HOUSE REPORT

Following the call to order, prayer, and reading of the minutes, the members of the House of Representatives hear reports from various committees.

One report came from the committee studying the Robert's Rules of Order. It was reported that each member of the House will be tabled on the rules. The questions would come from study sheets that were passed out.

Dick Hesp reported on the meeting of the Men's Donn on February 2, with Dean Nelson. The following statements were made concerning the meeting:

1. A demand system for the men will be set up for next year.
2. Next year the men's Donn will be on second and third floor, and, if necessary, sections A, B, and C.
3. There will be an inspection made of the men's rooms. If the rooms are not in some kind of order and cleanliness, the occupants will be called before the dorm council and told that they must be clean for the next check. If the untidiness persists, a fine will be imposed.
4. Next year the members of the Men's Donn Council will be paid.
5. By next year sections D, E, and F will be refurnished and painted.
6. Three new telephones are to be placed in different parts of the dorm.

Following the reports and the business meeting, there was interest in the House of Representatives to be brought up. A discussion followed, centering around two points.

1. Is there a real lack of interest in the House?
2. Is there some certain factor within the organization itself that is bringing the lack of interest?

A committee was appointed which will discuss the matter further at the next meeting of the House. All members were urged to think about the situation, however, and to bring with them one or more ideas on how it can be rectified.

Campus Profile:
BASKETBALL CAPITAL IS VERSATILE

The captain of this year's Purple Panthers is a dynamic little 6-feet-3-inch by the name of Jack Short. Jack is a product of the Boone State where the football of basketball is second nature and where the rank of star is given very closely.

For those young men who have been with an upperclassman of the North State Conference. His driving ability is such a great asset in the court because his future will be a bright one.

Monстраan that teams are now planning a tour of the Men's Donn. The following statements were made concerning the meeting:

Spirited Panthers Down A. C. in Overtime

The Panthers of High Point College won their second game in a row Monday night as they defeated the visiting Atlantic Christian College 73-69 in overtime. The Panthers grabbed an early lead and the Bulldogs pulled back to 63-64 at halftime. They led through most of the second half, until with about eight minutes left in the game, feathers suddenly came to life and with 2:53 remaining Joe Garrett took a foul shot to put HPC ahead 64-63. AC had a free throw to tie the game and throw it into overtime. The game was then over after several times, with an amazing lack of success, to hold the ball for the remaining 1.05 minutes. Left on the replay AC gained control of the ball and maneuvered for the one shot. Suddenly Jackie Short stole the ball and as he started down court, he was fouled and Jack Boyd. With only two seconds left in the game, Short connected for two free throws and the game was history.

Joe Garrett and Butch Mallard led the Panthers with 31 points each. Short added 14. Fredoman Phil Gasson pulled 29 rebounds for the Panthers.

Coach Virgil Yow was very satisfied with the great comeback of his club. The Panthers, who are recovering from a January slump in which they dropped six of seven games, seem to have once again the confidence and spirit that they will need for the tournament which begins on February 22.

WHAT'S NEW IN SPORTS? - BASKETBRAWL

If you happen to be from Piedmont North Carolina, you have probably noticed the strange situation that has been developing in college boxing. It seems as though most girls are boxing fans these days--especially since the handsome European, Irgemar Johansson, hit the headlines.

FOR GIRLS ONLY

We have received a letter from a student at High Point College. Here he carries a letter from the student body and enjoys teaching the sport of boxing and call it basketball. This sport was introduced at Wake Forest two years ago and UNCG last year.

How fast and far this new sport will spread we don't know, but the sport is becoming more popular. The kids will be a double-bladed as would be better. Bring along your girl friend. She can use her scissors. You may lose some ground, but scoring love is like a dish you pay beyond the selfish interest of our own safety. (And I do hope you enjoy the game.)

GOLFERS TAKE NOTE!

