He has been a recipient of the Tom Hagai and Associates Foundation Scholarship for four years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Young of Rocky Mount.

Cagle, currently president of the Student Government Association, is a graduate of High Point College. A Dean’s List student at High Point College, Cagle has served as Chief Justice of the SGA Judiciary Council and has served on numerous freshman orientation committees.

A member of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity, he is a political science major at High Point. Miss Bagby, a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Annandale, Va., is currently Vice-President of the Student Government Association at High Point College. She has been involved in numerous student government activities and has taken an active part in freshman orientation.

An Business Administration major, she has worked on the college newspaper staff as business manager, and is the Southern Universities Student Government Association Women’s Division Chairman.

HPC - “I think the idea of interim in general is wonderful as a real learning experience.” Stated Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College in an interview last week. “In my way of thinking it gives the student a chance to study something he might not otherwise study. It also gives the professor the chance to operate in a course of study in which he might not have the chance to otherwise in a curricular situation.”

Commenting on the effectiveness of an interim semester Dr. Cole related that he felt that failure in an interim semester is that so many professors feel that they must be the absolute authority on the interim subject they are teaching on campus. It is a learning process for the instructor as well as for the student, and should be realized and recognized as such to gain its real benefits.

There appears to be considerable sentiment of the part of members of this board for a complete study of the whole issue and establishment of long range policy to provide guidance in future years.

As an example of the need for such a policy it was pointed out that the contracts negotiated with the Business Managers and Editors may have been invalid because of a lack of guidance.

Those are the items discussed in the open forum. Also, the Student Legislature has passed a bill on parking. Soon the Dean of Students will have Women Parking Stickers to be placed on every women's car. The bill states that women will have exclusive use of the following parking areas: front of Co-ed, front of the snack bar, and the lane running from Roberts Hall to Women's Hall. All other cars may park anywhere on campus except in reserved areas. A fine of 5 dollars will now be used for all infractions, and this must be paid within 7 days or arrangements made with the Dean of Students or a charge of $1 per day will be charged up to $15.

The Student Government Association is working for the students but we need your help and suggestions in order to work for you. I hope this article will be published or at least the main thoughts be communicated to the students. The Hi-Po is the voice of the students, please see me or have someone contact me if more information is needed. Sincerely, Nate Cagle Pres. S. G. A.

“S-P-L-R-I-T” that’s right it spells spirit and this is what the college needs. Especially during basketball season. With the yell and turn out of all students during the basketball games, can help bring our basketball team onto “Victory.” The basketball players are not playing just for themselves, but for the student body. They are also trying to project a better image for High Point College through basketball. They’re trying to help us, so let’s try and help them.

“He’s a Winner”, “He knows his stuff”. This is what the basketball players are saying about Mr. J.D. Barnett, the basketball coach. Mr. Barnett is a tough, hard, and dedicated coach. With the background of a winning coach, High Point College can look forward to a bright and successful basketball season.

“Condition, Condition!!” that’s what the game was called during the first month of basketball practice. The purple panthers are the best conditional team in the conference this year. They are not playing just for themselves, but for the student body. Bring our basketball team onto “Victory.” The basketball players and help them.

The Interim Concept

HPC - "I think the idea of interim in general is wonderful as a real learning experience." Stated Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College in an interview last week. "In my way of thinking it gives the student a chance to study something he might not otherwise study. It also gives the professor the chance to operate in a course of study in which he might not have the chance to otherwise in a curricular situation."

Commenting on the effectiveness of an interim semester Dr. Cole related that he felt that failure in an interim semester is that so many professors feel that they must be the absolute authority on the interim subject they are teaching on campus. It is a learning process for the instructor as well as for the student, and should be realized and recognized as such to gain its real benefits.

Upon considering future internships at HPC, Dr. Cole felt that he would like to see all interim courses offered on a pass/fail basis, and be courses that would not be offered at other times during the academic year. Dr. Cole further stated that he would like to see the interim set up so that generally students would be led to take courses out of their major field of study, for further enrichment.

FINANCIAL AID
REAPPLICATION DUE

HPC - Now is the time to apply for financial aid for the 1972-73 school year. If you received aid last year you generally must reapply in order to receive it again. Application forms and confidential financial statement forms are available in the Financial Aid Office. Applications for aid through HPC must be in by March 1.
Interim Reactions on Campus

by Bucky Hooker & Diane Salver

HPC - The following are caputlated opinions of several students and professors of High Point College concerning the just-ended interim semester. Linda Nichol felt that the interim was worthwhile because it gave the students involved a chance to study a subject outside their major field of study.

Bucky Hooker stated that “I think interim, as a whole, is a very good idea. It gives students a break in the usual semester rituals. The Afro-American culture course, however, turned out to be rather disappointing as it seemed to be very poorly constructed.”

Doug Moore related “I don’t think you have enough time for a full academic course such as Western Expansion. For a course such as this you need a full semester.”

Ron Barbour felt that the interim was “pretty good.” Participating in a work-study program, he appreciated the fact that he could do exactly what he wanted, and concentrate all of his time on one subject.

Carl Ridgeway had mixed emotions about the interim. He felt that the fact that it can allow you to concentrate in an area outside of your major. Carl disliked it because it upset the routine between 1st and 2nd semester.

Dr. Epperson, when queried, felt that there was insufficient time in the interim semester to carry out a “lecture course.” The interim, he feels, lends itself ideally to independent study, internship, and off-campus classroom broadening experiences. This type of program has been quite successful. Dr. Epperson went on to say that he would like to see a continuance of the interim program, and stated that it is valuable and could be offered in the 1973 interim.

Donna Miller liked the interim “in a way” because she felt that she could devote all of her time to one subject. This was the feeling of Debbie Scanlon, also, who stated that this concentration enabled the students to learn the course more thoroughly.

As a participant in an interim course involving piano lessons, Mr. Holt, College Registrar, enjoyed the interim very much. He felt, though, that too many students were looking for an easy ride during the interim, thereby defeating the whole idea of an interim semester.

Mr. Dally, the college Business Manager, stated that he felt that the interim semester demonstrates that students are more capable than the school had ever dreamed. He also felt that the interim was a tremendous idea, and that it opens up the possibility for more independent study in the future.

HPC Summer School Opens

HPC - During the course of HPC summer school ‘72, HPC will be opening its doors and classes to area high school students. Dr. David Cole related in an interview last week. Courses will be opened to those high school students completing their junior year this summer with an overall academic average of “B” or better, or whose instructors highly recommend them. This latter would apply in the case of a student who might excel in a certain field, yet not have the prerequisite “B” average overall.

“High Point College will admit these students in the summer as special students,” Dean Cole stated. “Should they ultimately decide to come to High Point College, we will count the successful completion of these courses toward graduation.” Dean Cole also emphasized that students accepted under this program would not be tagged as "experimental students," but would be considered and treated as any special student attending HPC's summer school.

In explanation of this new concept, Dean Cole maintained that this would offer students in high school the opportunity to take courses which he feels are relevant to his needs, and courses which the student might not go into depth in the local high school curriculum, such as sociology, psychology, or economics. This would also give the participating student the opportunity to look at courses in this type of area.

As precedent for this course of action Dean Cole cited a class taught by Dr. Matthews, Chairman, Psychology Department, last spring which Dr. Matthews opened to area high school students with the above mentioned requirements. It was expected that only 15 or so students would attend these classes, held in the evening, but 65 students showed up for the course with 40-some finishing the course. On the strength of this, the administration expects this program to be highly successful.

Interim In The Holy Lands

by Al Ward

HPC - I was in the group of six college students and eight townpeople who spent ten days on a tour of Israel and Greece during January '72.

On our tour in Israel we visited Jacob's Well, Bethlehem, Nazareth, the Dead Sea, the Sea of Galilee, Qumra, which is the excavations of the site of the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, Masada, and spent a day and a half touring the religious shrines in the old city of Jerusalem. We found the people to be friendly and especially eager to take our American dollars. We did see some grim reminders of the Six Day War and I think we all realized that this situation is far from being settled.

Our stay in Greece was far too short - only two days. But this time we managed to visit Mars Hill, the Acropolis, the city of Corinth. A few of us found an exciting experience was a taxi ride through Athens. Greece was a beautiful country to visit.

I think we each gained a greater deal from our trip. The study of the Bible and the beginnings of Christianity seem to come alive after such a trip as we had. Now we are all treated, and are anxious to return.

On the tour were Dr. and Mrs. William Lock, the hosts, from High Point, The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Crowder, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Witham, and Mr. and Mrs. David Dowdy. The students attending were Miriam Helderman, Maureen Oakes, Bruce Reynolds, Rex Gibbs, Jim Brown (Wake Forest University), and myself.

Puppets and The Interim

by Linda Nichol

HPC - After hours of hard work, the interim course "Puppets, Marionettes & People" was completed. Without the guidance and help of Min Sanders Epperson, Dr. Lewis, and Mrs. Burton the final outcome would have been a disaster. As it was, it turned out to be highly pleasing and rewarding.

Although other courses didn’t involve as much class time, those of us in "Puppets, Marionettes & People" had the freedom to move as we pleased, and participated in some phase of the course which we enjoyed. Everyone involved had a really great time putting on the shows.

The course was officially over on January 25th, with a performance for HPC. But the class continues, as these twelve students travel to various classrooms putting on the shows prepared during the interim. And this is truly the greatest reward of all, stemming from this course: the joy and enthusiasm exhibited by the children to whom the shows are presented.

Sam Hears Economic Forecast

GREENSBORO, N.C. During speakers dealing dinner meeting with the local major branch of the Society for the Advancement of Management, this past month, attending members of the High Point College chapter of SAM were fortunate in hearing a panel of several speakers dealing with the topic of an "Economic Forecast for ’72." Highlighting the speakers was Dr. Dean Lee, Dean of the School of Business, UNC-Chapel Hill, whose forecast, which is purported to generally be highly accurate, was for a cautious but prosperous business year in 1972.

Twenty-Seven Travel To NYC During Interim

HPC - Twenty-four HPC students, one from Greensboro College, and Mr. & Mrs. J. Wilson Rogers traveled to New York City during the next-to-the-last week of the interim to witness various facets of the American securities market in action. After one and one-half weeks' classroom study, this class was visited, and watched in actual operation, such areas concerned with the securities market at the American Stock Exchange, the New York Stock Exchange, various commodity exchanges, brokerage houses, and banks, including a tour of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

FEBRUARY 2, 1972

by Paul Nelson • Freshman; History-Political Science Major; member Student Appalachian mountains."

GAY PAYNE • Sophomore; English Major; member Student Legislative

"Yes, amnesty should be granted. It is my belief that America should be open-minded enough to let a man exercise freedom of speech, freedom of the press, etc., in which the individual ideas and ideals can be voiced and respected, especially if those ideas and ideals are different from those being advocated by the government. Apparently America does not believe in the various freedoms as prescribed in the Constitution, if a person must leave the country to keep his convictions. Therefore, America should be gracious enough to accept the fact that she has erred and let the expatriates back into the country."

KATHY DUNN • Junior

"I think we should remember one thing - that this is a moral question with so cut and dried answer. But, I feel that the past history of the USA indicates amnesty should be granted. This is the only war in our history where the draft dodgers cannot see the prospect of amnesty being granted. Even after the Civil War when the Union was split, the Confederate soldiers were pardoned - and that was a war of US soldier against US soldier to replace those being fought on some other continent. Of course, this is only one view on a very complex problem."

BOB PITTMAN • Junior; Psychology major

"The way I see the idea of granting amnesty to those expatriates who have fled the United States rather than face conscription is that if any sort of amnesty is granted it should be a general one and not bound by ridiculous service clauses. Also, to grant amnesty to those expatriates and not grant it to those men presently serving terms in prison for draft evasion would be a fatal breach in the Democratic Experiment. In short, I agree with a general amnesty only if all those expatriates - in jail or out of the country - are covered."

DR. A. PAUL GRAITOT • Professor of History; Head, Department of History, Political Science, Geography;

"The same should apply to granting amnesty to those expatriates who have fled the United States rather than face conscription is that if any sort of amnesty is granted it should be a general one and not bound by ridiculous service clauses. Also, to grant amnesty to those expatriates and not grant it to those men presently serving terms in prison for draft evasion would be a fatal breach in the Democratic Experiment. In short, I agree with a general amnesty only if all those expatriates - in jail or out of the country - are covered."

DR. CHARLES E. MOUNTS • Professor of English

"I do not recall that after World War II this question of granting amnesty to draft-dodging expatriates ever arose. The issues of that war were so clear and unequivocal that such runaways from the national peril would conscientiously have met with rather short shrift. They had ratted from their country in its hour of peril. "The Vietnam War has admittedly been a different matter. Undoubtedly, the motives of our thousands of expatriates have been mixed, ranging all the way from cowardice, a simple and selfish desire to save their own skins, to a highly idealistic resolve to refuse to serve in an undeclared war entered into irresponsibly, bunglingly, mistakenly, even unjustly. As one who has been unremittingly opposed to this silliest as well as longest war our country has ever engaged in, I naturally have strong sympathies with expatriates of the latter class. But for my age and my domestic commitments I might quite conceivably have been one of them."

"But who, except at some omnicient judgment bar of Heaven, is capable of weighing the motives of these expatriates and separating the sheep from the goats? I am therefore in favor of amnesty for all but not an unqualified amnesty. Let it be a probationary amnesty involving, let us say, two years of public service in which an expatriate can prove that he really loves his country and is devoted to her best ends. The Peace Corps offers such an opportunity, but there must be many others. The really sincere and deserving among our expatriates will not refuse such service, and even some of the others may be converted by it to a better notion of patriotic responsibility."

Paul Nelson \cdot Freshman; History-Political Science Major; member, Judicial Committee

"The expatriates should not, in my opinion, be granted amnesty upon re-entering the country. The expatriate should face service to his country upon his return, not a jail sentence. This does not necessarily mean military service, but more likely directly serving this country.

