

"Working for a better informed campus"

Vol. 52 Issue 7

Published by the students of High Point College
High Point, N.C. 27262

January 23, 1980

Break-ins hit dorms over Christmas vacation

BY CHIP ALDRIDGE

Staff Writer

A series of break-ins during the Christmas holiday resulted in losses of tools, cash, a calculator and stereo equipment by members of the student body valued at a total in excess of $2,000.

These thefts in addition to losses of a coin collection and a television set during Fall Break raise many questions regarding the ability of students and security to safeguard possessions left on campus.

Several of the thefts occurred in McCulloch and appeared to be part of a systematic search of the building for valuables. According to Assistant Dean Bruce Tingle, a total of twelve doors in the dorm had apparently been tampered with, including those in which thefts occurred.

Also one evening during break, Officer Mike Beamon of the Security Force contacted the High Point Police after observing a light in McCulloch. When he and the city officers entered the building they were unable to locate the light but heard someone leaving the building. They saw and gave pursuit to two white males who escaped on foot. It was later discovered that the APO Lounge had been entered through a window.

There were several instances during break of doors found open for no apparent reason and with no show of forced entry.

Lt. Don Walton, head of security was quick to point out that though all doors to dorms are secured at the beginning of break, numerous windows were left unlocked and undiscovered unless someone actually tested them. Windows and doors were also accidentally left unlocked during the four days during break that maintenance worked in the dorms.

Lt. Walton and Dean Tingle both emphasized that any valuables should be taken home during breaks or placed in a secure location provided by RA's. It is very easy for a thief to check under a bed or in a closet for a stereo or television. Hiding property in one's room is not adequate protection.

They also recommend that all items of value (bikes, cameras, calculators, stereo equipment, etc.) be identified with social security, or driver's license numbers and initials in a conspicuous place. This not only discourages theft for re-sale, but may assist in the return of items if found.

Mr. Ken Bulla, who supervises the security force, expressed the opinion that the students themselves can be the greatest safeguard of the campus. The campus Security Force is only one man at any time securing and patrolling seventy-five acres of grounds and buildings.

With no legal authority and many responsibilities during their shifts, security officers often are not as prompt or effective as the campus community may need or demand. Mr. Bulla urged that the High Point Police be contacted whenever there is an obvious or suspected violation of the law. This ranges from apparent thefts to suspected trespassers.

Should campus security discover a trespasser they only have authority to ask them to leave. After that they also would have to contact the city police.

Several possible methods of increasing campus security were discussed during the course of interviews with Dean Tingle, Lt. Walton and Mr. Bulla. These included paid, trained students to

See More, p. 3

Yearbook status unclear

BY SCOTT HANCE

Associate Editor

"We will get a yearbook," said Zenith Editor Phyllis Griffin. "It should come just before we go on summer vacation."

Despite the many problems encountered in preparing the yearbook, Griffin has been assured by the publisher that we can get the books before school is over.

The latest set back was just recently uncovered. Sometime before Christmas break, nearly 100 pages were mailed to the publisher, Jostens American, but were never received.

The shipment, which included the color photo section and the sections for class photos, was sent fourth class mail by Griffin in late November and has yet to be found. She discovered in late December that the pages were lost and has since redone 16 pages.

Although duplicate layout sheets are kept, all photos have to be reprinted which will greatly delay production.

The yearbook consists of 148 pages, 24 of which were completed and sent to Jostens in late October. Most of the pages were in the shipment which was lost in the mail with the rest scheduled to be completed after Homecoming.

In order to get the Zeniths before May, the remaining 108 pages must be completed by the end of February.

The last pages are not the only cause for the uncertainty which has plagued Griffin and the yearbook staff this year.

The lost pages are not the uncertainty which has plagued Griffin and the yearbook staff this year.

The production schedule was thrown off early last semester when the senior pictures were 2-3 weeks late

See Yearbook, p. 3

INSIDE

HPC's Danny Anderson takes jumper against Lenoir Rhyne. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

Decade reviewed
page 2

Dorm fire
page 4

Basketball recaps
page 6

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po - Wednesday, January 23, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler .. Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

Ready for the 80's

The 80's.

Times Square counted down. Dick Clark rock 'n rolled. Glasses were raised. Adrenalin flowed. Faces flushed. Kisses smacked. Twelve o'clock and it was a new year, a new decade-1980 and Auld Lang Syne.

Speculations for the 80's are as many as psychics, politicians, crystal ball polishers and other professional bozos can muster up. They range from the good to the bad to the ugly, but all revolve around a single factor -- the future will be what it will be and even Jimmy the Greek can't weigh the odds.

Historians and logicians point out the differences in young people of past decades. The 50's happy-go-luckies; the 60's peace-love-and-revolutionaries; the 70's pessimistic-doom-felt-laid-back and apathy-stricken, all make one wonder what is in store for the child of the 80's.

It is this writer's opinion that the 80's will certainly be represented by its own idiosyncrasies, but like in every decade, its ups and downs will be both exploited and shushed and lived and wondered about.

Our country is now greatly concerned over the situation in Iran and is in growing concern of future involvements in and with Russia. It's all scary and questionable.

On the lighter side, Bob Hope is still alive, the sun still shines (except in Chicago) and Woody Allen still makes the best movies on the market. In essence, America still can laugh.

Life itself consists of scary downs and happy ups. It is important to be realistic but it is even more important to retain a sense of humor through it all.

Our hand in our own future rests in our own support and activity in governmental decisions. If you don't believe American researchers should spend so much money on Polish cockroaches, then you should write your congressman. Lab rats consume far too much dope. Perhaps even the Food and Drug Administration needs guidance.

Whatever. Just make 1980 a year to remember. Get involved. Do your part. Take the bus. Read by candlelight and most of all, have a good year.

BY LISA D. MICKEY

scrawl on the wall

Loyalty to a petrified opinion never yet broke a chain or freed a human soul.

