officials was an anonymous phone call from a "Phantom," who claimed he spirited the rabbit by helicopter to the spire in order to "perpetuate the spirit of Easter."

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD

LOS ANGELES—(ACP)—Mark Thoreson, Daily Trojan columnist on the USC campus, had a new type of shampoo recently.

While seated in the campus grill, quietly sipping a coke, a coed suddenly poured a chocolate malted milk over his head, shouting, "Take that for your column!"

Marker To Be Unveiled

HIGH POINT COLLEGE has a marker at last. Through the efforts and coercion of the Student Government Association, the marker has been furnished by the State Department of Archives, Conservation, Development, and Highways. The marker is situated in front of Roberts Hall along highway 29 and 70. A program for the unveiling under the direction of Dr. C. E. Rozzelle and David Abernathy will be given on May 29 at 4:30 p.m.

YOU'RE HIGH POINT COLLEGE

You're High Point College and you're thirty one years old. You've seen a lot of teams in your time, and you've had your share of the good ones. You've seen them come and go, you've seen them win and you've seen them lose. You keep on moving along, because you're High Point College, and name me a better school in the North State Conference.

Your basketball skipper is a man named Yow, and no finer Christian man ever lived. He's methodical and precise, and he uses psychology to the hilt. His memory for names could be improved, but where is there a human that's perfect?

His assistant is a guy named Duke, and who knows the game better than he does. He takes a lot of good natured kidding from the players, but he don't care because he's here to do a job, and that's what he's doing. His walk is full of confidence, his talk is the same, and how can you blame him for that?

You're High Point College, and your basketball team did better than fair this year. Your biggest thrill was walloping East Carolina by 21 points in the North State tournament. Your players were keyed up, your fans behind you, and the time overdue. You felt confident and you didn't care who knew it, and how long will it be when you enjoy another victory as much as you did that night?

Your overall record was 14-17, but you've got nothing to be ashamed of because you're High Point College and you hustled all the way. You lose Ken Frazier and Bobby Davidson through graduation, and both will be a loss. Ken never really found himself, but instead found Izzy, and what more could any man ask? Bobby was the key man in the fast break, his passing and playmaking superb, his shooting accurate, and his hustle was that of a freshman, but how many times do you come up with players like "Skeeter"?

The kid from Florida came through, and then there was Powell, but what could be said about Jack that hasn't been said by now. You've got the nucleus of a good team for next year, and there's no telling how far they'll go.

You're High Point College, and your net team won 16 out of 17 matches. Your one, two, and three men are graduating, but you're not worried because tradition for good tennis teams has always been yours. Now the last of the Mexicans is leaving and this conference will probably never see another "Mike." The foreign flavor will be gone, but how many times did he crack the opposing team's spirit with his air of confidence and his easy manner? He played for you, and only you, and they'll be telling stories of his greatness as long as the sun sets.

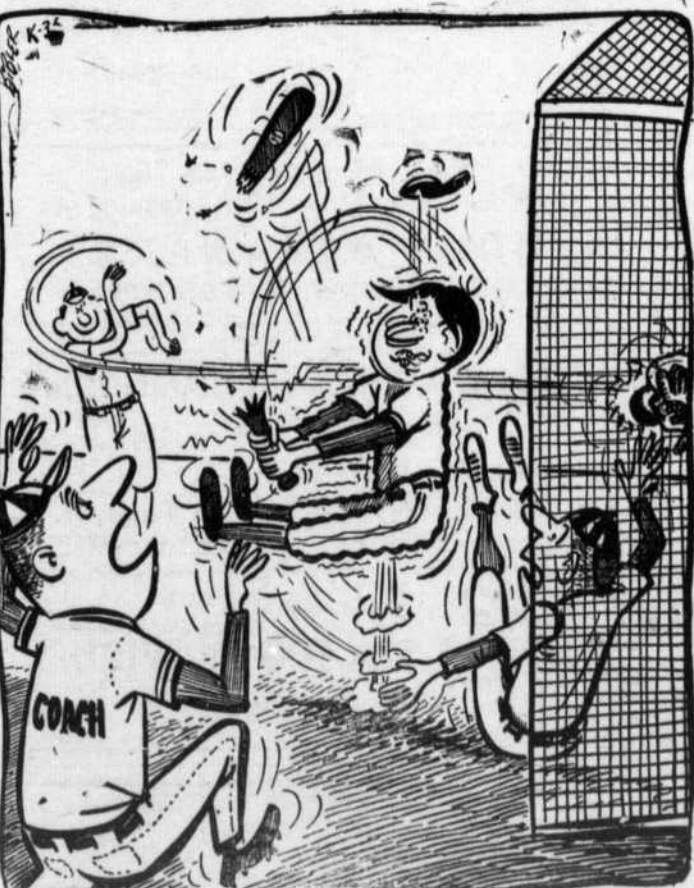

You're High Point College and your nickname is the Panthers. Your colors are purple and white, and you can't hide the fact that you were missing something in baseball. Your fielding was weak, your hitting high schoolish, and the pitchers couldn't carry the load themselves. You won only two games, but where is there a team in the conference that had as many freshmen as you had? You're looking forward to next year, and if the Brooklyn Dodgers can wait, so can you.

