The arrival on a new college campus of the freshmen and transfer students signals the beginning of a new school year with all its hopes and expectations. College is a new adventure— one of its own. This past Orientation Week, this signal was not from a hotel bellhop, but from a classroom. The new dorm is fabulous. It is something of which High Point College officials. The new dorm is fabulous. It is something of which High Point College officials can be justly proud. The new traffic and parking signs. Perhaps the handiest improvement is the addition of steps down the bank to the rear of the Fine Arts Building. The improvements of the campus. Both our faculty seminar and student personnel. We extend a hearty greeting to all the freshmen, and to all the returning students with the inherent excitement and enthusiasm of both our incoming freshman class promises to be an asset to the campus. It seems to me somewhat unlikely that this or any other advantage gained from such an event is not due to the increased number of trips up to third floor. Each step cut for each time is given class. The program was designed in cooperation with the Fort Life Insurance Company of Greensboro, announced Mr. C. Richard Andrews, Director of Public Relations for Fort Life. The students were Charles Nesbitt, Michael Pierce, Michael Green, and Robert Kornegay. All are senior students. These students and their seven classmates were selected from over eighty applicants for this twelve-week program which began June 10. The program was designed to acquaint commuting undergraduate college students with the insurance field and relationships as set forth in the Student Handbook. The new regulation states that all students will be responsible for keeping record of absences. Doris Liles Gets Lindley Scholarship Doris Selma Liles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Liles of Newport News, Virginia, has recently been awarded the High Point Alumni Association's Lindley Scholarship. Doris was a senior, has been a member on campus, a member of the Hi-Point staff, the Methodist church, and a member of the pep team. This scholarship, established in memory of former dean Dr. Perry E. Lindley, is available for 5. Instructors, including the coaching staff, and administrators must inform the Dean of Student Personnel of projected absences of each student with the semester grade. No longer will a cumulative record of absences be kept in the Dean of Student Personnel's Office. The individual instructors will be responsible for keeping record of absences. New attendance regulations, as released by Dr. Cole, are quite detailed. 1. Each student is allowed one cut for each time a given class meets each week, per semester, for emergencies, divorces, illness, etc. Any absence beyond one for emergencies must be excused by the Director of Student Personnel as set forth in the Student Handbook (P. 53). 4. Students whose unexcused absences exceed the allowed number, and the student will be allowed to return to class unless the unexcused absence has been excused by the Director of Student Personnel. 5. A student whose unexcused absences exceed the allowed number, and the student will be allowed to return to class unless the unexcused absence has been excused by the Director of Student Personnel.

Prime The Pump

In a now-penal folk song, one Desert Pete enjoins us to prime the pump. 'You've got to give of yourself before you may receive.' This is especially true in college life; for our scholastic success, our personal growth, and our future success and influence all depend on what we are willing to give of ourselves now.

Last Sunday was a perfect example of how proper planning, coupled with commitment and enthusiasm, can pay off. Charlie Nesbitt, SCA President, stood in the center of the Student Center. "I wish everyone had come to gauge this campus. It was the talk of the most recent issue of the student newspaper. The game was organized by the political science department, and the players were required to wear professional uniforms. The game was designed to demonstrate the role of the dean of students in the university community."

Preparation: Success
Perfection is something often prized for, but seldom reached. The bowler wants a three hundred game, the baseball player wants a "no hitter", and the batter will be happier than seven heaven if he comes home with a single in the ninth.

We may not have an example of perfection, but this year's Orientation team is hitting well over .500. With Betty Treece at the captain, coach, and number one hitter, this team has done an excellent job in planning and carrying out the Orientation program.

Last Sunday was a perfect example of how proper planning, coupled with a group of responsible people, can get a job done without confusion and without incident. High Point College is a vital part of the High Point College Community (campus) now, in society later. If High Point College is to continue to grow, it must depend on what we are willing to give of ourselves now.

As Charlie Nesbitt said, "Success is where opportunity and preparation meet." And the over-all advance of High Point College. I think the class is an extraordinary group."

In some areas it is quite easy to gauge our efforts. The semester is well underway. The semester high point college has won the outstanding North State Student Government Association award. Our government has a voice in the work of the student government in the student body. Not only do actively interested students help to improve our college, they also find satisfaction in the opportunity to engage in self-governance. If democracy is to succeed in today's world, leaders must be trained in the principles of responsibility, and to make intelligent decisions.

High Point College offers many opportunities for advanced student government participation. A fine way to spend some of those extra-curricular hours is awaiting those students who are willing to work in an area that will be beneficial for the remainder of their lives.

Class of 67: Enthusiasm is the Key Word

The Dean You Save May Be Your Own

Colleges are complicated and bewildering places, filled with complicated and bewildering people. Today let us examine some of the sources of this often averages college experience. And, in doing so, let us see what our college needs to do to improve it, and how we can do our part in making it better.

By Larry Anick

North State Student Government awarded the "Best Student Government Award" so consistently that other schools are losing interest.

The keys to these successes are enthusiasm, leadership, understanding, and a feeling that everyone is involved. Enthusiasm will make the student eager to participate, whereas enthusiasm is the key to the organization. Academically, I'm sure they will be. Enthusiastic, they are at the moment. The job of maintaining this enthusiasm through the doldrums and boredom of the academic year is one that should be given to each student in the school.

Every student must be responsible for the generation and the dissemination of enthusiasm on the growing pile of this column. Such columns, which comprises school spirit, pride, and participation.

The freshman class can (they are certainly capable) bolster and underlay the enthusiasm that is generated by the upperclassmen and graduate students. Their support is needed and needed. I'm sure this class will rise to the occasion.

Letters from Readers

The past summer has had its share of innovations. "Father Time" has been at work and the pages of his dust-laden book of history that the summer of 1963 has brought to pass the conveniences of zip-top cans; the horrors of racial equality; and a primarily incidental test ban treaty which, if nothing else, makes good headlines for the highly independent French friend Charles de Gaulle. Despite the excitement of the summer, it is left to the total sum of knowledge, hoping to satisfy our ever increasing hunger for an understanding of the topsy-turvey world around us. So, let us greet High Point College. However, before the students of our campus can embark on an exploration for an understanding of life, they are confronted with a far more abhorrent enigma—REGISTRATION!

