Association Rep. Visit Completes Self-Study

HPC News Bureau—Dr. Dor-

=r, executive secretary of the Commission on Colleges for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, visited High Point College campus January 27-28.

Dr. Sweet's visit was a follow--up on the official visitation in March, 1963, and will complete the Ten-

Year Self-Study recently enanced by High Point College.

The self-study, a part of the process of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, was begun nearly three years ago. The first phase of the study was devoted to setting the goals and purposes of High Point College. Following this a number of committees were appointed, each to investigate a separate section in the program of self-evaluation. Findings of the studies are now being edited for the various reports and

SCA Holds Seminar for Job Hunters

The Student Christian Association held a Summer Seminar in the Student Center Wednesday, February 5, for the purpose of making information concerning various community activities available to students. Representatives were present from local Church organizations, and also the Peace Corps were present to acquaint interested students with the summer job opportunities in the field of Christian organization.

Representatives were present from the United States and Country Work, the Board of Christian Education, Camp Te-

ku, Experiment in International Living, Camp Winnicoo, Dorso-

r, Jefferson Arts Center, and the Service, National Council of the Episcopal Church, the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina Conference of Methodist Churches, the National Conference of the Methodist Church, the New York Area, the American Friends Service Committee. Information and printed matter was available for use by students.

The seminar, which was organized by Miss Docia A.

Willoughby from 2:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m., and was followed by a dinner in honor of the representatives in the private dining room of the HPC cafeteria. Some of the representatives present are either students or faculty or administration members of High Point College.

AN ALUMNI WELCOME

It is with a deep sense of pride that we welcome our returning alumni and friends to the college campus for Homecoming, 1964.

A time among you are recent graduates and still enjoy the friendship of many endowed HPC undergraduates. Others of you have left the city and have not returned to witness the great changes taking place at Alma Mater that you have been hearing about.

The time to take part in as much of our Homecoming as you can is now. We have purposely designed it for your enjoyment and sincerely hope you will find it worthwhile. Take time to register in the Student Center some time during the day and be sure to call on us if we can help make your day more pleasant in any way.

Annual Report

HPC Records Outstanding Growth Rate for Decade

The Annual Report of High

Point College, after its 39th year in the City of High Point and its 75th year of existence, indicates that giant strides have been and are being made toward making High Point College one of the top liberal arts colleges in the State.

The Report indicates that in the past ten years the College's enrollment has almost doubled, both in the regular and summer sessions.

The number of graduates for years has increased 25%. The number of out-of-state students has increased from 4.6% ten years ago to 20.6% in 1963.

In 1953 the number of teachers on the faculty was 39, compared with 57 teachers on last year's faculty. Of the present members of the faculty, 37 of them hold a doctorate, a figure that doubles that of ten years ago.

The number of courses offered as increased from 395 in 1953 to 386 in 1963, with 13 academic departments being represented and 17 major fields of study.

In 1953 the library contained only 23,972 volumes, and now it contains 92,500.

The plant book value of the College has risen over $1,000,000. The only indebtedness shown for the College is for the new J. Ed

Dormitory for men.

Plans for the future include the completion of a curriculum study; the addition of property to end the campus; the enlargement of the athletic facilities; and a restudy of the administrative organizational plan of the college.

Across The Desk

A National Past

The lines are slowly being lifted for our quadrennial struggle for power: 1964 promises to be a most interesting election year. As yet we cannot be sure who the candidates will be, but we can be sure that where we stand in 1964 will be an important factor in who will elect a party.

Perhaps the most unique feature of the American political system is that neither party has a definitely stated political philosophy. In most democracies there is no doubt as to what each party's support is - labor, royalty, a particular ethnic group. In America, however, both parties have members who must spend a great deal of their time explaining why they seldom vote with their colleagues. North Carolina's two senators could well serve as an example of the real distinction between the Democratic and Republican parties lies in their respective methods of appeal: the former addresses itself in a somewhat disparaging collection of minority groups and special interests while the latter is the more truly national party, drawing much of its support from the "American system," its mixed nature, its genius.

New York's Republican Senator Javits, who often votes like a liberal Democrat, is frequently asked why he chose the Republican party. His answer usually includes the belief that "there is a core of principle that keeps the Republicans a coherent national party." Javits feels that the Republican party is best able to serve in advancing civil rights since, "having been over the slavery question, it was not forced to the slavery question, it was not forced politically or emotionally as a political or emotional question." Too, "given an economic problem, the instinct of the Republican party is to say: what can the people themselves, as businessmen, workers or farmers, do to solve it? Only after answering this question, plus the questions: What can government do? and What can the people themselves, as businessmen, workers or farmers, do to solve it? Academic Freedom Is Reality in Berlin College

By Phyllis Foy

During the course of the hol-day season, the student press re-conceived a really interesting bit of information concerning the student-founded Free University of Berlin. Naturally, the student newspaper was alone enough to make me curious enough to seek an answer to the question of "What is the Free University of Berlin?" The result being a university that happened to stumble over by the Soviets, and its doctrine submitted to those of the Communists. In protest, some former students of Humboldt came together and formulated a proposal for what is now known as the Free University of Berlin. Their proposal was carried through, the result being a university in which students are represented on all administrative bodies and have the utmost rights and privileges as faculty and administration members.

The school is an operating symbol of academic freedom. Students are submitted to no class attendance requirements. No semester exams, as we know them, exist; however, exchange students who are in a tutorial program do take examinations such as those given in American colleges. No coercion or other forces are used to assign reading lists.

One may be truly amazed at the responsibility of students in cepts following their course of studies at this university. At the beginning of each semester a month is set aside as an orientation period. Students visit various lecturers in order to evaluate the value of the material and its method of presentation. After the orientation period, students sign up for classes, pay tuition fees, etc., and then attend class to get something out of their education.

Another, and perhaps the most interesting aspect of life at the Free University of Berlin, is the living facilities of the students. No dormitories exist. Instead, the young men and women attending the university live in a student village not far from the campus. The village is self-governing. Inhabitants elect a student mayor and student-senators.

Students take an active interest in the government of their city as informal workshops and discussion circles are always being held to eliminate numerous meetings that would otherwise exist. Each student has a single room of his own in one of the many houses. He owns a key to his house as well as his room, and is free to come and go as he pleases. Truly, the Free University of Berlin differs from colleges in the United States. However, if the truth be known, students who attended at the Free University present are after a different purpose than many of the students who attended the universities in the United States. They pursue higher learning in order to advance their knowledge.

APO Presents Flag to School

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity completed the Fall Semester with three service projects. The first was the presentation of a new U. S. Flag to Dr. Patton for the college at the January 1 assembly. The flag was secured through the office of U. S. Representative Horace B. Kornegay and flown over the U. S. Capitol in Washington, D. C.

The second project, handled by the Fraternity Hodges in conjunction with the Women's Donor Council, was a Taxi Dance held on January 31. On February 1 at the High Point-Leonover basketball game, the Fraternity collected money for the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

The Sectional 22 Conference of Alpha Phi Omega will be held at N. C. State College on February 20 with delegates from Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. Last year Mu Xi Chapter here at High Point College was the host chapter at the sectional of the conference.

We extend congratulations and best wishes to Brother Bob Hartell who was recently married to the former Miss Elaine

Curtis, High Point. Bob is now attending law school in New York.

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity is looking forward to a Spring Session in the newly revised Constitution and By-Laws, and with many service projects on the agenda.

New Committee Formed To Advise Publications

A faculty committee on student publications will begin its duties within the next few weeks, according to Dr. Wendell Patton. The committee, which has been inactive for the past year, headed by Dr. Paul Cook, is being set up as an advisory and policy making body for all student publications.

Purposes of the committee are enumerated as follows:

1. To define the roles of faculty advisors and elected officers of student publications.

2. To officially adopt a literary code of ethics.

3. To act as a maker of general policy.

Dr. Patton stresses that is not to be a ruling body so much as an advisory one. It is intended as a forum for any conflicts which may arise within the publication's staffs.