For the first time in your history, one intramural team won everything but the bookstore. So who the heck will mind if you tip your hat to the Tekes, and wonder if it will happen again.

You're High Point College and this year could have been better, but all you can do is play the game according to the rules. There will be better years to come and greater teams to cheer, and who knows it more than you? You're High Point College and the rainbow is just around the corner.

Annual Purple - White Game Played May 11

The annual Purple and White basketball game was held in Harrison gymnasium on May 11, before a surprisingly large audience. Among those present in the stands were some of the North State Conference coaches. It seems just a little too early to be scouting, but perhaps they are beginning to realize that the Panthers will be a definite threat next year.

Coach Virgil Yow and Gene Duke divided the teams up evenly with Yow taking the Purples and Duke leading the White team. The game was rough and tumble from the start, with both teams employing the fast break to its peak of perfection. Both teams had a little trouble with their shooting at first, but later seemed to find the range with unusual accuracy. The lead changed hands several times during the course of the game, with neither team enjoying much of a point spread. Finally, with 5 minutes to go in the game, the purple team pulled away for good and went on to win 92-85.

The Duke White men gave it all they had, but simply did not have enough man power to stop the amazing Jack Powell. "Stilts" was at his best as he swished 29 points through the hoop, and rebounded with his old time authority. Helping Jack out in the scoring department was Harold Crump with 17 points, Tom Payne with 15, and Paul (Smiley) Stanton with 13 points.

For the losers, Hoss Crockett was high man with 18 points, followed by Bill Huegele with 15 markers. The half time score was 43-39 in favor of the White team.

During the intermission, Coach Yow presented sweaters to the players who earned them during the regular season.

Marriages In Colleges Are Increasing Fast

With an ever-increasing number of married students attending American colleges and universities, the pattern of campus marriage started by World War II veterans is now becoming a permanent feature of the collegiate scene, LIFE magazine reports in its current (May 23) issue.

At first, when marriage was just beginning to flourish on the campus, it was only the seniors who dared take the step. Now juniors, sophomores and even freshmen are falling in line, and the trend is toward more and more undergraduate marriages. College experts expect the proportion of married students to rise by 50 per cent to 75 per cent in the next 10 years.

22 Colleges Surveyed

A survey by LIFE of 22 U. S. colleges and universities shows that the East lags behind other regions in percentage of married undergraduates. Record is held by the University of Georgia where 19 per cent of the undergraduates are married. As might be expected, non-coed schools still trail the coeducational ones considerably.

Probably the most startling aspect of the boom in campus marriage is the accepted presence of increasing numbers of undergraduate wives and mothers in the once maidenly atmosphere of such schools as Smith, with 22 married students this year, and Radcliffe, which has 60.

Parental Subsidization

A Hazard

Dependence on parents is one of the real pitfalls of the subsidized marriage. Some parents use their financial support to keep control of the son or daughter. Often parental aid gives rise to the question of whether the young man or woman is primarily a son or husband, wife or daughter, and in this new and difficult situation there are few guideposts. Some of the more minor hazards peculiar to such marriages include the restriction of free time imposed by marriage and the tendency towards isolation from normal campus life.

Unquestionably, LIFE says, there still remains a strong parental prejudice against marriage during college days. On the other hand there is evidence that the attitude of parents has greatly changed within a generation, and all to the direction of taking a more open-minded view of campus marriages.

Married Students Good Influence

A good many faculty people have become out-and-out partisans of such marriages. A dean at M.I.T. recently said, "The married students are a good influence on the college community, both academically and socially. They are a more serious group and have a deep feeling of responsibility." And an administrator at Stanford University commented, "I have known men who were just scraping by in their studies. Then they got married and we never had another worry with them."

HPC Baseball Team Ends Dismal Season

Everhart Selected By Hi-Po As 'Mister Determination'

By Marty Neustadt
Hi-Po Sports Editor

The 1955 edition of the Panther baseball team was nothing to go home and tell your aunt Minnie about. There were no heavy hitters to come through with the big blow when needed, and their defense had a knack of making errors at crucial times. They won only 2 games all year, and the local high school could have probably given them a battle.

