

CLUB CAPERS

FELLOWSHIP TEAMS

The HPC Fellowship Teams are proud of their mid-year record.

Team Chairman, Betty Lou Williams, reports the following visits which have been made and their captains. High Point Subdistrict, special workshop; Westover Methodist in Raleigh, Hugh Cameron; Greensboro, Pat Peterson; Stanley Methodist in Stanley, Ellen Julian; Trinity Methodist in Raleigh, Pat Yokley; Archdale Methodist—special Christmas party, Nan Belk; Fuquay Springs Methodist in Fuquay Springs; Guilford Methodist in Greensboro, Shirley McDaniel; Bethel Methodist in Climax, Pat Clark.

First Methodist in Salisbury, Rosemary Mason; Ward Street Methodist in High Point—four visits using the "Brain Storming" technique, Brooks Garnett; High Point Subdistrict—special, Nan Belk, Carrie Myrick, Theron Farmer, Philip Wong, Buddy Lanier; Mocksville Subdistrict, Patti Colliver; Pleasant Grove Methodist in Thomasville—two visits, Harry Lilly; Covenant Methodist in Gastonia, John Ward; Trinity Methodist in Troy, Patti Colliver; Rural Hall Methodist in Rural Hall, Morris Chapel in Walkertown, Brouse Methodist in Crouse, Mount Tabor Methodist in Madison have postponed visits until the spring.

Visits planned for the near future are: Mooresville Methodist in Mooresville, Harry Lilly; Wesley Heights Methodist in Lexington, Hugh Cameron; Bethel Methodist in Midland, Pat Yokley; Brookstown Methodist in Lewisville, Sherwood Nance; Thomasville, Hugh Cameron; Bethel Methodist in Graham, Shirley McDaniel; Bethel Methodist in Climax, Pat Clark; Lake Junaluska, a special team composed of the best leaders on teams to go with Senior MYF of Monroe for a weekend retreat in May.

In order to boost enthusiasm, Betty Lou Williams, Team Chairman, announced that teams are now planning to have articles put in the local newspapers of the towns to which visits are to be made. This not only helps teams in their work, but also helps publicize High Point College.

A goal of 50 visits is highly anticipated by team members. A lot of action is expected during the spring months.

HOUSE REPORT

Following the call to order, prayer, and reading of the minutes, the members of the House of Representatives heard reports from various committees.

One report came from the committee studying the Roberts Rules of Order. It was reported that each member of the House would be tested on the rules. The questions would come from study sheets that were passed out.

Dick Holt reported on the meeting of the Men's Dorm on February 2 with Dean Nelson. The following statements were made concerning the meeting:

1. A demerit system for the men will be set up for next year.
2. Next year all freshmen will be on second and third floor and, if necessary, sections J and K.
3. There will be an inspection made of the men's rooms. If the rooms are not in some kind of order and cleanliness, the occupants will be called before the dorm council and told that they must be clean for the next check. If the untidiness persists, a fine will be imposed.
4. Next year the members of the Men's Dorm Council will be paid.
5. By next year sections D, E, and F will be refurbished and painted.
6. Three new telephones are to be placed in different parts of the dorm.

Following the reports and the old business, the matter of interest in the House of Representatives was brought up. A discussion followed, centering around two points:

1. Is there a real lack of interest in the House?
2. Is there some certain factor within the organization itself that is bringing this lack of interest on?

A committee was appointed which will discuss the matter further at the next meeting of the House. All members were urged to think about the situation, however, and to bring with them one or more ideas on how it can be rectified.

SENATE NEWS

The High Point College Senate exist to improve all student activities within its jurisdiction. The Senate is working on various bills to make our campus more profitable and enjoyable. Your interest and cooperation would be welcomed.

We hope the locks and bars can be left off of the science building so as to permit students to work there at night. It seems most colleges do have their laboratories open at night.

The questionnaire you filled out in assembly was not just for a statistical report for the records. Definite steps have been taken to promote better relations between the city and college.

Believing that it is love that makes the world go round, togetherness rules have been changed. Boys may now enter North Hall club rooms anytime during the day. The girls in Woman's Hall will vote to determine if the same rule will apply there. A committee is working on a bill to provide an area for car talking better known as parking—legal parking. Good luck committee!

The act of feeding the face seems to be a universal necessity. The dining hall possibilities has been the topic of much discussion in the Senate. We would like to tune up the environment with music during meals. As a reminder, line breaking is a violation of student's rights.

Cheating has long been argued that it only hurts the one cheating. The Senate declares this untrue. Graduates of this institution give to society a reputation for all High Point College students. If a person cheats to get through school he will be unprepared to meet life's demands.

Cheating may be defined as willfully giving or receiving aid or attempting to do so. As a means of checking the unfair situation the Senate would like to propose an Honor System. As our college status progresses we must produce a better caliber of students. Cheating would never make a very good recommendation.

A definite pattern has not been set up by the Senate. Regardless of the do's and do not's of the system it would be the responsibility of the entire student body to make the system a successful one. If we should decide to adopt such a program, each individual would pledge himself to an unwritten code not to cheat. In case it became necessary for one to cheat he should feel free to do so. But in the event that he did cheat it would be his duty to confess his cheating. The person might feel this burden too heavy. He could always ask a friend to do it for him.

—Mary Lou Perryman, Reporter.

Campus Profile:

BASKETBALL CAPTAIN IS VERSATILE

The captain of this year's Purple Panthers is a dynamic little six-footer by the name of Jack Short. Jack is a product of the Hoosier State where the game of basketball is second nature and where the rank of "star" runs a very close third.

For three years now this young man has been setting an almost unbelievable pace of consistency in the North State Conference. His dazzling floor play, uncanny field goals, and cat-like reflexes have sent many an opposing coach home disheartened.

However the full story of Mr. Short goes a little further than the walls of Alumni Gymnasium. Jack is an exception to the fictional belief that all college athletes make poor students. Even during the rigorous season this young man from Indiana manages to maintain a "B" average as a major in Business Administration. As further proof of his varied accomplishments one should mention his membership in the Order of the Lighted Lamp as well as recent induction into the annuals of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1961-62. And yet with all these superlatives Jack can easily be labeled as a "regular guy." His modest sincerity and friendly disposition are evidenced by all who know him.

An average evening will find him energetically chatting away about a former game or watching a Western on television. He prides himself with the fact that he has not missed an episode of "Gunsmoke" since the series started. As if all this were not enough, Jack, along with teammate Gene Buchanan, directs the athletics program for the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity in which they both are outstanding brothers.

After one more swipe at Lenoir Rhyne and graduation Jack will take the wedding march with his hometown sweetheart, a certain Miss Barbara Bex. We only hope that Jack will be able to give to the employment of his choice half as much as he has given to High Point College and then we can rest assured that his future will be a bright one.

ANNOUNCING:

AIR FORCE OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

Three-month course leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant. If you are graduating this June, you may be eligible for admission to the new Air Force Officer Training School. Successful completion of the three-month course wins you a commission, and a head-start on a bright, rewarding future in the Aerospace Age.

The School is open to men and women college graduates with certain technological and administrative skills. If you are selected for the School, you will receive Staff Sergeant pay while a trainee. Graduated officers may later apply for advanced training and graduate study at government expense. Male officers may also apply for flight training as pilots or navigators.

For the career-minded young officer, the Air Force way of life can be stimulating, exciting and full of meaning. He will be serving himself, his family and his nation. This is the Aerospace Age. It is a time when a career in Air Force blue has so much to offer the young man or woman who qualifies.

The Air Force is seeking only a select group of college graduates for admission into Officer Training School. However, we'd be happy to send detailed information to any senior who is interested. Just write: Officer Training School Information, Dept. SC05, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

U.S. Air Force

Scholar dollars travel farther with SHERATON HOTELS

STUDENT-FACULTY DISCOUNTS

Save on the going prices of going places at Sheraton Hotels. Special save-money rates on singles and greater savings per person when you share a room with one, two or three friends. Generous group rates arranged for athletic teams, clubs and college clans on-the-go.

For rates, reservations or further information, get in touch with:

MR. PAT GREEN
College Relations Dept.
Sheraton Corporation
470 Atlantic Avenue
Boston 10, Mass.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

BETWEEN CLASSES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by HIGH POINT COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO., HIGH POINT, N. C.

Spirited Panthers Down A. C. In Overtime

The Panthers of High Point College won their second game in a row Monday night as they defeated the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs 71 to 69 in an overtime contest.

The Panthers grabbed an early lead but the Bulldogs roared back to go ahead 43-34 at halftime. They led through most of the second half, until with about eight minutes left the Panthers suddenly came to life and with 2:53 remaining Joe Guzinski hit a field goal to put HPC ahead 69-68. AC hit a free throw to lock the game and throw it into an overtime which saw each club try several times, with an amazing lack of success, to hold the ball for the one winning shot. With 1:52 left to play AC gained control of the ball and maneuvered for the one shot. Suddenly Jackie Short stole the ball and as he started down court he was fouled by AC ace guard, Jack Boyd. With only two seconds left in the game, Short connected for two free throws and the game was history.

Joe Guzinski and Butch Bartlett hit the net for 21 points each. Short added 14. Freshman Phil Garrison grabbed 20 rebounds for the Panthers.

Coach Virgil Yow was very satisfied with the great comeback of his club. The Panthers, who are recovering from a January slump in which they dropped six of seven games, seem to have once again the confidence and spirit that they will need for the tournament which begins on February 22.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

by HARRY C. SMITH

Basketball intramurals are in full swing at the present. At the time this article went to press, the Pikes had a firm grip on first place in the fraternity league. Their record was four wins and no losses. Their first two victories came in thrilling overtime contests, as they edged out Lambda Chi and the TKE's. The TKE's have only one loss, that being to the Pikes. In third place are the Lambda Chi's, followed by Delta Sigs, Theta Chi and Sig Eps. A few of the outstanding players in the league thus far are Dick Shackelford, Wayne Lewis, Ray Fraley, Charlie Willard, and George Sewell.

In the Independent league there were three undefeated teams as of February 13. They were the Jaybirds, Los Perros, and Bullets. They are followed by the Eagles, the Champs, the Garnets, and the Gunners. The big guns in the league have been Jim Holleman, Aubrey Strother, Bill Norris, George Williams and Joe Foley.

Interest and participation has been very good in intramural basketball this season. It is hoped that this enthusiasm will continue in the remaining intramural sports.

The volleyball season is over and the final reports have been filed. They are as follows.

Final Standings:

Fraternity League	W	L
Tau Kappa Epsilon	5	0
Delta Sigma Phi	4	1
Lamba Chi Alpha	3	2
Pi Kappa Alpha	2	3
Theta Chi	1	4
Sigma Phi Epsilon	0	5

Independent League

Jaybirds	4	0
Sphinxes	2	2
Champs	2	2
Carnations	1	3
Barons	0	4

Members of the all-star team were: Wayne Hazelwood, Harold Dickinson, Marion Suitt, Bill McKinley, Ned Surratt, Carroll Hawkins, and Sammy Taylor.

New Coach Has Busy Post At HPC

by BERGIE HATCHER

The ball was bounce-passed into the pivot; the big center uncorked a sweeping hook shot that gracefully sailed through the hoop. The place was Alumni Gymnasium; the event was a student-faculty basketball game. Although the game was strictly for laughs, Frank "the Tank" Hassell was exhibiting the same shot he used for Lenoir Rhyne College in his heyday as a basketball player.

Frank Hassell was born in High Point, N. C., where he attended the local high school. It was here Mr. Hassell lettered in the three major sports: football, baseball, and basketball.

After a short stint in the Marine Corps, Coach Hassell entered Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory, N. C. He was very active in campus affairs and was a member of the Bears' basketball team for four years. Mr. Hassell received his A.B. degree from Lenoir Rhyne and his Masters from the University of North Carolina. After graduation, he coached high school ball at Bandy's and Kannapolis.

Mr. Hassell returned to his native High Point in the fall of 1960 to join the physical education department of High Point College. Here he carries on his duties as Director of Men's Intramurals, assistant basketball coach, and head track coach. He teaches P.E. 103, 200, 202, 205, 206, 208, and 231. "I am happy to be back in High Point," he says. "I like the student body and enjoy teaching at the college."

Coach Hassell and his wife reside on 1114 Montlieu Avenue. They have three children: Frank Jr., 6; Michael, 4; and Tammy, 2. In his spare time, Mr. Hassell likes to play golf or play bridge with Mrs. Hassell and their many friends. The Hassells are of Methodist faith.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

by NANCY CAMPBELL

VOLLEYBALL

"The Independents" won over Zeta Tau Alpha in the finals of women's intramural volleyball. The other teams entered in the field included Kappa Delta, Phi Mu, Alpha Gamma Delta, and another independent team.

PING PONG

Due to lack of interest, the ping pong intramurals were restricted to individuals only. Ellen Julian (Independent), and Ann Surratt (Alpha Gamma Delta), were the individual finalists.

BASKETBALL

The basketball campaign has not officially begun yet, but six teams will be entered in the program this year. Each of the sororities will field a team, plus two independent teams. A game has been planned between the sorority all-stars and the independent all-stars.

Short, Buchanan, Skidmore "Soon To Play Last Game"

Soon three members of the High Point Panthers will don their cage uniforms for the last time. These boys are: Jack Short, Williams, Indiana; Tommy Skidmore, Norwood, N. C.; and Gene Buchanan, Sanford, N. C.

Jack Short will probably go down as one of the better guards in High Point College history. Jack makes up for a severe height and weight disadvantage with a pair of the fastest hands in basketball. Jack is a sure bet for All-Conference honor.

Tommy Skidmore, who played only sparsely until this year, has seen a lot of action both as a starter and reserve. Tommy has always had the potential and only this year seemed to reach maturity, as basketball players go. Tommy has definitely made a fine contribution to High Point College's basketball fortunes this year.

The other senior, Gene Buchanan, a transfer student from Louisburg Junior College, probably has as much natural ability as anyone on the squad. Gene was hampered somewhat by only having two years of eligibility remaining when he transferred to High Point College. Gene has been a real competitor.

A well-deserved pat on the back to each of you from the student body of High Point College.

Johnny's Scribblings

by JOHN WARD, JR.

WHAT'S NEW IN SPORTS? — BASKETBRAWL

If you happen to be from Piedmont North Carolina, you have probably heard someone say, within the past few days, "Let's gather up our weapons and go to the basketball game." If you've been keeping up with your sports, you will undoubtedly know that basketball folks aren't convinced that college boxing is dead. They're still in there swinging and they're still landing punches.

It seems as though our good neighbors over at Chapel Hill are trying to bring together the sport of basketball with boxing and call it basketbrawl. This sport was introduced at Wake Forest two years ago and UNC decided to try it again last week.

How fast and far this new sport will spread we just don't know. But the next time you attend a college game, be prepared. Picks will be useful, but a double-bladed ax would be better. Bring along your girl friend. She can use her scissors. You may lose a loved one, of course; but we must pay this price. The purpose goes beyond the selfish interest of our own safety. (And I do hope you enjoy the game.)

GOLFERS TAKE NOTE!

Many of us are inclined to look at professional athletes as a privileged race with lives filled with luxuries and five figured incomes; we see them as quite removed from all mortal harassment. We never hear of Mickey Mantle lying awake with heartburns, or Arnold Palmer's car battery being dead on a cold morning, and Bob Cousy's wife just loves to stay home with the kids.

Several days ago at the 90 hole Palm Springs Golf Tournament it happened. Don January drove the ball 148 yards only to find that it landed in the little cup. This simple act was worth only $50,000 to Mr. January. Imagine! $50,000 for only one swing of a golf club. Why that's more than most people make in seven or eight years.

But like every great tragedy, this story has a sad ending. In a TV interview the next day Don was asked, "What are you going to do with all that money?" Don lowered his head and answered, "I owe it all."

FOR GIRLS ONLY . . .

It seems as though most girls are boxing fans these days—especially since the handsome European, Igemar Johansson, hit the headlines.

I thought you girls might like to know a few things about this handsome, muscular example of the beloved sex. He is dimple chinned, blue-eyed, and often speaks of a need for "fantasy." He enjoys listening to Beethoven on the electric organ. He loves strawberry shortcake—but while in training he isn't allowed to eat any. He loves the sea and oh, by the way, I'm sorry to add that he loves the company of a cute little thing called Birgit Lundgress.

TOURNAMENT TIME!

In closing, here's a reminder! The North State Basketball Tournament will be held at the Lexington YMCA February 22-25. The Panthers' final game of the season will be at home on February 18, when they play host to the Bears of Lenoir Rhyne.

Short, Skidmore, and Buchanan have been keeping the basketball court hot with outstanding performances. Soon they'll be playing their last college game.

It's All Greek

DELTA SIGMA PHI

NEW PLEDGES: Rush chairman Don Drapeau announced that four boys have accepted their bids and will become new pledges. They are as follows: Ron Yarborough, Ft. Mill, S. C.; Bob Clark, Kingston, N. C.; Woody Collier, Ahoskia, N. C.; and Dave Burgess, Norfolk, Va.

ATHLETICS: Delta Sigma Phi was runner-up in the intramural volleyball championship. Only the TEKES are ahead of DELTA SIG in total intramural points. . . Delta Sig is placing three teams in intramural competition this year.

CONGRATULATIONS: To first semester pledges who made their averages and are eligible for initiation into the brotherhood. Alton Jones, Carlton Davis, Bob Kornegay, Dan Earnhardt, Howard Barnes, and Wayne Lewis will be initiated after they complete their pledge training.

NEW BROTHERS: To become brothers in the very near future are old pledges Bob Veasey, LeRoy Kearns, Phil Coghill, Jim Chernault, and Chris Woodman.

HATS OFF: To pledge Bob Kornegay of Greensboro, N. C., for making the Dean's List. Keep up the good work, Bob.

DRAMATICS: Brother-to-be Chris Woodman now has his own disc jockey show over radio station WHPE on Sunday afternoons.

ALUMNI: Best wishes to brother Ron Neal, who graduated after first semester exams. . . He was a big asset to the fraternity.

WELCOME BACK: To brother Giles Terrell, who is taking a course in Social Studies. He already has his degree from High Point College, but is taking this course as a requirement for the teaching profession.

PARTY: The pledge class is planning a party for the brothers in the near future. Larry Craver is chairman of the committee, assisted by Bob Kornegay, Dave Shaw, Billy Koontz, and Marvin Manuel.

PINNED: Brother David "Cy" Kenerly to Miss Bonnie Orman of Thomasville. About time!

PI KAPPA ALPHA

EVENTS: (Present) The Pikas are now in the middle of their annual potato chip drive. This event is held every year by the pledges and the brothers as a means for providing funds for the annual parties which arise in the spring of the year.

PARTIES: The Pikas have two big parties coming up in the near future which are annual events. These two parties are the Gangster's Ball and the Dream Girl. The tentative dates for these parties are March 11, 1961, for the Gangster's Ball and April 15, 1961, for the Dream Girl Ball.

PINNED: Brother Gary Thornberg to Miss Bookie Kearns, and Brother Bobby Lloyd to Miss Peggy Creasey.

ENGAGED: Brother Tony Bengé to Miss Betty Beauchamp.

EVENTS: (Past) The Pikas, like all the other fraternities, had many of their alumni to return for the homecoming events on the week-end of February 11, 1961.

Also the High Point chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha has had two groups of pledges to visit them on the pledge trips. The pledges which they have been host to have been from the chapter at East Carolina College and from the University of South Carolina.