Forty years ago High Point College fell to the wayside during this era of rapid progression. We have been growing by leaps and bounds in the last decade. This summer a loa brought a new dormitory, a realignment of parking facilities, a library caravan, and many other progressive measures. Despite our improvements, however, we are still burdened with the same registration problems that occurred in our battle the Battle of Shiloh. Due credit should be given to Mr. Yarbrough and Buse of the administration and staff who have remained positive in the face of the newly initiated IBM system. Unfortunately, however, this system does not alleviate those tedious hours of line hopping that occur every fall. For the preservation of professors’ nerves and students’ weary, feet can’t something be done to institute a system of summer pre-registration by mail?

Fred Winters.

Dealing with registration requires an unwieldy supply of stamina and energy. Many emergencies arise; it is extremely difficult to make a fresh start day and better time. If one can sign his curbs when he doesn’t have an advisor, but that is no expert help of the Orientation Committee, this distressing situation was soon settled. Being upperclassmen, the committee understood all about such matters. Students were put up for classes proceeded with no further difficulty and then the freshmen came to face a High Point’s irreplaceable object—the line. Standing in line for a hour to have Dean Taylor stamp down the blue forms but bearable experience. Add to this the indignity of being given an assent number, and you have the most timid and shy people to encounter. Perhaps the unhappiest people day were the women students who were standing around with an unanswerable and smeared face.

As I was leaving the gym, I overheard a conversation between two freshmen who had been standing in line for three hours. Footnote and weary, they walked through the door. "Well," said one, at least they say the first student, they work a poor unsuspecting children! I didn’t have the heart to tell them the truth.

New Year Brings About a Reshuffling of Counselors

By Bonnie Doni

School has begun now, and we feel that we should thank our Resident Counselors for getting everyone to his room and consequently situated to begin a new year.

We find somewhat of a change from last year. Mrs. Austin has taken a new position as Resident Counselor for the men in Mr. Calhoun Hall.

Mrs. McMeehan-Kerr now is Resident Counselor for the men in the J. Ed. Millis Dormitory. She is also the advisor to the Dormitory Council for Men.

Mrs. Mary Bennett is the Resident Counselor for women. Her room is located in Women’s Hall where she can be found when needed.

All students should contact his Resident Counselor for assignments, room keys, and special permission. If you have any questions concerning anything which occurs in the dormitories, consult your Resident Counselor.

The students would like to welcome these counselors to the campus for what we hope will be the best year ever.

REGISTRATION

During the summer Mr. Whicker and Mr. Hislope left HPC. These men will be missed by the students this year. Already numerous Freshmen and Sophomores have asked the whereabouts of that "likable fellow who gave me a message tent a last spring?" During the summer Mr. Whicker accepted a position as Assistant to the President of Old Dominion College, which is near Richmond, Virginia. Mr. Hislope, past head of the Business Department here, was named President of the College of the Albemarle, at Elizabethtown, North Carolina. This is one of the new community colleges in this state. Mr. Stan Broadway gave up his position here to become the Executive Director of the National Foundation, Inc., which is a loan program for North Carolina students. This foundation, recently founded at the request and efforts of Governor Terry Sanford and others, has its headquarters in Raleigh.

While these men left to accept prominent positions elsewhere, their places have already been filled by competent men. Mr. Bully L. Paul replaces Mr. Whicker, while Dr. Matthews and Mr. Martin will assume the duties of Guidance and Counseling which Mr. Whicker performed. Dr. Hislope will be replaced by Dr. Cragbaum, who is a new member of our faculty.

H. P. C. Post Office Is “ZIP”-less

One comforting thought is to know that someone appreciates you. I’ll never forget the last minute Jim Jones and I met. I was so happy!

I arrived in High Point from Kalamazoo, Michigan, in less than five hours after my departure. I just love that ZIP code. This was the first time I was away from home and I was over. Little did I know that my nightmare was just beginning.

After a few minutes I fell onto the floor, but before I could get up a large heavy package had been put on top of me. I cried for someone to help me, but everyone just stared in the dead silence. I wanted someone to understand how lonely and unwanted I felt. At last I was left all alone and had to get myself up to the bottom of the stack.

On Saturday I went to see the school alone. It is quite an experience, even though one cannot see the whole campus. I was so dirty that I spent an entire day scrubbing. I spent a week getting from the post office. These boxes were issued. I knew that 1 had no idea of the amount of time and effort that were involved and returned to the Dean of the College for his approval.

Friday: This was the big day of the mail and the students’ boxes were issued. I knew that I had to be given to Jim soon for he had burned the last mail box. I began to wait for them to place me in his mailbox. But the story turns out, I waited all night because the workers didn’t get to get to the bottom of the stack.

Saturday: This day I shall remember forever. I was picked up off the desk and put in a stack of J. B. I was quite surprised, someone placed me in an empty box.

Monday: This day Jim would hurry because the box was level. Jim came along to get my box and he was surprised. I had to spend a lonely night in that stack.

Sunday: This day is of great importance because there was me and Jim were not together and I could not open the box. All I can say that the HPC’s post office is crying and sleeping.

Monday: This was my day for person to find me. Jim took me out of the mailbox and he found that the post office had finally found my friend.

That is my story, friends, and fellow students. Imagine. I came over a thousand miles in less than twenty-four hours, but I spent a week getting from the HPC post office to my friend.

1, 2, 3, Park

In the Letters from Readers department of this issue, a day student expresses feelings common to many drivers who have run headlong into the new park-by-letter regulations now in force on our asphalt campus. Indeed, the new regulations are a step backward as they make for less efficient allocation of parking spaces than did the old rule of the survival of the quickest. Note the number of choice parking spaces left vacant each day within actual driving distance of Roberts Hall. It is for this reason that the suggestions offered in the letter published this issue are especially noteworthy.

Parking regulations are a daily concern of the day student. The parked car is something of a base of operations and must serve as everything from book locker to bedroom. Yet, day students have no voice in drawing up the parking regulations which determine where their "home-away-from-home" have to be parked each day. (Note: Until this year, the Student Handbook stated that "regulations for the parking of cars...are established by a committee composed of both faculty and students." This year's Handbook informs us that these regulations are established by a "Student Personnel committee composed of faculty members.