--Mark Twain

The seventies

Decade hard to define

Special to the Hi-Po
BY DR. EVERARD SMITH

The Seventies belong to the historians now. It is a fate that they probably do not deserve, but will receive notwithstanding. As we make our transition to the new decade, it is tempting to wonder what scholars will do with our recent past as they begin the lengthy task of reducing it to a dry, dusty paragraph in a textbook. In all probability they will have lots of trouble, for the Seventies were a confusing and contradictory time, and I suspect that they will resist easy generalizations or conclusions.

In the United States we have an unfortunate tendency to date our past by decades: the Twenties, the Thirties, the Forties. We tend to assume that each decade is a finite, clear-cut thing, that it is distinct from any other decade, and that it has its own values and associations. Merely to mention "the Fifties" is to conjure up an immediate image of rock 'n roll, Edsels, white socks and leather jackets: we know, almost without having to be told, what it was like to live through this time. Further promoting this simplistic view of history is our tendency to give each decade its own descriptive adjective - e.g. "the Roaring Twenties." In 1960 Time magazine actually polled its readers to characterize the decade that had just passed, and by general consent it became "the Fabulous Fifties."

When we look at the 1970's, no such clear-cut, definite picture seems to emerge. Our progress through these years appears to be more of a constant blundering in the dark from one unseen, unappreciated goal to another. There are probably several reasons for this state of affairs. In the first place, the past decade was not dominated by a single event or personality, such as the Depression, World War II, or Dwight D. Eisenhower. The war in Vietnam, so important a focal point of the Sixties, was over by 1973. The trauma of Watergate, while intense, was too short-lived to typify the entire decade. It now seems so remote that not a single Democratic contender this year has tried to revive it as a campaign issue.

There are also many indications that our perceptions of the recent past are no longer as accurate as we once thought them. In 1970 it was the conventional wisdom on most campuses that the American presence in South-east Asia was immoral, and that only an immediate withdrawal could save the national honor. Ten years down the line, there is a glimmering awareness that our defeat there was interpreted abroad, not as a triumph of our basic decency, but as a sign of our decline and growing impotence, to be exploited at every opportunity. Similarly, in the wake of Watergate there was much talk about reducing the power of "the imperial Presidency," and of returning to morality in government. This process of reasoning led directly to the election of

See Decade, p. 3

You didn't ask . . .

BY DAVID L. BOBBITT

Somewhere, sometime during the seventies, we lost a most enjoyable art -- dating.

I moved off campus over two years ago. There were many reasons for my moving, but one was the attitude that had spread like wildfire across the campus.

The attitude that if you dated someone more than twice within six months you were "taken."

The young ladies at HPC were caught in two categories:
1. Steady girl -- dated one guy till they broke up (eventually) and then couldn't date anyone else because everybody knew about it and no one dared date John Doe's ex-girl.

2. Quiet type -- Stayed in the dorm and joined with the other girls in this class by going out in groups.

The guys fell into a 'rut' and drank themselves blind or attached themselves to one young lady forever and ever. (No fun, neither of them got to know anybody else.)

Since I'm not known for watering down the soup, I don't mind telling you -- I'm glad I'm no longer a part of that game.

I can't count five guys on the entire campus that officially partake in the true art of dating.

What's with it fellows?

It's apparent you're too busy guzzling beer or playing with

See Art, p. 3

In memoriam

Mark Allan Quigley, a sophomore at High Point College died December 13, 1979, after a skateboard accident. He was 20 years old.

Quigley's home was in McLean, Virginia.

A memorial service was held in Charles E. Hayworth, Sr. Memorial Chapel on December 14.

Yearbook having problems

Continued from page 1

in being submitted to Griffin. The delay was caused by the senior class's decision to have outdoor photos made.

Griffin also said that some of the problems occurred because she was not notified until the middle of June that she would be the editor.

"I was put at a disadvantage by not being told until June," Griffin said. "I didn't have time to get a staff together."

At the beginning of the semester, however, there were 30 members of the Zenith staff. Now, there are only 9 people still working. Griffin said that more student participation would help.

The lack of an advisor has also hurt the yearbook. Mr. Raymond Petrea, Director of Informational Services, serves the yearbook as a college representative on the contract with the publisher.

"Serious lapses have occurred in meeting deadlines," Petrea said.

As far as expense, Griffin commented that there will not be any extra expense due to extending the deadlines. However, there will be extra expense to reproduce all the photos that were lost.

The Zenith was given $9,500 by the SGA. According to Griffin, the staff needed to raise $1,000 more from advertisements and fundraisers.

One way the yearbook tried to raise money was selling a full page to the Greek organizations for $100 a page. Only three sororities bought the page.

Griffin stated that the lost pages will be redone in time to meet the extended deadline.

"If I get it (the completed pages) in sometime in February, Mr. Terry Thomas, our representative from Jostens, has assured us of a yearbook," Griffin said.

Griffin has been offered help by the Society for Collegiate Journalists in helping to finish the pages in time to meet the deadline. If the deadline is met, we should have the yearbook in late April.

Decade confusing

continued from page 2

Jimmy Carter, of whom the one consistent criticism has been that he has not provided strong leadership, and whose ratings soared more than thirty per cent when he imposed sanctions on Iran and Russia. The need to re-evaluate the "lessons" that we thought we had learned from Vietnam and Watergate underscores our sense of bewilderment at the decade that produced them.

If there is a consistent theme to the Seventies, it probably lies somewhere under the surface. The decade was certainly a time of disillusionment, during which many fundamental assumptions about the United States and the world were destroyed, painfully rebuilt, and then destroyed again. Conservation, which began in the late Sixties as a protest against the pollution and despoilation of nature, matured in the Seventies as Americans faced shortages, higher prices for energy, and the threat of painful changes in their lifestyles. Of these and the other themes that historians will inevitably discern, one can only say that all will be flawed to a greater or lesser degree, and all will change over time as the Seventies recede yet further from our consciousness.