Other faculty members serving on the committee are Dr. William Rogers, Mr. DuChal Paul, Miss Marcella Carrier, and Miss Louise Adams.

Panthers' Lack of Luck Results in L-R Victory

It would seem apparent in the wake of an eight game winning streak, the largest losing streak in the history of Elon L-R has not been one of the big teams in the Carolina Conference Circuit. At the beginning of the High Point College-L-R game, the first encounter this season, played on Saturday night, February first at Alumni Gym, no one on the High Point side of the gym would have believed that the ultimate score in this clash would have been 82-61 in favor of the visiting team — but it was and a very close victory for the Bears. It seemed as though it was one of those nights when the Panther's could play no better a game than their opponents; just as the winning bears looked awkward and unimpressive (despite the score) so did the losing team. The Bears came out of the gym with their heads held high three regrets of those with books maintained from the time of player introductions to the closing moments of the game. While it is of the personal opinion of this writer that no game will ever have perfect officiating, good sports enthusiasts would do well to remember the constant pressure a n d responsibility placed upon game officials. In a fast moving college game, many poor calls have and will occur by the best officials; the fact that both teams receive the same treatment seems to neutralize any official misjudgments. Let's represent our fine team and our school by chancing some of the seating in the course of further cooperation with our cheerleaders! At this writing, the Panthers of High Point College are second in the league competition with 13-12 overall record and a 9-2 league in league play. Future games include those with East Carolina, Catawba, Pembroke and new league leader Western Carolina who has a record of 9-2 because of the Catamount defeat of Atlantic Christian College played also on the first of February.

Panthers Set New Record, Crush Guilford 138-85

The High Point Purple Panther's rolled up a new school record in defeating the Quakers in 138-85 at Alumni Gymnasium on February 4. The Panthers dominated the backboards and crushed Guilford on fast breaks when the Quakers didn't play to free lane ball with the Panthers. Guilford actually got the first basket and controlled the opening tipoff, with Mike Allen's basket giving Guilford a quick 2-0 lead. However, Phil Garrison, jumper tied the score and Guilford was never close as High Point went on to build up a 46-32 halftime lead. The Panthers never let up the second half as Guilford drew to within 7 points for 71 points and won by the staggering margins of 138-85.

The above games include those with East Carolina, Catawba, Pembroke and new league leader Western Carolina who has a record of 9-2 because of the Catamount defeat of Atlantic Christian College played also on the first of February.

I am now an elderly gentleman, full of years and aches, but my thoughts keep ever tumbling to my undergraduate days. This is called "arrested development." But I cannot stay the leading tide of nostalgia that washes over me as I recall those golden campus days, those ivy-covered buildings (usually, at my college, there was only ivy: no brick), those wise-cracking-headed on John Dewey and Cotton Mather, the many friends I made, the many beasts I beat. I know some of you are already dreaming the day when you graduate and lose touch with all your merry classmates. It is my pleasant task today to assure you that it need not be so; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, new, chatty bulletin, choked-full of tidings about your old buddies.

Panthers Down Italian Team

The game of December 30, 1963, between the Italian National Team and High Point College was an unusual game because it was played under Olympic rules. The three second line was marked 50 feet from scratch and was angled from the center and 15 feet instead of 19 feet wide instead of 12-foot and was angled from the center and 19 feet wide. The Italian National Team dominated the backboards and out-rallied and out-shot the Panthers from the floor. Gail Geyer To Reign In May Day Exercises

Miss Gail Geyer has been elected to reign as May Queen over the Student Corps, the Student Re-plies, and the Student Fencers. Her Maid of Honor will be Miss Diane Weertman, with Miss Elaine Greene and Betty Treere as Senior Attendants.

These girls were elected by the Sophomore class February 14, from a slate of ten candidates. Gail, a sophomore from the 1963-1964 class, will reign one year by the Senior Class. The other candidates were Betty Joan Underwood, Ann Lewis, Marlene Moore, Mary Lee Moon, Mary Alice Jones, and Jan Alger.

The contest was held in the Student Center from 8:00 until 2:00 p.m. on the election day, but voting had been very light. Only 200 students voted. Voting was held in the Student Center according to American Baptist procedures in order to prevent fraud and to avoid careless voting incidents such as had been revealed after the Homecoming Queen election.

Dr. Wilard Thorp Of Princeton U. To Speak Here

On Tuesday, February 25, Dr. Wilard Thorp, world renowned scholar, will present his audience a lecture on a subject which may help solve a most baffling question for a great number of college students, the title being "How We Got the English Major." The lecture, whose speaker is being sponsored through the Piedmont University Center from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. The lecture will be selected by their respective class as Miss Gail Geyer, has previously been Miss High Point and also Miss High Point College. Miss Westerne-land was a Junior Attendant last year, and both girls have been chosen as good representatives of the past.

Dr. Lazaruk, Associate Professor of the High Point College Biology Department, has received a grant from the National Science Foundation to conduct research in the study of fresh water algae. Dr. Lazaruk’s study will in-clude the development of a satisfactory classification of chlorophyceae, the green algae. The HPC pro-ject will be carried out in the spring and continue into the summer. The findings which time his findings will be published in national and state professional journals.

Improvements, To Be Continued?

Perhaps "usually good" best describes the kind of service our library has been providing for the past several weeks. Our fine staff, once dedicated and usually treasured, has in the last page been seen to be most willing to help students obtain those isolated bits of information that are left to their own personal judgment. No longer are permits to enter the "Holy Hall" so hard to come by, and, quite often now, a request for some article by some thoughtful person "up there." So, if the fear of being attacked by "the birds" is your last remaining excuse for staying away from Wren Memorial, fear not: a new spirit of freedom and helpfulness pervades the southeast corner of our campus.

Now on our campus, too, are approximately fifty additional parking spaces behind the Student Center. Dormitory students now have a place to park. Who knows, perhaps this time to amplify what Dr. Baldwin has already said so well. Let us hope so, for if HPC is to continue to improve it must truly become of college of "big people."
"Pattons Pending" Debuts Under Uncle "J"

What's in a name? For example, take the name "Patton Pending." A new name on campus, it is one that students will be hearing more of in the future. Patton Pending is the name of the choral group recently formed by Mr. Joe L. Fryhover, better known as Uncle "J." This group has been formed for the purpose of opening up a new area of experience for students interested in choral work, as its repertoire will consist mainly of popular music, show tunes, and semi-classical works. Up until this time, the college choir has sung for the most part, only semi-classical works. Up until this time, the college choir has sung for the most part, only semi-classical works.

An assembly in progress is open to faculty and students. The number is not yet definite, however, says Mr. Fryhover, and it may be changed somewhat to improve balance and blend.

High Point College boasts its respect and is highly indebted to those who stand out from the midst of us by their "quality of civilization," by calling them moral, which means to suffer or lead. THIS IS NOT EDUCATION. FOR "LEADERSHIP BUT LEADERSHIP IN EDUCATION. THIS IS OUR PURPOSE.

The only reasonable way to achieve this is not by the size of its campus, nor by its publicity, nor by its number of sources, nor by the publications of its professors, but by the quality of life in its human product of which we are very proud are the junior marshals. We want to be just as proud as all of you.

In the Bonnass church there is no moral order called the Little Brothers. They are organized to help the poor. Rather than give them baskets or have food lines, they invite the poor to a dinner of lobster salad, composed of fruit salad, hot rum punch, served with candles and roses. They call this the champagne touch. Too often at HPC there are students who know champagne when we see it.

Just time to get that second wind. Have a Coke. Coca-Cola — its big, bold taste never too sweet, puts zing in people... refreshes best.

Rather than give them baskets or have food lines, they invite the poor to a dinner of lobster salad, composed of fruit salad, hot rum punch, served with candles and roses. They call this the champagne touch. Too often at HPC there are students who know champagne when we see it.