The parking problem is old, but let the people most concerned help solve it. Day students should be happy to volunteer so that the job can be done now, not next summer.

Tower Players Meet New Director; Pick Fall Play

This is the first in a series of news and feature stories originating from the Fine Arts building. Since there is so much happening in this department which often goes unreported, Dr. Line has been assigned to report the events which relate to the Fine Arts department. By this assigning a special reporter to this department, we hope to achieve better coverage of events related to the arts.

-Ridmore, The Hi-fo.

As I was walking through the Fine Arts Building one Friday night recently, I noticed a gathering of students on the stage. It did not take long to figure out that they were neither rehearsing nor giving a performance. After investigating, I found that they were just having a meeting—the "kick-off" meeting of the Tower Players for this year. They were all sitting around drinking sodas and discussing different plays which they might like to present to the High Point College students this year. They seemed to be a very enthusiastic group.

After a rather lengthy discussion, they decided that no definite conclusion would be reached. Actually, about the only definite thing decided on that night was that all the actors were named. All in all, however, everyone said they had a good time and the veteran Tower Players are very hopeful concerning some of the prospective members they met and talked with.

Following the discussion, Hakey's court made another of its rare appearances and brought in the Tower Players' new director, Mr. Drapeau. Mr. Drapeau is the director of the H.P.C. Players and also the assistant professor of drama. Mr. Drapeau was actually walking through the Tower Players' board room when they decided to name him director. Everyone present was overjoyed and everyone was happy to have Mr. Drapeau work with them and are looking forward to a great year.

To begin with this year, the Tower Players, in connection with Mr. Drapeau, chose for their first production Tennessee Williams' play, Streetcar Named Desire.

Tryouts for the men and women for this play are scheduled for October 3 and 4 with rehearsals beginning October 5. Mr. Drapeau and the Tower Players invite anyone who is interested in taking part in this play to come by and let them know. If you cannot or do not want to act, there is still plenty of room for you in all sorts of theater jobs. Everybody keep in mind the dates of November 14 and 15—these are the dates that the play is scheduled to be presented.

IFC Releases Rush Rules

This year the Inter Fraternity Council has established positive rules and regulations concerning fraternity rush. The violations of these rules, if convicted, could cause a fraternity to lose its privileges or extend bids for an entire rush period. This could deal a severe and total blow to the fraternity. It is the responsibility of both the rushers and fraternity men to abide by these rules.

The new rules have been established as follows:

a) Potential rushers in a y- year are to give no fraternities positive feedback.

b) Four (4) or more active brothers, inactive brothers, pledges, or alumni may not accompany a potential ruisher in any activity.

c) Bids may not be extended to freshmen before November 18, and it upperclassmen before October 15.

d) All those concerned should remember that these rules should be obeyed in the spirit as well as the letter of the law. They should also be reminded that the IFC will be strictly in both the spirit and letter of the law.

Fraternity rush is a wonderful and exciting experience. Choosing the right fraternity is a difficult task, one which will take many hours of thinking and which will entail just plain "holl." Keep an open mind during rush and keep fraternity news, Jack Meclailan, Field Representative, presented the award on September 21.

FALL SPORTS AGENDA

Cross-Country

By Dave Baughn
This year at High Point College, there will be a return of one of its fall sports. The Fall sport is cross country. The last time that High Point College had a cross country team it placed second in the state. Duke was first. We still have one of the runners from that team—Mike Sabino, considered one of the better runners in the state. Also on this year’s team we seek Wagner, an 800 yard man in track; Bob Brennan, a 440 yard man in track; Carl Balthas, a distance man, Tony Byrnes, 440 yard man, and Steve Farnum, 400 yard man from last year’s track team. Dave Whitlock and Bob Harris, baseball veterans, and Douglas Thayer also add strength to the squad. So far this year meets have been scheduled with Atlantic Christian and Davidson. It is hoped that more meets will be scheduled in the future.

Zenith Pictures Taken, Proofed in Record Time

Wednesday through Saturday, September 18-21, were the days when the photographers from the Springfield, Ohio office of Olan-Mills Photography Studio set up shop in the student center lounge and photography stud by the Student Personnel Committee. It is hoped that more meets will be scheduled in the future.

THE HI-PO

In order that student problems may have more recognition and that solutions to these may be more easily arrived at, High Point College has set up the Student Personnel Committee composed of members of the faculty to meet with students for the purpose of clearing up difficulties.

Nine responsibilities have been delegated to the Committee. They are:
1. to initiate a program of social education.
2. to facilitate communication among students, faculty, and administration.
3. to seek ways and means of maintaining and/or improving student morale.
4. to correlate student personnel responsibilities with other policies of the school.
5. to hear complaints from students who feel that they have been unfairly treated by the Judicial Council and feel that they have been unfairly treated by the Judicial Council.
6. to review discipline cases of students who have been tried by the Judicial Council and feel that they have been unfairly treated.
7. to approve or disapprove recommended suspensions or expulsions of students who have been tried by the Judicial Council.
8. to hear discipline cases referred by the Director of Student Personnel.
9. to inform the student in writing before he is scheduled to appear that he has the right of counsel.

James L. Nelson of the business administration department outlined these purposes at a recent chapel program. He stressed the need for self-discipline among the members of the student body in preventing the rise of difficulties and for strength to work out personal problems.

At the other end of the campus, so many young men were affrighting themselves in suits and ties that one sleep-tired fresh asked if he had slept through the end of summer. All in all, woe, woes, and misgivings were studied in closets for the shortest of primes. Olan-Mills, known for their prompt production rate; presented proofs to a very receptive group of students during this past week. Pictures themselves will be ready for purchase soon.

The HI-PO needs the support of its advertisers, and this support is forthcoming only if the advertisers have the support of you, the students of HPC. Always say "I saw it in The HI-PO."
The schedule this year includes February 29-30. Chicago, will be the speaker for his Sophomore Class. Linda Ferran is President of Phi Mu, and was a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp. Carolyn Frye is President of the Women's Dormitory Council and past President of ZTA. She is a member of the Student Legislature. Across The Desk...