Many of us are inclined to look at professional athletes as a privileged race with lives filled with luxuries and five figured incomes, we see as quite removed from all mortal concerns. We never hear of Mickey Mantle lying awake with heartburn, or Arnold Palmer's car battery being dead on a cold morning, and Bob Cousy's wife just loves to stay home with the kids. Several days ago at the 90 hole Palm Springs Golf Tournament it happened. Don January drove the ball 448 yards only to find that it landed in the little cup. This simple act was worth only $500,000 to Mr. January. Imagine! $500,000 for only one swing with a golf club. Why's that more than most people make in seven or eight years.

But like every great tragedy, this story has a sad ending. In a TV interview the next day Don was asked, "What are you going to do with all that money?" Don lowered his head and answered, "I owe it all."

Two Recitals

Presents Here

To BETH LEBERMAN

We the Department of High Point College announce the publication of the first collection of scholarly research pa- pers written by its faculty. This publi- cation is entitled "High Point Col- leges Studies." Contributions were made to this scholarly endeavor by seven members of the faculty of the college. There are the first such stud- ies to be conducted by our college faculty and plans are at present to publish at least one such work a year and if possible more than one in future years.

The editor of this publication is Dr. Walter Blackstock, Head of the English Department at the college, who himself contributed to this re- search project.

The Tower Players presented their Spring play, JUNO AND the street, and the following week, the Tower Players presented an organ recital by Mr. Sylvester Barnes on Monday, March 4. This recital was followed by a deli- cately simple prelude by Mr. Norman O'Casey's lines are not out of contact with Ireland's days of sorrow. The Provisional Government of the Irish Republic was quietly set up in the General Post Office. Heading this provisional government was the President, Dr. Eamon de Valera. Ireland's last great struggle for free- dom was about to begin.

The Irish Republic was formally proclaimed in Dublin Castle on April 18, 1916. The Irish Republic was soon to be destroyed and Ireland would remain a part of the United Kingdom.

At the time of the Easter Rising, Ireland was divided into two main regions: the Protestant North and the Catholic South. The Protestant North was in favor of remaining part of the United Kingdom, while the Catholic South was in favor of becoming an independent country.

The outcome of the Easter Rising was a surprise to all, and it marked the beginning of the Irish War of Independence.

Tommy Wright, a member of the Young Democrats Club, com- mented on the event: "I think it's a shame that we didn't have a better turnout. We deserve better than that."
Across The Desk

The chapel program of March 15 was indeed a noteworthy accomplishment of the New Students. The program was elegant in style and execution, and the students were not the only ones who enjoyed it. The faculty and administration were also very pleased with the results. The program was well-received by all, and it served as a fine example of what can be accomplished when everyone works together.

The Tower

Against the black cloud moonlight, shewealthy, standing mightily towards the sky, stands a tower, a goddess of the soul, with its lamp of wisdom its story never told.

Mighty tower bold and high, what story have you never told? What secrets do you hold beneath your structure of wood and stone?

Prey tell me your tale of woe. The years have come, and the years may go, but life to you is but one endless chase. Of love and sorrow, life and death, and hope and despair.

How many have toiled and walked beneath your breadth, and fail to realize the strength you possess?

How many have told your gladsome, and words of broken promises have told them to you unknowingly.

Tell us, mighty tower, so we, dear fellow students, can show us your secret of success. Tell us of the thoughts you have heard, carried by the zephyrs of the night.

Of towers rising beneath your eye, speaking to those who would plan and build, and futures planned and futures destroyed, all because of romantic desire.

Of lonely boys and lonely girls, each one wishing the other to be loved and shared.

Of sweet and endless days, just to get a passing grade. Speak now, O far-flung tower, speak now so we may hear.

You step quietly, ever so quietly and you will hear the gentle breezes whispering through my hair.

There is a secret hidden in the earth, a secret that I cannot disclose. The secrets of the earth are hidden in the soil, and you will hear the gentle breezes whispering through my hair.

Show us your secret of success. We want to know the secret of success.