On Monday night, February 6, 1961, the High Point chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha met with the High Point Alumni chapter to discuss the events which are coming up in the Spring and just to talk over old times with Brothers who have graduated.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

CONGRATULATIONS: To Brothers Dale Brown and C. T. Fulk who received A's in their practice teaching courses.

TO BE INITIATED: Pledges Bill Fallin, Jerry Ramseur, Dave Culler, Larry Wilson, Bill Ferrazzano, Dick Shackelford, Charles Wech on March fourth.

To Brother Tom Kerr and his wife Ginger (Crescent Girl) on their forthcoming blessed event.

To our entire Pledge Class and Brother Norman Stephens on a fine Homecoming display.

ENGAGED: Brother Dale Brown to Miss Betty Gray Dorman.

PRESENTED: The annual Homecoming Banquet for alumni and their wives at Maugerite's Wren Side Restaurant.

ELECTED: Brother John Long, President, and Brother Don Cashion, Vice President, of Lambda Chi Alpha for 1961-62.

NOTED: That 23 out of Iota-Phi's 25 Brothers made at least a "C" average. It is not that we are boasting, it is just that we never would have believed it possible.

TO BE PRESENTED: The annual White Rose Ball on March 18. Also there will be a Lambda Chi weekend for Lambda Chi's and their dates at Myrtle Beach on May 6.

GOOD NEWS! After a conference with our alumni and a general agreement, we may safely say that our FRATERNITY HOUSE is not too far off.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

SYMPATHY: The Brothers of North Carolina Eta were represented at the funeral services of the father of Brother Ken Sullivan. The Sig Eps extend their warmest sympathy to Brother Sullivan.

WELCOME: A hearty welcome to Brother Steve Bower on his return to High Point College this semester.

NEW PLEDGES: Sigma Phi Epsilon welcomes three new pledges into the fraternity this semester. The new pledges are: John Carr, Frank Johnson, and Logan Porter.

PLEDGE ACTIVITIES: The Sig Ep pledges will take their pledge trips on the weekend of February 18. Pledges will be sent to each of the following colleges: the University of Maryland, Wake Forest, Lenoir Rhyne, Atlantic Christian, Davidson, N. C. State, East Carolina, University of North Carolina, and the University of South Carolina.

The pledges sold 100 dozen donuts last Monday night in their first money-raising scheme to raise the needed money for their pledge project. Their project, when all has been completed, will be another Sig Ep first.

Pledges, under the direction of Brother Charlie Walker, were in charge of the Sig Ep Homecoming display. They have been busy the last few days and nights in hopes of winning the coveted trophy.

GRADUATE SCHOOL: As of now, three of our Brothers have been accepted to graduate school for next year. Brother Vance Davis is planning to enter Yale Divinity School. Brother Ken Sullivan will probably be seen at Carolina, and Brother Mark Raby will be found in the psychology laboratories of State.

PARTIES: The Sig Eps began the new semester with an Informal Party at the Jamestown American Legion Hut on January 27. This was a little get-together celebrating the end of the seemingly endless registration lines and bemoaning the start of classes on the following day.

A semi-formal party in honor of the returning Alumni is scheduled at the High Point YMCA on February 10. This will kick-off the Homecoming weekend and will give the Alumni a chance to get acquainted with their successors. The Bill Butler Combo will provide the cool sounds.

The Brothers and Pledges will go to Dimizios in Salisbury for a pizza dinner on February 13. Following the dinner, the fraternity will hold a meeting in the banquet room.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

TOPS: Tekes now are on top in the intramural struggle for the All Campus Trophy.

VOLLEYBALL: A perfect record was displayed by TKE in the fraternity volleyball.

ALL STARS: Volleyball all-stars for the Tekes were Harold Dickinson, Wayne Hazelwood, and Sam Taylor.

AVERAGES: Eleven Teke pledges made their averages: Sonny Chisholm, Jim Davis, Ken Foddrell, Olen Haynes, Wayne Hazelwood, Roger Johnson, Fred Liedke, Louis Neal, Larry Nolan, Jack Russ, Preston Williams.

BROTHER RETURNS: Welcome back to brother Bill Thurman from Cincinnati, Ohio.

LOSS: Delta Kappa Tekes were sorry to see Sonny Chisholm lose his athletic scholarship because of an ankle injury sustained before coming to college.

PINNED: Alumni Henry Ayers has pinned Ann Burns with the TKE alumni pin. Best wishes for the future.

FIELD REPRESENTATIVE: Chick Statler visited Delta Kappa Tekes and gave us much helpful information for more success for our chapter in the future. A small party was held for Chick.

PARTY: After exam party was held to up-lift spirits. This informal date party was rated tops.

LENOIR-RHYNE TEKES. We thank the Lenoir-Rhyne Tekes for a fine party held for the High Point chapter after the ball game at Hickory.

THETA CHI

PLEDGES: To be brought into the Brotherhood on February 27, 1961, are: Mickey Boles, Winston-Salem; Ray Haga, Kingsport, Tenn.; Charles Nesbit, Asheville; Tom Myers, Baltimore, Md.; Tom Bivens, Greenboro; Bobby Braswell, Pine Level.

HOMECOMING: The Pledges are now working on an exhibition for the front of McCullough Hall for the Homecoming festivities on February 11, under the direction of Pledge Bill Pritchard.

PARTY: The annual Sweetheart Ball was held on Friday, February 10, at the Oak View Grange. Social Chairman Haywood Edmundson and Company, provided the Brothers and Pledges with an excellent social event.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: Pledge "Buck" Adams pinned, with a pledge pin, a young lady who for obvious reasons is unnamed.

COMING EVENTS: The Brothers of Epsilon Alpha are looking forward to a party given in their honor by the Brothers of Gamma Omicron at Wake Forest.

The Mason-Dixon Jubilee this year at Wake Forest will be the highlight of social season of the North Carolina and Virginia Chapters of Theta Chi Fraternity.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

NEW PLEDGES: Margo Brewer, Judy Lowder, Pat Maiers, Carol Merrick, Joan Shockey, Sylvia Smith, and Kathy Sturm.

PLEDGE CLASS OFFICERS: President - Pat Maiers, Vice President - Sylvia Smith, Secretary - Joan Shockey, Treasurer - Margo Brewer.

HOMECOMING COURT: Sylvia Smith representing Butch Barlett, Kathy Sturm representing Bill Fallin, Betty Neale representing Tommy Skidmore, Eunice Young representing Larry Nolan, and Sue Williamson representing Wolfy Unger.

MISS ZENITH CONTESTANTS: Jackie Creech and Doris Ann Joyce. CONTESTANT: Debbie Calloway is the representative from High Point College for the title of "Miss Boys' Home."

HONORS: Gaye Wall, SMEA President, was a guest of honor at The High Point Classroom Teachers Association Banquet.

Gaye Wall is Gamma Eta's candidate for Province Activity Girl.

The winner issue of the Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly featured a picture of the Panhellenic House in it. Pictures of Eunice Young, Jackie Creech, Jean Peedin, Helen Mounce, Peggie Davis, Sylvia Parker, and Elizabeth Peterson were also featured.

OUTSTANDING SISTER: Gloria Teague was selected as the outstanding sister of the year in Alpha Gamma Delta.

SERVICE: Alpha Gamma Delta held the pledge service on Jan. 30 in Lindley Chapel. Afterwards, refreshments were served at the Panhellenic House. Five alumnae were present: Mrs. Carolyn Wiseman, Mrs. Virginia Leonard, Mrs. Jean Pons, Mrs. Lila Coble, and Mrs. Dot Byerly.

REPRESENTATIVES FOR "MISS YMCA": Margo Brewer, Eunice Young and Von Vaughn. Von is the current "Miss YMCA."

SOCIAL: On March 4 Alpha Gamma Delta will have an informal party at Marietta Clubhouse in honor of the pledges.

BIRTH: Sylvia and Arnold Lawson announce the birth of a baby girl.

WEDDINGS: Audrey Honeycutt to Tom Hall in Charlotte on February 19, 1961.

Karen Carpenter married Larry Reavis on January 29, 1961 in Rockingham, N. C.

CANDLELIGHT: Annette Young going steady with Gene Blake.

KAPPA DELTA

WEDDINGS: Martha Chevis to Carson Powers on December 17, and Ann Starr to Mike Flannagan.

ENGAGED: Betty Beacham to Tony Bengé, Joyce Roberts to Gordon Beech, Shirley Marshall to Howard Felton.

HOMECOMING COURT: Gail Geyer, Judy Lambeth, Dee Stone, Martha Rae Simmons.

MARCH OF DIMES—KD's aided in March of Dimes campaign.

HONOR: Gail Geyer first runner-up in queen contest at Delta Sigma Phi Carnation Ball.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

NEW PLEDGES: Duane Thompson and Carol Blake, both from New Jersey.

PLEDGE PROJECT WEEK: Zeta Pledges recently completed a week of "fun" filled with projects assigned by the sisters.

VISITOR: Zetas welcomed Sister Marie Powell, University of Maryland, who visited for Homecoming weekend.

WHITE VIOLET BALL: Annual dance held January 7 which was followed on the eighth by a buffet dinner at the Panhellenic House for Zetas and their dates.

INITIATION: Planned for third week in February for those pledges who survive Pledge Project Week.

PHI MU

Libby Graham to Don Drapeau of Delta Sigma Phi; Karen Combs, an alumna, to Wayne Young of UNC.

PINNED: "Booky" Kearns to Gary Thornburg of Pi Kappa Alpha; and Peggy Hill to Medford Taylor of Delta Sigma Phi.

DANCE: Pledges sponsored a dance after the ball game on Feb. 4.

ALUMNAE: Gamma Zeta welcomes Phi Mu alumnae to 1961 Homecoming.

PLEDGES: Congratulations to nine pledges who made the average fall semester: Marcia Row, Ginny Pollack, Hanner Griffin, Michele Hope, Sandra Inman, Suzanne Bullard, Linda Stevens, Beth Parks, and Lou Richards.

CONGRATULATIONS: To our alumna advisor Mrs. "Pert" Grantham for presenting us with a future Phi Mu, Polly, weighing 8 lbs., 6 ozs.; and to Brenda Dellinger who made the Dean's List.

HOMECOMING SPONSORS: Lou Richards and Kay Philips.

Greeks Cop Awards

Delta Sigma Phi took first place in the Homecoming float contest. The Sphinxmen winner was an ingenious sawmill routine which victimized the "Unhappy Appy." The switchman was most naturally the Purple Panther. Lambda Chi Alpha placed second with a victory train rendition of the Yowmen, with each of the player's names inscribed on a car. Phi Mu Sorority received honorable mention for their clever version of Little Lulu taking the Appies to bay with a sneeze.

Alpha Gamma Delta won the trophy for sorority cheering and Theta Chi won the fraternity cheering trophy.

THEATER GUIDE THE CENTER

"Elephant Walk" February 18

"Ben Hur" March 1

"Please Turn Over" February 18

"Three Worlds of Gulliver" February 22

See Feature on Page 6

The Hi-Do

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE
Vol. XXXV, No. 6

High Point, N. C.

March 30, 1961

HAPPY
EASTER!

Talent Show Coming Soon

The Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity has announced plans for a campus-wide talent show to be held a short time after the Easter holidays. The event will be under the direction of Don Drapeau. Professor J. Fryhover is in direct charge of the affair. Anyone wishing to enter is asked to contact one of these gentlemen.

Arrangements have been made for several professional entertainers to appear on the program. Polly Yow will be one of the feature attractions. Students are asked to contact Dale Brown or Bobby Yates for tickets. Tickets will also be on sale at Memorial Auditorium. Thad Lowry, local radio broadcaster, will emcee the event.

Forum To Be Presented Soon

The Library Committee announces plans for their third Collegiate Forum to be presented on April 13. The subject for discussion is "Capital Punishment—Pro or Con."

Some of the panelists for this program include Judge Byron Jaworski, High Point municipal judge; D. P. Whitley, former prosecuting attorney of Guilford County; Bennie Jenkins, Vance Davis, and Dr. S. C. Deskins. Dr. W. R. Locke will serve as moderator.

A forum about capital punishment was suggested because of various class interests in this topic, and the forthcoming bill in the State Legislature on this subject.

Miss Marcella Carter, head of the Library Committee, stated, "While student attendance at these forums has been fairly good, it is not good enough. It can prove quite embarrassing to invite special panelists to come and only a few students turn up. The attendance at this forum may affect whether they are continued in the future or not."

The forums take place in the Student Center at 7:30 p.m.

Two Recitals Presented Here

by BETH LEBERMAN

The Music Department of High Point College presented two student recitals in the auditorium during the first week of March. On Thursday, March 2, several of those students studying music displayed their skill and the marked improvement which they have made.

At the organ were Annie Carol Boyd playing a "Chorale Prelude" by J. S. Bach and Judy Collins playing Bach's "Prelude in A Minor." The organ solos were followed by the string ensemble comprised of Bill Barnes on the violin, Alice Mellvaine also on the violin, Dr. Lew Lewis on the viola, and George Beam on the double bass, playing a quartet by W. A. Mozart.

Chuck Miller, accompanied by Judy Collins, then performed Milhaud's "Caprice" on the clarinet, and he was followed by Bill Barnes on the violin playing Vivaldi's "Concerto in A Minor," accompanied by Judy Collins.

George Beam, accompanied also by Judy Collins, played Saint-Saens' "L'Elephant" from "Carnival des Animaux" on the double bass, and Mike Carrington completed the program with Beethoven's Piano Sonata, Op. 49, No. 2.

On Sunday, March 5, Tom Gunn presented an organ recital in the college auditorium at 4:00 p.m. The first part of his program included two Bach chorales with chorale preludes, and Bach's Prelude in G Major. He next performed the Mendelssohn Sonata, Op. 65, No. 6, and concluded his program with the Marche Religieuse by Gignou, a Prelude on "Brother James' Air" by Wright, and a Prelude, Op. 29, No. 1 in G Minor by Pierre.

OUR WINNING TEAM!

North State Conference Champions rip it up after defeating Atlantic Christian for the top position, 88-73. Pictured are (First row, l. to r.): Roy Bartlett, Joe Guzinski, Jackie Short, Phil Garrison, (Second row) Zane Daniels, Larry Nolan, Tommy Skidmore, Chalmous Sechrist, Gene Buchanan, (Back row) Wolfy Unger, Coach Yow, Bill Fallin, and Coach Hassell.

HPC Studies Published

High Point College announced this week the publication of its first collection of scholarly research papers written by its faculty. This publication is entitled "High Point College Studies." Contributions were made to this scholastic endeavor by seven members of the faculty at the college. These are the first such studies to be conducted by the college faculty and plans are at present to publish at least one such work a year and if possible more than one in future years.

The editor of this publication is Dr. Walter Blackstock, Head of the English Department at the college, who himself contributed to this research project.

The purposes for these studies are many but two of the major ones are to give the faculty an opportunity to publish their research works and to further the purpose of the college in its new time theme "Education for Leadership."

The articles and their authors are: "The Vanderbilt Family: An Index to Aesthetic Tastes and American Art After the Civil War" by Dr. Walter Blackstock; "The Concept of Endurance in the Characters of William Faulkner" by Dr. William J. Sowder of the English Department; "The Land Tenure System and Its Achievements in Independent Latvia 1918-1940" by Dr. Alexander V. Berkis of the History Department;

"Proust and the Symbolist Aesthetic" by Mr. Thomas A. Williams, Jr. of the Department of Modern Languages; "Latin America in Revolution" by Dr. Edwin A. Pleasants of the Department of Modern Languages; and "Poetry Contrasted with Science, Social Science, and Religion" by Dr. Lincoln Lorenz of the English Department. A special feature of this publication is a series of drawings by Mr. Raiford Porter of the Art Department. Dr. Blackstock also contributed a poem of his entitled "Word-Gamers."

Copies of this publication are being sent to learned societies, colleges and universities throughout the country and to high schools within the state of North Carolina.

Tower Players Present Irish Play

The Tower Players presented with pride their Spring play, JUNO AND THE PEACOCK, on March 24 and 25. Reputed as one of the great plays of the Twentieth Century, this offering by Sean O'Casey is set against the blood-red and sorrow-black curtain of Ireland's civil war, 1922. However, the characters who appeared for moments on stage and speak O'Casey's lines are not out of contact with people among whom he moved in Ireland's days of sorrow. The members of the tenement family of whom he writes, are very real in their times of laughter and sorrow, and the spirit of the severed country moves with spectre through the characters on stage. A brooding young man who lost an arm in Easter Week gasps in fear at a knock on the door; his sister comes alive with love newly born; their father "struts about like a peacock (peacock)" from bar to bar with his irresponsible friend, "Joxer"; and their mother attempts to hold the family together by the main force of her character. Though it is not necessary to know the history of Ireland to receive the full force of the play, it serves to establish its place in time.

Bloody Easter Week, 1916. The country was Ireland; the fight was the Irish fight for Home Rule and a Republic. Dublin had become quite accustomed to the volunteers of the Irish Republican Army who drilled in the streets, so it was really nothing new that on Easter Monday morning a great number of them paraded through the streets. But this was new; this was organized rebellion against the 1,200 British troops billeted about the city representing the heavy hand of British rule. Within a matter of a short time barricades were thrown up in the streets and manned. The Provisional Government of the Irish Republic was quietly set up in the General Post Office. Heading this movement were members of the Republican Brotherhood. So began Ireland's last great struggle for freedom from English domination.

This, however, was not the first surge, on their part, toward this freedom. Many centuries before had the banners of English troops begun the scourge of their squeezed out lines, resources, and political independence.

At the time of Oliver Cromwell, Ireland was Catholic. It had been hoped that under the Catholic-sympathizing Stuarts Ireland would fare better. However, the kings of this family were swayed by the Protestant bigotry amid which they ruled. So Charles I walked to meet the executioners, and Cromwell's Republic swept across England.

Cromwell was a fanatic in his Puritan belief, a genius when it came to organization and the military. In one hand he held the Puritan Bible while the other, holding a mighty sword, swept away the monarchy, the traitor to his government, and the heretic to his faith. Then came the chance to destroy the Catholic thorn in the Puritan side. The Irish Protestants and Catholics united to attack a parliamentary force in Ireland. Cromwell destroyed parts of Ireland utterly, and in subsequent moves outlawed thousands, tore others from traditional lands, and settled these

(Continued on Page 3)

"What in the name of heaven brought you out on the roof, Joxer Daly?" Asked Juno (Viviane Lloyd) to the man crawling in the window (Mike Carrington). On the right, the Peacock (Phil Kinsey) looks on. This is a scene in the recent Tower Player Production.

Across The Desk

The chapel program of March 15 was indeed a noteworthy accomplishment for High Point College. The execution of one of our rare formal debates was polished, prepared, and at times even professional. Both sides are to be commended for the fine job they did in handling a ticklish and controversial topic-of-the-day. Doctor Deskins can rest assured that the student body's reception was proof enough that his long awaited dream is finally coming true. High Point College is definitely in favor of formal debating.