A Stronger Link

Many times the Student Body and Administration are actually working toward a common goal when, for the want of more effective communication, there appears to exist between the two the so-called gap. The Administrators have this year been carrying on in an effort to annual Freshman-Sophomore mixer. The columns of this paper have often borne witness to these efforts and have been the source of indignant letters from readers. The "great debate" over assembly programs last spring is an example which has been long existing for a stronger and more direct link between the members of the Student Body and the Administration; the new Student Personnel Committee has been created to meet this need.

Despite the implication in its name, the Student Personnel Committee is made up of faculty members. Mr. Nelson is chairman, Dean Taylor is an ex-officio member, and Mr. Allred, Miss Eubanks, Dr. Huggins, and Mr. Ring compose the remainder of the body. The main purpose of this committee is to meet with students to aid in clearing up difficulties; its nine specific responsibilities were spelled out on page 4 of the last issue of The Hi-Po. It began to function at the beginning of this semester (hence, it did not establish the new parking regulations, as could have been inferred from recent editorial on the parking problem).

"...any student group upon request and, in fact, prefers that students take the initiative in asking for such meetings. The Committee may, however, call for a meeting should a problem arise which is within the scope of its responsibilities. The Executive Council of the Student Government Association, the Student Personnel Committee, and other campus groups and organizations are, by both word and spirit of the Constitution, a part of the true purpose of Student Government. The new student involvement in SGA activities and functions. Mr. Nelson has stressed that there is no intent to interfere with the Student Government, but that the new Committee is an addition to an already well-organized though little-known symbol of cooperation..."

Creation of the Student Personnel Committee has opened many new opportunities for self-government. Maturity of thought and action is the goal of these new opportunities are used to bring about a greater realization of the true purpose of Student Government and the SCA Constitution, is "to develop student honor and self-control, to encourage the growth of the spirit of self-government and to foster the principles of self-government." -Roger Pike.

Little's Bit

By Doa Little

LEGISLATURE

High Point College has a well-organized legislature this year, and it's not entirely the fault of the parking regulations, as you don't you people who sit in the dorms on your ears and grip about Saturday classes and the boney car washing facilities. It's time for you to tell him to present a bill to the legitimate representation and to act about the situation. Shame on you. Nobody cares whether you don't know your representative.

IFC

Recently two LODges were brought before the IFC against Kappa Alpha fraternity for illegal conduct. It was taken into consideration of the IFC that their conduct was not strong enough to uphold such an action. This writer does not know whether K. A. is guilty, but does question the decision to drop the case, even though this frat is innocent until proved guilty.

Again this year writer recommends that the IFC take a long look at its constitution (if it can see the document for the loopholes and flimsy words). The IFC is ever to be anything significant, it should be composed of members, who have a constitution on which it can stand. Most frats come under the jurisdiction of the IFC, and the IFC should be strong enough to enforce the constitution against any violator, for it is unfair for one group to be able to break rules and get away with it. -BEANIE COURT

Perhaps it is a little late for self-examination, but after reviewing the Beanie Court in action this writer wasn't surprised when the Frosh pulled hard enough to break the rope used for the tug of war. With this win behind them, the Beanie was not a very impressive display of American justice. It was a trial by peers, but by a group of "goal" sitting upon their ancient pedestal, who frowned upon any measurably less than 5'10". The writer feels that violators should be tried and punished for a fair reason.

POLITICS

This column has had very little, if anything, to say in the past about national politics. Perhaps it is sufficient to say that this writer is a supporter of the "draft Goldwater" movement, even though it does not seem that a draft will be necessary. It's sure for a president who will administer with a firm hand, keep the budget in reasonable bounds, and stop increasing the national debt. It is certain that this movement will be called before the writer. This writer is in favor of any legal form of protest. Mr. Williams currently is a member of a group which he feels that violators should be tried and punished for a fair reason.

Gaynor, Calloway To Share Business Management Responsibilities

Dr. W. M. Patton last week announced that the duties of the Business Manager of the college will be divided between the Business Office and the College Relations office. The designation of Mr. A. R. Williams on November 9th of the Business Office and Gaynor will become head of the Business Office while Mr. Lawson will remain in charge of the College Relations office. Gaynor and Mr. Williams are responsible for these men to handle their new duties, one or more clerical workers will be added to the Business office, and Mr. Jim Cal- loway, the new member of the College Relations office, will assume part of Mr. Alleson's present responsibilities.

The Board of Trustees in their annual meeting on October 9 accepted with regrets the resigna- tion of Mr. Williams, who is taking a position with the Latiniter Corporation.

Mr. Patton will become head of the Business Management responsibilities. He will be responsible for the Business Office and the College Relations Office. The duties of the Business Manager will be divided between the Business Office and the College Relations Office. Gaynor and Mr. Williams are responsible for these men to handle their new duties, one or more clerical workers will be added to the Business office, and Mr. Jim Cal- loway, the new member of the College Relations office, will assume part of Mr. Alleson's present responsibilities.
The annual tug-of-war, one of the traditional freshman-sophomore activities, is depicted rather graphically above. At a matter of fact, this amazing series of pictures was shot with the new Crown Graphic Camera. Of course, the freshmen dunked the sophomores and, thereby, earned the right to appear on campus without Beanties.

I.F.C. Sets Up Scholarship Committee

It was voted on and passed by the I.F.C. Board of Directors that a meeting to set up a scholarship committee for freshmen transfer men. The Scholarship Committee is composed of various freshmen who are excellent in particular subjects. A list of these men will be posted in the men’s dormitory, student center, gymnasium, and cafeteria. Also on this list will be the room number or address and the subjects which they will be able to assist students. It will be the responsibility of the freshmen and transfer men who need assistance to see the members of the scholarship committee.

There are times in the career of every student who will need help, please see one of these men.

EVENING SCHOOL GROWS INTO IMPORTANT PART OF COLLEGE

By Bonnie Dennis

Beginning in the fall of 1960, the Evening School of High Point College began as a new program under the guidance of Dr. C. R. Hinson which has been growing by leaps and bounds each year. In its fifth year of operation, Evening School, each year, additional courses and additional faculty members have been added. It is not only a phase of the college until at the present time there are 14 classes being taught and 25 professors teaching in six different fields.