HPC BIO MAJOR RECEIVES GRANT

HPC - Ed Greune, a senior in biology who received a grant from the North Carolina Academy of Sciences for research on the ecology of local streams in the High Point area. He will present the findings of his study at the Academy's annual meeting this April.

HPC - The Finch Lectures will be presented at High Point College in the form of religious dramedy on Monday evening, February 7, at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium. The drama, THE DAMNATION OF DIABOLUS, by Richard D. Waters, and THE JEWISH WIFE by Bertold Brecht, will be presented by The Fisherman's Players of Cape Cod.

The plays are religious in that they stimulate the audience to think deeply on the themes of God and man, the relation of man to his fellows. It is customary to hold an informal "Coffee House" type of discussion following the performance, and this is still considered an essential part of the presentation.

Mediation Turning Off Drugs?

HEARST - TRANSGENDERED meditation was once limited to followers of the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi. The technique is now being used by thousands of people across the country, and most people agree that the use of drugs for "turning off" the outside world, according to SCIENCE DIGEST for February. Two researchers at the Harvard Medical School have found that physiological changes similar to those occurring during the sleep, 1099 place when a person uses this technique. A preliminary study showed that students who used meditation gave up drugs because the latter were no longer pleasant. Meditation may also have widespread use for reducing hypertension and chest pains.

Carl Ridgeway had mixed emotions about the interim. He felt that the fact that it allows you to concentrate in an area outside of your major Carl disliked it because it upset the routine between 1st and 2nd semester.

Dr. Epperson, when queried, felt that there was insufficient time in the interim semester to carry out a "lecture course." The interim, he feels, lends itself ideally to independent study, internship, and off-campus class room broaden ing experiences. This type of an interim program, and stated that it was "in a way" because she felt that she could devote all of what her time to one subject. This was the feeling of Debbie Scanlon, also, who stated that this concentration enabled the students to learn the course more thoroughly.

As a participant in an interim course involving piano lessons, Mr. Holt, College Registrar, enjoyed the interim very much. He felt, though, that too many students were looking for an easy ride during the interim, thereby defeating the whole idea of an interim semester.

Mr. Dalby, the college Business Manager, stated that he felt that the interim semester demonstrates that students are more capable than the school had ever dreamed. He also felt that the interim was a tremendous idea, and that it opens up the possibility for more independent study in the future.

HPC Summer School Opens

HPC - During the course of HPC summer school ’72, HPC will be opening its doors and classes to area high school students. Dr. David Cole related in an interview last week.

Courses will be opened to those whose junior year this summer, as any special student attending HPC’s summer school. The interim, he feels, lends itself ideally to independent study, internship, and off-campus class room broaden ing experiences. This type of an interim program, and stated that it was "in a way" because she felt that she could devote all of what her time to one subject. This was the feeling of Debbie Scanlon, also, who stated that this concentration enabled the students to learn the course more thoroughly.

Twenty-Seven Travel To NYC During Interim

HPC - Twenty-four HPC students, one from Greensboro College, and Mr. & Mrs. J. Wilson Rogers traveled to New York City during the next-to-the-last week of the interim to witness various facets of the American securities market in action. After one and one-half weeks’ classroom study, the class visited, and watched in actual operation, such areas concerned with the securities market as the American Stock Exchange, the New York Stock Exchange, various commodity exchanges, brokerage houses, and banks, including a tour of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Sam Hears Economic Forecast

GREENSBORO, N.C.

During their monthly dinner meeting of an "Economic Forecast Council" branch of the Society for the Advancement of Management, this past month, attending members of the High Point College chapter of SAM were fortunate in hearing a panel of several speakers dealing with the topic of an "Economic Forecast for ’72." Highlighting the speakers was Dean Lee, Dean of the School of Business, UNC-Chapel Hill, whose forecast, which is purported to generally be highly accurate, was for a cautious but prosperous business year in 1972.
commanded the greatest respect. He will present the findings:

■ for research on the ecology of the Appalachian mountains."

GAY PAYNE - Sophomore; English Major; member Student Legislative Council.

"Yes, amnesty should be granted. It is my belief that America should be open-minded enough to let a man exercise freedom of speech, freedom of the press, etc., in which his individual ideas and ideals can be voiced and respected, especially if these ideas and ideals are different from those been advocated by the government. Apparently America does not believe in the various freedoms as prescribed in the Constitution, if a person must leave the country to keep his convictions. Therefore, America should be gracious enough to accept the fact that she has erred and let the expatriates back into the country."

KATHY DUNN - Junior

"I think we should remember one thing - that this is a moral question with no cut and dried answer. But, I fear that the past history of the USA indicates amnesty should be granted. It is the only war in history where the draft dodgers cannot see the prospect of amnesty being granted. Even after the Civil War when the Union was split, the Confederate soldiers were pardoned - and that was a war of US against US soldiers, not trying to fight on some other continent. Of course, this is only one view on a very complex problem."

BOB PITTMAN - Junior; Psychology major.

"Yes, the war has been a senseless loss of men, besides the fact that it was an undecared war."

MIKE DORSETT - Senior; English major

"The way I see the idea of granting amnesty to those expatriates who have fled the United States rather than face conscription is that if any sort of amnesty is granted it should be a general one and not bound by ridiculous servitude clauses. Also, to grant amnesty to these expatriates and not grant it to those presently serving terms in prison for draft evasion would be a fatal breach in the Democratic Experiment. In any case, I believe in general amnesty only if all those expatriates - in jail or out of the country - are covered."

DR. A. PAUL GRATOT - Professor of History; Head, Department of History, Political Science, and Geography.

"Mr. Abe Fortas, a former justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, has written that some participants in civil disobedience demonstrations have acted from sincere motives and intentions. He has contended, however, that when the law has been violated these offenders should be willing to incur punishment even if it involves fine and imprisonment. The same should apply to draft dodgers who should be willing to pay the war in Vietnam. Many members of the U.S. public - including those over thirty - have sympathized with them. Their intentions and motives have been sincere in numerous cases.

"We must not overlook the fact, however, that countless GIs who have served in Vietnam have hated this war and everything incident to it. Yet, they have served in spite of the generally unpopular character of the war."

DR. CHARLES E. MOUNTS - Professor of English

"I do not recall that after World War II this question of granting amnesty to draft-dodging expatriates ever arose. The issues of that war were so clear and unequivocal that such runaways from the national peril would conceivably have met with rather short shrift. They had ratted from their country in its hour of peril. "Vietnam War has admittedly been a different matter. Undoubtedly, the motives of our thousands of expatriates have been many, ranging all the way from cowardice, a simple and selfish desire to save their own skins, to a highly idealistic resolve to refuse to serve in an undeclared war entered into irresponsibly, bunglingly, mistakenly, even unjustly. As one who has been unrelentingly opposed to this silliest as well as longest war our country has ever engaged in, I naturally have strong sympathies with expatriates of the latter class. But for my age and my domestic commitments I might quite conceivably have been one of them.

"But who, except at some omniscient judgment bar of Heaven, is capable of weighing the motives of these expatriates and separating the sheep from the goats? I am therefore in favor of amnesty for all but not an unconditional amnesty. Let it be a probationary amnesty - involving, let us say, two years of public service in which an expatriate can prove that he really loves his country and is devoted to her best ends. The Peace Corps offers such an opportunity, but there must be many others. The really sincere and deserving among our expatriates will not refuse such service, and even some of the others may be converted by it to a better notion of patriotic responsibility."

MEDITATION TURNOING OFF DRUGS?

HEARST - Transcendental meditation was once limited to followers of the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi. The technique is now being used by thousands of people across the country, and may help to replace the use of drugs for "turning off" the outside world, according to SCIENCE DIGEST for February. Two researchers at the Harvard Medical School have found that physiological changes similar to those occurring during the sleep, take place when a person uses meditation techniques. A preliminary study showed that students who used meditation gave up drugs because the latter were no longer pleasant. Meditation may also have widespread use for reducing hypertension and chest pains.

WAITRESS WANTED AT LUM'S
STUDENT LEGISLATURE

After observing the actions of the Student Legislature during the last semester we have observed that though there are a few brief moments of legislative fury, the majority of the meetings of the Legislature have concerned themselves with acquiring a quorum. We wish to inquire the legislators as to what they are doing? Unfortunately it seems as though their answer should be "nothing." Not only do our legislators refuse to attend meetings, they are, apparently, scared to speak up on any issue. We recall that we voted not to have Nate Cagle, John Young, and the Speaker nothing would be heard except for the calling of the roll by the Secretary. And while we are considering the activity of our legislators, or lack of same, why are they not sponsoring legislation on the behalf of the students? Is the Executive Council of the SGA the only organization with enough ability and interest to sponsor meaningful legislation?

The Rules of Order for Legislature state that any student may attend the meetings of Legislature and may speak when recognized by the Speaker. If our legislators intend to remain sedentary all semester, then it is up to we of the student body to attend Legislature and speak our minds. After all, the administration of the college has started time and time again the Legislative and the other branches of the SGA are THE OFFICIAL MEANS OF COMMUNICATION BETWEEN THE STUDENT BODY AND THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE COLLEGE.

I suggest that we, the student body, take the following steps to motivate our legislators. First, we should inquire as to the number of legislators who have missed the required number of meetings as to make them eligible for expulsion from that body. We should inform them that by the end of the year that the head of the Legislature Committee is responsible for seeking out the feelings of the student body and presenting it to the Legislature. And finally we should instruct our legislators as to where we would like the expenditures of the dollar budget surplus to be applied. THE HI-PO and THE APGOC are in desperate need of additional funds if they are to enlarge and improve their operations.

HELP US HELP YOU!

APATHY! Isn't that what everyone is crying about on campus? Well, maybe not everyone. There are always those too apathetic to worry about it. But something must be done, and I'm sure that we at THE HI-PO aren't the only ones who feel this way.

So, HELP! You have in your hands one of the finest weapons with which to fight apathy ever devised. It may be a bit "in the rough," right now, but with time, and your help, we will be able to blossom forth, paper and campus, into a going concern.

Why is it that everyone thinks that HPC is so totally apathetic? Because no one ever attends campus functions? That is part of it. We will help keep everyone informed of what is happening and about to happen on campus, and we will effectively eliminate that problem.

Another reason is that people just don't want to get involved with campus projects. What would they rather do? Spend all of their time at the Carnhub Cove? That might be nice, but it could start to be expensive.

You might not now think that writing on the staff of THE HI-PO could be a very exciting proposition, but you really ought to try it. Do you have a complaint about something on campus? Write us an article about it, and we will see that it is printed with your name as a by-line. Or maybe, write a letter to the editor with which we can concentrate on Bitter.

A second reason is that people at HPC are living to get involved in something. And what could be better than the creation of an organ of free speech for the campus populace? Think it over. And then join our Anti-Apathy Campaign. After that we can formulate and evaluation of professors since the last dormitories over the break period. Needless to say Dr. Patton met this resolution with acceptance.

A second piece of legislation deserves to be published in full:

Sponsor: Executive Committee
Whereas: There has been no real effort on the part of the administration to have an open evaluation of professors since the 1969-1970 academic year,

Whereas: We have now entered into a new type of academic schedule wherein it is necessary for a type of evaluation, and

Whereas: There was a committee formed last year to formulate and evaluation,

Be it resolved that: An evaluation of professors be made this coming semester (Spring 1973) and that the findings of that evaluation be put on file in the library for all to see.

This resolution was passed by the Legislature, and sent on to Dr. Patton.

Dr. Patton must evaluate each professor at HPC every year, but the results of these evaluations are known only to Dr. Patton.

Dr. Patton stated that he would like to see this type of evaluation come about, but felt that it would not be proper for him to force it upon the faculty. Dr. Patton therefore directed that the S.G.A. should meet and work with Dr. Crow and his faculty committee to achieve this end.

The final piece of legislation, also passed by acclamation, was a request to the Dean of Students requesting him to enforce all regulations concerning students at HPC, especially the regulations pertaining grade-point average, and having a personal car on campus.

LEGALIZATION

HPC - Perhaps you have been wondering who those of you who chose to do so were permitted to stay in the dormitories over the break period and the 2nd semester. Especially in the light of the rumor which was circulating around campus toward the end of the year that the dorms would be closed during the period.

The rumors were right, but in reverse. Sponsored by the Executive Committee of the SGA, the PASS, by passed, acted upon, and sent to the administration, "The S.G.A. requested that the dorms and cafeterias be closed for four (4) days, and that students have full use of those facilities for the period." Needless to say Dr. Patton met this resolution with acceptance.

SU BUILDING

HPC - At last report the Student Union building was eight weeks behind schedule. The major problem behind this delay has been the fact that several sections of steel were received by the construction company were sub-standard, according to Leon Schrader, construction supervisor, and were returned to their point of origin.

The dukeston on the front lawn of Harrison Hall, better known as the cafeteria, was supposed to have been installed by December 1, 1971.

In spite of all adversities, however, it is still felt that the building will be ready by next year.

HARRISON HALL

HPC - What are we going to do with Harrison Hall? Now that there will be a new Student Union building, and the cafeteria will be contained in it, Harrison Hall will become mostly obsolete.

The men in McCullough Hall depend on the laundry, as poor as it is.

Suggestions have been brought up to turn it into a recreation center. In its current form, Harrison Hall, will be a gymnasium, the back sect, which contains the kitchen, was added about ten years ago. Mr. Dalby suggested that maybe, everything, except this new sector, be torn down. The cleared area could be used for parking.

If anyone has any suggestions, please write THE HI-PO.
Dear Sir:
The students do not realize how fortunate High Point College is. By this we mean the recent appointment to the position of Assistant to the President of Dr. Murphy Osborne. "Murph", as he is lovingly referred to by many of the students, is not a new figure to this campus. He, too, President of Dr. Murphy is making a difference to the College and we hope he will continue to do so.