A recent article in Time was devoted, not to the search for yet another fatuous cliché to describe the departed decade, but to a sober reminder of all the predictions about the Seventies that had gone wrong. That the Seventies could leave such an epitaph behind them may be one of the greatest lessons that we have to learn.

More break-ins

continued from page 1

man the security office while the officer on duty is patrolling; paid, trained students to patrol, kept in contact with the officer on duty by radio; and/or a "community watch" type program that could be set up by the High Point Police if sponsored by an on-campus organization.

As Mr. Bulla pointed out, "this is a complex problem with no single solution". Any suggestions can be directed to his office or through the Student Legislature by way of Bryan Christian, head of the Security Committee.

Art of dating lost

continued from page 2

your mind to pay a little attention -- real attention -- and genuine interest in -- the opposite sex.

Now I don't mean the obscene cat calls from second story McCulloch, or the outright attacks when you catch some poor girl alone for two minutes.

I'm talking about enjoying the company of an attractive, intelligent human being. I haven't been anywhere, except for the john, in six months that I haven't preferred and enjoyed the company of a young lady (sometimes not so young) more than that of the fouled mouth drug crazed "men" I know who are more interested in telling you how busy, how broke or how confused they are.

Look around you fellows. Either she's so-and-so's steady girl or you don't know anything about her.

No, she's not dying to meet you, and she's not just waiting for a chance to crawl under your filthy twin-bed sheets.

But I'll bet the space bar on my typewriter that she'd love dinner and drink at a decent restaurant.

So it will cost you a couple of bucks. Most the girls I will offer to go dutch or may even ask you out the next time.

And you couldn't buy better company at any price.

She'll be very thankful and you'll be thoroughly enriched by knowing her.

There is an art to dating. And it's not seeing how far she'll go on the first date. It's enjoying the company of a friend who's in the same rotten mess you're in. It's not forming a binding relationship for 'as long as you both shall live.' And it's not promising the moon or your deepest feelings. And dating isn't a promise to do it again -- by either party.

It's very easy and the rules are easy:

1. Never, never expect anything.
2. Treat her like you want to be treated.
3. Have fun.

So you may not score. Few of you do now.

And next time she may say no. And you might not see her again for the next few days. That's not what you're after.

But she'll be the best company you've had in a long time.

NOTE: On second thought, forget the above. I kind of like the lack of competition.

The 10 gallon hat actually holds three-fourths of a gallon.

Date changed for society dance

The Society for Collegiate Journalists is a campus organization of students designed to support, promote, and safeguard publications on campus. Membership is open to Communications majors, English majors, all publications' staff members, and any student interested in print and/or radio journalism. After reorganizing this fall, members are planning the first annual Dinner and Dance.

Because of some conflicts with other campus events, the date for the first Annual Dinner and Dance is now Friday, April 18, from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Village Green in Greensboro.

At the dinner, the formal initiation ceremony for full voting members of the Society will be held. Because of the money raised in a book sale in fall, the cost right now is $10 per person which includes a buffet dinner and entertainment. Again, the dinner and dance is open to all Communications majors, English majors, publications' staffs and their invited guests.

Various community merchants will be donating camera equipment and gift certificates, which will be given away at the dance. No purchase other than the dance ticket is necessary to participate in the drawing.

The general program format at the present is:

7-8 Social Hour; 8-9, Buffet Dinner; 9, Invitation and Award Recognitions; 11:30, Drawing for Prizes; and 1

See Dance, p. 8

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor	Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor	Alisa Walker
Staff Writers	Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson,
	Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis
	Karen Craver, John Hallis Sharon Litchford,
	Jillian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge,
	Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark
Typists	Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown,
	Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising	Sharon Kaier,
	Roger Dameron
Head Photographer	Edythe Montesana
Photographers	Tom Reddeck, Marissa Furpi
	David Schaller,
Layout and Proofing	Monique Peyser,
	Cyndi Roberts

HPC students visit Colorado

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

Looking for the realistic aspects of their field, 18 American Humanics students ventured to Colorado over Christmas break to the American Humanics Management Institute.

About 150 college and university students from all over the United States attended the Institute held at the YMCA of the Rockies in Estes Park, Colorado. High Point College was the only school represented from North Carolina.

Terry H. Dunn, HPC American Humanics Resident Administrator, said that the program was better than last year and that it offered the students challenges which may effect their continuing in the field.

The students met in small groups and seminars in their career fields until their last full day in Colorado which was devoted to recreation including visits to the ski slopes and a western hoe-down led by Texas A&M University.

"We learned things you can't learn here on campus," said Sue Pooley, a HPC senior who attended the Institute.

When asked about the outlook for the 80s, Robert Gates said, "Service for the aged is the big thing in the future."

High Point College will host the Management Institute in 1981. It will be held in Washington, D.C.

Adult education on the rise

PRINCETON, N.J. -- According to the Educational Testing Service, a new educational trend is slowly taking shape throughout the United States -- adult education or, as some call it, "lifelong learning."

No longer is education being viewed as just for the young. Instead, it is increasingly being seen as an activity to be enjoyed throughout life.

"The term 'lifelong learning' is really meant to embrace learning from the cradle to the grave," said Dr. K. Patricia Cross, a research scientist at Educational Testing Service (ETS) in Berkeley, Calif. "In practice, however, most people talking about lifelong learning are primarily concerned with adult learning because adults present the new wrinkle in education."

Cross said it is an old-fashioned notion that adults have left their school days behind forever. The enrollment of adults is rising, especially in community colleges, and research conducted for the Commission on Nontraditional Study indicates that there is a massive move on the part of colleges to attract adult learners.

"By recent estimates, one of every four adults is currently involved in some kind of organized learning activity," Cross said. "Experts expect that by the year 2000, when adults over 30 will make up the majority of the population, even more adults will be involved in some form of continuing education."