It is amazing to note the number of students who are now enrolled in Evening School. The largest department was the English Department, which at present has 200 students enrolled in seven different courses. The second largest department is the English Department which at present has approximately 150 students taking either freshman composition or English literature. There are four sections of the Freshman Composition courses and two sections of the English Literature course which give the students an opportunity to meet the graduation requirements in those subjects. The Sociology Department has 64 students enrolled in the three courses being offered during the fall semester and there are 83 students enrolled in the three psychology courses.

Miss Carolyn Jean McAllister, the new Miss High Point College, will be on display at the YMCA here in High Point, and that is very much owed by Mr. Broadhurst's knowledge and understanding of economics and the business world. Unless something intervenes, Dr. Peterson plans to invite Mr. Broadhurst back to speak to his classes again next year. Perhaps his lectures can give an poorer understanding of local businesses and students some insight into the business world which has made the man a financial success.

Speaks to Psychology Classes

Local Businessman Has Complex Theories on Money; Finance

"Money is not a medium of exchange, it is paper currency and metal coin," contends Mr. H. C. Broadhurst, a prominent real estate broker here in High Point College. Mr. Broadhurst has quite an impressive explanation of money and the credit system of our economy. This writer was privileged to interview Mr. Broadhurst some weeks ago, and was very impressed with this man who says that the economics books simply aren't right in his opinion when they tell a student that money is a medium of exchange rather than cold, hard cash. Mr. Broadhurst speaks of the Faustian Principle of money and wealth and the workings of our economy with such definite-ness and authority that one immediately feels that here is a man who knows and understands about what he is talking.

The topic for Dr. Marty's lectures will be "The Message of the 20th Century and the Future of America." Dr. Marty, who retired from the High Point College in 1962, will be the one who will present the lectures. The pressure brought to bear upon him by his sister, with his wife, is very much more effective. Dr. Marty also stated, "We have to make being a Christian harder than necessary. He said that faith is a natural tendency for all men and that to force others to maintain an idea that today students in a church related college have more freedom to concentrate upon their studies than in other institutions, but all persons should be working toward a better understanding of religion, as this is the only way to make progress in the minds of today's students."

In regard to the High Point College courses, Dr. Marty stated, "The courses at the college are very good and the students are all very interested in the courses."

Dr. Marty's lecture on the topic of belief, disbelief and faith, was very interesting and enjoyed by all attendees. He also expressed his desire to continue the course next year. It was Dr. Marty's opinion that he would like to continue the course next year and that it will be very useful to all students.
A Pledge and a Pica

The staff of the Hi-Po is publishing below its recently adopted Code of Ethics. Needless to say, this Code is no guarantee of performance. It is but a guideline which should lead students to be professional and a more vital publication.

In order to live up to the motto and truly be the "voice of the students," the Hi-Po requires more than a Code of Ethics and the efforts of its staff. Yet, so far this semester the letters from Readers department have shown that with Hi-Po in mind, the total involvement of its student body, with the world in social revolution, and with an unusual election just a year in the future, it is indeed difficult to understand how a community of more than a thousand educated individuals can remain so silent. Won't you let us publish some of your monumental thoughts?

—Roger Pike.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR THE HI-PO

Recognizing the privilege it has in representing the administration and student body of High Point College, the staff of the Hi-Po pledges itself to the following Code of Ethics:

1. To cooperate with the faculty in supporting worthwhile school projects.
2. To maintain at all times a high standard of sportsmanship.
3. To refrain from publishing articles concerning the school that could be hurtful to the names of students, thereby sacrificing accuracy to make a good story.
4. To avoid using unkind personal jokes, criticisms, and caricatures.
5. To give full credit for any material that is not original.
6. To cooperate in reporting news while sacrificing accuracy to make a good story.
7. To make apologies when mistakes are made.
8. To use good English and strive for the best style of expression possible.
9. To work as a team, not for individual glory.
10. To uphold the realistic moral standards that the Hi-Po is expected to stand on.

Hi-Po shall be the "voice of the students." It will gather accurate information, and shall reflect good sportsmanship.

LINDA CRAVEN

It is scholastic achievement that Linda Craven has distinguished herself. She has been on the Dean's List persistently and was last year appointed Chief Marshal, a position in which she has served the college well.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Craven of High Point. She is an English major, French minor working toward a teacher's certificate. In addition to working as Assistant Editor of Argus, she is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp and the Scholastic Honor Society and was elected this semester to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

The Alpha's have held their initiation-themed weekend at 2:00 and 4:00 and the Phi Mu and Zeta icebreakers. Preferential party invitations were sent out on the 29 with the KD party being held that night followed by Phi Mu, Alpha Gam, and Zeta the next three nights. On November 2, the eighty-five rushers signed a preference sheet to be matched with the preference sheets from the four sororities. The entire weekend was a wonderful experience for both rushers and Greek women.

November 4 marks the beginning of fraternity rush. With constant effort on the parts of all concerned, this week should also be a big success.

Well-dressed congratulations go to the Lambda's Chi's for the splendid job they did in their presentation of "Campus Campers." This year's "Campers" was changed into a variety show rather than a talent show and the change was carried out quite well, complete with scenery depicting a night club.

Pledging seems to be a common problem among the fraternity parties. The Alpha Gam's pledged Nancy Perry, the KD's, Omega Waldrep and Lulu Jenson, the Lambda's, Bob Fogler, Jimmy Hughes, B. L. Ross, Dave Young, and Wayne Eaton; and the Theta's went to Cindy Cash, Buckey Caldwell, and Pat Hedrick.

Hopes Are High For New Frosh Cagers

This year the High Point College basketball team is joined by three new members, all freshmen. Larry Cheatham is a serious young pitcher and McDonald's, where at Madison Consolidated High School, he chalked up quite an athletic record. The 18 year old, 6'11" Houser captained his basketball team in his junior year and was voted a 16 point average. He was elected to Deft Magazine's All-American Team. His expectations for further basketball achievement in his senior year were thwarted by a prevailing knee injury sustained during his junior year and sported a 16 point average. He was voted to the All-Sectional, All-Regional, and All-State teams in Indiana. Larry is planning to major in Physical Education at HPC. Always say "I saw you, the students of Madison, Ind."