There is, however, one player who you have to admire for his fortitude and determination. His name is Gray Everhart, and he hails from Winston-Salem. Gray is a very good looking guy, with a keen sense of humor and a wonderful personality. He is 25 years old, and streaks of grey can already be seen peeking through that thatch of black hair. Gray is married; his pretty young wife is his most ardent fan.

When the team takes infield practice on an enemy field, he is usually the target for the hostile fans' jeers and catcalls. Loud bursts of laughter can be heard as Gray hobbles around after tricky ground balls. His hobbling can't be helped, because you see the toes on his right foot were burned off while he was employed by Uncle Sam. The remaining part of the foot is all scarred and red, and anything but a pretty sight to look at.

There are not many people that would play under these conditions, but Gray's love for the game keeps him going. He hustles on each play, and gives it all he's got until that last out is made.

This is the kind of guy that you can't help but like, so meet Gray Everhart,—"Mr. Determination" of HPC.

Vets News

A roundup of rules dealing with the three-year starting deadline for Korean GI Bill training was issued by the Veterans administration.

Under the law, veterans actually must start their GI courses within three years from the date of their separation from the armed forces, in order to continue afterwards.

VA said it is not sufficient for a veteran to file an application before the deadline with the intention of starting afterwards. He must enroll in and begin his course in advance of his deadline.

Furthermore, having started in time, he must be in training on his deadline date, unless his attendance has been interrupted by the summer vacation or for some other excusable reason.

Such an excusable interruption would be the up-to-12-month suspension of training allowed by the law. In some cases the suspension may last even longer, if the veteran can show VA it was impossible to have resumed training within the 12-month limit.

The Panther baseball team finally ended their dismal season with 4 losses in 2 days. On May 10, they traveled to Wilson to take on the Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian College. The Panthers had been beaten earlier in the year by the Bulldogs 28-1 and revenge was in their eyes. However, the base hits were not in their bats, and they dropped the double bill. Nor Catlett started the first game for the Wilson men, and by the time the dust had cleared, the Bulldogs were on the long end of an 11-6 score.

In the second game, Catlett again took the mound for the McComas men, and had the Panthers hitless for 6 innings. Then in the 7th, hard hitting Harold Bull opened the frame with a solid bingle to left field. That was the last of the threat, as the next 3 Panthers were easily retired in order. The final score of the game was 7-0.

On the following day, the Panthers took on a tough Elon College team at Elon. In the opener, Bill Kiser, converted first baseman, was sent to the hill by Coach Yow. Kiser allowed 4 runs in 4 innings, and was then removed in favor of Frank Miller at the start of the fifth. Before the inning was over, 13 Mathis men had crossed the dish. The final score of that massacre was 18-0.

In the second game, Big Bob Duncan took credit for the loss as he went the distance. Coach Mathis decided to give his pitchers a workout, and sent 3 of them to the hill. In the second frame, the High Pointers pushed a run across the plate, but Elon quickly came back with 3 in the 3rd and were never headed from then on. The last look at the scoreboard revealed a 7-2 victory for Elon College.

The Panthers ended up the season with a 2-18 record. The only 2 wins having been registered against the Quakers of Guilford College. The winning pitcher in both those games was Bill Huegele. The Panthers finished in the cellar for the second year in a row.

Student Legislature Activities

A BILL FOR AN ACT REQUIRING HIGH POINT COLLEGE FRESHMEN TO WEAR THE HIGH POINT COLLEGE BEANIE.

WHEREAS: It is traditional not only at High Point College but at the great majority of American Universities and colleges for Freshmen to wear beanies, AND,

WHEREAS: We believe that students should learn early the exemplification of the ideal of college spirit, AND,

WHEREAS: We believe that the wearing of beanies by Freshmen accomplishes to an extent these desirable ends.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE THAT:

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All Fall Semester Freshmen, with exception of veterans, shall wear High Point College beanies from the time of Freshmen Orientation until Thanksgiving day at all times in public, both on and off the campus. Freshmen, with exception of veterans, shall wear High Point College beanies from the time of Freshman Registration until April first, except when the wearing of said beanies shall be deemed out of keeping with the occasion by the Executive Council of the Student Government Association.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. All fall semester freshmen shall be required to wear name tags for the first two weeks of school in order that the student body be acquainted with their names as soon as possible.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. All violators of this rule shall be caused to lose certain of their privileges.

Section 2. The extent of punishment for violators of this rule shall be at the discretion of the Judiciary Council of the Student Government Association.

A BILL REGULATING DRESS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION OF THE HIGH POINT COLLEGE INTRODUCED BY PHILLIP MOWERY AND KOY DAWKINS.