Sincerely,
John Young

WALK FOR HIGH POINT
by Wayne Black

HPC - Our motto is "We Build." This is what we have been attempting to do this year. Our club is the most active group at High Point College. We began in September by organizing the club, which is an all-male organization. We then formed K-ettes, a women's auxiliary, and are now operating as a co-ed organization. Our major projects have included a stream clean-up on campus, which was held in conjunction with the Public Works Department, and a drug abuse education program on campus, lasting for a week with films, handout materials, and speakers, including four local prominent sources, and an SBI representative. We had a Thanksgiving project in which we collected food on campus from the students and community and local stores, presenting it to ten needy families in the High Point area. We held several Christmas projects. We donated a truckload of clothes, which we collected, to the Salvation Army. We held a Christmas party for twelve needy children in the High Point area.

In working with Dr. Osborne, we have found that he has a sincere and earnest desire to find and solve student problems. This interest does not stem from his formal job appointment by President Patton, but from a genuine concern to communicate with and join the faculty, administration, and students in common goals towards the improvement of the college for all.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank him and encourage him to do more for High Point College, and if at any time you may assist him, please let us know.

Sincerely,
John Young

THE HI-PO SUPPLEMENT
by David T. Wilson

HPC - Starting this semester Baldridge Reading & Study Skills, Inc., will offer a speed reading course to interested students on the HPC campus. The course, for which the student is merely donating the space, will cost each student $110, and will not grant any credits toward graduation. It is felt to be a worthwhile course, however, by those who have had contact with it.

When speaking of the course, Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College, related that the administration has been very fortunate for quite some time by the various concerns offering speed reading courses, and in the interest of offering one for the enrichment of the students, investigated quite a few. "This is, I think, by far the best" of all the reading programs which have interested the college, Dr. Cole said. Also speaking for the course is the fact that it is held half year after year at quite a few excellent institutions, such as Hiram College, from where the instructor for our course, Messy Becki, shall be coming after completing a session there.

The unique feature of this course which led the HPC administration to invite them to campus, besides the reasonable cost, was the fact that the Baldridge Reading & Study Skills method does not use standard speed reading text materials using the books which are often available in this course is providing the space for it to be run, and said that he and the administration shall be very interested in the student reaction to this course.

There are presently about twenty students signed up for the speed reading course, and those who wish to sign up now still have time to do so by immediately contacting Dr. Cole's office in Roberts Hall.

3,000,000 Youth's Registered

Aproximately 3,000,000 14-20 year olds have registered to vote at a 2 to 1 Democratic rate, Robert Weiner, National Youth Registration Coordinator for the Young Democrats Office at the Democratic National Committee, announced last week.

This total represents 27 per cent of the 116 million eligible 18-21 year olds with the presidential election coming up in more than nine months. The total registered at this early time surprises many political analysts who had predicted that young persons would not register in large numbers.

Weiner cited the 2.7 to 1 Democratic to Republican registration ration nationwide as proof that "the young people of America are ready for constructive, responsible change."

Students Fear of Being Computer Card
By David T. Wilson

HPC - For the past one and one-half years HPC has been operating an IBM Unit Record System in the office of the registrar. To many, who must carry the IBM cards around campus with them at registration time, and who receive machine-written grade reports at the end of the semester, this is another move toward the dehumanization of the individual, and a fear of being "just another number" runs through their being, and a fear of The Machine begins to grow. But how many on campus really know what the IBM machine in the Registrar's office really does for them?

Let me give you an example. Before the college acquired its IBM system, the end of a semester was viewed with trepidation by those in the student government who received reports by hand. Now the grades are in until they were cut as soon as humanly possible, and the GPA tabulated by hand on an adding machine. Even with all of this help it was usually one month after the grades were in until they were finally listed and tabulated. And this still left room for a good deal of human error.

Today, however, all of this can be accomplished in just two hours after the receipt of all grades, and the grade reports can be mailed off on the following day. Wouldn't we all choose this way to the waiting time?

And not only does the IBM system do this, but it handles registration, class rolls, quality point list, student director, parent address cards, and it even cuts stencils of the semester schedules which we use for registration.

And as far as fearing that all of this dependency on the machine is indeed making you into a number rather than a person, forget it. For Mr. Holt, Registrar, the only reason for the number is to assist him in putting the cards into alphabetical order, and for the use of the collator and sorter. Mr. Holt further stated that he does not know the number of any student on campus, beyond the fact that the "A's" begin at 0000, and the "Z's" are around the 9,000 level.

So, fear not! Your personality is still your own, and very much appreciated at HPC.

Fiction Contest Deadline March 1

CHAPEL HILL - Prize money of $250, $125 and $75 will be awarded in the 15th Annual Fiction Contest for Young Writers sponsored by "The Carolina Quarterly" in cooperation with the North Carolina Arts Council. The fiction contest is a nationally known event established to encourage and reward experimental writing by writers under 30 who have not published a book-length manuscript.

The deadline, less than a month away, is March 1. Original, unpublished stories must be in standard manuscript form and must be labelled as contest entries. If a stamped, self-addressed envelope is provided, stories will be returned.

Maximum length is 6,000 words. There is no minimum length.

Winners will be notified by mail, and winning stories will appear in the Spring, 1972, "Carolina Quarterly."

Entries should be sent to Fiction Contest, The Carolina Quarterly, P.O. Box 1117, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Homecoming Activities Underway
By Linda Bagby

Once again High Point College is in preparation for Homecoming 1972, with an added feature of another event to provide the diversified picture of High Point, what has been done and what is planned for the future of our school.

For the Alumni, they will be primarily concerned with business meetings and the afternoon will be devoted to class reunions and whatever the traditional reception this year to be held at Dean Guy's home. The Parent's will have opportunities to talk with the various professors, and find out what it is exactly that students do at college. The afternoon will give the parents a chance to discuss with students, faculty and administration of High Point College in an open forum sponsored by Student Government Association.

Student activities will include a concert on Thursday, February 17, with the entertainment to be announced at a later date by the Student Union. Student Union will also sponsor an off-campus dance for Friday night and Saturday night will see the High Point Purple Panthers out for another victory against Catawba College. During the half-time activities the Queen and her court will be presented to High Point College.

This year a little different approach has been taken for participation in the annual float building contests. In the past, entries were fairly limited to those organizations who could afford such an expenditure. This year, however, Student Government Association has decided to change the theme to Displays for Homecoming. This means that any group of students, can get together can create a display for the weekend. Be it banners hanging from the windows or other display that is born from the minds of the creative.

It is up to the students and their involvement in these activities to make 1972 one of the best Homecomings. If there are any questions concerning the displays for Homecoming, write to Linda Bagby, or any other member of the Executive Committee.

Your Student Government Does Work
By David T. Wilson

HPC - I suppose that when one is decrying the lack of things to do on campus, and the campus' apathy in general, it would be natural for him to start to shift some of the blame from his own rounded shoulders to those of the student government organizations. "After all," they're supposed to be there to serve me, but I still don't have anything to do, tonight." Right? Well, it may be a small thing, but THE HI-PO will demonstrate that your Student Government is in work, at sport of you.

The Student Association resolution entered into the minutes of the SGA on November 5, 1971, which reads:

Whereas: The front lawn of McCulloch Dorm and Haworth Hall of Science are the first impression that many visitors to High Point College receive, and

Whereas: Presently these areas are scarred by footpaths

Therefore be it Resolved: That the Student Government request maintenance to build a concrete sidewalk to the basketball game will be available to the alumni from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the Student Center and at the ticket booths prior to the game.

HIGH POINT UPSETS LENOIR RHyne

by Carl Mastrosimone

HPC - High Point College upset Lenoir Rhyne by the score of 76-70 in a game played here on January 22nd.

Few people came to the game expecting High Point to win, as Lenoir Rhyne came into the game leading the conference with an 8-1 record, 12-5 overall. But High Point coach J.D. Barnett wanted to win this game more than any other game played so far this year in as much as he had been the head coach of Lenoir Rhyne in the previous season. The Panthers, sensing Barnett's desire, played a perfect game, sending Lenoir Rhyne down to defeat.

Speaking after the game Barnett said: "We felt we had to control the tempo, stay even on the boards, and control Lentz (of Lenoir Rhyne) to have a shot at it. We played well...just a tremendous last two minutes. I can't really point to any one individual, though. It was a super effort by the team. Every kid out there had a part in it."

The girls' first game was Friday, January 21st, against Appalachian State University. Although the HPC girls lost by a score of 55-30, they came back to post a decisive 68-33 victory the following Monday.

The team has looked very strong during the past two games. The co-captains for this year are Emily Millis, a junior, and Jacki Silar, a sophomore. The Pantherelettes are: Trudy Cole, Tanya Holley, Debbie Leonard, Bev Mitchell, Debbie Pitts, Cathy Plunkett, Jo Stowers, and Cindy Wood.

The North Carolina State Tournament will be held at High Point College on March 3rd and 4th. North Carolina's best will be here to have their battle of the boards.

The High Point College Pantherelettes have seven remaining home games, and they hope that all of the student body will come out and cheer them on to their path to the Nationals.

TWO REACH 1,000 POINT LEVEL

HPC - Two members of the High Point College basketball team were honored at halftime of the Purple Panthers’ 76-70 victory over Lenoir Rhyne for reaching the 1,000-point plateau of their collegiate careers.

John Kirkman, a senior forward from High Point who was named to both the AU-Carolinas Conference and NAIA District 26 teams as a junior, scored his 1,000th point in a 73-61 loss to Pembroke State, while junior guard Tubby Smith from Scotland, Md., scored his 1,000th point in the 62-48 victory over Pfeiffer College.

PANTHER OF THE WEEK

by Carl Mastro Simone

HPC - Outstanding High Point College basketball players this season have been rewarded by being chosen “Panther of the Week.”

The selection, made by the coaching staff, is based on work done in both games and practice. Considered are players who the coaches feel have made outstanding contributions to the team through defense, rebounding, and scoring.

Players selected as “Panther of the Week” have been Tubby Smith, Steve Allen, Greg Bennett, and Reick Foelber.

REICK FOOELBER

HPC played this team late last year and played impressively, I might add. HPC led at half-time 3-1, but lacking several key players, painfully allowed 5 more goals in the second half, losing in the end 6-3.

A great deal of time, money, and sweat was put forth to organize HPC’s soccer team, and we hate to think it was all for nothing.

The coach and the team feel optimistic that next year will bring substantially more wins and larger crowds.

To those who attended the last game, as well as to those who attended any of the games, we express our appreciation, and hope that word will spread that we are not born losers.
Monday, February 14, 1972

The Committee for Campus Change met with all interested students, Administration and Faculty. By the tremendous turn out of students and with the indication that "small colleges in this country are in serious trouble in regard to recruitment and finances," it is readily evident that there is need for drastic campus change here at High Point College.

The assembly began with Nate Tiggle, president of S.G.A., who told that through the presidents of all campus organizations we would find out what students feel needed to be done "for the betterment and fulfillment of all aspects of High Point College." The presidents and the committee had met previously and proposed a general agenda of topics to be discussed.

John Young, then acting as moderator, took over and reemphasized that it was to be a positive session, with relevant matters and not a firing line for the faculty and administration present. A list was to be compiled of those items thought to be needed. The Executive Committee of the S.G.A. would take it to the Administration for investigation and definite action.

Each item on the agenda was examined and discussion was held. Other items of concern were brought to everyone's attention, especially those complaints falling under the general classification of "modification of High Point College rules." Larry Breedon and Mike Robbins presented the legal advice they had been given concerning the potential unconstitutionality of some of the general rules of the college. Some of the other specifics covered were required attendance to classes, resale of textbooks to the college Book Store, teacher evaluations and their actual qualifications. As always, those concerning women's Dorm curfews, the library, visitation and alcohol on campus were of predominant interest.

By the overwhelming concern that students showed and their expressions of urgency that the numerous changes be legislated immediately it was decided that the meeting would continue the following evening. The hope is that, when presented with this list of specific ills from the student body as a whole, the Administration and Board of Trustees will recognize that High Point College is in serious trouble and in dire need of change.

President Patton and Dean Cole enter Monday Night's Student Rights meeting.

Kirkman Wins Phi Mu Beauty Pageant

Sue Tsikerdanos

On Thursday, February 10, 1972, at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium, the Phi Mu Pledge Class presented its first annual Reverse Beauty Contest.

There were seven contestants and each was judged according to grace, poise, ability to think fast, humor, talent and of course, beauty. The contestants were John Kirkman, Bob Almyer, Jeff Stewart, Vern Buffalo, Bob Phillips, Ron Barbour, Mark Croson, Richard "Bush" Gulp, Scott Furman and Mr. Vancannon.

There were four different sections to the pageant. These were: their original costume from their hometown, bathing suit contest, talent, and then the unexpected "big" question.

Five judges made the final decision for Mr. HPC; 1st and 2nd runners up, and Mr. Talent. Mr. Congeniality was chosen by the contestants themselves. The judges were Kelly Kane, Sara Scott, Robin Merritt, Lynn Johnson, and Dean Guy. Their final decisions were: Mr. HPC—John Kirkman; 1st runner-up—Scott Furman; 2nd runner-up—Jeff Stewart; Mr. Talent—Scott Furman and Mr. Congeniality—Mr. Vancannon.

These gentlemen will reign until February 10th, 1973.

The committee were: Miss Donna Miller, Miss Pat Jarrett, Miss Cheri Benjamin, Miss Kathy Brown and Miss Kathy Neubitt. The Mistress of Ceremonies was Miss Sue Tsikerdanos.

Special thanks goes to Miss Judy Schneider, pledge director, the whole Phi Mu Sorority and all the contestants, judges and the audience, for making this Pageant such a memorable occasion.