Pikas Reverse Position, Cop Intramural Football

As fate and oddity would have it, this years intramural football competition may have come about as a surprise to many involved. Last year Pikas found themselves clinging at the bottom of the statistics sheet in intramural football while the undefeated Colts went on to win the overall campus championship. This year the tables were reversed and the Pikas found themselves not only the team to beat, but the team to win. Luck was, unfortunately, not with the Colts this year as they found themselves in the same position as their championship successors were last year. In second place this year, Delta Sigma Phi should be commended on their strong team and determined spirit which put them very close to victory. Credit is due to all teams involved in this competition.

In cross-country, the Panthers have a 2-2 record. In wins, attacks against Atlantic Christian College and N. C. State Frosh may be noted. In losses, Pembroke College and Wake Forest Frosh had the victories. On October 22, H.P.C. lost its second meet running on a 3:5 mile course to the Pembroke Indians. While Jack Wagner, Mike Sabino, Griff Iltihael, Tony Boyles, and Bob Harris placed first, second, fifth, tenth, and twelfth respectively, the team lost due to the lack of team depth by a score of 30-28. Wagner placed first with 20.160 with Sabino only 5 seconds behind.

Little's Bit
By Don Little

As basketball season draws near once again, I am reminded of the fact that in the past there are no plans to have HPC games broadcast by a local radio station to provide service to the students and to the townspeople as well if we could have these games broadcast, particularly the away games.

Many of the high school students have been groups of interested students in the past who have attempted to have these games broadcast, and, according to these students, they have been unable to line up sponsors and to get a radio station to agree to carry these games, only to be thwarted in their efforts when they discovered that the Athletic Department would not permit these games to be broadcast. These students report that the reasons given for this refusal was that such a broadcast would hurt attendance at home games. Hogwash! I say, if we may get the goal for the moment, I do not feel that there is sufficient interest shown by townspeople for these games to warrant consideration at this time of their attendance. Rather than limiting the number of townspeople who attend, I feel that broadcasting the games would tend to increase the interest of the community, and provide a means for townspeople to keep up with all the games. If we get these people interested, I feel that they would be willing to attend the games and see what is going on.

As for HPC students, we would benefit greatly from broadcast of these games. Last year the students would prefer to go to the game rather than listen to it on the radio. This year however, should not be very pleasant for our students, since it is obvious that the students have already paid for the games beforehand.

This writer would like to go on record as being somewhat displeased with the review of "Streetcar Named Desire" which Mr. Robert Marks wrote for the High Point Enterprise. It seems that Mr. Marks was unkindly harsh with the Tower Players in his review. If he is a professional critic, perhaps he would do well to consider the fact that this is an amateur production and that some of the actors having had any previous stage experience. In view of the fact that the group was inexperienced, and that the play was not a very pleasant one to enact, I feel that Mr. Marks should be excused. I would like to see the full set of circumstances before launching such a critical attack.

Students to Attend NSSGA College Bowl Series

On December 3, several students from High Point College will go to Guilford College to participate in the first round of the North State Student Govern- ments Association's "College Bowl" series. The "College Bowl" series is a contest involving quick recall of facts from the contest- ants' major areas of study - the arts and sciences, as well as go's and possibly other areas. The NSSGA college bowls are set up in the same manner as the CBS television program, "College Bowl," in which schools from all over the nation compete.

The NSSGA "College Bowl" will not be televised, and is being considered as a test of knowledge. Its initiators feel that it will become a worthwhile niche for intercollegiate competition among students of the smaller colleges in the South, which would not be able to compete in the television program.

A meeting was held on Friday, November 22, to assemble a team to take part in the first match at Guilford on December 3. Larry Anstic, who acted as co-coordinator for the HPC team, had this to say about HPC's chances in the coming competition. "We feel that High Point College is one of the better small schools in the South and that we can field a representative and successful team that will represent us well at Guilford and through what we hope will be several other contests."

Mr. Grohvaart will serve as head of the group of faculty advisors for the team. He recently went to a NSSGA meeting to submit HPC's list of two hundred questions to be used in the coming competition. Each school involved has submitted a similar list of questions, which include questions on almost any subject matter.

High Point College team is composed of approximately ten students, who will serve a one-class period in competition, since the panel is to be composed of four members and one alternate for each game. Each panelist will be a specialist in his particular field.

Senior Honor Ten Students
For Outstanding Achievement

The Executive Committee of the Senior Class recently released the names of the outstanding seniors who have been chosen as Ten Top Seniors.

The students selected for the Honors Ten are:

1. Bonnie Denic, Bill Falls
2. Linda Ferran, Carolyn Frye, Gail Geyer, Elaine Greene, Bob Korsch
3. Charles Nelson, Bette Newton, and Betty Treece were honored by their classmates as being the ten most outstanding members of their graduating class.

Members of the Senior Class Advisory Committee and nominations of Ten Top Seniors at a recent class meeting. The Senior Class Committee of the class in turn tabulated the results of the nominations, and selected the outstanding seniors from the nominations.

All those receiving this honor have been active in one or more phases of campus activity. It is perhaps interesting that eight of the ten listed were also chosen to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

These Ten Seniors are chosen for participation in student activities, and for contributions they may make in a 12-year college. Their ship was not a deciding factor, although of these factors for possess however respectable grade point average, in a prime consideration in selecting this group, as evidenced by the fact that the Ten Seniors to this year are the President and Vice President of the G.A., the President of the Student Senate, and the President of the Woman's Dormitory Council.

The choir this year will include:

H.P.C. Now Has A Bird Sanctuary

The Wrenn Memorial Library has gone to the birds, not just working on such a schedule.

The Writer's feel that this idea is worthy of a trial or, at least, of the students and the entire student body.

In any event the stacks of books beyond the desk seem to be so human that the birds which are allowed to fly around them. Evidently the mysteries East and West cannot be taught to birds which only the birds can fully understand also. After waiting a certain length of time the books desired are finally turned over to the human for a certain length of time which seems to be a real sacrifice to the birds.