Letters to the Editors

Dear Editor,

Why does our college have to be a prison for high-minded people? We go home every weekend and feel that those who are not members of the fraternity are looked down upon by the students who are. This is a typical example of the problem we face at High Point College. We are not trying to be exclusive, but we are trying to maintain a certain level of respect. We believe that our college should be a place where we can express ourselves and live our lives without feeling like we are being judged.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Suitcase College

Dear Editor:

Do you think that our college should have a suitcase college? I think that it is a very good idea. It would allow students to be more independent and self-sufficient. It would also help to reduce the cost of living on campus. There are many students who have to work while they are in college, and this would give them a chance to earn money and get some real-world experience.

Yours truly,
[Signature]

Quit Gripping!

Dear Editors:

Students are constantly griping about something or another, whether it be grades, the food, or even the weather. They just can't seem to be happy with anything. I think that this is a problem that needs to be addressed. After all, college is supposed to be a time for learning and growth, not for constant complaining.

Sincerely,
[Signature]
lands with English Protestant colonists. This was accomplished in 1601.

William of Orange drove the Catholic underdogs, unpeopled, and saw to it that Ireland remained solely for England. For a long period of time, then, already-backward Ireland fell behind a veil of secrecy.

The feeling upon the local when, as a child, a black flag upon the potato, was the first clue, resulting in the loss of 400,000 lives. During the first half of the 18th century, Daniel O'Connell became the for Irish Catholic to enter Parliament. Charles Parnell led the Home Rule party which he took over in 1875.

More than 700,000 died and over 300,000 left Ireland as a result of the Great Famine. This was the year 1847, and the famine lasted for four years. Not a few emigrated to America in this time.

The Fenian movement was begun in America in 1858 by Irish refugees. This group agitated for revival of, this century with ideals similar ideals that existed at this time. The Fenians were a group of Irish revolutionaries who attempted to abandon the Irish representatives from the English parliament and set up a republic in Ireland. This group was formed by Irish exiles in the United States in 1858. The Fenians hoped to create a republic in Ireland, and they had the support of some American politicians. However, the Fenian movement was ultimately unsuccessful, and the attempt to establish an Irish republic was defeated.

Card slammed down her books on the bed and said, "If I have one case left before Latin, I'll just screw off."

Her roommate remained immobile before the sink, looking into the mirror at the bangs hung low over her eyes. "Lute, Sister Carol," agreed Jan. "I took out both of Hanson's test grades and got sick! I studied every single fact that he didn't call and telling me to win in the quiz, now, just ask my parents."

"You think that's bad? Well, my dad didn't even make sense. I took to ten minutes to decipher the diagrams and the rest was to long! I didn't even finish half of the problems. It was so disheartening I didn't believe in study as bad as I did last night. I just sat there, for instane, for hours." Carol.

"Right, my friend, but you know there's nothing you can do as well as you did with that test, too. That test was due in class tomorrow, and she was flunking. "... And 'power is the rate at which a body has to do work?" teased her roommate. I didn't know what was wrong with me." declared Carol.

"I did," quipped Jan, "You're thinking too hard. Fermez la bouche, I agreed. "And did you happen to know that I have got to remember something interesting," she did hear from Dave today?"

"Not hardly! My mailman was jammed with mail from literally everyone." The last strains of "Imagine" were coming over the radio. Carol still stared at the book in her hand. The end of rest or motion of a body, or which tends either to change the state of rest or motion of a body, or which enables him to climb to the higher ground. Would consider me Phi Beta Kappa for an all-night cramming session, and got sick. I studied every single thing that he was looking for... and... and... 12 minutes. That's over an hour. Look at all these students. About the food, or just watching everyone else—being busy to eat. "Do all this work, and they just aren't sticking. Any suggestions" quoted Jan. "And did you happen to know that 'A force is a push or a pull. That was the very thing that she was looking for and couldn't find not what they do."

Carol was concerned and disgust- ed for awhile, but she knew that to- morrow, and the next tomorrow would not be any different. As she went over to cut the radio off, she suddenly heard "... Father, forgive them—for they know not what they do."
Panthers Are North State Champs

by JOHN WARD, JR.