John Kirkman is crowned Mr. HPC in the reverse beauty pageant.
Complaints, Complaints

There are these complaints that many students feel should be taken care of:

1. One student complained about the insufficient funds for other sports, excluding basketball.
2. Another student felt that the administration should allow students to drink in their dorms and have beer and it won't stop me. I'll do it again." - R. T. H.
3. Students get tired of getting a moral lesson when asking for help.
4. The girls want unlimited hours so they can come and go as they please. Why not this week?
5. We make up a good portion of the student body but nobody cares enough to make us feel a part of the student body and drink from the class rooms.

SGA Go Round

Student well being on campus being the central theme of the student legislature meeting held on Tuesday (8).

Oct. 9 was the date of the meeting (heads of organizations) before the meeting had been over for an hour.

As a result of this talk, there was a good turn out of students Monday. As a matter of fact there was a good turn out of professors and students for the meeting. The administration and faculty were asked to come and listen, and that they would not be asked to answer any questions. It was later discovered that some faculty would be happy to answer or clarify some points.

John Young was the mediator, with Sue Johnston throwing in ideas occasionally. The meeting was almost 100% orderly.

Open dorms is a natural thing.

In other words allow students to drink in their dorms and the weekends. It was also brought up that the Student Union is in need of new books each year to keep up with the times. It was also suggested that if the faculty keeps the books for longer than a year (they were asked to use the same book for two years) that the buying of new books each year wouldn't be necessary.

Students get tired of getting a moral lesson when asking for help. John Young was the mediator, with Sue Johnston throwing in ideas occasionally. The meeting was almost 100% orderly. Students stood up when they had something to say, followed by discussion on their statements.

One of the main points brought up Monday night were book prices, Religion, Librarians, Dorn hours for girls, beer on campus and maintenance.

One of the best ideas for the problem with book prices was for an organization to be in charge of buying the books that students desire to be sold on consignment. It was also mentioned that if the faculty keeps the books for longer than a year (they were asked to use the same book for two years) that the buying of new books each year wouldn't be necessary. One student mentioned that certain classes need new books each year to keep up with the times. If all else fails students should keep their books unless they are desperate for money or save them for next year to resell to other students with the same course. The price that they would get from this would be considerably more than what the book store would give them.

It was also suggested that the basic classes required for students to take in Religion be placed on a pass-fail basis. The argument included the fact that some students didn't see eye to eye with the professor's views and would get a poor grade, or some students didn't want to take these courses. This way they could still satisfy the college requirement and thus devote more time to their major subjects.

There were also some problems associated with the library. There is a lack of books, and hours that the library is open. Many of the books are out dated (one example mention a book in the late 1800's). The library has people with the librarians. Students are getting tired of getting a moral lesson when asking for help.

The girls want unlimited hours so they can come and go as they please. In order to do this the girls have stated that they would be glad to pay an extra five dollars each semester to hire a male guard to regulate who goes in and out, and to watch for any possible disturbances. There was also a request for open dorms throughout the entire campus, hopefully 24 hour open dorms on the weekends. It was also brought up that the Student Union Building should be kept open until lunch time. One student said that "open dorms is a natural thing."

On the weekend, 1971-1972 a bill was brought up that the Student Union Building should be kept open until lunch time. One student said that "open dorms is a natural thing."

There was a general consensus among students that HPC should go. In other words allow students to drink in their dorms and follow the laws of North Carolina. In other words allow students to drink in their dorms and follow the laws of North Carolina in drinking. Pfeiffer, Randolph Macon, Guilford, Davidson and St. Andrews are either wet or going to be. One student mentioned to allow dorms to have cameras and that it will keep the drinking students off the road and safe at home.

One student stated that "The Administration is absurd. They are using the General College Rules to harass and intimidate students in order to deter their actions. I was suspended for having beer and it won't stop me. I'll do it again." - R. T. H.

LETTERS

Dear Editor,

I am a frustrated day student whose patience is at end. We are in our third semester and I have not yet received my I.D. card. As a result, I have not been able to support our fine basketball team. If attend any of the S.U. movies. I have tried to get an I.D. card several times but my efforts have been in vain. No one seems to care. Either no one shows up to make my picture or the photo session is unannounced. Day students are human and we have feelings too.

We like to attend college activities as well as the dorm students and I am too honest to sneak in on somebody else's I.D. If it were not for the many day students, High Point College could not operate financially. We make up a good portion of the student body but nobody cares enough to make us feel a part of the student body. I have paid $40.00 in student activity fees this year (same as dorm students) and what have I to show for it? Absolutely nothing for the first semester and it looks as if I will receive nothing second semester. Surely there is somebody somewhere on campus who has enough decency to give me five minutes of their time to make a fellow student an I.D. card. A special photo session for day students should be arranged and advertised well in advance. If this is done during the lunch hour so that all day students will have the opportunity to have their I.D. made.

Sincerely,

A Hurt Day Student

Dear Editor,

Within recent months the administration at High Point College has deemed it necessary to intensify and猞un students and I am too honest to sneak in on somebody else's I.D. MONDAY NIGHT'S MEETING DRAWS APPLAUSE

The cafeteria was the setting. Seven o'clock was the time. This past Monday and Tuesday were the days. Constructive criticism was the purpose. HPC students were the participants. Faculty and administrators were the observers.

The HI-PO was interested in what people thought was going to happen in the meeting, as a random sampling of students, faculty, and administrators were polled prior to the meeting to determine attitudes.

The HI-PO poll showed that most who attended the meeting had first learned about the meeting from fellow students, an element which typifies concern necessary for the success of any venture in the public interest.

Faculty and administrators received written invitations, but were barred from speaking, since this was to be a student meeting.

The HI-PO poll also revealed that the main interests concerning the student population were open dorms, legalization of alcoholic beverages on campus, and more liberal women's rules. The preliminary poll was proven wrong by the response to these three topics.

The final question of the poll concerned expected success of the meeting. Approximately 60% of those queried felt that the meeting would result in little or no administrative action. By the end of Monday night's meeting, the student body generally had reversed this opinion. We can attribute this change to the orderliness of the meeting and the attentive, receptive attitude of all three groups represented.

This was further evidenced by the responses to this week's campus opinion survey. The question asked of the following selected campus personalities was: BRIEFLY EVALUATE THE STUDENT MEETING.

LINDA BAGBY: Senior; Business Administration major;

"As one student stated, 'this was a meeting for students' rights and not student power.' More important, I think it was a meeting which acknowledged that High Point College students want to share the responsibility of decision-making in school policies.

"Besides organizing ideas for needed changes at HPC, I feel the meeting was of great value as a unifying force. Students, faculty, and administration need to communicate and unify to attain an attitude of sincere concern and interest for the betterment of this college."

THE HI-PO: SCA Vice President; Chairman, Women's Division of SUSA

"I thought the meeting was good in the fact that it showed those interested that we could come together and orderly conduct a meeting without irrational thoughts and attempt to reach an understanding and more in a positive direction.

"I am sorry that there was not more time and perhaps previous meetings in smaller groups to discuss the problems of High Point College. I would hope that if there is a genuine interest we would continue to hold constructive meetings and attempt to make HPC the type of school we would be proud of attending.

"In addition to this added responsibility that we are asking for I hope that we maintain the standards and rules we are striving for.

"It is easy to criticize but I felt that the presentation on the legality of different situations was weak, offered an attitude which was out of focus with the purpose of the meeting, and could produce an atmosphere which would pit students against administration."

PAT PRESSLEY: Junior; Sociology major

"As a faculty member I sincerely hope that the interest we are taking the correct procedures for getting this change."

MRS. RUTH Y. SHARROCK: Instructor of Mathematics

"The attentive presence by such a large number of students, faculty, and administration implied that all three sets of people are concerned with the academic and personal problems of the college community. The participants in the meeting were effective in the presentations of the varying points of view on each topic.

"As a faculty member I appreciated the fact that the procedures of the meeting were structured so that no faculty or administrator was expected to have a newer question without advance notice. However, there were topics discussed which could have been clarified by those people who participated only by listening.

"As for the different topics discussed each person has his opinion as to the relative importance of each topic to him. It is possible that I may have the opportunity to express my opinion at another time."

DR. DAVID W. COLD: Professor of History; Academic Dean of the College

"Expressions from students on general issues were illuminating. I feel that this meeting was not only one which encouraged students to share feelings with faculty and administration but with each other. Except for the expressions made by the committee which sought advice from a legal aid officer which, in my opinion, had no place or reason at this meeting, groundwork for a sense of community was established which could be subversive."

DR. MURPHY OSBORNE: Assistant to the President, HPC

"The excellent student, faculty, and administration representation illustrated the concern for our college. There was a general consensus of desires; however, quite a bit of variance was expressed in the extent and method to which these desires should be approached. I had a personal feeling that some of the more vocal members might be attempting to achieve rights at the expense of a loss of rights by other less vocal members."

All students are admitted for only one academic year at a time. For resumption for the 1972 fall term, students must reapply to the Director of Admissions. Resumption applications, accompanied by a $100 advance non-refundable payment showing intent of enrollment, must be in the Admissions Office no later than March 1, 1972. Applications are available in the Admissions Office—Reapply NOW!
Beanie Tradition, popular since the founding of the college, is one of the many traditions which has been left by the wayside.

The football squad, originally a group of inexperienced enthusiasts grew in strength and number until the early 1950's when the sport was dropped from High Point College's intercollegiate sports program.

HOMECOMING

A time for the meeting of new friends,
And the reliving of dreams with old;
A time which never seems to pass,
Through many tales untold.

Slushy spring thaw on campus wasn't conducive to easy mobility of early cars.

Homecoming festivities obviously haven't changed.
Not so long ago, the students draped the trees after the Panther district victory celebration. The campus looked much the same until the crushing defeat of coach Bob Vaughan's Panthers in Kansas City.

Harrison Hall, formerly Harrison Gymnasium, was the setting of the development of HPC's basketball team. It is hoped that it will soon serve as a second gym for students.

Women's Student Government of 1934 worked with the "autocratic" Dean of Women, Mary Elizabeth Young.

The dramatic Club, forerunner of the Tower Players, eventually derived its name from its meeting place in the bell tower of Roberts Hall.
Silver Designs May Win Prize

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest manufacturer of silver, is conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarships totaling $2,500 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

High Point College has been selected to enter this competition in which the First Grand Award is a $1,000 scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $500 scholarship; Third Grand Award is a $300 scholarship; and Seven Grand Awards of $100 each scholarship. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $85.00.

In the 1972 "Silver Opinion Competition" an entry form illustrates twelve designs of either china or crystal. The entrants simply list the top three best combinations of china and crystal. The entrants are judged by the judges and are awarded based on those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selection of Table-Setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Bonnie Henesy is the Student Representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at High Point College. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact Bonnie Henesy in 2nd North Dorm for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the competition rules. She also has samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

The Silver Designs May Win Prize competition is an opportunity for students to show their creative ability in design as well as a chance to win valuable prizes.

Cover Design Needed

You can judge a book by its cover. The staff of the 1972 APOGEE wants the cover of this year's literary magazine to be original and creative in character and poetry and prose which it features. For this reason, APOGEE is offering $25.00 to the person who designs this year's magazine cover. The final decision as to which cover design will be used will be made by the staff of the magazine and by at least one art major. Cover designs should be submitted to Dr. Mounts in Cooke Hall.

Of course as important as the cover are the pages which will make up this year's APOGEE. The staff of the APOGEE wishes to remind you that the magazine is a student publication and, therefore, needs your literary contributions. The deadline for submitting original poetry and prose is March 1, 1972. Submit your contributions to Dr. Mounts in room 25-C of Cooke Hall or Box 3006. The works should be typed, double-spaced, and bear the name of the author in the upper left-hand corner.

The author's name is removed from each work as it comes under the consideration of the reading committee and is judged anonymously, insuring that each piece is judged on merit alone. Accepted contributions will be rewarded in cash. - Beth Lewis

Panthers Take On Catawba Indians Tonight

High Point College's Purple Panthers defeated the Atlantic Christian Bull Dogs 96-75 on Thursday (10). Pete Collins, the 6-8 sophomore Center who had 18 points and nine rebounds in the first half hit 12 out of 17 attempts from the floor.

Pete scored a career high of 39 points, after pulling down 14 rebounds. Rick Fobler scored 14 points and had 11 rebounds while John Kirkman, Tubby Smith, and Bob Aylmer each copped ten points.

Bad luck struck the Panthers in the last ten minutes of the game when Greg Bennett had to be taken to the hospital for a suspected torn cartilage in his knee. (The doctor stated after examination that it was a bad sprain).

Greg will try to be in action against Catawba on Saturday night but Coach Barnett does not yet know if he (Bennett) will be able to play.

The Panthers experienced bad luck this week when they lost to both Lenoir Rhyne and Pfeiffer, 15-9 and 75-66 respectively. Saturday's Homecoming game will be against Catawba.

HPC Golf Holds Student Appeal

By Bob Herbat

The golf team at HPC is off to another good start this year. 12 people showed up for the meeting last Friday. Out of these 12 people eight or nine will be chosen for the main team. Out of these people six will play in each match.

These golfers turn in their scores after each game played. There will be an elimination tournament on March sixth and eighth. Mr. Robinson, coach of the golf team is still accepting people for positions on the golf team.

There are some fringe benefits to the members of the golf team. These include meal allowances for trips, free golf balls (any brand), and free green fees at Blair Park. However, there are no scholarships given.

There are 19 matches planned to be played within a period of one and a half months. In scoring there are three points match and one point medal per man.

Returning to the golf team is Bob Smith, who was number one last year. Also returning are Jerry Sutton and Tom Carter. The assistant coach is Dr. Crow.