WHEREAS: The Student Legislature of High Point College is a body of serious purpose, AND,

WHEREAS: The dignity of said body should be maintained at all times,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED BY THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE THAT:

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. Gentlemen of the body shall wear dress coats and ties in all sessions except when the Presider considers such dress not compatible with the comfort of the body. Section 2. Ladies of the body shall dress for all sessions with the dignity becoming members of such a body.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. The Presider shall have final authority in all cases.

A RESOLUTION IMPLEMENTING THE WORK OF DR. CLYDE N. PARKER OF THE SOCIOL-OGY DEPARTMENT OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE.

WHEREAS: We of the Student Legislature, as representatives of all the organizations on campus, feel that Dr. Clyde N. Parker has been a welcome and valuable addition to the faculty of High Point College, AND,

WHEREAS: We feel that his personal counseling with students as well as his classroom instruction have been of incalculable benefit to the student body as a whole, AND,

WHEREAS: High Point College as a small institution is fortunate to have his instructional and counseling abilities in its midst, AND,

WHEREAS: We feel that High Point College should encourage a program of counselor training and is now pioneering in that field, AND,

WHEREAS: We definitely believe that the students of High Point College need a trained counselor with whom they may consult,

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED BY THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE THAT:

ARTICLE I.

Section A. Dr. Clyde N. Parker shall be commended for his meritorious service and unending interest in each student at High Point College. Section B. That the administration be commended for the foresightedness in encouraging a program of counselor training.

ARTICLE II.

Section A. That the legislature recommends that the services of Dr. Parker's abilities be retained and encouraged for the benefit of the students of High Point College.

Personality Of The Month

By Shelby Mosely

Don't let those merrily-twinkling eyes behind those hornrimmed glasses fool you; the personality possessing them is really a serious-minded person. The four activity-packed years he has loaned his presence to High Point College are vivid evidence of David Abernathy's superb ingenuity and integrity. Excelling in all fields of endeavor (which, by the way, include almost all fields open for endeavor), Abbey has enriched the institution in the process of his own enrichment. He has carved his name in the annals of High Point College in a profound etching that can never be obliterated. The voice of the progress he achieved here will echo in the future.

We salute you, Abbey, personality of the month, personality of the year, a truly vibrant personality for all time.

Maw, How I Wish I Were A Senior

Gee, Ma, lookit all the seniors! Wah! I wanna graduate too. Wonder what all of those seniors think about as they march down the aisle. Wouldn't you like to tune in on a one way wrist radio and hear the inner thoughts of an unsuspecting senior. They might run something like this:

Whew! standing in the sun in this hot robe is one honor they give back to the birds. Why don't they hurry up and start the music, my feet are killing me. Ah—at last we're moving! Uh-oh, there goes that hat again. If they were meant to be worn over one eye, why in tarnation didn't they make one side longer than the other one. Blast that tassel—it keeps getting in my mouth. I feel just like the old mule that had to have some hay dangled in front of him to get him to move. Besides, I get dizzy watching it swing back and forth. Here we go down the aisle. Now just watch me trip over this robe or either slide on the floor. Look at all of those silly little underclassmen looking at me—what's the matter with them? You'd think they had never seen a senior before. I'd like to say "Boo!" at one of them and see what happens. Well, here we are at our seats, maybe now I'll get some rest. Whoops, I spoke too soon. Methinks I see a guest speaker on the platform. Well c'mon let's hear what he's got to say. Um, so you think I'm one of the future leaders of America, huh. Oh? the fate of the country depends on me? Say—that's a pretty big responsibility. You think I can handle it, huh; oh, you mean with the help of that Greatest of leaders. I get you. Not a bad speaker, that guy. He knows what he is talking about.

Here we go back up the aisle. Say—look at all of those underclassmen looking at me. I'll bet they'd like to be in my shoes. I'm a pretty important person. Boy, does it feel good to be a senior!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"I thought perhaps you didn't know—there are three higher possible grades besides 'D' and 'F.'"

Open Letter

started—and he replied, "I don't know; it could be decided by the regular season play or it may be decided in a play-off." Such a questionable statement naturally lends itself open to much criticism.

Had some other team won the regular season, I imagine that the champions would have been decided then and there; since that was not the case however, we went into a "sudden death" play-off. We lost that game—our first loss—and even though we still had the best record and percentage, we were not the champion. By comparative records that championship will lack the luster that would have accompanied the true champion.

Since the Tekes have already won the "SGGA All Sports Award", this letter may not be significant; but the point I wish to make is, if, at this point, the race for the trophy had been close, the significance could not be over estimated. Hence, in the future, for the betterment of relations of all concerned, I would like to see, at least, the policy for the championships to be explained before each respective season is initiated.

Very truly yours, David L. Wagoner