As far as any logical minded person could see, the only flaw in the program came at the mention of Barry Goldwater's name. It is unfortunate that the negative side, which was presenting such an air-tight case, had to resort to Senator Goldwater's philosophy in an attempt to strengthen their argument. There is no doubt that Barry Goldwater is a dedicated American. However, his brand of conservatism is not, by any means, the last word in good conservative thought. Mr. Goldwater is a more a self-appointed spokesman of the decaying Old Guard. The Republican Party sees this more and more at every convention and every election. The real strength of the Republicans rests firmly in the hands of moderate conservatives under Nixon, and liberals under Rockefeller. These two gentlemen are wise enough to realize that the Old Guard is long gone and that no one acknowledges this fact more than the voting public. Senator Goldwater may have a best selling novel on the market, but he would be suicide on a national ticket. Ask any smart Republican. The new Republican strategy in the forth-coming congressional elections is to win the big city vote which they lost so heavily in the presidential election. They will never be able to do it with Goldwater. He may have gotten a big hand at the Republican Convention, but this is not always indicative of getting the vote. A fellow by the name of Adlai Stevenson knows this better than anyone.

Another point worth recognizing is that Goldwater's philosophy and Southern Conservatism are as different as night and day. Southern Conservatism is legitimate, practical, and enduring. It still maintains that Jeffersonian quality which the Old Guard never could swallow. How much do you think Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater have in common? In closing we can all rest assured that fortunately Barry Goldwater will never be president and that the United States Government is a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people," not a "necessary" evil. Our Constitution was here a long time before THE CONSCIENCE OF A CONSERVATIVE and it will be here a long time after.

Again, a word of congratulations to the debaters for a job well done.

Why I May Transfer...

Recently, a meeting was held of all students who had requested transcripts to other colleges. I was among the group of students invited to attend the meeting.

We were asked to write on a card our reasons for wanting to transfer, and students wrote about everything from personality clashes to better schools for their major.

Two years ago, I entered High Point College full of various hopes . . . most of which have been fulfilled. At that time, I arranged my courses so as to be able to transfer my junior year, so this is not a sudden decision but part of a "long-term plan."

To me, this little college for "discriminating students" has a great deal of raw material in talent and intellect in its student body. Under the guidance of Dr. Patton and the administration, this college is progressing to greater heights each year, and every time that I hear of some of the plans connected with the "Education for Leadership" program, I know that I will be missing out on a wonderful opportunity by leaving.

High Point College has given me a great deal. I have little to offer in return, but my sincere thanks and the hope that I will represent HPC well in the future wherever I may be.

And a final note: I firmly believe in Donne's statements—"I am a part of all that I have met." Each of the wonderful students at this college has meant a great deal to me in each of their individual ways. Ideas in religion, social understanding, psychological comprehensions . . . all of these things and many others have been rounded out by my various experiences from hen sessions on third floor to Fellowship Team visits to classroom arguments. I am sincerely and humbly grateful.

-B. G.

The Tower

Against the black valid moon-lite night, stretching mightily towards the sky, stands a tower, a goddess of the soul, with its lamp of wisdom its story never told.

Mighty tower high and bold, what story have you never told? What secrets do you hold beneath your structure of wood and stone?

Pray tell us your tale of woe.

The years have come, and the years may go, but life to you is but one endless show. Of love and sorrow, bitterness and hate, of happiness and despair.

How many have toiled and walked beneath your breadth, and fail to realize the strength you possess.

How many cheers of gladness, and words of broken promises have been told to you unknowingly.

Tell us, O mighty tower, so we too may glimmer in our life. Show us your secret of success.

Tell us of the thoughts you have heard, carried by the zephyrs of the night.

Of lovers walking beneath your spire, speaking words tender and quiet, futures planned and futures destroyed, all because of romantic desire.

Of lonely boys and lonely girls, whose only wish is to be loved and shared.

Of sweat and toil for endless days, just to get a passing grade.

Speak now, O far flung tower, speak now so we may hear.

Listen quietly, ever so quietly and you will hear the gentle breezes whispering through my tiers.

Look, look ever so sternly and you will see my belfry there.

All this doesn't make a tower or a man, only a image is what has appeared.

My strength lay not in my rotten planks, as they are old and beyond repair.

My strength, my friend, is what you think I am.

Henri R. Mazzoli.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Hazel's Beauty Center

Expert Beauty Service

Personality Styling and Hair Cutting

at

Five Points Shopping Center

Natural Shoulder Clothing

SHERATON MEN'S SHOP

In the Sheraton Hotel

Letters to the Editors

Suitcase College?

Dear Editor:

Why does our college have to be a suitcase college? Why do so many people go home every weekend? I feel that these questions may be answered by looking at the social conditions of our campus.

Except during basketball season, dating is limited to fraternity parties or to those couples who are "going steady" or "Pinned". Very few boys and girls date unless there is a special occasion such as a dance, etc.

Unfortunately, our campus has a different attitude from those of other campuses its size. On other campuses the boys and girls are friends in the true sense. They eat together, talk together, study together — even though they may not date each other. Have you ever noticed how the boys and girls segregate in the cafeteria? Or how the boys stand in their little groups and the girls in their little groups in the book store?

Now the boys blame this problem on the girls—"they aren't friendly," etc., and the girls blame it on the boys, "they are stuck up," etc. I feel that this atmosphere should be changed. It could be changed if each person, boy or girl, would try harder to be friendlier and to take more interest in their classmates. If a new attitude were adopted, then all of our social functions on campus could be a real success everytime, and not just a half-way success.

A Concerned Student.

Quit Gripping!

Dear Editors:

Students are constantly gripping about one thing or another, but few of them take the initiative to do anything about their complaints.

Agreed that many of the conditions found at High Point College are not comparable to those of larger colleges and universities, but there is a great deal of material aid at this college which is not even being used.

I remember an old quotation saying "Make the best with what you have." A few of the wiser students on campus are taking advantage of the opportunities that are being offered to them, instead of dwelling on those which are not offered.

Many of the community concerts, local plays, sports events, forums, et cetera, are poorly attended by HPC students, and many of these things offer a wealth of opportunities for learning.

If one takes time to notice, a person is made a better man from disadvantages instead of advantages.

Sincerely,
L. C.

"Fellow Program" Progresses

The purpose of the Fellow Program at High Point College is to give everyone an opportunity to share importantly in the work of the College. It is a program designed to enlist greater community interest in the College and in the advantages the College offers to the community.

What is a Fellow? A Fellow of High Point College is a person who associates himself with the College by sharing, and for this, receives the honor and distinction of being one who actively fosters the work of the College.

The University of Oxford in England, and many other European Universities, have carried on a Fellow program for centuries. One of Oxford's most celebrated Fellows was John Wesley, who shared his abilities with the University for many years.

If one is vitally interested in the work of higher education and concerned with the development of young lives, one should be a Fellow.

As a Fellow, one gains the inner satisfaction of sharing in the work of the College.

The College honors Fellows with complimentary invitations to all public functions and other meetings.

More importantly, a Fellow is awarded a citation each year designating him a "Fellow of High Point College."

As a permanent testimonial to one's efforts as a Fellow, one's name is recorded in the College catalogue and Annual, and the name is placed also on the Fellow plaque each year.

The following are the First Fellow Citations: Mrs. Myrtle B. Barthmaier, Harry G. Bell, Jack Burris, Jack H. Campbell, J. Harriss Covington, Eugene Cross, R. Frank Dalton, Raymond L. Deal, Jr., Doak W. Finch, Harry B. Finch, Thomas A. Finch, Jr., John H. Foy, C. Felix Harvey, III, Mr. Charles E. Hayworth, High Point Savings and Trust Company, I. Paul Ingle, C. T. Ingram, Jr., Charles L. Kearns, W. H. Linthicum, Jr., James H. Millis, L. K. Mobley, Charles W. McCrary, Holt McPherson, North Carolina National Bank, W. T. Powell, Robert M. Silver, Edger H. Snider, Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Elliott S. Wood.

New Gifts Contributed December, 1960—$1,000. Each: W. H. Linthicum, Jr., Bill Campbell—Lilly Company, Jack Campbell, High Point Savings and Trust Company, Harriss Covington, James Millis, Charles McCrary, Charles Kearns, Harry Bell, Charles Hayworth, Edgar Snyder, Robert Silver, North Carolina National Bank, Raymond L. Deal, Jr., Doak Finch, Wachovia Bank and Trust Company.

Remember:

"Licker talks mighty loud w'en it gits loose fum de jug."

—Joel Chandler Harris.

"Watch out w'en youer gittin all you want. Fattenin' hogs ain't in luck."

The Hi-PO

"VOICE OF THE STUDENTS"

The Official Newspaper of High Point College, High Point, N. C.
Published Tri-Weekly Except During Holiday Periods

Entered as third class matter on October 19, 1950, at the Post Office at High Point, N. C., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

College Publisher's Representatives
420 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Subscription and Advertising Rates Upon Request

Editors-in-Chief _____ Tony Lasala and Brooks Garnett
Business Manager _____ Bill Kester
Assistant Business Manager _____ Louise Whiteley
Circulation Manager _____ Tommy Butner
Sports Editor _____ John Ward
Photographer _____ Medford Taylor
Layout Editor _____ Dora Jeffreys
Assistants _____ Betty Treece, "Bunny" Young, Judy Benson, Mary Sides, Sally Anger, and Betty Krimminger.
Typists _____ Sue Williamson, Diane Lanier, Marty Green, and Frances Ingle.

General Staff _____ Thelma Mitchell, Len Lewin, Howard Barnes, Becky Jarvis, Dawn Wilson, Peggy McNamee, Eunice Young, Cynthia Fletcher, Sandra Hooks, Pat Peterson, Gayle Paxton, Sarah Harbison, John Ward, Pat Peele, Harry Smith, Janet Sedell, Judy Rogers, Lois Campbell, Linda Wood, Ronny Covey, Joan Shockey, Bergie Hatcher, Stacy Story, James Wilmot, Mary Lou Smith, and Kathy Stern.

MERCURY BARBER SHOP

Open All Day Wednesday — Closed Saturday

We Specialize in Flat Tops

Wade — Frank — Harvey

Phone 88 8-7956

NORTH STATE TELEPHONE COMPANY

Local and Long Distance Service

High Point Thomasville Randleman

TOWER PLAYERS

(Continued from Page 1)

lands with English Protestant colonists. This was accomplished in 1650.

William of Orange drove the Catholics underground, outlawed the clergy, and saw to it that Ireland existed solely for England. For a long period of time, then, already-backward Ireland fell behind a veil of secrecy.

Famine fell upon the land when, in 1739, a blight fell upon the potato; which was the chief food, resulting in the loss of 400,000 human lives.

During the first half of the 19 century, Daniel O'Connell became the first Irish Catholic to enter Parliament. Charles Parnell led the Home Rule party which he took over in 1875.

More than 700,000 died and over 800,000 left Ireland as a result of the Great Famine. This was the year 1845, and the famine lasted for four years. Not a few emigrated to America at this time.

The Fenian movement was begun in America in 1858 by Irish refugees. They were an organized part of the Union Army in our Civil War, and clung together with the objective of returning to their homeland to continue the fight for separation from England. The Sinn Fein was an organization begun around the turn of this century with ideals similar to those as had been held by the Fenians. This group agitated for revival of, and the clinging to, traditional customs, the Gaelic language, and the hope of Home Rule, which meant withdrawing the Irish representatives from the English parliament and setting up a legislature in Ireland. This would mean a complete break between the two countries.

Because of mismanagement on the part of Volunteer groups throughout Ireland, only a few were on hand when the fighting began on Easter Monday, 1916. The insurgents held out for a week. When they surrendered, the General Post Office, heavily shelled was a heap of ruins. English soldiers marched seventeen before the firing murders. An armistice was signed.

What followed was a prolonged interlude of fights, ambushes, kidnappings, and murders. It was Ireland's sons of the Irish Republican Army standing up to the "Black and Tans," an unruly mob hastily gathered and sent in English uniforms of black and khaki. In 1921 de Valera made a truce with Lloyd George. The newly-formed Irish Free-State Government split over this treaty into two groups, the Free Staters and the De Hards, and the country was plunged into civil war. Again the murders and ambushes, again the bloody attacks and bloody reprisals; but this time it was brother against brother, father against son. Homes were blown up, police lorries shot down innocent people in the streets, neighbor informed on neighbor, men took part in firing squads that felled ex-comrades-in-arms. Against this background is set the stirring drama by Sean O'Casey, JUNO AND THE PAYCOCK.

This play is under the direction of Miss Jane DeSpain with technical stage design by Don Drapeau. It has been cast as follows: Jack Boyle, Phil Kinsey; Juno Boyle, Vivianne Lloyd; Johnny Boyle, Ed Stafford; Mary Boyle, Libby Graham; "Joxer" Daly, Mike Carrington; Mrs. Masie Madigan, Ann Emery; "Needle" Nugent, Harvey Shaw; Mrs. Tancred, Linda Richards; Jerry Devine, Don Drapeau; Charlie Bentham, Thad Lowery; the I.R.A. men, Henry Mazzoli and Pat Conner; Coal Block vendor, Clyde Fitzgerald; Two Furniture-Removal men, Bill Trevarrow and Don Jenkins; Two Neighbors, Terry Lloyd and Cindy Foulk. This will indeed be a highlight of the year and a memorable experience.

Debate On Cap. Punishment

by JUDY ROGERS

Thursday morning marked an auspicious occasion for the members of Dr. Deskins' 9:20 North Carolina History class. A debate was held discussing the merits of the abolishment of capital punishment in North Carolina. Judges for the debate were Dr. Patton, Dean Conrad, and Dr. Peterson. Those making up the affirmative team were Vance Davis and Dale Brown. Jerry Haney and Benny Jenkins composed the negative team.

Arguments for the affirmative were first of all based on the fact that capital punishment is not a Christian practice. Secondly, the state has no right to allow laws that permit the taking of an individual's life. It should be up to the state to provide an environment of respect for law and justice. Any state that allows capital punishment is admitting that it cannot prevent conditions which are favorable for crime. Third, capital punishment is not a deterrent to crime. In fact, it has been shown that the states that have abolished capital punishment have a lower crime rate than those states which permit capital punishment. Society is too vengeful and demands punishment that is too harsh and unjust. Rehabilitation is more important as a crime preventive than is capital punishment which often deprives a man who could be rehabilitated of a chance to make something of his life.

The negative contended that as murder of one man affects all of society, then the ultimate punishment should be death—punishment by society for a crime against society. When a man deprives a man of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, thus he too should be deprived. Then it follows that society should be given the right to take away a man's life when he takes away the life of a man. Death is the only just punishment for murder. However, capital punishment should only be used as a last resort and as a prevention of further crime on the part of an individual. In such cases, it should be a preventive punishment, to use at the discretion of the judge. To deprive a judge of using capital punishment is to retard the courts from functioning properly.

After listening to the debate the courts decided that the affirmative had presented the best arguments as to whether or not capital punishment should be abolished. They also presented a critique along with two members of the class.

Student Borrowing At All-Time High

"Neither a borrower nor a lender be" may have been good advice when Polonius offered it to Laertes, but for today's would-be college student it makes no sense.

In fact, according to an article in the April Reader's Digest, borrowing by bright but broke students is at an all-time high, and college authorities couldn't be happier about it.

Not long ago, says author Don Wharton, if you didn't have the money to go to college, a scholarship was about your only hope. If you didn't get it, you went to work. Even with scholarships, many had to drop out of school because their financial needs weren't fully covered and they could not earn enough in part-time work to make up the difference.

Not so today. Thanks to a variety of student loan funds, thousands of students are able to go to college on borrowed money that totals as much as $5,000 each. Such borrowing has leaped from a 1956 total of 13 million dollars to an estimated 230 million dollars in 1960.

Although money is available through four separate channels, Federal loans issued under the 1958 National Defense Education Act has provided the greatest single total—more than $70 million to date. Under this system, the student applies to his college for a loan, which he has ten years to pay off. He pays no interest until a year after graduation, then only three per cent yearly.

The article describes the other three major loan systems, and suggests that a student who needs additional funds to go to—or stay in—school, inquire what loan arrangement his school offers.

The article, "New Ways to Finance a College Education," is by Don Wharton.

Campus Profile: She's Always Busy

Each graduating class takes some people who are indeed hard to replace. Surely the Class of '61 will be no exception. There will be so many whom we will miss sorely. Judy Fisher is certainly one of this category. Her seemingly everlasting ambition and loquacious charm will certainly be missed come next fall.

If there is any one person who has engineered behind the scenes, most of the time it has been Judy. Her successes are not material but many, and tireless energy is always ready to take on another task. The many contributions she has given to High Point College have not always been recorded, but their merit does not need publicity.

Judy came to High Point College in the fall of 1958 from her home town of Matthews, North Carolina. Her sincere disposition and easy smile rapidly acclaimed her as one of the most popular girls on campus. If you have ever picked up a program concerning a campus function, you most surely have seen the name of Judy Fisher. Whether it is a Tower Players Production or just a pick-up committee, Judy's name is certainly there somewhere. If she is not acting she is producing, and if she is not doing either, she is always promoting.

Aside from her organizational gift, Judy is one of our most talented young ladies. According to Professor Fryhover, she far and away cops the title of being the finest song and dance performer we have.

Her gift for the musical arts is not the whole story, however. This year sees Judy as Secretary of the Student Christian Association and one of our Ten Top Seniors. Versatility never had a better example. Therefore, we suggest that the world had better get set, because after this May our selection for the month will most certainly make an obvious mark on it.

Nat'l Lecturer Speaks on Sex

Guest lecturer at the High Point College weekly student-faculty assembly today was Mrs. Arnold Nash. Her topic of discussion was "The Dilemma of Sex."

Mrs. Nash was sponsored on the campus by the Student Christian Association. She will also conduct this afternoon a discussion for couples preparing for marriage, and speak to the general student body in an evening session in the auditorium.

She is a nationally-known psychologist and lecturer. At present, she works as the Family Life Specialist in the Department of Preventive Medicine and Genetics at Bowman Gray School of Medicine. She has held positions as psychologist in Toronto City Schools, lecturer for the Association for Family Living in Chicago, and lecturer and marriage counselor for the Sociology Department at UNC.

She is the wife of Arnold Nash, Head of the Department of Religion at UNC.

Mrs. Nash was educated at the Universities of Liverpool, Yale, and UNC. In 1953-54, she was at Harvard, teaching on a foundation grant to teach marriage counseling in India.

As the author of With This Ring, she has been called on to lecture in universities and colleges throughout America, Canada, Britain, and the Far East. She has just returned from a visit to Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Russia, where she studied facilities available and work being done in marriage counseling.

FIVE POINT LAUNDROMAT
1232 Montlieu
We Wash, Dry and Fold

Student-Faculty Tea A Success

On Thursday afternoon, March 16, the Faculty Social Activities Committee of High Point College sponsored a Faculty-Student Tea. The special attraction of the occasion was music furnished by a string quartet from the Fine Arts Department and the reading of original poems by Dr. Walter Blackstock, Head of the English Department. The tea took place in the Student Center on the campus began at 3:00 and continued until 4:30. Arrangements for the tea were made by Mrs. James T. Warren, Social Director at the college.

Playing in the string ensemble was William Barnes, violin; Alice Melvaine, violin; Lew Lewis, viola; and George Beam, double bass.

Dr. Blackstock read selections from his forthcoming book of collected poems "Leaves Before the Wind!"

All faculty members and students of the college were invited to attend this tea.

Choir Attends Festival

The Concert Choir of High Point College went to State College in Raleigh to participate in the First Annual Choral Festival for colleges of North Carolina on February 17. The actual presentation took place in the State Coliseum.