The 12 people that showed up are Baxter Slaughter, Jay Councilman, Bob Smith, Marvin Sandifer (manager), Douglas Smith, Gary Burton, Jerry Sutton, Thomas Carter, Charlie Webster, Mike Sullivan, Travis Bray, and Paul Hofschmidt.

Sanjines - Smith to Pilot HPC Tennis Team

HIGH POINT, N. C.-Two seniors, Javier Sanjines and Mike Smith, have been elected co-captains for the 1971-72 Purple Panther tennis team.

Sanjines is a former Bolivian national junior champion who now lives in Bethesda, Md., while Smith is from Salisbury, Md.

Sanjines, the Panthers' No. 1 player for the past two seasons, is one of the defending NAIA District 26 singles champion and runnerup for the Carolinas Conference title he won two years ago. Last spring Sanjines reached the third round of the national NAIA tournament in Kansas City before being eliminated.

Smith, who has played No. 2 for the Panthers for three years, posted the best regular season win-loss record on the team last season with a 12-5 mark. He also won several matches last year at No. 1 when Sanjines was sidelined with an injury.

Both Smith and Sanjines were named to the All-District 26 squad last year after finishing second in the doubles competition.

The Panthers open their season at home on March 4 against the Wolfpack of North Carolina State University.

Trustees K.O. Students Proposals on HPC Campus

On Wednesday, March 8, 1972, the Board of Trustees met at the home of President Patton. At this meeting the President of the Student Government and the Speaker of the Legislature felt for the first time since they were associated with the Board that the meeting was constructive and that the Board members showed concern for the Students and their life at H.P.C.

One of the major actions taken was the addition of the President of S.G.A. and the Chairman of the Faculty Affairs Committee as voting members of the Board. This action was voted upon in this meeting but final confirmation takes six months because of the change in the College's Charter. Thus the final vote will take place in October.

The Student Power Issues of Concern were taken to the Board of Trustees by the President of S.G.A. and the Speaker of the Legislature, Don LaMar. All of the issues were discussed, and answers were given.

OPEN DORMS: This issue was returned to the administration after a statement against the basic principle. Pres. Patton stated that there was already a limited policy of open dorms and the feeling was that the administration would discuss the issue.

WOMEN'S HOURS: The Board felt that the women along with the Administration would resolve the issue. The revision is already in the process.

NO BEER ON CAMPUS:

The other issue was discussed and the Administration was given the responsibility to take action on them.

The Campus Center, presently under construction, was named after the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Holt McPherson. Other business covered in the Board meeting dealt with the proposed plans for a new library and also plans for a swimming pool complex. Presently both of these are in the planning stages under the Golden Decade Program.

Some major changes have been accomplished by the students. Even though we didn't receive all we asked for, in fact the major issues were turned down, we did get a voice on the Board, and the Board was made aware that the students are concerned about the college. Don't let the present movement fail. Keep bringing problems to the attention of the college via the S.G.A. Let's change H.P.C. for the betterment of the life of the College - The STUDENTS.

New Coalition Formed

(Special to the Hi-Po)

Reliable sources have recently disclosed the formation of a newly formed coalition of High Point College students who have long been discontented with many administrative policies and feel as though definite changes are needed now.

For several weeks, a handful of students have met to organize themselves and to establish certain goals and objectives to be carried out by the coalition.

One girl who is a co-founder is Miss Linda Bagby who has already carried out a limited policy of open dorms and the feeling was that the administration would discuss the issue.

HPC to go to SUSGA

by Bruce Tingle

SUSGA Co-ordinator

Many students are perhaps not aware of letters SUSGA which stand for Southern Universities Student Government Association, but in many respects it has had the background of providing leadership and services that have been utilized by the SGA's throughout the years.

This year High Point College has taken an even more active role in the organization than in years past. Miss Linda Bagby was appointed Women's Division Chairman and the Student Government is making several attempts to increase the number of members of the National Conference to be held this year in Miami, Florida, April 19-22.

The Conference this year has many offerings that will be of interest to any organization that would like to send delegates. Offerings include a National Leadership Methods workshop, seminars and general interest groups. Additional topics to be covered will deal in the areas of government, entertainment, publications, spirit and sportsmanship.

This conference will contain something for everybody and every organizational interest imaginable on campus. Transportation arrangements are being made in conjunction with Catawba College to keep expenditures to a minimum and it is sincerely hoped that the campus organizations would consider this conference as a must for contribution to the improvement of their groups.

If any organization is interested in further information for this conference, please contact either Linda Bagby, Dean Motzinger or myself, Bruce Tingle.

Senator George McGovern

The fourth of twenty-four presidential primaries will be held in Wisconsin April 4. Five Democratic Candidates will be trying to overcome defeats or retain victories in the New Hampshire, Florida, and Illinois primaries. Wisconsin has been considered as the graveyard or dumping grounds for many presidential hopefuls. Senator Humphrey is expected to do quite well since Minnesota is a neighboring state to Wisconsin; but as was shown in New Hampshire with Ed Muskie, the "neighbor policy" doesn't materialize in all cases. George McGovern's campaign is still parochial and uncoordinated while Senator McGovern's is considered to be the best organized campaign of any of the Democratic contenders.

A Lindsay coordinator admitted, "We need 2,000 volunteers, and it's difficult to get them at this stage."

MCGOVERN IN WISCONSIN

The Wisconsin presidential primary will be held April 4 - if anybody is interested in working for Senator McGovern, please contact Kurt Burkhardt, Box 3132 for information. Transportation will be provided, along with room and board while in Wisconsin. The deadline for names to be submitted for the trip to Wisconsin is March 21.
This year elections officials in North Carolina estimate that only about one-third of the newly enfranchised voters between the ages of eighteen and twenty one will vote in the November 7, 1972, general election. The result may be that the same "establishment" that has been taxing us, sending us to fight their wars across the globe, and insisting that the smoking of pot is a mortal sin will continue to carry on business as usual.

We, the young voters of North Carolina and the nation, can be heard and more importantly realize positive change by 1. Treating your county board of elections office in the county seat in your county.
2. The process takes only a few minutes and requires only basic information.
WHERE
1. Registration books for the May 6 primary will close on April 7. There can be no registration after that date.
2. If you are now 18, you can register anytime between now and April 7.
3. If you are now 17, but will become 18 before April 7, you should register immediately. The "Affidavit and Application for Absentee Ballot" which you obtain must be returned to your county Board of Elections between April 7 and May 6.
4. There are special provisions in the law for people who are now 17 who will turn 18 after April 7. The "Affidavit and Application for Absentee Ballot" may be filed between March 6 and April 7. A very brief note will suffice in requesting this form. Be certain to state which one.
5. The "Affidavit and Application for Absentee Ballot" which you obtain must be returned to your county Board of Elections between April 7 and May 6.
6. Most counties, although not all, receive absentee ballots in the same registration programs, staffed from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.
7. Many counties have special programs allowing registration on certain evenings and certain weekends. Your county board of elections office can give you the exact schedule in your precinct.
WHERE
1. Under existing law, a voter must register at his "residence." Usually this is in almost all cases, or this means your home town or the Board of Elections office nearest your home town.
2. For almost all students, this "residence" is not the city where you attend school, but the city where your parents live.
WHO
1. If you are now 18 years old or will be by the date of the general election (November 7, 1972), you may register to vote in the general election on May 6 provided
2. You will have been a resident of North Carolina for one year by the date of the general election (November 7, 1972).
3. If you are now 17, but will become 18 on or before the date of the general election (November 7, 1972), you must register to vote in the primary election on May 6 provided
4. You will have been a resident of your home town for 30 days before the date of the general election (November 7, 1972).
5. You are legally free. You have never been convicted of a felony.
6. You can read and write the English language.

VOTING PROCEDURES
VOTING IN PERSON
If it is possible for you, the easiest voting procedure is to vote in your home town or in your appropriate voting place. You can obtain a list of this place by calling or writing your county Board of Elections and giving them your address and asking them where you should vote. This year, all registration books for the May 6 provided:

1. Register registrations will be open in every North Carolina precinct from 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

ABSENTEE VOTING
The session of the General Assembly passed, for the first time in North Carolina's history, a statute allowing North Carolina citizens to vote in an election by " Absentee Ballot." This was an important break-through, but the procedures for voting by absentee ballot in the primary election were complicated, and in order to vote, you must secure must be returned to your county Board of Elections between April 7 and May 6.

1. The "Affidavit and Application for Absentee Ballot" which you have received must be returned to your county Board of Elections between April 1 and May 2. Any "Affidavit and Application" received either before or after these dates may not be considered by the Board of Elections.
2. It is very important that you send your "Affidavit and Application" as soon after you are registered as possible, because there may be some delay in getting it before the official ballot is actually mailed to you. And, as discussed in section B, 7, below, the official ballot they send you can only be returned to your Board of Elections by U.S. Mail and must be received on or before May 6. Therefore, to give the board time to process your application, send the "Affidavit and Application" and send you a ballot, and to give yourself and complete time to complete the ballot and mail it so it will be received on time, it is necessary to complete each step in the process as early as possible.
3. When you have completed the three steps, your county Board of Elections office in the county seat in your county.
4. Before you mark your ballot, the take the unmarked ballot to a notary public and have it "notarized". You can find a notary public by checking the yellow pages of your telephone directory. If there are no notaries listed in the directory, the notary public offices of the major banks are usually advertised in the yellow pages of your telephone directory. The Hi-Po

MARCH, 1972

Harold and Maude, a fantastic film, now showing at the Janus II in Greenboro, has been drawing crowds from all around. It is a delightful comedy involving a 20 year old, Harold, falling in love with an 80 year old lady, Maude.

This is one of the few GP movies this year that will thoroughly entertain any group of people. As a matter of fact, it would be adviseable to go and see it early, because it is good enough to warrant seeing it twice.

The main cast are Harold (Bud Cort), Maude (Ruth Gordon), and Mrs. Chassen at Harold's mother played by (Vivian Pickles).
Hark! What goes on behind closed doors in our beloved auditorium? We peek into the windows to catch glimpses of costume gowns, flitting fairies, and lavender trees - it can only be magic, and magic it is! The Tower Players are rehearsing their spring production - William Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream, to be presented here March 23, 24, and 25 at 8:15 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

The already delightful comedy has added surprises in store as, it takes on the tone of a children's fairy tale. The set includes an enchanted fairy woods that becomes a playground when grown-ups appear. There are two playfuns, Fawn (Kathi Kroop) and Leni Selvaggio) to speak up and tangle up things. There are singing fairies, singing elves, and dancing fairies to add to the mood of make-believe.

Sharing in the work as well as the fun are all theater classes and assorted interested students and faculty. Students studying Shakespeare under Dr. Mounts are receiving term paper credit for work on the play. Mr. Highbough and the Madrigalians are providing the music. Several faculty wives are helping to make the costumes. Mr. Bury Dudley is contributing much time and effort as set designer and technical director. Bringing the "Dream" into a reality is Jim Epperson, director. Michael Day acts as stage manager.

Elizabethan English

Difficulties for the actors arise in trying to get the message across despite the hard to pronounce words and words with now archaic meanings, but the visual experience makes up for part of this, and the message still comes across the centuries.

Cast in the play are the following: Thesus, Chris McKinney; Theseus, Dennis Hutcherson; Lyander, Tom Barrows; Demetrius, John Adams; Philestrato, Sonny Morris; Quince, New Penn; Snug, Dennis Hutcherson; Bottom, Rich Moore; Flute, Gene Munger; Snout, Bob Muskey; Starveling, Buck Hood; Hippolita, Marri De Young; Hermia, Nancy Crockett; Helena, Linda Nauman; Oberon, Wiley Garrett; Titania, Debbie VanPelt; Puck, Kathi Kroop and Leni Selvaggio; Peaseblossom, Wiley Garrett; Peaseblossom, Sally Kemp; Singing Fairies, Nancy Owen; June Nunnery, Cindy Stocker, and Kathy Miller; Singing Elves and Court Attendants, David Fields, Mike Bash, Yoshi Nagashii; Dancing Fairies, Bev Rimstress, Lorne Brooks, and Joyce Dillman; Changeling Lad, Tommy Lawson.

Admission to the play is $ .50 for High Point College students. Faculty and students are still invited to come help behind the scenes of this classical "Spring Thing" comedy. The whole thing should be an enjoyable evening's entertainment for students recovering from midterm grades!

GTT Films

*Jamestown, N.C. - "The Cellar Cinema," Guiford Technical Institute's film festival, will open with The Madless Falcon, March 16, directed by John Hoyton and starring Humphrey Bogart. On March 23rd, When Comedy was King, a series of Max Sennett comedies, will be shown along with The Fastest Glass of Beer (W.C. Fields). On April 6th, experimental shorts will be featured, including the classic, Gold Fish. The rest of the schedule is as follows: D. W. Griffith's Intolerance on April 20th; A Night at the Opera with the Marx Brothers on April 27th; One Potato Two Potato, a film about racial discrimination, on May 4th; Treasure of the Silver Horde with Bogart on May 11th; and The General (Buster Keaton) to speak up and tangle up things. There are singing elves, singing elves, and dancing fairies to add to the mood of make-believe.

There is no admission charge. All films will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Gulf Technical Institute Library Auditorium.

Art Contest

The Gallery of Contemporary Art, located in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, announces its semi-annual juried competition for Prints and Drawings. All artists residing in the Southeastern United States, 18 years of age or older, are eligible to enter a maximum of 4 entries. Entries and entry fee must be received between March 19th and March 27th.

High Point College
High Point, North Carolina
by Diane Debus

Some people only talk about environment, one High Point College student is going to find out what he can do about it.

Ed Grune, a senior biology major, from Takoma Park, Maryland, has received a special grant from the North Carolina Academy of Sciences for his project designed to examine the ecology of the streams on and around the High Point College campus.

