Peter, Paul, Mary; Four Preps Head SGA Plans

Peter, Paul, and Mary; The Four Preps; Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs; and the Fabulous Five will all be featured in the various entertainment events on the SGA calendar for next semester. The schedule calls for three concerts and two major dances in addition to the Senior Prom. This is the first time such a calendar of events has been scheduled for HPC.

This year Homecoming Weekend will be enhanced by a dance and a concert by Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs. Possibly there will be no Saturday classes that weekend, so it should prove to be a lively weekend.

An extra added attraction to the usual entertainment schedule will feature Peter, Paul, and Mary in concert on Thursday, March 21. This is in addition to the plans of the SGA and is outside of the budget of the Entertainment Committee. If this proves to be a success, perhaps more such profit-seeking ventures will be scheduled in the future.

Then in April the big Spring Weekend will highlight the semester's entertainment. Two groups will be on hand to entertain HPC students and their guests. The Four Preps will be featured in concert on Friday night, April 27, and the Fabulous Five will do the honors at a big hop on Saturday night.

Thus we have a tentative outline of the big events for next semester. Contracts are being or have been signed for all the groups, and only the minor details remain to be arranged. Now the success of these events depends on the student's acceptance of them.

Also, in addition to these three major events, there will be dances after home basketball games sponsored by the Junior class. Also, later in the spring, the SGA will sponsor several juke-box hops.

Fred Winters and his Entertainment Committee have been chiefly responsible for getting these groups and events lined up. This program cannot be paid for entirely out of the funds in the SGA budget; thus, it will be necessary to charge admission for the Peter, Paul, and Mary concert as well as for the other concerts.

Free Drama On Tap Tonight

On Friday, January 11, at 8:00 P.M., the Advanced Play Production Class of the High Point College Fine Arts Department will present three one-act plays. The plays will be presented in Memorial Auditorium and are open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

The students of the class have maintained responsibility for the production, direction, casting, and practices. The result should prove to be interesting entertainment for faculty and students. Putting their imaginations and capabilities to the test in preparation for the productions has been the job of the directors: Mike Carrington, Jeffrey Johnson, and Ervin Bachelor.

Sophistication and ghosts compose the intricate plot of Noel Coward's comedy, "Blithe Spirit." The actors in this play will be C. J. Neal, Jerry Proffitt, and Doris Lyles. Mike Carrington lends his touch to the production through the job of direction.

Striking upon a more serious chord is the production of the religious play, "The Rock." Charlie Abel and Dave Young are the main actors in their characterization of the Big Fisherman, Simon Peter. The play is under the direction of Jeffrey Johnson.

Director Ervin Bachelor and his cast comprised of Bonnie Stillwell, Mike Carrington, and Jerry Proffitt informed this reporter that three red carnations will be very important in the Glenn Hughes play "Red Carnation." In this English farce, the actors play upon American sex symbolism. "Tres interessant, oui?"

Weather, Greeks Are Slow On New Dorm

By Don Little

The Business Office announced last week that construction on the new boys' dorm is slightly behind schedule because of bad weather, but that the contractor feels confident that he can make up for the lost time easily between now and September.

Meanwhile, plans for filling the dorm are coming along at a more forced rate. Four fraternities—Delta Sigma Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Chi—have tentatively accepted offers to occupy lounges on the first floor of the new three story, air-conditioned building. Contracts have not as yet been signed, but the terms which have been reportedly offered to the fraternities are that each frat pay $500 per year rental and that they furnish their lounges to the satisfaction of the administration.

According to the Office of Student Personnel, even though fraternities will occupy four lounges on first floor, there will be some independents as well as fraternity men living on second and third floors. The building, which was originally planned to house approximately 80 to 90 men is now planned to house 110 or more. This increase in capacity was accomplished without any increase in the size of the building, but by allowing for three students in several of the larger rooms.

In addition to the rental fees which fraternities will have to pay for their lounges, there will also be an increase in room rent for all men who are housed in the new structure. Mr. A. B. Williams, Business Manager, declined to state what the amount of increase will be, but he definitely stated that there would be an increase.

History Caravans Supported By $2,000 Standard Oil Grant

Dr. Wendell M. Patton, President of High Point College, recently announced that the college received a grant of $2,000 dollars for the 1962-63 year from M. J. Rathbone, chairman of the Esso Education Foundation. Dr. Patton said that the grant will be used in connection with experimental history caravans to be offered by the college.

The caravans will be designed primarily for students, teachers, and any other interested people. The caravans will feature a 45-hour classroom program to be followed by field studies of battlefields and memorials of the Civil War.

There are three caravans planned for the summer term. The first will follow General McClellan's Peninsula Campaign in the areas of Richmond, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg.

The second will make an intensive study of Sherman's march through the South in the Chattanooga, Chicamauga, and Atlanta areas; thence to the sea.

The third will examine the four campaigns of Grant in the Southwestern, the Fort Donelson, Fort McHenry, Shiloh, and the Vicksburg areas.

The classroom instruction will be under the direction of Dr. David W. Cole, head of the Department of History at the college; and Dean Jesse L. Taylor, dean of student personnel, will supervise the camping activities.

In commenting on the program, Mr. Rathbone stated, "The Foundation hopes to quicken the interests of others in the needs of our country's institutions of higher learning. The Foundation is continuing its specialized grants for assisting in capital expansion and development, engineering and science, and for various miscellaneous projects, such as the American History Caravans at High Point College."

Textbook Survey Now Complete

Results of a survey conducted by students in Sociological Research have been received for publication in the Hi-Po. The survey, concerned with the use of textbooks and workbooks, was completed by students in Chapel on November 14.

In the class breakdown, 153 Freshmen responded, along with 126 Sophomores, 82 Juniors, and 64 Seniors, making a total response of 425. Of those responding, 251 were males and 174 were females. Day students, with 211 replies, outnumbered the dorm student total of 193. Two replies did not state whether the student commuted or lived on campus.

The replies on the questionnaire were varied, and many showed added thought on the part of the students by the additional comments which they listed following the last question. Though the comments covered a wide variety of suggestions, criticisms, etc., many were thought-provoking.

In reply to the question "How important do you feel that textbooks are in advanced classes?", a definite majority (345) felt that these books were either very important or important. The same number felt that the textbooks used in their classes are being used to the best advantage.

Three hundred and fifty-seven students stated that they kept the textbooks used in their major field of study.

On the question of using supplementary workbooks, 207 students stated that they feel workbooks should be used more, 101 felt they should be used less, and 70 students felt they should not be used at all. 47 students did not respond to this question.

In stating the amount of money spent on a semester's books and workbooks, students showed that three brackets of spending are predominant. The first was $26-30, named by 89 students, followed by the $31-35, 69 students; and $36-40, 101 students.

Further breakdown of the survey is being concluded, and these results will be available to any student or faculty member upon request. These figures will show, also, the student opinion of the books used in the individual classes.

Car Owners Beware! New Rules Coming

Economic growth and automotive development have finally reached the point where they infringe on the convenience of HPC students. New parking regulations are going into effect next year which will put restrictions on the freedom of inoperation (parking) of cars on campus.

The Office of Student Personnel recently announced that as of the fall semester of 1963, no Freshman dormitory student will be permitted to park a car on campus. Then, beginning with the spring semester of 1964, no dormitory student without a "C" average will be allowed to maintain a car on campus.

This, however, is not all. Next fall, parking decals will be issued which will restrict parking to certain assigned lots. There will be areas designated for dormitory men, dormitory women, day, and evening students between the hours of seven a.m. and ten p.m. Any car found parked in an area other than his designated area between these hours will be subject to a fine.

Dean Taylor stated that the reason for the new regulations was that with approximately 400 spaces and over 700 registered cars, parking problems are increasing rapidly, and this, he feels, will be at least a partial solution to the problem. The new regulations will curb the number of cars on campus and make more efficient use of the available space. Mr. Taylor also indicated that there is little hope for more parking space in the future.

It should be noted that all of these regulations concern on-campus parking only. Anyone can maintain a car as long as he does not park it on campus. The lot beside the health department building belongs to Guilford county, but is available for daytime parking for students. No tickets can be issued by campus police for cars parked there or on the streets around campus.

Dean Taylor also emphasized the fact that the regulation concerning having a "C" average to maintain a car does not go into effect until second semester of next year. This gives two semesters and summer school for anyone who wants to keep a car to get a "C" average.

Dorm students have been re-

Most of the fraternities were reported to want to move into the new dorm, but felt that the rental price for the lounge is too high. Plans are for the lounges to be approximately the size of the student center TV room. The $500 rental fee is for the lounge for nine months a year, with the frats furnishing their own room.

The four fraternities which now plan to rent lounges in the new building did not accept the administration's offer immediately, reportedly because of the so-called high rental rates. In fact, all the fraternities were presented the offer in an unofficial form, and Lambda Chi Alpha was the only one to accept it. The others were given an opportunity to reconsider, and when the offer was made the second time, Delta Sigma Phi, Theta Chi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon tentatively accepted.

There was some speculation around campus that these groups were encouraged by pressure to accept the offer at the rates set by the administration. The fraternity presidents involved declined to publicly confirm or deny this rumor. However, Dr. Patton was reported to have indicated that if the fraternities did not accept his offer, that their future on campus might be short-lived. If he actually made such a statement, what he meant is not absolutely certain.

Whether there was pressure or not, at least one fraternity presented a contract to the administration which protected its rights and privileges if it rented a lounge, and the offer was immediately rejected, and fraternity members were accused of distrusting the administration.

Across The Desk....

HPC vs State of Virginia

According to the law of the commonwealth of Virginia, the only sticker to be placed on the front of the windshield of the car is the inspection sticker. This law means that any other sticker is not allowed on the front windshield.

Thus, as a result of this law, one student from the state of Virginia was forced to remove his High Point College parking permit from his car when he had his car inspected. Yet, when he came back to school and told the school authorities about the law, he was told to get another parking permit and put it back on the front windshield.

The question is, does High Point College have the right to place itself above the law of any state? The answer, of course, is no. If the state of Virginia has a law that does not allow decals or permits to be put on the front windshield of a motor vehicle, except the inspection sticker, then this law should be obeyed. It seems just as easy to put the parking permit on the back windshield and, thus, bring an end to an eventual clash.

If the administration is as interested as it claims to be in the welfare of the student of High Point College, then I should think it could allow its parking permits to be placed somewhere else than the front windshield of the student's car.

To those students from the state of Virginia, I would like to express my good luck when you next get stopped by a policeman of Virginia for cluttering up the front windshield of your car.

A Request

Some things around campus have already come to this writer's attention which deserve congratulations rather than criticism. Phi Mu sorority was responsible for decorating the cafeteria for the Christmas dinner. We think they did an excellent job and deserve to be congratulated. Also, the Woman's Dorm Council again this year contributed foodstuffs and other relief to a needy family of one of the cafeteria employees which has had much illness, in order that they might have a more enjoyable Christmas.

Of course these are only two such beneficial service projects by campus organizations. Alpha Phi Omega and others participate in frequent service projects. We congratulate both those groups mentioned here and any others which we did not have space to mention.

However, we cannot stop here. Of course congratulations are in order, but we feel that a request is also in order. A request that other Greek and independent organizations take note of what these groups are doing and try to out do them. Of course some of the Greek-letter organizations are social groups, but this does not exempt them from the responsibility to the campus and society in general. Our request is that all of the organizations on campus look around and try to find service projects without being prodded. Certainly their prestige and satisfaction will be increased by the taking of such actions. The responsibility is theirs. We of the staff serve to remind them. Will our campus organizations then complete the cycle by carrying out their responsibility?

CAMPUS COMMENT

By Charles Nesbitt

For the first time on our campus we are going to have an APOGEE. By now most of you have heard the name or have seen it in print many times. Allow me again to discuss it freely with you.

Many things contribute to the wide acclaim of a college's capacity to produce intelligent and able graduates. And nothing adds more to the acclaim and recognition of these graduates than their visible accomplishments. How then may we help our college and our future recognition of being capable and worthy of a responsible position? Of course the main thing is to be capable when we do graduate. But since we are now students, we should desire to do today as much as possible that which will enhance our chances of being more accomplished as graduates. At this point I again mention APOGEE. This student literary publication will be available, when finished, to alumni, students, faculty, administration, interested North Carolinians, and interested people anywhere wanting to know more about High Point College. This means of communication is too great to describe at length in this short article. Many people will be able to read first hand the literary and creative abilities of our college students. We can improve greatly our college's reputation as an academic institution. Many of you who are reading this article today have at one time or another attempted to create and express yourselves by writing. Possibly you have tried poetry, fiction, short stories, or book reviews of various styles. Whatever your interest, why not show the world how and what you think? Let us show all those who read this magazine that High Point College has as much talent as other institutions of learning. Why not express ourselves, we DO have something to say!

Dorm Contracts To Be Signed

The fraternities which tentatively accepted the offer were sent a letter this week from the Dean of Student Personnel asking them to contact their national headquarters and informing them that they would be asked to sign a contract shortly which included the stipulations under which they could rent their lounges.

There is an unconfirmed report that a collectively sponsored contract providing for some rights and privileges for the fraternities in the new dorm might be approved if it were handled through the IFC. This group is reported to be working on such an agreement.

Student Cheers New Dorm

By C. J. Neal

When the men return next fall
They will see and welcome, all,
This great structure standing tall.
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.
Crowded rooms have made them sick,
Walls were scarcely one inch thick,
O'er the beds' ends, feet would stick,
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.
Now the rooms so large will be,
But these rooms will not be free,
Williams asks a larger fee,
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.

How these men will live next year!
How each voice will rise in cheer,
Only drawback—still no beer,
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.
All alumni do their part,
Money coming from each heart,
Just one grant would make a start,
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.
Raise your glasses to the sky,
Raise your voices, clear and high,
"September, '63" our cry,
Hail to the new Men's Dorm.

Panthers Off To A Fine Start

By Larry Nolan

Pennsylvania is primarily a state known for producing some of the finest football players in the country, but here at HPC one may encounter some argument in favor of another sport. A few years ago the Panthers recruited a mighty fine basketball player in Joe Guzinski, and this year the "Quaker State" made another contribution to the cage squad in the person of Albert Guy Trombetta.

Al Trombetta

Al, who hails from the mill town of McKees Rocks, Pa., six miles from Pittsburgh, has played basketball throughout his entire youth. Upon entering Stowe High School, he continued his fine play and in his senior year was awarded the most valuable player trophy by his team mates. During his high school days Al played against a familiar name, Bucky Pope, present Catawba scoring ace.

In the fall of 1960, the "Little General" entered Shenandoah Junior College in Winchester, Virginia, on a basketball scholarship. In his freshmen year he was ninth in scoring in Region 15 of the junior college circuits of the United States with a 19.6 average. The following year Al captained the team and averaged 18 points per game. His fine play was seen by some of the members of the Washington, D. C. Chapter of the HPC Alumni Association and their recruiters for the college went into action. The rest is known. Al entered High Point this fall and has been the starting guard all season. He is the only cager who has scored double figures in every game, and at present, carries a 12 point scoring average.

"Troms," as he is known to his team mates, is a 20 year old junior majoring in physical education. At the conclusion of his college career Al plans to attend graduate school and receive his Masters degree enabling him to fulfill his desires to coach college basketball.

In commenting on the difference between junior college and four year basketball, Al stated, "The only real difference in his opinion is the fact that the overall caliber of the team personnel is better, consequently making the league tougher." He continued saying, "Where as in the junior college circuits, there may be only two or three real good teams, as compared to the sometimes five or six in the Carolina Conference."

Everyone by now is quite familiar to Al's antics on the basketball court, and many people take him for a cocky little clown. Fans couldn't be more wrong. This is the only way this little guy knows how to play the game, and that is to the hilt. Underneath his enlightening acts, "Troms" is all business, and this is the main thing he would like our students to realize. Since transferring to High Point, he has grown to like the college and the students very much, and oh yes, by the way, he LOVES the game of basketball.

Intramural Bowling

The Alley Report

By Ray Alley

After three weeks of both satisfaction and smothered cusses, it begins to look like that Alpha Phi Omega is the team to beat. Yet Delta Sigma Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Theta Chi are in hot pursuit of the leader.

There are still some satisfying stories, but there also is that familiar cry of "if I hadn't left that seven pin..." that leads one to believe everyone didn't bowl 200.

However, there were six bowlers who hit the two hundred column. They were Wayne Lewis, Larry Amick, Kenny Deal, Gossnell, Bob Brewer, and Hal Cohen.

On December 11, Lambda Chi won a victory over the Sig Eps. Lambda Chi was led by Joe Gossnell, while the top man for the Sig Eps was Steve Bowers.

In another game Alpha Phi Omega defeated Pi Kappa Alpha. Hal Cohen was the leader for Alpha Phi Omega, while Pete Hepler and Rex Connor shared high honors for Pi Kappa Alpha.

Theta Chi defeated the Comets in another contest. Joel Silvers led the winning Theta Chis while Larry Dunn sparked the Comets in a losing cause.

In the last contest of the afternoon, Delta Sigma Phi won easily over the Spartans. Delta Sigma Phi featured the highest game of the season with a total of 853. The high man in this game was Wayne Lewis with a 244. He was followed by Kenny Deal with a 235, Larry Amick with a 214, and Howard Barnes with a 160. Dave Fancher was the top man for the Spartans.

The Pin Busters did not bowl in competition, but were led by Bob Brewer and Dave Young as they totaled 1514 pins for the afternoon.

On December 18, Alpha Phi Omega won a decisive victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon. Hal Cohen and Orwin Shaw led the winners, while Ted Brazzel led the Sig Eps.

In the closest game of the afternoon the Delta Sigs defeated the Lambda Chis by the margin of only 61 pins. It was Pfeiffer 93-72. Big center Dale Neel hit his scoring peak with 29 points in this loosely played game.

The Panthers departed for the North after polishing Guilford, 91-72, on the Quakers home court. Coach Jerry Steele's boys kept the game close and the Panthers led by only 41-33 at the half. However, the Panthers broke loose in the second half and won the game going away. Kirk Stewart scored 25 for the Panthers and Elwood Parker led Guilford with 15 markers.

The Panthers journeyed to Catholic University in Washington, D. C. to give the D. C. area a look at the Panthers. Coach Quinn's boys responded with a 61-54 win. The next night the team went to Baltimore and defeated Baltimore University, giving the Panthers an overall record of 7-1 at holiday time.

but lost in the finals to Lenoir Rhyne, 65-61.

High Point opened the new year with a 64-49 win at Misenheimer over Pfeiffer. On January 5 the team broke up a tense contest with Catawba and won, 58-48. Al Trombetta put on a show for the Panther rooters and his unnerving antics startled the opposition. Al walked off the floor the high scorer for High Point with 17 points, his top performance of the year. Catawba's Bucky Pope scored 18 points in a losing cause.

The Intramural Volleyball season came to a close just before the beginning of the Christmas holidays. As the dust settled, we found that Pi Kappa Alpha was the new fraternity volleyball champ. Their championship was won when they defeated the Delta Sig's, who wound up tied for second with Theta Chi and Alpha Phi Omega. Sigma Phi Epsilon was fifth, while Lambda Chi wound up in the cellar.

In the Independent league the Faculty team easily won. In the playoff game between the Faculty and the Pika's on December 17, the Faculty defeated the Pika's by a score of 2-1 for the overall campus championship.

Below are the final standings in Volleyball plus the Point Distribution for Volleyball and the Total Distribution for volleyball and football.

Do you know the above? Many of you don't. These students are, in a way, special students. Special in the fact that they have left their homelands, have come to the United States to study, and out of the countless colleges and universities in our country, have picked High Point as their college home.

College campuses are the most common environment in which one may find a greater number of foreign students than normally found elsewhere. On a campus, one may obtain valuable information regarding other peoples, their customs, languages, philosophies, etc.—especially through personal contact with various foreign students.

For better understanding amongst nations, let's think of this closing world as one big neighborhood—strange as it may sound. Thus, let's not call our visitors, foreign students, but rather "neighboring" students. Following this idea then, we will live better in our neighborhood if we better understand our neighbors' problems, needs, and they themselves especially. To better understand our neighbors, we must communicate. Here, on our High Point campus, we have a marvelous opportunity to better our neighborhood on a small, but important scale. Our "neighboring" students would be willing and proud to share with us many of their ideas, customs, backgrounds, politics, and so on. But, we must realize that already many colleges have let down their "neighboring" students on their campuses across our land. Foreign students have actually been forced—with no other choice—to take back to their countries ill reports concerning the American students and of their non-concern for others and sometimes even of their hatred toward those "foreigners" who have "invaded" their campuses. Could this also happen here at High Point College? Yes, it could—if we let it. So, get acquainted, will you?

Teacher Applications For Exams Near

In the last contest of the afternoon, the independent teams were involved. The Spartans led by Dave Fancher and Bob Harris defeated the Pin Busters who were led by Bob Brewer and Dave Young. Another independent team, the Comets, did not bowl in competition, but were led by Larry Dunn and Winfred Lindley.

Future Expansion Program Proposed For HPC

The Long Range Planning Committee, with its various proposals for improvement, holds the future of High Point College in its hands. Mr. Allen, Director of Development, has revealed the following committee proposals in regard to the present improvement program of the college.

The proposed $2,000,000 expansion program includes a new woman's dormitory, a men's dormitory, which is now under construction, a religion building including a chapel, a new science building with the present one being used for classrooms, an infirmary, and an administration building.

The college accepts the responsibility of increasing faculty salaries 100 per cent over the next ten-year period.

By 1971, the facilities of High Point College will accommodate 1200 full-time students, excluding night school students and summer school students. The present out-of-state enrollment of 20 per cent will be increased to 25 per cent.

College Endowment will be increased to $6,000,000 including church support.

Student fees will be increased slightly over the next decade.

The committee recommended and the Board of Trustees approved a Development Council with at least 25 members to work with the Trustees and the Administration in implementing the long-range plans. The committee will review their plans and add to them in order to keep High Point College on the move.

Collegians Highlight MSM Conference

On the weekend of February 1, 2, 3, 19 of our students attended the Methodist Student Movement State Conference in Charlotte. Approximately 240 students, representing between 20 and 30 colleges throughout the state, were present at the conference. The main theme of the weekend was "Urban Culture and the Christian Conscience," dealing specifically with the question of whether the churches are letting the urban culture have a dominant effect on the Church, or if the Church is positively influencing the urban culture.

Jeanne Downs, a sophomore at the college, served as chairman of the State Conference. Another of our students, Susan Cooke, was in charge of the worship service on Friday night.

At the banquet on Friday night, the main speaker was Mr. Harry Golden, the nationally famous author and lecturer, and who is presently the editor of the Carolina Israelite. His topic was "Methodist and Social Action."

On Saturday night, Rev. J. Robert Reagan of Washington, D. C., of the staff of the Methodist Board of Christian Social Concern spoke to the group. Also during the session, two dramas were presented, one by the Wesley Players of Duke University, and the other by Pfeiffer College.

As entertainment during the east session, our High Point College "Collegians" sang several of their selections.

Also in attendance were some of the ministers from each of the cities containing colleges, in order to get an idea of how they can best serve in their own cities through the Church.

HPC Student Is TV Prize-Winner

Mrs. Athlene Payne Marlowe, a High Point College junior from Thomasville, is the new grand champion of the NBC television show "Say When."

Mrs. Marlowe, who has two children, won a car, a trip for two to the Virgin Islands, a fur coat, and many other items.

TEKE RETURNS TO HPC

Delta Kappa Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity was officially reactivated on the HPC campus January 28, 1963, by action of the Executive Committee of the Faculty at its regular meeting.

This action followed a petition by the four brothers who were eligible to continue membership according to their national headquarters and the Executive Committee.

Reactivation of Tau Kappa Epsilon also included a reorganization of the local chapter. New goals have been set up by the brothers, who pledged to the Executive Committee that their "... activities will be of the high caliber demanded by the college and the national fraternity.

Upon a motion by Ted Brazzell, President, the Interfraternity Council formally reinstated the local chapter into its organization. They will be allowed two IFC representatives.

Concerning reactivation of the Tekes, Dean of Students Jesse Taylor said last week, "This office is glad to welcome them back". He also went on to say, "We are looking forward to great things from this fraternity and from the others on campus".

Brothers of the Delta Kappa chapter stated, "TKE feels that we got excellent cooperation from the Administration, especially from the Dean of Students office."

As of this writing, Delta Kappa chapter has five brothers. They include the President, Ron McElhannon; Secretary and Historian, George Beam; Treasurer, Bob Sullivan; Sergeant at Arms and Chaplain, Larry Nolan; Pledge Master, and Phil Garrison. All of these were the brothers who reorganized the chapter except Bob Sullivan who was not a brother at the time the charter was revoked in February of 1962.

This fraternity is eligible for rush this semester, and will be trying hard to make a successful comeback. It has been pledged both financial and field representative support by the fraternity national headquarters, according to George Beam.

For the time being, the Tekes will have their local headquarters in H section of McCulloch Hall. The old Teke section is now occupied by Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. Teke brothers announced that they will seek a lounge in the new dorm, and that their national headquarters will provide financial aid if they are able to obtain a lounge. Dean Taylor stated that the Tekes would be in the same order of priority as Pi Kappa Alpha if a vacancy were to occur in a fraternity lounge.

Dr. William P. Matthews has been selected as faculty advisor to the local chapter, and possibly one other member of the faculty will be selected to assist him, according to Ron McElhannon, President. McElhannon stated that the Tekes are proud that Dr. Matthews has consented to be their advisor and that they look forward to working with him.

Since this chapter of TKE was disbanded in February, 1962, by action of the Executive Committee for an indefinite period, there have been inquiries and investigations by the Teke national headquarters. During first semester of this year, the Teke brothers petitioned the Executive Committee for reactivation of their charter, but the request was denied. However, upon presentation of the second petition last week, the organization was immediately reinstated.

Greetings Alumni!

The staff of the Hi-Po would like to take this opportunity to join with the administration, faculty, and the students of the college in welcoming the alumni back to the corridors and buildings where they once laughed and learned. It is our hope that you will enjoy your visit to the fullest. In some cases, years have elapsed since your last day on the campus, but your place in the family of High Point College has always remained.

Homecoming is the one time in the year when the students have a chance to fraternize with the graduates of the College. It is also the time to meet old friends, exchange comments, and recall some of the memories of the years gone by. It is the time when the alumni can recall for themselves some of the incidents which occurred during their four years on the campus.

We would also like to extend a special invitation to the alumni to visit some of the organizations in which they were active, such as the SGA, the SCA, the Zenith, and the Hi-Po. In all the organizations on campus, there will be members waiting anxiously for you to talk with them about their new duties and accomplishments. For this day, more than any other time, the College is the Alumni's and we hope that this day will be a very eventful day for all of the alumni of High Point College.

Zodiacs, Game, Dance Spotlight Homecoming

Saturday, February 9, marks the date of HPC's annual Homecoming celebration, brought about mainly through the efforts of the Alumni Association and on the behalf of and for the benefit of the alumni.

Tremendous amounts of work have gone into the preparation of a very exciting program by members of the Alumni Association as well as the present HPC student body and administration-faculty.

Beginning at 10:00 a.m. (classes having been concluded for the day) the Alumni Office will hold open house, and guided tours showing proposed building sites, etc. will be conducted from the student center where the alumni will also be expected to sign in.

Faculty and students will battle out their differences at the 11:00 a.m. Faculty-Student basketball game.

After lunch, from 1:00-3:00 p.m., the entire campus will observe open house. During this time alumni will be able to visit former professors and organizations to which they belonged, as well as being able to find out the purpose, etc., of the new ones. Displays made by fraternities and sororities will be judged then, also.

Dr. and Mrs. Patton will welcome the visitors at the President's Reception for Alumni to be held at the Patton home (821 W. College Drive) from 2:30-4:30 p.m.

To aid in rebuilding the Alumni's school spirit, a Bonfire and Pep Rally will be held on the athletic field from 4:30-5:30 (subject to change) during which time a supper will be served to the present student body, followed by the Alumni Dinner and program featuring Dr. Patton as speaker and presentation of the Alumni awards.

Preceding the Homecoming basketball game (HPC Purple Panthers vs. Appalachian Mountaineers) the alumni will demonstrate the skills of the game in their scheduled 7:00-7:30 p.m. game. The Homecoming Queen selected from a court of ten lovely young girls will be crowned during the half-time ceremonies. These girls are Linda Cassimus, Joan Gale, Gigi McGee, C. J. Neal, Gayle Nichols, Dena Pegram, Kay Thompson, Judie Warlick, Diane Westmoreland, and Peggy Wiley.

The eventful day will be climaxed by the Alumni-Student dance, which will be held in Harrison Hall upon conclusion of the game.

YDC Chapter Captures Awards

On January 12, 1963, the State Democratic leaders met in the city of Goldsboro, North Carolina for the purpose of installing their state officers. For the first time in many years, two college students captured state posts, and were duly installed. Miss Anne Francis Allen of East Carolina College was installed as state secretary and Norman Scott Callahan of High Point College was installed as State Treasurer.

At the time of this meeting, High Point College was singled out for two outstanding honors. The High Point College Chapter was chosen as the most outstanding college chapter in the state of North Carolina for the year 1962. The reason for the chapter's success was brought about by the speakers programs of last year.

Mr. Norman Callahan also received an award and an honorable mention as one of the three outstanding young Democrats in the state.

Whitely Chosen For College Board

Miss Louise E. Whitely, a High Point College senior, has been chosen to represent HPC this year on Mademoiselle Magazine's National College Board. Miss Whitely is the News Editor of the Hi-Po; Copy Editor of the Zenith; a Student Senator; a member of the "Collegians;" and former Business Manager of the Hi-Po.