The High Point College Panthers, who had lost six games in a row at mid-season, roared back to win seven in a row including the North State Conference championship game in which they whalloped Atlantic Christian 88-73.

The Panthers despite the presence of three freshmen in the starting line-up, were as cool and poised as a bunch of pros. Their tremendous desire and hustle throughout the tournament carried them to a last-second victory over Elon on the opening night and a pair of wide-margin victories over Appalachian and Atlantic Christian.

It was the first NSC championship for the Panthers since 1953, when they advanced to the second round of the NCAA national tournament at Kansas City. The Panthers closed out the regular season with a 11-7 conference mark.

Coach Yow labeled the final contest as definitely a "team victory." The five starters—freshmen Phil Carrison, Roy Bartlett, Bill Fallin; junior Joe Guzinski; and senior Jackie Short—performed in great style during the entire tournament with reserves continually coming through in the same fashion.

The tournament's most valuable player, Phil Garrison, and his former high school teammate, Roy Bartlett, topped the scoring column with 27 and 26 points respectively in the final game. Forward Joe Guzinski added 13. Jackie Short, the captain and ball-stealing guard, once again proved to be the best floor leader in the conference as he quarterbacked his teammates almost flawlessly from the floor.

Prior to defeating the Bulldogs of AC, who had previously trounced top-seeded Lenoir Rhyne, the Panthers upset another tournament favorite, Appalachian, 84-73. Once again it was Garrison and Short who led an inspired team effort for the Panthers as they out-shot, out-rebounded, and out-maneuvered the Mountaineers in every turn.

The most thrilling game of the tournament was the first in which HPC downed Elon in the final seconds of the game 80-78. The Panthers were down by two points with less than half a minute to go when Larry Nolan suddenly stole the ball from an Elon guard and raced down court for the tying lay-up with 12 seconds left. Then with six seconds left, a bad inbound pass by Elon was grabbed by HPC's Garrison, who missed his shot, and Short got the rebound and put the ball back in for the winning points just as the buzzer sounded.

No one player can be singled out as the deciding factor of the success of the Panthers. Garrison was the tournament's most valuable player as he scored 83 points and grabbed 40 rebounds in the three games. Short—conference guard—who displayed superb leadership, was also tapped for all-tournament honors, as was freshman Roy Bartlett, who displayed calm and poised playmaking plus an additional 52 points. But it took more than all this to win. It took the rebounding of Joe Guzinski, who was chosen as a member of the all-tournament second team, and of Larry Nolan; it took the key shots by Bill Fallin and Tommy Skidmore; it took the dead-eye shooting of Wolfy Unger when it was needed most; it took the smooth ball-handling and playmaking of Chalmous Sechrist, Zane Daniels, and Gene Buchanan when the regulars needed rest.

Yes, truer words were never spoken when Coach Virgil Yow said, "It was a team victory all the way. The boys played to win and they played it unselfishly."

Bill Fallin struggles to shake loose from the Atlantic Christian opponent as Joe Guzinski (50) goes high into the air. Standing alert and ready are Roy Bartlett (30) and Phil Garrison. The Panthers took an 88-73 decision to cop the victory.

The tournament's most valuable player, Phil Garrison (54), portrays a familiar tournament scene as he fakes AC guard, Jerry Fritz. It was this type of play that enabled Garrison to lead the tournament scoring with 83 points. It was Garrison's unbelievable consistency that kept the Panthers alive. The Indiana freshman had perhaps the finest three games of his career in the tournament action. His services are indeed being looked forward to next winter.

The Panthers' bench sees activity as Coach Yow gets ready to make a substitution in the closing minutes of the thrilling Elon contest. In the center of the back row is Jack Short who seconds later tipped in the winning goal with two seconds left to play.