Approximately 600 voices from schools over the state participated in the Festival. An orchestra accompanied the group on several of the songs. This is the first time a festival has been organized for college choirs and it is anticipated that with the cooperation of the choirs this will become an annual event.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

In over 100 countries people get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by HIGH POINT COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO., HIGH POINT, N. C.

The Wooden Eye

by MEDFORD TAYLOR

Michele Hope

This Florida Freshman is enjoying the wonderful spring weather on campus. The "First Breath of Spring" has bloomed, so beach trips, formal dances, and vacation days are on the way.

Penal Code of the Student Government Association

Editor's Note: The SGA has recently passed this Penal Code in both Houses. If approved by the Executive Council, it will go into effect September, 1961.

ARTICLE I.

In order to assure equal justice for all students of High Point College, the following penal code hereafter will be in effect. The penal code is to be followed in all cases brought before the Judiciary Council of the Student Government Association. All accused persons have the right of trial and no person shall be considered guilty until convicted after a fair trial. In case the accused is convicted, the Judiciary Council must impose the penalty prescribed in the penal code.

ARTICLE II.

The following penalties shall be imposed for the offenses listed. In sections where a minimum penalty is specified, a maximum penalty of permanent expulsion may be imposed at the discretion of the Judiciary Council. No person not permanently expelled may be expelled for a period exceeding two semesters.

Section I.

Any person convicted of gambling in any form shall be punished as follows:

a. The first conviction shall incur a punishment of two weeks suspension from all classes and college activities and removal from the campus for that period of time.

b. A second conviction of the same person shall be punishable by expulsion from the college for a period of not less than one semester.

c. A third conviction of the same person shall be punishable by permanent expulsion from the college.

Section II.

Any person convicted of giving or receiving information on examinations or of misrepresenting work produced by another person as his own shall be punished as follows:

a. The first conviction shall incur a punishment of expulsion from the college for at least one semester.

b. Second conviction shall incur a punishment of permanent expulsion from the college.

Section III.

Any person convicted of being under the influence of intoxicating beverages anywhere on campus or at any function sponsored by a campus organization shall be punished in the following manner:

a. The first conviction shall incur a punishment of two weeks suspension from all classes, removal from campus for that period of time, and probation for the remainder of the semester of conviction.

b. A second conviction shall be punishable by expulsion from the college for a period of not less than one semester.

c. A third conviction shall be punishable by permanent expulsion from the college.

Section IV.

Any person convicted of having any intoxicating beverage in his possession in the dormitories or on campus shall be punished as follows:

a. The first conviction shall incur the punishment of expulsion from the college for a period of not less than one semester.

b. A second conviction shall be punishable by permanent expulsion from the college.

Section V.

Any person convicted of breaking and entering and faculty, staff, or administrative office shall be punished as follows:

a. A first conviction shall incur the punishment of expulsion from the college for a period of not less than one semester.

b. A second conviction shall be punishable by permanent expulsion from the college.

Section VI.

Any person convicted of taking into his possession articles owned by the college or by another person, or persons, shall be punished as follows:

a. The first conviction shall be punishable by suspension from all classes for a period of two weeks and removal from campus for that period.

b. A second conviction shall be punishable by expulsion from the college for at least one semester.

c. A third conviction shall incur permanent expulsion from the college.

d. The failure to return stolen property or to repay its full value shall be cause for permanent expulsion.

Section VII.

Any person convicted of negligent, careless, or other unintentional destruction of college property or property of other persons shall be required to repay the full replacement value of the destroyed property.

Section VIII.

Any person convicted of intentional destruction of college property of other persons shall be punished in the following manner.

a. The first conviction shall be punishable by suspension from all classes and college activities for a period of two weeks and the removal from campus for that period. The convicted person shall be required to repay the full replacement value of the destroyed property.

b. A second conviction shall incur the punishment of expulsion from the college for a period of one semester and the payment of the full replacement value of the destroyed property.

c. A third conviction shall incur permanent expulsion from the college.

Section IX.

Disorderly conduct in the dormitories shall be handled by the dormitory councils.

Section X.

Any person convicted of violating the beanie law shall be fined one dollar for each violation.

Section XI.

Any person removed from office in accordance with the Student Government Association Constitution shall have placed on his permanent record a statement to the effect that he had failed to fulfill the duties of the office from which he was removed.

Section XII.

Any sentence handed down by the Judiciary Council carrying the penalty of suspension or expulsion shall be communicated to the Faculty members in the form of a written statement.

ARTICLE III.

The Judiciary Council shall act as the Court of Appeal for any case tried by the Men's and Women's Dormitory Councils.

ARTICLE IV.

The Executive Committee of the Faculty may review any decision of the Judiciary Council upon the request of an interested party.

ARTICLE V.

No student may take final examinations until all fines levied under the provisions of this code are paid. This includes those fines payable to the office of the College Bursar and to the Student Government Association.

ARTICLE VI.

Each member of the Judiciary Council shall take the following oath in the presence of the Executive Council of the Student Government Association before being allowed to sit in trial with the council.

Section I.

I, do pledge upon my honor to uphold and enforce the penal code of the Student Government Association of High Point College. As a member of the Judiciary Council, I will do all within my power to assure legal trial and equal justice for all.

Section II.

Any member of the Judiciary Council found not abiding by his oath shall be asked to resign by the Executive Council of the Student Government Association.

ARTICLE VII.

Amendments to the Penal Code may be enacted by the approval of a simple majority vote of those present and voting in the Student Legislature and the Executive Committee of the faculty of High Point College.

Pancoast Awarded Fellowship

Mr. David L. Pancoast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Pancoast of 802 North Rotary Drive High Point, has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson study. Mr. Pancoast is a senior at High Point College where he is majoring in the field of psychology. Mr. Pancoast is the first student attending High Point College to have received this fellowship award in the 37 year history of the college. He has made an outstanding record during his undergraduate years at the college and is most deserving of this honor.

Mr. Pancoast is one of 1,333 students from 381 colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada to be awarded this Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for 1961-62, the largest number ever elected by the Foundation in its 15-year search for prospective college teachers.

In announcing the 1961-62 winners, Sir Hugh Taylor, President of the Foundation, estimated the total value of this year's awards at $3,000,000.

The fellowships cover the first year of graduate study and are meant to encourage the newly-elected fellows to consider college teaching as a possible career. Nominations for these highly-competitive awards are made by the students' professors. Screening of candidates also is done by 15 regional committees drawn from the academic profession. "The unprecedented increase in the number of nominees," Sir Hugh said, "has enabled us, after the keenest of competitions, to recruit young people who possess the highest qualities of intellect and character, and particularly those who had never thought of a professional career, or at least were undecided about it." More than 23 fields of study, nearly all in the humanities and social sciences, are represented by this year's winners. Those in mathematics and natural sciences represent 15.9 per cent of the total. The winners, of whom 28.2 per cent are women, will be enrolled in 90 different graduate schools in this country and Canada.

In addition to the awards for first-year graduate study, the Foundation annually makes subvention payments totaling nearly $2,000,000 to the various graduate schools where Woodrow Wilson Fellows enroll. Three-fourths of the funds must be used for second-year awards to graduate students regardless of whether they are Wilson Fellows. The remainder may be used at the discretion of the graduate schools to improve library facilities, raise faculty salaries, provide counseling services, or otherwise to improve their program of study. Since the Fellowship program began, the Foundation has elected a total of 5,608 Woodrow Wilson Fellows, including those announced today.

Why are some girls prouder of their rings than others?

You see it in her eyes—but the reasons aren't all romantic ones. Her diamond ring is an Artcarved. This means it meets rigid standards of excellence in cut, carat weight, color and clarity.

Nor is this simply a verbal promise. Artcarved's written guarantee explains how the exclusive Permanent Value Plan lets you apply the full current retail price toward the purchase of a larger Artcarved anytime, at any Artcarved jeweler throughout the country. You will be proud, too, of Artcarved's award-winning styling, like the Evening Star shown here. To be sure it's an Artcarved: Look for the name inside the ring, and ask for your written Artcarved guarantee.

Of course, being engaged is wonderful, but sealing the engagement with an Artcarved ring makes it more wonderful than ever—forever!

Artcarved[®]
DIAMOND AND WEDDING RINGS

Evening Star is an exclusive patented design —one of Artcarved's award-winning settings.

J. R. Wood & Sons, Inc., Dept. SP-11
216 E. 45th St., New York 17, N. Y.

Please send me more facts about diamond rings and "Wedding Guide for Bride and Groom". Also name of nearest (or hometown) Artcarved Jeweler. I am enclosing 10¢ to cover handling and postage.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ County or Zone _____
State _____

"Rest!"

by BROOKS GARNETT

Carol slammed down her books on the bed and cried, "If I have one more test before Easter, I'll just scream!"

Her roommate remained immobile before the sink, looking into the mirror at the bags under her eyes. "Amen, Sister Carol," agreed Jan. "I took one look at ol' Hanson's test and got sick! I studied every single mortal thing that he didn't ask. There just 'ain't no way' to win in this place, man, just ask me!"

"You think that's bad? Well, my exam didn't even make sense. It took me ten minutes to decipher the directions and the rest was so long I didn't come near finishing. It wouldn't be so disgusting if I hadn't bothered to study as hard as I did last night. I knew that stuff, for once," lamented Carol.

"Righto, my friend, but you know as well as Einstein-and-I that tests are never squarely-fair anyway. Everything is relative—like if sorority files are complete or not. Et cetera, et cetera, et cetera," kidded Jan. "Let's surrender and go eat."

All the way to the cafeteria, Carol was silent. She thought about many things, but especially the fact that the harder she tried to make things go right, the more mixed up they would become. When she entered college as a freshman, she was amid a big collegiate pink cloud. She had expected life to be a big whirl of dates and basketball games and fraternity dances and pennants on the wall and fun.

But Carol had also expected to find something else . . . an intellectual charge, a stimulation to think. She had always known that she had the mentality to do just about anything that she pleased, but Carol was always looking for someone to kind of issue a special invitation to learn, one that would MAKE her "want" to learn.

Carol turned to Jan in the lunch line and asked, "Jan, is there something wrong with me, or is everyone like this? I guess I know what I ought to do as far as studying is concerned, but something just isn't there. Look at all these students. They are probably talking about someone of the opposite sex, griping about the food, or just watching everyone else—being numb to everything around them."

"Give up, buddy," quipped Jan. "You know this place as well as I do. Most of us don't have the vaguest idea what we'll really be doing five years from now. The girls take it for granted that they'll be married . . . an assumption I'm beginning to worry about, no less! But anyhow, most of the boys are sliding through school, too. Sure they'll be working in five years unless they find another Barbara Duke, but they do have enough sawdust to realize that there aren't many Barbara Dukes around."

Carol quickly retorted, "But Jan, something is wrong. These are supposedly the prime years of our lives, and as far as I'm concerned, I know that I'm not accomplishing as much as I should. Roomie, we could probably make Dean's List if we half-way tried, but—we won't."

"My cow, fellow roommate, if I even made my average, my parents would consider me Phi Beta Kappa, Incorporated," complained Jan. "What is the point of learning a bunch of lists or a pile of facts that won't stick upstairs more than three days usually. Oh, I agree, I'm not getting any great academic enlightenment on my part, and sometimes, I feel like I'm wasting a lot of money on a semester of cigarettes and hen sessions, but I kinda think I'm learning some things, especially about people. You know, if I thought I could pass experimental psychology, I might've majored in psychology. People fascinate me."

"Well, they fascinate me, too; but why do so few students, especially me, try to keep from doing their very best in everything. I just don't know what's wrong with me!" declared Carol.

"I do!" quipped Jan. "You're thinking too hard. Fermez-la bouche' and eat—nope, that won't work. Just change the subject to something more interesting, like did you hear from Dave today?"

"Not hardly! My mailbox was jammed with mail from literally everyone—except Dave," said Carol. "I got two bills and three library notices, plus a 'cut-card' from the Deano."

"AAAahhhh, well, look at it this way: things are so bad that they couldn't get worse," consoled Jan. "Just think, I haven't heard from Stretch in seven days, three hours, and . . . 12 minutes. That's over a whole week!"

Several hours later, the two young college juniors were loafing in their room. Carol was staring disconsolately at Catcher in the Rye trying to decide what kind of complex Holden had, when Jan suddenly moaned, "My dear roommate, did you realize that: 'Energy is the ability which a body has to do work'?" Jan was reading her physics book, not because she had a craving to read physics, but she heard that a pop test was due in class tomorrow, and she was flunking. ". . . And 'power is the rate of doing work.'"

"Whatever are you mumbling about now, Einstein?" muttered Carol.

"Hon, I have got to remember these stupid definitions for tomorrow, and they just aren't sticking. Any suggestions?" queried Jan.

"Yes, study silently!" answered Carol. "How can I concentrate on Salinger with you spouting off physics?"

"And did you happen to know that: 'A force is a push or a pull which tends either to change the state of rest or motion of a body, or to cause distortion of the body?'" continued the persistent but failing Jan. "REST!" yelled Carol.

"Now just how are you going to be a well-educated college graduate with a smidgen of know-it-all in all subjects—without knowing these bits of physical laws?" teased her roommate.

Carol, in total lack of patience but too lazy to argue, listened to Jan re-read her definitions. Suddenly Carol started thinking about "force" . . . a push or a pull. That was the very thing that she was looking for and could not find!

About midnight, as girls were brushing their teeth, doing last minute errands before lights out, or plowing up the hall to the clubroom for an all-night cramming session, Carol still stared at the book in her hand. The last strains of "Imagination" were coming over the radio.

She turned to her desk and picked up her diary. As she started to write her day's activities, her mind became blank. "I haven't really accomplished much of anything today. Why?" questioned Carol. "Am I just too lazy; am I wasting all my time? What should I have done today that I didn't do?"

Carol was concerned and disgusted for awhile, but she knew that tomorrow, and the next tomorrow would not be any different.

But as she went over to cut the radio off, she suddenly heard ". . . Father, forgive them—for they know not what they do."

Blackstock Poetry - "A Joy"

Dr. Walter Blackstock, Head of the English Department at High Point College, has received a review of his recently published collection of poems, "Miracle of Flesh" in The Indian P.E.N., a literary review journal published in Bombay, India.

The reviewer, Mr. Prema Nandakumar, had the following to say regarding Dr. Blackstock's book: "Modern American poetry has become rather a proliferating affair. There are hundreds of poets now turning out so much verse—amazingly enough, sometimes of very good quality too—that one wonders whether poetry has not a bright future, after all. Besides, there is now an abundance of university or college teachers who are also poets.

"Either teachers write poetry defying the chilly atmosphere of the campus, or poets—after gaining recognition as poets—become university professors. Either way, it is an interesting phenomenon. Dr. Walter Blackstock is Professor of English at High Point College, North Carolina, and in his new collection of 41 pieces of poetry gives fresh evidence of his sensibility and craftsmanship. He accepts this "miracle of flesh" that enables him to climb to the higher things:—Such serious unobscure poetry deserves a warm welcome, for it is a joy to read it and to respond to its music of ideas and sounds."

Dr. Blackstock has been at High Point College since 1958 and assumed the chairmanship of the English Department this school year.

THE SWEET SHOPPE

113 North Main Street
Phone 3745

College Village Shopping Center — Phone 2-8026

For the Best in Baked Foods:
Call Our Address to the Attention
of Your Parents for Special Occasion Cakes

GRACE SHOP FLOWER

CANNON-FETZER
MEN'S CLOTHING

158 South Main

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

U.S. Air Force

There's a place for professional achievement on the Aerospace Team

Ingrid, the charming daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander V. Berkis, poses prettily for the photographer, with her flashing smile and dainty petiteness, she could lure any student to be a history major!

Panthers Are North State Champs

by JOHN WARD, JR.

The High Point College Panthers, who had lost six games in a row at mid-season, roared back to win seven in a row including the North State Conference championship game in which they whalloped Atlantic Christian 88-73.

The Panthers despite the presence of three freshmen in the starting line up, were as cool and poised as a bunch of pros. Their tremendous desire and hustle throughout the tournament carried them to a last-second victory over Elon on the opening night and a pair of wide-margin victories over Appalachian and Atlantic Christian.

It was the first NSC championship for the Panthers since 1953, when they advanced to the second round of the NAIA national tournament at Kansas City. The Panthers closed out the regular season with a 11-7 conference mark.

Coach Yow labeled the final contest as definitely a "team victory." The five starters—freshmen Phil Garrison, Roy Bartlett, Bill Fallin; junior Joe Guzinski; and senior Jackie Short—performed in great style during the entire tournament with reserves continually coming through in the same fashion.

The tournament's most valuable player, Phil Garrison, and his former high school teammate, Roy Bartlett, topped the scoring column with 27 and 26 points respectively in the final game. Forward Joe Guzinski added 13. Jackie Short, the captain and ball-stealing guard, once again proved to be the best floor leader in the conference as he quarterbacked his teammates almost flawlessly from the floor.

Prior to defeating the Bulldogs of AC, who had previously trounced top-seated Lenoir Rhyne, the Panthers upset another tournament favorite, Appalachian, 84-73. Once again it was Garrison and Short who led an inspired team effort for the Panthers as they out-shot, out-rebounded, and out-manuevered the Mountaineers in every turn.

The most thrilling game of the tournament was the first in which HPC downed Elon in the final seconds of the game 80-78. The Panthers were down by two points with less than half a minute to go when Larry Nolan suddenly stole the ball from an Elon guard and raced down court for the tying lay-up with 12 seconds left. Then with six seconds left, a bad inbounds pass by Elon was grabbed by HPC's Garrison, who missed his shot, and Short got the rebound and put the ball back in for the winning points just as the buzzer sounded.

No one player can be singled out as the deciding factor of the success of the Panthers. Garrison was the tournament's most valuable player as he scored 83 points and grabbed 40 rebounds in the three games, Short—all-conference guard—who displayed superb leadership, was also tapped for all-tournament honors, as was freshman Roy Bartlett, who displayed calm and poised playmaking plus an additional 52 points. But it took more than all this to win. It took the rebounding of Joe Guzinski, who was chosen as a member of the all-tournament second team, and of Larry Nolan; it took the key shots by Bill Fallin and Tommy Skidmore; it took the dead-eye shooting of Wolfy Unger when it was needed most; it took the smooth ball-handling and playmaking of Chalmous Sechrist, Zane Daniels, and Gene Buchanan when the regulars needed rest.

Yes, truer words were never spoken when Coach Virgil Yow said, "It was a team victory all the way. The boys played to win and they played it unselfishly."

Bill Fallin struggles to shake loose from the Atlantic Christian opponent as Joe Guzinski (40) goes high into the air. Standing alert and ready are Roy Barlett (30) and Phil Garrison. The Panthers took an 88-73 decision to cop the victory.

The tournament's most valuable player, Phil Garrison (24), portrays a familiar tournament scene as he fakes AC guard, Jerry Fritz. It was this type of play that enabled Garrison to lead the tournament scoring with 83 points. It was Garrison's unbelievable consistency that kept the Panthers alive. The Indiana freshman had perhaps the finest three games of his career in the tournament action. His services are indeed being looked forward to next winter.

Chalmous Sechrist chalks up two more for the Panthers as Larry Nolan (44) looks on. Zane Daniels (20) and Phil Garrison appear in the background. The Panthers grabbed an 80-78 victory in the final five seconds of play in the Elon game.