The annual College Board Competition is designed for women students with talent in art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion, and advertising.

As a member of the Board, Miss Whitely will report news from the college to Mademoiselle and is eligible to compete for one of the twenty Guest Editorships that will be awarded by the magazine in May. To win, she must submit a second entry to show her specific aptitude for magazine work.

The winners of the Guest Editorships will be brought to New York for the month of June to help edit, write, and illustrate Mademoiselle's August college issue. They will share offices with the magazine's editors; advise the staff on campus trends; and represent the magazine on visits to publishing houses, stores and advertising agencies. They will be photographed for the college issue, and will be considered for future positions with the magazine.

As a special bonus, the Guest Editors last year were flown to Rome, where they spent five days attending fashion shows, visiting art galleries, sight-seeing, and going to parties in their honor.

Oops, I Goofed

In writing this editorial, I neglected to get the full facts from Dean Taylor. I stated that the student had to put the High Point College sticker back on his car, but neglected to say that he was told that he could put it on with scotch tape. I am sorry for this mistake and I hope that there are no hurt feelings.

"IFC Weakness"

Recently a fraternity on campus was charged before the Interfraternity Council with "dirty rush". While there was some evidence that the charge was well-founded, action was dropped by the IFC because of a "lack of evidence".

We do not question the ruling of the IFC on its decision. However, we have carefully scrutinized the Constitution and Bylaws of the IFC, and, to put it mildly, we were not particularly impressed with the effectiveness of this document. It is very general and in some cases ambiguous. Its terminology is such that anyone who was not present when it was drawn up would have difficulty understanding what conditions were intended. For example, the word "party" is not defined so that it is clear what constitutes a fraternity party. Also, there is actually no definition of what constitutes illegal rush except for the provision in Article VIII, Section One, that "all charges of infractions of rushing rules may be submitted to the Interfraternity Council". The rushing rules mentioned here are merely the outlined procedures for carrying out the official rush periods. They do not define illegal rush or set up any standards by which rush procedures may be judged.

We talked to Ted Brazzell, President of the IFC, who feels that the constitution is unduly weak on this point. He has recommended that it be strengthened, but no action has been taken by the IFC.

We feel that the hands of the IFC are tied as long as it operates under such a vague, impotent document as its present constitution and bylaws. We have no opinion to express on the case which was recently aired, we merely want to point out the fact that to fulfill the aims of the IFC, as set up in the Preamble to the Constitution, there is a great need for revision and clarification of the Constitution and Bylaws.

"It's Time for Political Action"

Hello, Bob Clark! Goodbye, Len Lewin! This was the banner of the HI-PO only a few short months ago. However, it is only a matter of weeks until we will be replacing Bob Clark and the rest of the SGA officers. Who will succeed them?

At the present time there are only one or two people who have officially announced their candidacy. We certainly hope that there we are willing to accept the responsibility and work it takes to always griping about the way the school is run. Why don't YOU do something about it. Unless there are a number of darkhorses, the coming campaign gives all indications of being a dull one.

We certainly can't have a strong student government unless we are willing to accept the responsibility and work it takes to make it strong. Every single student on campus should become actively involved in the campaign either as a candidate, campaign manager, or voluntary worker. Competition produces quality, and if we have a high-quality group of campus leaders next year, we can have a progressive SGA.

The staff of the HI-PO this year plans to enter into campus politics for a change, and to support a slate of candidates—not on the basis of their popularity, but on the basis of their ability and expression of desire to work.

We challenge you, the student body, to begin thinking and working toward these elections now. Your responsibility is greater than merely voting. You must also participate in the nominating process in order to begin to fulfill your responsibility.

"To Set the Record Straight"

Several members of sororities have mentioned to this writer that the HI-PO was incorrect in its statements in last issue concerning sororities' participation in public service projects. They referred to the editorial entitled "A Request".

Evidently these people misunderstood the intention of the article, possibly because of a poor selection of words by this writer. My intention was not to criticize sororities, fraternities, or other campus organizations, but rather to congratulate them on what had been done, and to urge them to go even further in the future. No one is perfect, but perfection is a goal to work toward.

The editorial staff feels that such misunderstandings might have had some direct relationship to the fact that there was no Greek Column in that issue of the paper. The Greek Column had to be left out because the short time between the return from vacation and the printer's deadline did not permit us to collect, edit, and write up the information.

We are not anti-Greek. Please do not misunderstand what we try to say. The fact that we reserve the right to criticize Greeks or any other group when we feel that they deserve it does not mean that we are anti-Greek.

Letters To The Editor

Writer Defends Patton's Policy

In the last HI-PO an article appeared pertaining to the new dorm and the so-called pressure the administration is putting on fraternities to accept a lounge in it. As the writer of this article pointed out, most of this criticism is only based on heresay with no actual facts reported. It has always been my understanding that an article of this type should be written on facts, and not rumors, that are heard around campus. Since it doesn't seem to be the policy of the writer of the article in question to search out the facts I feel that these facts should be presented to the student body.

The article stated that fraternities were to be charged $500.00 rental of the lounge each nine month school year. The fact left out was the reason for this charge. The new dorm is being built through the aid of a federal loan. Due to this the college is required by federal law to show that each foot of that dorm is being rented out. The charge of five hundred dollars is the least amount the college can charge under this federal law.

As far as the administration pressuring the fraternities into accepting these lounges, this is not only a false statement, but an unjust one. It is not for the benefit of Dr. Patton, or any of the administration that the fraternities on this campus should finally get a decent chance for survival. The fact of the matter is that Dr. Patton has stuck his neck out more than once in the past two years to help fraternities acquire adequate housing. Last year this was in the form of lodges, and this year it is in the form of lounges.

When Dr. Patton presented this idea to the Board of Trustees, it met with complete opposition. It was only through his continued effort that he was able to convince the trustees to give it a try, leaving himself completely responsible. He accepted this responsibility only because he felt he would have the backing of the fraternities.

It has been brought to the attention of every fraternity on this campus that this will be the last chance for adequate facilities. Whether the fraternities accept these facilities is immaterial to the administration, for these proposed lounges could just as easily be built into dormitory rooms, therefore providing a higher income. It is my opinion that the concern of the administration is not that of making a profit off the fraternities, but the survival of them.

The facilities that the fraternities now have are rotten. Here is a chance, the last chance, for fraternities to raise the standards they possess. Not only living conditions, but in every other manner.

It is the feeling of my fraternity that we know this raising of standards is needed. We want the facts known and understood by the student body. We are not being forced into anything, but appreciate the effort that the administration has gone to in order that we may have adequate housing. It is our hope that all Greeks on this campus will develop this attitude and join with us to make a strong interfraternity world at High Point College.

Dave Culler.

Librarian Stresses Library Attendance

The Library, in cooperation with the English Department, is initiating a new approach this spring semester to our method of acquainting the freshmen students with the Library. We are, in effect, adding to the Freshman English course, instruction in library use. It goes without saying, when secondary schools provide a place in the curriculum for library instruction, the level of college instruction in that field will be raised.

This course in library instruction is to be related to actual library use through the assignment by the instructors in Freshman English of a term paper, with stress on a bibliography. Each Freshman English student is to choose a subject in which he is interested and with the study of each group of reference books, the card catalog, and periodical indexes, he is to search for material on his subject. This, it is believed, will give meaning to the library instruction and do away with the assignment of isolated "problems".

It is our aim to teach all freshmen to efficiently and effectively use libraries. "Books are a doorway to knowledge"—we want to make this doorway readily accessible. We believe this aim is not only desirable but also a must. We are constantly hearing from persons who have visited Russia of the great stress they (the Russians) are placing on books and learning. As far back as 1956, Mr. Frank Glenn, a Kansas City, Missouri, bookseller, made a trip to Russia for the purpose of finding out how the Russians were using books. With what result? Mr. Glenn was convinced that the Russians were making use of the most powerful weapon in the world, the printed book. He saw books everywhere and he saw them being used—serious books were popular—bookstores were busy. He went on to say that besides the Lenin Library in Moscow with a holding of some 17 million bound volumes, there are some 200 other libraries in Moscow! From this, one gets an idea of the importance that the Russians attach to books. Many persons have gone to Russia since 1956, including the President of High Point College, and invariably they have brought back the same impression, "Russia considers the mind as a thing more important than the muscle".

We would like to have a part in the reinstatement of the "disciplines of excellence", and this joint effort with the English Department is designed to bring students and books together.

Sincerely yours,
Miss Marcella Carter
Librarian

By Charles Nesbitt

In order to be at our best we must naturally put forth effort. And preparing to be at our best is definitely a purpose of the college education. Not only should we strive for a useful knowledgeable background, but we should also achieve sound healthy bodies. Personally, I wish that many colleges would require four years of physical education. I myself can feel the difference after a semester of no regular physical activity. Self discipline naturally aids in the building of a better person; but I realize that present day college students seem to overlook the importance of sound bodies as well as sound mental activities.

At present I am taking a grand Home Economics course (in addition of course to my regular major!) At first I was hesitant to sign up for a Home Economics course but now I am very pleased that I did. This course reminds me again and again of the importance of eating well balanced meals and keeping up with my health as well as academics.

President Kennedy has a good point in his stressing the importance of physical fitness. It is surprising how much better one feels after suitable exercise and proper meals. I hope that the country takes his suggestions with considerable exuberance.

For several summers I have had the experience of working in an excellent mental hospital. As an attendant, I learned much about the importance of a physically active body in relation to a healthy and active mind. Many patients had actually forgotten that play and recreation are significant in developing a mature well-adjusted individual. This hospital had many forms of physical exercise and fresh air activities in order to give to the patient a proper environment for the building of a sound body and a healthy mind.

As I try to improve, won't you join me? Let's face it, when we feel good physically, our outlook is a lot clearer and we become more cheerful and happier.

GREEK NEWS

By Robin Reese

Rush is now the big word in Greek circles. Congratulations are in order to all the new sorority pledges, and our sympathy goes out to all the freshmen who are trying to choose a fraternity. The indecision and anxiety will soon be over and you will be initiated into the world of Greek letter organizations. The fraternities welcome back into the ranks an old friend and rival. The fraternity system at H.P.C. is now returned to full strength with six national fraternities, and the Tau Kappa Epsilon sign will soon hang with the others on fraternity row.

Three fraternities recently initiated new brothers. Larry Amick, Wayne Burris, Dr. Cole, Riley Fields, Lloyd Harvey, and Bob Jessup were initiated into Delta Sigma Phi; Steve Montague, Jim Stevens, Wayne Webster, Joel Silver, and Jim Kennedy were initiated into Theta Chi; and Jim Broos, Bruce Idol, Ken Lawson, Jerry Frye, Dave Whitlock, Charlie Sellers, and Walt Carricker were initiated into Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Theta Chi announces two new pledges, Brien McIntosh and Jerry Williams, and Sigma Phi Epsilon announces one new pledge, Fred Schraplau.

The ice on the ground isn't the only ice to be seen lately. The following engagements have been recently announced: Marilyn Zoellar, Phi Mu, to Jack Mahan, Pi Kappa Alpha; Mary Lou Troutman, Phi Mu, to Harold Moose, Lambda Chi Alpha; Jean Young, Zeta Tau Alpha, to Bill Treverrow, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Georgianna Hardin, Alpha Gamma Delta, to Ron McElhannon, Tau Kappa Epsilon; and Pat Phillips, Zeta Tau Alpha, to Tom Bivens, Theta Chi. Other developments in the boy-girl relations on campus are the following: Gayle Nichols, Alpha Gamma Delta, is pinned to Sonny Chisholm, Lambda Chi Alpha; Dee-dee DeCarion, Phi Mu, is pinned to Charles Van Hook, Pi Kappa Alpha; and Sue Lynne Rothrock, Phi Mu, is pinned to Don Cashion, Lambda Chi Alpha. Theta Chi and Alpha Gamma Delta serenaded Tony Taylor and Betty White on February 1.

Nineteen Girls Pledge Sororities

On February 2, 19 girls pledged sororities on this campus. Kappa Delta Sorority pledged seven girls; Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority pledged five girls; Phi Mu Sorority pledged four girls; and Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority pledged three girls.

Pledging KD were Fran Freeman, Bev Berger, Sue Carroll Foust, Joan Gale, Sterling

Banks, Kenny Boggs, and Sandra Hargrove.

Linda Roberts, Kay Robbs, Wynne McGregor, Karen Clodfelter, and Ellen Seiss pledged Alpha Gammas.

Phi Mu pledged Judy Armstrong, Mary Ruth Corder, Katy Mims, and Myra Morris.

Fran DeSiati, Judy Richardson, and Nan Brown pledged the Zetas.

Panthers Golden Reserve

By Bergie Hatcher

The only Southerner on the High Point College basketball team hails from Concord, North Carolina. Charles Samuel Byers is a golden-haired, 21-year old transfer student who is Coach Tom Quinn's choice as top guard reserve for this year's Panthers. Sam came to the Panthers squad this year after completing two years of college basketball for Wingate Junior College.

Sam Byers

Sam attended high school in his native Concord at Concord High. As a member of the basketball team, Sam was all-conference and all-tournament for three years. His scoring average ranged from 14-16 points per game. In football, Byers was all-conference and all-state. The lanky end had his top football thrill by being named to the Shrine Bowl football squad his senior year.

At Wingate, Sam alternated between forward and guard position on the cage squad. Among his many honors were berths on the all-tournament and all-conference teams. Sam's overall scoring average was 14.1. In addition to basketball and his many scholastic duties, Sam managed to play one year of football while at Wingate.

Sam has this to say about High Point College: "I like the student body and I am grateful to be playing basketball here. I believe that this year's Panthers have all the material they need to go all the way. I definitely think that we will be conference champs and win the tournament. We lost a good ballplayer, Dale Neel, but Bill Fallin has come into his own recently. There is no reason why we shouldn't win the tournament."

The "hatchet man", as his teammates call him in practice, has this to say about new Coach Tom Quinn: "Coach Quinn is a real fine fellow in addition to being a great basketball coach. Although I find him a bit hard to understand at times, I respect his basketball knowledge of the game to the fullest extent of the degree. He is a real student of the game."

Sam is studying for a B.S. degree in physical education, with a minor in science. After graduation, Sam plans to teach and coach at the high school level. He has a solid "C" average and belongs to the Methodist Church.

In his leisure time, Sam likes to watch the late show with his roommate Al Trombetta. According to Al, "Sam's the best roommate I ever had."

Intramural Bowling The Alley Report

By Ray Alley

After five weeks of intermural action the Alpha Phi Omega bowlers are in first place. They hold only a slight edge of 2 points over the Spartans, and 2½ points over the Lambda Chi's and Delta Sig's. While they have bowled their way to the top with fine performances by all members, the A.P.O.'s will probably find the rest of the way rocky. This will be due to the loss of Hal Cohen, who was their leading bowler with a 177.6 average. Cohen transferred at semester break and left a big gap in their ranks. The question now is can they find a man to take his place?

Should the A.P.O.'s falter there are three teams eager to leap into that first place slot. The Spartans are the closest to catching up, but they have very little breathing room themselves. The Spartans are an independent team and are led by two fine freshmen bowlers, Dave Fancher and Bob Harris. They have good overall balance and from past games it appears that they will be tough to beat. However, the Spartans are not challenging alone. In fact, they hold only a half a point over two teams that could win it all. Tied for third place are the Lambda Chi's, led by Joe Gosnell, and the Delta Sig's, led by Ken Deal. Gosnell is leading the league with a 178.4 average, and he is followed by Deal, who slipped to 173.9. The Lambda Chi's have been getting good games from Dick Reuman and Rick Grimsley and they could be tough the rest of the way. The Delta Sig's have bowled well all along

Homecoming Preview

Its homecoming time again and the High Point Panthers are ready to square off against the Appalachian Mountaineers tonight at 8:00 in Alumni Gymnasium. The Panthers will be sporting a 17-4 won and lost record when action starts tonight. However, the Panthers do not expect an easy time of it.

Appalachian is still smarting from a 61-48 walloping in Boone earlier this season. In this contest, Dale Neel led the Panthers in scoring with 14 points. All five of the Panther starters hit double figures.

Coach Bob Light of Appy has been getting balanced scoring from Wayne Duncan and Jim Richardson, plus fine playmaking from guards Doug Wall and Jack Lytton. The Mountaineers also have better bench strength than they had when the season opened.

Fallin, McGreevy, Replace Ned

The current 17-4 record of the High Point College basketball team is one of the best in the school's history. Despite the fact that the Panthers lost big center Dale Neel because of scholastic difficulties, the present 11-2 Conference mark is good enough for first place honor at this time.

One of the biggest helps to the Panthers win streak has been the fine job of Bill Fallin has done in Neel's place. Fallin rebounding and defensive play has played an important role in the Panthers wins over Elon and Atlantic Christian.

Credit must also be given to Richard McGreevy, who spells Fallin when he gets in foul trouble. Richard, who didn't play first semester, is a top-notch rebounder and fine defensive player. He also has an uncanny knack for passing.

The Panthers play five more games before heading for the tournament at Lexington February 20-23.

THE CURSE OF THE CAMPUS: NO. 1

Hate me if you will, but I must speak. We college types are far too complacent. Sure, we've got plenty to be proud of. We've got atom smashers, we've got graduate schools, we've got new peaks in scholarship, new highs in academic honors. And yet, in the midst of these triumphs, we have failed dismally to make any progress in solving the oldest and most horrendous of all campus problems: we've still got roommates.

To be sure, all roommates are not bad. There is the well-documented case of Hilquit Glebe, a student at the Manhattan College of Agriculture, majoring in curds and whey, who admitted publicly that he actually liked his roommate—an odd admission when you consider that this roommate, Mervis Trunz by name, was frankly not too winsome a fellow. He practiced his tympani in his room, he kept an alligator, and he collected airplane tires.

But, on the other hand, Mervis bought two packs of Marlboro Cigarettes every day and gave one of them to Hilquit and—I ask you—who can stay mad at a man who gives you Marlboro Cigarettes? Who, upon tasting that flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, upon drawing through that pure white Marlboro filter, upon exulting in this best of all possible cigarettes, Marlboro—who, I say, can harden his heart against his neighbor? Certainly not Hilquit. Certainly not I. Certainly not you, as you will find when you scurry to your nearest tobacconist and buy a supply. Marlboros come in soft pack or Flip-Top Box. Tobacconists come in small, medium, and large.

Today Molly is Paying off her debt...

But I digress. Roommates, I say, are still with us and I fear they always will be, so we better learn how to get along with them. It can be done, you know. Take, for instance, the classic case of Dolly Pitcher and Molly Madison.

Dolly and Molly, roommates at a prominent Midwestern girls' school (Vassar) had a problem that seemed insoluble. Dolly could only study late at night, and Molly could not stay awake past nine o'clock. If Dolly kept the lights on, the room was too bright for Molly to sleep. If Molly turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Dolly to study. What to do?

Well sir, those two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got a miner's cap for Dolly! Thus, she had enough light to study by, and still the room was dark enough for Molly to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this solution, ingenious as it was, had some unexpected sequelae. Dolly got so enchanted with her miner's cap that she switched her major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation she had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, she discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Dolly very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar. Today Dolly, a broken woman, squeezes out a meagre living making echoes for tourists in Mammoth Cave.

Nor has Molly fared conspicuously better. Once Dolly got the miner's hat, Molly was able to catch up on her long-lost sleep. She woke after eight days, refreshed and vigorous—more vigorous, alas, than she realized. It was the afternoon of the annual Dean's tea. Molly stood in line with her classmates, waiting to shake the Dean's hand. At last her turn came, and Molly, full of strength and health, gave the Dean a firm handshake—so firm, indeed, that all five of the Dean's knuckles were permanently fused.

The Dean sued for a million dollars, and, of course, won. Today Molly, a broken woman, is paying off her debt by walking the Dean's cat every afternoon for ten cents an hour.

We, the makers of Marlboro and the sponsors of this column, will not attempt to expertize about roommates. But we will tell you about a great pocket or purse mate—Marlboro Cigarettes—fine tobacco, fine filter, fine company always.

We Must Pay For Entertainment

By Fred Winters

Why do we have to pay for entertainment?

The above question is posed to me several times a week as I ambulate around our gorgeous campus in my confused state. Now, don't misunderstand me. It's not that I don't love to answer questions, for discoursing in a most expeditious and frequently ambiguous manner is one of my most characteristic pastimes. It's the repetition, however, that jangles my nerves and causes me to undergo fits of unsystemized delusions! Why, three nights ago I awakened with a start, being the victim of a most terrifying nightmare in which I had been dreaming, as you might expect, that someone asked me, "Why do we have to pay for entertainment when we pay a student activity fee?" Following this night of terrifying experience, I took the advice of my somewhat more stable roommate, and a world renowned "head-shrinker" who informed me that I was suffering from a severe case of hebephrenic schizophrenia. Now, if you don't think that hearing a name like that didn't "scare the pants off me," you've got another thought coming! My immediate reaction was that my friends wouldn't accept me in the present high society of High Point College if they ever found out that I belong in the "booby-hatch!" Pondering upon this burdensome outlook, I reserved to make my comeback without revealing my true nature to my friends (my roommate doesn't even know, he'll probably move out when he reads this article). My doctor's orders were that I should not answer any more questions. However, so as not to get the reputation of being a snob (a fate worse than being a nut), I shall attempt at the risk of going berserk, to solve, once and for all, that mystery which has brought this burden upon my soul.

You, as a High Point College student pay $18.00 per academic year to a student activity fee. Aha, you clever students have jumped a step ahead of me by multiplying this fee by the approximately 1200 students enrolled in our delightful institution, thereby coming to the conclusion that we have approximately $21,000 per year (my mental disorders haven't yet hindered my calculating ability). Surely, this seems like more than enough to sponsor excellent entertainment, but allow me to again jump a step ahead of you by relating you to page 21 of the 1962-63 Student Handbook. There one will find an accurate list (confirmed by Trombetta) of the disbursements which his $18.00 undergoes before the remainder is bequeathed to the SGA. It will come as a surprise, I'm sure, for you to find that of the $18.00 you shell out, only $4.00 is allotted to the SGA. Dividing this into semesters, the SGA is allotted $2.00 per person or $24.00.

By developing an excellent budget and by maintaining that budget in a frugal manner, John Ward in his role as the SGA Treasurer has been able to allocate $1200 per semester for the purposes of entertainment. Keeping this figure in mind, let me list the expenditures for entertainment this semester: Homecoming weekend including a dance with Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs — $800; Peter, Paul, and Mary Concert — $2500; Spring weekend and including The Four Preps and The Fabulous Five — $2600; and two or three small dances plus publicity expenses add — $100. A little quick addition would reveal that the entertainment budget calls for $6,000; — $4,800 above the assigned $1200. Need I say any more?

You may ask who wanted expensive entertainment, so let me remind you of the poll held in November during an assembly period, in which 83% of the student body was in favor of paying extra for good entertainment rather than having poor entertainment at no cost (i.e. this years Miss HPC Ball). Also on that same poll, was a list of 35 entertainment groups from which the student body was asked to choose its favorite three, numbering them 1 to 3 in order of preference. As a result, Peter, Paul, and Mary were second most popular and the Four Preps seventh in popularity. Number one was the Kingston Trio and third was Ray Charles. Excellent support of this semester's program could bring these two groups to the campus next year!

I hope now that I have cleared up any bone of contention concerning entertainment that may have been lingering deep in the back of anyone's mind, so . . . please don't ask me that question any more. And . . . please support your SGA entertainment functions this semester. I am well on the road to recovery and I wouldn't want a relapse of my hallucinations. My friends might find out this time!

An Address To The Students

Election time is here again! The Executive Council of the Student Government Association would like to remind you of the importance to elect qualified persons. If you do not plan to run for an office, at least take the time to go vote; the Student Government organization depends on you!

In order to run for an office, you must have a petition of 100 signatures turned into the Executive Council by February 15. Campaign speeches will be given on February 27; voting will be held on March 5 and 6 in the Student Center. No publicity will be permitted before the date of February 22. The person elected will accept the duty in assembly on March 14.

Looking into the schedule, the Council reminds you of the assembly of February 13 in which the administration and a faculty panel will answer any questions you, the students, have concerning the present policies of High Point College. Please ask questions; this is a good opportunity.

RELIGION-IN-LIFE

DAYS

'Waiting' Is Theme of Religious Week

Perhaps waiting is the theme of every generation; we are continually waiting for SOMETHING—a rush of activities to be completed, a test we can hardly wait to "get off", marriage, graduation, a new opportunity. Waiting, waiting, waiting, this word WAITING . . . and its ensuing idea is to be the theme of the Religion-in-Life Days, which are holding March 6, 7, and 8 on the calendar.

Rev. Mel Harbin, appealing minister of Memorial Methodist Church in Thomasville and a member of the High Point College Board of Trustees, is to be the principal personality in the three-day event. The initiation occurs Wednesday, March 6 during the assembly hour when dancers and sound-producers reveal the content of "The Clue", a contemporary poem by David C. Rich. This precedes a short talk to be executed by Mr. Harbin, who declares that he, too, was once a college student who was compelled to attend assemblies.

The evening of March 6 carries brain-tickling events. Discussion groups led by very prominent, exciting, young community leaders will be held in the dormitories and in the Student Center, unraveling the implications of the theme.

Thursday afternoon, March 7, a most unusual and entertaining hour-long movie, "The Mystery of Time" will be shown in the Student Center. This $350 film demonstrates, in an especially delightful manner, the relativity of time. Following the showing of the film, Dr. Wilson of the Physics Department will deliver a short lecture concerning the basic components of the theory of relativity.

Mr. Harbin will speak again in the Student Center Thursday evening. Although the actual topic of his talk is not definite at this time, Mr. Harbin will not only discuss the futility of our waiting but also the immediate response of ourselves to that for which we are waiting.

Friday evening's activities are to climax the Days. A unique program has been developed for you fusing the works of Biblical authors, Shakespeare, contemporary playwrights, modern poets and campus expressionists into an unusually presented program. This presentation is to be immediately followed by and climaxed by a non-conventional type of communion service with the program set becoming the table.

This representation of man's total engulfment within the swallowing network of waiting that he has created for himself has been chosen to be the symbol of the Religion-in-Life Days.

Endless hours of thought and sweat have gone into the planning and development of these days. Your response makes attempts not made in vain. We are waiting. . . .

Nine Tapped To Order Of Lamp

Nine HPC students were inducted Wednesday morning into the Order of The Lighted Lamp, the honor society of High Point College. Tapped into membership were Manuel Wortman, Winfred Lindley, Sandra Light, Linda Ferran, and Anne Surratt. Also, Linda Craven, Bob Kornegay, Carrie Whitehurst, and Larry Nolan.

Taking part in the program were Dr. Wendell M. Patton, President of the College; Dean Harold Conrad, Academic Dean; and current members of the Order. These students were Robert Clark, Patti Collier, Francis Dail, Marilyn Floyd, Georgianna Hardin, and Gloria Teague. Also, Natalie Tunstall, Sandra Hooks Walls, and John Ward.

Dr. Charles D. White of the First Methodist Church in Asheboro was guest speaker. He is a High Point College graduate, and member of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, in which he has held many positions. Dr. White spoke on the callings of life, emphasizing imagination, evaluation, and consecration in life situations.

Current faculty sponsor of the Order is Dr. Dan Cooke of the Education Department.

Local APO Chapter Hosts Regional Conference

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity will conduct a sectional conference in the City of High Point at the Sheraton Hotel and on the HPC campus, March 1, 2, and 3. Attending this conference will be APO chapters from North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia with the HPC chapter members serving as the host fraternity.

A tentative program has been planned to provide the attending fraternity brothers with experiences of making new friends, sharing ideas, and gaining new concepts of leadership and service.

Friday evening is reserved for registration and fellowship of conference attendants.

Ward Receives UNC Grant

The Committee on Research Grants of the North Carolina Academy of Science announced this week that John Ward, Jr., a senior biology major at High Point College, is the recipient of an undergraduate research grant in the amount of $100. The purpose of the award is to stimulate interest in research at an undergraduate level. Ward has been working on a project in plant physiology concerning the effects of growth substances on bush beans. The title of his recent seminar report was "A Comparison of the Effects of 2, 4-D, Maleic Hydrazide, and Two Derivatives

However, Saturday will prove the big day.

Beginning at 9:00 a.m. an informal musical program is planned at which the Collegians will be among those asked to perform. Also, campus tours will be conducted.

At the opening luncheon, 12:30 p.m. at the Sheraton Hotel, Dr. Patton will deliver the welcoming address, Joseph Scanlon, National Executive Secretary, the key-note address.

Beginning at 2:30 p.m. and running through 4:00 p.m., there will be two series of workshops organized for the purpose of exchanging ideas with other APO chapter members and leaders.

William S. Roth, past National President, will deliver the address at the Leadership Banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The Friendship Ball will commence the activities of the day. The Collegians have also been asked to entertain during intermission.

On Sunday morning all APO chapter presidents will breakfast with the retiring National President, William S. Roth. Afterwards, worship services will be observed in Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church and Memorial Auditorium. The latter service will be conducted by Dr. Weir, chaplain of VMI and assisted by Dr. Locke of HPC.

A planning and training group session at 10:00 a.m. will conclude the activities of the conference.

Across The Desk....

"No Entrance"

Last week, the Tower Players decided that they would not produce the play, "No Exit," because they could not get "four students" to take the parts in the play.

The reasons for this failure of the students to participate in a play of this type are many and I will try to cover a few of them. In the first place, the play is an extremely difficult one and thus it requires talented actors and actresses, of which there are very few on this campus. Second, the Tower Players have fallen in esteem ever since the production of "Guys and Dolls," except for their work in cooperation with the Student Christian Association on the "Prophecy of Amos." The students, thus, seem more willing to put time and effort into a musical, than into a comedy or a serious play. Thirdly, the students who are qualified to put on a play of this type do not have the time to put into a play of this type.