Just time to get that second wind. Have a Coke. Coca-Cola — its big, bold taste never too sweet, puts zing in people... refreshes best.

COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

The High Point College Library is a strong supporter of High Point College during his lifetime. He died October 13, 1961. At the Homecoming Banquet, Dr. Patton spoke to alumni on the subject, "Why Church Related Colleges Are Important." The theme of the Winchuck-Cabro brought the day to a close at the annual Alumni dance in Harrison Hall.

Wrenn Memorial Library To Sponsor Student Library Award Contest

The Wrenn Memorial Library is sponsoring a student library award contest in connection with the annual Homecoming Queen competition. The contest is open to all students, regardless of class standing.

To enter the contest, a student must make an annotated bibliography of his collection, describing each volume and its significance of how the student's collection is large, not all students will enter. The contest is open to all students, regardless of class standing.

1. To enter the contest, a student must make an annotated bibliography of his collection, describing each volume and its significance. The contest is open to all students, regardless of class standing.

2. Students to participate must have in their personal libraries: Freshmen-Four books. Sophomores—books. Juniors—books. Seniors—books. Books, for example, may enter more books if you choose. The above is the minimum.

3. All books which students are using for their personal libraries are candidates for the awards, local or national, must be submitted to the judges for examination. All books presented must have the student's name in a book plate inside.

4. Entrees should suggest 10 additional books they would like to own.

5. The awards, local and national, will be selected from general collections of books, special collections, collections of special books, and collections of special books, with special interest.

6. A portion of the books which a student may enter to compete for The Wrenn Memorial Library Award.

7. If a student's collection is not complete, he may enter at his discretion.

8. All materials must be submitted to the judges for their personal libraries, describing each volume and its significance. The contest is open to all students, regardless of class standing.

9. Watch for posters and bulletin board announcements for further information on the awards.

Prior to the game held at Alumni Gymnasium with Atlantic Christian College, The Hi-Po imposed a few questions on those playing, and Mr. Quinn had to know the team a better as new as expected performances in the remaining games. He had this to say. The Panthers have been even greater than their record thus far . . . they have overcome injuries, sickness, long lay-offs, and many unseen problems with only two losses by a total of 10 points. I can say that this has been my best collegiate team . . . the strongest, fastest, deepest, most versatile team I have been coaching. They can do more things better. The Panthers went on to win over the Christians of ACC, but by a come-from-behind effort in the last quarter of playing time resulting in a 76-69 victory. Earlier in the game, High Point was trailing first by 5 points at the half, and later with 30 minutes 30 seconds showing on the clock. Phil Garrett stole the ACC ball and gave it to Bill Fallin who connected a lay-up bringing the score to 51-all. Hotter play on the part of the Panthers continued with more frequent benefits from foul shots and infractions against ACC accounting for much of the success. Coach Quinn feels that his team "is still improving and has not yet reached its peak." Stating that the team was taking the rest of the games "one at a time," he mentioned that "we feel no particular pressure from any direction." It seems almost as though the High Point squad functions better when the pressure is on in relation to performances demonstrated against less formidable opponents.

The Panthers mentor was asked how he felt the Panthers would crack up next year in both senior and reserve strength. He had this to say first relating this semester's use of newcomers Joe Forte and Larry Morgan; "Forte has adapted to our style of play more quickly than any player I have ever coached. This started with him and to his former coaches who guided him to a better understanding of the fundamentals of the game. Larry Morgan needs more work in the backcourt, but he will be a strong shooter. He is more quickly now . . . it's hard to progress when you are not eligible to play . . . the game situation and do进步 leads to quick improvement."

Looking next to year, Quinn stated, "Next year's team will depend largely on this year's recruiting. We desperately need two front-court players to go with our fine returnees Dale Neel and Kirk Stewart. We will be strong at guard, I think, but you don't replace old stalwarts like Garrion, Falls, Rich, and Trembetta overnight. Dale Neel should be one of the top pivot men this year and Kirk Stewart is already one of the best offensive players in the conference, so we won't be in trouble shape. I expect to bring in one or two good boys who are anxious to continue our winning tradition here."

With two games remaining, the Panthers have lost hots on the behalf of Pfiffer College and then travel on the road to Lexington to try to break the stretched-out winning streak this team has had over High Point. On February 26 in Lexington, North Carolina at the Lebanon YMCA gymnasium, the Carolina Conference tournament will officially begin. High Point and seven other conference teams of the ten represented in the conference will be voting for the championship crown which automatically means a trip to Kansas City to participate in the NAIA championship which determines the national champion for small college basketball. Last year Western Carolina represented the Carolina Conference. An obstacle that will be made by coach Quinn was "If we can continue to play as we have the past few weeks, I expect to win three nights in a row in the tournament, we will come through in good form."" meaning the trip to Kansas City.

By the time the Hi-PO next appears, the Student Government Association will have elected a new slate of officers. For some of the members who had any experience with student government, the decision of who to vote for was easy to remember when you go to the polls on March 15. The candidates facing the officers you elect are far more demanding than most people realize. Remember the demands of any of the officers of the SGA, and the Student Legislature voted to appoint the editors of the three student publications selected from the previous year's staff. We feel that this will result in a better selection of qualified editors. Perhaps the SGA should think in terms of requiring that anyone running for President should have had some previous experience with student government.

I understand that the Woman's Department of the Women's Auxiliary has come to a definition of what constitutes heavy "making out." It should be rather interesting to see how the regulations which some of the more radical elements in the Presbyterian Church promulgate will come up to with the issue of a student who completely defies the spirit of the law. Frankly, I don't think they should make a big deal over the flehing and deep open season, but I do wonder as to the motive of "change the image" by making out and "reforming" it. I predict that there will be a lot of business under the correct label of "FDD," and the Daffy Parade very well might be just the same.

Small Colleges Must Unite Forces for Survival

High Point College is a small, Christian, liberal arts college. Because it is small, its students are names, not numbers, and its college is in competition with other financially stronger colleges like it increase their enrollments, court state support, and specialize in the point of discard of the liberal arts tradition in order to survive? Perhaps not. Across the nation now, in more than twenty different cooperative organizations, small colleges are joining together to secure the advantages of size while retaining the innovative and distinctive strengths. Here in North Carolina such an organization is the North Carolina College of Education.

High Point College is a charter member. This organization, with headquarters in Winston-Salem, is now entering its second year of operation. Thus far its planning for Adult Education, and a Common Calendar for all member colleges. The success of these activities to this point suggests an exciting and vital future for the Center.

Vote! Vote! Vote! Elections are rapidly approaching the High Point College Campus. Every student should take the initiative to look after his future by voting for candidates for the positions of which he feels the most strongly. The duties inculcated within our liberal arts tradition are not responsible for taking full-part support to activate and organize the newly formed government. We can not afford to settle back and be satisfied with everyone's college decisions. Protect yourself and support your Student Government Association!

PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE OF ALUMNI AFFAIRS OUTLINED

Increase In Graduate Support Noted

In Most Phases of Program

By Dale Brown

If one were to travel over this great land of ours visiting a majority of some two thousand institutions of higher learning, he would find, almost without exception, an Alumni Office of one type or another. College admin- istrators and faculty have come to realize that rapport be- tween an institution of higher learning and its graduates and former students can make a great deal of difference in the degree of the success achieved by their school. As a result the work of alumni officers has become an integral part of college administra- tion and a vital factor in the annual budget of most college and university programs.

"Alumni" is, of course, a Latin word derived from the verb alere which means "to nourish." Thus alumni are literally "men who have been nourished." It is the business of an alumni association to carry forward what was initiated in the undergraduate years—a relationship between the alumnus and the life he is leading—and the protec- tion and extension of his intellectual depth.