The Panthers' bench sees activity as Coach Yow gets ready to make a substitution in the closing minutes of the thrilling Elon contest. In the center of the back row is Jack Short who seconds later tipped in the winning goal with two seconds left to play.

Panther captain, Jackie Short, receives the championship trophy from Miss North State Tournament of 1961, who is a student at Catawba College. Dr. Earl Ruth, the tournament chairman, looks on.

Johnny's Scribblings

by JOHN WARD, JR.

Another basketball season has come and gone. Another record book has been filled. The baseball frenzy is upon us; but before I take my pad and pencil over to the diamond, let's take one more look at a few brief notes on the tournament which ended with our own Panthers copping the Championship.

... Not only did the Panthers display the best team in the tournament, but High Point College also had by far the most vocal and most enthusiastic student support at all three games. Practically the entire HPC student body turned out for the final contest and they displayed some of the greatest spirit and finest sportsmanship that has ever been witnessed in the Lexington YMCA gym according to several veteran sports writers. Congratulations fellow students! You did a grand job because your support won half the battle for our team!

... I would also like to comment on the fine representation of our faculty and administration at the tournament. It really made a great impression on the students and players to see so many of our faculty members there cheering their team to victory.

... The state of Indiana has truly blessed the Panthers with a pair of freshmen, Phil Garrison and Roy Bartlett, who were the top scorers of the tournament. Both were all-tournament. Garrison and Bartlett are both attending HPC on a half scholarship, but there seems to be no question as to whether or not that full scholarship will come next year.—Incidentally! Jackie Short also hails from Indiana.

... There has been some question as to why High Point was not in the NAIA District Playoffs. According to HPC athletic director and District 26 NAIA chairman, Dr. Jim Hamilton, there is a rule of the NAIA playoffs that requires a player to pass 12 hours the previous semester even though the North State rule requires only 9 hours. The Panthers had a player who had passed only 11 hours, therefore making them ineligible. The decision to use the player was made in order to give the younger boys experience and also to give the team the all important chance of winning the North State Championship.

... It seems as though Appalachian coach Bob Light had to eat his words during the game of HPC. On the previous day he had been quoted as saying that the Panthers hadn't shown him anything new in the Elon game and that he didn't feel that they would offer the Apps any particular trouble with any new tactics. The next night Coach Light, who seemed very stunned over his team's performance, had quite a different attitude Coach Yow's squad.

... This year's tournament was a climax to a great career for Jackie Short, HPC captain, all-conference and all-tournament player. Short was one of the most lauded players of the tournament with his fine ball handling and leadership.

... Coach Yow turned in one of the most sportsman-like gestures of any tournament. In the Elon game with less than 3 minutes left and the score 76-76, an Elon forward knocked his shoulder out of joint. The referee didn't notice his injury and HPC had the ball, so Elon couldn't call time out. So Coach Yow used one of his much needed time outs to allow the injured player to get safely off the court. Elon coach Bill Miller commented later, "It was a very fine gesture."

And so ends a successful basketball season, and as I close my file on the 1961 NSC Champions, let's get ready to support our baseball team with just as much enthusiasm as we did our basketball team.

It's Track Time Again!

The track team this year had a fairly well turnout, with approximately 25 boys going out for track. Some of the individual contestants will be: Medford Taylor, high hurdles; Tony Bengé, 440; George Srour, javelin throw; Doug Cox, broad jump; Tom Dean, shot-put; and Hal Snyder, discus throw. Others competing are Jack Wagner, Dave Baughn, Ken Sullivan, and Mike Sabino. The Hi-Po will cover the track team in more detail next issue.

Women's Intramurals Reported

by Arlene Lanzieri

Women's intramural basketball came to a close Monday, March 13, as the Independent I team won their fourth consecutive championship. In this game they defeated the Independent II in a thrilling contest, 56-54. It was a back-and-forth battle all the way as the I's lead by only one point at half-time, 27-26. Leading the scoring were Julia Beam with 13 points and Dana Thomas with 32 points. The members of the champions are Sandy Sprinkle, captain; Julia Floyd; Ellen Julian; Louetta Bloecher; Julia Beam; Beth Leberman; Paulette Kerr; and Sally Anger. The members of the newly formed Independent II are Sue Bradley, captain; Carrie Whitehurst; Dana Thomas; June Lee; Betty Johnson; Nancy Gunter; Ann Fields; and Carol Scarborough.

The double elimination tournament began February 20 with Independent I meeting Independent II. Independent I won 53-34, and Julia Beam led the scoring with 25 points for the winners and Carrie Whitehurst added 19 for the losers. Kappa Delta defeated ZTA 26-10. Dee Stone scored 12 points for the KD's. On February 27 Phi Mu forfeited to the KD's. Independent I gained a 61-22 victory over Alpha Gamma

Baseball Season Is Here

by HARRY C. SMITH

The High Point Purple Panthers opened the baseball season March 17 with prospects of a fine year. The Panthers will be led by center-fielder Joe Guzinski. The big Junior is one of the best hitters and fielders in the North State Conference. Other hitting stars for the Panthers are Ray Fraley, Charlie Willard, and Gary Thornberg. The strongest pitchers are Don Cashion, Carrol Hawkins, Roy Grant, and Darrel Smith.

Last year the Panthers had a mediocre 8-15 record. The starters returning from last year's squad are Ray and Roy Grant, Bill Cook, Sam White, and Guzinski. The strength of returning players, newcomers and all-round team spirit points to a great improvement over last year's team.

The starting lineup will be as follows: 1B Ray Fraley, 2B Bill Cook, 3B Sam White, SS Charlie Willard, LF Graig Ford, CF Joe Guzinski, RF Gary Thornberg, and C Ray Grant. Ready and able substitutes are Fred Quin, Jerry Koonze, Doug Barr, Bill Norris and Jim Boiles. Any one of these subs may take over a starting role before the season is over.

In their first game this year on March 17 the Panthers bowed to the strong Belmont Abbey Nine, 4-3, in a non-conference contest. The Panthers in this contest looked much improved over last year's team. The HPC team was leading until the last inning when Belmont scored 2 unearned runs to go ahead.

1961

H.P.C. BASEBALL SCHEDULE

March
17 Belmont Abbey	Away
22 Pembroke St. Col.	Away
24 Pembroke St. Col.	Home
25 Pfeiffer	Away
27 Catawba	Away
28 Belmont Abbey	Home
29 West Virginia U.	Home
April
8 Lenoir Rhyne	Home
11 Lenoir Rhyne	Away
13 Pfeiffer	Home
14 Catawba	Home
17 Atlantic Christian	Away
19 Elon	Home
20 Guilford	Home
24 Appalachian	Away
26 East Carolina (2)	Home
29 Guilford	Away
May
4 Appalachian	Home
6 Western Carolina (2)	Home
10 Elon	Away
12 Atlantic Christian	Home

Delta. Julia Beam scored 29 points for the winners; Ann MacArthur was high for the losers with 14. Zeta Tau Alpha was eliminated from the tournament as they lost to the KD's 47-25. KD forward Dee Stone hit for 21 points and Dee Ford scored 14 for ZTA. On February 28, Alpha Gamma Delta was eliminated by losing to Independent II 46-26. The victors were led by Dana Thomas with 30 points while Doris Ann Joyce hit for 19 for the losers.

In the semi-finals Independent I received a bye while Independent II defeated Phi Mu 50-26. Carrie Whitehurst scored 26 for the winners while Peggy Hill made 14 for Phi Mu. The winners of these two games met for the championship.

Portrait Of A Winning Coach

by BERGIE HATCHER

"It's still a great thrill to win", said coach Virgil C. Yow after his High Point Panthers had won the North State Conference basketball championship. The Purple Panthers showed up the experts by playing fine ball in the clutch to win. This marks the fourth time High Point has won the tournament all under Yow. The win was a fitting tribute to Yow, who has now lived in High Point 25 years.

Coach Yow was born in Gibsonville, N. C. (near Greensboro), and came to High Point in 1926. He enrolled at High Point High School, where he played basketball and football. He graduated in 1930 and attended High Point College. While in college, Yow played football four years, baseball four years, and basketball three years. After receiving his A.B. degree, Coach Yow went to the University of North Carolina for his Masters Degree.

Yow then went to Hanes Hosiery mill in Winston-Salem to coach in the AAU Industrial League. He coached the boys to five national championships and the girls won the international championship in 1951. Coach Yow accompanied the team to a tour of six South American countries, including Ecuador, Chile, Peru, Argentina, Bolivia, and Paraguay. Coach Yow has won North State Conference championships in 1936, 1939, 1942, and 1961. At present, Coach Yow teaches the following physical education courses at High Point College: 206, 324, and 421. He serves as head basketball coach and track coach. The high spot of his coaching career came in 1959 when Yow was inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame. Coach Yow received the Helms Foundation Award for superior coaching. Yow is married to the former Miss Hazel Sebataran. They have one daughter, Judy, who is a sophomore at the University of Florida.

The veteran basketball coach is very pleased with his team's showing in the tournament. He also expressed his appreciation for the loyal support given by the students and faculty of High Point College. "We were fortunate to win," he stated. He was particularly pleased with the three freshman starters, Phil Garrison, Butch Bartlett, and Bill Fallin. "This is the first time in all my years of coaching that I've ever seen a freshman team win. We were especially fortunate in winning the Elon game. Larry Nolan stole the ball and scored a layup that tied the score in what I would call the turning point of the tournament. The boys had the desire and determination to win. We could have gone on to Kansas City if we had been eligible to do so. We were a great team at the finish of the season. We got together and came up to the tournament playing as a unit. It was a great team effort by everyone, including the ones on the bench. If you have a steady bench, you are hard to beat. We had a great bench and deserved to win.

Asked about next year's team, Coach Yow replied, "Since we are losing one regular, we should be even better than this year. We plan to bring in more power by giving 2½ scholarships. Each player that played this year should be better next year. And with those fine prospects coming in, we should again be tops in the North State Conference."

Men's Basketball Intramurals

by HARRY C. SMITH

Intramural basketball is over and the Jaybirds are champs. The Independent League Jaybirds beat the Fraternity League champs, the Pika's, for the title 67-53. The victory climaxed an undefeated season for the Jaybirds. The Pika's loss was their first. Both team outclassed the other representatives of their respective leagues.

The Jaybirds this year were led by Aubry Stother and Jim Holleman. Stother, a six-foot two "Jumping Jack", was almost unstoppable under the boards. He was by far the best rebounder in either league. Holleman led the Jaybird attack from the outside and did a fine job.

The other members of the Jaybirds were Jim Davis, Ralph Clements, Ray Murphy, Charlie Wallace, Gene Height, Ron Bundy, and Don Tuggle. The Jaybirds were given a tough battle in their league by the Los Perros, who lost only one game, that being to the Jaybirds. The Los Perros were led by George Williams and Larry Dunn.

The Pika's won their first two games in overtime and then coasted to the Fraternity League title. The Pika's hit well from outside and were very strong on the boards. The top players for the Pika's were Charlie Willard, Laine Mashburn, and George Sewell. The TKE's finished second to the Pika's losing only one game. They were led by Ray Fraley and Wayne Hazelwood.

The North State Extramural Tournament was held at HPC this year on March 11. Each team in the Conference was represented by its intramural all-stars. High Point lost in the first round to Catawba who went on to win the Tournament. The High Point all-stars were Aubry Stother, Jim Holleman, Sam White, Bill Norris, Charlie Willard, Ray Fraley, Dave Young, Dick Shackelford, Wayne Lewis, and Jim Boyles.

CARTOON QUIPS

Father, helping son with arithmetic: "If A makes $75 and B spends $100... ask your mother to help you - this is right down her alley."

Husband to wife: "You know what our children think of as stocking fillers - little things, like miniature cameras and pocket radios."

Girl, about to be kissed in the moonlight: "Please, Albert, not with all those satellites taking pictures."

Father to baby in crib: "Don't call me. I'll call you."

—The Reader's Digest.

Intramural basketball champs, the Jaybirds, who went undefeated this season. The team members are (l. to r.): Ronald Bundy, Ray Murphy, Don Tuggle, Aubrey Stother, James Hiatt, James Holleman, James Davis, and Charles Wallace.

Recently elected officers of the SGA are left to right: Bob Clark, Vice President; Len Lewin, President; Sandy Hooks, Secretary; Jerry Kyle, Treasurer."

SGA Officers Elected

For several weeks the question in the minds of everyone was, "Who will be the officers of the Student Government Association for 1961-1962?" This mystery has now been solved. The election of the 1961-1962 officers for the SGA was held April 26 and 27. Those candidates running were Len Lewin for president; Ted Brazzell and Bob Clark for vice president; Betty Neale, Brenda Dellinger, and Sandra Hooks for secretary; Jimmy Edwards and Jerry Kyle for treasurer; and George Wigglesworth for HI-PO editor. A run-off election between Brenda Dellinger and Sandra Hooks for secretary was held April 28 and 29. The following people were elected to fill the various offices:

President - Running unopposed, Len Lewin was automatically elected president. Len is a junior from Camden, N. J. During the past year, Len has been president of Theta Chi Fraternity and participated in the Student Legislature. Len's major is psychology and philosophy. Also, he has participated in the various dramatic productions on campus.

Vice President-To fill the capacity of vice president of the SGA, Bob Clark was chosen. Bob, a sophomore, hails from Kinston, N. C. He has been very active in Student Legislature, Fellowship Teams, and MSF. Recently, Bob pledged Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Secretary-In a very close run-off, Miss Sandra Hooks, came out on top as secretary. A sophomore from Fremont, N. C., her major is general science. Some of her activities include recording clerk of the Senate, secretary of her freshman class, and next year she will be recording secretary of the women's dormitories.

Treasurer - Dale Brown relinquished his position as treasurer to Jerry Kyle, a sophomore from Oxford, Maryland. Jerry is majoring in business administration and is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

HI-PO Editor - George Wigglesworth, a junior transfer from Mays Landing, N. J., automatically became editor. George is member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

These are the students who will be your leaders next year. The 1960-1961 Executive Council wish them a year of success, but they must receive the support and cooperation of the student body in order to achieve this goal.

Faculty Changes Released

Dr. Wendell M. Patton has announced the signing of seven new instructors to replace those leaving at the close of the current semester. The new faculty members and their positions at High Point are: Miss Berta Hirtzler, Instructor of Modern Languages; Dr. Robert I. Hislop, Professor and Head of the Department of Business Administration; Mr. Carroll R. Hornmachea, Instructor of Sociology; Dr. William Lazaruk, Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Biology; Dr. William P. Matthews, Associate Professor of Psychology; Mr. Jeremiah L. Mitcum, Instructor in the Department of English; and Miss Charmione Rose, Assistant Professor of Religion and Philosophy.

Miss Berta Hirtzler received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee, and her Master of Arts from Southern Methodist University. She has taught in the New Orleans public school system; at the Instituto Laurens, Monterrey, Mexico; Lydia Patterson Institute, El Paso, Texas; Ferrum

(Continued on page 2)

Conference Commissioner Rules Guzinski Ineligible

Dr. C. R. Hinshaw, Commissioner of the North State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, recently confirmed the statements by Dr. James Hamilton, Athletic Director, and Dr. Wendell Patton, President of High Point College, that Joe Guzinski was ineligible for further collegiate competition. Joe was a regular on both the basketball and baseball teams and a junior at High Point College.

In a letter to Dr. Hinshaw, Dr. Hamilton stated, "Mr. Guzinski signed a baseball contract under the alias of Joe Glenn with Bristol, Virginia, on July 8, 1954. He therefore participated as a professional baseball player for this team. We realize that this act made Guzinski ineligible to compete in intercollegiate sports in the North State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

"We assume responsibility for the negligence in not making a thorough check of Guzinski's record before he enrolled at High Point College. I can assure you that there was no intent on our part to deceive the other member of the N.S.I.A.C. I apologize to you and to the others for our error.

"I have informed Mr. Guzinski that he is ineligible to represent High Point College in intercollegiate athletic contents."

Upon investigation, Dr. Hamilton discovered the professional status of Joe. Joe signed with Bristol on July 8, 1954, and played there for the 1955 baseball season. In 1956, Joe was assigned to the Winston-Salem team of the Carolina League, but he did not report for play. He was then optioned to Bradford, Pennsylvania, and was later released. He later signed with Fargo, North Dakota, but was soon optioned to Orlando, Florida, where he was eventually released.

Dr. Hamilton stated that Joe was aware of this professional status while he was participating on the High Point teams, but Joe never told anyone of his situation because he had never been asked whether or not he had played professional ball.

Formerly, the North State Conference had a ruling which would have allowed Joe to play basketball for High Point, since his professional status concerned only baseball. This rule was eliminated several years ago in favor of one which states that a player who has participated in any professional competition is not allowed to engage in intercollegiate competition in the North State Conference.

After an investigation, Dr. Hinshaw ordered the forfeiture of the five baseball games won in which Joe participated. With this in mind, the looming question is, "Will High Point officially be declared conference basketball champions?"

The High Point team won the basketball tournament in Lexington by defeating Elon, Appalachian, and Atlantic Christian. The championship is not officially recognized until the North State Conference meeting in the spring; the meeting this year is May 20. At the meeting, each college votes on the champion, and the championship is awarded by vote of this conference. It will be up to the conference whether or not High Point will be the conference champion. Dr. Hinshaw stated, "In my years as conference commissioner, the winner of the tournament has always been declared the champion. But nothing of this sort has ever happened to influence a decision. We can only wait and see what the outcome of the conference vote will be."

Elon basketball star, S. J. (Jug) Irvin, a forward and leading scorer in the North State Conference for the past season, was also ruled ineligible by Dr. Hinshaw. Irvin transferred to Elon from Campbellsville Junior College without having graduated from the Kentuckian college. The North State Conference has a rule that states a transferring player must have graduated from the junior college in order to be eligible to play for the North State Conference. Since Irvin, an Elon junior, did not graduate from Campbellsville, he is ineligible for intercollegiate competition in the conference.

Her Majesty Miss Sandra Parnell HPC's May Queen of 1961.

Miss Sandra Parnell of High Point was crowned May Queen by Vance Davis at the annual SGA-IFC dance, held April 20. The crowning of the queen was preceded by the presentation of the May Court and fraternity sponsors. Attendants were: Freshman class-Gail Geyer and Kay Tinsman; Sophomore class-Brenda Dellinger and Jerri Martin; Junior class-Von Vaughn and Linda Samuels; Senior class-Libby Graham and Eunice Young; Maid of Honor-Eunice Young. Fraternity sponsors were: Sigma Phi Epsilon-Anne Surratt; Theta Chi-Joan Bartlett; Lambda Chi Alpha-Judy Bengel; Tau Kappa Epsilon-Michele Hope; Pi Kappa Alpha-Betty Beauchamp; Delta Sigma Phi-Mary Lou Troutman.

Experiment Proves Successful

High Point College has this year, for the first time since its founding in 1924, conducted a formal evening school offering college level course work. The evening school was begun as a result of requests from interested persons desiring to take course work but who were unable to attend the regular day-time classes. The success of this venture speaks for itself.

Under the direction of Dr. C. R. Hinshaw, the High Point College Evening School has found a place for itself within the community of High Point and surrounding areas. As the second full time semester of the evening school draws to a close some interesting statistics have come out of the office of the director which indicates the growth and development of the school and the interest shown in the continuation of such a program by those participating.