"Colleges and universities are particularly interested in adult learners, both because the traditional 18-year-old college student is a diminishing commodity and because the greatest demand for further educational opportunity comes primarily from adults with at least a high school education," she said.

Today, more than 80 percent of people between 20 and 24 are high school graduates. This represents a significant increase over the number of their parents and grandparents who earned high school diplomas.

And the more formal education an adult has, Cross said, the more likely he or she is to seek additional education. A college graduate, for example, is about eight times as likely as a high school dropout to participate in adult education.

But adults seeking new learning experiences are not limited to those enrolling in colleges. In the 1970s, Cross pointed out, the number of adults attending adult schools, employer-sponsored training programs, or classes sponsored by churches, community organizations and similar groups increased three times as fast as their numbers in the population.

While many adults pursue learning for personal satisfaction, others need it to keep up with technological advances in their fields.

"This means that no education will last a lifetime," Cross said. "In many career fields the rate of obsolescence is now pegged at between five and ten years."

The tendency of states and professional licensing agencies to mandate continuing education for professionals, from accountants to veterinarians, is another sign of the need for lifelong learning. In California, for instance, certified public accountants must take 80 hours of additional education every two years in order to retain their licenses.

Cross said that after a long history of moving steadily toward a linear life plan in which all life had been divided into three full-time phases of education for the young, work for the middle-aged and enforced leisure for the elderly, things appear to be changing.

"Now people from all walks of life seem to be opting for a blended life plan that permits learning, work and leisure to go on concurrently," she said.

Fire broke out in Women's dorm during finals causing noticeable damage. [Photo by David Schaller]

Cause still unknown in dorm room fire

BY DIANE COOK
Staff Writer

Last minute cramming for final examinations was interrupted on Dec. 19, when students rushed to witness a fire in the Women's Dormitory.

The blaze, which occurred at approximately 6:00 p.m., was discovered by Denise Ward. Denise explained, "I was across the hall and just happened to remember I'd forgotten something in my room."

When Denise entered her room she saw the towels on the bathroom door in flames. Instantly, she attempted to put out the fire with a raincoat. When the flames had died somewhat, she ran to the hall for the fire extinguisher.

"I didn't even know where the extinguisher was," she elaborated, "I only knew I had to find it."

After extinguishing the fire, the fire alarm sounded. Everyone in the dorm was promptly evacuated and the fire department was notified.

The room suffered only minimal damage, and was repainted over the holiday break. The causes of the blaze are presently unknown, although there is speculation that the fire was set intentionally. No aggressive action has been taken nor fines rendered. Investigations, however, are still continuing.

Kaku to speak on nuclear physics

The North Carolina Public Interest Research Group (NC PIRG) presents Dr. Michio Kaku, professor of nuclear physics from City College of New York, speaking on "The History of Partial Meltdowns and Fatal Accidents in the Nuclear Industry" on Thursday January 24th at 8:00 p.m. in Sternberger Auditorium, Guilford College, 5800 W. Friendly Ave. Greensboro. Admission is free for students, children or senior citizens and $1.00 for adults. For more information call 852-3811 in Greensboro.

Happiness is . . .
you & me and
Stella d'Oro.

Enjoy now the excellent food and live entertainment of Stella d'Oro in High Point — a family restaurant specializing in Italian & Greek cuisine!

Entertainment

FRI. & SAT. LIZA McDOWELL
Mon.—Tony Davis, Guitarist; Tues.—Arnie Hale, Cordovoxist
Wed.—Lisa McDowell, Guitarist; Thurs.—Kim Cooke, Guitarist

All Beverages Served
HOURS: MON.-FRI. 11 A.M.-2:30 P.M.
Re-Opens 5 P.M.-10 P.M. SAT. 5 P.M.-10 P.M.

Stella d'Oro
RESTAURANT

111 HIGH POINT MALL
869-2424

1-17N

ARTIFACTS

Scholarship bank now available

A new, non-profit service for students has been announced. Designed to find all of the scholarships, loans, grants and work-study opportunities for students at the high school, undergraduate and graduate levels, the new service guarantees that each applicant will receive at least $100 in aid.

According to Steve Danz, Director of the Scholarship Bank, the average student applicant receives thirty two "leads" on scholarship information, with a combined value of $17,000. Students are given scholarship information on those sources for which they are potentially eligible. The student then decides which sources to actually apply for.

An analysis of the more than 15,000 individual entries in the data bank indicates that about 30% are based on need, about 30% on merit and the remainder on a combination or other factors. The Scholarship Bank is the only source for all aid sources, including graduate grants.

The key to the data bank is the questionnaire that each student fills out. Requested information concerns age, sex, marital status, year in school, schools attending, major, occupational goals, jobs held, religion, parents union, employment and military information, and a variety of other factors. Cost of the service is only $25.

Interested students should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope (and save themselves approximately 100 hours of research) to The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., #750, Los Angeles, CA. 90067. or call toll-free 800-327-9191 ext. 397.

Interested students should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope (and save themselves approximately 100 hours of research) to The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., #750, Los Angeles, CA. 90067. or call toll-free 800-327-9191 ext. 397.

Interested students should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope (and save themselves approximately 100 hours of research) to The Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., #750, Los Angeles, CA. 90067. or call toll-free 800-327-9191 ext. 397.

Cancer lecture states shocking facts

BY SUSAN SPAULDING
Contributing Writer

Cancer is the leading cause of death among women age 30 to 54.

Last Wednesday, Panhellenic sponsored a lecture on breast and lung cancer. Members of the American Cancer Society spoke on the effects these types of cancers can have on one's life.

According to statistical data gathered by the American Cancer Society, is reported that breast cancer is the leading site of cancer in women. It is expected that in 1980 36,000 deaths will occur from the disease.

Doris Davis, a member of the American Cancer Society stressed that it is very important for young girls to begin breast self examination (BSE) as a monthly habit. BSE is the best way for women of all ages to find breast cancer in an early stage. The disease can often be cured or controlled if detected early either by BSE or regular professional check-ups.