An Alumni Association has been organized at High Point College for the better portion of its existence. It is only in recent years that a concentrated effort has been made to retain the interest and loyalty of its alumni. Wesley Gaynor, now Bursar, was the first full-time alumni secretary at High Point College and was instrumental in establishing the "Tar Heel" State include the Alumni Association, Alum- bro Chapter, Cabarrus County Chapter (Kannapolis-Concord), Durham-Orange County Chap- ter, Forsyth County Chapter (Winston-Salem), Greensboro Area Chapter, High Point Area Chapter, Hendrickson Area Chapter (Charlotte), Raleigh Area Chapter, Rockingham Area Chapter, and Thomasville Area Chapter. In addition the state's two church confer- ences form an additional pair of alumni chapters meeting annually in the fall of 1962, the Alumni Exec- utive Committee decided to set goals of $10,000 and $5,000.

One stipulation requires that annual giving on this campus will reach a level between 40-50 percent of the current average of $5,770 in gifts received. With each graduating class, alumni gave enough to maintain the alumni of the college by its own alumni. It is not merely that they do give that is of fact that they do give that is of such a nature that annual giving on the campus will show evidence of loyalty and interest. It is the hope of the Alumni Office that in five years an annual giving campaign will appear in the Alumni Bulletin.

Panthers Advance to NAIA Dist. 26 Finals

By the time you read this, The Panthers of HPC will either be on the way to Kansas City or settling back to a well-deserved rest in the wake of a defeat by either Lenoir Rhyne or the winner of the Wolford Enkline game. It was this same L-R team that came from the middle of the Carolinas Conference listings and managed to win the championship at Lexington on February 26 at the Lexington YMCA gymnastium receiving a bonus ticket to the district competition to boot. For the Conference champion, L-R defeated the High Point squad in a "slowed down" game that proved one point better than the Panther game with the resulting score of 33-30. The Lenoir Rhyne team has been a thorn in the Panther's side for this entire season and last (this year HPC beat L-R once by a score of 44-4), the other conference game resulted in a 62-60 defeat by L-R. At the outset of the regular Conference season and into the championship play itself, the normally aggressive HPC team has been forced to play the deathly slow game of "keep-aways" with the impish Hickory team. Coach Tom Quinn was quoted as saying after the defeat by L-R, in the championship play-off that defensively and in the rebound department, the High Point squad played well... it seems that the team from the furniture city was "too anxious" and made the poorer showing offensively.
Construction Starts On New Wing of North Hall

Construction work began Monday, April 13, on the completion of the new wing of North Hall, announced.

"The new wing will accommodate 96 women students," stated Dr. Patton, "enabling us to accept for admission some of the superior students because of lack of space."

The rooms will be of the same size as those in North Hall, and will contain built-in dressers and wardrobes for the girls' use. A lavatory will be in each room, and two girls will be housed to a room.

There will be some modifications, stated Dr. Patton, "in that there will be fire exits, extra wardrobe space: and the halls were made at the suggestion of the women's Dormitory Council."

When the building is complete, the courtyard facing the campus will be landscaped and a decorative wall will may be erected.

Choir Attends Choral Festival in Greensboro

The High Point College Choir attended the Intercollegiate Choral Festival of the weekend of April 10-11 at UNC-Greensboro. The group is under the direction of Mr. Thomas Thompson. This year 10 college choirs participated as solo groups and 5 were joined forces for the two-day rehearsals and a concert Saturday night, April 11. Carol Parrisb, editor-in-chief, attended the festival.

From the Administration

by Richard Allgood

From the President's office: On May 31, graduation exercises will conclude. The speaker at the morning baccalaureate service will be the Rev. Thomas Haggard. At commencement that afternoon, the speaker will be Dr. William Friday, President, of the University of North Carolina.

From the Dean's office: On April 18, some 600 educators throughout North Carolina are expected to attend a one day meeting at High Point College. Miss Gwendolyn Hoosman, Supervisor of Reading for the public schools of Detroit, Michigan, will be the keynote speaker. Administrative officials in charge of the program will be Dr. Cole, Dr. William P. Mathews, Director of Guidance and Counseling at H.P.C., and SRA's Drs. Robert, and Mendenhall.

From the Fine Arts Dept.

Miss Emogene Fields, Professor of Music in the Fine Arts Department, played an organ recital at the Piedmont University Center to entertain guests at the Renewala House in Greensboro. Miss Fields was invited by Wake Forest College to perform for the guests of the Piedmont University Center.

Using a four Manual Aeolian Piper organ donated to the center, Miss Fields played Wilcox’s “Sacredly,” North’s “A Majors,” and Gehrerberg’s “Vision.” Her program is one in a series to introduce the several faculties to the center. After the recital, Wilcox’s “Sacredly” was presented by the Carolina Women’s Chorale and Wheeler’s “A Majors” was presented by the Carolinas Men’s Chorale.

From the Religion Dept.

During the past week the Department of Religion of High Point College and the Board of Education of the Methodist Church invited guest at the Lab school experience for future leaders of the church. Miss Sara Bagley, the liaison person between the Board of Education of the Methodist Church and the Methodist Publishing House, and who is also an accredited Lab instructor for the Methodist Church, led the Lab school.

This particular Lab school was conducted with children who were four and five years of age, and the leaders in training are students of Mrs. Dorothy Hayes of Maine. The Lab school and others like it would not have been made possible if it had not been for the cooperation of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church which furnished the pupils and the equipment for the training experience.

From Student Publications

Carol Farnel, editor-in-chief of the ZENITH, has announced that the ZENITH will be distributed to HPC students on Wednesday, May 13. There will be several extra copies which will be sold to those desiring them.

The second publication of the annual "APOGEE," the literary magazine, will be completed by the end of April or the beginning of May, and will then be distributed to members of the student body according to editor, Vera McInnis.

Jim Beauty Visits Campus to Recruit N.C. Volunteers

Mr. James T. Beauty, well-known to many in the world of music, arrived in Greensboro, Friday, April 10, to discuss possible openings in the North Carolina Volunteers. He explained that any student in North Carolina colleges and universities is eligible for service. One hundred and qualified students are needed in ten communities in different parts of the state in areas of community need and development.

In this diverse activity, a student would assist in tutorial programs, run day care centers, and other health services, and perform other tasks associated with alleviating the long range poverty.

This program organized by Governor Terry Sanford and other members of the administration has been aided by the Ford, Mary Baldwin Rockefeller and Z. Smith Reynolds Foundations. Each participant will be given room, board and one or two extra weeks during the summer beginning June 10, 1964. He would live either in college dormitories in the community or with families who are residents.

Mr. Beauty explained that accepted participants would undertake a training program in June. This program is designed to instruct the volunteers in all facets of his work on the local level and in techniques of community education and organization. It was cited that this year's volunteers would have an opportunity to serve in subsequent years in full-time paid internships.

All interested students should obtain application forms from Dr. Cole. For additional information call or write:

The Annual Student Congress meets: Awards Presented

The annual Student Congress of the S.G.A. was convened April 10-11 by President Nelson Kennedy. Dr. David W. Cole, the acting dean of the college, gave the opening address which was well received by the congress members. Miss Fields was elected to the S.G.A. delegates to the background of the Student Congress. Dr. Cole spoke about the importance of legislative process, and parliamentary procedure in a democratic government.

Day Long Session

In session from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., the Student Congress which is held each spring by students has the opportunity to learn the legislative process that can be of campus, local, state, and federal importance. Instead of bills being drafted by groups of students, representatives from each college in the state are assigned to work on particular bills. This year representatives from the annual Student Congress sessions.

Delegate's Role

The two-day session made up of three delegates and three alternates from each class and one delegate and one alternate from each organization on campus. Each delegate has the opportunity to submit a legislative bill that can be of campus, local, state, and federal importance. These bills are then debated by delegates and further debated by non-delegates at the state level. The bills are brought to the floor for voting and the bill is then assigned to a group of students and groups to work on the bill during the summer between June 10-20. The bills are then sent to members of the Student Congress. Mr. James T. Beauty, the keynote speaker.