The grant, which is just under $100, will cover the cost of chemicals needed for the project. Grune will also receive two hours academic credit for his work as an independent research biology course, which is required of all High Point College biology majors.

"My proposal is to examine the ecology of the stream area in this area and hope to discover the dominant types of interactions," explained Grune. "I then hope to draw some conclusions as to whether the environment that they exist in is having an effect on the streams."

A presentation of research conclusions will be given by all undergraduate grant recipients at East Carolina University on April 21. Grune hopes to be able to extend his conclusions to other similar environments.

Grune feels that these presentations will be "a definite learning experience."

"I will give what I have learned to this body of people, and they will synthesize it and use it as a method for spreading knowledge and education for all involved," he explained.

In his work this semester, Grune will have two volunteer aids. Bruce MacLeod, a junior from Oxford, Connecticut, has volunteered to classify aquatic organisms, while sophomore Robert Volz of Kennington, Maryland will aid in chemical determination of the water content.

To a middle-class urban area such as High Point, Grune stated some factors of importance that the small streams of the area have on the community.

From an educational viewpoint, a stream may serve as an ecology and wildlife lab for learning material that a city child would not normally experience.

A stream may also serve a community as a center of beauty, perhaps as a setting for parks, playground, picnic areas and facilitate many other types of recreation.

"There is one negative value of small streams," the 21-year old senior mentioned, "In that they can be an area for runoff as well as traps for debris from the land. If they are not cared for, they fill in, resulting in improper storm drainage, and flooding occurs."

After graduation in May, Grune would like to continue to graduate school, studying the field of Water Resources Biology. As of the present, Grune is the only High Point College student to have received a grant in the biology department.

Will Remain As Coach

Hartman Resigns As Athletic Director

Chuck Hartman, Athletic Director at High Point College, has resigned his administrative duties effective at the end of the current school year. Hartman, who has served as Athletic Director for three years, will remain at High Point College as head baseball coach and Assistant Professor of Physical Education.

"We accept Chuck's resignation as Athletic Director with sincere regret," said Dr. Wendell M. Patton, Jr., President of the college who made the announcement. "However, we can understand his desire to return full time to coaching and teaching.

"This decision was of his own choosing, and as a valued member of the High Point College family we will naturally work with him in this transition."

"At the present we do not have any plans for handling the administrative duties of this position. We will assess the situation and make adjustments from within the present structure of the department in fulfilling these duties rather than going outside."

Hartman, who is a graduate of the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, has been on the staff at High Point College for the past 14 years. He has served as assistant basketball coach, tennis coach, and baseball coach of the Purple Panthers. His baseball teams have won five conference titles since 1965 - including the last three straight, and last year's team also captured the NAIA District 26 title and were runner-up in the Area playoffs.

"I am going back to doing the two things I like most - coaching and teaching," assessed Hartman. "I think it is important that a person do the things he likes most."

Population Control
Studies Conducted

By Dan Wall

A recent study of high school and college public opinion concerning attitudes on population control was conducted by a group of High Point College students as part of a class assignment in Dr. Matthew's course in Social Psychology. One hundred students were interviewed from each of two area institutions - T. Wingate Andrews High School and High Point College. A broad cross-section was obtained in the high school section by distributing the questionnaire in high, intermediate, and low-level English classes in the various grade levels. The college sample was obtained by distributing the surveys in classes representing various disciplines.

Questions on the survey measured a wide range of subjects: the use of contraceptives, legislation of abortion, governmental regulations on population, rewards and punishments as control mechanisms, sterilization of sex offenders, public education on population problems, and the immediate store of knowledge of the responder.

As was generally expected, college students were more familiar with population problems and showed more concern than did high school students. It was also found that college students were usually more liberal in the methods they would employ to curb population increase. This was generally explained by the selectivity of the college age group.

Those taking part in the study were: Tina Alitakan, Darcy Nahigyan, Alan Papadines, Joan Vanderweker, Dan Wall.
Dear Editor:

A man who combines experience and ability with honesty and sincerity, Senator Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles has the capacity to understand North Carolina's present problems and the vision to anticipate its future needs. A man of conviction who is not afraid to take a stand on the issues, Bowles has clear perception, fresh ideas and a voting record that proves his commitment and his courage. Though it may cost him votes in the May primary, Bowles has voted for liberalized abortion and against capital punishment. Right now in the legislature, he is the principal sponsor of the strong Environmental Bill of Rights, an amendment to the state constitution which will finally provide a constitutional mandate for restrictions preventing industry from polluting this state.

Bowles primary goal as governor of North Carolina will be to increase the per capita income of all of its people, especially through expanded educational opportunities. By teaching technical skills to the 80% of North Carolina's young men and women who are not college-bound, the state can offer them high-paying jobs with the industries that once innovative programs would attract.

On the individual level, efficient vocational education programs offer to those now forgotten in our beleaguered oriented high schools opportunities which are useful and pertinent. At the same time, on the state level, career education increases the labor force. With an expanding labor market, North Carolina can actively choose "clean," nonpolluting, industries for the state. New jobs will increase the per capita income of those involved, and greater economic activity will help raise the new revenues needed to support better services in state government.

Skipper Bowles says there will be no new taxes during his four-year term as Governor. His no-tax stance has been called unrealistic, especially in light of the new programs which he plans to bring to our state. However, Bowles proposes a full mandate which will eliminate duplication and establish priorities in existing programs. He also advocates a program of Expenditure Management which will bring to our state government a sound business approach. Through such measures, Bowles projects gaining an extra $300 million out of the existing tax structure. This $300 million coupled with the higher education program, means North Carolina will follow through on Skipper's new proposals and also deal effectively with the needs of our people.

Bowles is certain that there needs to be a drastic overhaul in our insurance laws. He is proposing a limited no-fault insurance plan which will relieve the over-crowded court dockets. He also advocates revising the insurance laws which now permit massive discrimination against both the very young and the elderly. Bowles feels it is wrong for the under-25-year-old male with the perfect driving record to be charged a higher rate than his 35-year-old neighbor who has been twice convicted of drunk driving, simply because of age.

Another way in which Bowles has stood up for young people is his active promotion of the 18-year-old vote. In addition, he fought hard in the General Assembly to get the privilege of absentee ballots for the primary elections on May 6.

Bowles wants to re-establish the belief that government is good. He is a strong believer in ethical government. As a member of the General Assembly he worked for the establishment of a strong code of ethics in the belief that for government to be effective, it has to be believable. Also, he was one of the few men who opposed the recent plan in which legislators voted themselves large retirement pensions, and when the bill passed anyway, he refused his check.

Senator Bowles plans to have all groups - young and old, black and white, men and women - represented in the decision making process. There will be no tacit acknowledgement of minorities but active involvement and participation at all levels of state government.

Skipper Bowles will speak at 10:00 A.M. in Haworth Hall, Room 106 Wednesday, May 1 on our campus.

Come hear him speak. He is straight-forward and willing to answer all questions. Skipper wants to meet you and hear your ideas.

Remember his stances on abortion, the environment, occupational and vocational education, and lowering the voting age when you vote in the May 6 primary; with your help, he can be one of the most effective governors this state has ever had.

Mrs. Ruth Y. Sharrock, Instructor of Mathematics at High Point College, completed her graduate studies at UNC-G by passing the oral examination on her doctoral dissertation this past week. Her dissertation on the qualifications of instructors of math and the math curriculum in North Carolina Community Colleges won her the degree of Doctor of Education in Math Education, with a specialization in Calculus.

Mrs. Sharrock was reared in northern Georgia. She received her undergraduate degree from Carson-Newman College, an A.B. in Mathematics. The woman her Masters degree was completed at UNC-CH; an M.Ed. in Math Education.

She has taught for a total of fifteen years at the secondary level and had some of her years spent in high schools in both northern Georgia and Piedmont North Carolina. She has taught at both junior high and high school in Jamestown, where she now resides with her family. In colleges, she taught at Tennessee Temple College for one year. For the last five years, she has taught in the Math Department of HPC.

Class Gift

The 1970 Senior Class at High Point College left a gift to Wrenn Memorial Library. With this gift, Miss Carter purchased a new, modern Xerox University Micro-Film Reader.

The new reader is installed on the 2nd Floor stair landing. Films for The New York Times from 1937 to date and for the High Point Enterprise from 1963 to date are kept near the Reader.

Since the new Xerox machine is easier to use than the old one, we are sure that students will use and appreciate this gift from the 1970 Senior Class.

Library Open Eve.

Miss Carter has succeeded in securing Mr. Franklin Sanders who is on the Faculty at the Wake Forest to keep the Library open on Sunday nights. The Sunday hours will be 2:00 - 5:00 and 7:00 - 11:00 P.M.

We are delighted to open the Library again on Sunday nights. You will recall that for a year and a half we kept the Library open until 10:00 P.M. on Sundays. The Sunday hours were discontinued when the extra staff member in charge on Sunday nights moved away from the area. Since that time, Miss Carter has been trying to find a staff replacement to take charge on Sunday nights.

Mr. Sanders comes to us with a background of two years as a Graduate Assistant in Humanities at the University of Georgia Library. Hopefully with his services you will have adequate reference help and a quiet place to study on Sunday nights.

We are counting on you, our students, to give, Mr. Sanders your cooperation and consideration.

How Dave Barker is bridging the post-college financial gap. With Super Start.

"Believe me, it wasn't easy there at first to get started," says David L. Barker, Class of '71 UNC-CH School of Pharmacy. Dave has a family and a good job. And the extra expenses of getting established in his new town. Then the car they had driven in college started to clonk out. That's when Dave had more expenses than cash. But Dave was lucky. The very year he graduated, First-Citizens Bank invented Super Start for people just like him. So Dave got his new car. No hassle, and a preferred rate loan with a delayed payment option.

Graduating students from four years of college, post graduate or professional school can qualify for Super Start. Also, be a student in good standing with a C or higher average. And be of legal age with definite plans to live and work in North Carolina after college.

Ask about Super Start at any of the 164 offices of First-Citizens Bank in North Carolina. We serve 67 towns from the mountains to the coast. There is a Super Start Officer in each office of First-Citizens Bank. See any of our Super Start Officers.

Another Can Do first. Exclusively at First-Citizens Bank.

Free banking services and a loan at a preferred rate with delayed payment option are included in this unique package of banking services.

Super Start offers • free checking service with no service charge for one year • 200 free personalized checks • free safe deposit box for one year.

Super Start offers you a line of credit • a preferred rate installment loan for a new or used car or other major purchase with no payments due for the first six months • a Master Charge credit card with no payments due for the first six months. Finance charges do accrue, however, during these six months' periods.
Eight Athletes Tapped For Mag.

HIGH POINT, N.C. - Eight High Point College student-athletes have been chosen to appear in the 1972 edition of OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA. They are Robert Aylmer, a freshman basketball player from Alexandria, Va.; Mike Smith, a sophomore trackman from Salisbury, Md.; Orlando "Tubby" Smith, a junior basketball player from Scotland, Md.; Lloyd Davis, a junior distance runner in track form Timonium, Md.; Dean Boger, a sophomore baseball player from Falls Church, Va.; Tommy Davis, a senior soccer player from Owney, Md.; Reck Foelber, a junior basketball player from Baltimore, Md.; and Bob Worthington, a sophomore baseball player from Baltimore, Md.

Announcement of their selection was made by the Board of Advisors of OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA, an annual awards volume published to honor America's finest college athletes. Coaches and athletic directors from individual colleges and universities across the nation nominated the winning athletes on the basis of their displayed abilities not only in athletics but also in community service and campus activities.

B-Ballers Move To Record

HIGH POINT, N.C. - High Point College, currently ranked the No. 3 small college baseball team in the nation by COLLEGIATE BASEBALL, is also off and running towards a possible national home run record.

The Panthers, now 9-3 on the season, have blasted 24 home runs in the first 12 games, with senior third baseman Ron Slingerman of Vienna, Va., leading the way with five. Slingerman, got three of those round-trippers in his team's latest victory, a Carolinas Round-Trippeers in the Panthers' last victory.

The Panthers only losses this season have been one-run defeats at UNC-Chapel Hill, and Gardner-Webb, and a 6-0 loss at Pembroke State.

In addition to power, the Panthers have shown a great deal of speed having stolen 25 bases in the first 12 ball games. Bob Worthington, a sophomore second baseman from Baltimore Md., is tops with eight, and also leads the club in RBIs with 13. Of the 103 hits the Panthers have pounded out, 45 have been for extra bases.

In addition to the 25 home runs, High Point has collected 20 doubles with Slingerman again being the leader with four.

APRIL 1977
Cover Girls eligible for a national scholarship from the Point College, will receive a Duran vinyl upholstery fabrics. Company, manufacturer of The Masland Duraleather. "I will now support my fellow Democrat candidates in the primary," Scott stated. "They have put up one of the best campaigns and I’ll be behind them all the way to the convention in Chicago." Although McCloskey withdrew from the race nationally, his name was left on the ballot in North Carolina and nine other states as a "symbolic protest." Sen. George McGovern, B.S.D., after his impressive showing in the New Hampshire primary March 7, announced several days afterwards that he would not run in the North Carolina primary due to the clash between the two Southern candidates. Sanford has no chance to win the Democratic Party Nomination. A few weeks ago Wallace appeared to be in the lead, but it doesn’t seem to be the case now. Jackson has made no efforts in the state, Chisholm has waged a very limited campaign, Muskie’s withdrawing along with Gov. Scott’s endorsement will be sure to deliver a large segment of moderate and liberal vote to the state to Sanford in an attempt to halt Wallace. Sanford’s campaign has called for tax relief for lower and middle-income families, for price controls on food, for a revitalization of state and local government, for an overhaul of federal programs for the elderly, and for a prompt end to the Vietnam War. Wallace’s campaign, on the other hand, is a heavy replay of the Florida primary; heavy on anti-housing speeches, and filled with denunciations of "welfare and foreign aid give aways," parasitic bureaucrats and the tax loopholes of big business. It would be hard to predict the outcome of the primary since this is North Carolina’s first. It can safely be said that after reviewing several voter surveys, they have shown that North Carolinians have a high regard for Terry Sanford and they have rarely elected candidates of Wallace-caliber. Two conventions would also be another election, one being the Presidents Convocation in September and the Honors Convocation in May. A committee would be appointed for the selection of speakers etc. The reasons behind both proposals were based on the presentation that assemblies were an integral part of the Educational Experience. It was felt by the majority that it would not only be a rewarding and enriching experience, but help the sad state of communication on the campus. Making attendance mandatory was the only way the majority felt communications could be helped and the only way to get the student body together for what most will concede could be a very important part of the program at High Point College. Though several members on the committee tried to convince the committee members that making attendance required would only create a larger gap between the students and the Administration, thereby killing the purposes of the proposals. Both proposals were sent to the full faculty for final consideration. The faculty will consider the proposals at their regular May meeting.
Information in regard to the proposals for required assemblies was relayed by a member of the Educational Policies committee in the form of a mimeographed sheet, this sheet stated the proposals of the board below in an exact copy of this sheet.