In addition to breast cancer, lung cancer is another major cause of death in the US. Only about 10% of lung cancer patients are saved, and in 1980 it is predicted that 101,300 people will die -- the equivalent of 278 a day.

Kitty Boone of the American Cancer Society stated that 86% of the people who have lung cancer smoke. She also pointed out that in women, deaths relating to lung cancer because of smoking are steadily increasing.

Student Union trip to Daytona Beach cuts costs

Laurie Hoover and Lori Foreman of the Student Union have worked out details concerning a trip to Daytona Beach over the Spring Break.

We would leave H.P.C. on Friday night, February 29, drive all night to Daytona Beach and be on the beach by 10 a.m. Saturday morning. The plans call for us to stay in the Daytona Travelodge. During our trip, free transportation will be provided by the bus company to tourist attractions such as Rosie O'Grady's, Altamont Mall, Disney World, and to another attraction of our choice.

We will stay in Daytona Beach until the following Saturday night. We will leave Daytona Beach at 8 p.m. and be back to High Point College by 10 a.m. on Sunday. What are the costs? The bus trip will cost $64.57 round trip and lodging will be $122.43. This total package is $187.00.

Let us look at the details of the trip. If your car gets 20 miles per gallon, the trip of 1200 miles will cost you roughly $66.00 in gas money ($1.10/gallon in Florida). There is no real benefit here.

Let us compare room rates. The going rate in Florida over the Spring Break is roughly $28.00 to $65.00 a person. The Travelodge package will cost roughly $17.00 per person. There is a big savings here if we go as a group.

The only thing that is not included are the meals. We figure that everyone has a specific meal time and tastes differ so that meals should be left up to the individual. You can bring a grill and cooler to cut costs dramatically.

Sign up with Lori and Laurie will be this week. Wednesday, January 23, is the deadline and a $50.00 deposit must be paid by Monday, January 28. Don't miss out for the seating is limited.

Local Bar Reopens

BY JILIAN PEEKE
Staff Writer

Two guys sitting around one day came up with an idea. The idea was to open a bar, located near a college. All summer long, these same guys spent hours cleaning, sanding, varnishing, and painting. Down to the final touches, they knew they would be ready for the opening of school.

Business began well. The first few nights, students swarmed to their bar and had a good time. Then an incident occurred which dampened their spirits.

A man walked through the door after previously having words with another person. This same guy then preceded to throw his "enemy" through the window, causing Scarlett's to be closed for a short period of time. This caused Scarlett's business to slacken considerably.

Halfway through December, another serious incident took place. A "gentleman" attempted to force his way into Scarlett's after closing. As the bouncer picked the gentleman up and helped him outside, two guys jumped him.

Almost from nowhere fighting erupted. Traveling from the sidewalk to the parking lot were "probably forty people fighting," said Jim Shores, present owner of Scarlett's.

During the approximate fifteen minute fight, Carlton, the bouncer, was stabbed in the back. John, the co-owner of Scarlett's at the time, stayed in the hospital 24 hours with a concussion and a hand injury.

The window was again broken. The cost per pane of glass is six-hundred dollars. Scarlett O'hara's was closed for three weeks, but has reopened for business.

Jim Shores, now the owner of Scarlett's said, "We're going to stop the fighting. We'd love to have all of you college kids come back!!"

Spain, visiting famous cities as Cordoba, Sevilla, Granada, Malaga, and two days were spent in the beautiful Torremolinos Beach. Plans are already in progress for the 16th Summer School Program in Spain in 1980. Students may earn 9 quarter college credits.

All persons interested should write to Dr. Doreste, Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill. 61201 as soon as possible. Space is very limited.

Spain program offered

Each year for five weeks of the summer, a program is offered to students in the U.S. and Canada to travel and study in Spain. Last summer, 100 students from 25 states, Canada and Puerto Rico departed from Kennedy Airport in New York and flew to Madrid. The group was then bussed to the campus of the Ciudad Universitaria of Madrid where they lived and attended classes.

As part of the program, a trip was taken to Southern

SCARLETT O'HARA'S
HIGH POINT N.C.

"A little bit of Wednesday nites, everynite."

25^c
DRAFT
9:00-10:00
M-F

Membership $1
Good for a lifetime.

Problems continue to brew for HPC women

SYLVIA CHAMBERS

BY KIM DARDEN
ASSISTANT EDITOR

All-Conference senior-forward Sylvia Chambers and last year's number two point-guard, sophomore Elaine Croker, have quit the girl's basketball team in the past month, both citing "differences with the coach" as their reason.

Head Coach Nancy Little is new this year; she replaces former Panther Coach Wanda Briley who is now basketball coach at Wake Forest.

"There is no rapport between the players and the coach -- no communication, and I think this is a team feeling," Chambers says.

"I love playing basketball," she says, "but it had come to the point I just couldn't enjoy it anymore, so to me there was no purpose in it."

"I feel that from the beginning I was never given a fair chance," Croker says. "I've never quit anything before in my life, but you can only take so much."

Croker, used to much playing time last year as back-up point guard, was playing considerably less this season, she says. Two girls were starting in her position before her, one of them a freshman.

Sylvia feels that the entire team has suffered because of Coach Little. "People in the stands who have been watching the team for years are worried about the team and asking what's wrong," she says.

Coach Little says that the adjustment to her after

Coach Briley left last year has been difficult and has caused conflict between See Chambers, page 8

NANCY LITTLE

High Point College's Hi-Po

SPORTS

Panthers maintaining CC lead

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

The Panthers are having a great season, and the past month and a half are a testimony to that fact. In the past six weeks the NAIA's No. 12-ranked Panthers have won nine out of their last eleven games, and have upped their overall record to 12-3, including a seven-game winning streak at one point in the season. The Panthers also lead the Carolinas Conference with a 6-1 mark, just one game ahead of Catawba College.