These are some of the many reasons that members of the Tower Players say seem to explain the answer why there is no support for their spring production. This reporter, in talking to one of the members, asked if he had any ideas to what could be done in the future. He stated, that if the college installed a major or minor in dramatics, that he felt that this situation could be improved. Thus, he feels that these drama students would be more interested in the play and, thus, would play a better role. Yet there still is that possibility of getting those students who try out for a role in a play only because they are taking this professor for a course and, thus they feel they should or else they will not receive a good mark.

There are also many other solutions given to the problem, but as of yet there will be no spring play this year. Perhaps in the fall of next year, the Tower Players will again resume, but as of this writing the Tower Players have found "No Entrance."

—H.A.B.

"We Want The Facts, Sir"

The assembly program of February 13 in which the administration officials answered students' questions was carried out in an orderly, efficient manner. We of the staff feel that this type of program is a definite move in the right direction. We feel that not only do students have the right to know what is going on around the campus, but also that anything which improves communications between faculty, administration, and students at HPC is definitely to the advantage of everyone concerned. While we do have some reservations as to the effectiveness of last week's assembly, we feel that it provides a starting point for a better faculty-student-administration relationship.

This writer has come to the personal conclusion that the lack of communications between the various groups on campus is the chief source of a large quantity of the friction which exists between the students and faculty or administration. Just as a mold thrives in darkness, so does rumor and misinformation grow on a lack of knowledge of the facts.

There have been numerous instances on campus in which a student needs to find out some type of information, but is unable to do so. At each office a student may be told that he can find the information he desires at the next office down the hall. The student then proceeds to the next office where he is told to go on to another one. This often continues until he is sent back to the office at which he started, and still he has no information. By this time, he is ready to give up in disgust.

While this is not always the case, it does happen to a greater or lesser extent quite often beneath the shadow of the tower atop Roberts Hall.

We feel that this situation should be remedied. While the recent assembly program made an attempt at bridging the gap between the students and the administration, we feel that it was handicapped by the fact that answers were prepared and not spontaneous. Actually there was very little said during the program which has not either been said in assembly or printed in the handbook, catalogue, or the HI-PO.

At any rate, there is a definite need for better communications between the students, faculty, and administration. We feel that the students should try harder to find out things which they want to know, and that the administration should give the information more readily. As for question and answer sessions, we feel that they should be continued and improved. They may hold the key to the problems which the current student-administration gap causes. We are in favor of anything which would improve communications. Perhaps the Leadership Program would not have failed so miserably here at HPC if the students had been told what it was. How can students be expected to accept and work for something which has never been adequately described or defined for them. Only concrete, physical projects can describe themselves. Theories and concepts, like dreams, must be described and explained in order to be understood.

By Charles Nesbitt

Many significant things are mentioned during an academic year which remains unexplored. Whether or not these thoughts materialize is dependent on how we receive and communicate them. One of the ideas I heard this past week was in the form of a question, a question which is of extreme importance to all concerned students—"how do we justify our Student Government Association?" By this articulation of the necessity to vindicate our position, we may proceed (after consideration) with a greater perception and a deeper dedication.

Why the question was asked "befuddles" me even though I am glad that it was asked since it is so easy to participate in self-government and at the same time forget why we are so actively engaged. A good reminder now and then is helpful. Getting back to the immediate question, C. P. Snow, in my opinion, answers the question explicitly well in his book TWO CULTURES:

"... just because the individual condition is tragic, so must the social condition be. Each of us is solitary; each of us dies alone: all right, that's a fate against which we can't struggle—but there is plenty in our condition which is not fate, and against which we are less than human unless we do struggle."

By considering this quotation, in my opinion, not only allows the Student Government Association to approach justification, but also allows each of us to proceed with a better realization of our roles as a college student and an adult in a most challenging society.

Of course it is evident that a complete justification is unapproachable in this short column, but more importantly, our actions and motives behind our actions determine whether or not we are truly justified. In short, justification is good in writing, but justification proved by participation is better.

The grant will be used to defray expenses of his research completed thus far and also future work which will be done later in the year.

Ward, who received a National Science Foundation Grant to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill last summer, plans to attend graduate school next fall where he will continue his studies in biology after which he plans a career in teaching. He is presently treasurer of the High Point College Student Government Association; a member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity; a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, the Order of the Lighted Lamp, and the Scholastic Honor Society.

Self Study Program Complete; Awaits Final Report In May

Dr. Harold E. Conrad, Dean of the College has announced the completion of a 3-year self study program. The purpose of the study was to have the College take a long look at itself and to determine its strengths and its weaknesses.

The study was made as a part of the program of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, who encourages its member-colleges to engage in periodic self-evaluations. Although the college has been a member of the Association since 1951, this was the first time that it had made a self-study under the Association auspices.

The study which actually began three years ago was made up of three phases. The first phase was devoted to setting the goals and the purposes of the College and was headed by Dr. Lew Lewis, Head of the Department of Fine Arts. The second phase of the self-study consisted of selecting committees in order to investigate a separate section in the self-evaluation. These committees asked for reports from each department and from each administrative section, which were later read and discussed. The head of this portion of the study was Dr. S. C. Deskins, Department of History.

The final phase of the study was the editing of the various reports and co-ordinating them into one concise, over-all report. This phase was headed by Carroll R. Hormachea, Department of Sociology.

During the first week in May, the Southern Association will send an inspection team to the college. They will go over this study, will analyze the information of the studies, will question the various departments regarding information that they submitted, and finally they will submit their recommendations to the college in regard to strengthening their weaknesses and overcoming the problems which the college may have.

Hi-Po, Zenith To Work With Journalism Course

Next year the HI-PO and ZENITH will be operated in cooperation with a new course in journalism which is to be offered next fall. On Wednesday, February 13, the student legislature met and passed a bill introduced by Don Little which provided the conditions under which the HPC student publications will operate next year.

This action followed a meeting on the previous Wednesday in which Dr. Underwood, head of the English department, and Dean Taylor explained how the journalism course, English 243, will operate. A committee was appointed to look into the situation and report at the next meeting. The committee made several recommendations, all of which were included in the bill presented by Don Little.

The student publications will remain as independent SGA organizations, but will be able to draw upon the resources of the new journalism class next year. The editor will be required to take this course, and other staff members will be urged to do so. Dr. Underwood plans to be the advisor to both publications, and may also teach the journalism course. Students will continue to run the paper and yearbook with the advice of the advisor. Material will not be censored, and the staffs will be free to write as they see fit.

A Student Publications Committee is being set up to control the student publications. It will set up a Code of Ethics to be followed by the student journalists.

Editors will continue to be elected, with approval from the faculty advisor.

MSF Plans New Program

*For the remainder of the semester, the Methodist Student Fellowship will experiment with a new type of programming designed for more universal campus appeal. The programming entails two separate and distinct lectures, films, studies, or discussion on topics of interest to the college students each Sunday night at 6:15 P.M. It is hoped that the students will attend the section in which he is most interested. Faculty, administration, and student leaders will be participating in this attempt to revitalize the Methodist Student Fellowship on the High Point College campus.

Some of the proposed programs and the leaders of them for the remainder of the semester are: Mr. Porter, "Contemporary Religious Art;" Mr. Reines, discussing Jean Paul Sartre's play "NO EXIT;" Dr. Cole, "Is This Country Really Based on Christian Ideals;" De De DeCarrion, "Conformity or Non-Conformity?"; Dr. Cummings, "Science and Religion." Other leaders of programs will be Tracy McCarthy, Dr. Patton, Dean Taylor, Dr. Mounts, Mr. Wicker, and Charles Nesbitt. Some of the other programs include: Book reviews and discussions of books, such as "Killers of the Dream" and "Their Mother's Son"; Interpretations and discussions of poems, such as "The Ecstasy" or "Is there really a message in 'beat' poetry?"; "What Is Right and Wrong?"; "How Could the Church Appeal to Today's Generation?"; "Concerning Mission Work in the Methodist Church"; and "Inter-faith and Inter-race Marriages."

Panthers Devour Bulldogs, 90-57

The HPC Purple Panthers devoured the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs Wednesday night in the Lexington YMCA Gym. After a somewhat nip-and-tuck first half the Panthers turned on the steam just after halftime and out-scored the Bulldogs by 30 points in the second half. Final score of the game was 90-57.

Phil Garrison started out by sinking six shots in a row early in the first half. It looked as if it would be a lively game all the way for awhile, but things began to slow down for both teams. The Panthers had to fight a tough zone, which held their scoring to a minimum for the rest of the half. High Point was tied at 6-6 early in the first half, but never trailed during the game.

The Panthers went scoreless for about six minutes at one time during the first half, and were able to stay ahead only because the Bulldogs were cold, too. At the half, the Panthers led by only three points, 26-23.

The High Point dressing room was like a morgue during half-time. Coach Quinn told the boys that if the game continued to lag, he had a sparkplug on the bench that would liven things up. He wasn't kidding. The second half began rather slow for us, and after the score was tied at 26 all, things were looking bad. This didn't last long, however, for Quinn sent in substitute Sam Byers. Byers did a brilliant job of setting off the spark which put the Panthers out to a comfortable margin. He was aided by the rebounding of Rich McGreevy in getting things going.

After the Panthers got the ball rolling again, there was no stopping them. Their offense was superb — they were setting up an offense before the Bulldogs could get a defense together, and therefore were scoring in rapid-fire order. The Panthers did not neglect defense the second half either, they made the Bulldogs work for their shots. No longer were they able to set up their shots with deliberation. They were forced to take shots off balance and as a result had a rather poor shooting percentage.

Intramural Basketball

The Alley Report

Two Freshmen Panthers

By Richard Stinson

By Ray Alley

By Bergie Hatcher

Intramural Basketball is off to a rousing start and many teams are entered in this season's competition. In the Independent league, we find six teams entered:

Lambda Chi is running a close second. Since this season is just starting, only time will show the final outcome.

Independent League

In the Independent league, the pitch of competition is at a high level. February 5 marked the defeat of the Gladiators by the Celtics. The one sided score of this game was 114-27. Tommy Blake scored 28 points for the Celtics and Art Warren contributed 10 points for the Gladiators. Also on February 5, the Trojans won a game by forfeit over the Iotafigts. The Eagles defeated the Colts in a close one on February 7. The score was 50-42 with Ray Davis leading the Eagles with 13 points and Don Williams leading the Colts with 16 points. On this same night, the Celtics led by Jerry Smothers (31 points) defeated the Iotafigts, 100-25. Dave Costas was the high scorer of the losing team with 10 points.

As of February 18 the following results have been turned in:

Greek League

On February 5 at seven o'clock, Delta Sig defeated Alpha Phi Omega by a score of 56-39. High scorers for the Delta Sigs were Allen Sharpe and Kenny Deal with 17 points each. Jack Marquis hit 19 points for Alpha Phi Omega. On February 7, it was the Delta Sigs again, this time over Pi Kappa Alpha by a score of 82-49. Riley Fields led the Delta Sigs with 17 points and J. R. Newton earned 16 for the Pikas. Also on February 7, Theta Chi defeated the Sig Eps by a score of 40-27. Bill McKinley was high scorer for Theta Chi with 12 points and Dave Baughn for Sig Eps with 9 points.

Delta Sigs defeated Theta Chi on February 11 by a score of 63-47. Kenny Deal led the Delta Sigs with 19 points and Joel Silver achieved an even dozen for Theta Chi. On the same night, the Sig Eps lost a close one to Pi Kappa Alpha by a score of 38-35. Jerry Frye obtained 11 points for the Sig Eps and Stan Kinney scored 15 for Pikas. It was a defeat for Alpha Phi Omega on February 12 by the Theta Chi's. The score... 52-28. For Theta Chi, the high scorer was Roy Greenwood with 16 points and for APO, it was Chuck Richards with 6 points. Lambda Chi Alpha scored a defeat over the Sig Eps. The score was 69-39. Ralph Clements hit 20 points for Lambda Chi and Jerry Frye supplied the Sig Eps with 15 points.

The Delta Sig's seem to be off to a good start on the basis of games played thus far.

In action two weeks ago the big match was between the Lambda Chi's and the Spartans. The match ended in a tie, 2-2, but this was really a loss for both teams as they both lost valuable points to the leaders. The Lambda Chi's were led by the league's leading bowler, Joe Gosnell whose 179 was tops for his team. Bill Harris and Dave Fancher shared the Spartans' honors with games of 190 and 185 respectively.

In another match the Delta Sig's defeated the Pika's, 4-0. A 220 game by "Hi-Ho" Barnes and a 186 game by Ken Deal enabled the Delta Sigs to pick up 4 important points in the league race. Rex Connor led the Pika's in a losing cause.

Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated the hopeless Comets by a 4-0 score. Bob Medlin and Dave Baughn each had 199's and Charles Sellers and Steve Bowers had 186 and 185 respectively. Bergie Hatcher with a 162 lead the Comets.

The Pin-Busters, led by Dave Young and Bob Brewer, defeated Theta Chi, led by Don Bryant, 3-1. Alpha Phi Omega drew a bye for the week. Bob Hartsell had a 216 for the APO's as they bowled blind.

This past week the big match was the Lambda Chi Alpha-Alpha Phi Omega contest. The Lambda Chi's led again by Gosnell and Dick Reuman were victorious, 4-0. Reuman's 194 was the high game for the Lambda Chi's, while Orwin Shaw had a 200 for the APO's. This loss was the first since semester break for the APO's and cost them first place.

The Spartans defeated the Sig Ep's, 4-0, and again it was Bill Harris and Dave Fancher leading the way for the winners. Dennis Potter and Fancher both had 200 games while Dave Baughn was the Sig Ep's most consistent bowler.

The Delta Sig's gained first place honors by defeating the Comets, 4-0. Consistent Larry Amick averaged 160 for the day and inconsistent Wayne Lewis had a 209 for the Delta Sig's. The Comets weren't led by anyone!

The Pika's received a forfeit from the Pin-Busters, but that didn't stop them from bowling. Pete Hepler had a 204 game for the Pika's and Bob Brewer had a 190 and a 170 average for the losing Pin-Busters. Barry York had a 178 game as Theta Chi drew a bye and did not land any competition.

By the time this paper goes to press there will be but one week of action left. As this writer sees it the Delta Sig's will win the Championship with the Lambda Chi's, Joe Gosnell, the league's leading bowler. Last place Wayne "Lucky" Lewis.

In order for any organization to be successful, fresh material must constantly come in in order to make the finished product. A good example is the High Point College basketball team, and more specifically, the freshmen duo which bolsters Coach Tom Quinn's bench—Rich Guiffredo and Rich McGreevy.

Richard C. Guiffredo is the freshman guard from Port Chester, New York who happens to be one of the Panthers best outside shooters. Rich attended high school in Port Chester, where he lettered in basketball all four years. Among his basketball honors were the Con Edison Award, All-County, and All "New York Daily News" high school team. Upon graduation, Rich sported a 22.0 scoring average for his efforts at the school.

Rich says he likes High Point College much better than high school. "It affords me a chance to play varsity basketball, something I could never do at a larger school."

Guiffredo is very high on Coach Quinn and his knowledge of basketball. He thinks High Point will probably win the tournament, but looks for trouble from Lenoir Rhyne and Western Carolina.

Rich is a trim 6 foot, 175 pound basketball player. He plans to major in Physical Education at HPC.

Richard McGreevy attended high school in Pequannock, New Jersey. He lettered in both basketball and baseball for three years. He led his team to the Skyline Conference Championship in basketball, in both his junior and senior years. Among his honors were All-Conference honors, selected on two All-County teams, and All-State. In baseball, the 6 foot 5 inch, 190 pounder was an outfielder. However, chances are that he will be on first base when the college baseball team takes the field this spring.

Rich was recommended to High Point's Coach Tom Quinn through North Carolina's State Coach Everett Case. McGreevy had been referred to Coach Case by his high school coach, but McGreevy decided not to enter State College.

Rich, at the present, has not decided on a major field as of yet.

Spotlight on Sports

by bergie hatcher

After a homecoming rout of Appalachian and easy victories over Atlantic Christian and East Carolina, the High Point Panthers warmed up for Lenoir Rhyne's Bears to the tune of "Sweet Georgia Brown" in the final and deciding game of the Carolina Conference regular season. Two hours later the Panthers were sobered in their dressing room, beaten by Lenoir Rhyne for the third time this season.

It just wasn't High Point's night, from the opening tip-off to the final buzzer. The Panthers put on a great fight, but it was all uphill. Kirk Stewart and Barry Smith put on fine offensive show for the locals, but the balanced Lenoir Rhyne scoring attack wasn't to be denied.

Perhaps the turning point for LR was the fine play of reserve center, George Deehan. With Jerry Wells on the bench most of the game with foul trouble, Deehan scored seven points and did a fine defensive job on Bill Fallin. Jim Wiles was almost letter-perfect as he hit on 50 per cent of his field goal attempts and on 8 out of 8 free throws for 16 points. Neill McGeachy got 13 points for the Bears and stunned the Panther's Al Trombetta with his defensive play. Forward Ed Miastowski had 12 points and guard, Tommy Burton had 11 points for the winners.

FINAL CAROLINA CONFERENCE STANDINGS
1. Lenoir Rhyne	15-3
2. High Point	13-4
3. Western Carolina	13-4
4. Catawba	13-5
5. Elon	19-6

7. Atlantic Christian	4-13
8. Pfeiffer	3-15
9. Guilford	12-16
10. Newberry	2-11

On February 18, baseball coach, Chuck Hartman, and track coach, Bobby Davidson, began their spring training drills.

Coach Hartman began with the pitchers and catchers working out, and the entire team will not report until February 25. Returning from last year's team are All-Conference pitcher, Larry Nolan, Ray Grant, Harold Moose, Roy Greenwood, Wayne Lewis, Dave Kemp, Roy Grant, Don Cashion, and Joel Silvers. Among the newcomers to watch are Richard McGreevy, Larry Dunn, and Bob Harris.

Former Dean Of Men Receives APO Honor

On Saturday, March 2, Dr. N. M. Harrison of High Point was made an honorary member of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity at a leadership banquet, which was sponsored by the fraternity, at the Sheraton Hotel. The presentation of the award was made by John Kennedy, president of the High Point College chapter.

Ex-Dean of Students

Dr. Harrison is a former instructor of religion, dean of men, bursar and vice president at High Point College. He has also been active in work in behalf of the Cuban refugees in Florida and in High Point. For these and his many other activities, the fraternity felt that Harrison deserved this honorary membership.

National Secretary Addresses Luncheon

Another highlight of the 3-day conference was the keynote address given by the fraternity's National Executive Secretary, Joseph Scanlon, of Kansas City, Missouri, at the Saturday noon luncheon meeting.

On Saturday night, William S. Roth, immediate past national president of the fraternity, gave the keynote address. Also at this banquet, the local chapter received its 5-year award from Ross Forman, first national vice president, in recognition of its 5 years of service on the High Point College campus.

Doss To Head Scholarship Program

The Reed & Barton's "Silver Opinion" Scholarship program competition will close on March 31, Miss Janet Doss, HPC Student representative, announced this week. The contest offers over $7,000 in scholarships and awards. The first place scholarship is $500. There are also nine other scholarships and awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china, and crystal.

Entrants in the contest match combinations of china, crystal, and sterling from the samples which Miss Doss has on display. The awards are made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Any girl on campus interested in this contest should see Miss Janet Doss at Room 304, North Hall. The contest is open to all undergraduate women.

Nesbitt, Treece, McAllister And Amick Win SGA Offices For 1963-64

Charlie Nesbitt, a rising senior from Asheville, North Carolina, was elected president of the HPC Student Government Association for the 1963-1964 academic year this past Wednesday. Miss Betty Treece won the Vice Presidency handily over her opponent, John Kennedy. The office of Secretary will be filled by Carolyn McAllister, who defeated Gall Nichols by a decisive margin. Larry Amick, running unopposed, easily took the office of Treasurer.

Don Little was uncontested for the position of Editor of the HI-PO, and Elaine Greene was elected Editor of the ZENITH in the same manner.

There were only 486 votes cast, the number being low probably because there were only two offices contested. The vote was considerably behind that of last year, which was something over 600. There were approximately 960 students eligible to vote.

Larry Amick polled the greatest number of votes at 462, and Don Little was next at 460. Charles Nesbitt received 454 votes for the presidency.

This was the first time the editorship of the ZENITH has been decided in a general SGA election. In previous years, ZENITH editors have been elected by the Senior Class.

Four of the officers elected are rising seniors, while only Larry Amick and Carolyn McAllister are rising Juniors. One significant fact is that Carolyn McAllister is a day student. In the past it has been very unusual for a day student to be elected to an SGA office.

These officers will be installed in assembly next Wednesday, and will be assisted in their duties for a few weeks by the outgoing officers. Outgoing officers are as follows: President, Bob Clark; Vice President, Harry Lilly; Treasurer, John Ward; Secretary, Betty Treece; HI-PO, Howard Barnes; ZENITH, Dot Barrick and Ann Surratt.

In talking to Charles Nesbitt about the election, Charlie stated that he felt that the reason he was unopposed was either because he was the best man for the job or because those who might have wanted to run were entirely disinterested.

Boychoir Sings Monday Night

The Columbus Boychoir, with Donald Bryant as the director, will appear in a Community Concert at Memorial Auditorium on Monday, March 11 at 8:00 p.m.

The choir originated as a community enterprise in Columbus, Ohio, led by Herbert Huffman, then minister of music at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church. Assisted by the Kiwanis Club and the Broad Street Church, he founded the Columbus Boychoir School in 1940 with an enrollment of 30 boys from the city. Almost at once the choir attracted attention far beyond the city limits and after local and then national radio presentations, the boys captured the critical praise of New Yorkers when they made their metropolitan debut in Town Hall in 1943.

Donald Bryant became the director of the choir when Herbert Huffman decided in the spring of 1956 to turn his attention to other interests.

A major honor was added to the record of the choir in 1957 when the Boychoir was chosen by the State department and the American National Theatre and Academy as the first youth group to represent the United States abroad under President Eisenhower's International Program for Cultural Presentations.

The program for Monday night's concert includes both classical and non-classical selections, the latter group including four Negro spirituals and four folk songs.

Students at High Point College may obtain their tickets for the concert from the Bursar's office.

Drapeau Appointed to Faculty

Dr. Wendell M. Patton, President of High Point College, has recently announced that Mr. Don Drapeau will be an Instructor in Speech and Dramatics next year. Mr. Drapeau will replace Mr. Phillip Reines, who has been granted a year's leave of absence to finish his work on his Doctor's degree in Dramatics at the University of Colorado. Mr. Reines will leave the college in June of this year and will not return to the college until September 1964. Mr. Reines received his aid from the Faculty Graduate Aid Program, which grants professors, who are within so many hours of completing their Doctor's degree, a leave of one year's absence to finish their work.

Mr. Drapeau graduated from High Point College in 1961 and will graduate from the University of Connecticut this June with a Master's degree in Dramatics. While at High Point College, Mr. Drapeau was Vice President of the SGA, a member of the Tower Players and the Concert Choir, and a member of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Greene, Little To Edit Student Publications

Elaine Greene, a rising senior from Chandler, North Carolina, and Donald Little, a rising senior from Iron Station, North Carolina, were elected Editors of the Zenith and Hi-Po, respectively, in the Student Government Association elections held on March 5 and 6.

Elaine has been active on the Zenith staff during the past three years. During the 1962-1963 school year, she served as Business Manager of the Zenith. She is also a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

Don has also been active on the Hi-Po staff during the past two years. He was Managing Editor during the 1962-63 school year. He is also President of the Young Republicans Club and an active member in the Student Legislature.

Taking A Closer Look...

By Bob Clark

With the advent of new Student Government officers, the beginnings of the 1963-64 school year will be made as the Council makes preparation for their approach to Student Government. As I turn in retrospect to view the emphasis, attempts, shortcomings, and general attitude which the Student Government has been involved in during the year for which it has been responsible, I naturally see a mass mixture of images. This year has provided the officers of the Student Government the realization that the Student Government can never fulfill all the areas of important responsibility which it annually attempts to assume. Because it must be concerned with everything from encouraging the development of a sound academic atmosphere (through promotion of student expression such as in the APOGEE or Hi-Po, of requiring academic standards as a prerequisite for running for offices, etc.) to "who will be responsible for the next basketball dance?", the Student Government is faced with the fact that it is tremendously limited in its ability to "encompass the campus." This will always be the case until a larger number of students accept a fuller responsibility as the Student Government. The officers of the Executive Council have advocated this truth along with the belief that the "larger number" will never be realized except through the creation of (1) a respected, intelligent, and efficient Student Legislature which will assume the responsibility of SPEAKING AS THE LEGAL VOICE OF THE STUDENTS IN MATTERS INVOLVING ALL CAMPUS ENDEAVORS, and (2) a respected, reasonable, and efficient Judiciary Council to handle STUDENT DISCIPLINE PROBLEMS. It is our firm and grounded belief that ONLY THROUGH THE SOLIDARITY OF THESE TWO AREAS will the College come to listen with respect to the requests and appeals of the student body at large. Certainly action is being taken to remedy these two maladies. At present the Student Legislature is still in its early stages, being used as a medium for all standing committees of the Student Government. But now it MUST be representative of the needs of the students by adding to its responsibility the emphasis on actual bills and resolutions which students outside the Legislature desire to have presented. More and more the Legislature must serve this function and also serve as a reporting agency for committees. In the discipline area, the Chief Justice of the Judiciary Council, Pat

IFC Reverts To Old Rush System

On March 4, the Inter-fraternity Council voted in favor of discontinuing second semester rush and going back to the old first semester rush. The vote was 9 to 2.

The decision was reached not because second semester rush had proved to be of no great advantage. There were no more freshmen making their average on second semester rush than on the former first semester rush. The fraternities feel that they can offer scholastic assistance to the incoming freshmen in the form of "mandatory" study halls.

The old rules of first semester rush will be installed. These rules are the following: any freshmen may pledge a fraternity but he cannot be initiated as a brother into the fraternity until he earns his overall "C" average. A pledge may remain so for two semesters, if, however, at this time he does not have his "C" average, then he will be dropped. All transfer students and anyone who has attempted any number of hours must have an overall "C" average.

It is the feeling of the I.F.C. that second semester rush had many advantages but that too few freshmen were making their average in order for the fraternities to continue to exist on this system.

Across The Desk....

In Concert

The time for the Peter, Paul and Mary concert is drawing near. Until now, we have said nothing editorially about the fact that this concert had to be rescheduled from 8 P.M. to 6 P.M., because of a conflict with Verdi's REQUIEM, which is being presented by the HPC choir, the Wesley Memorial Methodist choir, and the Singers Guild of Winston-Salem. It is regrettable that both concerts had to fall on the same night, another tribute to the poor communications on campus. Since the administration would not allow both to appear the same time, of course the student function had to take the inferior time spot.

Now that the powers-that-be have decided that both will take place the same night, we should accept it and make the best of it. Here is an excellent opportunity for students to prove to the college that we are more mature than they may think. We can at least prove our good sportsmanship under less-than-desirable circumstances. With a minimum of effort, the students who attend the Peter, Paul and Mary concert could also later attend the REQUIEM in the auditorium. Since it would seem somewhat awkward to take a date home at 8 o'clock, the Requiem presents a good opportunity to take in a little culture and at the same time to help fill out an evening of entertainment without any further expense. After all, tickets for the Requiem are free to students.

Let's face it, students, a little culture isn't likely to hurt us, and we might even enjoy it to some minute degree. The Verdi Requiem should prove to be an excellent performance.

Frosh On The Ball

We have noticed recently that the new sophomore class election campaigns are getting under way. We are very much impressed to see that the present Freshman class is taking the initiative in putting class elections on a rational basis by requiring petitions to be submitted by each candidate with at least 35 names of his classmates.

We definitely feel that this action will be of great help in keeping campus elections from becoming a matter of snap-decisions by a few people who show up at class meetings. Too often a few glory seekers could attend a sparsely attended class election and get themselves elected as class officers, even though they might not be well qualified. We are not suggesting that this has happened recently, but it remains as a distinct possibility.

We feel that this practice of requiring election petitions is one which should be adopted by all present and future classes. However, it might be wise to set up some standards to insure that everyone would know about class elections in ample time to draw up such petitions. This would act as another safeguard against a few people controlling class elections.

If they are handled properly, class elections can be a valuable training and proving ground for the major Student Government Association offices. For this reason, we are happy to see steps being taken to make them more effective. Perhaps if this and other such requirements are put in effect, someday there will be enough interest generated on the class level to carry over and to liven up our major SGA elections.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor;

After being on this campus, dealing with the administration, and bringing up this issue through the so-called proper channels, I have plainly decided to air an all-American gripe.

The subject is tennis courts. Already many of you have stopped reading this article as you have realized the attaining of this subject is about as possible as gold-plating the campus sidewalks.

Nonetheless, those of you who are under the misconception that we have tennis courts should put on a pair of ankle braces, firmly grasp a shovel and rake, and try to stumble through a set on the "dirt pile" you may have seen directly behind our student center.

Playing on the tennis team, I am keenly aware of the problem. Our team has an overwhelming disadvantage in never playing a real "home" tennis match. This could be possible with adequate and really financially moderate additions to the present mess.

I fully realize that we will reap more good students from the high school ranks with our beautiful daffodil (asphodelus) beds, but I also know of several students who would not even consider our daffodils as a deciding factor for the selection of a college. I realize there might be more pressing things, but there are also less pressing things which are being feverishly worked upon. To be a growing school, High Point College must grow in all areas. The area of need I have tried to describe is only growing grass.