Some day the mysteries of the library should be made known to us humans so that we too can enjoy them. Up until now only the birds have been having the fun of flying around the books, but it seems to be our turn to choose our library as the setting for his last novel entitled, "The Birds." Many thousands of books have been with High Point College for years, the singing of the first verse of our alma mater is sung whenever the students are present in the gym for enjoyment and practice. The sound of the guitar and the sound of the voice of the good singer can be heard from the farthest end of the gym.

I was awakened by the aroma of roasted turkey, the tang of cranberry, and the special morning. The first idea which registered within my empty head was "Mom." I was going to go back to sleep and dream (in technicolor), but my eyelids no longer lagged at the halfway mark. They popped open in a manner not customary to that of a sleep young man who has just kissed by Bridget Bardot. Laidness. So many intangibles such See Conference Title. "Newbo" Adds Variety to MusicBuilding by Doris Liles

Newbo is the new addition to our Fine Arts Department. Mr. Raffle Porter, teacher of art here at HI-PO, introduced me the other day to his new music and visual artist assistant known to his students as Newbo. Newbo is a dynamic eleven or twelve year old boy with a mustach-ing personality. As we watched him move about the room the morning after assembly, we noticed how very well he seemed to get along with the students. If someone were to have said the same quaint ways, they would certainly get more attention. There was a definite flair in his qualities in Newbo that every professor would have liked to have (1) the capability of getting a student's hand in a playful attitude and still draw blood (2) to speak figuratively here, of course, and the interest in and ability to get along with students that would bring such an enthusiastic and willing response. Another interesting fact is that Newbo's attendance is more regular than the students' - he never takes a day off.

I believe I mentioned previously that Newbo is also very talented. He has shown great artist interest and ability since birth. His first attempt at art was when he was five months old. He happened to walk through some mud and developed some mud prints. At that time, his work has been encouraged only under supervision, but now he prefers to work on either paper or canvas.

Some of the students in Newbo's class are members of the students about the new assistant, I was told some rather interesting facts. One commented that he keeps the kids out of trouble. Another said that Newbo (1) is very -look what a long ride home; I'll get to see all my friends at the party tonite, so I guess I won't be worth while after all. Boy, and being with the folks again is like heaven. I know how to play is so anxious to get away to school.

Some couldn't believe I was up. Funny thing - I couldn't either, but I really don't have too much time to think about it; little brother kept pushing me (he is very strong) toward the back door. Once theominous crying air hit me, my eyelids no longer lagged at the halfway mark. They popped open in a manner customary to that of a young man who has just kissed by Bridget Bardot.

Somebody should have told me earlier in life about the fellas, but gee-golly, I get to see all my friends at the party today, so I guess I won't be worth while after all. Boy, and being with the folks again is like heaven. I know how to play is so anxious to get away to school.

Sharon Mathis Chosen Miss High Point College

FRIDAY NIGHT: Miss Sharon Mathis was selected as Miss High Point College for 1965. The High point runner-up was Shirley Key followed by Yvonne Faucette, Jan Morris, and Joy Watkins. Miss Congeniality was a. Wenda Flinchum.

Sharon Mathis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mathis of Trinity, North Carolina, is a sophomore sponsored by Theta Chi fraternity.

Shirley Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Key from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, is a junior sponsored by the Franklin Club.

Yvonne Faucette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Whittley, Faucette from Brown Summit, North Carolina, is a junior and member of Kappa Delta sorority. She is sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Jan Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watkins from Denton, North Carolina, is a freshman sponsored by the Fresman Club.

Joy Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watkins from High Point, North Carolina, is a junior who is sponsored by Phi Mu sorority of which she is a member.

Wenda Flinchum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flinchum from High Point, North Carolina, is a junior sponsored by Tan Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

This year the Miss High Point College contest was very well planned by its committee with Pansela Hance as the chairman.

The contestants competed in a talent presentation and in evening gowns. A program for the pageant included three special attractions: the Collegians, Bob Cashner, Donald Fain, Jerry Susano and Louise Shulcn. Lou Richards and Gail Green assisted with the talent and Charles Nesbird was the master of ceremonies.

The stage set for the pageant was designed and made by Bill Pritchard, and Warren Bousine was in charge of the stage and lighting. Working under Pamela Hancox, the other committee chairmen were Betsy Mann, judges; Jill Knucky, publicity; Lynn Bridges, programs; and Penny Parquin, gifts and trophies.

HPC To Receive Foundation Grant

High Point College has been named the recipient of a $25,000 grant from the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation, Inc. This money is to be used for the purchase of new equipment for the science department. Members of the science department were unable to give any information as to what exactly the money will be used for, but Dr. Patton did indicate that it will be used for equipment for that department.

Needless to say, college officials were more than happy to receive such a grant, but their happiness is probably overshadowed by that of the students and faculty members who will directly benefit from the new equipment.

Don't Forget to Come Back January 6.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!
Across The Desk...

IT'S UP TO US

The spark of enthusiasm with which this school year began has lost little or none of its glow during these first months. We have seen a greater involvement of students in college life than ever before. Campus life has a new flavor...you can smell it...taste it...hear it...see it...feel it. Friday night's Miss HFC Pageant has proven the amount of will- ing ability on the part of our students. This willingness to try out for "don't want to be second best," our SCA is functioning in its highest tradition. We have much to be proud of and much to look forward to as we return from Christmas vacation.

But all is not well. Too many of our fellow campus citizens are experiencing a growing apathy in college life. In too many, the enthusiasm and fervor has subsided. The attitude and behavior of some of our friends, both students and non-students, is further evidence of this decline. I urge that we consider what we can do to make a tremendous difference in the tone and tempo of life on our campus. We must recognize the fact that the actions of the few reflect on all of the members of the campus community. Until we are alert to the present danger, the results could be disastrous. There is a real need for more, for better, for a more fitting attitude.

ACADEMIC CODE

Several HPC students are interested in getting the academic code institutionalized on our campus. They feel that it is both desirable and necessary that we have and maintain such a code to aid in developing character and curbing cheating. While this movement is not quite mature, and there have been some missteps, this writer feels that our student body should have the chance to prove whether it will work.

Past attempts to institute as honor code have failed miserably, seemingly because students either opposed it on account of some small part of it which they objected or because they did not feel it would work on our campus.