During the fall semester there were 12 courses offered which increased during the spring semester to 16. There were 10 instructors teaching courses during the fall which increased to 13 during the current semester. By far the greatest growth is to be seen in the increased enrollment for those two semesters. During the fall there were 111 town or non-regular students and 40 regular college students totaling 151 students enrolled. This figure was almost doubled in this current semester with 143 town or non-regular students and 128 regular college students enrolled making a total of 271 students attending classes during the spring semester. The overall enrollment for this the first year of the evening school is 352 students.

In discussing the projected growth of the evening school with Dr. Hinshaw, he indicated that the inquiries about the offerings next fall certainly indicate that the number of students will continue on the upward grade. Dr. Hinshaw also indicated that the curriculum will be expanded so as to allow as great a variety of course work as possible to be made available to the students.

At present the following courses will be offered in the fall semester of 1961: Art 206, Business 219, Business 103, Business 203, Business 316, Business 308, Business 311, English 101, English 201, Business English, English 305, History 101, History 205, Geography 301, Political Science 302, and Physic 208. To this list will be added other courses as the desire for such courses arises.

In its effort to promote adult education within the community through the offerings of its evening school, Dr. Wendell M. Patton, President of High Point College, had the following comment on the development of the Evening Schools during this first year: "The college is pleased over the response of the public to the evening school. It was begun last semester at the request of interested citizens and it now appears to be fulfilling a definite need in the community." Dr. Patton went on further to state, "The Board of Trustees of the college accepted the report of the Evening School at their spring meeting and pledged to the community to continue it so long as it was performing a community service."

Persons interested in taking course work in the evening school either toward a degree from High Point College, teacher certificate renewal or for other personal reasons of advancement are encouraged to contact Dr. Hinshaw at the college regarding the work desired. Formal announcement of the fall schedule for the evening school will be made during the summer months.

This Evening School program initiated by the college this year is another in the action steps taken in the college's overall program of Education for Leadership. This program offers to the adults of the community along with the regular college students additional opportunities for formal training at the college level. It is the hope of High Point College to continue this offering and for its growth and development to continue in the future.

Across The Desk

This is traditionally the time of the year when those of us who are leaving reflect upon the past in judgment of our successes and failures, and those of us who are staying look optimistically toward the future. Since this editor is relatively new to our campus, it is virtually impossible for me to reflect past this year. Perhaps this is good because I then have nothing with which to compare or contrast our outgoing SGA Executive Council. Any one of us who has had the privilege to serve in an executive position can well realize the responsibilities and difficulties these seven people faced during the past two semesters. This group has been the object of much criticism during the past year—and for a good part rightly so. However, it seems to be a universal human fault to unduly criticize and seldom praise.

I personally feel that this year's Executive Council is worthy of praise. But, for what shall we praise them? Shall it be for the social program they put across; or shall it be for the legislation they passed—legislation such as the penal code, honor system, and the revision of the SGA constitution, all milestones at High Point College in recent years. Certainly these are all praiseworthy. However, I think I would place my praise in other terms. I praise them for their ability to act and to decide. Many times during the past year this committee has had to make decisions either in the face of overwhelming apathy or tremendous adverse criticism. But yet they did decide. It is not enough for a leader to "go along" with the flux and flow of general opinion. Most absurdly there are times when we, the student body, can be wrong even if we hold a majority. But, rather it is necessary for these leaders sometimes to stand alone either individually or as a group. This they had to do and they well rose to the occasion. If they deserve our criticism, which they do, then they also deserve our praise, which they shall get. And, at least, they deserve our admiration for believing in a right and fighting for this right.

Now, for a look toward the future.

Speaking as the new editor of the Hi-Po, it will be my purpose during the ensuing two semester to improve upon the Hi-Po. Not improvement in terms of make-up, appearance and general overall quality, because this would be a difficult if not near impossible task. But, rather, improvement in terms of the effectiveness of the paper. This will be done in two ways. First, the Hi-Po will be published more often. The editorial board is presently planning to publish fifteen issues next year. Secondly, the paper will be more in line with campus happenings in its editorial policy, news coverage, and features. I cannot do this alone. I need, not only the cooperation of my staff, but also the cooperation of the entire student body. It should be your job to bring to our attention any situation or issue on campus of which we are not aware.

In speaking for the new SGA officers and Executive Council, let me say that plans have already been conceived for much of next year. There have already been plans made for what should be a very successful orientation program. We have on this new executive council interested and hard-working students. Let's not let them down. If we want student government, we should accept our responsibility to our school and our student leaders. We should fight against having a general apathetic gloom hang over our campus. Theoretically and potentially we will have a successful and interesting year. Let us all accept the challenge to make it a realization.

—G.W.

The Hi-Po "VOICE OF THE STUDENTS"

The Official Newspaper of High Point College, High Point, N. C.
Published Tri-Weekly Except During Holiday Periods

Entered as third class matter on October 19, 1950, at the Post Office at High Point, N. C., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

College Publisher's Representatives
420 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Subscription and Advertising Rates Upon Request

Editor-in-Chief George Wigglesworth
Managing Editor William B. Trevorrow
Business Managers Don Cashion and Louise Whitely
Circulation Manager Henri Mazzoli
News Editor Jay Brumbley
Features Editor Judy Rogers
Sports Editor John Ward
Photographer Medford Taylor
Layout Editor Dora Jeffreys
General Staff Walter Schenck, Thelma Mitchell, Tony Lasala, Brooks Garnett, Howard Barnes, Harry Smith, Bergie Hather, Linda Wood, Sandy Hooks, Jackie Creech, Ed Stafford.

The green shoots and I,
We grew up together . . .
Weathered, and watered and warmed by the sun,
Tended and taught by the same two pairs of hands.
Kind hands they were,
Horny hands,
Good hands to shake.

I plow under the footprints of my father and his father before him,
And the smaller footprints
That were mine as I followed Pa and the mule.
I plow these under,
And they are churned up again with the rich loam.
Pa's children could call their God,
"Father".
I can never fit his prints.

I am a hard man,
A clot of earth.
I have worked too long in the dust,
But I love . . .
I am the great oak in whose heart
a small bird sings.

Bottom-land made rich by the brown Yarkin
Makes good tobacco.
I stand, dew-soaked, before the coming day in priming season,
Strong arms stretched to a near
God,
Body tough like the locust,
Yet with deeper roots.

My Love?
The shoots, the man, the greying
sky,
The issue of one holy womb—
Nature!
Life!

I stand in the door and am Man.
The sun and the sweat are good things;
The weariness at the end of day is a good thing.
Far away lightning plays in a swollen
sky,
And Creator and Creation are face to face, Smiling.

—Ed Stafford.

CHANGES

(Continued from Page 1)

Junior College, Ferrum, Virginia; and she comes to High Point from the Brevard High School, Brevard, North Carolina. Miss Hirtzler also served in a confidential capacity with the National Security Agency at Fort George Meade, Maryland, from 1943 to 1960.

Dr. Robert I. Hislop received his L.L.B. and L.L.M. degrees from the Brooklyn Law School and his Ph.D. from the University of Colorado. He has also studied at the Nassau College Center and the Long Island University. He served in the United States Navy as a Lieutenant during World War II, and he was stationed in Chungking, China, where he served as the Assistant Naval Attache. He has had extensive legal work, particularly in the field of special investigations, having served as a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Dr. Hislop comes to High Point from Boulder, Colorado, where he has been serving as Legal Officer and Special Assistant to the Attorney General at the University of Colorado.

Dr. Carroll R. Hornmachea received his B.A. and M.S. from Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas; and he has done additional graduate work at the University of Texas and Washington State University. He has taught in the public school system of Texas and at Trinity University. He comes to High Point from Washington State University, where he holds a teaching assistantship while working on his Ph.D. degree.

Dr. William Lazaruk received his B.S. and B.Ed. degrees from the University of Alberta, Alberta, Canada; his M.S. from the South Dakota State College; and his Ph.D. from Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey. He has had extensive teaching experience in Canada and at South Dakota State College, North Dakota State, Iowa State, University of Illinois, Berea College, and Rutgers University. He comes to High Point from Trenton State College, Trenton, New Jersey.

Mr. Jeremiah L. Mitchum received his B.A. from the University of Ten-

Letters to the Editors

Give The Students A Chance

Dear Editor,

The English Department of High Point College is a much cussed and discussed department throughout the student body. In my estimation, it is much more cussed than discussed. Freshmen hate it; boys endure it; and girls love it because they are the only ones who have a decent chance.

I came to High Point College mainly because it was a small college with a good reputation and a good English department. I planned to major in English because I liked to write and because I liked to read good literature. I also wanted to teach the subject at the high school or college level. After enrolling in my first few English courses, my opinion changed greatly.

I sincerely believe that the English Department of High Point College has much potential. The faculty, for the most part, is outstanding, with the majority of the professors holding Doctorate degrees. If this present faculty would "shape up," the whole department would be much better.

Freshmen hate to take English courses all over the country. At High Point, they hate to take them even more. The faculty here appears to be unsympathetic toward the freshman English students. The Freshmen English students need this help more than the majors and minors because, for the most part, they the freshmen are ill-prepared in English when entering college. If the faculty persists in their "holier than thou" attitude toward these freshmen, then the department will grow even more unpopular. The recent cartoon in the Hi-Po gave the general conception of the department. The department is presently pictured as a mighty Meat Carver's Union, with a perpetual contest going on to see who can flunk the most students.

Let me quote a few figures. For the 1960-61 fall semester, the English Department gave out 180 F's, which is two times as many as any other department and over one third of the total number of F's in the whole college. Of these 108 F's, two professors gave 102 of them. There were less C's (160) than there were F's to give the English Department the dubious distinction of being the only department in the college to give more F's than C's to their students. Those same two professors who gave the 102 F's gave only 50 C's. Also, the English Department was the only department to give out more D's and F's (276) than B's and C's (272).

I must admit that the students who enter their first year of college, for the most part, have more difficulty with English than with any other subject. This is because they are usually more poorly prepared in English than in any other subject. Since this in the case, why doesn't High Point College require all entering students to take a more extensive English grammar and composition test to see if they are up to college level, put them in the remedial course. If they are up to college level, put them in the freshman English course. It disheartens a student to no end to get an F in a course in which he has spent more time than all of his other courses put together. This F is on his record for life; and if he gets an F because he is ill-prepared from his high school English work and because the college professor refuses to teach high-school fundamentals in freshman English to those who are ill-prepared, then that F is disgusting. A freshman just cannot be expected to do the same quality of work that a professor can do with a Doctor's Degree and a Phi Beta Kappa Key.

The freshmen who survive freshman English (how few they are) and who like English might decide to continue and major or minor in English. What a mistake! Unless you are a girl, that is! I will be willing to bet that there will not be two males majoring or minoring in English two years from now if the present English Department follows their current practices. I have had courses under Drs. Blockstock, Sowder, Lorenze and I know that girls get better grades than boys even though the boys do parallel work! Why is this? Can it be because the department professors have Oedipus complexes? Can it be because they think boys are in college to mess around and the girls are there to do serious study? Can it be because the girls are prettier than the boys are handsome? Or could it be because the good Doctors are looking for dates or a wife?

Whatever the reason may be, it is a sad state of affairs when the girls in a junior or senior class outnumber the boys three and four to one. One class I know of doesn't even have a boy in it. Could this be because a professor thinks that if a boy were in his class the boy might get some of the attention? All I can say is that if you, the current faculty of the English Department of High Point College, want completely female junior and senior classes—if you have enough in the class to have one at all—then just keep up the good work.

The last point which I wish to make concerns the English classes themselves. I believe that any class in any department should be made interesting, creative, and give the student a desire to learn. Why can't this be true with the English department? From the moment you enter the class until five minutes after the final bell rings, the student is frantically taking notes. I did not believe the campus saying, "Drop your pencil in an English class and you miss half the information on an exam." was true until I took two advanced courses. The student has no liberty in one professor's class to ask questions. If he asks a question, the professor of this class gives a disgruntled sigh, a frown, and an answer with about thirty footnotes and allusions to confuse the student more than the original statement. A class in which a professor reads his notes to the students while the student is frantically writing them down is not too interesting, would you say?

The purpose of this letter is not to belittle any particular professor in the English Department. I do not hold a grudge of any form against any of them. I only wish to bring it to the attention of the professors that the English Department is declining rapidly. The motto of the school is "Education for Leadership." President Patton is doing a wonderful job. The school appears to be on its way up, and I have witnessed many beneficial changes since I have been here under Dr. Patton's administration. I will be leaving here soon, and the success or fall of the English department will not affect me greatly. I am proud of my college and will always speak highly of it to others. I do hope however that you of the English Department take this letter in good faith and see its intended purpose. Re-examine yourselves and your department! Do not be too proud to make some changes and to admit that you might be more friendly to your students and that you might be able to make your classes more interesting! You cannot make a department have higher standards by being so tough that no one can pass. You have to have creative, understanding, and qualified professors. You have the potential; I sincerely hope you learn to use it.

NAME WITHHELD
UPON REQUEST.

nessee and his M.A. from the George Peabody College. He comes to High Point from Huntsville, Alabama, where he has taught in the Huntsville School System for the past several years.

Miss Charmione Rose received her A.B. from High Point College; her Master of Religious Education from Emory University; and she has done graduate work at Boston University. She served as the Director of Christian Education at the First Methodist Church in High Point for several years following her graduation from High Point College. She comes to High Point from Norfolk, Virginia, where she has served as the Director of Christian Education at the Epworth Methodist Church for the past eight years.

Dr. William P. Matthews received his B.A. degree from Lynchburg College and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the Teachers College of Columbia University. He has taught in the Halifax, Virginia Public Schools; Lynchburg College; and the Teachers College of Columbia University. He comes to High Point from the University of North Carolina where he has been associated with the School of Education for the past five years.

HPC's 1961 Baseball Squad: Back row, l. to r. Joe Guzinski, Chalmous Sechrist, Craig Ford, Carroll Hawkins, Harold Terry, Charles Williard, Darrell Smith, Jim Boyles, Bill Cook, Don Cashion, Bill Norris. Front row, l. to r. Roy Bartlett, Dave Culler, Jerry Koontz, Gary Thornburg, Jim Davis, Don Phillips, Roy Grant, Sam White, Ray Grant.

Baseball Team Finds Going Rough

by BERGIE HATCHER

When spring training drills began last February, Coach Hartman and followers expected this year's Panther baseball team to be a better than .500 ball club. However, the present 7-13 record made by the Panthers must be thought of as a disappointment. The Panthers have experienced special difficulty in the close games, losing six games by two runs or less. The club's defense and pitching depth have been the biggest problems.

The pitching staff has been steady at times, but for the most part has taken a beating. Roy Grant has failed to show the effectiveness that made him one of the top pitchers in the conference last year. On occasions Roy has seen action in the outfield. The ace of the staff, right-hander Darrell Smith, has had continuous trouble pitching in the early innings. Don Cashion, Carroll Hawkins, and Chalmous Sechrist have pitched well on occasions, particularly in relief. Cashion was extremely effective in losing a 1-0 heart-breaker to Atlantic Christian. In desperation for mound help, Coach Hartman has used Charlie Willard and Joe Guzinski as pitchers. Guzinski went all the way to defeat Western Carolina in his first start. Willard looked sharp in beating Lexington of the class D Western Carolina League, 9-6.

Ray Grant is the first string catcher, backed up by Jim "Big Daddy" Boyles. Boyles was used in rotation with Grant until he was benched for lack of hitting. The club has a solid defensive infield with Gary Thornburg at first base, Bill Cook at second base, Sam White at third base, and Charles Willard at shortstop. Ray Fraley starts in left, Joe Guzinski plays center, and Roy Grant and Fred Quinn alternate in right field. Hartman has a strong bunch of reserves to choose from in Jerry Koontz, Bill Norris, Doug Barr, Craig Ford, Harold Terry, and Don Phillips.

Top hitter for the team thus far is center fielder Joe Guzinski. Guzinski, Sam White, and Ray Fraley are the only hitters over .300 at this writing. Charles Willard and Gary Thornburg have been consistent both at bat and in the field. Fred Quinn has been used as the number one pinch hitter when he doesn't start in the outfield.

The Panthers have single games to play with Atlantic Christian, Pembroke, and Elon. The Atlantic Christian and Elon games are home games.

ACC All-Stars Nip NSC All-Stars

The Atlantic Coast Conference all-stars, led by All-American Doug Moe, finished strong to nip the North State Conference seniors 71-68 in a game played in Alumni Gymnasium. The big senior from Carolina scored 23 points and dominated the rebounding both offensively and defensively. Jack Boyd of Atlantic Christian College led the North Staters with 19 points. High Point's own Jackie Short scored 18 points and did a fine defensive job on York Larese.

Atlantic Coast Conference—71
Moe—F	23
Kistler—F	2
DiStefano—C	13
Hurt—G	10
Larese—G	6
North State Conference—68
King—F	14
Oden—F	6
Medford—C	7
Boyd—G	19
Short—G	18

Subs.: Atlantic Coast Conference—Krepley 7, Hart 6, Niewieroski 4, and Frye 0; North State Conference—Dixon 4, Atkinson 0, and Burke 0.

Unable to attend the game were: Don Smith (East Carolina) and Rick Howe (Appalachian) for the NSC; and Jerry Steele (Wake Forest) of the ACC.

Men's Intramurals

by HARRY SMITH

Softball intramurals are half over with the Delta Sigs and the Jaybirds tied for first. Both teams hold 4-0 records. The Delta Sigs boast good hitting and pitching along with tight fielding. The Jaybirds are backed by the strong pitching of Jim Holleman. Close behind the two leaders are the Ricky-Rats led by Dick Reumann. Their only loss was to the Jaybirds in a close game. Here are the standings:

Delta Sigma Phi	4-0
Jaybirds	4-0
Ricky-Rats	3-1
Lambda Chi Alpha	2-2
Tau Kappa Epsilon	2-2
Theta Chi	1-3
Sigma Phi Epsilon	0-4
Pi Kappa Alpha	0-4

Joe Guzinski (TKE) defeated Jerry Ramseur (Lambda Chi) for the singles championship in tennis.

Phil Coghill and Preston Reece (Delta Sigs) won the doubles title by forfeit. Paul Murphy and Bill Fallin (Lambda Chi) were scheduled to play Jerry Murdock and Wolfy Unger (TKE) but lost to Reece and Coghill when they failed to win the match.

Delta Sigma Phi won the intramural track meet by decisioning Sigma Phi Epsilon.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Panthers Boast Strong Track Team

by HARRY SMITH

High Point has a strong track team this year. The Panthers have won most of their meets and finished second in the N.A.I.A. district meet. The only weakness of this year's team is the lack of depth. The Panthers have one or two good men in almost every event.

The Panthers are particularly strong in the long distance events. The pride and joy of High Point's milers is Mike Sabino. Mike's best time for the mile is 4:27. Sabino also runs in the two-mile and three-mile events. Ken Sullivan is also a great distance runner. Jack Wagner is a speedy runner in the quarter- and half-mile runs; he has been clocked at 1:56 in the half-mile run and 49 flat in the quarter. Micky Dean has been the spark of the relay teams.

The Panthers have great strength in the field events also. Hal Snider has won the discs throw almost every time with throws up to 130 feet. George Srour's long javalin throws have won many points for High Point; he has thrown the javalin as far as 170 feet. The Panthers look good in high jumping pit with the jumping of Dave Young. Dave has jumped 5' 8" or better every time out. High Point is proud of the pole vaulting of versatile Jack Short. Jack, who hadn't pole vaulted all year long, broke the record in the N.A.I.A. meet. He soared to a height of 11' 8".