Area Resident Dorm Counsellors Concur

Our resident dorm counsellors attended a seminar held by the North Carolina Association of Women Deans and Counsellors April 10-11 in Greensboro. The seminar was held at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro. Topics covered during the seminar were: "The College Dormitory Counselor: A Study of His Present Status." They will attend sessions at which the topic for discussion will be the role of the resident dorm counselor in the residence hall program. These meetings take the form of a conference, this being the spring meeting.
Letter To The Editor

Little's Bit
by Dan Little

Freedom! At last! It doesn't seem possible that now I am free from the drag of HI-PO. It was with a tremendous sigh of relief that I turned over the editorship of the HI-PO to Al Rauch with my best wishes for his good luck—which, alas, as glad as I am to be relieved, I doubt I had the chance. It was truly a sad sight, even if the paper was lousy.

I didn't know anything about journalism when I started, and I know very little now, but you can bet your boots that I have learned enough about humans and human nature to fill a book. I need it now.

I took this job feeling that social change would be a reality in a year or two and I would start working for real something (and perhaps useless) fields of knowledge. I have learned that the other important and certainly useful subjects such as the natural sciences and mathematics.

What are the general requirements for a degree? Twelve hours of English, 12 hours of a foreign language, 12 hours of history, four hours of physical education, and 12 hours of a science are the requirements at this time. Absolutely no math, science, or literature. Science! Science is the panacea to a problem having no panacea? The latter proposal seems

McCarthy electrified listeners with revolutionary proposals to be

In forthcoming weeks. We believe this is quite possible.

The administration is far from perfect and may even be prone to simplistic solutions. The college officials will say they won't and they should decide school policy as they see fit. Usually they must contend with the problem of conscience. We must contend with the problem of conscience and the realization that there may be in our community people who have no respect for student government.

The editorial also made great reference to the word "generalist"—the world must have to find ways to direct the producer of a certain level of work. I believe that is the point of view that the "generalist" was left undisciplined. As we see it, there are two kinds of "generalists": the rare individual who is an expert in several fields and the single-minded individual to the United states.

The old "Poison Pen" as it has been called by some is not out of ink, but it has completely taken over HI-PO this year. The world is perfect yet my pen and big enough to satisfy itself.

To the end results of such action.)

Down Al's Alley
by Al Rauch

As you can tell, someone new has taken over as editor of the HI-PO. My name is Al Rauch from the junior from Pennsylvania, but I am new to the community. Fortunately or unfortunately, depending upon where you stand on the political spectrum, articles I wrote for this paper. I'm sure you'll find satisfaction at light, which come to mind. People didn't think too highly, and want to state it publicly at any time. You can be certain that there will be no lousy articles in my column. I will be more than willing to have the HI-PO office every afternoon from 1:30 Mondays and Thursdays, and from 10:30 to 2:30 on Wednesdays and Fridays until 5:00. I will be more than happy to welcome you to the fold as a fellow journalist at any of these times. Please don't all come at once, the HI-PO office is rather small. On the other hand, the HI-PO office is located on the third floor of the student union.
Library Week Observed Here
National Library Week, 1964, is April 12-18. Launched in the spring of 1959 and sponsored by the American Library Assn., Inc., National Library Week is designed to provide continuing year-round effort to encourage reading over the whole nation and to induce improvements in libraries of all types. "Reading Is The Key" is the 1964 slogan. With this Reading Key as the focal point, National Library Week has four "Key Concerns":
1. To attack illiteracy with primary focus on the deve- lopment of life-long reading habits in the very young, as a preventive measure.
2. To recognize the economic and social importance of state library systems.
3. To make career opportuni- ties offered by the library profession available to talented young people and to college-educated mature people seeking "second careers."
4. To continue urgent need for more and better school and academic libraries to provide our young people, a highly trained student population with educational advantages demanding new teaching methods and cur- ricula.

The "Key Concerns" amplify and clarify the slogan, "Reading Is The Key" and spells out its meaning: "Reading Is The Key to Opportunities," "Reading Is The Key To New Worlds," and "Reading Is The Key To Understanding." We believe that "Reading Is The Key" to — Opportunities, to New Worlds, to Understanding, and we are co- operating wholeheartedly with the nation-wide effort as we direct our efforts to our local responsibil- ity, "Reading Is The Key" to your college library.

Miss Carter and her library staff try to work closely with the whole student body on an indi- vidual basis; they count it a privilege to talk with students about library work and the profession. It is timely to state here, for the student body, to New Worlds, to opportunities, to New Worlds, to understanding.

Dear Reader,

This is a new column for the HI-PO. Just because my name doesn't mean that Social News and Greeks News are anonymous. Dr. Spearman's column New Social News means what it says: Social News.

Greeks and independents both are expected to contribute to the "Tennis-Talk" column. The S.C.A. will be able to pub- licize its social functions through this column as will the S.C.A. and any other organization on campus.

What is considered social news? Parties and dances will, of course, be a part. Couples who, in order to "graduate," are engaged for married will be included. Trips to the beach, mountains, or festivals are social news.

This column is not planned only for Greek organizations, it is up to you, the student body, to keep it from being strictly Greek news. Any news coming under the aforementioned classification will be considered by Dr. Spearman, the men's editor, or to the T-n in the title to be published every Tuesday at twelve noon following each issue of the HI-PO.

Two New Players Add Strength To 1964 Golf Team

For the 1964 season, the golf team is looking forward to a successful campaign. This year's team was strengthened by the addition of two new players. They are RogerWatson of High Point and Bill Fanning of Rochester, New York. Both players shoot in the 70's. The other members of the team are Stan Kenney and Dick Olson.

The team opened its season at Hickory with a tie with the Lebanon Bears. Stan Kenney was low for High Point with a winning score of 78. In their second match, a triangular meet with Appalachian and Pfeiffer, was called after nine holes because of wet greens. With eight matches remaining, the team expects to reach its full potential by the time for the Cardinal Conference Tournament in May.

High Point Summer School To Begin June 8th

Dr. William Clyde Friday, president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will deliver the commencement address at High Point College's graduation exercises on Wednesday, May 12. in Harrison Hall. Dean Raymond Jenkins of Catawba College and his L.L.B. degree from the University of North Carolina Law School at Chapel Hill will preside. Belmont Abbey College, Duke University, Elon College, and Davidson College have conferred upon him the honorary L.L.D. degree.

Dr. Friday began his career as Assistant to the Dean of Students at the University of North Carolina in 1941. He has served as Assistant Dean of Students at South Carolina College and for one year was named Acting Dean. He became assistant to the President of the University of North Carolina, holding that position until 1953, when he was made Secretary of the University. He has been President of the University of North Carolina since 1956.

Dr. Friday is a member of the Board of Visitors at Davidson College and is on the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Children's Home Society. He is a member of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America. During World War II he served in the United States Navy, holding the rank of Lieutenant. High Point College: A Social Paradox

On a campus that professes such a high degree of sociability with its many social organizations, its various religiously affiliated groups, and its countless other campus cogs running the human relations situation, we have failed in our sociability toward visitors to this institution. Reflecting on past months, we have left much to be desired in our sportsmanship at collegiate athletics such as basketball games, our booing, jeering, and frequent non-support of our own team when the chips were down — valuable lessons we will remember at our own risk. Our intra-campus social relations when placed under the microscope of scrutiny leaves much to be desired for all students of this college (. . . to be continued).

As late, a supreme example of this campus' sociability was brought into light at the assembly program on April 22. HPC was given a modern dance performance by women from U.N.C.G. This writer does not intend to give a running account of the facilities of these performers — low or bad or good they were not the question in point. The question is point in which the student body feels absolutely right about its treatment of a group of students (not the worried students) who had left their own studies to spend time and effort in preparing to perform the dance with ineffective sound equipment, limited space, and a generally impolite audience. Here is where we show ourselves for what we really are: immature, socially oriented students, or the other variety of pseudo—"we name its" who find their genuine social culture via "motels", "hoot shows", and things that make us all laugh . . . ha. ha!