The Panthers won their final four games before Christmas break by crushing rival Guilford College, 76-61, outlasting Wingate, 85-76, and edging Mars Hill and Gardner-Webb, 59-56 and 63-60, respectively. Since re-

See Men, page 7

Panther's Anthony Parrish muscles inside in HPC's 57-46 win over Lenoir-Rhyne Jan. 12. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

HPC women struggle but win

BY IRISH GAYMON
Staff Sports Writer

Transitions in athletics are common as new coaches and players try to adapt to changes in strategies and team standards. In the High Point College women's case, the problem with players leaving the team and injuries have all bundled up at once. But the remaining players realize that there still is a purpose in the season: the Carolina Conference, state, regional and national championships are at stake.

The season started off for the Panthers with seven straight wins but has dropped somewhat now to a 9-2 overall record. All-America center Andreia Blanchard has provided the spark for HPC averaging 22 points per game and nearly 12 rebounds per contest. And another All-America, senior forward Marie Riley, has started a scoring surge of late and is adding nearly 20 ppg.

High Point's Jan. 15 win against rival Guilford was an easy win for the Ladies. The home crowd got a chance to see the potential power that the team can exhibit, the same power that claimed the 1978 AIAW national title. By beating the Quakers 81-67, the Panthers showed its inside strength as Blanchard connected for 31 points from the pivot.

The Panthers' only two losses this season have been since the semester break, and Elon handed HPC its first loss in the league in over two years. The Christians 72-64 triumph on its see Blanchard, pg. 7

Freshmen return after ineligibility

BY GREG LUKASZCZYK
Staff Sports Writer

Five High Point College basketball players were ineligible to play earlier this month after failure to meet academic standards for the first semester.

After arriving back on campus from Christmas break on Jan. 1, coach Jerry Steele discovered that freshman Junior Brown, Roosevelt Brunson and Butch Bowser, along with upperclassmen Johnny McQueen and Bruce Floyd were ineligible for a limited time because of failure to complete first semester work in specified classes.

All with the exception of Bowser failed to complete parts of the fall semester. Bowser, who earned 11 credits last semester, picked up his needed additional hour of credit with a one hour interim course at Campbell College. Bowser picked up the extra hour in a four day span.

Brown finished incomplete work here on campus in time to resume action with Bowser Jan. 15 in the Panthers 59-40 rout of Radford. Sophomore center Floyd, the team leader in rebounds and McQueen, a junior guard who has started on several occasions this year, completed their work early enough to battle Elon Jan. 5.

According to Steele, Brunson will not be able to complete his work before the season's end, thus eliminating the 6-3 forward from further play for the rest of the year.

continued on page 8

BOWSER

BROWN

BRUNSON

FLOYD

Dennis Tuttle

Is Softball Next?

Second in a Three-Part Series

Whether it's Cubans in the Congo, British at Boston or Russians in Afghanistan, conflicting opinions have often broken the stride of ethnic code. The ethnic code among college athletes is Title IX, which forces colleges to make athletic opportunities the same for women as well as men.

And one of the standing conflicts at High Point College is why isn't womens' softball a varsity sport here? Good question. Athletic Director Jerry Steele had some answers.

Once there was interest

The students here, nearly 50 per cent from the south and the other half from the belt of Washington, D.C. or from a strip in New Jersey, quite obviously have varying backgrounds in athletics. The northerners play field hockey and fast pitch softball. The Southerners on the other hand, play slow pitch softball and not field hockey. Not one high school in North Carolina plays field hockey.

"I don't think it's out of place not having it here," said Steele. "Looking back a few years, before Title IX, I remember saying four (womens') sports (compared to six for men). But the facilities we had then were different. On three different occasions in softball, we had someone to come in and get fired up, wanting to know about the possibilities. I told them we needed a list of names signed and that we would take it from there. But I have yet to see a list and it's been three years," he added.

Now could be the time

But Steele would accept the initiation of the spring sport with enthusiasm. It's not a problem with money, it's a problem with time. "It would take a person that wanted to give their time," the head basketball coach noted. "I don't know of anybody (on the coaching staff at HPC) that could give their time. But it is not a waiting matter.

"About five years ago we were going down in enrollment in women, and womens' athletics has boosted it a good

See Tuttle, page 8

Glover resigns as HPC coach

BY SUSAN PARKER
Staff Sports Writer

Mike Glover, a 1976 graduate of High Point, Physical Education instructor, and assistant basketball and men's tennis coach at H.P.C., resigned from his position at the college earlier this month.

Dr. Charles Futrell has been named as Glover's replacement for men's tennis coach at H.P.C. Dr. Futrell, who has taught at High Point for 11 years in the Physical Education Dept., has previously been head coach of Richlands High School baseball and basketball teams, and assistant football coach.

MIKE GLOVER

H.P.C.'s men's tennis team has had players participate in the NAIA National Tournament the past two years, with the 1979 team finishing 16th in the nation.

JEFF ANDERSON

Men's statistics

6-1 Conference
12-3 Overall

NAME	RPG	PPG
Floyd	8.2	11.4
Brown	1.8	9.0
Parrish	3.1	8.4
Bowser	4.1	7.9
D. Anderson	2.3	6.9
Hovey	3.7	6.4
J. Anderson	3.8	6.2
Brunson	2.9	5.6
McQueen	1.5	4.2
Yow	1.1	2.9
Wheless	1.1	1.9

Women's statistics

5-0 Conference
9-2 Overall

NAME	RPG	PPG
Blanchard	11.5	23.0
Riley	9.3	17.1
Holt	4.5	11.9
Wardlaw	4.5	8.1
Setzer	4.8	6.9
Bowers	2.6	3.4
Warren	2.0	3.0
Henline	0.9	2.9
Alston	0.0	0.3
Wingfield	0.3	0.2

Blanchard heads scoring as Panthers drive toward title

continued from page 6

home court Jan. 5 was HPC's first loss of the season, and proved to the Panthers that this year it will not be a one team race, like HPC has enjoyed the past couple of years.