The Panthers should do very well in the conference track meet which will be held here on May 13. The students are urged to attend this meet and support their fine team.

Golf Team Places In Tourney

by BERGIE HATCHER

The High Point College golf team recently placed second in the North State Conference golf tournament which was held May 8-9 at the Star-mountain Country Club in Greensboro. Nine schools participated in the 36-hole tourney, with High Point placing a close second to Atlantic Christian College. Here is a run-down of individual scoring for the tournament:

Stan Kinney	78-78	156
Joe Morris	86-77	163
Bob Veasey	82-81	163
Garland Kinney	83-80	163

The team ended the regular season with a 4-4 record. Larry Rodgers was a member of the squad over the regular season but did not participate in the tournament.

The golf team wishes to express their thanks to Dr. Hamilton and Johnny Johnson (Blair Park pro), for the time and effort spent in coaching the team this year.

Tennis Team Wins Final Encounter

by BERGIE HATCHER

The High Point College tennis team defeated Atlantic Christian College 6-1, after losing their first four matches this season. The Purple Panthers have lost twice to Pfeiffer College, once to Guilford College, and to Appalachian.

Returning to the squad from last year's team were veteran netters Ken Foddrell and Preston Williams. Morgan Pope, handicapped by a bad knee, returned to action and gained status as number three singles player. Rounding out the squad were Craig Ford, Henry Tonn, Al Neal, Jack Mahan, Bill Barnes, and Sandy Sprinkle.

Coach Yow used the following seeding for most of the year: 1. Foddrell, 2. Williams, 3. Pope, 4. Ford, 5. Tonn, 6. Neal.

The Panthers have completed the season with a 1-4 record. The North State Conference tournament was held May 9-10 at Sedgefield and Guilford College.

MODEL BARBER SHOP

125 North Wrenn

THE SWEET SHOPPE

113 North Main Street
Phone 3745

College Village Shopping Center — Phone 2-8026

For the Best in Baked Foods:
Call Our Address to the Attention
of Your Parents for Special
Occasion Cakes

GRACE SHOP FLOWER

CANNON-FETZER

MEN'S CLOTHING
158 South Main

NORTH STATE TELEPHONE COMPANY

Local and Long Distance Service

High Point Thomasville Randleman

COLLEGE MEN

10- 12-Week Summer Employment SUMMER JOBS

WE OFFER

1. Two-week paid training.
2. Excellent salary.
3. Car furnished (if qualified).
4. Excellent working conditions.
5. Continue part-time next Fall.

YOU MUST

1. Be above average in appearance, intelligence, aggressiveness.
2. Possess an open mind and willing to follow instructions.
3. Have driver's license.
4. Desire above-average earnings.

WE WILL AWARD

15 $1,000-CASH SCHOLARSHIPS

PLUS

10-DAY PAID TRIPS TO LONDON, ENGLAND

PLUS

ONE MGA SPORTS CAR

SALARY $56.50 TO $96.50 PER WEEK
(Depending on qualifications)

WORK IN OFFICE OF YOUR CHOICE
CALL MR. FORD

Columbia	AL 4-4126
Charlotte	376-6596
Gastonia	864-5880
Raleigh	832-5558
Greensboro	275-3220

Student Congress Convenes

On the 28 and 29 of April, the fourth annual Student Congress was held in the Fine Arts Building. Contrary to what a lot of people think, the congress is not the legislative body of the student government, rather, it is a non-authoritative congress that gives students an opportunity to see how a legislative body functions. Each organization on campus has the right to send one senator and the number of representatives is determined by the number of members comprising the organization. Each organization may or may not submit a bill, which may concern the campus, or may be on a state, national, or international level. At the end of each congress, the best speakers of the Senate and House, and the best bill of the congress are selected.

This year at the conclusion of the congress on Saturday afternoon, Tony LaSala was selected as the outstanding speaker of the Senate, and Thad Lowery was chosen the best speaker of the house. The bill selected by the Congress as being the one eliciting the most discussion, was the bill submitted by Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity for the U. S. Government to legalize prostitution.

Also on the business agenda was the election of the officers of the interim council. The council is composed of the officers both sessions of both the Senate and House. Its function is to plan next year's Student Congress. Dan Earnhardt was elected president of the council.

Personal Student Ill

Sue Williamson, a sophomore from Raeford, North Carolina is a patient at Duke Hospital where she is undergoing extensive treatment. Sue has been absent from school since April 15.

Sue's friends may be interested in her address—2332 Hanes, Duke Hospital, Durham, North Carolina.

We hope that she will soon be feeling well again—Ed.

Hazel's Beauty Center

Expert Beauty Service

Personality Styling and Hair Cutting

at

Five Points Shopping Center

YDC Elects Officers

May 8 the Young Democrats Club held a meeting for the purpose of electing officers for next year. Bennie Jenkins was elected president, Roy Houser, first vice president, Judy Rogers, second vice president, Judy Austin, secretary, and Skip Callahan, treasurer.

During the meeting the club recognized that it has had a hard time creating interest among the students since it was founded second semester after the national elections. It is hoped that more interest will be created in the club next year and that the club will be able to make a vital contribution to political life on campus. Several members also expressed concern for the fact that High Point College has become a one-party campus without the presence of a definitely organized Republican group. It has been hoped that organizing of the Y.D.C. would stimulate interest among campus Republicans for the formation of a Young Republican Club.

In discussing plans for next year President Jenkins announced that he hoped the club would be able to continue its policy of having political figures in the Democratic party come and speak to the club. Several people such as Horace Kornegay, representative to the U. S. House of Representatives, have already consented to speak next year. Also, the club hopes that through its programs the ideals and purposes of the Democratic party will become a meaningful reality for the local club instead of more or less abstract objectives.

Dorm Elections Held

The Men's Dormitory elected its council May 2 and 3 with the following results:

President: Don Cashion
Vice President: Charles Willard
Secretary Treasurer: Doug Barr
Head Hall Proctor: Sam White
Judiciary Council Representatives: Tony LaSala, Dan Earnhardt.

These officers will be in training for approximately two weeks. After this they will be installed into their new positions. The old Dorm Council wishes these new officers the best of luck during the 1961-62 school year.

Best of Luck to Graduating Seniors

Annual Workshop Meets

The High Point College Home Economics Club sent representatives to the College Division of the North Carolina Home Economics Association Workshop which was held at Western Carolina College April 14 and 15. These representatives were Marie Powers, Elizabeth Lanbscher, Louise Feng, Caroline Prestwood and their advisor Mrs. Lois Livingston.

Louise Feng, who was the State Vice President for 1960-61, was elected the President for 1961-62. Mrs. Lois Livingston will be the State Advisor while Louise is in office.

HPC Has Leadership School

As a part of the Education for Leadership Program, High Point College carried out a "Leadership Laboratory" for 60 students for one week end at Camp Cherrio.

Funds for the experimental program were provided by Esso Foundation, National Training Laboratories, and student organizations on campus. The program was carried out with the help of the YMCA by use of their camping facilities and their transportation services.

Leaving on Friday afternoon, 60 student leaders and other faculty chaperones left for Camp Cherrio. The first program was a general session on group leadership led by one of the psychologists present. The students were then divided into groups and began their "group development."

One psychologist sat with each of the four groups. These psychologists were selected and sent by National Training Laboratories in Washington, D. C. They were as follows: Dr. Barry Oshry, Boston University; Edith Whitfield, special consultant, Columbia University; Dr. Roger Harrison, Yale University; Dr. Tom Gilson, Rutgers University.

Various experiments in groups activities were carried out during the entire week end. The purpose of the leadership laboratory was to "create a set of conditions in which each member participating could gain individual learnings about himself, his functioning in small groups, his functioning in larger organizations and community settings."

Students were to experience an awareness of the progress of a group, a sensitivity to the member parts of a group, and a knowledge of how to co-ordinate with others to make a group succeed in accomplishment.

Most Outstanding Senior Woman

At the Junior-Senior Dance, a smiling blonde with happy gleam in her blue eyes received an award as "Most Outstanding Senior," presented by the Junior Class.

Eunice Young, a senior from Mebane, N. C., is "most outstanding" in all that she does. She has worked enthusiastically on a multitude of campus activities, always willing to do more than her part.

Her excellent academic record has been recognized many times. She has made Dean's List every semester, was inducted into the Scholastic Honor Society her junior year, and is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp.

Her service abounds in many corners. She was a member of Student Congress three years, a member of the Interim Council, and State Secretary of the Student Legislative Assembly. Eunice provided leadership as editor of an outstanding Zenith ('61).

An active Alpha Gam, she was second vice president this year, received the award for "Most Outstanding Sister," and is president of the alumni next year.

Eunice is Presbyterian and has always given her time and talents to Westminster Fellowship. During Christmas holidays, she was a delegate to a Presbyterian Convention in Dallas. She has also served on the Student Christian Council.

Along with the many talents of this enchanting young lady, one cannot help but notice her unique beauty. As a fraternity sponsor, Miss HPC finalist, member of the Homecoming Court and May Court, and YMCA sponsor for two years, her Southern radiance always shines.

Eunice's most recent commendation came at the awards assembly held just this week. At the assembly she was named as "Most Outstanding Senior Woman," and elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Next year, some lucky group of first graders in High Point will have a bit of competition winning "teacher's heart" because of a Northern interest. But this "most outstanding" person will inevitably have a "most outstanding" future.

The Wooden Eye

by MEDFORD TAYLOR

Lynda Payne, a freshman from Whitakers, North Carolina, admires the college campus as spring comes to HPC.

After several "D-Group" Sessions, High Point College students expressed various feelings including "I'm not getting a thing out of this" to "Our group is really going-to-town." By Sunday, the students had molded themselves into their groups and in a request for evaluation of the week end, every student stated that the week end experience had provided a vast insight into the workings and effects of group activity which could prove very helpful for campus organizations.

Those students attending the laboratory were as follows: Dave Culler, Margaret Damewood, Vance Davis, Ralph Helsabeck, Alice Hobson, Sandra Hooks, Janice Loffin, Thelma Mitchell, Jane Saferight, Allen Sharpe, John Ward, George Welch, Eunice Young, Marilyn Zoeller.

Tom Kester, Brooks Garnett, Ellen Julian, Jerry Kyle, Donna Lawrence, Len Lewin, Harry Lilly, Daryl McGuire, Charles Nesbitt, Eva Dell Smith, Kay Thompson, Susan Tilley, Gaye Wall.

Ted Brazell, Debbie Calloway, Patti Colliver, Gary Davis, Don Drapeau, John Long, Shirley McDaniel, Larry Nolan, Gayle Paxton, Pat Peterson, William Steed, Ann Thorne, Von Vaughn.

Don Cashion, Bob Clark, Jackie Creech, Dan Dyer, Dan Earnhardt, Julia Floyd, Thomas Kimball, Kay Phillips, Caroline Prestwood, Judy Rogers, Peter Sturm, Jean Thomas, Natalie Tunstall.

Fund Set For African Students

A special Department of State grant of $100,000 has been made to the Institute of International Education to assist African students now at United States colleges and universities.

In announcing the grant, Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education, stated: "This action by the Office of Educational Exchange of the U. S. Department of State marks a departure from the traditional use of United States Government funds for foreign students. It recognizes that many able foreign students come to this country without United States Government assistance, either on their own limited funds or with private support from educational institutions or private organizations." Mr. Holland added that "The purpose of this Special Fund is to provide supplementary aid to as many of these students from Africa as possible."

All applications for individual awards from this Special Fund for African Students must be submitted to the Institute of International Education through the student's college or university. To be eligible for an award, a student must be enrolled in an accredited college or university, must not have received United States Government aid either for travel to this country or for educational purposes, and must give written assurance of intent to return home upon completion of studies.

Preference will be given to African students from countries south of the Sahara, to undergraduates working toward a Bachelor's degree, and to those who request partial grants to supplement their present resources. Applicants for awards should have a good academic record, be interested and participate in extra-curricular activities, and be in a field of study important to the home country's development.

The Institute of International Education is one of the leading private organizations in the field of international educational exchange. It has planned and administered exchange of persons programs between the United States and other countries for more than forty years.

Campus Profile

EUNICE YOUNG

Farewell Address

Editor's note: It has been suggested by many that Mr. Vance Davis' farewell address be printed in the HI-PO. In compliance with these requests we have gained the permission of Mr. Davis to reprint his speech.

I have completed my term in office as president of the Student Government Association. There are many questions that I would like answered, but the most important one to me is, and I am sure it is to the new officers, how much do you want Student Government at High Point College? Undoubtedly a few would say that Student Government was very important, many would say that it made no difference, and a few would indicate that it was completely unnecessary. I hope this number is very few.

My own feelings are often times confused. On the one hand I can look back on this year with a certain amount of self-satisfaction. Yet again, I look back and ask myself just what has been accomplished? It is much easier to say what should be done than it is to say what has been done. No doubt in the area of social activities the SGA has made progress this year. The Halloween bonfire, the Christmas dance, the Homecoming dance, and the Four Freshmen were all enjoyable and helped to create school spirit. However, social activities do not constitute Student Government. Student Government will not be an accomplished fact until the entire student body participates in the overall governing process. On a small campus such as High Point personalities are of great importance. However, we must learn that in Student Government duty is far more important than personality and popularity. We must be willing to do what is best even if it means doing this at a risk of a loss of popularity.

We are fortunate at High Point College that we can have Student Government. Notice that I said can have, not do have. At many schools it is the policy to have what is known as Student-Faculty Government. This is not true for High Point. Contrary to popular opinion, the college Administration does not rule the SGA. However, I do not want to give the impression that the Administration and the Board of Trustees could not, if need be control any campus organization, including the SGA. But if there has been anything which has been made clear to the Executive Council this year, it is that the Student Government has powers which are as of yet unrealized. For instance, in the case of the Student Legislature, there is no ruling of the Administration which says laws cannot be passed for the benefit of all students. Also in the case of the Judiciary Council, there is no reason, with the adoption of the Penal Code, for the Administration to overrule that body, as has happened in previous years. Another advancement to Student Government is an honor system. Such a system has passed the Student Legislature, approved by the Executive Committee of the faculty, and if passed by you the students, will go into effect the fall semester 1961. There is nothing which is more student-oriented and controlled than an honor system. With an honor system, a Penal Code, and with the assurance of power there is no excuse for not having Student Government at High Point College.

It is my belief that the Student Government is now at a point where it can progress or decline. It has the basic structure and tools necessary for an efficient organization. But no matter how workable the structure may be, the success or failure will be expressed in no other way than by the interest shown by the student body. This interest may be shown in a number of ways: by participating in the House and Senate, by being a member of the Judiciary Council, or simply by giving suggestions and criticisms to the Executive Council. The means by which interest is shown is secondary. Of primary importance is that it be shown.

It takes no expert to see the problems facing the new officers. The lack of communication between students and students, between students and faculty, between students and administration, is quite apparent. The lack of participation in the various branches of the Student Government is also apparent. The problem is not one of recognition, but one of action. I would like to see the Student Government mean something, be felt, and be heard. When the day comes that a person can point with pride to another person and say that person is a member of the House of Representatives, or a Senator, or Judiciary representative, then the SGA will be a Student Government in fact as well as name.

This year you have heard much concerning leadership and education for leadership. The Leadership Training Laboratory has been held at Camp Cheerio. Those who attended were fortunate, those who did not missed a wonderful experience. However, the one training session will not make us all leaders, but it is a step in the right direction, and a great step at that. Perhaps many of you who did not attend the session have asked others what happened. If you did, it is my guess that you did not receive a great deal of second hand information. But if what was learned can not be expressed, it certainly can be demonstrated. One place for such a demonstration is in Student Government. Here there is a tremendous opportunity for the development of leadership potential. It is my hope that you will recognize just what is being offered and take advantage of it.

There are many things which could be said concerning Student Government. I could list, item by item, the successes and failures of this year, but that is not my purpose. These things should be evident. However, I would like to make one or two final observations which may or may not be closely associated with Student Government. High Point College has meant much to me and has done much for me. I can never be grateful enough for the education I have received and for the experience I have gained as president of the student body. This experience would not have been possible at any other school. However, as I leave office and am about to leave High Point College, I cannot hold back the feeling that we are lacking in a few important areas. The first such area is academics. Most of us agree that the academic requirements are being stressed more and more, but can we agree that we as students are accepting the challenge and are doing our part to help raise standards. There is a great lack of scholarly attainment at High Point College. We have students who strive for academic fame, but we do not have enough of them. It is a disappointing thing to check the averages of all the male students living on campus and find that the overall average falls below a "C". I do not like to make comparisons, but sometimes it helps us to see our own situation. One fraternity at Davidson College has a membership of 90, yet that fraternity has an overall average of a "B". It can be done, and it can be done at High Point College.

Another way in which I think High Point College is lacking is an attitude or climate conducive to rapid growth and expansion of new ideas. This is a serious accusation. I would be the first to admit that in many instances I have been indifferent to new programs and, regrettable to say, have contributed to a general apathetic climate. But this is not good and will not help High Point College become the college which has for so long been the dream of so many, including our president. If our college is to be a model college we must be model students, and this can come only through hard work and self-sacrifice.

I believe the officers you have elected for the coming year are dedicated to this end, but they need your support. I do not expect the four officers who are now installed to be as popular at this time next year as they are today. There is no glory in holding an office in the Student Government. This is especially true if the new officers do the job I think they are capable of doing. But as I said in the beginning, duty and not popularity, reigns supreme. If the officers are popular next year they will have pleased everyone. However, in order to please everyone, they almost would have to do nothing. This they will not do.

Let me express again my thanks to you for having allowed me to serve you as SGA president. It is an experience not soon to be forgotten. It is great to be a High Pointer!

The Prophecy of Amos Presented

Ed Stafford portrays Amos.

On New Year's Day, 750 B.C., the people of Israel reveled wickedly before the Baal alters. On that day a prophet of the Lord walked into Bethel, looked upon them, and knew the anger of God against them.

Amos, a man who came down from the hills of Tekoah, a shepherd, a dresser of sycamore trees. Amos, a hard man who brought a hard ultimatum to an iniquitous, weak generation. Picture him. Amos the prophet, warning of the wrath of God, Amos the man, wholly dependent upon this God, striding through the Jewish land, head high and eyes blazing. His was the voice of condemnation. His were the fervent prayers for mercy for his people Israel.

His message was to rectify injustice, to love honesty, to hold all men as brothers as God regards them. But they pointed at him, laughed at him, scorned him, went unheeding, and knew terrible destruction.

Amos is not a play, but, rather, a prophecy. Nearly 3,000 years ago this prophecy was set down. This was a man who thought ahead of his time, saying that there is one God over all nations. He came into a town on a recorded date, delivered three sermons, and disappeared.

The dramatic interpretation was written by Dr. Walter Hudgins, a member of the faculty of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, with a musical score by Dr. Lew Lewis, head of the Fine Arts Department.

"It was an ambitious undertaking, but the Student Christian Association of High Point College covered itself with glory in the remarkable presentation of THE PROPHECY OF AMOS. It revealed a number of things, among them that Walt Hudgins is an able writer and director; that Lew Lewis can write music with the best of them, some present saying it compared well with the music of EXODUS . . . indeed with a more difficult theme it challenges for gripping attention-holding of the play, 'J. B.' (Holt McPherson.)