Sincerely yours,
Larry Amick

President's Report

Peele, is in the process of working with a student-faculty committee to revise the Penal Code and clarify the responsibilities of the dorms, the Judiciary Council, and their relation to the Dean of Students and the Administration. This is "big business" and will take a great amount of time and energy to explicate and direct.

Now comes the IMPORTANT question. Who will commit themselves to the carrying on and fulfillment of these attempts? As the time of elections for the Legislature and Judiciary Council approach, you the students have the responsibility to determine the course of these situations by urging qualified and concerned persons to run for office, and also by voting for these people. Do not forfeit your right and responsibility by being unconcerned. Your Student Government is at stake!

As outgoing President, I feel that the improvement of these two areas will make a decided difference in the course of the new school year. For the sake of the rights of the students to have a voice in the affairs of the school and to handle their own discipline problems before the right is lost, support your new officers and those responsible with and to them as they forge the pattern for the coming year. This support, along with your academic seriousness, will be the evidence of your concern for the growth and development of the entire college.

Yearbook Goes To Press; Hard-Pressed Staff Goes To Rest

I've often wondered what goes into the making of a yearbook. I still don't know what goes into one, but I do know what is left over after one goes to press. The picture accompanying this story just about sums up the whole situation. You notice that there are no people in the picture—they are there, but are too exhausted to be seen. You see, they have been working day and night for the last couple of weeks to meet what they thought was a printer's deadline of March 1. They have worked feverishly in the Zenith office in the Student Center trying to make an orderly yearbook out of a jungle of snapshots, typewriters, coffee jars, and twenty million other sundry items.

There have been shouts of "Fletcher, where are those pictures?"; "Mr. H., you're gonna have to get us late permission again!"; and various other phrases (some unprintable) as the staff put the final layout of the 1963 Zenith together.

The most amusing thing about this rat-race to get the yearbook finished by March 1, is that the deadline actually wasn't until March 3. Only one or two of the frantic workers knew about this sneaky plot to insure that the deadline was met. It was a pretty good idea, for the entire 248 pages were completed two days before the deadline.

Now it's up to the printer. Whenever he finishes setting up the presses and printing the yearbook, they will be returned to HPC for distribution. You'll have to wait until Awards Day on May 14 to find out who is Miss Zenith, who the book is dedicated to, etc.

HPC, City, Again Sponsor Family Camping Weekend

The Third annual Family Camping Weekend, sponsored by High Point College and the High Point Parks and Recreation Department, will be held on May 3, 4, and 5, at City Lake. The weekend includes actual family camping experience and workshops to train campers in the skills and gimmicks of camp life.

The tentative staff for the event consists of Mr. Ray Kiziah, Director of High Point Parks and Recreation; Dr. Jim Hamilton of the HPC Physical Education Department; Mr. Jesse Taylor, HPC Dean of Students; and Mr. Fred Ruppenhal, Assistant Director of Parks and Recreation in High Point.

The fee for the weekend is $5.00 per person or a maximum of $20.00 per family. This includes literature, some food and shelter, and the workshops.

This camping weekend is in cooperation with the North Carolina Recreation Commission, and is open to anyone with a genuine interest in camping. Anyone who desires more information should get in touch with Dean Jesse Taylor at the college.

Greek League

Continuing from last time, we find new developments in the Roundball department. On February 19 the Delta Sigs played the Sig Eps to a 71-52 finish. Delta Sigs won the game with Allan Sharpe leading them with 34 points. Frye led the Sig Eps with 15. This same night Lambda Chi routed APO by a score of 71-43. Ralph Clements carried the Lambda Chi group with 23 points and Jim Foster boasted 14 for APO. On February 26 APO came back from a defeat to lick Pikas by a score of 49-47, a close game. It was Lambda Chi Alpha over Theta Chi by a score of 45 to 40. Dick Reumann led Delta Chi with 24 points and Joel Silver contributed 14 for Theta Chi. February 28 marked Theta Chi's defeat over the Pikas. The final score for this play was 38-29. Don Bryant led the Theta Chis with 12 points while Bill Harris led the Pikas with 13. Also on the 28th, the Delta Sigs beat Lambda Chi Alpha by a score of 53-38. Mike Rosenmarkle and Allan Sharpe carried 15 points each for the Delta Sigs and Ralph Clements deposited 14 for Lambda Chi. This was a big game which really clinched the Greek championship for the Delta Sigs and makes them eligible for the overall final championship play to determine the campus champions. The remaining games not yet played at this reporter's writing are Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Lambda Chi Alpha and APO vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon. Results from these games and final standings will be listed in the next issue.

Independent League

The Trojans defeated the Gladiators on February 19 by a score of 116 to 47. Dave Fancher led the Trojans with 39 points and Jesse Waldon led the Gladiators with 23. On this same night, the Celtics, led by Tom Blake (20 points), defeated the Eagles by a score of 72 to 44. The Eagles had Larry Dunn with 14 points. On February 26 the Trojans defeated another opponent by a score of 45 to 42. It was the Colts this time. Dave Fancher again led the Trojans with 13 points and the Colts boasted Larry Craver with 17 points. The Gladiators lost a close one to the Iotafigts. The score of this contest was 36 to 34. Johnson led the Iotafigts with 16 and Waldon led the Gladiators with 17 points. It was the Celtics over the Trojans on February 28. The score was 89 to 59. Tom Blake led the Celtics with 28 points and Paul Smith led the Trojans with 26 points. The Eagles led by Ray Davis (40 points) defeated the Gladiators led by Jesse Walden (16 points) by a score of 71-38.

The last game played by the Celtics put them in position to play the fraternity champions for the overall championship. This contest was played on March 7, at 7:30. Due to printing deadlines, the final outcome of this contest is not mentioned in this article, but the next one should show either the Celtics of the Independent league or the Delta Sigs of the Fraternity league as new campus Intramural Basketball champions. A further game not played at this writing is the game between the Iotafigts and the Colts.

This Intramural Basketball season has been a good one and the turnout and participation, especially in the Independent circuit, has been good. Many games had very close scores and the determination never dropped throughout the competition. This reporter believes that a mention should be made of outstanding players in the next issue of the paper as well as total standings in both leagues.

Kansas City—1964?

For the past three years High Point's Purple Panthers have gone into the finals of the Carolina Conference tournament, but not once during these years have the Panthers been able to compete in the District 26 regional playoffs because of academic standing. NAIA rules requires any team competing in national playoffs to bolster a roster of players in which all the members of the team must pass at least 12 semester hours in order to participate. High Point College has built a good basketball reputation over the years and it is getting better all the time. Yet the Panthers are not recognized by the local newspapers as standouts in the Carolina Conference and seemingly take a back seat when playoff competition starts.

I'm sure you remember the old saying, "Wait 'till next year!" It's too early to say, but next year just could be the year for High Point College to prove its basketball prowess. If Dave Wickham returns to school and Dale Neel makes up his grades in night school, Coach Tom Quinn should be set for another big year. The Panthers lost only one player this past season, reserve forward, Larry Nolan. With eight returning lettermen, Neel and Wickham, plus a new good forward—High Point could go all the way to Kansas City next year. We'll see what happens.

Bowling Team In NAIA Playoffs

Last year the HPC bowling team went to Kansas City to compete in NAIA competition. The team returned to High Point after placing 26th out of 32 schools.

This year the team will again journey to Kansas City, but with a big turnover in the roster. Gone are Marion Suitt, Phil Coghill, Alton Jones, and Norman O'Bryant. Only Joe Gosnell and Kenny Deal remain. New bowlers this year are Bob Harris, Roy Greenwood, and Dave Fancher.

As a tune-up for this trip, the team has been bowling Guilford College. In their first meeting, High Point beat the Quakers, 4-0. However, in their last match it ended in a 2-2 tie. Here are the results of the last match. Joe Gosnell had the only 200 game.

HAIL TO THE DEAN!

Today let us examine that much maligned, widely misunderstood, grossly overworked, wholly dedicated campus figure—the dean.

The dean (from the Latin Deanere—to expel) is not, as many think, primarily a disciplinary officer. He is a counselor and guide, a haven and refuge for the troubled student. The dean (from the Greek Deanos—to skewer) is characterized chiefly by sympathy, wisdom, patience, forbearance, and a fondness for homely pleasures like community singing, farina, spell-downs, and Marlboro Cigarettes. The dean (from the German Deangemacht—to poop a party) is fond of Marlboros for the same reason that all men of good will are fond of Marlboros—because Marlboro is an honest cigarette. Those good Marlboro tobaccos are honestly good, honestly aged to the peak of perfection, honestly blended for the best of all possible flavors. Marlboro honestly comes in two different containers—a soft pack which is honestly soft and a Flip-Top box which honestly flips. You too will flip when next you try an honest Marlboro, which, one honestly hopes, will be soon.

There is not a dry eye in Yutah

But I digress. We were learning how a dean helps poor, troubled undergraduates. To illustrate, let us take a typical case from the files of Dean S. . . . of the University of Y. . . . (Oh, why be so mysterious? The dean's name is Sigafos and the University is Yutah.)

Wise, kindly Dean Sigafos was visited one day by a freshman named Walter Aguinocourt who came to ask permission to marry one Emma Blenheim, his dormitory laundress. To the dean the marriage seemed ill-advised, for Walter was only 18 years old and Emma was 91. Walter agreed with the dean, but said he felt obligated to go through with it because Emma had invested her life savings in a transparent rainhood to protect her from the mist at Niagara Falls, where they planned to spend their honeymoon. If Walter called off the wedding, what use would the poor woman possibly have for a rainhood in Yutah? The wise, kindly dean pondered briefly and came up with a brilliant answer: let Walter punch holes in the back of Emma's steam iron. With steam billowing back at the old lady, she would find a rainhood very useful—possibly even essential.

Whimpering with gratitude, Walter kissed the dean's Phi Beta Kappa key and hastened away to follow his advice—and the results, I am pleased to report, were madly successful!

Today Emma is a happy woman—singing lustily, wearing her rainhood, eating soft-center chocolates, and ironing clothes—twice as happy, to be candid, than if she had married Walter . . . And what of Walter? He is happy too. Freed from his unwanted liaison with Emma, he married a girl much nearer his own age—Agnes Yucca, 72. Walter is now the proud father—stepfather, to be perfectly accurate—of three fine, healthy boys from Agnes's first marriage—Everett, 38; Wilhelm, 43; and Irving, 55—and when Walter puts the boys on a lead and takes them for a stroll in the park on Sunday afternoon, you may be sure there is not a dry eye in Yutah.

And Dean Sigafos? He too is happy—happy to spend long, tiring hours in his little office, giving counsel without stint and without complaint, doing his bit to set the young, uncertain feet of his charges on the path to a brighter tomorrow.

Peter, Paul, Mary, Unique Trio

(Summarized from a publicity kit on Peter, Paul and Mary published by International Talent Associates, Inc.)

Peter, Paul and Mary are a surprising trio. They are not hillbillies, Scotch, Balkan, or representatives of any particular group usually associated with folksinging. In fact, they are all three American city-dwellers.

Their life-long interests in folk music led all three to Greenwich Village where they got together as a trio. They had been previously involved in show business individually.

A unique looking group, they also present a unique performance. Their songs give both a popular and academic tone without seeming to compromise either. Peter Yarrow, of the trio, feels that their urban background is an asset to their renditions of folksongs. "We can present in a modern musical form the feelings of many ethnic groups and do it with integrity," he says.

Peter Yarrow is a twenty-six year old graduate of Cornell University, from New York City, who has always had a keen interest in music and art. Before the trio was organized, he had appeared on TV and toured the country as a folk singer. He returned to Greenwich Village after his tour and there got into the trio.

Paul Stookey is a one-time comic who emceed his way through Michigan State University before he went to Greenwich Village. Paul not only sings and plays, but also writes music. He writes some of the songs the trio does on record and in concert.

Mary Travers is a tall blonde who has been singing folk songs nearly all her life. She was born in Louisville, Kentucky, but she and her parents moved to New York. She has previously sung in Carnegie Hall with another group and has made three records.

Summer Job Contest Begins

A summer editorial job in New York awaits the winner of a book review competition now being conducted by Grosset and Dunlap, Inc., Publishers of New York. The contest is open to all undergraduate students, and will run from March 15 through May 1.

To enter, a student is to submit a book review of no more than 500 words, based on one of the twenty-four Universal Library Paperbacks specified by the publisher.

The winner of the grand prize will be a regular member of the Grosset and Dunlap editorial staff for nine weeks, from July 1 to August 31, 1963. He will be in a working laboratory of the book publishing field and be paid a salary of $100 per week. Columbia University is cooperating with the project by agreeing to house the student in one of its dormitories.

In addition to the grand prize, there will be awarding of second and third prizes of books.

Rules and information about the competition are available by writing to "Book Review", Grosset and Dunlap, 1107 Broadway, New York 10, New York.

MSF Programs

For the remainder of the semester, the Methodist Student Fellowship will experiment with a new type of programming designed for more universal campus appeal. The programming entails two separate and distinct lectures, films, studies, or discussion on topics of interest to the college students each Sunday night at 6:15 P.M. The purpose of having more than one program is to provide more programs that appeal to more people.

The programs for the remainder of the year are planned as follows:

March 17, Mr. Porter—"Contemporary Religious Art", Dr. Cummings—"Religion and Science".

March 24, Mr. Whicker—"Inter-faith and race marriages".

March 31, Election of new MSF Council.

April 7, Installation of new officers and program.

April 21, Charlie Nesbitt—To be announced.

April 28, Film and discussion—Worship, the Families Heritage.

May 5, Dean Taylor—Recreation, Karen Lanier and Liz Oldham—Discussion and Interpretation of the poem "Waiting".

Board Of Trustees Approves Development Council

The Board of Trustees on March 13 approved the recommendation submitted by the Long-Range Planning Committee of the College that a Development Council be created of at least twenty-five members—five from the Board of Trustees, five from the administration-faculty, five alumni, and ten members-at-large.

The Council has two purposes. The first is to broaden the support of High Point College through the basic concern for the immediate and long-range plans and to determine which of these long-range plans will receive immediate priority. Second, the Council will act as the interpreter of the program and will enlist active support to carry it out.

The Council will study and revise any of the existing programs in development. Also, through appointed committees, it will study the present fund-raising efforts and will make suggestions for improvement. All changes made by the Council will be put into effect after they have been approved by the Board of Trustees.

There will be an Executive Committee composed of the officers of the Council, the chairman of each committee, and two members-at-large.

The Board of Trustees has suggested that the following committees be created: Fellow, Annual Giving, Foundations and Special Gifts, Corporation and Business, and Deferred Gifts.

Junior-Senior To Be Held At Sedgefield

The 1963 Junior-Senior Prom will be held at the Sedgefield Country Club Friday evening, March 29. Mr. Loonis McClohm and his orchestra from Charlotte, North Carolina, will provide the music for the prom. The event will carry a formal-semiformal option. It is formal for those who prefer it so, and semiformal for the others.

Those who have served as committee chairmen in setting up the prom are as follows: Bob Kornegay and Harry Smith, Overall Chairmen; Norma Overby, Invitations; Lou Richards, Orchestra; Mary Lou Troutman, Entertainment; Bonnie Dennis, Decoration; Dave Baughn, Publicity; Linda Ferran, Regulations; and Walt Carriker, Projects. These are the people who are directly responsible for the work involved in planning and effecting this year's prom.

Invitations have already been sent out, and a crowd of about 300 is expected for the event. At the time the invitations were engraved, the prom was planned to be strictly formal, however since that time there has been a change in plans. Either formal or semiformal dress will be appropriate. This change was made because it was felt that the number able to attend a strictly formal affair might be limited because of the expense involved.

The President of the Junior Class, Bob Kornegay, urges that every junior and senior on campus attend the prom this year and help make it the most successful ever.

High Point College Debating Team Wins At Lenoir Rhyne

The High Point College debating team recently traveled to Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory for the 31st annual South Atlantic Forensic Tournament. The contest was held at St. Andrews Church on the LR campus.

Team members Dave Young, Bonnie Stillwell, Jerry Proffitt, and Mike Pierce were accompanied by Mr. Phil Reines of the Fine Arts Department, who is the coach for the team. Dates of the tournament were March 7, 8, and 9.

The tournament included three days of debating, plus individual contests in after-dinner speaking, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, poetry and address reading, and news broadcasting.

The High Point College affirmative team placed fourth in the debating, and the negative team placed sixth in the same category. There were twelve teams entered in the debating.

In individual contests, Bonnie Stillwell placed first in the Women's Division Poetry reading. Jerry Proffitt captured a first in after-dinner speaking, and a second in the Men's Division Poetry Reading.

Conrad To Direct Curriculum Study

By Mrs. Carroll Hormachea

Dr. Harold E. Conrad, Dean of High Point College, has been designated next year to direct and coordinate the Curriculum Committee study for an improved college academic plan, Dr. Wendell M. Patton, college president, announced today.

"This is the first time such an important and intensive study of our curriculum has been made since the College was founded in 1924," stated Dr. Patton.

During the period from June 1, 1963, to May 31, 1964, Dr. Conrad, while retaining the title of Dean of the College and continuing to teach in the Department of History, will be freed from administrative responsibility and an Acting Dean will be appointed for that period. Dean Conrad will again assume the duties of Dean of the College in May, 1964.

"The importance of this study has been realized to such an extent that we felt we must put one of our top men in charge of it," Dr. Patton stated, "and Dr. Conrad is the only person with the necessary experience and background to handle such a task."

Dr. Conrad has attended not only American but also Canadian universities, and is familiar with both the American and British high level educational systems. He has been head of a junior college in New York and has taught in an experimental college in Urbana, Ohio. A former member of the Board of Education in Topeka, Kansas, he has also served on the City of High Point's Curriculum Study Committee. He is a former member of the faculty at Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas, and was dean of men there. He also was a member of the faculty at Washburn University in Topeka, Kansas, where he organized the Evening College. He has also been a Visiting Professor at the University of Kansas and at Boston University. He has been a Carnegie Lecturer at International Relations Clubs conferences throughout the country and was a member of the Kansas Commission on UNESCO. He has written numerous articles on Canadian-American relations, which is his special field of academic interest.

The study will include an investigation of the present course content, the organization of degree requirements, and a study of the basic required courses, with a view of designing a more serviceable curriculum in order to give a stronger education to High Point College students.

"We have done a considerable amount of long-range planning in other areas of the College," explained Dr. Conrad, "but have neglected such extensive planning for our academic program. No one has had the time to assume the responsibility of such a broad task."

Work has already begun on gathering material and ideas, according to Dr. Conrad, but the program will not get into full operation until September.

States Dr. Conrad, "We hope by June of 1964 to have a fairly well-planned program ready for adoption."

Dr. Conrad will work closely with the Curriculum Committee, which is composed of all High Point College department heads.

Says Dr. Patton, "Both the Board of Trustees and the Administration of the College feel we are fortunate to have a man of Dr. Conrad's experience to direct the study."

Nesbitt Outlines SGA Plans For 1963-64

For the 1963-64 college year many ideas will be presented to the students from the Student Government Association. Plans are already in progress and we are sure that the coming year will be a memorable one. Speaking generally, here are a few policies and plans which will be inaugurated:

1. Better communication between administration, faculty, and students.
2. A revision of the Penal Code and Constitution to eliminate as much ambiguity as possible.
3. Emphasis on specific job descriptions for standing committees and more participation from "shy students" who really want to work (believe it or not).
4. Faculty advisors who are interested and willing to aid the functioning of our government.
5. More expression from students on controversial matters in an organized effective means of communication through the legislature representatives and through the Hi-Po.
6. An appealing activities program such as concerts and Sunday night movies which satisfy student needs and desires.
7. Emphasis on the seriousness of Student Government and responsibility of the individual student involved in a way that will be enjoyable and rewarding at the same time.
8. Support and appraisal of student publications throughout the year in cooperation with the publication policies.
9. Clearer understanding of judiciary actions and laws.

All in all, the executive committee hopes that the students will see the importance and possibilities of self-government. We hope that students will never cease to express themselves and make use of the opportunities at hand. Next year can be one of the best years for High Point College . . . let's get busy!!!

From THE CLUE, Larry read, "I want that piece of paper that leads to Harmony Haven, home of the split level and the split personality. It is something to hold on to . . . It leads to security."

"Sure we talk about God . . . He's good material for bull sessions . . . upset people with Darwin, analyse . . . criticize . . . condemn . . . tear apart . . ."

"Religion," said Mr. Harbin, "is out moded. God is dead. Man is pre-eminent. Science is defied . . . and the all important thing, . . . is to gain wealth, fame, prestige, status . . . And when you've gained all this . . . there's nothing else to look forward to, your soul is still hungry for some meaning to life . . ."

And Larry continued, " . . . that funny feeling inside comes wanting out and asking Why . . . Why . . . Why . . ."

This is the question students sought to answer during the recent CHRISTIANITY - IN - LIFE program sponsored by the S.C.A.

Mr. Harbin exposed our thoughts: "Where is God? Where is He in the face of the autonomy of technical development which seems to be moving toward self-destruction of mankind, including the 'innocent'?"

Yes, we ask this, and yet, do we not really know, deep down, beneath the Kents and corduroys? Do we not stand defiant, foolishly demanding and waiting for an answer that we realize has already been given—waiting to have the Christ again, somehow believing He would make life easier for us?

We wait, waiting "for things to get much worse before they improve." Wait for God to reach out and make all right again. Wait because it's easier to wait for Him than to acknowledge His waiting for us, His waiting for us to clean up the mess we've made.

Oh, we know He's there alright, but we don't want to hear what He's saying so we rush about building a wall between Him and us, a wall of Kents and corduroys and twists. But now and then the wall cracks and we're left exposed—to what? To nothing? Then why are we afraid?

Are we not only afraid to accept the God, the Love, that we know seeks us? Afraid to accept it because of the responsibility of selflessness and love that it would place upon us? Afraid to face the knowledge that such love would require an end to passive waiting and a beginning of creative waiting, that it would require hard work on the part of man toward a universal settlement, in love, of human strife—whether that strife be a matter of segregation, overpopulation, radioactivity, or whatever.

Yes, the walls we build crack now and then, and a voice comes through: "Where are you, Man?" For some of us, the S.C.A.'s program cracked the walls. What now remains, is to see how we will answer, whether with creative concern or with passive waiting.

Across The Desk....

Hi-Ho Silver And Away...

It is now that time of the year when the old regime of the Hi-Po must leave and the new regime must begin to set their wheels in motion.

It has been the policy of this paper to present the news on campus to the eyes of the students. In some ways we have failed to meet this objective and I hope that in the future the Hi-Po will meet these objectives more fully.

When I took this office I tried to live up to the motto of the paper and that is "the Voice Of The Students". Perhaps, in some places I have failed in fulfilling this motto, but there are some other people who probably feel that I have done it too much without presenting the other viewpoint. On whatever viewpoint you happen to be, I hope that you will give my successor, Don Little, your whole-hearted co-operation in order to rectify some of these mistakes.

As with the SGA, the Hi-Po is effected by student apathy. There have been quite a few occasions when someone told me that someone was going to write something for the Hi-Po and, as of yet, there has been nothing from this particular person. I feel that with the start of this journalism course next year that the Hi-Po will be better and will cover more of the news and views of the students. This, however, will only come about through your support of this course.

In closing, I would like to say that this experience has been very worthwhile, except for only a few gray hairs and a few sleepless nights wondering what to put in the forth coming issue and also wondering if I would be able to get it out on time.

To thank the people that have helped me at this time would take up more space than is available. But I would officially like to thank the following graduating seniors for their time and effort: Louise Whiteley, News Editor; Robin Reece, Greek Editor; Bill Steed, Advertising Manager; Ellen Johnston, Art Editor; and our advisor, Mr. Jere Mitchum.

It now seems to be the time for saying good-by to the office and the time to wish next year's staff the best of luck. I hope that they will be able to correct a few of my mistakes, so that maybe next year's editor will not leave this office with as many gray hairs as I did.

Howard A. Barnes.

Have You Checked Your Wallet?

In the recent months, some of the students in the dorm have had money stolen from their wallets. Up to now the paper has said nothing about it, but we feel that it is about time that something was said about it.

The most recent incident occurred last week when $18 was stolen from one of the ticket salesmen for the Peter, Paul, and Mary concert.

This, of course, has not been the only thing that has been stolen in the dorm. The fireplace equipment has been gone from center section since the beginning of second semester. There has also been that familiar cry of, "Who stole my soap," and recently some people have been crying, "Who stole my brick."

The latter incidents are relatively minor, but to the person or persons involved in the first two incidents, I would like to ask this question. "How do you sleep at night?" It is getting to the point where some of the people living in the dorm do not even trust their neighbor living right across the hall.

As of this writing, the culprit or culprits involved have not been caught in the act of stealing some money from someone's room. When and if ever this happens, I feel that the treatment that they will receive will be far worse than any that could be received in the Dean's office. Until this time occurs, however, the doors of most of the rooms will remain closed in the men's dorm.

CAMPUS COMMENT

By Charles Nesbitt

Frustration, frustration, frustration. How's that for a truthful expression of student feelings at times? Being around campus so much allows me to overhear many interesting and juicy statements. Unfortunately, as I am sure it is, segregation still exists on our campus for males and females. So many "coeds" are climbing the walls in their "dorms" while the young male collegians remain quietly in their little suites at McCulloch Hall frantically reading SEX WITHOUT FEAR. Now don't misunderstand me, I am not advocating mixed dormitories. All that is necessary is to just mix them up a little bit.

Many times I have asked myself what the SGA could do to boost morale on campus and allow anxiety to be released. But the more I think about it the more I begin to wonder about the many possibilities. In trying to face the problem realistically, I have found that there is practically no substitute for a boy-girl fellowship. Of course one may sublimate his or her desires by being a fanatic committee chairman or campus big shot, but actually these various activities do not satisfy as well in many instances. In joking once, I mentioned that my platform should be "nickel beer and free love" but this idea soon evaporated when everyone I mentioned it to was enthusiastically in complete agreement. Good grief, who would have thought that an innocent statement like that would bring so much approval?

In conclusion, this little off-the-cuff chat has done two things. One, it has articulated verbally the existing problem (which is always the first step in solving a problem) and two, it has enabled me to realize more clearly another goal of Student Government in relation to student needs. If at any time any of you have a solution to the problem please contact the closest Student Government officer or drop by Dean Taylor's office immediately. He will relate the message with great vigor. There are, I am sure, actions which can be taken to aid the student in becoming a more vibrant person and an eager learner.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The last article headed "In Concert" again demonstrated the willingness of the editorial staff to write without first seeking the facts surrounding the situation. These are the facts: The date for the Verdi "Requiem" was placed on the Social Calendar in April 1962! Eleven months ago. Had the "STUDENTS" and the "STUDENT GOVERNING ORGANIZATION" checked the calendar, they would have avoided the conflict. When the conflict was noticed from the article in the Hi-Po, the "STUDENTS" and the "STUDENT GOVERNING ORGANIZATION" were informed. At this time neither the contract, nor the financial guarantee had been mailed; so there was no obligation from the College or the Student Body to the "Unique Trio".

Many months of hard rehearsing by the choir and much hard work by some of the Faculty members and a good number of townspeople has gone into bringing the concert to the College. An amount in excess of $3000 had to be raised to finance the concert. The College, let it be stated, has willingly given its share in every respect and has worked with the community from the beginning.

For once may we suggest that the editors of the Hi-Po and the Student Body take off their rose-colored glasses and look the situation square in the face, in the full light of day. Perhaps they then will stop their criticism of the Administration and Faculty and realize that they too can be in error.

Incidentally the choir hopes that if any of the students came to the concert because: 1. "8 o'clock was an awkward time to take a date home", 2. "to take in a little culture and fill an evening with entertainment without further expense, and 3. "little culture wasn't likely to hurt them", that they did the usual thing and remained in the dorm or spent the evening at the Rathskeller.

NOW YOU CAN BE YOUNGER THAN SHE IS

It is a scientific fact that girls reach emotional maturity earlier than boys. For this reason freshman girls are reluctant to make romantic alliances with freshman boys, but instead choose men from the upper classes.

Thus the freshman boys are left dateless, and many is the night the entire freshman dorm sobs itself to sleep. An equally moist situation exists among upper-class girls. With upper-class men being snapped up by freshman girls, the poor ladies of the upper class are reduced to dreary, manless evenings of Monopoly and home permanents.

It pleases me to report there is a solution for this morbid situation—indeed, a very simple solution. Why don't the two great have-not groups—the freshman boys and the upper-class girls—find solace with each other?

True, there is something of an age differential, but that need not matter. Take, for example, the case of Albert Payson Sigafos and Eustacia Vye.

Albert Payson, a freshman in sand and gravel at Vanderbilt University, was walking across the campus one day, weeping softly in his loneliness. Blinded by tears, he stumbled upon the supine form of Eustacia Vye, a senior in wicker and raffia, who was collapsed in a wretched heap on the turf.

"Why don't you watch where you're going, you minor youth?" said Eustacia peevishly.

"I'm sorry, lady," said Albert Payson and started to move on. But suddenly he stopped, struck by an inspiration. "Lady," he said, tugging his forelock, "don't think me forward, but I know why you're miserable. It's because you can't get a date. Well, neither can I. So why don't we date each other?"

"Surely you jest!" cried Eustacia, looking with scorn upon his tiny head and body.

"Oh, I know I'm younger than you are," said Albert Payson, "but that doesn't mean we can't find lots of fun things to do together."

"Like what?" she asked.

"Well," said Albert Payson, "we could build a Snowman."

"Bah!" said Eustacia, grinding her teeth.