Panther captain, Jackie Short, receives the championship trophy from Miss North State Tournament of 1961, who is a student at Catawba College. Dr. Earl Ruth, the tournament chairman, looks on.
Johnny's Scribblings

Another basketball season has come and gone. Another record book has been filled, but before I take my pad and pencil out to the diamond, let me take one more look, at a low level event at which the team which ended with our own Panthers capturing the championship.

The Hi-Po basketball season came to a close Monday, March 13, with a scenes of the year victory. The Hi-Po Panthers beat the Alpha Gamma Delta team 26-10, but in the tournament playing as a unit. It was a great team effort by everyone including the ones on the bench. If you have a steady bench, you are hard to beat. We had a great bench and deserved to win.

The veteran basketball coach is very pleased with his team's showing in the tournament. He also expressed his appreciation for the loyal support given by the student body at High Point College. "We were fortunate to win," he stated. He was particularly pleased with the three freshman stars, coach Yow turned the to the Fraternity League title. The Pika's hit well from outside and were led by Ray Fraley and Wayne Hazelwood. The North State Extravaganza Tournament was held at Hi-Po this year on March 11. Each team in the conference was represented and the tournament was very strong on its top players. The top four teams for the Fraternity League were Charlie Willard, Laine Mathes, and George Sowell. The TIF's finished second to the Pika's losing only one game. They were led by Ray Fraley and Wayne Hazelwood.

Intramural basketball is over and the Jaybirds are champs. The Independent League Jaybirds beat the Fraternity League champs, the Pika's, for the title 60-53. The victory climaxed an undefeated season for the Jaybirds. The Pika's loss was their first. Both teams outclassed the other representatives of their respective leagues.

The Jaybirds this year were led by Aubrey Storher and Jim Holloman. Storher, a student on the "flying" Jack was almost unattainable under the basket. Storher played慢慢的再通过他们的联赛。Holloman led the all-star effort. The win was un-side and did a fine job.

The other stars for the Jaybirds were Jim Davis, Ralph Clements, Ray Murphy, Ben Murray, Pat Holloman, Ron Bundy, and Don Tuggle. Four years and basketball three years. They were a great team in their battle in the league by the Lou Per-

Conference Commissioner Rules Guzinski Ineligible

Dr. C. R. Hinshaw, Commissioner of the North State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, officially announced the statement of Dr. James Hamilton, Athletic Director at High Point College, and Dr. Wendell Patton, President of High Point College, that Joe Guzinski was ineligible for further collegiate competition. Joe was a regular on two of the basketball and baseball teams and a junior at High Point College.

In a letter to Dr. Hinshaw, Dr. Hamilton stated, "Mr. Guzinski signed a baseball contract under the plan of Joe Glenn with Bristol, Virginia, on July 8, 1954. He therefore participated as a professional baseball player for this team. We realize that this act made Guzinski ineligible to compete in collegiate sports in the North State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference."

"We are the presidents of the North State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference."

Upon investigation, Dr. Hamilton discovered that Joe, senior, was signed with Bristol, Virginia, on July 5, 1954, for the 1955 baseball season. In 1959, Joe was assigned to the Bristol-Bedford team of the Carolina League, but he did not play for them. He was then assigned to Bradford, Pennsylvania, and was later released. He later signed with Fargo, North Dakota, but was then optioned to Orlando, Florida, where he was eventually released.

Dr. Hamilton stated that Joe was aware of his professional status while he was participating on the High Point teams, but he says he was unaware of his situation because he had been asked to re-sign or re-sell him to professional ball.

Formerly, the North State Conference had a ruling which would have disqualified Joe Guzinski from playing for High Point, since his professional status was known. This rule was eliminated several years ago in favor of one which states that a player who has participated in any professional sport is automatically ineligible to engage in collegiate competition in the North State Conference.

After an investigation, Dr. Hinshaw ordered the forfeiture of the Joe Glenn games won in which Joe was participated. With this in mind, the following question to, "Will High Point officially be declared conference basketball champions?"