This writer feels that neither of these arguments are valid this year. In the first place, the present-proposed academic code is not in its final form. Students will be given ample time several months if necessary to make suggestions as to how the proposed code may be improved. Only after such opportunity has been given and the code is revised to incorporate those suggestions will be brought to a vote.

Secondly, the arguments that this code will not work on this campus rest on the assertion that we say we won't work until somebody proves that we can. I say we are willing to prove it by working while we say we write it, predicted that the code would end in bankruptcy, a failure, but we were mistaken. Let's give this code a chance, it may prove to be much more a proactive factor in developing a mature, well-rounded student body.

Some people feel that we have no academic honor. So, therefore, probably no code either. Perhaps honor is not so great on this campus as it should be. But the proposed academic code could be one means of emphasizing the need of developing a certain code. If we say we won't work until somebody proves it can't work, why are we not be pressured into printing it and what to delete, and revision of the cut system or other restrictions. Dr. Cole for one indicated that a code of this sort would give evidence of our ability, our maturity, our sense of responsibility that we could prove to the world a failure, but we were mistaken. Our academic code would give evidence of our ability, our maturity, our sense of responsibility that we could prove to the world that we are indeed sensible and well-grounded students.

Attention Prospective Teachers

If you are planning to teach the next few weeks and the next few months, you must take the National Teacher Examination as a state requirement for teaching in North Carolina. These examinations are given at high Point on Saturday, January 19, 1964. Application forms are available in the office of Dr. Bell, Room 203. This test is given in any part of the country. You must take the test on the date listed because the time is very crucial. If you have not already picked up your application form, do so right away. It is most important that you take this test as soon as possible and that you make sure you are informed about the test.

Perm WANTED TO READER

I hope that you do not assume that this intelligent High Point College student is generally Goldwater Republican. I would like to set the record straight if you do. In my opinion, a student who has developed any insight into the 1964 Presidential candidates, and their programs, proposed and past programs, and who has been sufficiently acquainted with the different viewpoints, will invariably assume an active anti-Goldwater attitude.

Have you read Goldwater's book, "Conscience of a Conservative," or have you listened to his speeches on radio and television? I presume you have not, for I doubt if many of the students here have them. It is a classic. I hope that you do not assume that I would thus advocate a reading an archaic-type novel-such as "Old Boys Club"—Goldwater, that is.

In conclusion, I think that the only way to make the proper impression is to set the record straight if you have any doubts. I would like to postulate the idea that for many the label of "High School Harry" is far too familiar. There is a definite trend towards the extreme political views, and we are all too often confused by the political atmosphere in which we live. If you are confused, I ask you to read this article and to consider the possibilities that could arise from following this trend.

GOLDFWATER

At last a Democrat on campus has been sufficiently educated to put his political ideas on paper and suggest them to you. Mr. Goldwater was almost afraid that the Democrats' reply here so was nowhere near the Local Republican landslide that they still speak of. I'm glad they've begun to talk back again—it's no fun having a ghost that doesn't talk back.

As for Mr. Nuckolls' letter, I failed to see the point. I'm sure I don't have to. Procrastination and sloth are disdains how exercising fiscal responsibility and operating the government in a business like manner.

The Goldwater program probably is not the one that you would want to support. It is true that the program's foreign policy cannot be measured in terms of a central plan, but it is also true that we are the indisputable leader of the world. Now in the 1960's we are at best only one generation ahead of the Soviet Union in the power struggle or we are at worst only one generation behind. We have a chance to set our foreign policy back a century. If the Goldwater program against in the 1960's, we may be out of business in a free society. After all, it was the private entrepreneur and business leader who made America economically great.

Service Groups Combine to Christmas Carol

Aphila Delta Theta Sorority and Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity were Christmas caroling in North Carolina. These carols were performed on Monday, December 18, 1963. This is the second year that these two groups have contributed a caroling program, and their proceeds, Pat Lewis and Charlie Underwood, added to the cause. It was a success, and the money will be used to help the causes of the United Negro College Fund. This group performed at St. John's Episcopal Church in Wilmington, North Carolina. These carols were performed by Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Lewis and the proceeds will be used to help the African American students in their studies.

Library's Policy on "Closed Stacks" Defended

The Library staff would like to emphasize its aim to re-state a policy that is obviously misunderstood by some. The over-all aim of your College Library is to give library service to all High Point College students and to the Faculty, Alumni, holding any policies, all procedures, and all purchasing limitations. It is a question as to whether the students and the faculty in mind. The staff has no other goals.

To re-state the library's policy on closed stacks, we would like to re-state an obvious and carefully explained privilege of going into the stacks. However, we do insist that students first use the card catalog. After using the card catalog, if students have not found the information they are looking for, they are to come to the circulation desk and ask the librarian to check the card catalog. The student's name and the date and the name of the librarian. Your College Library's policy of closed stacks is based on the following facts:

1. The ability to use a card catalog effectively is a part of your college education. (Your being unable to use a card catalog is a must, whatever vocational student to follow. Many college libraries, many public libraries and most special libraries, including The Library of Congress, have closed stacks.)

2. It is easier by far to locate material in the card catalog than it is to find it on shelves spread out over various floors.

3. The library space is small and control must be exercised to make it accommodate the needs of the students. Mentally place our student body on the library floor space—the need for control is obvious.

4. Since students under our closed stack policy make their selections of library materials at the card catalog, students having trouble locating needed materials have access to professional library assistance. Understanding the above, you will see wisdom in the library's closed stack policy. Further, we can assure you that your College Library is much more liberal with stack permits than are any of the other colleges that have this system. To this date, we have never stopped to "snoop" to see what students are doing with library materials. We are made to pause, however, when we find pages torn out of magazines and volumes of encyclopedias missing from the open shelves in the reading room. We are referring to some method of checking library materials. This will depend on student cooperation in keeping materials intact and on the open shelves. By the way they use library materials, students make their selections, however, we have a duty of policy making.

We sincerely hope that we have clarified the library's policy in question. However, if there is anything that you do not understand, we hope you will come to the library and talk it over with us. We continue to have the kindest feelings toward all students, and our desire and intention of serving all students remain unchanged.