Riley scored 24 points to head HPC while Elon held Blanchard to 14.

High Point's other loss was an important Division II defeat from Lenoir Rhyne. The Bears took a 16-14 lead in the first-half and the Panthers never totally recovered. Twice in the second-half the Panthers cut the margin to three points but HPC could not get any turning from the 20-day break, the Panthers are 5-2. The five victories came against Elon (51-38), Pembroke State (59-58), Lenoir Rhyne (57-46), Radford (59-40), and Barber-Scotia (74-64). The two losses were against Mars Hill (77-71) and HPC's conference competitor, Catawba (59-55), and were the result of lackluster play by the Panthers.

High Point's success so far this season is due mainly to a well-balanced scoring attack, with the main contributors being freshmen Jeff Anderson, Butch Bowser, and Junior Brown, along with sophomores Anthony Parrish and Bruce Floyd.

In High Point's first meeting with Mars Hill, the Panthers sank seven consecutive free throws, four by Jeff Anderson, in the final two minutes to secure the win.

Sigs regain volleyball title

BY SCOTT HANCE
Associate Editor

The Delta Sigs captured their second intramural championship of the season last week when they downed the Bellacos team to take the men's volleyball title.

The Sigs finished the double elimination tournament without a loss. The Bellacos took second place with two losses, both coming against the Sigs.

The Bellacos downed the Pikas in straight games earlier in the evening to advance to the finals against the Sigs. The first game of the match went to the Sigs by a 15-9 score but the Bellacos came back to easily capture the second game 15-4. The third game remained close until the Sigs pulled away to an 11-3 lead and hung on to take a 15-9 win.

The Bellacos were trying to retain their championship from last year while the Delta Sigs were striving to regain the title they won in 1977-78.

With the victory, the Sigs increased their lead in the overall point standings. The Sigs have accumulated 120 points so far this year while the Bellacos follow with 95. The Theta Chis have 60 points while the Lambda Chis follow closely in fourth place with 55.

Basketball competition started this week for the men with 21 teams participating. There are 8 teams competing in the "A" league and 13 more playing in the "B" league. Games are played on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights plus Saturday afternoons in Harrison Hall.

HPC's Andreia Blanchard drives against L-R [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

Chambers, Croker call it quits

continued from page 6
her and her players.
"I think that anytime there's a coaching change, especially from such a successful coach, there are going to be problems," she says. "But the girls have to realize I am a different coach. My philosophy is different and I do things differently."

Sophomore Roxanne Moody, high-scoring starter at point-guard last year who had to accept the bench this season because of a knee injury in the opening game, stopped traveling with the team last week, also citing differences with the coach.

"We liked Miss Briley," Moody says, "but were ready to give the new coach a good chance. But it seemed we gave in, and she didn't."

"She won't listen to us," another player says.

"They say I don't listen," Little says, "I say they need to work rather than talk. It's my job to be spokesman for the team."

"I'll be glad to listen to individual complaints, but it's the coach's decision who plays, how long, and when."

"I hate that those two girls quit," she continues, "and I'm sure we'll miss them." But now we have to build from within, with what we've got left."

"And I think that, especially in the last few games, we're getting things together, working as a team. We lost those two games in a row (against Elon and Lenoir Rhyne), but now we're depending on each other and doing better. We're getting tremendous support from the bench; the girls are playing and working hard."

Tuttle column

continued on page 7

deal," Steele continued. "And if you had asked me four years ago I would have said that we would have had it by now."

Now has arrived, and softball is still not on the roster of varsity sports. It could be and relatively cheap. Steele pointed out that fielding a team (which always costs more in the first year, uniforms, field construction, etc.) could be done for way under $8000. A field would pose no problems; one of the intramural fields on Lexington could be converted at little cost.

What are they waiting for?

Just what is the problem? Steele said that there are two approaches: start on the club level or go directly in as a varsity sport. But on the varsity level, recruiting, scholarships and rising costs of travel would pose quite a problem. But of the three sports not on campus -- football, girls softball and next issue's topic, womens' track--softball could conceivably be the next on the agenda.

The school athletic calendar in the spring is one of the major obstacles, like in most all collegiate sports. The teams, with school dismissed in early May, losses it's best weather and best spectator month.

But of all the obstacles -- money, spring exams and personnel -- the one that looms bigger than any is time. It would take a professor, a person not coaching one of the 10 major sports, to start the team, not students, faculty or alumni. Time, like in war and debts, holds precedent.

But it always does.

NEXT: WOMENS' TRACK

JOHNNY MCQUEEN

Five Panther men regain playing status

Continued from page 6

According to college rules regarding mens' athletics, a first semester player must complete 12 credit hours. After a player's first semester he must pass 24 hours credit hours in the proceeding two terms.

The loss of Brunson could be significant. "Brunson will be missed because of his winning three tough games for us," Steele said. Brunson was averaging nearly 30 points per game.

Coach Steele felt that the players absence was not much of a factor because no games were playing during Floyd and McQueen's absence. Brown and Bowser, although, missed four games.

Society dance

Cont. from p. 3

a.m. Close of dance.

Although the Society is a campus organization chartered by the college, this Dinner and Dance is not an official meeting of the Society or an official event sponsored by the college.

Reservation forms will be mailed soon to all persons invited. Checks should be made payable to The Society for Collegiate Journalists.

For further details, contact Lisa Mickey, President of the Society.

Ring orders will be taken Tues., Feb. 5, and Wed., Feb. 6.

ENERGY.
We can't afford to waste it.

The Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity will hold its Spring Open House on Thursday Jan. 24 from 7:30-9:00 p.m. All those interested in finding more about APO's are invited to attend. Brothers will be available to answer questions and discuss the fraternity's activities at the APO lounge, located in K section of McCulloch Dorm.