Perhaps mature dance at its very best is not your cup of tea; our participation in this could lead to all that. At the very least, those "dancers" from U.N.C.G. did try. and we as "motels", "hoot shows", and things that make us all laugh . . . ha. ha!

Perhaps maturity dance at its very best is not your cup of tea; our participation in this could lead to all that. At the very least, those "dancers" from U.N.C.G. did try.

Perhaps one might not agree with the arrangements for May Day, but perhaps his views reflect the unhappiness of the vast majority of students. The situation leaves much to be desired for all our visitors. If, someday, all people could adopt this attitude of sociability, you, too, might be spared the humiliation and discourtesy that others have endured.

—R.W.S.

What Gives With May Day Celebration?

The May Day Committee should be commended for organizing an enjoyable social event which interested students so much that they could not be kept away from the campus for parks unknown. Even, however, is the fact that even the president of the Student Association did not perform the task of crowning the May Queen.

Perhaps one might not agree with the arrangements for May Day, but perhaps his views reflect the unhappiness of the vast majority of students. The situation leaves much to be desired for all our visitors. If, someday, all people could adopt this attitude of sociability, you, too, might be spared the humiliation and discourtesy that others have endured.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In the last issue of the H-P, discussing the curriculums for lacking sufficient required science and art courses. The columnists seem to doubt whether HPC is a Christian college and imply that HPC is dedicated, perhaps, to various traditional fields of knowledge while neglecting more important areas of knowledge.

Christianity is more, or less, an art form, not a science and is, therefore, not a matter of degree. Liberal arts colleges are supposed to allow as much freedom of choice for selecting courses as possible; however, by making the most of past experiences the list of courses which to be offered, the most important factor causing conflict is human relations in misunderstanding Communica- tion is imperative, and can only come about through extensive knowledge of languages and social studies.

Many Improvements Take Form At High Point College

by Ray Davis and Charles Kerr

For the students of High Point College, many new and interesting developments have been occurring this past semester. Many of these will continue through the remainder of this year and into next year.

Following the success of the Symposium on Absurdity, which was produced this past semester, the Fine Arts Department is in the process of making various plans for the future. One major idea is for an Arts Festival to be held in connection with the four-hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare. Featured in this festival will be an opera written by Dr. Lewis. Further information will be published about this festival as soon as it is formulated.

DEAN COLE

Dean Cole has made several announcements concerning various events for the education at High Point College.

1. The "core courses" found in the 1964-65 catalogue are the basis of a liberal arts education at HPC. These courses ensure the students of a broad liberal arts education and an understanding of any trends toward our much specialization.

2. The Business Administration and Economics Departments will offer a B.S. degree in business and an A.B. degree in Economics. This education is now considered an applied art to be administered by the Fine Arts Department.

3. Starting June 1, 1964, every hour attempted or passed will be used in the computation of the students' grade point average.

Dean Cole was happy to announce that the quality of student's accepted for next year is of higher caliber than of previous years. The College Board scores for High Point College will average 65-75 next year with a minimum of 700 for entrance.

High Point College is making strides toward greater academic excellence. It is hoped this trend will continue.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English Department is headed by Dr. Sam Underwood; developing a reading list for entering freshmen and a new English course, English 451, for English majors. The reading list is now being considered for publication. If published, this reading list will be available to incoming freshmen who wish to better prepare themselves for work on a college level. Under the leadership of Dr. Halla- day, English Seminar 451 is adding a new dimension to the education of English majors. The purpose of this course is to prepare seniors who plan to teach or do graduate work in English through an in-depth analysis and critically evaluating poetry.

Philip C. Wade in the Master of Arts, and Ron Covey have presented their seminar papers orally before faculty and English Department members this week.

The department has formed a departmental library to supplement reading material for any student, not simply English majors. The collection of books, though at present small in quantity, is varied in subject matter.

INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS NEWS

Philadelphia, Pa. (T.)—Reporting on his recent appearance before the Senate sub-committee on education, Dr. Carl M. Grop, Jr., dean of students at Temple University, said that about the same time the federal government became more active in University affairs, Dr. Grop is national chairman of the Joint Commission on Student Financial Aid.

Dean Grop said that subcommittee chairman Senator

Wayne Morse (D-Oregon) asked the American Council on Education to provide a panel to discuss student aid proposals including the Hartke Bill. This bill provides assistance for students in higher education by increasing the amount authorized for loans

under the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and by establishing programs for scholarships, loan insurance and work-study.

According to Dean Grop, "We have gone far enough in putting financial problems of higher education to students and their families. It is immoral to expect students to borrow thousands of dollars and continue to unsound as well. If students come out of college in debt, how will they be able to afford post-graduate education, and if they are married will they be able to afford housing?" he asked.

"While the Hartke Bill is good

there is a limit to what it can do.

Further federal programs should be established to help universi-tes increase their scholarship programs, and enough aid should be given to keep tuition down," Dr. Grop concluded.

Doctor Peace Speaks At Senior Investiture

Dr. Clifford Peace of Winston-

Salem, will be the featured speaker at the annual Senior Investiture Program to be held May 6, in Memorial Auditorium.

The chapel speaker received his A.B. Degree from High Point College and his B.D. Degree from Duke Divinity School. "The South and Southwest." At present he is on special appointment by the Methodist Church to serve as Pastor-Counselor to the J. H. Boy-nolds Tobacco Company. The Reverend Peace also served three years as Chaplain in the Army Air Corps.

A few days ago six dorm students of High Point College were asked a particular question. These people were chosen at random, representative of the students from the various parts of the country attending H.P.C. The responses given, it is the opinion of the writer that most of these students have not concerned themselves with the campus issues that may or may not occur in the near future. Here are the replies to the question:

Steve Pearson, Hazard, Ky. - "I would feel that finally the controversy of the college and dormitories would be settled. I consider myself to be an idealist and as such tend to judge individuals on their own merits and not by the color of their skin. Anyone interested in getting an education should be able to keep clean himself and his room and should be able to attend the college and in its dormitories."

Christie Jensen, Alexandria, Va. - "I think the student would probably go to the South. I would not go there because I do not want to live in a situation that may or may not exist in the near future."

The replies are the only few of your fellow students. Would anyone else want to put you up to this question?

May Day - An Ageless Festival

by Anne Smith

Gail Geer received the honor of being the May Queen on this campus. Does it mean that the student body knows what this reign entails? Let them ponder over a day that happens in Fall is May? Are we Honoring their beauty contest? No. Our May Day was stunts this statement, a short history of the nature and meaning. May Day began as a Spring Festival that was believed to be connected with the beginning of summer with emphasis on the May Queen - and the May Pole. Celebration began in many parts of Europe as early as 1300 when the peasant women used the rod of magic after midnight on May Day. The youth would预算 the fables of love which were followed by the cutting of the May Pole. All the branches were set off except the ones at the top. Then the tree was wound with purple band and violets.

At sunrise, with flutes and horns, they would take the gane trees to the village where other young trees or branches to fasten over the doors and windows of their homes. The pole was placed on the village green, usually near the town's church. The May Pole, brought to the village on oxen adorned with garlands by the youth, often times larger than 60 feet high. The pole was erected amid much rejoicing and dancing sometimes only by boys, but generally engaged in by all the young people of the village. In England long time, the trunks were attached to the top by each branch that was held by a child. As the children danced, every other child would dance in front direction, making a basket weave as they went. The dance lasted for the remainder of the day.

The May queen was not honored in May Day, but on every other occasion where there was a Realm of Stuart, May Day is a 'prejudiced world."

Spring Weekend Highlighted By Brandywine Singers

Featuring a top folk-singing group in the country, the climax event, Spring Weekend at High Point College was held Friday and Saturday, April 24-25.

The kick-off event was a semi-formal dance at Oasis Lake, Friday evening at 9 p.m.

Saturday activities included the presentation of the May Queen at 1:30 p.m., followed by a dance to the cutting of the May Pole and her court at 2:30 p.m.