"All right then," said Albert Payson, "we could go down to the pond and catch some frogs."

"Ugh!" said Eustacia, shuddering her entire length.

"How about some Run-Sheep-Run?" suggested Albert Payson.

"You are callow, green, and immature," said Eustacia, "and I will thank you to remove your underaged presence from mine eyes."

Sighing, Albert Payson lighted a cigarette and started away. "Stay!" cried Eustacia.

He stayed.

"Was that a Marlboro Cigarette you just lighted?" she asked.

"What else?" said Albert Payson.

"Then you are not immature!" she exclaimed, clasping him to her clavicle. "For to smoke Marlboros is the very essence of wisdom, the height of American know-how, the incontrovertible proof that you can tell gold from dross, right from wrong, fine aged tobaccos from pale, pathetic substitutes. Albert Payson, if you will still have me, I am yours!"

"I will," he said, and did, and today they are married and run the second biggest wicker and raffia establishment in Duluth, Minnesota.

Celtics Win All-Campus Crown

By Richard Stinson

The night—March 6, 1963, The Event—The Campus Intramural Basketball Championship Game, The Participants—The Independent Celtics against the Fraternity Champions Delta Sigma Phi, The Winner—The Celtics. This was the story that night.

Soon after eating dinner, many basketball enthusiasts, player and spectator alike, made their ways to the Alumni Gymnasium for the Campus Intramural Basketball Championship game. Greek Champs, Delta Sigma Phi, sporting a 5-0 record were pitted against the Independent Champion Celtics (5-0) for the over-all campus crown. By a crude count, this reporter spotted approximately fifty spectators, many of whom showed obvious devotion to certain individual players on the two teams. As the game got under way, it was apparent that the Delta Sigs were not up to their usual form and were off to a slow start. Amidst the sound of sneakers hitting the court and the basketball being sent back and forth down the playing area, could be heard the unmistakable audible instructions of Celtic team captain Ed Greeson. He talked a great game, and in the interest of his guest for notoriety, it should be said that he did a good job of rounding up an excellent group of ballplayers. At the half the score was 33-20 in favor of the Celtics. At the start of the second half, the cry heard from the Delta Sig bench was "Rebound! Rebound!" This was a problem for the Delta Sigs who also had a hard time keeping possession of the ball and getting off many of their shots. The Celtics should be credited with a fine defensive game especially the first half. In the second half, the Delta Sigs, several of their players showing definite masculine facial characteristics, picked up their game somewhat, and after previously trailing the Celtics by 17 points, caught up with them with four minutes remaining in the game. The score at this point was 46-46; but until the game was over, the score was constantly fluctuating. The game ended with a score of 52-48 in favor of the Celtics. Had the Delta Sigs been hotter the first half, the outcome might have been different. Standouts for both teams were Ken Rich and Dave Young of the Celtics, having 14 and 12 points respectively, and Mike Rosenmarkle and Ken Deal, having 17 and 11 points respectively.

Congratulations to both teams for being individual league champions and to the Celtics for winning the campus championship. Credit should also be given to Joel Silver and Tracy McCarthy for their fine job of officiating this game.

Women's Basketball

In the women's intramural Basketball Tournament, North and Wesley had a perfect season with five wins. The winning team was coached by Sue Bradley, Jean Wright, and Juanita Speight. The players on the winning team were Helen Paisley, Rheanza Waldrep, Nancy Gunter, Joyce Kirkman, Jeannie Van Northwick, Jean Wright, Sue Bradley, Pat Phillips, Juanita Speight, Patti Collier, Fran Smith, and Jean McCollum.

Second and Third Women's, Alpha Gamma Delta, and First Women's and Day Students ended in a three way tie for second place. Each of the teams had a three-two record.

The following girls were the ten top scorers in the basketball tournament:

Player	Games	Pts.	Av.
Helen Paisley	5	58	11.6
Rheanza Waldrep	5	48	9.6
Joyce Kirkman	4	32	8.0

Callie Bailey	4	24	6.0
Rosanna Barefoot	3	18	6.0

Little's Bit

By Don Little

Here I go on a new venture. Now I am faced with the task of writing a column for every issue. You see, I have decided that it is better for the editor-in-chief to maintain a column of his own, in order to encourage other staff members and any interested students to fill the usual editorial column.

In this column, I will express views that are solely my own. If you agree with me — good. If you don't agree with me — then write a student editorial or letter to the editor and turn it in to me. I will not confine myself to any particular realm of thought (if I am capable of the process). I am apt to comment on any subject from sex to daffodils.

Without further ado, I shall proceed to plunge into the inkwell and blot my opinions on this page for all to see.

One thing which constantly bugs me about this school is the fact that no one seems to know what the rules of the college really are. Of course the catalog and student handbook carry the rules to be followed by students, but I feel that these are grossly ineffective. Take the rules of the Men's Dormitory Council for example. That is the most negative list of "don'ts" that I can possibly imagine. It appears as if it were composed by taking a list of the problems which occurred in the dorm for a year and putting "don't" in front of each of them.

As for the unwritten rules of the college, I can't really see how anyone can be expected to obey rules which he nor anyone else knows about. Most of the general rules of the college seem to be unwritten and merely thought up and applied as an afterthought when the occasion arises. No one ever seems to know that it is against the rules to do something until after it is done and he is reprimanded for it. I, for one, would like to see a simple, concise, and positive code of the college drawn up to guide students, faculty, and administration. It should not be a list of "don'ts", but rather a summary of the bounds within which we are free to operate.

There has been so much controversy in this state over the barring of the press from the N. C. Senate committee meeting and from the floor of the Senate, that I can't resist expressing my opinion on the subject. It seems to me that the political regime in Raleigh is reversing the old saying and putting old wine into new skins when they move into a new state-house and immediately begin to invoke censorship rules which seem rather primitive to me. I realize that some public business must of necessity be kept classified, but I feel that the people of North Carolina are being done a great injustice by those who try to restrict the press. It seems more important to me that the press should be allowed to obtain news freely than that any senator should be protected from personal attacks by other senators. Perhaps it is rude for one senator to personally attack another, but it is more than rude for the press to be treated like dirt when they merely try to report the news.

Class Officers Elected

Junior Class

Brian McIntosh won a runoff vote to become the president of the rising Junior Class. He defeated Marcia Wechter 54-38 in the runoff. Jerry Fennell was eliminated in the first vote. Rick Grimsley easily defeated Carol Jean Neal for the office of vice president. Kay DeMik was unopposed for secretary, and Art Warren was the choice for class treasurer.

In the race for the legislature, Pam Hancox and Gayle Nichols won seats from the ballot, while Don Bryant beat out Jeanne Downs by a write-in vote. His name did not appear on the ballot.

For the judiciary, Joe Lorber and Nancy Yeager eliminated Betty Rogers in the first round, and in the runoff, Lorber handily defeated Nancy Yeager for the seat on the Judiciary Council.

Senior Class

Bob Kornegay was elected unanimously to the office of President of the rising senior class on Friday, March 22. Bob has also served as president of the present junior class.

Harriet Finerty was chosen to be vice president, and Bonnie Dennis was elected secretary for a second term. Ken Gunn was elected treasurer.

Riley Fields, Ray Alley, and Don Little were chosen to represent the class in the legislature, and Wayne Burris will sit in the Judiciary Council for the Senior class.

Attendance at the meeting was very low, with only a small percentage of the class participating in the elections.

John Ward Gets WF Grant

Dr. Henry Stroupe, director of the Division of Graduate Studies of Wake Forest College, announced last week that John E. Ward, Jr., a senior biology major at HPC is the recipient of a graduate assistantship at Wake Forest for the 1963-1964 year. While there Ward will be studying for a M.A. degree in Biology.

Ward, the past treasurer of the SGA, is a member of Who's Who, the Scholastic Honor Society, the Order of the Lighted Lamp.

PETERSON RUNS FOR CITY COUNCIL

Dr. Herbert Peterson, Associate Professor of Education at High Point College, has announced his candidacy for the City Council of the city of High Point. Urged by his fellow citizens in this pursuit, Dr. Peterson promises honesty, integrity, and service to the people of the city.

Dr. Peterson was guided into his decision to enter the political contest by his neighbors, who believe in his ability to represent them. Motivated into this action, he exhibited his interest and concern in the common mass of citizenry with the oft quoted, "God must have loved the common man, for he made so many of them."

Although Dr. Peterson has no previous record of political races, his qualifications for this office may be based upon his wide knowledge of humanity and his active support and participation in the Republican party. Holding an A.B. degree from Central Wesleyan College and M.A. and Ed.D. degrees from the University of Denver, he has also studied at Westminster Choir College,

Dr. Cole To Act As Dean of College

Acting Dean of High Point College for the coming academic year will be Dr. David Cole, professor and head of the History Department of the College. This announcement comes from Dr. Wendell M. Patton, college president, who stated that Dr. Cole will fill the vacancy created when Dean Conrad was appointed to head the curriculum study the College plans next year.

In his new capacity, which he will assume while still maintaining his present duties, Dr. Cole will have supervision of curriculum, faculty student academic guidance, and schedules. In addition, he will be responsible for such things as the college catalog and will direct and plan admission and registration with Registrar Yarborough. The academic dean also acts as College president in the absence of the president and is the co-chairman of all faculty meetings.

Dr. Cole came to High Point from Pfeiffer College, where he was a professor of History. He has also taught at Lander College, Greenville, S. C., and at the University of South Carolina. It was at USC also that Dr. Cole received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees earlier. His A.B. is from Erskine College.

Assoc. Group Coming

On May 5-8, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools Examination Committee will visit High Point College to analyze our self-study program which has just recently been completed.

Dr. Hugh McEniry, Dean of Stetson University is the head of this committee, and the other members are as follows: Dr. Fred Cole, President of Washington and Lee; Dr. Dyckman Vermilye, Dean of Students at Rollins College; Dr. Blanch Weaver, Assistant Dean of the Graduate School at Vanderbilt; Dr. Charles Vail, Dean of Hampden-Sidney College; and Dr. H. C. Woodgridge, of Murray State College.

The committee will study the campus for the following purposes: 1. To satisfy themselves that HPC meets the association's standards for accreditation; 2. To determine whether or not the HPC self-study is a correct evaluation of the situation at High Point College. This Committee's evaluation will be the final step in the self-study program which is required by the Southern Association every ten years.

Miller Joins Science Dept

Dr. Halsey W. Miller will join the faculty of High Point College next year as a member of the biology department. Dr. Miller is currently an associate professor at the University of Arizona.

Dr. Miller was graduated with distinction from Temple University where he received a B.S. in Zoology. He earned his masters degree in geology at Yale and received a doctorate in geology and zoology at the University of Kansas.

Before going to the University of Arizona, Dr. Miller worked with the Kansas State geological survey. He plans to spend this coming summer working with the Marine Biological Division of Duke University before coming to High Point College next fall.

Dr. Miller is a married man with one child, and he is a member of the Episcopalian Church.

Dr. Herbert Peterson

Dr. Peterson, an ordained minister, served as a Methodist missionary in Malaya, Argentina, and the Orient; and further contributed to the development of educational opportunities in these areas. He was instrumental in rebuilding the Anglo-Chinese School, Singapore, and the Methodist Boys School, Penang, in Malaya, following the close of World War II. He helped the government of Singapore to establish a junior college in their Singapore School.

Due to a policy formulated during the first decade of the college's existence when another professor, Mr. T. C. Johnson, was a successful candidate for City Council, the College cannot endorse Dr. Peterson's campaign. Dr. Wendell Patton, President, explains the school's policy in this manner: "I think that one of my responsibilities is to defend the right of any faculty member to exercise his responsibility as a citizen, and my approval of Dr. Peterson's running in this election no way involves the Recent actions by certain individuals on our delightful campus have stirred me to ponder upon our seemingly serious social situation (accidental alliteration). It seems, much to my disbelief, that those individuals have taken it upon themselves to initiate a twentieth century social reformation right in our midst—Ye devils beware of your unpretentious neighbors or you too may find yourself, against your will, in DT's posh pad!

Chapter I

Perhaps this rash outbreak of "holier than thou-ism" is the "gimmick" President Patton has been looking for to propel our institution to great heights among the educational country clubs of America. On the other hand, and considerably more likely, the motive of this reformation is a deep-seated psychological conflict or jealousy. It's hard to lead the "good life" and convince oneself that absence of the ephemeral pleasures will result in everlasting peace. I have an abundance of respect for those holier than I, but cannot help but loathe those who profess the "good life" and yet, in a paradoxical manner, seek to persecute those unmercifully fettered to the ways of Brother Satan. With this emotional surge of motivation, I implore that 77.8% of the student body which is going to hell, along with myself, to project their animosities on the self-professed reformers rather than our oft unjustly persecuted Dean of Students. The dean is not our enemy. He is here only to enforce our self-devised rules and regulations. Wake up fellow sinners! We don't need a new dean. Our need lies, rather, in a new set of rules and regulations or perhaps some persuasive tactics to convince that 22.2% dedicated to our humiliation that we're going to exist despite their efforts. Ostracize them until they learn to accept our existence as we accept theirs.

Chapter II

Last year the executive council of the SGA, along with the Men's Dormitory Council, struggled through many long and hard battles against our segatious Mr. Williams in an effort to obtain vending machines for McCulloch Hall. Much to the surprise of the male portion of our campus, the battle was won by the "good guys" and vending machines were placed in the lounge of McCulloch Hall. As per usual, however, students couldn't accept the favor of the administration and have attempted on several occasions to outwit the machines with slugs. The machines, however, retaliate by jamming, thus causing many a frustrated drink-seeker to loose control of his senses. The smashed-in front of the Coke machine is an example of the senseless destruction which the infuriated drink-seeker uses to relieve his frustrations. As a result, the Coke company has threatened to withdraw its machine and has asked Dean Taylor to take measures against such destructive action.

Calm down next time, and take a minute to slip a note under Mrs. Mac's door. She'll see that all money is refunded and besides acting like an adult can be so much fun. With Coke on our backs, the boys' dorm is petitioning Mr. Williams for a new milk and juice machine. Good Luck!

CAMPUS COMMENT

By Charles Nesbitt

Why is it that so few of us today take the time to communicate with ourselves and meditate on the really important things in life? Of course the "important things" with which we are all concerned vary extensively. Because of the tremendous rise in technology and production, we naturally tend to follow a mechanized trend. I find myself many times so involved with activities and pleasurable fantasies that I don't even realize "who" I am or "what" I am living for. This involvement is dangerous. It is dangerous for many reasons. By becoming so regulated in the environment we stifle our minds and refuse to live, we disregard individuality and race fanatically to the group for security, we refuse to recognize the divinity which is in each of us, we don't have time to create or explore life in its fullest, we tuck our faiths and ideals back in the farthest and darkest corner of our skulls and become deeply loyal to the attractive beauty of materialism. Yes, unfortunately we have tendencies to vegetate and take root in social soil. But by re-evaluation we can realize that the things we consider so important are possibly being unrealistic and only superficial. Once we do begin to take root in reality, life suddenly becomes excitingly worthwhile.

Since each one of us is a unique individual and completely separate from others intellectually and religiously, we each must find our own meaning for life. If I could read one book and listen to one person tell me how to live I would be nothing but a mechanical nut. I sincerely think that in order to find meaning it is necessary to search continually and investigate life in the best possible way suited to the individual's needs and capabilities. We as college students have a most wonderful opportunity to test ourselves and begin to be successful as persons. There are many ways to obtain life I am sure. For some the world of the library can prove to be a means for reawakening. For others the world of the classroom. And still others may find new meanings in student activities as is found on the campus. Wouldn't it be wonderful to combine all of these sources so that the mental processes begin to flow and an intelligent student emerges. Believe me, I am trying! I admit that I have failed in many ways in being a dedicated person and a serious searcher — but continual re-dedication is very helpful.

Again allow me to emphasize the great possibilities that I believe are present all around us here at High Point College. Let me urge as many as possible to fear not and to permit college life to be rewarding by participating in experiences of utmost satisfaction by creating and testing ideas through our HI-PO and through our Student Government Association which is conclusive of all campus organizations.

As students let's be heard, as individuals let's be aware by beginning to take root and live.

If you are interested in library work as a profession or as a student assistant, you are ESPECIALLY invited to come to the library and make inquiry during National Library Week, April 21-27.

—Marcella Carter.

Now, let's see, Am I getting up or going to bed?

..... Across The Desk Collegian's Easter

A new regime has taken over the HI-PO. With it come new policies and procedures. We will try to produce a paper that is truly the "Voice of the students," and not the "Voice of the HI-PO staff." We will also make an extended effort to improve the face of the HI-PO. We are presently working on a new masthead which will give the paper a more modern, progressive look. With the increased use of pictorial journalism, we feel that we can make this newspaper more attractive and more interesting.

However, we realize that looks aren't everything. A college paper should not only look attractive, it should keep its readers well informed on what is happening on campus. It also has an obligation to express the opinions and views of the students. This we want to do. To facilitate this undertaking, we are initiating a new policy of student editorials. We are offering you the students the privilege of expressing your views editorially, so that you will be able to actuate the vocal cords of the "Voice of the students." We will run student editorials as a supplement to staff editorials and letters to the editor. We encourage you to submit any editorial comments you may have on any subject. Our paper is not limited to events on campus. Guest editorials on local or national politics, religion, or any other subject will be welcome.

We will not be without editorial comment from the editor, however. We will maintain a separate column for the editor to express his opinions.

As for the general policies of the HI-PO for this coming year, we will try to present the news fairly and objectively. Our editorial policy will be to both praise and constructively criticize anyone or anything which we feel is necessary. We will not attempt to take our hatchet to the administration or anyone else, but if our comments step on anyone's toes, we can only say that we hope it hurts! We feel that the HI-PO can serve a valuable purpose on campus — that of expressing the ideas and opinions of our student body, but this can only be done if YOU are willing to contribute. We are giving you a place in this paper. We don't want to do all the talking, so why don't you speak up and let the world know where you stand on important issues. Your ideas aren't worth the time it takes to think them unless you express them for others to hear. We only request a small portion of the ideas and opinions you throw away in dormitory bull sessions. We want to have a constructive, printed bull session on page two of the HI-PO. How about throwing in your two bits worth.

Collegian's Easter

The time on High Point College campus is a few days before Easter vacation. Students, dressed in the conforming manner of wee-juns, London fog coats, wrap-around skirts, madras blouses, ivy league pants, and sunglasses, hasten across campus from one building to another. One may see on their faces the brown of a newly acquired suntan. In the atmosphere one can detect an air of excitement — the excitement of an up-coming vacation and REST. But is this all that the vacation will mean to the students — relaxation from the hectic life of school and an escape from test-mad professors? If any one were asked what was different about the campus during this season, the answer would probably be something to the effect that the daffodils are blooming or that they are now selling Easter egg candy in the bookstore. But does anyone bother to think about the real meaning of Easter during this season? If anyone should bother to even think about Easter at all, he would probably think of the new clothes and beautiful flowers. The shouts about the beach trips and parties come in loud and clear. Unlike a winning basketball team which fills the gymnasium with thundrous shouts of v-i-c-t-o-r-y, the victory of a meaningful life is silent and unproclaimed by the sophisticate of higher learning.

What is the real meaning of Easter for collegians? Easter is more than a hill, a man, and a cross. It is a campus, a student, and a struggle — which is life. When a student begins to find his own answers, through keep thinking and searching, to the true living of life — whether it be in April, June, or December — this is EASTER. One cannot know the meaning of Easter unless his life has meaning every day. He cannot know Christ on Easter unless he knows Christ every day. One cannot expect to find Christ in a church on Easter morning — as he is dressed in the finest new clothing, if he cannot find Christ in the poorest dressed people every day. The true meaning of Easter is not found in the death and resurrection of a man, but in a man's LIVING from day to day — his loving, his reaching out, and his final grasping of the true meaning of all of life.

How many of us rushing around in our sunglasses and wee-juns are really living each day? How many of us experience a Christ in our lives every day? If we do, college students, we do not need to wait until April 14th to experience Easter. We are experiencing it now!

AMONG MY KINFOLK

My favorite cousin, Mandolin Glebe, a sweet, unspoiled country boy, has just started college. Today I got a letter from him which I will reprint here because I know Mandolin's problems are so much like your own. Mandolin writes:

Dear Mandolin (he thinks my name is Mandolin too), I see by the college paper that you are writing a column for Marlboro Cigarettes. I think Marlboros are jim-dandy cigarettes with real nice tobacco and a ginger-peachy filter, and I want to tell you why I don't smoke them.

It all started the very first day I arrived at college. I was walking across the campus, swinging my paper valise and singing traditional airs like Blue Tail Fly and Death and Transfiguration, when all of a sudden I ran into this here collegiate-looking fellow with a monogram on his breast pocket. He asked me was I a freshman. I said yes. He asked me did I want to be a BMOC and the envy of all the in crowd. I said yes. He said the only way to make these keen things happen was to join a fraternity. Fortunately he happened to have a pledge card with him, so he pricked my thumb and I signed. He didn't tell me the name of the fraternity or where it is located, but I suppose I'll find out when I go active.

She carried me to a chic French restaurant

Meanwhile this fellow comes around every week to collect the dues, which are $100, plus a $10 fine for missing the weekly meeting, plus a $5 assessment to buy a headstone for Spot, the late, beloved beagle who was the fraternity mascot.

I have never regretted joining the fraternity, because it is my dearest wish to be a BMOC and the envy of all the in crowd, but you can see that it is not cheap. It wouldn't be so bad if I slept at the frat house, but you must agree that I can't sleep at the house if I don't know where the house is.

I have rented a room which is not only grotesquely expensive, but it is not at all the kind of room I was looking for. I wanted someplace reasonably priced, clean, comfortable, and within easy walking distance of classes, the shopping district, and San Francisco and New York. What I found was a bedroom in the home of a local costermonger which is dingy, expensive, and uncomfortable—and I don't even get to use the bed till 7 a.m. when my landlord goes out to mong his costers.

Well anyhow, I got settled and the next thing I did, naturally, was to look for a girl. And I found her. Harriet, her name is, a beautiful creature standing just under seven feet high and weighing 385 pounds. I first spied her leaning against the statue of the Founder, dozing lightly. I talked to her for several hours without effect. Only when I mentioned dinner did she stir. Her milky little eyes opened, she raised a brawny arm, seized my nape, and carried me to a chic French restaurant called Le Chippoint where she consumed, according to my calculations, her own weight in chateaubriand.

After dinner she lapsed into a torpor from which I could not rouse her, no matter how I tried. I banged my glass with a fork, I pinched her great pendulous jowls, I rubbed the legs of my corduroy pants together. But nothing worked, and finally I slung her over my shoulder and carried her to the girls dorm, slipping several discs in the process.

Fortunately, medical care for students is provided free at the college infirmary. All I had to pay for were a few extras, like X-rays, anaesthesia, forceps, hemostats, scalpels, catgut, linen, towels, amortization, and nurses. They would not, however, let me keep the nurses.

So, dear cousin, it is lack of funds, not lack of enthusiasm, that is keeping me from Marlboro Cigarettes—dear, good Marlboros with their fine blend of choice tobaccos and their pure white Selectrate filter and their soft pack and their flip top box.

Well, I must close now. My pencil is wore out and I can't afford another. Keep 'em flying.

Yr. cousin Mandolin Glebe

On March 23 Lambda Chi Alpha held its annual Founders' Day Banquet and White Rose Ball. The event took place at the Greensboro Moose Lodge with music provided by the Scotsmen. Miss Jackee Peace of Duke was crowned Crescent Girl. Miss Sue Lynn Rothrock, Phi Mu, was chosen to be in the court. Playboy's Joe College Mr. Average

He is 20.6 years old. Twelve chances out of a hundred, he is married. He spent $68 in refurbishing his back-to-campus wardrobe. It's an even bet that he owns or has full-time use of an automobile. He makes a point of being well-groomed and has already accumulated much of the gear of the good life.

He is Joe College, 1963.

A mass of brand new information about the nation of male undergraduates is revealed in a new study, "Male College Student Survey," conducted by the research firm, Benn Management Corporation, in cooperation with the Market Research Department of Playboy magazine. Involving a sample size of 12,100 mail questionnaires, the survey results are based on final returns from more than 5,000 male students from 72 U. S. colleges and universities.

The survey shows that 11.2% of today's male student are married. 11.8% of today's undergraduates underwrite all of their college expenses, while 17.2% do not contribute at all to their college support. 62.4% live on campus, 22.4% off campus but not with their families, and 15.2% reside off campus with their families. 29.3% belong to a social fraternity.

As to outside jobs, the study shows that 52.8% work during summer only, while 30.3% work both during the summer and school year. 14.6% do not work at all.

How dependent are today's college students on the automobile? The survey shows that 36.7% possess their own cars while 10.7% have full-time personal use of one. While December was still early in the current model year, 2.7% already drive a 1963 automobile, 10.7% a 1962 model, 8.4% a 1961 model and 7.6% a 1960 model.

When asked about alcoholic beverage consumption, 66.8% of all male undergraduates responded affirmatively. Moreover, 60.5% drink beer, 25.3% wine, 50% liquor.

50.4% of all male college students surveyed answered that they smoked: 41.8% cigarettes, 11.9% cigars and 14.8% pipes. Among cigarette smokers, filter types were the favorite, with the total sample showing 66.8% preferring this kind of a cigarette. 14.5% smoke king size, while 22.3% smoke regular. Cigar smokers

Congratulations to the Sig Eps who celebrated their 10th anniversary as a National Fraternity on March 21!

The Pikas send congratulations to alumni brother Laine Mashburn and wife Judy on their new baby girl. Mrs. Mashburn is the former Miss Judy Lane of Kappa Delta Sorority here at High Point.

The Phi Mu's welcomed a new pledge, Marcia Wechter of Greensboro, on March 26.

Spring seems to be taking its effect on the Greek world lately. Jim Surratt, Lambda Chi, is pinned to Miss Liz Clark. Bobby Braswell, Theta Chi, is engaged to Miss Nancy Warren. Among the various serenades which have taken place lately are the following: Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Mu serenaded Miss Joy Watkins on March 18. Miss Nancy Warren was serenaded by Theta Chi on March 23. The Sig Eps held a double serenade on March 27 for Bob McKechnie and Bonnie Saksa, and Bill Steed and Sylvia Leckie.

Congratulations to the Pikas who recently won the annual intramural foul shooting contest. Pikas Connor, Harris, Blake, and Parsons put in 151 shots out of a possible 200 to win the event!

Phi Mu's are proud of Sister Betty Treece and Pledge Sister Katy Mims who were chosen to be in the Theta Chi Sweetheart Court, and of Sister Harriet Finerty who was elected vice president of the Senior Class.

The KD's are presently working very hard practicing for the Jaycee Jollies to be held April 24-27. They were guests at the local Jaycees' dinner meeting, April 4, after which they entertained the Jaycees with their "Lollypop" act.

CAMPUS PROFILE

Patti Colliver

"Miss Congeniality," a title awarded to her during the 1962 Miss High Point College Contest, aptly describes Patti Colliver, a senior from Flemingsburg, Kentucky. Patti's effervescent smile, her ready words of encouragement, and her ukulele would make her a welcome addition to any campus.

Patti's four years at High Point College plainly attest to her versatility. She was a Junior Marshall, a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp, a contestant in the 1962 Miss HPC Contest, and the 1963 May Queen. She has been a class officer and president of the Methodist Student Fellowship, and this year was elected to the Ten Top Seniors and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Patti has always been active in campus religious activities, and this year is president of the Student Christian Council. She was the student director of this year's Religious Emphasis Week, which presented the unique program of "Waiting."

Patti, who will receive a B.S. degree in Biology in May, plans to remain in High Point where she hopes to teach next year.

"For Every Citizen to Read" Is Title of Hays' New Book

During the Korean War, several of our soldiers, under pressure from their Chinese Communists captors, renounced the United States rather than face the torment that patriotism would bring.

The reason why these soldiers gave up allegiance to their country was one of the things which prompted Dr. Leopold M. Hays to write his book For Every Citizen to Read. Other reasons developed from Dr. Hays' experiences in his military service work, from his work in large urban centers, and from his work as a minister and counselor in several states.

The purpose of For Every Citizen to Read is to call the attention of the general public to the necessity and responsibility for guiding children and youth into becoming good citizens of our nation. Why is

Of pipe smokers, 44.9% said that they smoked five or less pipefuls during the week preceding the survey. 27% smoked 6 to 10 pipefuls, 8%, 11 to 15; 7.6%, 16 to 20 and 6.5%, 21 to 30. The median price for their last pound of tobacco purchased was $2.30.

While the median expenditure for back-to-school wardrobes in 1962 was $68.07, 32% spent over $100 and 8.7% over $200. The typical student wardrobe consists of 2.6 suits, 2 sports jackets, 6.5 pairs of slacks, 3.8 pairs of shoes, 6.2 dress shirts, 10 sport shirts, 1.1 topcoats or overcoats, 1.4 other winter coats, .9 raincoats, .7 dress hats, 4.7 sweaters, 8.3 ties, 2.7 belts, 14.6 pairs of socks, 10 undershirts, 10.5 pairs of undershorts.

As to home entertainment, off-campus and on-campus, 49% own record players, 16.9%, tape recorders; 63.1%, table model radios; 16.5%, television sets. In addition, 53.1% own transistor or portable radios.

there so much crime in the United States? Why are there so many divorces? Why do approximately 20,000 people commit suicide each year? Dr. Hays answers these questions and many similar ones with one word: environment. Creating an environment which will produce better citizens is the theme of Dr. Hays' book. Every person interested in the future of his country should read this book.

Dr. Hays, Associate Professor of Sociology and Chairman of the Department of Sociology, has been a member of the High Point College faculty since 1955. He received his A.B. degree from Duke University and his S.T.B. and his Ph.D. from Boston University.