PROPOSAL FOR IMPLEMENTING THE EXISTING COLLEGE PROVISION FOR REQUIRED ASSEMBLY

The High Point College Faculty in regular session on December 13, 1968, voted, "Beginning next year (1969-70) there will be only one required assembly each month but with an extensive program if an experimental program for optional attendance in the evenings.

This type of assembly program has not functioned, primarily due to the lack of a suitable vehicle for requiring attendance.

This year (1971-72) the Assembly and Artists Committee has done an admirable job of assembling and speakers in the Forum series. However, only small groups have taken advantage of these speakers.

The following recommendations are made:

1. ATTENDANCE AT ASSEMBLY BE REQUIRED FOR GRADUATION.
2. TWELVE (12) ASSEMBLIES BE PRESENTED EACH ACADEMIC YEAR AND THAT EACH STUDENT BE REQUIRED TO ATTEND TEN (10) OF THESE PROGRAMS EACH YEAR TO FULFILL THE GRADUATION REQUIREMENT.

3. THE ATTENDANCE FROM THE ASSEMBLY AND ARTISTS COMMITTEE AND THE STUDENT UNION BE USED TO OBTAIN SPEAKERS AND LECTURERS FOR THESE ASSEMBLIES.

4. ASSEMBLIES WILL BE OFFERED ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT AT 10:00 A.M. AND BE WELL PUBLICIZED AT THE BEGINNING OF EACH YEAR.

5. ASSEMBLY ATTENDANCE WOULD BE CHECKED.

6. TWO CONVOCATIONS WOULD BE MANDATORY (in addition to the ten required assemblies) A) THE PRESIDENT'S CONVOCATION IN SEPTEMBER; B) THE HONORS CONVOCATION IN MAY.

7. A COMMITTEE WOULD BE APPOINTED FOR THE SELECTION OF SPEAKERS, LECTURERS, OR PANEL DISCUSSIONS.

Much controversy was brought up in regard to the dito sheet distributed before the faculty meeting. It was going to be printed regardless to the knowledge of the faculty meeting, however impressions were given from several faculty members that a vote on this sheet was going to take place in this meeting, thus increasing the need for this sheet to appear for the benefit of the students. The vote by the faculty will not be to knock down the idea of required assemblies, but to vote as to whether it is put in the student handbook for the school year 1972-1973.

The '71-'72 student handbook does not mention anything in similarity to the detail of the '70-'71 student handbook. As a matter of fact, the '71-'72 handbook doesn't mention anything on the students obligation to attend assemblies. A more detailed look into the '70-'71 student handbook states on page 69 that "An all college assembly, composed of the administrative staff, faculty, and students, is held once a month. Attendance by all students will be mandatory. The students will be notified of the date of the required assembly. It is hoped that students will attend all assemblies as they are a part of their education. Failure to attend the required assembly will incur disciplinary action by the Dean of Students."

This assembly requirement is nowhere as strict as the new proposed one. The new proposal gives the student an incentive to attend assemblies, if he does not attend assemblies required, then he will be forced to go. This is a very good approach, where as if a student wants to hear a certain speaker, then he will usually attend the assembly, but if he is forced to attend the assembly and the speaker was on that he wanted to hear, he will probably show less enthusiasm towards it due to the fact that he was forced to go.

It is a known fact that the "administration" wants this to pass, so little can be done to alter this, however additional supplements can be added to this new proposal. One idea is to make it mandatory that all faculty and administration members attend these assemblies being excused for only two out of the twelve required ones. Also that a student take the role of the faculty member. One of the problems at this is to also allow the student to receive a one hour credit on a pass fail basis for attending these "educational" assemblies.

The students are also paying in part for themselves to be required to attend assemblies through the money supplied by the Student Union for speakers.

One of the ideas of this proposal is to control the communications gap between students, faculty, and the "administration". If students wanted to find something out, the newsletter, Hi-Po, and other sources including asking about something in the Student Personnel office can easily be done if they were interested.

The person who relayed this information was talked to by a number of students who were given a personal visit for this information. They all agreed that this information was very, very good, and that the students wanted to find something out, the newsletter, Hi-Po, and other sources including asking about something in the Student Personnel office can easily be done if they were interested.

I am very much opposed to this proposal to propose required assemblies as a criteria for graduation. It's about time the students on this campus shed their apathy, wake up and see exactly what's going on. The only alternative if this proposal is passed, is for each and every student to join together in a massive moratorium on boycott any assembly if it's on a required basis for graduation. Maybe then, when attendance cuts to only a handful of students will the administration finally realize we're more than controlled machines in a geared institution.

LETTERS

Dear Editor,

I can't believe it. High Point College might finally go to the ultimate of extremes in its' policies and require attendance at assemblies for graduation. The faculty will be voting in the near future, and this vote will be the deciding one for the proposed required assemblies. If approved, it will add to the many other absurd policies of this college.

After the Educational Policies Committee meeting in April, one student, who is a member of that committee, had enough initiative to inform the students on this campus about what was going on. After doing so, the same student was reprimanded by several Administrators. I don't believe we should be kept in the dark any longer when it comes down to propositions, votes, and so on if it's going to directly affect us in the end. How can the administration continue to say they're acting in our interests when actually it's been proved they're aren't.

I am very much opposed to this proposal to this proposal for required assemblies as a criteria for graduation. It's about time the students on this campus shed their apathy, wake up and see exactly what's going on. The only alternative if this proposal is passed, is for each and every student to join together in a massive moratorium on boycott any assembly if it's on a required basis for graduation. How Terry Carroll is bridging the financial gap between college and career with Super Start.

"We'll be in a better position to afford things later on than we are right now," says Theresa K. Carroll, Class of '71 UNC-CH. Getting Terry's degree in accounting was the first hurdle. Now her husband is going on to a postgraduate degree. Sure, Terry has a good job in her field with the Highway Department. But expenses and emergencies won't wait. Like when the motor in their furnace burned out. The car was beginning to cost more to repair than payments on a new one. This and more happened the year that First-Citizens Bank invented Super Start. So Terry was able to master things as they came.

Graduating students from four years of college, postgraduate or professional school can qualify for Super Start.

Also, be a student in good standing with a C or higher average. And be of legal age with definite plans to live and work in North Carolina after college.

Ask about Super Start at any of the 164 offices of First-Citizens Bank in North Carolina.

We serve 67 towns from the mountains to the coast. There is a Super Start Officer in each office of First-Citizens Bank. See any of our Super Start Officers.

Another Can Do first. Exclusively at First-Citizens Bank.

Free banking services and a loan at a preferred rate with delayed payment option are included in this unique package of banking services.

Super Start offers:
- Free checking service with no service charge for one year
- 200 free personalized checks
- Free safe deposit box for one year

Super Start offers you a line of credit:
- A preferred rate installment loan for a new or used car or other major purchase with no payments due for the first six months
- A Master Charge credit card with no payments due for the first six months. Finance charges do accrue, however, during these six month periods.

Super Start also offers you a relationship with the Can Do bank. We'll be happy to help you get established in your new town. After all, that's how we came to be called the Can Do bank; by going beyond the call of duty to serve our customers.

First-Citizens. The Can Do Bank.
H.P.C. Has Successful Tennis Team

The 1972 Purple Panther tennis team became the winningest tennis team in the history of High Point College. After defeating 9-0 victory over Livingston College.

Friday they began their quest for their first Carolina Conference championships since 1957 as they host the conference meet which will include four other conference teams: Atlantic Christian, Pfeiffer, Elon, and Guilford.

The victory over the Blue Bears pushed the Panthers' record to 18-7 and snipped the old mark of 17 wins in a season, set in 1955 when High Point finished 17-4. The record was also the ninth of the year for the Panthers, and is an obvious improvement over the 1971 season where the team won only eight matches while losing nine.

"We are fairly well pleased with the fact of our record this year," commented Panther coach Ray Alley. "We are still young, but we have young men who have played a lot of junior-age group tennis, and have tournament experience.

"We feel that we have to be considered a contender for the conference tournament, but we know that we will have to play well, both as individuals and a team. Atlantic Christian is our defending champion and they beat us early in the season. They have good personnel and they are well coached."

"Teams like Elon, Pfeiffer and Guilford also have some players who are excellent at one or two flight championships, so we know that we have our work cut out for us. But we are capable of winning tennis this season and it's been a long year for our players. However, they've looked forward to the tournament and I hope that we'll be seeing to peak this week."

Leading the way for the Panthers will be their co-captains

BASEBALL

The High Point Baseball Team has had a highly successful season this year. With only three games left to play, they are looking forward to the prospects of going into the Carolina Conference.

Their record of 22 wins and 6 losses. They rank eighth in the nation and are only one vote behind Florida Southern. This year the High Point College Baseball team has the chance to beat the Gardner-Webb total of 54 home runs. The team has a total of 46 home runs, as of now, Tom Slingerman is leading with a total of 12 home runs, and Robbie Cenel is leading with the

and only seniors. Jaster Sunjges and Mike Smith. Sunjges has played No. 1 singles and teams with fellow Bolivian Hector Villarreal at No. 2 doubles. Smith, who has played No. 2 for the Panthers the past two seasons, will play No. 5 singles and No. 3 doubles with freshman Bob Weber.

One of the most promising players in the conference is the Panthers' No. 2 player, freshman Peter Ramsey, who teams with another freshman, Bill Ashley, at No. 1 doubles. Villarreal, also a freshman, holds down the No. 4 spot, while Weber and junior college transfer Tony Hegge have split duty at No. 6 singles.

Sunjges finished No. 2 in the tournament last year after winning the title in 1970. He went on to capture the singles title last year in the NAIA District 26 tournament and advance to the third round of the national tournament in Kansas City. Mo. Both he and Smith were named to the All-District 26 squad.

Action in the conference tournament was scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Friday with play held both on the college courts and at High Point Central High School. Finals in both singles and doubles will be held Saturday. No matches were played.

Next week the Panthers close out their regular season by beating Virginia Tech Tuesday afternoon. They go after their first NAIA District 26 team championship next Friday in a two-day tournament which they will also host.

Under the direction of Coach Bob Davidson, the High Point College track team got off to a good start on February 16 as it won a quadrangular meet at Lynchburg College. Ever since, the team has proved to be one of the best High Point has ever produced.

The High Point tracksters began the regular season with a win over Towson State followed a week later by a solid win over Lynchburg College. In the Western Carolina Relays the Panthers finished a very respectable fourth place out of eleven colleges and universities competing. The Panthers also racked up victories over Atlantic Christian College and Guilford College. High Point made an excellent showing in the Davidson Relays finishing fourth in a strong field of thirteen. Two college records fell at this meet as the distance medley team composed of Bob Hagelgans, B. Peppifer, Lloyd Davis and Joe Meek made a time of 10:30. shattering the college record by over eight seconds. The two-mile relay team composed of Joe Meek, Lloyd Davis, Kevin Sullivan and B. Peppifer also set a school record in this field of thirteen.

Other records this season include Bob Pluppen in the 880 yd. run in a time of 1:55.35; Joe Meek in the mile run in a time of 4:21.7; Mike Turmula in the sixth mile run. Mike Hagelgans placed second in the 440 yd. intermediates, Mike Bogdon placed third in the javelin and Mike Turmula placed fifth in the six mile run.

TRACKSTERS Win Carolina Conference

The High Point Golf Team finished their season with 9 wins, 10 losses, and one tie. In competition with UNC-G the past Friday, was another win for the team. The nine stroke win included scores from Charlie Webster who shot a 71 and Baxter Slaughter who shot a 72.

The Golf Team finished sixth in the Carolina Conference Tour. Of the competing golfers, Bob Smith shot a 75 the first day. and the second day totaling in a 155 low score for the team. The team total was 322 the first day and 318 the second day being past 34 strokes over the winner, Lenigo-Rhyme with a 606 for two days.

The High Point College Golf Team will be competing in the District 26 on May 8, 1972. The team players will be Charlie Webster, Bob Smith, Baxter Slaughter, Travis Bray, Mike Sullivan, and Jerry Sutton. This competition will take place in Hickory, N. C. at the Rock Barn Golf Club.

When talking with the coach of the golf team, Mr. Robinson, he stated that he was "naturally disappointed but pleased at the effort of the team and the large improvement from last year finish."
Faculty Members Not Returning

By Dan Wall

About this time every year, we find ourselves bidding farewell to many fine people who have befriended us. We also say good-bye to some people we do not mind seeing go. It is with such emotion that we receive news of faculty members who will not be returning to High Point College this fall. According to Dr. David Cole, Dean of the College, the following instructors will not be with us when school re-opens: Dr. Stewart Deskins, Mr. John Dudley, Miss Jacqueline A. Palmer, Dr. Ruth Y. Sharrock, Mrs. Gwendolyn S. Watson, and Mr. Wayne B. Wilkinson.