The High Point team won the basketball tournament in Lexington by defeating Elon, Appalachian, and Asheville-Buncombe Tech. The championship was declared for the next season until the North State Conference meeting in the spring of 1962. At that meeting, each college voted on the champions, and the championship is awarded by vote of the conference. It will be up to the conference whether or not High Point will still be the conference champions.

Dr. Hinshaw stated, "In my years as conference commissioner, the winner of the tournament has always been declared conference champions. But nothing of this sort has ever happened to influence a decision. We can only wait and see what the outcome of the next meeting will be."

Elon basketball star, S. J. (Bud) Irvin, a forward and leading scorer in the North State Conference last year, was ruled ineligible by Dr. Hinshaw. Irvin transferred from Elon to Methodist Junior College without having graduated with a baccalaureate degree. The North State Conference has a rule which states that all persons must graduate from the junior college in order to be eligible to play for the North State Conference. Since Irvin, an Elon junior, did not graduate from Campbellsville, he is ineligible for intercollegiate competition in the conference.

Across The Desk

This is traditionally the time of the year when those of us who are leaving reflect upon the past in judgment of our successes and failures, and those of us who are staying look optimistically toward the future. Since this editor is relatively new to our campus, it is virtually impossible for me to reflect past this year. Perhaps this is good because I then have nothing with which to compare or contrast our outgoing SGA Executive Council. Any one of us who has had the privilege to serve in an executive position can well realize the responsibilities and difficulties these people faced during the past two semesters. This group has been the object of much criticism during the past year—and for a good part rightly so. However, it seems to be a universal human fault to undervalue the present in favor of the future.

I personally feel that this year's Executive Council is worthy of praise. But, for what shall we praise them? Shall it be for the social program they put across; or shall it be for the legislation they passed—legislation such as the penal code, and the revision of the SGA constitution, all milestones at High Point College in recent years. Certainly these are all praiseworthy. However, I think I would place my praise in other terms. I praise them for their ability to act and to decide. Many times during the past year this committee has had to make decisions either in the face of overwhelming apathy or tremendous adverse criticism. But they did decide. It is not enough for a leader to "go along" with the flow and flux of general opinion. Most assuredly there are times when we, the student body, can be wrong even if we hold a majority. But, rather it is necessary for these leaders sometimes to withstand adversity. This group: They had to do this and they well rose to the occasion. If they deserve our criticism, which they do, then also deserve our praise, which they shall get. And, at least, deserve our admiration for believing in a right and fighting for this right.

Now, for a look toward the future.

Speaking as the new editor of the Hi-PO, it will be my purpose during the ensuing two semester to improve upon the Hi-PO. Not improvement in terms of make-up, appearance and general overall quality, because this would be a difficult if not impossible task. But, rather, improvement in terms of the effectiveness of the paper, that is, the way it is written. This will be done in two ways. First, the Hi-PO will be publishing a little more often. The editorial board is presently planning to publish fifteen issues next year. Secondly, the paper will be more in line with campus happenings in its editorial policy, news coverage, and features. I cannot do this alone. I need, not only the cooperation of my staff, but also the cooperation of the entire student body. It should be your job to bring to our attention any situation or issue on campus of which you think it should be brought to the knowledge of the Hi-PO. Let me say that plans have already been conceived for much of next year. There have already been plans made for what should and should not be covered. I sincerely hope you lean with me and help to make the Hi-PO the paper we need.
ACC All-Stars

Softball intramurals are half over with the Delta Sigma and the Jayhounds tied for first. Both teams hold 4-0 records. The Delta Sigma beat good hitting and pitching along with tight defense. The Jayhounds are backed by the strong pitching of Jim Holman. In the all-star game, the two leaders are the Ricky-Rats and the Jaybirds. The club has a solid defensive infield with Gary Thornburg and Don Smith (East Carolina) and Rick Dixon 4, Atkinson 0, and Burke 0. The pitching staff has been steady at times, but for the most part has taken a beating. Roy Grant has failed to show the effectiveness that made him the top pitcher in the conference last year. On occasions Roy has seen action in the outfield. The ace of the staff, right-hander Darrell Smith, has failed to produce pitching in the early innings. Dan Cashman, Carroll Hawkins, and Charles Willard have pitched well on occasion.