The May Queen was Gail Geer, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Fred P. Geer, 23 Headley Ter. A beauty contest was held May 1. The queen and her court were to toast the May Pole and her court.

The Maypole was erected by the students at the site of the May Pole.

The golf team has been successful in both 1 match matches. Winning five out of the last six, the golf team has progressively bettered their previous performances. In the last two matches all the photos were shot in the 70s. The team has had outstanding performances of James McNeely and Stan Kimmy, both consistently shooting in the low 70s. With this type of golf, the Panthers should have an excellent chance in the Conference tournament at Boone, North Carolina, May 11 and 12.

Boys' Golf

The intramural golf match was held on April 21. The winning team was Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. Their team consisting of Bill Herndon, Dave Harrington, and Ed Turner, shot for a total score of 572. This was seven strokes short of the previous record set by Alpha Chi Fraternity. The medalist trophy winner was Charles Menneal whose 75 was the low score of the day. He was followed by Doc Webster and Herndon with 77 and 78 respectively.

Intramural Standings

The Intramural standings are as follows:

Fraternity Intramural standings are as follows:
Pi Kappa Alpha 371
Delta Chi Alpha 359
Lambach Alpha 318
Theta Chi Alpha 212
Alpha Phi Omega 96
Tau Kappa Epsilon 88
Sigma Phi Epsilon 48

These standings include every event that has been played with the exception of bowling and golf. With no bowlers this year, softball and tennis are the only sports left.

Girls Softball

Along with the coming of spring comes the familiar sound of "play ball!" The High Point College girls have been active since the beginning of April playing intramural softball.

This far this season the independent team is in the number one position with a 3-0 record. Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Alpha Gamma Delta sorority are sharing second place with 2-1 records. Kappa Delta sorority and Phi Mu sorority are tied in third place with 0-3 records. Kappa Delta sorority plays Monday, April 27.

Another shower of pebbles and sand has been decided to have fallen in Central Mexico. The latest theory regarding this phenomenon is that some place near the American border a determined gallon is trying to get out of a sand trap.

Delta Sigma Phi's Herndon was the 22f> leader for HPC. 77%; Elon, 60: and Atlantic Christinas, 25. The High Point leader was Mike Sabino with 13 points. He also broke the school record for the mile with a time of 4:29.2. The mile record was held by Lou Farrow. Tom Dignan was the 22f> and 40 yard winner. The track team's record this year is 2-1 in dual meets and a 1 and a 3rd in meets.

On April 9 the track team defeated the Guilford track team by the score of 88-82. On April 16 the team won 77-61 over Elon.

The High Point Panthers have had their ups and downs this year. The High Point netters have lost three of the past five matches by close scores.

April 9 found the Panthers losing Elon 5-2 at Elon. A trip to Guilford on April 14 was not nearly so successful. On their home courts the Quakers edged the Panthers 4-3.

Point moved onto the High Point courts April 17 and handed the Panthers their second straight loss, 4-3.

Fleider took a 5-2 decision from High Point here. Johnson went back in the win column, High Point took a convincing win over the Elon Christians. The team and Coach Oast are looking forward to the tournament.

Girls Finish Season

The High Point College girls' basketball team finished their 1964 season with a record of eight wins, three losses. The leading scorer was Mary Hendricks, scoring a total of 213 points — an average of 19.4 points per game. The girls had a fine season, scoring a total of 403 points to their opponents 324 points. The three games they lost were lost by a total of nine points.

The program of the staff is in the process of making new policies for a better organized method of publication news.

Chemistry Dept. Represented at Davidson

Saturday, May 9th, three representatives from the Chemistry Department were present at a meeting of the Davidson College Department of Chemistry Association. The guests were: Dr. Christopher L. Wilson, chairman of the Chemistry Department; Dr. S. L. Stump, a candidate for graduate work in Chemistry; and Dr. Jack Hall, chairman of the Chemistry Department.

This trip was sponsored by the Chemistry Department and is hoped that the students will be able to continue on in Chemistry.

Lazaruk Awarded Grant

The chairman of the Department of Biology, Dr. William Lazaruk, has been awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation for research on the effects of mineral elements on the growth of fresh water algae.

This latest grant from the National Science Foundation was one of nineteen approved by the Foundation. The scientists who were granted these grants cover every department and represent twelve different institutions.

The project was presented by Dr. Lazaruk by the Davidson College Department Center with the understanding that High Point College will finance one-half of the grant and that the Center will be responsible for the work. The students will be responsible for the work.

Class Reunions

This year the Alumni Day will be observed on Saturday, May 6, and six classes will be celebrating their reunions: they are the classes of 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, and 1954.

Schedule of Events

The program is to begin with a social hour from 5:00-6:15 p.m. in the student center, where light refreshments will be served. It is hoped this time will be used for alumini to chat with their classmates in an informal setting. At 6:30 p.m. a buffet supper will be served in Harrison Hall with classes celebrating reunions sitting together as groups.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Mr. W. V. Hollar, President of the High Point College Alumni Association. Other highlights of the evening will include comments from Dr. C. J. Lynam, president of the Student Government Association and instrumental in bringing about the Alumni Day for the student body. He has also been selected as the outstanding Senior and has been elected to membership in the Phi Delta Lambda and Kappa Chi and the Sigma Chi of the College and Universities.

During his senior year, Hollar is the chairman of the City-College Relations Committee and is a member of the Student Government Association and instrumental in bringing about the Alumni Day for the student body. He has also been selected as the outstanding Senior and has been elected to membership in the Phi Delta Lambda and Kappa Chi and the Sigma Chi of the College and Universities.

Lynam Joins Fine Arts Staff

Charles L. Lynam, from Greensboro, has been named Head of the Fine Arts staff of the Department of Fine Arts at High Point College beginning this fall.

Lynam has been a singer and stage manager and in the Oklahoma City (National Opera Company. He is presently Head of the Alamaranz Broadcasting Company, Burlington. He has also been who among other educational and civic activities is a member of the High Point College Alumni Association. He has been selected as the outstanding Senior and has been elected to membership in the Phi Delta Lambda and Kappa Chi and the Sigma Chi of the College and Universities.
Campus Viewpoint

The Hi-Po

May 15, 1964

Dear Editor,

By now the student body has received its second yearbook. What kind of book have they received? Is it a well-organized and thoughtfully arranged book? Have they received a book which will be useful at least two years before any change is made?

In the elaboration, the high cost of education remains an established fact. In addition to the usual college expenses — tuition, room and board, and various fees — a student must purchase textbooks and supplies. For books a student on this campus may spend upwards into fifty or sixty dollars (I have receipts for all who doubt.) Normal expense for good books a student on this campus may spend upwards into fifty or sixty dollars and in many cases, only one at the most is used. The other book(s) are fixed by an outside book distributing firm and are not subject suitable by his successor. What seems so mysterious is how ONE professor could ever hope to teach effectively out of three textbooks change is made."

"Each faculty member is responsible for the planning of his courses of study and the selection of textbooks to be used. The general rule is that a text must be used at least two years before any materials are changed. This means that the students who really have put their hearts and souls into their college experience. College can mean a "hell of a lot" to an individual if he lets it be, but if a student stays here he might be the happy and the sad events which have taken place during your college career. Without reservation I wish you good luck, and I wish you deservest.

The Hi-Po Wants To Know

Steve Montague makes the most of the summer school scene this summer. He plans to take his summer pleasures with a visit to Washington, D. C."

"I plan to go to summer school; however, I plan to take my summer classes at High Point College. When I return to college I plan to end my summer pleasures with a visit to Washington, D.C."

"I plan to attend summer school at HPC." says Fran Underwood. "Of course, I am also looking forward to several trips to the beach. After all, what is summer without a beach trip?"