"Principal credit for the success of the production must go to Dr. Hudgins and Dr. Lewis, they must, nevertheless, share some of the credit with their staff — to Raiford Porter who designed the excellent set; to Kitty Ring who designed the costumes; to Sylvia Goodwin for the choreography; to Don Drapeau for the lighting; [and] to J. Fryhover for the direction of the choir." (Robert Marks.)

"The play was a modern interpretation in song and dance with only three speaking parts, one of which was Len Lewin as Amaziah, priest of Bethel.

"Selma Hazemy, one of the dancers, unfolded the story in the prologue. Miss Hazemy possesses one of those rare qualities for perfect delivery of a story that is about to take place. A very natural delivery of unassuming importance, yet very clear with good diction throughout the prologue.

"As would be expected, Amos was the leading part. As the shepherd from Tekoah and the man who 'dared,' Stafford portrayed Amos with understanding, power, and authority. The success in being able to portray a part lies in the ability to carry the character across the footlights. That Stafford did and very convincingly." (Z. Melnikov.)

Others in the cast appearing as dancers and the people of Israel were Yvonne Vaughn, Scooter Frye, Margo Brewer, Hanner Griffin, Cynthia Fletcher, Patti Coliver, Michele Hope, Pat Peele, Arlene Lanzieri, Daryll McGuire, Tom Dean, Kathy Sturm, Dell McGinn, Roger Crawford, Mary Lou Smith, Linda Ferran, Alice Hobson, Winfred Lindley, Buddy Lanier, Sylvia Goodwin, Sylvia Ledkie, and Maggie Hester.

Amos was presented at 8:30 in Memorial Auditorium May 12, 1961. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to pay expenses of the delegates from the High Point College MSF to the seventh quadrennial MSF Conference to be held at the University of Illinois this August.

"It was stark, delectable drama, a tribute to all who had part in its preparation and presentation. Rarely have we seen a large audience so swept into silent awe of what they were seeing, then break forth in prolonged and hearty applause at the end of a mighty and moving sermon." (Holt McPherson.)

A Pro In The Truest Sense

A wise man once made a remark that has since become a parable: "It is so easy to kick a man when he is down." It is ironical how society, which is designed to bring out the best in men, can at times, shed its virtue for the sake of hot copy, breathless scandal, or pure defamation. That Joe Guzinski will be victimized by such foul strikes of fate still remains a matter of question. However, that the honest and fair story should be given is a matter of course.

The fact that Joe has always been a "pro" in the truest sense of the word is an unquestionable fact in the minds of all who know him and have seen him perform. On the field or on the court he is a guy who is always capable of coming across with the might-be-decisive play. During tense moments when eyes become glued, perspiration flows, and muscles tighten; Joe can give it a serious smile. A freshman team mate once candidly remarked: "It is not that Joe's going out of a game for a temporary rest takes all that I do have out of me, but rather that his coming back in puts all that I do not have in me." If Joe knows any one thing, that one thing is hard, honest play.

Joe's only real crime was that he fell victim to a sometimes fine American tradition. The idea of a smooth-talking baseball scout with a big cigar in his mouth parking a shiny car beside a high school baseball lot with pen and contract in hand has become almost a legend. It is by no means odd that such a man spotted Joe several years back in a remote little town called Tunkhannock, Pennsylvania. Indeed, it was not the first time, nor the last, that a small Pennsylvania town held a young athlete of promise. The start of Joe's story can be heard under various names and titles in at least a thousand books. The opportunity for a not-too-rich boy to see a childhood dream come true is a wonderful American theme. Joe did sign the contract and did play professional baseball.

All that Joe needed to make the grade in good fashion was a decisive element called time. But it was time that was working against Joe. Soon he could see his high school buddies making their headway in college, and Joe suddenly began to wonder whether college would be the best course to follow in terms of the long range. It was then that Joe reversed his earlier decision and decided to tackle the books. Under ordinary circumstances there would only be a few complications to iron out so that such a move would be possible. However, there was one big complication in Joe's case—money. Not big money by any means—if Joe was interested in that, he would have remained where he was. The decision Joe made entailed only enough money to see him through four years of school. And since he did not have this kind of money, he had to look for an athletic scholarship.

The fact that he found such a scholarship and lived up to it at High Point College brings us up to the present. The fact that Joe engaged in inter-collegiate athletics with somewhat of a professional background is a problem he presently has to face. But somehow in Joe's case we begin to think whether or not there is a difference between constructively breaking a rule and consciously committing a misdemeanor. We know he has done the former.

Natural Shoulder Clothing
SHERATON MEN'S SHOP
In the Sheraton Hotel

FIVE POINT LAUNDROMAT
1232 Montlieu
We Wash, Dry and Fold

BROWN'S SHOE REPAIR
Since 1924
Phone 4313
208 East Washington

HIGH POINT NEWS STAND
Christmas Records
216 North Main Street

MERCURY BARBER SHOP
Open All Day Wednesday
Closed Saturday
We Specialize in Flat Tops
Wade — Frank — Harvey
Phone 7956

It's All Greek

THETA CHI

CONGRATULATIONS: Special congratulations to Brother Len Lewin who was elected president of the S.G.A. and to Bob Clark, vice president; Sandra Hooks, secretary; and Jerry Kyle, treasurer. Good luck to you all; you can be sure that you have Theta Chi's backing 100%. To Brother Charles Carroll who was elected to the Senate representing the senior class. Brother Charles Nesbitt was elected president of the sophomore class, and is part of the Steering Committee for the fellowship teams. Brother Bob Braswell was elected the sophomore class treasurer. Brother Haywood "Squatlo" Edmundson was elected vice president of the I.F.C. Pledge Eddie Taylor was selected as the most outstanding member of this year's fellowship teams. Special congratulations again to Brother Tom Kimball who was selected for the Socholastic Honor Society and has also received an assistantship at L.S.U.

DANCES: The Dreamgirl Ball 1961 was the best ever. Brother Charles Carroll, the social chairman, went to much work to make it such a success. The Dreamgirl was held in the El Carere Room of the Reynolds Building, Winston-Salem, May 13. At this time the following awards were given: Dreamgirl—Miss Terri Harrison who is pinned to Brother Don Schmitt; Maids of Honor—Miss Joan Bartlett, Phi Mu Sorority; and Miss Louise Stokes, Phi Mu Sorority. The Dreamgirl Court was composed of Miss Nelda Murry, Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority; Miss Pat Phillips, a student at Woman's College, pinned to Brother Tom Bivens. The Scholarship Award was awarded to Brother Tom Kimball and Tom Meyers; The Athletic Award to Don Schmitt; the Pledge Paddle Award to John Sykes; The Outstanding Senior Award to Ralph Helsabeck; the Outstanding Brother Award to Len Lewin; and the Outstanding Pledge Award to Tom Myers.

PINNED: Nelda Murry to Brother Gene Gresham; and Pat Phillips to Tom Bivens.

BEACH TRIP: The Brothers and pledges expect to have a week of complete (?) relaxation at the beach during the week following exams.

WEDDING BELLS: For Don Schmitt, who is planning a late summer wedding to Miss Terri Harrison, and Ross Smith who is also planning a late summer wedding.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

RED CARNATION BALL: On May 6, the Tekes relaxed and enjoyed the results of a lot of hard work at our annual Red Carnation Ball held at the Greensboro Shrine Club. With Master of Ceremonies Joe Guzinski in charge, the banquet and dance was enjoyed by all present. Climaxing the evening was the crowning of Sandra Parnell as the sweetheart of Tau Kappa Epsilon, chosen by the brothers of the fraternity.

AWARDS: At the Red Carnation Ball the following awards were given: Outstanding Brother Tommy Myers; Outstanding Pledge Jack Russ; Outstanding Athlete Sammy Taylor.

NEW BROTHER: On May 15 the following men will have been initiated into the brotherhood of Tau Kappa Epsilon. They are: Ron McElhannon, Wayne Parham, and Bob Sullivan.

PINNED: Judy Luther to Larry Rudisill.

GOING STEADY: Georgianna Hardin with Ron McElhannon.

INTRAMURAL: Brother Dave Workman, our representative in the golf intramural competition took second place. The Tekes have now won two and lost two softball games but hope to improve on this record as the season progresses.

SENIORS: Next year Tekes will have a difficult task facing them in replacing their graduating seniors: Tommy Myers, Don Reber, Tommy Skidmore, and George Smith.

BEACH TRIP: Following exams, the brothers and pledges are planning to spend a week at Crescent Beach before going their separate ways this summer.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

CAROLINA'S SWEETHEART: Miss Debbie Calloway, who is pinned to our president, Pete Sturm, was crowned the 1961 Carolina Sig Ep Ball Queen by our Grand vice president Bedford Black. The crowning took place during the intermission of the ball, which was held in the ballroom of the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem on April 29.

SOCIALLY: Brother Ken Sullivan of Marion, Virginia, pinned Miss Ann Surratt of Greensboro. Ken is a senior, and Ann is a sophomore and a sister of Alpha Gamma Delta. Brother Charlie Walker, Thomasville is going steady with Miss Marlene Brinley of Tampa, Florida. Charlie is a senior, and Marlene is a freshman and a sister of Zeta Tau Alpha. Brother Willie Steed of Thomasville is going steady with Miss Anne Parrish of Fair Grove, North Carolina. Willie is a sophomore, and Anne is a sophomore at Appalachain. Brother Dave Baughn is going steady with Miss Anne Haynes of Madison.

SWEETHEART BALL: The annual North Carolina Eta Sweetheart Ball was held on May 13 and Parent's Day was on May 14. On Saturday afternoon, a lawn party with a Dixieland Band was held at the home of Brother Charles Walker in Thomasville. The ball was held at the I.T. Mann American Legion Post from 8:00-12:30. Music was by Bill Butler and his orchestra. During the evening, Brother Dave Baughn received the Pledge-of-the-Year Award, and Brother Vance Davis received the Brother-of-the-Year Award. A serenade in honor of Brother John Davis ('60) and Miss Grace Seaver, who were recently pinned, was given by the Brotherhood and pledges.

BEACH TRIP: North Carolina Eta has reserved the Pine-Burr Cottage at Myrtle Beach again this year. About 17 Brothers are planning to spend the week there relaxing in the sun.

ELECTIONS: Brother George Wigglesworth of Mays Landing, New Jersey, was elected editor of the HI-PO. Brother Pete Sturm was elected vice president of the senior class. Brothers Jay Brumley and Jim Edwards were elected to represent the senior class in the senate. Brother John Urian was elected to the house of representatives from the senior class. Brother Bill Trevorow was elected to the House from the fraternity.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

SOCIAL EVENTS: On Saturday evening, April 15, 1961, the Pikas held their annual Dreamgirl Ball at the Starmount Forest Country Club in Greensboro, North Carolina. The evening began with a buffet style dinner and was climaxed with the dance. The high-lights of the evening were the selection of the Dreamgirl for 1961, Miss Betty Beauchamp; the announcement of the outstanding pledge of the year, Mr. Jerry Kyle; the outstanding brother of the year Mr. Roby Walls; and serenades for Brothers Lowery and Handy. On Saturday evening, May 6, the High Point Pika Alumni gave a party for the brothers and pledges of the Delta-Omega chapter at the Jamestown American Legion Hut.

COMING EVENTS: The next big event that all the Pikas are looking forward to is the annual beach trip. This year the Pikas will be staying at Ocean Drive Beach, South Carolina. This event will be a climax to a hard year of study for all of the brothers and pledges.

VISITORS: During the week of May 6, 1961, the Delta-Omega chapter was visited by the national field secretary, Mr. Bunky Joy.

CONGRATULATIONS: To Colonel Cooke who has been selected as our faculty advisor by the brothers of our chapter. To Roby Walls who has been elected the IFC's outstanding fraternity man of the year at HPC. To Bill Kester, who has been elected as president of the IFC for 1961-62; and to Dick Holt, who has been elected treasurer of the IFC. To Charlie Williard and Doug Barr who have been elected vice president and secretary treasurer for the Men's Dorm respectively. To Jerry Kyle who has been elected treasurer of the SGA of HPC and treasurer of the North State Conference SGA also. To our new Brothers: Tom Kester, George Welch, and Charlie Williard.

PINNED: Miss Sandy Hooks to Brother Roby Walls.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

PLEGDED: John Ward, sophomore for Mocksville, North Carolina.

CONGRATULATIONS: To Brother Don Cashion who was recently elected president of the Men's Dorm. Also to Brother Larry Wilson and Pledge John Ward, elected presidents of the rising senior and junior classes respectively, and to Brother Bill Fallin elected vice president of the rising sophomore class.

BEST WISHES: To Brothers Dale Brown, Dave Culler, and Buz Routh who are planning early summer weddings.

PRESENTED: The annual Lamba Chi trip to Myrtle Beach. A good time was had by all. Pinned Brother Frank Phillips to Miss Lou Richards and Brother Ralph Clements to Miss Katy Puckett.

SINCERS BEST WISHES: The Lamba Chi Alpha Fraternity would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the departure of its graduating seniors and the senior class as a whole. May you all know good fortune.

DELTA SIGMA PHI NEWS

SERENADE: The brothers and pledges of the fraternity recently serenaded brother Tom Ferguson and Miss Judy Fisher at North Hall. "Fergy" escaped, the final part of the serenade for the time being.

SCHOLARSHIPS: Brother Kirk Rich has been named the recipient of a $2500 scholarship to Duke University, where he will work on his Masters in chemistry. Brother Jerry Koontz has been awarded a $1000 scholarship to the University of North Carolina; and Brother Don Drapeau has been accepted for graduate work at the University of Connecticut at Storrs, Connecticut.

STUDENT CONGRESS: Brother Dan Earnhardt has been elected president of the senate for next year. Brother Dave Burgess served as speaker of the house this year.

INTRAMURALS: The Delta Sig softball team is presently in first place in the fraternity league. Fireballer Doug Brackett is the team leader, now holding a 5-0 record. Coaches for the team are Allan Sharpe and Bill Norris. Preston Reece and Phil Coghill have reached the finals in intramural tennis doubles.

NEW BROTHERS: The fraternity welcomes Woody Collier, Dave Burgess, and Ron Yarborough into the brotherhood.

SAILOR'S BALL: The Sailor's Ball will be held this year at Ocean Drive, South Carolina, the weekend of May 13. All the Delta Sigs are looking forward to a big weekend at the beach.

SIG-EP AWARD: Brother Don Drapeau was recently presented with the Interfaith and Good Fellowship Award by the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

PARTY: The last Delta Sigma Phi party was held in conjunction with the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at Jamestown Legion.

BEST BILL AWARD: The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity recently won the Student Congress Best Bill Award. Dave Burgess received the trophy for the fraternity.

CONGRATULATIONS: To Brother Bob Veasey for shooting a 163 in the conference golf tournament; and to Henry Tonn for his making the tennis team. To Pledge Bob Clark for being elected vice president of SGA.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

NEW SISTERS: Carol Blake and Duane Thompson were initiated into sisterhood on May 11.

NEW PLEDGE: Pledge service was held for Anne Emery on May 10.

TALENT SHOW: Congratulations to Dell McGuinn for winning first place in the Lamba Chi Alpha talent show.

CANDLELIGHTS: Roverda Ellis engaged to Shermer Jarvis; Nelda Murray pinned to Gene Gresham; Marlene Brinley going steady with Charlie Walker.

WEDDING: On June 25 Nancy Campbell will marry Don Williams.

STATE DAY: Seven Zetas represented Delta Gamma Chapter at the State Day luncheon held in Winston-Salem at Le Chateau Restaurant.

GRADUATING: Best wishes to Dee Ford, Nancy Campbell, and Lorna Dickson.

BEACH: This year the Zetas will be spending a week at Ocean Drive after exams.

PHI MU

BANQUET: April 8 at Shraffts, Dr. Walt Hudgins was speaker, Dr. and Mrs. Paton and Mr. and Mrs. Koontz attended. Outstanding Pledge—Michelle Hope, outstanding Sister—Libby Graham, Highest Pledge Average—Hanner Griffin.

DISTRICT CONVENTION: At the Sheraton hotel; delegates from Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina attended. Phi Mu national V.P., field secretary, district president, and district alumnae advisor attended the banquet at which Dr. Peterson spoke.

OFFICERS: Louise Stokes—secretary of student congress, V.P. of SCC., member of dorm council; Jane Saferight—editor of Zenith; Joan Bartlett—co-business manager of Zenith; Brenda Dellinger—secretary treasurer of SCC; Linda Ferran—dorm council, Judiciary Representative of sophomore class.

AMOS: In the play are Michele Hope, Hanner Griffin, Linda Ferran, and 10 choir members.

PINNED: Katy Puckett to Ralph Clements of Lamba Chi Alpha.

SENIOR FAREWELL PICNIC: Held at Linda Samuel's uncle's home was a great success. Best wishes to our seniors in the future.

KAPPA DELTA

WHITE ROSE BALL: Held the 29 of April. Awards were given to Jean Thomas, most outstanding sister; Linda Wood, most outstanding pledge; Judy Bengel and Lynda Payne, Scholarship Awards; Jean Thomas and Gail Geyer, Activities Award. Tony Bengel was chosen Sweetheart of KD.

HONORS: May Queen, Sandy Parnell; Count, Jerri Martin and Gail Geyer; Dreamgirl of Pi Kappa Alpha, Betty Beauchamp.

ENGAGEMENTS: Judy Bengel and Chip Anderson, Ann Welborn and Norman Andrews, Dee Stone and Jimmy Brock.

WEDDINGS: Betty Gray Dorman to Dale Brown on June 18; Jane Crowson to Fred Handy on August 26; Joyce Roberts to Gordon Beech on August 20; Shirley Marshall and Howard Felton on June 17.

BEACH TRIP: Plans have been made for the KD's to go to Crescent Beach immediately after exams.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

PINNED: Ann Surratt to Ken Sullivan, serenade will be May 19.

PARTIES: On April 22 informal party at Emerywood Country Club. That night the formal Rose Ball was held at Thomasville Woman's Club. Pete Sturm was crowned sweetheart. The outstanding sister award was presented to Eunice Young. On May 1 an alumnae picnic was held at Betty Lou Lackson's house. The seniors were installed into the Alumnae Chapter. Eunice Young was elected president of the alumnae chapter. To begin initiation week: On May 8 a lawn party and supper given at the Panhellenic House by the sisters to honor the pledges. On May 10 a Hawaiian Party and supper given by the pledges to the sisters at Margo's Patio. Initiation week held on May 15. Seven pledges were initiated and they are: Margo Brewer, Pat Maiers, Joan Shockey, Sylvia Smith, Jane Smith, Judy Lowder, and Kathy Sturm.

HONORS: Scholastic Honor Society: Doris Ann Joyce; Debbie Calloway, Dorm president; Georgianna Hardin, Dorm treasurer; Kathy Sturm, Freshman Representative; Debbie Calloway, Sig Ep Ball Queen of North and South Carolina. Congratulations to Hallie Sumpter Reynolds on the birth of a baby girl.

ACTIVITIES: Alice Houston will attend the 23rd International convention at Glenwood Springs, Colorado, June 19-July 5. Outstanding Pledge Award given to Kathy Sturm. The Dr. Jerome Smith Plaque for outstanding faculty member was presented by Alpha Gamma Delta to Mr. Raiford Porter.