Miss Palmer, currently listed as a Visiting Professor in History, has been with High Point College since 1948. His retirement included serving as Head of the History Department, a position from which he retired in 1965. "Daddy D," as he is affectionately known, is retiring from teaching.

Mr. Dudley joined our faculty as a temporary instructor this past school year. As a substitute, Mr. Dudley served as Instructor in History. Miss Palmer first came to HPC two years ago as an Instructor in Mathematics. Now, a faculty member, Mrs. Sharrock is the only instructor leaving who will remain at the College.

The latest evidence has brought new professors is available.

Conference Captured

High Point College's nationally ranked Purple Panthers swept their fourth consecutive Carolina Conference baseball championship - a feat never before accomplished in conference history - and advanced to this week's NCAA District 26 playoffs in Greensboro.

The Panthers won three straight games - the only time they've turned that trick in the four championship efforts - and combined the tournament title to the regular season crown they already wore. The three victories pushed their record to 28-7 and made them odds-on favorites to successfully defend their district title.

A pair of righthanders Bill Updagraff and Dennis Olley teamed to pitch the Panthers to a 9-3 victory over Elon in the opening round. Bill Updagraff, a junior from Highfield, Md., provided the firepower in that game with three doubles in four trips to bat and a trio of runs-batted-in. Mike Cornelison, a sophomore from Jamestown, also had three hits and drove in a pair of runs.

Updagraff continued to swing a bat in the second game as he smacked a two-run homer in the first inning to pace the Panthers to a 7-3 win over Pfeiffer. Reith Foehlter, a junior from Baltimore, Md., got the win and also connected for another two-run homer, but needed relief help late in the game from Olley and Dean Boger.

Boger, a sophomore lefthander from Falls Church, Va., played the hero's role in the third inning of ace righthander Ron Stinson's one-hitter. Boger, who was the Panthers' top pitcher last year and a fast-starter, had been hospitalized mid-way through the season and his effort in the final game earned him his fifth victory and his most exercise in more than six weeks.

The Panthers scored 12 runs in that one over Elon for a 12-7 victory. Bob Worthyton, who had three singles led the winning offensive effort, and his eight hits in the three-game series prompted his selection as Most Valuable Player.

President Nixon's Vietnam Policies Supported

WASHINGTON - Three days after the President Nixon announced a new Vietnam policies public support for these policies continues to grow among young people. The latest evidence has been the tremendous success of the Peace Corps.

In Spartan, Minnesota, Dean Rasmussen, a teacher in New London High School, surveyed 240 students with Tuesday and found in favor of the President's new policy, 29 in favor of Vietnamization as previously conducted, 3 favoring stronger measures and 12 wanting immediate withdrawal. Adding the first two figures of support for the President, this poll shows 70 of 85 students in support of the President's policies.

At the President's alma mater, Whittier College, Whittier, California a survey conducted by the local chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, a national political science honorary fraternity, found students supporting the President for re-election over his major Democratic rivals by as much as 80% to 7%.

The results, matching the President against Alabama's Governor George C. Wallace, Minnesota's Hubert H. Humphrey and South Dakota's George S. McGovern: Nixon - 80% - Wallace - 7% - Hubert - 1% - Humphrey - 25% - McGovern - 3% - McGovern - 43% - McGovern - 9% A student mock election held at John F. Kennedy University, San Francisco the day after the President's latest Vietnam address to the nation found the President victorious with 43% of the vote compared to 26.4% for Senator McGovern.

Also on the ballot at Kennedy University was a referendum on the President's Vietnam policies. More than 52% of the students voted in that referendum said they either supported or strongly supported President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

In a related development, Denver's youngest city councilman, Denver Blue, 24, said in commenting on a resolution passed by the Denver City Council in support of the President, "Something of this importance, that is dealing with national security, is not something to play politics with - which is why this is a bi-partisan message of support."

"We have to get behind (the President)," Blue said, "and let the world know we are behind him."

Dr. Deskins Honored

Dr. Stuart C. Deskins, head of the history, political science and geography departments at High Point College for 14 years, was honored Sunday afternoon at a pleasant evening in the student center on the High Point College campus. Dr. Deskins served as head of the department from 1948 until 1962. Since 1962 he has been on the faculty in that department as visiting lecturer.

During graduation ceremonies to be held at High Point College Sunday, May 28, he will retire from his 48-year career of serving as principal or professor. Dr. Deskins said, "I have served under every President of High Point College except Dr. R. M. Andrews, who was the first. It has been a fine experience and I have loved every minute of it."

With the school year drawing to a close, he soon will be packing his bags. First he plans to visit his daughter, Mrs. Julia Voek of Syracus, N.Y., then he will travel on to Ohio and Kentucky.

In addition to his daughter in New York, he has one son, David Deskins living in Greensboro.

A Marvin, Va., native, Dr. Deskins has also served as head of the department of education at Elon College, has taught summer school and special courses at Appalachian State University in Boone and Guilford College and served as principal for 19 years at Summer High School.

He graduated cum laude from Elon College where he received his bachelor of arts degree. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He also did other study at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. and in Chicago.
Accidents Plague H.P.C.

A High Point College student was involved in an accident Sunday afternoon around 3:00 p.m. Linda "Larker" Elmore was in route to serve as a tea for Dr. Denske, when she ran into the rear of another vehicle. The accident occurred on Chestnut Street going towards K.Mart. Her speed was estimated to be around 35-40 m.p.h.

Linda went to the emergency room and released, there were no other injuries. No tickets were given to the reporting officer, L. Morris of the High Point Police.

Four High Point College students were injured Friday, May 12, around five in the afternoon when the car in which they were riding collided with a tree.

The occupants of the car, which was owned by Jim Rhinehart were Jim Rhinehart, passenger in the front who received scratches and bruised ribs, B.J. Tiffany, driver of the car, received 20 stitches in her head, Jim Victor who rode the passenger side on the back seat received 20 stitches in his head, and Barb Abiahams who rode on the drivers side in the back seat is still in traction at the hospital.

The collision occurred on Groomtown Road and Highway 62 just before the intersection. The car struck a traffic sign and then a tree.

The cause of the accident is attributed to the fact that the road was unknown and then it loss control on the deposits of gravel and sand on the curve. The car was traveling at a speed of around 40-45 m.p.h.

There were no charges pressed or tickets given. The reporting officer was C.F. Johnson, a state trooper who was flagged down by Rhinehart.

Surveys Conducted

By Missie Mead & Sarah Scott

Inadequate social activities, strict rules, and a deficiency in particular majors were found to be the outstanding reasons students transfer from HPC.

In a recent survey conducted under the supervision of Dr. Matthews for Social Psychology the question why students come to High Point College and why do students transfer? were asked of 140 freshmen and transfer students.

Under general information, most students are maintaining a "C" average, most are majoring in Elementary Education and Physical Education, most of the transfers, most transferred from larger schools. A majority of students come from large cities.

In favor of High Point College, 52% of the students liked the location, 51% the size, 69% athletics, 9% scholarships available, and 167 Student HPC is a private school. Most students were influenced by parents, relatives, teachers, friends, ministers, and recruiting officers.

Spring is here and almost everyone's thoughts turn to love. With this in mind, a dating preference survey was recently conducted by two of Dr. Mathews Social Psychology students, Jean Fulk and Margie Patterson, to determine what traits and attributes the males and females of High Point College consider important in a date selection.

This random sample dating preference survey was conducted on approximately 150 students, 81 females and 67 males. The following is a brief summary of the overall results.

Of the 81 females surveyed, long hair was preferred to short hair for their dates. In reference to hair color, brunettes were preferred slightly over blondes, while blue and brown eyes won out in the eye color category.

Most females preferred a male who was their own race who were average height, slightly muscular, and tall. The females preferred a male who was their age or older while they were relatively indifferent to the physical abnormalities of height and hearing. Most of them however, would dislike dating a male with a bodily handicap. In reference to style of dress, most females preferred average to sharp dressers while they were indifferent to the area of religious denomination.

Extravert and ambierts were preferred by the females for dates, and also those that were sincere, trustworthy, and affectionate. Moody males were disliked and they overwhelmingly preferred optimistic and humorous males. Most females were indifferent to whether the male has much money. For the male to have a car and job was much more important. Most females disliked the use of drugs for their dates, and were indifferent to smoking and the use of alcohol. The females dislike nail biting, popping knuckles, and the use of vulgar language. And finally, females preferred a middle class date and were relatively indifferent to dating the other classes.

There were 67 males who participated in the survey. They preferred long hair that was brown in color. The males also preferred to date members of their own race and those that are small or average in size with short or average heights. Females of the same age or younger were preferred by the males of HPC.

To the three types of physical abnormalities listed on the survey, the males were mostly indifferent. They did however dislike dates with bodily handicaps. In reference to dress styles, males preferred an average or sharp dresser, but where it came to religious denomination the males preferred the Protestant faith and remained indifferent to the other religions. The males, like the females, preferred extroverts and ambition that were also sincere, trustworthy, and affectionate, and those females with optimistic outlooks and a sense of humor. Relatively little importance in selecting a date was placed on such things as money, car or job held. Most males disliked their dates to use drugs, but they liked the use of alcohol.

Most males were indifferent to the other religions and remained indifferent toward dates who smoked. Personal habits which were disliked by males in the survey were nail biting, knuckle popping, and the use of vulgar language. Middle class dates were preferred by males and they were indifferent to the other classes.

Four during a period in March, a survey was taken on the campus of H.P.C. The group consisted of two persons: David Grintm and Jerry Hedrick. The object of the survey was to determine whether a group of students were religiously oriented. The subjects consisted of 40 males and 100 females. The questions were centered around their religious life and their parents.

From this survey, concluded that the majority of students are not religiously oriented. It was also surprising to find out that many students were religiously oriented at home, but have a somewhat non-religious and coming to H.P.C.
How Charles Gourlay is bridging the post-college financial gap. With Super Start.

"Take a person getting out of college, going on the job market," says Charles D. Gourlay, B.S. in Business, UNC-CH '71, who is now a Construction Coordinator. "O.K. You've got to worry about renting an apartment, putting a deposit down, deposits on all your utilities, plus the month's rent in advance. And living expenses. And then you load him down with a car payment. Add all those up and see how much you've got left. But, if you give a man six months' deferred payment on his car and Master Charge, it gives him time to realize what he can afford and what he can't afford. That way, he doesn't overspend. And, if you overspend the first month or two, you'll get so far behind you'll never catch up. Super Start was valuable to me, and should be valuable to anyone unless they are independently wealthy."

Graduating students from four years of college, post graduate or professional school can qualify for Super Start.

Also, be a student in good standing with a C or higher average. And be of legal age with definite plans to live and work in North Carolina after college.

Tennis Wins District 26 Title

High Point College picked up its first tennis championship since 1957 when the Purple Panthers captured the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District 26 title last weekend. The Panthers swept both the team championship and the individual titles.

Javier Sanjines, the Panthers’ No. 1 player and a former Bolivian junior champion who now resides in Beltsville, Md., captured the singles crown for the second straight year with a 7-6, 6-4 victory over Elion’s Umberto Aguiar. Sanjines then captured the singles crown for the No. 1 player and a former national champion, Umberto Aguiar, who went on to the district title last year after winning the doubles crown, and he and Chip Eutie, the second player for the Panthers, staved away the doubles crown.

Sanjines swept the school’s singles division for the second year in a row last year after winning the doubles crown, and he and Chip Eutie, the second player for the Panthers, staved away the doubles crown. Sanjines, a senior co-captain of the Panthers, completed a successful regular season of play just prior to the district tournament with a 5-4 victory over Bernie Davis. Sanjines last year and No. 4 seed this time. The Charlotte freshman then went three sets in the semifinals with Sanjines, defaulting in the third set. The Panthers faced double competition later in the day in what would be their fourth match.

Smith, a senior co-captain from Salisbury, Md., upset Ranney, the No. 3 seed, 7-6, 6-2, to advance to the semifinals, in his best match of the season. Smith had played No. 5 most of the season, while Ranney had been the Panthers’ No. 2 player. Another Panther, Bob Weber, pulled another upset in the early going with a three-set win in the second round over Ray Wheeler, the No. 1 player from UNC-Greensboro. Weber, a freshman from Haddonfield, N.J., had played No. 6 and No. 7 for the Panthers this season, and he too has saved his best effort for the tournament.

High Point also placed two doubles teams in the semifinals with Ashley and Weber losing to Davis and Brown in a close straight-set match. The championship advance the Panthers to the nationals in thewest Point College is off and running towards its third consecutive Conference track championship and has smashed a number of school records in the process. This year the Panthers set a school record of 4:07.3 time in the two-mile relay set in 1963 by Bob Berringer, Bob Balsch, Jack Wagganer, and Mike Sabino. It was crashed earlier in the season by freshmen Joe Meek, Keg Sullivan, Bob Phippen, and junior Loyce Davis with a time of 7.58.4.

Meek, a freshman from Bristol, Md., also set a new mark in the mile run with a time of 4:29.0. After the district record was held jointly by Louis Farlow, set in 1965 and Bill Carter, set in 1968, and was 4:23.4. Mike Turkawa, a sophomore from Bethesda, Md., bettered Sabino’s two-mile time of 9:39.8 with a clocking of 9:38.8, while Don Smith, a senior from Baltimore, set the 120-yard high hurdles 11th at a time of 10.3. Turkawa, who holds the cross country course record at High Point College, also established a new school mark with a time of 31.31. Sheplin, a junior from Baltimore, was 9:38.8, while Davis of Falls Church, Va., lowered his own mark in the 120-yard high hurdles by a 10th of a point to 10.3.