Dr. Hays' life has not been dull. During the Depression, he was a Navy airplane mechanic, a taxicab driver, a bus driver, a garage operator, and a Methodist minister. He is a retired Army lieutenant colonel, an active Civic Air Patrol officer, and a pilot.

Dr. Hays' book is on sale in the College Bookstore and is also available in the library.

Cummings Head Of Paint Center

Dr. E. O. Cummings is retiring from his position as head of the chemistry department after this year in order to devote his time to the Industrial Coatings Center located at High Point College. This center is designed for the purpose of recruiting and training industrial chemists. The project is being financed largely by various industries, chiefly those which manufacture paints and other related products.

Through the chemistry courses offered in the field of paints and coatings, this center will be able to study and solve many problems relating to the paint industry. High Point College and these industries will be able to work hand in hand to solve technical problems that may arise.

Since High Point College is one of the few colleges in the nation offering such a specialized program, the Industrial Coatings Center will be of great value to the paint and coatings manufacturers over a wide area.

The demand is great for chemists in this field, and High Point College has supplied a large portion of those in this area. Over sixty per cent of the paint chemists in this vicinity graduated from High Point College.

Dr. Cummings is a widely respected authority in the field of paint chemistry. He has been primarily responsible for the emphasis on this field of chemistry here at High Point College.

Dr. Cummings will continue to teach courses in the Chemistry department, though Dr. Chris Wilson will assume the duties of head of the department.

Raiford Porter To Teach at Governor's Art School

Mr. Raiford M. Porter, a member of the High Point College Fine Arts Department, has been asked to conduct classes in drawing and painting for eight weeks this summer at the Governor's School for Gifted Children.

The school is in its inaugural year and has been financed through a $25,000 grant from the Carnegie Foundation. This sum was matched by various industries and foundations in Winston-Salem. The school was developed for the purpose of giving the artistically gifted and intellectually superior child in North Carolina a chance to attend an eight-week concentrated study session in the form of an award to selected junior and senior high school students. There will be approximately five hundred students selected from the entire state. All expenses will be paid, including tuition, books, room, and board.

The faculty has been chosen from both in and out of this state. Scientists, artists, and scholars of reputation have been selected to instruct these students in their specific areas in order to make courses available in both the related and foreign fields. In addition to the courses of concentration, Mr. Porter will also offer a related lecture course to be elected by the entire student body of the school.

Mr. Porter graduated from William and Mary College with a B.F.A. degree. Later he received his M.F.A. degree from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. In 1952, Mr. Porter received a Fulbright Grant to study the art of India. For a year and a half, he studied at Viswa Bharati University in West Bengal, India. During the summer of 1954, he traveled and studied in Italy, France, Spain, and England. He has also studied lithography and ceramics at the Instituto Allende in San Miguel, Mexico.

Mr. Porter is a teacher-painter, having exhibited his work in Asia, Europe, and America.

Nat. Library Week In April

National Library Week, 1963, is April 21-27. Launched in the spring of 1958, National Library Week is sponsored by the National Book Committee, Inc. (formed in 1954 of outstanding citizens from all fields of endeavor). It is a non-profit citizens' organization representing public interest in books and reading of all types, with the purpose of keeping books free, making them widely available, and encouraging people to read them.

This special week is now an established, continuing, year-round effort to help build a reading nation as well as to spur the use and improvement of libraries of all types. Your HPC Library joins in this library emphasis week and stresses READING, which gives valuable personal returns. Reading helps the reader to enlarge his world, to gain perspective, to realize his potential excellence, to savor his leisure and to find new meaning in his work. Just as the lives of HPC students are not limited to the college campus, so is the reading not limited to strictly personal returns, but goes beyond the campus and makes possible achievement of the social, educational, cultural and economic goals of the individual and society. In brief, reading may be a means toward full pursuit of life, liberty, and happiness. Your HPC library's ultimate goal is to help to develop an informed, creative citizenry that is competent and willing to make the choices and decisions that free men and women must make. President Kennedy said, "Books and libraries and the will to use them are among the most important tools our nation has to diffuse knowledge and to develop our powers of creative wisdom." He went on to say that he hopes National Library Week will serve to stimulate reading throughout the nation.

During this annual week an occasion for focusing unprecedented attention on the values of reading and the role of our college library arises. But the week itself is only a part of the total program — the "high point" of the year's organized efforts to turn the climate of interest into specific information and concrete action that will result in demand of and support for better library services, and will encourage more reading among our people, students and faculty. Every current major social, educational and economic development in this country today is tending vastly to increase our need for better informed citizens and better libraries of all kinds: an exploding population, a geometrically expanding body of knowledge which must be made readily available to an increasing number of people; important revisions of educational methods and content at all levels which emphasize individualized learning and independent study; increased leisure time; job and skill obsolescence and retaining for new jobs, to name just a few.

Yes, the Wrenn Memorial Library has grown and, we hope, will continue to do so. A new wing was added in September, 1959; facilities have been increased; and both faculty and students seem to find a greater need for our library tools. To share with you our encouragement, we include the following statistics on circulation:

Dec.	2003	2007	2401	2166	2770
Jan.	2482	2008	2778	2528	2999
Feb.	3051	2389	2865	3066	3849

Increasing use of the library serves to keep us reminded that library needs grow with growth and advancement of the school.

We are conscious of the fateful fact that in college we experience the last formal or academic opportunity for the library to help to develop talents and influence reading and study habits; this realization should motivate us to even greater efforts. But the library, in order to do a good job, must be an "involved" unit of the campus; librarians cannot accomplish the job alone.

All of us must be aroused and made aware of our needs for reading, either for information or for continuing self-education. Along with this realization, all of us need to be continuously aware of the fact that the library can and should be able to offer to all on the campus a range of knowledge and enjoyment to satisfy every interest and purpose. Then all of us must be encouraged to believe that what we learn and think and contribute has meaning not only for us and our efforts on the HPC campus, but also for our community and nation. Finally, we must all become involved by making fuller use of our library, demanding more of it, and seeking to improve it.

April Fool Social Held

Monday, April 1, normally set aside as the day for the fool to pursue his devilish pranks, served also as a day (or shall I say evening) of special treats—a soc-hoppin' social hour with refreshments—through the sponsorship of the Freshman class. The student center was the site of this gala affair, and Mrs. Warren, High Point College Social Director, chaperoned.

The April Fools' Social was planned by the Freshman Class Social Committee under the chairmanship of Phyllis Foy. Elaine Roux and George Roycroft worked together in coordination of the affair.

"Collegians" on TV

"The Collegians," High Point College vocal quintet, appeared on the "TV Matinee" show on Channel 2, Greensboro, on Tuesday, April 2.

"The Collegians" is a group of HPC students who specialize in folk music and spirituals. Tom Page is the leader of the group who sings and plays a ukulele. Other members of the group who sing are Louise Whiteley, Peggy McNamee, Harry Lilly, and Charles Nesbitt.

In addition to singing and playing, Tom Page also composes some original ballads which the group sings. "The Collegians" do many popular ballads, often in their own style, which often proves quite interesting.

"The Collegians" perform at various campus functions as well as at local conventions.

college and in no way implies the support of the college. It is not an endorsement of the candidate nor of the party."

Explaining his purpose in participating in the forthcoming election, Dr. Peterson commented: "I am dedicated to the proposition of High Point as a municipality that is able and should prove its own way. The city of High Point would be ill-advised to ask for federal aid, unless disaster fell on the city. Man should be proud to carry his own responsibilities and expenses without extending his hand for money. High Point is a very great and a reasonably wealthy industrial area that can carry its own expense."

In conclusion, Dr. Peterson expressed his views of High Point as a recently selected "All-America City." "People are to be congratulated on this honor that comes to them. We want to keep it an 'All-America City,' and the Republican party is dedicated to that proposition."

HPC'ers Plan To Roam During Easter Vacation

Easter Vacation—an escape from it all—is just around the corner. April 11 will find High Point College students heading in all directions on the compass. The highways will be crowded with college students headed toward beaches, mountains, lakes, and home (probably in that order).

When asked, "Where will you be spending your Easter Vacation?", HPC students gave a wide variety of replies. Of course many students will be going home, some for the first time since the Christmas holidays. But there will also be a mass exodus toward the ocean, especially that part of it which touches on the Florida coast. Even if many HPC students are not able to make the trip to Florida, it won't be because they wouldn't like to.

Here are just a few of the plans being made for the Easter holidays by HPC students: Linda Roberts will be spending her time in New York visiting her parents. Also in New York will be Joel Silver, who will be "just goofing off." Judy Raykes and Deedee DeCarion are heading for Florida and a week roaming around those sunny beaches. Pete Moose is also Florida-bound.

Manuel Wortman will remain in High Point, where he will continue to work. Fred Winters says he will be in New Jersey looking for a summer job. This may prove to be an important part of many students' vacation plans. In the planning department, Libby Sturdivant will be making plans for her coming wedding. We won't be at all surprised if other people do more than plan weddings over the holidays. There will probably be some HPC students getting married during Easter.

Perhaps we should not forget that while many of us are enjoying our visits home and at the beaches, there will be a few poor souls remaining around to represent good ole HPC. The baseball team will be on a local road tour, playing several colleges in the area. We wish them the best of luck.

College Queen Contest Begins

Who is the most outstanding college girl in America? This is the question that the sponsors of the National College Queen Contest are trying to answer as they announce the opening of the competition for the ninth annual College Queen Contest. All undergraduate girls, from freshmen through and including seniors, are eligible to enter the competition.

Judging is based on academic accomplishments as well as attractiveness, personality, and charm, for the judges are seeking the typical American co-ed. Extra-curricular activities and hobbies are important also. The winner will receive over $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Europe, a "Triumph Spitfire 4" sports car, and a complete new wardrobe. Regional winners will spend ten days in New York City where the National Finals are held, and the program will include Broadway shows, luncheon at the United Nations, and a television appearance.

A candidate may enter her own name in the competition or she may be recommended by a friend, a club, or a fraternity or sorority. Full details and a free entry blank may be obtained by writing to: National College Queen Contest Committee, 1501 Broadway, New York 36, New York.

The Men's Den

Cindermen Work Hard Place Well In Meets

By Dick Stinson

On March 23, High Point College held its first track meet with Atlantic Christian College. The resulting score of this meet was 84-46 in favor of the Panthers. At the start of the meet, it was obvious that no records would be set this day since gusty winds and poor track and field conditions prevailed, causing a lesser degree of quality in the performances of the participants. At most this meet was a good warm-up for the forthcoming triangular meet with Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba the following Friday. Atlantic Christian fell hard to High Point, the latter team gaining most of the first places and many of the second and third places.

On Friday, March 29, High Point met Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba. The meet took place under a very warm sun and on a greatly improved track and field. The number of interested spectators was better than expected and the meet was an overall success. Lenoir Rhyne's fine team proved to be the better one this day and High Point was forced to settle for a second place with Catawba a distant third. L.R.'s Joe Rhyne, who gained 22 1/4 individual points, and Joe Ripley spearheaded the L.R. cause. Rhyne earned a first in the 100, the 220, and the high jump. He earned a second in the broad jump and pole vault. He was also on the L.R. winning mile relay team. Joe Ripley won all the hurdles events with flying colors.

Veterans Jack Wagner, Mike Sabino, and newcomer Grif Balthis accentuated the High Point College cause. Wagner took first in the 440- and 880-yard runs, ran anchor in the mile relay, and placed a good third in the javelin. Mike Sabino took the mile and two-mile runs with little trouble from his competitors. Sabino broke his own conference mark in the two-mile run with an outstanding performance of 10:00.7. Balthis, a freshman, has shown remarkable potential and greatly aided the Panthers by placing second in the 880, mile, and two-mile run. Already tired he managed to put in a good time in the mile relay.

Other outstanding performances were put in by Dave Young who placed a close second in the high jump and by Bob Seaver who earned the same number of points and proved that it takes more than a stiff breeze to throw a javelin. Steve Bower placed first in the pole vault and tied for third in the high jump. Unfortunately High Point did not place in the broad jump or hurdles events.

The climax of this track meet was in the final minutes of the meet when High Point barely lost the mile relay to Lenoir Rhyne. Due to a possible lack of team depth, a tired group of Panthers put out a forced effort against two other teams running. Bob Brennen made the first leg of the race and handed off to Grif Balthis who ran well and handed off to Tony Boyles. Another man Jack Wagner could see the developed gap between L.R.'s third man and High Point's Boyles; upon taking the hand-off, he sprinted around the track and in a scintillating run caught the L.R. man. It was close all the way around and only at the very finish did the L.R. man edge out a previously tired Wagner. The meet ended here and it should be said that High Point would no doubt have won if effort was considered point worthy.

It takes more than just a few stars to win meets and credit should be given to every man on the team for his part in the teamwork no matter how small.

Hartman Key Figure In This Baseball Story

This is the first chapter in the story about the 1963 High Point College Purple Panther baseball squad and the man who calls the plays. This squad consists of some veterans and some "rookies," and the man behind the organization is Coach Chuck Hartman. Any good story needs in introduction, so here we see fit to introduce our leading character.

A native of Gastonia, Coach Hartman began his baseball career early. He played third base for his high school team and was chosen on the All-State team. Upon graduation from high school he accepted a scholarship to the University of North Carolina, where he received top caliber coaching from Coach Walter Rabb.

As a sophomore at U.N.C.,

Chuck fought his way into a starting position and finished the season with a .313 batting average. The next year, as a junior, the little Tar Heel second baseman received the honor of second team All-Conference. After graduating from Carolina, Coach Hartman played for several semi-pro teams including Burlington, Bessemer City, and Smithfield of the Tobacco State League. Contracted to coach the freshman teams at Carolina, he was released from this agreement to accept the coaching position at HPC in 1958.

As head coach of the Purple Panthers, Chuck Hartman has steadily developed High Point over the last three years into a contender. Last year High Point enjoyed its best season in years with a 14-12 record, which was highlighted by a last game victory over the Mountain Bears of Lenoir Rhyne.

When asked his greatest thrill in baseball, the coach told us that it came during his sophomore year at Carolina. With the Tar Heels behind 5-4 in the last of the ninth inning, two men out, and the bases loaded, Coach Rabb looked down the bench and then called upon the little man from Gastonia to go up there and get a hit. This he did in fine order as he promptly hit a line single, driving in two runs to beat arch-rival Duke 6-5.

Dr. Hamilton Now on NAIA Exec. Comn.

HPC News Bureau—Dr. Jim Hamilton, Director of Athletics at High Point College, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, Dr. Wendell H. Patton, college president, announced March 29. Dr. Hamilton was elected at the annual national meeting of the NAIA held recently in Kansas City.

The Committee is the governing board of the NAIA, which is composed of some 463 member colleges throughout the United States. Its duties include setting dates for national tournaments, passing on any disputes arising within the Association, and recommending policies for the membership.

A native of Kansas, Dr. Hamilton attended Pittsburg State College, the University of North Carolina, and George Peabody University.

He has also been chairman of District 26, North and South Carolina, of the NAIA.

tude may best be described by his own statement, referring to that game-winning hit, "After that hit I didn't think anyone could get me out."

Beginning his fourth year as High Point College baseball coach, he is looking forward to this season with a feeling of confidence. While he feels that defensively the team is stronger, especially the middle, Coach Hartman stressed the lack of the long ball hitters on this year's team. He also stressed that overall team speed would be a great asset.

When asked to evaluate his team this year, Coach Hartman was also quick to mention several of the "new" faces on the field. In the outfield is Jerry Frye, a transfer from Oak Ridge, who has been starting with veterans Dave Kemp and Ray Grant. In the infield there has been a real battle between freshman Bob Harris and Larry Dunn. Both men have played third base this year and they have plenty of help in the infield from lettermen Roy Greenwood, Harold Moose, and Wayne Lewis. Coach Hartman is also quick to praise his coaching staff which has more depth than those of recent years. The mound staff is anchored by All-Conference right hander Larry Nolan. This year's team has not only one left-hander, but four. They are Dave Willard, Dave Whitlock, Bill Swigart, and Kirk Stewart. Coach Hartman feels that while we lost several fine players in Charles Willard, Ray Fraley, and Sam White last year, this year's edition of the Purple Panthers will develop into a contender as the year goes along.

Looking around the league Coach Hartman sees Pfeiffer as the team to beat on the basis of experience. Also rated high on the list are Lenoir Rhyne, and Catawba, as a dark horse. So far this year the Panthers have not lived up to their potential as they post a 1-4 mark. It appears that the pitching has been good but the hits have been coming at the wrong time or not at all. Kirk Stewart has pitched two good games, but lost because the team couldn't score runs for him. Larry Nelson also lost a well-pitched game because of a lack of hitting power. However, it seems that the Panthers became inspired up at Lenoir Rhyne as the humbled the Bears by a score of 24-4. In that game the Grant twins accounted for 10 hits, Nolan had five hits, and Wayne Lewis had three. This was the only conference game played so far, and that gives us a clean slate in regulation action.

Well, that is the introduction to my story. You have met the leading characters, and in the next few days the plot will begin to thicken a bit. How will the story end? No one knows, but everyone hopes that High Point wins the championship and lives happily ever after!

By Don Little

Here I sit, trying to think of something to write—think of that, Don Little not being able to think of anything to say. I have come to the conclusion that perhaps my mind has been immobilized by the fragrance floating across the campus from the daffodil gardens down in the ravine. I'll devote the column this week to a few brief comments on a couple of subjects. Just for the record, my column in the last issue was somewhat confusing. No, my mind doesn't just wander from HPC rules to the North Carolina General Assembly with no period of transition as my last article would lead one to believe. The reason for the abrupt change of subject without explanation was that because of excess verbiage and limited space, we were unable to put subtitles in the article.

Exams and Assembly

One consoling thought about the nightmare which the fast-approaching exams will bring is the fact that the exam period has been extended. A tip of our hat goes to the "powers-that-be" who have brought this blessing upon those of us who have had to struggle through three or four exams in one day previously. Also laudable is the fact that the exam schedule is so arranged that upperclassmen will generally be able to complete their exams early. I feel that upperclassmen should be entitled to this consideration. The only thing that I see which mars this new schedule is having an assembly program during the exam period. I feel that an exam period should be uncluttered by meetings which require a students' time and attendance.

Strike Three— You're Out

We students here at HPC have three strikes against us for not supporting our three spring athletic teams, the baseball, track, and tennis teams. These teams put a lot of time and effort in representing our school in noble fashion, and we refuse to support them by simply turning out to watch them perform. Twenty-five college students at any sports event is a poor display of school spirit. Let's get on the ball and support these teams. We should be ashamed of the fact that more Pfeiffer students came to High Point to watch their ball team play than did HPC students walk over to the athletic field.

HPC Raceway

I keep wondering just how long it will be before someone on campus falls victim to that little red Jeep which the Maintenance Department races around campus in. At the rate that poor old Jeep is being driven now, it is about an even bet as to whether it will blow an engine or kill someone first. Frankly, we're afraid that it will kill someone before the engine blows, since it seems to be a rather sturdy vehicle to take the punishment it gets.

Apogee Makes Three

Now that APOGEE is here, I'd like to pass my opinion concerning this new literary publication. It is an excellent publication, and I feel that it serves a valuable purpose in allowing HPC students to express their literary and artistic talents publicly. We're proud to have APOGEE as a member of the gang. As one HI-PO staff member aptly put it, "Now abideth these three, ZENITH, HI-PO, and APOGEE".

Patton Named To Advisory Committee

Dr. Wendell Patton, Jr., president of High Point College, has been named to the educational advisory committee of the North Carolina Educational Council on National Purposes, Council Chairman Holt McPherson announced March 30.

The Educational Council is a twenty-nine member group appointed in June, 1962, by Governor Terry Sanford as a statewide organization to create and promote a program of citizenship education in North Carolina. The purpose of the committee is to advise the Council on the value of various educational materials which might be used in carrying out a grass-roots program in citizenship education.

In addition to Patton, the following make up the seven member advisory committee: William Friday, University of North Carolina; Dr. Deryl Hart, Duke University; Dr. Grier Martin, Davidson College; Dr. Harold Tribble, Wake Forest College; and Dr. Charles F. Carroll, veteran state Superintendent of public instruction.

"We do not believe a more distinguished and able group of educators could be assembled in North Carolina," McPherson said. "We know their wise and mature guidance will be most helpful to the Council in its efforts to create a better understanding and appreciation of our heritage of self-government under law with its guarantees of freedom and individual dignity, thus strengthening our determination to preserve these values."

Caravan Aid Available

Dr. Wendell Patton announced recently that a number of fifty-dollar scholarships have been made available for students desiring to participate in High Point College's American History Caravan scheduled for this summer.

A three-week classroom program based on the academic course "Civil War and Reconstruction" will begin at High Point College on June 5. Dr. David Cole, Chairman of the History Department, will be instructor for this course and will also accompany the group on the tour. Jesse L. Taylor, Director of Student Personnel, will direct the camping activities on the Caravan.

The Caravan is scheduled to leave campus June 23, and will follow General McClellan's Peninsula Campaign

Four Preps Here For Weekend

This year the Spring Weekend is being highlighted by a two-hour concert by the Four Preps. In addition to this concert, the weekend will feature the May Court activities and two informal dances. The Four Preps concert will be at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, following the May Queen crowning on Saturday afternoon. The two informal dances will be tonight (Friday) and Saturday night. The one Saturday will be held after the Four Preps Concert, in front of the Student Center.

Miss Patti Collier, a senior from Flemingsburg, Kentucky, was chosen as May Queen. Also, Margarette Damewood was selected as the Maid of Honor. The remainder of the Court is made up of the following people: Sue Williamson and Ann Surratt from the Senior Class, Linda Ferran and Diane Westmoreland from the Junior Class, Kay DeMik and Juanita Speight from the Sophomore Class and Myra Morris and Nancy Perry from the Freshman Class.

Tickets for the Four Preps concert are $1.50 each in advance, and $2.00 at the door. The Four Preps are regarded by the entertainment grapevine as the best entertaining group in the country because of their versatility and musical ability. Their concert, the highlight of the weekend, will be presented in the Alumni Gym.

Dee Dee Decarion and Larry Amick, co-chairmen for the weekend, expect it to be the best Spring Weekend in the HPC history. Fred Winters, SGA Entertainment Committee Chairman urges all students to attend the concert and other events of the weekend.

Because the SGA lost money on the Peter, Paul and Mary concert, combos could not be contracted for our informal dances this spring. They will be "juke box" dances, one being held Friday night (tonight) from 8:00 to 11:00 p.m. at the Student Center. The other will be at the same place after the Four Preps concert.

Six Attend NSSGA; Winters Re-elected Treasurer

Six High Point College students attended the North State Student Government Association Conference at Elon College last Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21. Fred Winters was reelected treasurer of the organization. Other officers elected at the convention were President, Bill Whittenton from Elon; Vice President, John Alexander from Appalachian; and Secretary, Karen Hodges from Pfeiffer.

Elon College won the Most Outstanding Student Government award, with High Point being next in contention. According to some of the HPC students who attended, the general sentiment expressed at the conference was that High Point deserved the award for the fourth time in a row, but was eliminated because we have had the award for the past three years. Fred Winters and others express the opinion that they thought this was a poor reason for not giving HPC the award.

The delegates from High Point were Bob Clark, Charles Nesbitt, Betty Treece, Larry Amick, Fred Winters, and George Roycroft. The conference was made up of six delegates from the ten schools in the Association.

Charles Nesbitt and Larry Amick both expressed disappointment in the way the convention was handled from a parliamentary point of view. Nesbitt said, "I was highly disappointed in the inefficiency and lack of knowledge of procedure at the convention, and I hope that next year, with new leadership, it will be run in a more orderly and intelligent manner. I feel that much time was wasted in the poor use of parliamentary procedure."

All of the delegates expressed the opinion after hearing reports from the other schools in the association, that they were proud of HPC and were much more aware of the advantages we have here.

The next session of the conference, which meets bi-annually, will be next fall at Guilford, with the spring meeting to be held here at High Point College.

Little To Head New Legislature

Don Little was elected Speaker of the SGA Legislature at a called meeting on Tuesday, April 9. The meeting was called for the purpose of selecting officers for the 1963-64 school year. Other officers elected were as follows: Speaker Pro-Tem, Riley Fields; Recording Secretary, Harriet Finerty; Reading Clerk, Gail Geyer; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Ray Alley. All posts were filled by acclamation except Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Chairman of the standing committees of the SGA for the coming year were selected from volunteers from the floor. Those who are to serve as committee heads are as follows: City-College Relations, Pam Fletcher; Entertainment, George Roycroft; College Improvements, Gail Nichols; Ideas, "Scooter" Frye; Publicity, Liz Jensen; Student Identifications, Liz Oldham; and Publications, Chuck Schreiber.

Outgoing Speaker Allen Sharpe and outgoing SGA Attendance Bob Clark were in attendance and expressed their best wishes to the new Legislature. Charles Nesbitt also gave the group a pep talk and expressed some of his ideas and opinions on the operation of the Legislature for the coming year.

The standing committees of the SGA are a very important and vital part of the functioning of an effective student government. Don Little joined Charles Nesbitt in urging all the heads of these committees to get out and recruit students who are not members of the legislature to help them in their work. Most of the work of the SGA is done in committee, so it is very important that as many students as possible work on these committees.

SAM Has Career Night

On May 1 the Society for the Advancement of Management (SAM) is having a "Career Planning Night". This is a new program which is designed to teach students what industry wants of college graduates and how to make job contracts. The areas of Office Management, Finance, Accounting, Personnel, and Sales and Marketing will be covered.

Speakers will be Vince Spracklin, Vice President of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company; Charles Hartsoe, Treasurer of Adams-Millis Corporation; Reitzel Morgan, Vice President of Anvil Brand; Mrs. M. Carter, Personnel Director of Anvil Brand; and Robert Haas, Sales Manager of Hanes-Millis. Mr. Ralph E. Miller, Manager of the High Point office of the Employment Security Commission will be moderator. The program will be held in the band room at 7:30, on May 1. The meeting is open to anyone who plans to enter industry upon graduation.

Four Faculty Members Get Promotions

HPC News Bureau

Four High Point College faculty members have received promotions in rank for next year, Dr. Wendell M. Patton, college president, announced today.

Promoted to full professor were Dr. William Lazaruk, Department of Biology, and Dr. William P. Matthews, Department of Education and Psychology. Promoted to the rank of assistant professor were Carroll R. Hormachea, Department of Sociology and Philip Reines, Department of Fine Arts.

Dr. Lazaruk came to High Point College in 1961 after holding teaching positions at Berea College and Trenton University. He was a teaching and research assistant at Douglass College and Rutgers University. Currently he is chairman of the Department of Biology at High Point College.

Dr. Matthews has formerly been employed on the teaching staffs at the University of North Carolina, Lynchburg College, and Columbia University before coming to High Point College in 1961.

Hormachea, who also came to High Point in 1961, has held a visiting instructor's position at Trinity University and a teaching assistantship at Washington State University. He edited the self-study rec-

BIG BUSINESS

The past two years have witnessed some highly encouraging changes in our Business Department. The curriculum has been updated and expanded, and the quality of instruction has improved greatly. Those responsible for the renaissance in Roberts' basement are to be congratulated.

But, as is almost inevitably the case, a few people have been hurt by this progress. Many have found that courses taken earlier as requirements are no longer needed for graduation and that new courses are now required in their stead. Example: The college catalogue for 1960-61 placed the requirement for a B.S. in Business Administration at 42 hours. As a result of changes in departmental requirements, a student entering under this catalogue could well accumulate 51 to 54 hours before being eligible for his degree. Coupled with the 63 hours of general requirements, this leaves no time for a minor and little time for any of those courses described by Herbert Spencer as being "devoted to the gratification of tastes and feelings."

Progress is important, but the Business Department should consider the rights and needs of its present students and should remember that their major in Business is only a part of their total education. This is a liberal arts college.

Mrs. Austin Is New Social Director, Dorm Mother

By Janet Doss

Mrs. Paul Austin has recently been appointed to the position of social director and assistant to the resident counselor for women by Dr. Wendell Patton.

A former elementary school teacher, Mrs. Austin received her education at Appalachian State Teacher's College, the University of North Carolina, and Eastern Carolina College. Mrs. Austin feels that this past teaching experience in addition to her having guided her three children into adulthood, provided invaluable training for the position which she now holds.

of working with the students, Mrs. Austin urges them to call on her at any time for consultation.

Mrs. Austin is filling a vacancy left by Mrs. Janet Warren who resigned to assist her son and son-in-law in business in Tennessee.

By Charles Nesbitt

After spending a weekend at Elon College with five other High Point College Students attending the semi-annual North State Student Government Association Convention, I have developed a great appreciation for High Point College. Our college indeed has many outstanding qualities and opportunities which compete highly with our neighboring institutions. With the appearance of High Point's campus, our Student Government, Zenith, Hi-Po, Apogee, students, and overall opportunities, we definitely have a college to be proud of and one to take the lead in many North State activities.

If it were possible, I would like for all High Point students to visit our N.S.S.G.A. member colleges and compare notes. Then, and only then, could we all take advantage of our powerful SGA and collegiate opportunities.

In the future, I am sure that High Point College will be recognized as a small college with an outstanding record in intra and inter-collegiate superlatives. As has been portrayed in the past few years, extra-curricular leadership can not only be informative and essential, but also a lot of fun. Most of our students who are active or have been participants will agree that our student activities are of notable mention in their college career. It is my hope that more students will realize the possibilities of our student body and will do their part in improving and assisting in our growth process.