"Last, but not least on the in- theme of sex, and are having difficulty gaining the institution will exert similar pressures and gain entry into graduate school. Maybe it is too easy to be made more that one can say about the inexcusable, however, is the fact that in a single course, two or even three books may be required by a particular professor and in many cases, only one at the most is used. The book(s) will often not be returnable regardless of an unbroken binding. Also the bookstores should not be held responsible if a professor changes his mind and the use of narcotics among students who otherwise might make sound decisions. Students who really have put their hearts and souls into their college experience. College can mean a "hell of a lot" to an individual if he lets it be, but if a student stays here, he might be the happy and the sad events which have taken place during your college career. Without reservation I wish you good luck, and I wish you deservest.

The Hi-Po Wants To Know

Dave Baughn plans to play the beach box role. "I plan to work at Myrtle Beach selling umbrellas and floats, etc. It should be a summer of sun and fun before I begin my adult teaching experience in the fall."

Wayne Forman says, "I plan to go to summer school; however, I plan to take my summer classes at High Point College. When I return to college I plan to end my summer pleasures with a visit to Washington, D.C."

"I plan to attend summer school at HPC." says Fran Underwood. "Of course, I am also looking forward to several trips to the beach. After all, what is summer without a beach trip?"

"Last, but not least on the income of the students" says Professor Lewis B. Mayhew, "is the fact that many of the students who have taken classes at High Point College have been able to attend college because of their summer earnings."
New Seminar Offered In English
by Ron Covey

This year marks the first time that a seminar course has been offered in the Department of English. English 451 was included in the class schedule in the spring semester as a required course for all those students majoring in English. Dr. Jean Halladay, Assistant Professor of English, was selected to sit at the desk of the "451" class to direct the students in their quest of Judging all those students majoring in English. Dr. Jean Halladay, Assistant Professor of English, was selected to sit at the desk of the "451" class to direct the students in their quest of interpreting the worth of the words of the authors. This entirely new approach imparts a totally new slant for those pusillanimous individuals who view poetry on a singular and stereotyped plane.

Naturally, judging poetry is not the only aspect of English 451. This class is also programmed to orient the student in the major thought in literary criticism and to bring to light some idea of the vastness of the literary publications of this country. The primary goal of the class was to learn the techniques of specialized scholarly research in the field of English; the assignment included the consulting of all books, periodical articles, and other published materials in the library. In many cases, students in the class asked friends registered at Wake Forest, The University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and other neighboring colleges to borrow materials from libraries to meet the requirements of the assignment. The index in English 451 provided by learning that scholarship is a complex thing.

One of the most valuable, though painful, experiences was the presentation of the papers before the members of the English Department. Students were queried by the faculty and students in the class, and the papers are being prepared for permanent binding. Even Dr. Halladay seems highly gratified with the performance of the class, and the papers are being prepared for permanent binding.

The poems for explication were as follows: Rebecca Whitaker, "Dead Soldier" by Karl Shapiro; Clara Jane Neal, "Hymn to Intellect" by Morrissey, and a medley of tunes from the hit "Cerco Hand. C. Robert Clark conducted. The High Point College Concert Band, R. C. Robert Clark conductor, gave a performance in Memorial Auditorium, Thursday, May 2, 1964. The concert, sponsored by the Fine Arts Department, included "El Conquistador" by Tarver, "Music for a Ceremony" by Morton, and a medley of tunes from the hit musical "Music Man" by Meredith Willson. Excluded also were two solos, one a selected tuba solo by Francis "Skip" Cortney, and "A Trumpeter's Lullaby" by Al Collins. Miss Nancy June Hill accompanied Mr. Cortney.

Prado Presents Senior Recital

Mr. Carlos Prado Jr., of San Juan, Puerto Rico, played his Senior Viola Recital in Memorial Auditorium Monday, May 4 at 8:30 p.m. Miss Nancy Jane Hill accompanied Mr. Prado during his recital. The Recital program included: Mozart's "Landler", Goldmark's "Air from Concerto Opus 28", and Albena's "Tango". Mr. Prado plays the violin, viola, and French horn; he played in the Annual Band Concert recently under Mr. Clark's direction. During his stay at High Point College, he has received scholarship aid from the Grady Goldston Fund and the Presser Foundation of Philadelphia.

Music Students

Every year at the end of the Spring semester the Music Department presents a concert-recital in which a small number of music students take part. This year the recital took place on Thursday, May 14, in the Memorial Auditorium.

The Alpha Gams are having their annual Barn Ball on Saturday, May 16. The music will be provided by "The Swinging Senators." That's a hoot.

The Delta Sigas had a ski party May 9, at Badin Lake. Bob Kornegay cheerfully donated his cabin.

This year's almost over, and so the parties are easing, too. Most people are trying to have one last fling before exams.

This year's almost over, and so the parties are easing, too. Most people are trying to have one last fling before exams.

The Alpha Gams are having their annual Barn Ball on Saturday, May 16. The music will be provided by "The Swinging Senators." That's a hoot.

The Delta Sigas had a ski party May 9, at Badin Lake. Bob Kornegay cheerfully donated his cabin.
Sabino, Balthis, Earn Firsts In Carolina's Conference Track Meet
by Dick Stimson

Despite a poor showing in depth, the High Point College Track Team did a fine job representing the college on Saturday, May 9, at the Carolina Conference Track Meet held at Millis Stadium. The HPC Club placed fourth in the final team standings with 55 points, 26 points behind the Indiana of Catawba College, who placed first with 52 points. Ap- palachian State, with 50, Lenior Rhyne (the strong team that won the District 20 N.A.I.A. meet at Appalachian State), and Catawba, which placed third with 52.

Mike Sabino and Gino Balthis were the only first place winners for High Point. Mike set a new Conference record of 9:49 in the two-mile run and placed a surprising second in his usually favored mile run losing to Western Carolina's Nick Frey, who set a new District record of 4:26.5 breaking his old record of 4:28.5 breaking the District 26 N.A.I.A. meet at Elkin.

During the meet, several other HPC club members came close to victories, especially in the field events and the mile relay team. The relay team went on to place fourth in the final team standings. Tony Boyles seconded placed second in the 440 and he did it at the District meet. Also, he placed second in the new Conference 440 and a 220 yard dash. Tom Quinn, who finished third in Lenior Rhyne's relay, tied for the Conference fourth in the two-mile. Mike Sabino also finished fourth in the mile run losing to District 26 and High Point's Kinney. Dick Olson, who tied the Conference third in the mile run, was left to spend Sunday at the ever-popular Tanglewood.

The HPC Club placed fourth in the final team standings, but they had high hopes of a Conference championship. Though sorry to lose, everyone concerned with the baseball fortunes here at the college head back to the books and final exams in pursuit of a truly optimistic "wait'll next year!"

BASEBALL

The fratty intramural race is coming down to the wire with the Delta Sigs and the Triangles neck and neck for the top spot. In first place in the tennis singles, the Delta Sigs have taken a slight lead. However, at this moment it looks as though softball is going to make the difference. There is still a chance for both teams to play off to see which one will go on to make the difference. The Lambda Chi's in probably the best game of the season took sole possession of first place in the softball tournament by beating the Delta Sigs 6-2. Each team is scheduled to play five games during the season.

TENNIS

The tennis picture was somewhat cloudier. The fine play of Wayne Farmus was the spunk which could have ignited the "outlaw" squad. Mike Rosen- m, Larry Amick, and Tracey McCarthy rounded out the squad. A "blackboard" candidate from the word go, High Point was not out of contention. Chuch win it would have taken, but Coach Quinn and all the nettlers were eager and ready.

Enchanted by the late-season sport which saw them make the four team "play-down" in Asheboro last weekend, High Point College's Panthers saw their hopes of a conference crown dashed by a come-from-behind effort by Catawba's fine nine.

After bumping a strong Elon team from the tournament 2-1, the Panther basballers saw a five run lead waked away in the late innings as Catawba stormed to a 7-5 victory.

Though sorry to lose, everyone concerned with the baseball fortunes here at the college head back to the books and final exams with a truer and optimistic "wait'll next year!"