The Purple Panthers have moved twice to Pfeiffer College, once to Guilford College, and in to Appalachian. The Panthers have completed the season with a 1-4 record. The North State Conference tournament was held May 9-10 at Sedgfield and Guilford College.

The Panthers should do very well in the conference tourney which will be held here on May 15. The Panthers are particularly strong in the close games, losing six games by two runs or less. The club has a solid defensive infield with Gary Thornburg and Don Smith (East Carolina) and Rick Dixon 4, Atkinson 0, and Burke 0.

The pitching staff has been steady at times, but for the most part has taken a beating. Roy Grant has failed to show the effectiveness that made him the top pitcher in the conference last year. On occasions Roy has seen action in the outfield. The ace of the staff, right-hander Darrell Smith, has failed to produce pitching in the early innings. Dan Cashman, Carroll Hawkins, and Charles Willard have pitched well on occasion.

All applications for individual awards from this Special Fund for African Students must be submitted to the Institute of International Education through the student's college or university. The Prophecy of Amos Present

Ed Stafford portrays Amos.

A wise man once made a remark that has become a truism. "It is easy to kick a man when he is down. It is much easier to do a favor for him than it is to say what has been done. It is much easier to say what should be done than it is to say what has been done. It is much easier to say what you wish to do than it is to do it."

That Joe Guzinski will be victimized by such a test of his will is an unpleasant thought. I know nothing of Joe's past, but if I must guess, I would say that perhaps the only thing that counts in his life is his athletic ability. He has worked hard and has always been able to rely on his strength. If he has not been successful, it is because of his own lack of effort.

However, I must admit that I have known some other men who were not nearly as capable as Joe Guzinski. Yet they were able to overcome their difficulties and become successful. It is not always easy to judge a man's character by his physical abilities alone.

The fact that Joe Guzinski is capable of doing the job that has been assigned to him is not in question. He has shown that he is able to handle himself in difficult situations. It is only necessary to see that he is given the opportunity to prove himself.

In conclusion, I believe that Joe Guzinski is capable of doing the job that has been assigned to him. It is my hope that he will be given the opportunity to prove himself and that he will be able to do so.

The Prophecy of Amos

The prophecy of Amos was present at the beginning of the year. It stated that there would be a time of judgment and prosperity. The prophet declared that God would raise up a righteous king who would bring peace to the land.

The prophecy was recorded in the book of Amos, chapter 9, verse 14: "Then I will bring back the captivity of My people Israel, and they shall dwell in their own land; and Jacob shall reign, he shall be great." This prophecy has come true in the person of King David, who was a righteous king and brought peace to the land.

The prophecy of Amos is an encouragement to all believers. It reminds us that God is in control and that He will bring about His plan of salvation through His Son, Jesus Christ.

In conclusion, the prophecy of Amos is a reminder of God's plan for the world. It encourages us to trust in Him and to obey His Word, knowing that He is faithful and that His plan will be accomplished.

The Prophecy of Amos

Amos, a man who came down from the hills of Tekoa, a shepherd, a checker of vines, was called by God to be a prophet. He was a hard man who brought a hard testimony against the people of Israel.

Picture Amos, the prophet of Israel, with a head full of fire and a mouth full of truth. He was sent by God with a message of judgment that would bring terror to the people of Israel.

However, the people of Israel were not ready to hear the message. They were complacent and did not want to hear the truth. As a result, the message of judgment was not received with open hearts.

The prophet Amos was a man of great courage. He was willing to speak the truth even if it meant that he would suffer the consequences. He was a man of great faith who trusted in the power of God to bring about His plan of salvation.

In conclusion, the prophecy of Amos is a reminder of God's love and mercy. It encourages us to trust in Him and to obey His Word, knowing that He is faithful and that His plan will be accomplished.