Student Editorial

How frequently have you asked yourself why in the world you were wasting your precious hour of freedom on Wednesday mornings? This query probably frequents the dark dingy corners of your seldom used seat of thought innumerable times during one of our tremendously provocative assembly programs. Most of our programs are so impressive and stimulating that I find myself forced to revert to studying (a pastime I generally avoid like the plague). My plans of intellectual enhancement were rapidly forced to a screeching standstill, however, when I spotted our dean of students cleverly reprimanding those disrespectful students who, like myself, had nerve enough to study during assembly. Not being one to profess great valor, however, I rapidly lost my nerve; and, consequently, find it necessary at this time to implore you, my fellow students in despair, to become cohorts with me in the battle of assembly abolishment.

The plan is of a simple nature and powerful. Revolt students, and join me at the assembly on May 8 with a newspaper at your side.—Why a newspaper?? Because at approximately 10:45 I shall open my New York Times and those of you with an abundance of intestinal fortitude and a lack of better judgment will join me. This action may appear to be of little worth. The administration, however, has in the past found it convenient to ignore petitions of the students; consequently, I feel that a demonstration would be of value at this time.

Many of you more astute readers have probably reasoned that perhaps there is a just cause for having required assembly. My reasoning tended to follow these same lines, but after much tedious contemplation, I could not comprehend such a just cause, and resolved to investigate by interrogating officials of our administration and student government. The results were not surprising to say the least.—No one knew why we have required assembly!! Can you imagine the embarrassment imposed upon our dean of students when he realized he has been enforcing a rule without knowing why that rule exists? This poses quite a farce; the administration has no explanation for required assemblies and the students are opposed to required assemblies!!

What can be done?—Bring your newspapers!

—Fred Winters.

CAMPUS PROFILE

Charles Nesbitt

Charles Nesbitt, our new S.G.A. president, could be termed "versatile" without the slightest doubt. Hailing from Asheville, North Carolina, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Nesbitt. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity and since his freshman year has been very active in all phases of college life. He served as a senate representative for the freshman class and was a member of the fellowship teams for two years. As president of the sophomore class, Charles worked diligently on the leadership training program. During his sophomore year his own column, the "Campus Comment" appeared in the Hi-Po. In addition to all his other activities, Charles also found a place in the choir. This year he joined the band and has acted as parliamentarian in the legislature.

Charles has made good use of his major in psychology, because for several summers he has worked as a psychiatric attendant at the Highland Hospital in Asheville. This summer he plans to work for the Pilot Life Insurance Company in their Undergraduate Work-Study program.

...APOGEE: OF, FOR, AND BY THE STUDENTS...

Ambition and labor were the makings of the new addition to the High Point College campus—the Apogee. Early this year a group of students started dreaming of plans for a literary magazine written by and for the student body which would be representative of the ideas hidden in the hearts of some of the students. Gloria Teague began looking for someone who would be interested in sponsoring such a magazine. She found that Dr. Mounts of the English Department had worked on a literary magazine at another college, and that he was very eager to help organize a literary magazine for High Point College. The Apogee staff wrote to the various colleges and universities which have a literary magazine to ask for ideas on how to manage a literary magazine. For additional ideas they asked for a copy of the literary magazine published at each of the colleges that they had written. After the staff had gotten an idea of what they would publish, they submitted a written plan of the magazine to the publications committee of the college for its approval.

The staff members decided to have a contest for the naming of the magazine. It was Frieda Holt's idea to give the new literary magazine the name Apogee. The dictionary defines Apogee as "The farthest or highest point." This meaning describes our magazine completely. Thanks goes to Frieda for giving the Apogee its name.

Scouting began then for people who would like to submit their work for the magazine. A reading committee was chosen from the staff members, and it was this committee who judged each piece of work that was submitted. No names were identified with the work. As each article came into the hands of an Apogee member, it was given a number. The reading committee then read each article and judged it according to content. Over fifty articles were submitted from which were chosen the ones to make up the Apogee.

The Apogee staff ran into the problem of how to finance their magazine. Money was set aside by the college and by the Student Government Association to bear the expenses incurred this year. Provision has been made to cover the expenses next year through the student activity fees paid by the students.

Now that the Apogee is in the hands of the students, it is the duty of each student to judge for himself the ultimate value of each and every hour of hard work that has gone into publishing a magazine on the literary level at High Point College.

Spotlight On Mr. Davidson

By Bergie Hatcher

When Coach Bobby Davidson joined the High Point College Health and Physical Education Department in the fall of 1962, he was not a stranger to the college. It was here that Mr. Davidson spent four of the most important years of his life — as a student at High Point College and an outstanding member of the track and baseball teams. Now after seven years of high school coaching behind him, Mr. Davidson returned to his alma mater as a physical education instructor and coach.

Robert Donald Davidson was born in Cambridge City, Indiana, thirty-four years ago. As a student at Lincoln High School, Davidson developed his love for sports as he was a standout for his local team. He was all-tournament and all-conference in basketball; an all-conference shortstop and a .400 hitter for the baseball team. He also ran the low hurdles and the 440, and high-jumped for the track team. He was elected as Best All Around Athlete at Lincoln High School, and due to his achievements in sports, awarded a basketball scholarship to High Point College.

At High Point College Davidson was a part of the Panther team which went to the NAIA playoffs in Kansas City in 1950. Mr. Davidson averaged 13.5 points a game for his career at HPC. He led the team in assists, was second in rebounding, served as captain for two years, and was named to the all-conference and all-tournament teams. Davidson also played third base for the baseball team and ran track.

While at HPC, Coach Davidson was a B student and was very active in campus life. He was a member of the NDM club, (forerunner to the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity), and was chosen to WHO'S WHO. Upon receiving his B.S. in Physical Education, he went to the University of North Carolina, where he obtained his Masters degree in Physical Education. From 1955 to 1962, Coach Davidson was a member of the Lucy Ragsdale High School faculty. He coached basketball, baseball, and JV football at Ragsdale, and was very successful.

Davidson's present titles include head track coach, director of intramurals, and physical education instructor. This personable young Hoosier

Scholarships Available

Five scholarships will be available next year at the Industrial Coatings Center at High Point College, the result of a $2500 scholarship grant by the national organization of the Federation of Societies for Paint Technology. The grant was made in recognition of the excellent work being done in the Industrial Coatings Center at the College.

Preceding the grant, two national officials made a special trip to inspect the facilities of the Industrial Coatings Center at the College and to investigate the coatings industry and college relations in this area. They were impressed with the work being done at the Center and with the co-operation between the coatings industry and the college.

has built up interest and enthusiasm on the track team, something which has been lacking in previous years. At present, the team has copped three first places and one second place in meets. In Coach Davidson's words, "I have been very much encouraged by the results of the track team so far. I feel that we have a lot of good boys out for track and that we will have a good year." The intramural program is also functioning smoothly with Davidson at the helm.

Coach Davidson teaches seven PE courses and plans to teach second term summer school this summer. His hobbies are sports of all kinds, especially golf and baseball. He is married to the former Miss Jean Kerr of High Point, and they have two children.

Now that Coach Davidson has almost completed his first year of college instruction, if his record so far is any indication of the future, then the coaching trail for Coach Bobby Davidson looks very rosy indeed.

Intramurals

Cindermen Running Hard

Dick Stinson

Prior to the Easter holidays, the High Point College track team won its track meet with Elon and Guilford. This meet was a runaway for the panthers. They scored 86½ points over the nearest competitor, Guilford who scored 40 points with Elon bringing up the rear with a distant 29 points for third place. High Point obtained seven first places, 10 second places, seven third places, and four fourth places in their sweep to victory.

While most of us were on vacation, a group of track stalwarts made their way to The Furman Relays for the annual all college competition. The skeleton team from High Point managed to cope a third place in the distance medley relay as well as the mile relay. The distance medley relay was an open class event in which High Point ran against large colleges and universities as well as schools of her own size and caliber. Jack Wagner, Bob Brennen, Grif Balthis, and Mike Sabino represented High Point in this event. The Mile relay was for small colleges. Placing third in this event, credit is due Bob Brennen, Grif Balthis, Tony Boyles, and Jack Wagner for their respective efforts. The experience of running against larger schools was no doubt invaluable and the trip to Greenville, South Carolina can be counted as a success.

During last week, High Point successfully encountered Guilford College in a duel meet. The score of this meet was 74 to 57 in favor of the Panthers. High Point was missing some of its valuable athletes at this meet including Jack Wagner who was plagued with a leg injury and unable to participate in the entire meet. Outstanding performances were achieved by Grif Balthis, who was high point scorer with 11 points; Dave Young, who placed first in the high jump with a height of 6 ft. ¼ in.; Bob Brennen, who placed first in the 440 yard run with a time of 52.8; Ken Rich, who placed first in the broad jump with a distance of 19 ft. 11½ in.; and Bob Seaver who placed first in the Javelin with a hurl of 167 ft. 1 in. Congratulations to all the members of the team for a fine job.

founded," said Dr. E. O. Cummings, Director of the Industrial Coatings Center. He added, "High Point College is the only school in the South which gives this type of course."

Dr. Cummings explained that during the junior year the course in coatings and polymer chemistry may be elected by chemistry students. The laboratory work for this course is given during the evenings at the College and is directed by chemists connected with coatings industries located in this area. During the senior year each student works on a research project in cooperation with some area industry and presents a final thesis for graduation.

The coatings course may thus become an integral part of the B.S. degree in chemistry.

Tennis Team Looks Forward To Tournament At Pfeiffer

The HPC tennis squad has not, so far this season, won a tennis match. The team and Coach Quinn have not given up in utter despondency, however, as many observers of lesser sinew and fortitude might advocate. The conference championship is decided not by regular season play, but by the tournament, which will be held this year at Pfeiffer on May 12, 13, and 14. Because of this, the team's losses to Wake Forest (0-7), Guilford (1-6), Pfeiffer (1-6), and Campbell (0-7), are not at all fatal to the team's chances for final success.

It should be stated that these matches have been closer than the point scores might indicate. Several tight individual and double matches have been played, but the HPC netters have been unable to put away the clutch points needed for victory. All of the matches but one have been played away, giving the opposition the "home-court advantage". As has been mentioned before in other articles, the "home-court advantage" is nearly non-existent here at High Point, since the Panthers play out at Blair Park.

The first man for the Panthers is Wayne Furman. Wayne, a basically defensive player, has represented the school well against the respective "best men" of each school HPC has opposed. Furman has played well against the scholarship players pitted against him each match.

Paul Smith plays in the Number two position and has played some fine tennis. "Snuffy" Smith has a big serve and a charging game. Together Smith and Furman team up to provide us with a capable Number one doubles team.

Mike Rosenmarkle is the Number three man and Larry Amick is the fourth. These two play well at their singles positions, and supply a fine Number two doubles team. This could possibly be the key to the team's overdue success.

The Number five man on the squad is Tracy McCarthy, the team's most colorful player. Tracy combines a hot forehand and a blazing serve to supply an explosive fifth man.

Coach Quinn is quite pleased with the team spirit and hustle despite their losses to date. The coach feels that better days are ahead.

After trips to Pfeiffer and Western Carolina, the netters wrap up the regular season with three home matches; Guilford, May 3, Atlantic Christian, May 7, and Campbell, May 9.

The tennis team and Coach Quinn would like very much for any and all students to attend the home matches which are played at Blair Park.

Little's Bit

By Don Little

Judgment day is here again! Greetings to all ye fellow mourners who are already grieving over the inevitably disastrous results of these obstacles referred to as exams, which we are in the process of being "taken" by. Oh, well, what's a half dozen QP's more or less? After all, with the tuition at HPC steadily decreasing, as it is, we will all be able to hang around a few extra semesters to more fully enjoy the process of getting a degree. Let's dismiss this trivial matter of graduating and go on to more important things — like the beach.

Date Due May 8, 1963

It seems somewhat questionable to me that all library books must have been turned in by Wednesday, May 8. Books should fulfill their most important function at exam time, but we are denied the privilege of using any other than reference books during the week before finals. Of course we realize that the library must operate efficiently and keep its business house in order. However, we feel that since education is (or at least should be) the primary function of the college, the library should be kept fully available for students at least until the beginning of exams, even if doing so should incur a financial difficulty. Agreed, financial stability is desirable, but in college, education is essential.

Sorry, Our Time Is Up

Another thing which peeves me, as well as a lot of other people I have talked to, is the fact that on those rare occasions we get a really enjoyable assembly speaker, he is usually cut off (sometimes rudely) before he finishes what he has to say. I have one suggestion which might help the situation. Perhaps if we didn't have so many people introducing the introducer we could give the speaker more time. If the president of the SGA presides, why go through the formality of having another person or persons introduce the speaker? I think it's a waste of time.

Newspaper "Sit-In"

While we are on the subject, I would like to make it clear that I back Fred Winters fully concerning his guest editorial in our last issue. I feel that the measures he advocates are perfectly legitimate means of expressing a complaint, and I do not feel that such measures are out of order or improperly by-pass proper channels.

I do feel, however, that the address which Dr. Patton made in assembly last week was very much out of order. I was laboring with the understanding that this assembly was to be devoted to the seniors, as a farewell to them. As it turned out, I imagine many of them are glad it was farewell. We have had immaturity preached to us for so long, and now all of a sudden, the president begins to tell us of his confidence in our maturity. I feel that this speech showed a lack of maturity on his part. As for his lesson in good manners, what could possibly be more rude than to insult the seniors with such a speech.

This speech by Dr. Patton does show one important thing, however. It indicates clearly that the administration realizes that we students carry a lot of weight in our opinions, and that it is not so confident that this opinion will be used in ways the administration desires.

As far as the students were concerned, the issue was closed, but now that Dr. Patton has gone to so much trouble to reopen the discussion, I am happy to see that many HPC students are going to the trouble to express their opinions publicly. Perhaps this issue is truly the "Voice of the Students." We have received a number of letters to the editor, and we proudly print them as a true example of the voice of our student body. Perhaps Dr. Patton has done us a favor after all. He has sufficiently aroused us so that we are willing to speak our convictions aloud.

Minutes for the Dean

Now that the Senate Investigation Committee, or more correctly, the Southern Association's Inspection Team, has completed its study of HPC, we feel that it is time for the Dean of Student's office to stop requiring that copies of the minutes of SGA related meetings be filed with this office. I see no reason for such minutes to be in the possession of the Dean of Students, nor the constitutions of campus organizations for that matter. The reason I was given for this requirement was that this investigating team might want to see them. However, after talking to a member of this team, I seriously doubt the necessity of this measure. At any rate, now that the inspection is over, I feel that this requirement should be lifted.

Swindell; Carrington Give Recital

The Department of Fine Arts presented two graduating seniors, Miss Ann Swindell and Mr. Michael Carrington, in their senior recitals recently.

Miss Ann Swindell presented her voice recital to a captivated audience April 26. Included in her repertoire were selections from Handel, Verdi, Mozart, Bizet. Miss Swindell was accompanied by Louise Schubert of the Musical Arts Society.

A former student of Mrs. Geraldine Cate and a current student of Mr. J. Fryhover, Miss Swindell has appeared as a soloist in such choral organizations in their presentations of the "Messiah," Brahms' "Requiem," and Vivaldi's "Gloria." Awarded a voice certificate from St. Mary's Junior College, Raleigh, she has been a member of the Golden Triangle Opera Company, and has been soloist for the High Point Singers' Guild and the First Methodist Church.

Selections from Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, and Chopin highlighted Mr. Carrington's concert on May 5th in the college auditorium. A former student of Mr. Hans Herdemann, Mr. Carrington is currently under the tutelage of Miss Ernestine Fields of High Point College. A portion of the concert was broadcast over radio station WEBC FM in North Wilkesboro.

A student of drama, as well as of music, Mr. Carrington plans to combine these two interests in future endeavors. He hopes to present musical comedies in schools, a new and demanding area of drama.

Dan Cooke, Mrs. Griffiths, Sue Williamson Get ZENITH Honors

Miss Zenith 1963

The presentation of the 1963 Zenith Dedication, Miss Zenith, and Tribute highlighted the final Chapel program of the year on Wednesday. Chosen by the Senior Class to receive the dedication of the annual was Dr. Dan Cooke, of the Department of Education and Psychology. Sue Williamson, a senior, was named Miss Zenith 1963, and a special tribute was made by the Zenith staff to Mrs. Dorothy Griffiths, secretary to the Director of Student Personnel.

Dr. Cooke, who received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from Western Carolina College and his D.Ed. from the University of Tennessee in 1959, is supervisor of junior high and high school student teachers. He has also been active as advisor for the Student National Education Association chapter here.

Miss Williamson, an education major, was selected for the Miss Zenith honor by television personality Tennessee Ernie Ford, who had been sent pictures of the five contestants. Sue is a member of the SNEA on campus.

Mrs. Griffiths, a resident of High Point, came to her job here last fall. She was selected for the tribute by the Zenith staff, which annually makes a special tribute to some member of the college staff, other than a faculty member.

Presentations of the awards were made by members of the Zenith staff, which included Dot Barrick Eaton and Ann Surratt, 1963 co-editors.

HPC Concert Band To Present Performance

By Bob Sullivan

The Concert Band of High Point College, under the direction of Mr. C. R. Clark, will present its annual concert in Memorial Auditorium on May 16, 1963.

The program will be divided into two parts, the first will be devoted to serious music, including such works as the "American Overture" (Jenkins), "Folk Song Suite" (Williams), and "Il Pasticio" (Latham).

The second part will include music of a lighter vein: "Swing Low Sweet Saxons" (Ostling), "Voodoo" (Walters), and "Dixie Land Jamboree."

During the evening there will be solos by David Costas and Dick Walker.

The band, having been enthusiastically received by high schools all over the state, is excited over the prospect of performing here at High Point College.

Wall Street Award Given

Charles L. Weisner has been awarded the WALL STREET JOURNAL STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT AWARD, announced Dr. Robert Hislop, head of the Department of Business Administration. The presentation was made today in assembly. Charles is a graduating senior in the Business Department. The award, which consists of a specially designed silver medal, and a year's subscription to the WALL STREET JOURNAL, was selected by a vote of the faculty of the Business Department.

Charles, known by his friends as "Woody," is a resident of High Point, and is employed by the Electronic Accounting Card Corporation here in the city. Charles is on the HPC Bowling Team, and was past treasurer of the HPC student chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management (SAM).

This is the first year that High Point College has given this award, and Dr. Hislop expressed a desire that the award be continued in future years. There will be a plaque placed in the trophy case, and each year the winner's name will be added to the plaque.

Ted Brazzell Chosen Frat "Man of the Year"

Ted Brazzell has been chosen the fraternity "Man of the Year" for 1962-1963. Ted, a brother and past president of the North Carolina Eta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, has been very active in campus life during his stay at HPC. This year Ted has served as president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and has done a great deal of work in behalf of the Greek organizations on campus.

Ted was chosen by the representatives to the IFC this year. This is an annual award given to the man who the IFC feels has contributed most to Greek life on this campus. This award is somewhat analogous to the "Most Valuable Player" award given in sports.

Ted has been active not only in the fraternity and IFC, but has also participated in student government activities and other campus activities.

Alpha Gam Honors Cooke

Dr. Dan Cooke was presented the Jerome C. Smith award by Alpha Gamma Delta sorority today in assembly. This is an annual award given by the Alpha Gammas to the professor on campus who they feel has been most outstanding in his relationship with the students. The award is given in memory of the late Jerome C. Smith, who was at one time a faculty member here at HPC.

The award is given to Dr. Cooke because of his understanding and patience with his students, and his kindly attitude toward them. Dr. Cooke, a member of the Department of Education and Psychology, works closely with Education majors. Dr. Cooke also had the honor of having the ZENITH dedicated to him this morning in assembly. CAMPUS COMMENT

It matters not, I believe, whether a person associates himself with a group or locks himself in and away from others. The important thing is to be able to adequately understand why we do what we do. In doing this we can be less controlled by group conformity or useless passiveness.

Since this year is coming rapidly to an end, I would like to encourage now all students who are interested in sound, democratic, and effective student government, to pledge anew, for next year, their support in "thought, word, and deed." Many of us can realize our usefulness to High Point College and purposely direct part, or at least some of our attention to student government. Our bills and laws in the legislature affect the whole campus. Find your representative and inquire or appeal for those things which you feel will be of advantage to High Point College. As students and citizens in the "campus community" let us continue to speak out.

Little's Bit

to bring the Dean in closer fellowship with the men's dorms. It probably would improve communications between the Dean and the two dormitories, since listening range for a boys' dorm is approximately two blocks.

Congratulations

Finally, I wish to extend my personal congratulations to those among us who will be graduating May 26. The HI-PO staff and I wish each of you the best of everything.

Aero Space Study Coming

High Point College is again sponsoring an Aero Space Workshop from June 12 to July 3. The workshop is under the direction of Dr. Hays of the Sociology department, who is also a Lieutenant Colonel in the Civil Air Patrol. The program is put on in cooperation with the Civil Air Patrol in coordination with the United States Air Force.

The purpose of the Aero Space Education Workshop is to acquaint public school teachers with general aviation procedures and to give them a general knowledge of space progress so they can better understand the conversation of many of their students who are members of the CAP or who are interested in space technology. The course is also used as a means by which public school teachers are able to renew their teaching certificates.

Helping out Dr. Hays will be Col. John V. Norton, who will act as an instructor in the workshop.

The course this year will last three weeks, where last year it was only two weeks. There are sixteen people registered for the course as of this writing as it is hoped to have about 20 students. Any senior, who is going to summer school may register for the course, if he desires.

One of the highlights of the workshop will be the visit of the Space Mobile to the campus on June 27. This visitation will be open to the public.

. . . Across the Desk: Black Wednesday

Progress has been stymied once again. In the regular faculty meeting held on Wednesday, May 8, a rescheduling proposal which would have eliminated many of the faults which beset the semester system was all but defeated. But let's not get ahead of the story.

It all began when the Faculty Committee appointed Drs. Matthews, Hislop, and Cole to study and advise on improving the schedule under which the college operates. Students who knew about the plan and, it seemed at least, most faculty members were in favor of the changes.

Perhaps the most recommending feature of the new schedule lies in the fact that first semester (including first semester examinations) would have been completed before Christmas vacation. This would have eliminated the usual "dead spot" between our return from the holidays and mid-January exams (not to mention the elimination of over-the-holidays term papers.)

Roughly, the schedule for first semester would have been something like this: Orientation and registration were to be held during the week of September 8 with classes beginning on Thursday of that week. Classes were to run straight through until the second week of December with only one day off for Thanksgiving. (More time could have been given off for Thanksgiving had the administration consented to beginning the semester earlier in September.) Following a week and a half examination period, Christmas vacation was to begin on December 21.

Registration for second semester was to be held on January 13 and 14 with instruction beginning on January 15. The spring semester, which would have closed on May 28 after a 10-day examination period, was to be broken by a week and a half spring recess and was to include six "field study days" which were to be set aside for field trips. (These changes would have necessitated 60-minute class periods to allow for the longer vacations and exam periods. However, there would have been fewer class meetings and the number of "class minutes" would have remained much the same.)

But alas, this improved schedule met much bitter opposition when it finally came before the faculty. Some objected merely on the grounds that they would have to change their own teaching plans to fit the new schedule. Others, showing an uncommon concern for the welfare of students, objected to the short Thanksgiving vacation. (As pointed out above, this vacation could have been easily lengthened.) For many, change is always hard to accept; and, as one proponent of the plan put it, the faculty members seemed to be looking for faults in the schedule just so they could object to it and the changes which its passing would have brought.

The measure was tabled. Following on the heels of the Blitz in assembly on a student who dared to be different (see the other editorials in this issue), this action climaxed Black Wednesday. We have good reason to feel discouraged.

Readers Speak Out On . . .

Dear Editor:

Anybody for making a mountain out of a mole hill?

There seems to me to have been misunderstanding lately between the students and the administration. I believe an honest attempt was made by a sincere student to help remedy a problem that has been apparent for a long time, known not only to the students but also the faculty.

Men do not become leaders or live up to the American ideal by silence or by being passive. Men become leaders only when they speak, fight, and act for what they believe. We hear "leadership" and what happens when someone shows some?

The article on assemblies showed courage, not a lack of it. It demonstrated responsibility to be willing to accept the consequences for something he and the majority of the student body feels is a problem.

The article was written not to promote "misunderstanding," but "understanding." No action or demonstration was ever intended, because solutions to the problem, it was rumored, were being worked out. This is not to say that a demonstration of this kind is not possible at HPC and would not have the backing of the majority of students including the seniors if it would be beneficial.

I feel the article was intended to be of value, not to discredit the school or assemblies themselves. I don't feel the author would want to be placed above "law" or write merely for "attention."

As a student I am proud of HPC, its ideals, its high credit rating, its progress, its administration, its best SGA in the North State Conference, and the progressive student-run newspaper.

I am happy with the interest shown by the administration in student affairs, but only with some faith and trust on part of the administration can there be a closer relationship with less misunderstandings.

One previously passive student,
Wayne Furman

Dear Editor:

On May 8th, the seniors sat in assembly — an assembly set aside to honor them — and were given a lesson in manners. The issue which prompted this lesson was the proposed student demonstration protesting assembly programs. The position of the administration and the SGA was adequately stated in last week's assembly and it seemed in very bad taste to devote an hour's lecture to the subject.

Dr. Patton's call for a vote of the students concerning the demonstration was nothing more than a farce. The reason no hands went up was a formidable one — fear of "reprisals" after various rumors had circulated around campus concerning the fate in store for some participants. Few students felt they could afford to jeopardize their college careers. The fact that no hands went up does not mean that the students are in accord with assembly programs or anything else.

In this school that extols leadership, the students are afraid to be followers, much less leaders, and until the reasons for these fears are abolished, there can be no real communication between the students and the administration. That time will come when a student can voice his opinion, whether orally or through the HI-PO, and know it will be honestly considered, not brushed aside as immature. Perhaps then the senior class can have its day and its deserved honors.

Vera McInnis

Dear Editor:

Seniors, I salute you! On this day, May 8, 1963, during one of a series of exercises intended to honor you, I want to offer my condolences to the spectacle of the speech delivered by Dr. Patton, and to express my sincere wishes that the affiliation and the ties that bind you here to us underclassmen be not severed simply because of a gross error made by the administration. There you sat in your graduation robes expecting for once in your collegiate career to be transcended above the mundane and the base to some lofty idealism to carry with you as you depart from these portals into life. There I sat, too, an underclassman, idolizing you, wishing I were there with you. But my dreams were shattered by the impact of Dr. Patton's incipient lines. Instead of hearing words of wisdom, of strength, of guidance, of inspiration, I heard words of condemnation, of ridicule, of bitter satire which amused no one, least of all the seniors, shattering the lovely atmosphere created by the strains of the "Church's One Foundation" and Vivaldi's "Gloria." Francis Dail lead an appropriate invocation urging the seniors to utilize the talents that have been developed here at High Point College.

Let us pause for a moment. Seniors, just what talents have you developed here? Have you learned what it means to reside in a democratic society? Have you learned the necessity of individualism? Have you learned to be brave in the face of jeopardizing yourself and/or your collegiate career in order to uphold a principle? Do you express yourselves — not just simply through bull sessions, but through constructive, legitimate channels of communication, ready to defend anything that you might utter, and be firm in the belief that it is good and noble and honest.

Dr. Patton spoke today of democracy and this campus as being a democratic society. Seniors, have you seen democracy at work? I overheard one senior comment that today's session was a perfect representation of the type of democracy that we High Point College students experience. Was there justice in calling for a show of hands when we were there to do nothing more than honor the Seniors on "their day." We have respect and admiration for those who have completed their education here. We, as underclassmen, wanted today to be a special day, a traditional one which we can expect when we graduate.

Seniors, have you learned individualism: enough individualism to approach fearlessly the perils that you would encounter if you attempted to protect and defend your rights as an individual in a democratic society? I know you. Many of you have commanded my deepest respect and admiration. Many of you have fought for us, the underclassmen. Many of you have laid a firm foundation on which we are to build and have helped generate enthusiasm which is the most valuable gift with which you could endow us.

"Nil sine numine"—no, you seniors are not without guidance, nor without recognition, for you have left us a heritage, a precious living, working symbol of yourselves to endear us to you and you to us. Grateful are we to you who have protected the precious rights of democracy that we so cherish.

"A cherished hymn from bell tower rings" — inspiration; "when on our ears thy name shall fall — recognition; "remembered be thy blessings — promise; "the chords of memory draw us near" — remembrance. Inspiration, recognition, promise, and remembrance are the elements which will abide with us as underclassmen throughout the remainder of our collegiate careers. Thank you, Seniors, and forgive those who ruined "your day" by omitting your Executive Farewell Address and inserting a juvenile lesson in manners and satirical expression of "confidence in the maturity of the students of High Point College."

Janet Doss

Dear Editor:

On May 8, 1963, I attended the weekly student assembly. I did this because I had to and the failure to do so would have resulted in a two-week suspension since I had previously used up my allowed cuts. During Dr. Patton's address, I began to think about what has been said and attempted in regards to assemblies on this campus.

What I am about to say is not intended to be a recap of what Dr. Patton conveyed to the students, but rather the reflection of an average, anti-assembly student. What I am going to say is not intended to cut anyone down and is merely the impressions of one student — myself.

I did not and do not feel the necessity of assemblies every week. I support this with several reasons. First, I feel it puts too much of an obligation on those people who plan the assemblies. They must have a planned assembly each week and are faced with the responsibility of obtaining an interesting speaker or the responsibility of the fulfillment of a stimulating program in the form of a skit, musical arrangement, or ceremony. This situation gives rise to possibly ill-planned and rushed programs. While we, the students, have seen some fine assemblies; we, by the same token, have very often witnessed many less gratifying ones. Some have been downright stupid and boring.

Student Editorial

By Manuel Wortman

Late one night Governor Edmund Brown of California sat at his desk. Before him lay a stack of papers. A few scratches of his pen, and he could extend the life of Chessman. Brown for the time being, held within his hands the power of life or death of this man. He granted Chessman his life for sixty more days. Then Brown appealed to the California legislature. Brown said: "Let's abolish capital punishment." He called for an end to the "circus of executions," and the degrading brutality which accompany capital punishment.

A man's life — have we the right to take it from him? Can we morally play God? Certainly, a criminal might have killed. Must we in turn kill him? Have we not advanced ourselves enough above barbaric practices that we do not kill men as symbols of appeasement?

The purposes of punishment are retribution, deterrence, and reformation. A dead man has a poor chance of reforming. Is there not a possibility that a person sentenced to death might be rehabilitated?

Is the law infallible? Innocent people have been executed. Maine and Rhode Island passed laws against capital punishment when they learned that the state had convicted and executed an innocent man.

Is justice even? One man might kill his wife and be put to death. Another man might kill eight people and receive life imprisonment. All decisions depend on members of a jury. Often they are prejudiced in favor of or against a criminal. Jury decisions are so subjective that personalities enter decisions.

Does money not enter into a decision of a court? Those executed are usually the poor, the ignorant, or the unfortunate. These people often cannot afford a top-grade lawyer; rather they are defended by counsel appointed by the court.

Does capital punishment discourage potential murders? Most murders are committed in sudden anger, desperation, or insanity. Can fear of death prevent these crimes? Murder is not a crime of the so-called criminal class. Most of them have better sense.

The argument against capital punishment is one of wisdom and morality. Every time a man or woman is put to death society holds the responsibility. The accused is tried in the name of the people of the state. Each time an execution takes place, we are the executioners. Are we not wise enough or even moral enough to stop legal murder?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Editorial Staff of the HI-PO would like to express its thanks to those readers who have taken the time to express their opinions via letters to the editor. Only when you, our readers, take the trouble to express your ideas in writing does the HI-PO truly become the "Voice of the Students."

Patton's Address; Assembly Programs

I feel, secondly, that we, the students, do have a right to interesting assemblies if we are compelled to go to them. My suggestion is not to do away with our assembly program, but rather re-establish it on an every two-week basis.

As the reader of this questionable piece of literature may surmise, I am not in favor of the total abolition of assemblies, but seek only the revision of our assembly system. Assemblies are needed for several reasons at High Point College. High Point College is small and like the thousands of other small colleges in the United States, it has had occasion to question its significance in comparison to the larger colleges and universities. This is normal. We all seek identification. This college in general, unfortunately, does not possess the great loyalty found in the average "big name" university. This is normal. We have on our campus various fraternities and sororities which extend to all students the chance for loyalty to a specific organization and also the fulfillment of identification in a well-known organization. I am not knocking the Greek organizations. Fraternities and sororities do not, however, make up the greater percentage of students at this school.

Where is the general unity or feeling of belonging found by the majority of non-Greek students... in the college they attend. Perhaps this college does not possess the unity it needs; what little bond there is between the students and the college is found at the assemblies. I believe this is the purpose of the assemblies. On many occasions in the assemblies, important information concerning legislative and administrative ideas and decisions are brought forth to the whole student body. Many of these students may not have been previously aware of these matters or would not have known had there not been this opportunity to assemble.

The average student of High Point College has many means at his disposal by which he can express his views... the newspaper, the representatives of the student government, and occasionally, a question and answer period conducted by the administration itself at the assemblies. So much axe-grinding is carried on by the uninformed student as it is, that the abolition of assemblies would only tend to make conditions worse. The assemblies are the only true means by which the "lousy administration" can defend itself against hearsay and possibly explain certain controversies. The administration has problems and since they are human, make mistakes too. Surely they are aware of student controversy and disagreements and having conscience, must "stew in their own juice"; but nothing is gained by doing away with one of the few forms of communication we, the students, have with them.

All small colleges have room for constant improvement (where in the world do you find a perfect form of government?) and these improvements can only come about through hard work and consideration on the part of many, not through any mob scene. I go to this school and it

On April 30, Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity had its formal initiation. Pledges initiated were Larry Dunn and Wayne Walker. After the initiation, the TKE's had their election of officers for 1963-64. Don Phillips, Delta Sigma Phi, was named "Sweetheart of Zeta Tau Alpha."

The KD's held their annual White Rose weekend on May 3-4. On Friday, May 3, an informal party was held at the home of Mrs. Edward Millace, a Kappa Delta alum. The formal White Rose Ball took place at I. T. Mann on Saturday. Music was provided by James T. and the Catalinas. Outstanding Sister award went to Maggie Damewood, and Outstanding Pledge award for second semester to Joan Gale.

Theta Chi's big weekend of the year began with a picnic and informal dance Friday, May 10 at High Rock Lake. Saturday evening followed with the annual Dream Girl Banquet and Ball. The weekend was completed with a beach trip on Sunday.

The last big event for the Lambda Chi's was their annual beach trip which took place on May 11 and 12.

The Sig Ep's also held their last social event of the year on the 11th—the annual Sweetheart Ball. On this occasion intra-fraternity awards were presented to the Brother-of-the-Year and the Pledge-of-the-Year.

APO Review

Mu Xi chapter of Alpha Phi Omega held their installation of officers and initiation of new brothers on Thursday, May 9, 1963. Dr. Nat Harrison who was awarded an honorary brothers membership in March at the Sectional Conference was the guest speaker for the evening. He spoke to the brothers about several community projects for next year.

The following brothers were installed as officers for next year: Jody Nuckolls, president; Robert Hartsell, first vice president; John Kennedy, second vice president; Charles Anglin, corresponding secretary; Orrin Shaw, recording secretary; Jim Foster, alumni secretary and historian; Bob Bradley, treasurer; Bob Seaver, sergeant at arms; Jack Marquis, athletic director; and Henry Thompson, parliamentarian.

Initiated into the brotherhood were eight new men. They include Roberto Vasquez and Alfredo Sainz, freshmen from Cochabamba, Bolivia; Barry Frye and Reed Perryman, freshmen from Winston-Salem, N. looks as if I might be here for a few years. While I have not been the most fruitful student to rise from the Freshman class, what common sense I have tells me what is good for the school and what is not. If I am going to continue to go to High Point College in the future, I want to be proud of it and want the best I can get from it. This takes work to make a top rate school and I confess that I, like so many people I know, have expected everything from this college and have given very little.

Everything I have said may not be right, but it is the way I feel. I hope what I have said is read by the administration as well as the students of High Point College and is considered worthy as food for thought.

Dick Stinson

A Retort of Vindication

Incited by a well-known speaker at a recent assembly program, I feel compelled to revert once again to my uncontrollable propensity to express my "immature" and "frustrated" views on campus affairs. Before I start rambling, however, allow me to extend my apologies to our seniors. I have been informed that my recent article in the HI-PO proved most offensive to a great number of seniors. If this be the case, please accept at this time my sincerest apologies. Please understand that I had no intent to cause an embarrassing situation during the termination of your days at HPC. My intentions, to the contrary, were to create a satirical piece which would serve a dual purpose. First, to arouse our long too apathetic student body; and secondly, to improve our assembly programs by re-organizing the assembly committee so as to allow more student opinion. Both intentions were successful, for student enthusiasm has taken a marked step upward, and the administration has stated that it will take steps to improve the assembly committee and to allow more students to participate thereon.

These points were made clear to our administration, as I gave them my word that no trouble would arise and that the S.G.A. would handle the entire situation. Charles Nesbitt did a commendable job of discouraging insurrection in the assembly of May 1. However, the administration must have placed little trust in the ability of our campus leaders, for our speaker on May 8th devoted his entire 40-minute speech to the dissuasion of a possible student insurrection. If the administration was so concerned about insulting our seniors, they should have given more consideration to their selection of a speaker for May 8. Instead of lauding the seniors, the speaker wasted an entire assembly program discussing a dead problem — a problem well handled by our S.G.A.

As for me, well I have been accused of writing my last article solely because I was frustrated and ego-centric. If this be the case, my desires were fulfilled — for what other student has had his actions discussed before the entire student body for a 40-minute assembly program?

Sincerely,
FRUSTRATED FRED

Ward Presents Paper To N.C. Academy

John Ward, Jr., a senior at High Point College, was one of thirteen students from colleges throughout the state that presented papers at the annual meeting of the Collegiate Academy of the North Carolina Academy of Science held at East Carolina College on May 10-11. These papers were concerned with undergraduate research problems that had been carried out by the students.

Ward presented a paper to the Academy entitled "Comparison of the Effects of 2,4-D and Maleic Hydrazide on Phaseolus vulgaris and a Determination of the Antagonistic Effects of 2,4-Dinitrophenol on growth abnormalities induced by 2,4-D." Along with his report which was about 15 minutes in length, he presented slides showing photographs of actual results and also data plotted on charts and graphs.

Ward, who was awarded a research grant by the Academy earlier this year, will begin work at Wake Forest College this summer on a Master's Degree in Biology.

Many Traditional and New Awards Given Today

New Phi Mu Award

A new award has been added to the list of awards given each year at this time to deserving individuals and organizations. This award, given by Phi Mu, is for outstanding social service in community and on campus by a social fraternity or sorority. The recipient of the award this year is Lambda Chi Alpha.

The purpose of this award is to give recognition to the many services performed by our fraternities and sororities each year. This year Lambda Chi Alpha had an outstanding service program. At Christmas the fraternity held a Christmas party for the boys in the Mills Home Orphanage. Every member sold first aid kits in order to raise enough money to buy each boy a gift and to present a record player and athletic equipment to the Home. In December and April the pledges gathered food which was given to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy families. In March, Lambda Chi operated a hat-check at the Verdi Requiem and in April, participated in the Cancer Drive and in the Red Cross Blood Drive.

Many worthwhile projects were carried out by the other organizations: In November the Phi Mu's held a sewing bee to mend clothes for the American Friends Committee to send to Austrian refugees; At Christmas, Greeks were found everywhere spreading Christmas cheer—the Sig Eps and Zetas went caroling at the Presbyterian Home, the KD's gave a party for the children at the day center, and Sig Eps gave a party for the Children's Home in Thomasville, and the Phi Mu's donated food and toys to a needy family. The Heart Fund, Cancer Drive, and Blood Drive were supported by nearly all organizations. The entire list is too long to print, but each fraternity and sorority should be congratulated for the fine services they have rendered this year to college and community.

Sig Ep Award

Bob Clark has been given the Sigma Phi Epsilon "Interfaith and Good Fellowship Award." Bob was presented the award today in assembly by a representative of Sigma Phi Epsilon. This is an annual award given to the person on campus, man or woman, Greek or independent, who in the eyes of donor has done the most to help promote good relations among the Greek organizations and between Greeks and independents.

This year it was felt that Bob Clark, as president of the SGA and an active participant in many aspects of campus life, had done more than anyone else on campus to promote the goodwill which is so necessary to a successful campus. It was felt that Bob has shown the leadership qualities and the ability to get along with others which has enabled him to be a prominent contributor to a spirit of goodwill among fraternities, sororities, and other groups on campus.

As recipient of the award, Bob will receive a framed certificate, and his name will be added to the award plaque in the trophy case in Roberts Hall.

APO Awards

Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Fraternity, presented in assembly today, May 15, two certificates for outstanding service rendered to the student body and faculty of High Point College. Bob Clark and Dr. Charles Mounts received the awards in their respective categories of graduating senior and faculty member. Joseph Nuckolls, Mu Xi chapter president, made the presentation on behalf of the brothers of the local chapter.

At the end of each school year the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega vote to give an award in each category to a person they feel has done tremendous service to the campus. Bob Clark received his award for the fine leadership he gave the Student Government Association in his four years at High Point College. Dr. Mounts received his award for the outstanding job he did in advising the APOGEE staff which brought to our campus a much needed addition to our campus publications.

Assistantship

James Robert Stout, graduating senior at High Point College, has been awarded a teaching assistantship to do graduate work at Clemson College next year, college officials announced recently.

A chemistry major, Stout is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Stout of Kure Beach, North Carolina. He is married to the former Melinda Nixon of High Point, and their home is at 1013 Lindsay Street.

"Mr. Stout has been one of the leading students in our chemistry program," said Dr. Christopher Wilson of the chemistry department at the College. "He knows his subject and works hard. His ability and accomplishments have been outstanding."

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

With today's installment I complete my ninth year of writing columns in your college newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes. In view of the occasion, I hope I may be forgiven if I get a little misty.

These nine years have passed like nine minutes. In fact, I would not believe that so much time has gone by except that I have my wife nearby as a handy reference. When I started columnizing for Marlboros, she was a slip of a girl—supple as a reed and fair as the sunrise. Today she is gnarled, lumpy, and given to biting the postman. Still, I count myself lucky. Most of my friends who were married at the same time have wives who chase cars all day. I myself have never had this trouble and I attribute my good fortune to the fact that I have never struck my wife with my hand. I have always used a folded newspaper—even throughout the prolonged newspaper strike in New York. During this period I had the airmail edition of the Manchester Guardian flown in daily from England. I must confess, however, that it was not entirely satisfactory. The airmail edition of the Guardian is printed on paper so light and flimsy that it makes little or no impression when one slaps one's wife. Mine, in fact, thought it was some kind of game, and tore several pairs of my trousers.

But I digress. I was saying what a pleasure it has been to write this column for the last nine years for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes—a fine group of men, as anyone who has sampled their wares would suspect. They are as mellow as the aged tobaccos they blend. They are as pure as the white cellulose filter they have devised. They are loyal, true, companionable, and constant, and I have never for an instant wavered in my belief that some day they will pay me for these last nine years.

But working for the makers of Marlboro has not been the greatest of my pleasures over the last nine years. The chief satisfaction has been writing for you—the college population of America. It is a rare and lucky columnist who can find an audience so full of intelligence and verve. I would like very much to show my appreciation by asking you all over to my house for tea and oatmeal cookies, but there is no telling how many of you my wife would bite.

For many of you this is the last year of college. This is especially true for seniors. To those I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will find the world outside a happy valley. To juniors I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become seniors. To sophomores I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become juniors. To freshmen I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become sophomores. To those of you going on into graduate school I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will marry money.

To all of you let me say one thing: during the year I have been frivolous and funny during the past year—possibly less often than I have imagined—but the time has now come for some serious talk. Whatever your status, whatever your plans, I hope that success will attend your ventures.

© 1963 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, confess to more than a few nervous moments during the nine years we have sponsored this uninhibited and uncensored column. But in the main, we have had fun and so, we hope, have you. Let us add our good wishes to Old Max's: stay happy; stay loose.

Camp Weekend Called Success

The family camping week end, which was held on the 4th and 5th of May, was reported by Dean Jesse L. Taylor as being very successful.

A total of 200 people participated, including 42 families from five states. There were not as many people present as there were for the last camping week end, but there was more participation in the overall program.

Comments made by some of the participants this year were to the effect that they certainly wanted the program to continue and that they felt a better job could be done by limiting the families to 50 or under rather than taking larger numbers.

Dean Taylor expresses his thanks to the physical education majors who assisted in taking care of the young children during the workshop and also to Mr. and Mrs. Wright for preparing the meals which were really a highlight of the week end.

Exhibitors showed their goods to the general public Sunday afternoon when an estimated 5000 to 6000 people visited the park between 1:30 and dark. The Parks and Recreation Department was well pleased with the results of the week end.

New Men's Quarters Shaping Up Well

Some of the boys on campus will be coming back next September to a new "home." As is well evident by the construction that has been going on for several months, the new building is really beginning to look like a dormitory now. A. G. Odell and Associates of Charlotte, North Carolina, has designed a building which is modern, but yet is still very much like the other buildings on our campus. L. B. Gallimore is the contractor who is doing the job of constructing the new dorm.

When completed, the dorm will have approximately 22,500 square feet of floor space and will house 90-100 men. The first floor will have large lounges which will be available to the fraternities for their use.

In September we would like to say "welcome back home" to those of you who will be coming back to live in the beautiful new dorm.

"Dort" Carries Band On FAREWELL SENIORS Unusual Annual Tour

Excitement and tension built up during two weeks of preparation (rehearsals, completion of term papers and outside assignments, and packing), mounted its summit at 11:30, Wednesday, May 1, as Sam (the bus driver) motivated "de ole reliable transportation" (which shall be referred to as "Dort", hereafter) of band touring members away from HPC and into the byways of the world.

"Dort" is an odd sort of contraption—some people might even go so far as to call it a bus. Distinguishing characteristics include a scarcity of seats, a myriad of lights, a broken speedometer, and a gear shift inserted in the floorboard with masking tape. To quote an interviewee, "Sam didn't put Dort in gear—he just spun the gear shift around and it fell accordingly."

Winecoff School was the place of presentation of the first concert at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday afternoon. Needless to say, hungry stomachs took up the strong beat of the percussionists; however, the troupers were re-enforced with food—notice the omission of modifiers—directly after the concert.

Then, and only then, was Dort promptly reloaded and headed in the general direction of Laurel Hill, North Carolina. About 6:00 p.m. the tourers arrived at Laurel Hill High School where they were to be met by their hosts for the evening, but not until 7:00 p.m. This being the case, all decided to go eat once again; consequently, they met their hosts an hour late rather than an hour early. After having been assigned to particular homes for the night, several groups of band members toured St. Andrews College in the neighboring town.

The band was presented in concert at Laurel Hill High School at 10:30 on Thursday, May 2. Afterwards, they were ushered to St. Andrews for lunch, and then the next lap

Arriving in Whiteville early Thursday afternoon, the band was received by the Rev. Mr. Byrd of Whiteville Methodist Church. A cookout had been prepared for the visitors by the minister along with the congregation. Also, one of the smile-happy band tourers got camera-happy and Mr. Clark, the band director, presented a suitable subject for experimentation. The students on tour were then taken to their lodgings for the evening. After freshening up they returned to the church Fellowship Hall where they presented a community concert.

On the morning after the night before—an evening filled with vivid experiences and meager activities, like sleep—Dort was reloaded and guided toward another elementary school for a 10:30 a.m. concert. At lunchtime another problem arose. It seems that these little tykes in elementary school require smaller-than-standard size tables and chairs; it stands to reason that most of us who are normally larger than the ordinary elementary school attendant would have a bit of trouble lowering ourselves to the latter's level of postural development accomplishments. Nevertheless, all visitors did manage to feed their respective faces with guest-like gestures. The band director of the elementary school honored the visitors (now on the bus), who had slipped from street clothes to more comfortable apparel, with a coke party.

After all the fair adieus, Dort loped into the final lap of the journey, via White Lake. Here, the cold, sparkling H2O presented such an inviting picture that some folks resolved with the help (or was it suite) of others that bathing suits are not compulsory for swimming.

Illuminated watches read about 11:15 when the HPC tower first gleamed across the treetops welcoming the prodigal band home once again.

Nostalgia shall reign once again upon the grounds of ole HPC as our loyal seniors farewell to their beloved Alma Mater. Long and tedious have been their four years, or in some cases, five or six years, of academic conquest; but as they reflect upon the numerous hours of laughter and enjoyment, of failure and dejection, and of success and satisfaction, a feeling of accomplishment prevails—a strong sense of accomplishment that seems to make that great effort worthwhile.

As our seniors proceed down the aisles to receive their diplomas, be it known to them that those of us remaining will not forget them as we continue to strive toward that goal which they have so nobly attained. Be it known to them that their visits and thoughts in the future will strengthen that foundation upon which our education now rests.

GOOD LUCK SENIORS!

Cindermen Prepare for CC; NAIA Dist. Meet

By Richard Stinson

Since the Hi-Po was last published, High Point's fine track team has been busy winning track meets. About two weeks ago at this writing, the Panthers encountered a team from Pembroke State College. This meet was held under such trying conditions as a wet track, slippery take-offs, and, of course, a very rainy day itself. It was a lousy day for anything except staying indoors which was what this reporter did without trying to appear too disloyal to the High Point cause. Due to the long trip of the Indians, the meet was held and finished in good favor for the home team. The final score was 47-29.

On Saturday, May 4, High Point trackmen journeyed to Wilson, North Carolina, to contest against the Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian College. In this second encounter with Bulldogs, our athletes showed them who was master by achieving a score of 81-50. The Panthers gained nine first places, nine second places, and nine third places in the 15 event meet. This was done without the services of regulars Jack Wagner, Ron Reigalman, and Steve Bower. Tony Boyles and Mike Sabino chipped in 10 points a piece in their respective events and Rich McGreevy added nine as high scorers for the meet.

The High Point College track team has done very well this season under the watchful eye of coach Bobby Davidson who is in his first year at the college as an instructor. The 9-1 record achieved by the Panthers was blemished in the early season by Lenoir Rhyne in a triangle meet. For the second and final time this season, the Panthers will meet the L-R team at Greensboro on Saturday, May 11. They will be meeting many schools in Greensboro at this date since this will be the long awaited meet—The Carolinas Conference and NAIA, District 26, meet at Greensboro's Senior High Stadium.

HPC TRACK DUO: WAGNER and SABINO

By Bergie Hatcher

Without a doubt the top one-two punch in High Point College track history is represented by Jack Wagner and Mike Sabino. Wagner, who specializes in the middle distance runs, (the 440 yard dash and 880 yard run), and Sabino, who runs the distance events, have several things in common: they come from the North, they came to HPC on partial track scholarships, and they room together in the fieldhouse. Mike and Jack share the fieldhouse with Tracy McCarthy and Barry Smith, two other HPC athletes.

Jack Wagner was born in York, Pennsylvania on July 3, 1941. Later his parents moved to Baltimore, Maryland and that is where Jack attended high school. As a student at Baltimore City College, Jack ran varsity track and cross country for three years. He set the school records for the 440 and 880 and was the outstanding member of the cross country team. Jack set the Maryland state record in 1958 with a flat 50.0 in the 440.

Jack also led an active extra-curricular life in high school. In addition to participating in athletics, he was a member of the Chess Club, the Biology Club, and the vice president of the senior class. At High Point College Jack reached his peak in athletics. He is so versatile that he is capable of doing almost any track event and doing it well. In addition to the four outstanding years he has put in the 440 and 880, Jack has thrown the javelin, run the 220, run the 100, run the distance medley, and run anchor for the mile relay team.

"Bird" holds the conference and district records in the 440 and 880: His conference mark for the 440 is 50.2 and the district mark is 50.9. His 880 record for the conference is 1:55.3 and the district mark is 1:55.4. Jack has taken a second and third place finish in the 880 in the Carolina AAU the past two years and he placed fifth nationally in the 880 last year at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, with a 1:54.4. He hopes to better this mark in the future.

Jack is 5 ft. 9 inches tall and keeps his weight on 150 pounds through hard work and clean living. In his spare time Jack likes to play chess and watch television with the other members of the "field-house gang."

Wagner has this to say about this year's track team: "Coach Davidson has been a real shot-in-the-arm for the track team this year. His dedication and interest has turned what looked like an ordinary season into a tremendously successful one."

Mike Sabino was born in Plainfield, New Jersey on June 21, 1939. At Plainfield High School, he was an outstanding member of the track and cross country teams. "Beanie," as Mike is affectionately known by his friends, set the Senior Division A cross country record in 1957. He also holds the school record in the one and two mile runs. Mike was a member of the Hunting and Fishing Club in high school and was president of the Track Club.

Mike has set many records as a distance runner at HPC. He holds the school record in the mile, (4:29), the two mile, and the three mile; the conference record in the mile, 4:33; and the NAIA district record in the three mile, 15:37. Mike has placed high in the Carolina AAU distance events and in the North Carolina cross country runs at N.C. State College. He placed 21st out of field of 168 in the National Cross Country run at Louisville, Kentucky in 1961. Mike was a member of this year's relay teams which broke two records in the Davidson Relays. The two mile relay team and the Distance Medley teams both won first places. Other members of the team were Jack Wagner, Griff Balthis, and Bobby Brennan.

Mike is 5 ft. 5 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds. He likes to read and fish in his spare time. "I really like it over here in the fieldhouse," says Mike. "Contrary to what many people think, we have a good time and get a lot of work done over here. When it comes time for a workout, I just open the door and go out onto the track."

And let it be said that when Mike Sabino and Jack Wagner go out on the track, High Point College can count its blessings because of these two young men.

Bowling Team Takes 14th in NAIA Tourney

By Bergie Hatcher

On May 3 and 4 the High Point College bowling team represented District 26 in the NAIA bowling championships in Kansas City, Mo. The competition was held at King Louie West Lanes in Overland Park, Kansas, with 32 schools competing. High Point College converted 10,497 pins in a 12-game schedule, good enough for 14th place.

Dave Fancher was the top Panther bowler in the tournament, converting 2208 of High Point's total for an average of 184. Joe Gosnell was right behind Fancher with 2170 pins in 12 games for an average of 181. Jim Brucki had the high game for High Point, a 216.

Name	Games	Pins	Avg.
Dave Fancher	12	2208	184
Joe Gosnell	12	2170	181
Jim Brucki	12	2084	174
Garland Kinney	9	1522	169
Charlie Miller	9	1500	167
Kenny Deal	6	894	149

Commander George Netts of the HPC Business Department served as team coach for the event. He had this to say upon returning to High Point: "The tournament was wonderful. I think the boys displayed splendid sportsmanship on the trip, both on the alleys and off. We bowled very well as a team, and if we had gotten off to a better start the first day, we could have won the tournament."

SAM "Career Night" Reviewed

By Charles Welch

On Wednesday evening, May 1, the Society for the Advancement of Management held the first of its "Career Planning Night" programs. It was an overwhelming success both from student attendance and from speaker enthusiasm. It furthermore proved to be a very enlightening evening for all of the HPC students who will someday venture into the business world.

The topics discussed varied from sales to finance, management to accounting, and personnel to the executive secretary. Basically the career night program consisted of a panel discussion made up of business leaders and moderated by Mr. Ralph Miller of the High Point Employment Security Commission. The area of Sales and Marketing was discussed by Mr. Robert Haas, Sales Manager of Hanes-Millis; Finance was discussed by Mr. Vince Spracklin, Vice President of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company; Accounting was discussed by Mr. Charles Hartsoe, Treasurer of Adams-Millis; Management was discussed by Mr. Reitzel Morgan, Vice President of Anvil Brand; and Personnel and Secretarial opportunities were discussed by Mrs. Aline Carter, Personnel Director of Anvil Brand.

Each member of the panel gave a short talk on the area of business that they are in, and after the introductory speeches the students directed questions to the members of the panel. The response was most interesting to both the panel and the student oriented audience as problems confronting both groups were both asked and answered. Following are some of the chief questions and the answers given: How does a company give a college graduate an opportunity to gain experience in sales?

Answer: Most large companies and some small ones have training programs set up to train the new salesman. Moreover most companies would rather have the inexperienced man as they can then train him in the way that they wish to train him.

Answer: At the present time sales is begging for good men and not finding enough of them. The day is past when a high school graduate can hope to find many opportunities in sales, and as a result the background that a person gains in college, together with a desire to learn and with initiative, the future is very good; however a prime requisite in sales or any field is a love of that field.

What effect does not having military service behind oneself have upon a college man seeking a job?

Answer: Regrettably, no company can afford to hire a man who is subject to the draft, but a person with his obligation and college behind him is highly acceptable to all business.

What chance is there for women in business?

Answer: Many of the leaders in business are now of the weaker sex; moreover the pay scale of women is beginning to come up to the range of men's. On top of this many women have gone into areas once reserved for men such as top managers in sales, accounting, buying and so forth.

As is evidenced, there were many answers to encourage the student, and only space does not permit a review of other questions and answers.

History Caravan To Be Living, Learning Tour

Let's go camping! This summer HPC students and other interested people will have an opportunity to enjoy an interesting camping tour and at the same time pick up six hours of credit in history. The first U. S. History Caravan will be held during the first session of Summer School this year. No, it will not all be play. There will be two and a half weeks of classroom work which will last three hours a day, five days a week. This, however, will not be any serious disadvantages to the program, for Dr. David W. Cole will teach the classroom work in his usual most interesting manner. Dr. Cole is noted among HPC history students for his interesting presentation of often dull subject matter. The textbook, THE CIVIL WAR AND RECONSTRUCTION, was written by the late J. G. Randall, a prominent Lincoln historian, and was revised by a follower of Randall, David Donald.

The classroom segment of the U.S. History Caravan shows all signs of being a most interesting and worthwhile course. The more inviting aspect of the class will be the tour of the actual sites of various Civil War incidents. On Sunday, June 5, the group will begin its tour, which will include battle sites and historical places in and around Fort Monroe, Yorktown, Richmond, Fredericksburg, and Gettysburg. By so doing the group will be able to see and imagine the problems which faced McClellan in landing near Norfolk, and the circumstances under which many of the battles were fought. The tour will probably include a boat trip around Norfolk so that the problems McClellan faced will become more real.

Both Dr. Cole and Dr. Stuart C. Deskins will be on hand during the trip to provide information which will make the tour more meaningful to the class. In addition to these two professors, there will be prominent historians and Civil War experts who will lecture to the group and explain the intricacies of the war strategy. These men will include Dr. Chester D. Bradley, curator of the Fort Monroe Casement Museum; Charles Hatch, historian at the Colonial National Park at Yorktown; and J. Ambler Johnston, who is president of the Civil War Centennial Committee.

The tour will be wound up by a story at Gettysburg for the Civil War Centennial celebration. This will include battle reenactments, displays, etc., and will be highlighted by an address by President Kennedy on July 4.

After the tour, the group will resume its regular classroom schedule for a short period of discussion of the Reconstruction Period.

The price for the course is rather moderate, being only $190 for a day student and $250 for a dorm student.