The Hi-Po is circulated every Wednesday with the help of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

SENIORS

Interested in banking as a career? Ms. Mary Kendrick from Wachovia will be interviewing for various banking positions on Tuesday, February 5.

Sign up for a time in student personnel. A resume will be needed for the interview.

RESUME WRITING AND INTERVIEW SKILLS SESSION will be held in Meeting Room & 1 on January 23.

Seniors, if you haven't prepared your resume you should plan to attend this session.

In the event of an on-campus emergency and security can not be reached at the regular number (883-4016) there is a mobile unit number available to RA's, Housemothers and members of the administration. This is only to be used for emergencies and for that reason is not made available to the general student body.

WWIH Schedule

Sunday

12-3 Art Prilliman

3-6 Rick Ward

6-9 Mike Pessano

9-12 Annette Santamaria

Monday

6-9 Glen Denny

9-12 Jeff Ryan

Wednesday

6-9 Brian Richard

9-12 Edythe Montesana

Thursday

6-9 Jim Wolfe

9-12 Ken Swanson

Friday

6-9 Steve Stultz

9-12 Brent Stanley

Saturday

12-12 - Tune in -- no telling what you might hear.

The Alpha Phi Omega Book exchange will be open Wednesday from 11:00 a.m. till noon.

There will be a meeting for all members of the Society for Collegiate Journalists Friday, January 25 at 11:00 in meeting room two of the Campus Center.

The Hi-Po has positions open to any student wishing either to sell ads or work in layout. Ad salespersons earn 20% commission. Both positions are ideal for communication majors to work off hours for their major.

The Hi-Po is interested in your opinion. Write to "Letters to the Editor," P.O. Box 3510. Copy is subject to editing.

FOR SALE

In Very Good Condition

1-Vivitar 220 SL 35mm

Camera Body w/a Vivitar

50 mm lens F2.8

1-Vivitar 135 mm lens F2.8

1-Formula 5 35mm Wide

Angle Lens F2.8

1-Diamatic 300mm lens F5.0

Contact David Schaller

Box 3843

or Room 101C Belk, if interested.

COUPON
2209 N. Main
869-2171

Peppi's
CLIP THIS COUPON!
2 for 1
On Any Size Pizza
WITH COUPON
OFFER GOOD THRU Feb. 6, WITH COUPON
Not Accepted For Luncheon Special

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's Bug Clinic

1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

'Working for a better
informed campus'

Vol. 52 Issue 8

Published by the students of High Point College
High Point, N.C. 27262

February 6, 1980

Nowicki leaving to accept position at GTI

BY SALLY DAVIS
Staff Writer

Students of High Point College will soon be missing a familiar face in the financial aid office. Mrs. Louise Nowicki will be leaving this week to assume her new position at Guilford Technical Institute as Director of Financial Aid.

Nowicki has been at HPC for the past nine and a half years. She worked in the business office for seven of those years before becoming Financial Aid Director. Prior to her arrival at High Point, Nowicki worked at the former Penn Morton College (now Wyden University).

When asked why she was attracted to the new job at Guilford Tech, Nowicki replied, "Even though I'll be doing the same thing, it is a different type of school with a larger staff and student body. I also look forward to it as a challenge, and challenges excite me."

At this time, Nowicki does not know who will replace her. However, Dr. Murphy Osborne, Dean of Student Affairs, and Mr. Alfred Hassell, Director of Admissions, will take over. Nowicki's responsibilities until a replacement is chosen.

Although a transition will be taking place, there should be no mix ups in the financial aid services to students. According to Nowicki, "We are always working on two years at the same time. We begin work for the upcoming year in March. I don't think that there will be any complications."

As a parting comment, Nowicki expressed this thought: "It is both a happy and a sad time for me. I have much affection for the students at HPC and an admiration for High Point itself. It is definitely hard to leave, but Guilford Tech is not far away and students here are welcome to come see me anytime."

MRS. LOUISE NOWICKI

Scholars form tutorial program

BY GREG N. CLARK
Staff Writer

The High Point College Presidential Scholars have banded together to form a tutorial program for H.P.C. students and community students who are having academic problems. The program was formed in December and Stephanie Higgins was appointed coordinator.

Higgins was very optimistic about the program, but at present not enough on campus students are taking advantage of it. "The bulk of students," she said, "are coming from off campus."

Higgins hopes faculty members will mention the tutorial program to more of their less academically inclined students. She contends there are competent people "willing to help."

The fees are five dollars per hour (one student) and four dollars per hour (two students). These fees, says Higgins, provide incentive so students will work harder in their one hour. These fees, she states, "work more to the advantage than disadvantage of students; if the students have to pay they will perform better."

Financial aid director Louise Nowicki cited one instance of a drastic improvement in a student's grades. She noted an incident involving a student who had an F going into his final exam. After three hours of tutoring (a 15 dollar investment) he managed an A on his final and salvaged the course.

Nowicki is very optimistic about the tutorial program, and praises coordinator Higgins and all the tutors for their hard work.

There are good tutors for any subject area according to Nowicki; so, no matter what the particular academic problem, there is someone to help. Matching students with tutors is done by Higgins, and the cost for service comes through the financial aid office.

Meat stolen from cafeteria

BY DIANE COOK
Staff Writer

On Sunday, January 27, approximately five hundred and fifty dollars worth of beef and pork was stolen from the cafeteria.

The meat had been stored in a locked freezer in the back dock, outside the cafeteria. The freezer door was pried open and the lock broken off. According to Frank Caufield, Director of Food Services, "the robbers knew exactly what they were doing."

Although there are no leads or suspects in the robbery of the nearly 190 pounds of meat, investigations are continuing.

INSIDE

Letters to the Editor

page 2

Seventies at HPC

page 5

Homecoming Story and photos

pages 7-9

Sports

pages 10-13

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po - Wednesday, February 6, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler .. Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

Women's basketball is back

It looked like the bickering had stopped for the Women's basketball team last week when they romped over Wake Forest 100-48. It was truly one time this season when everybody from HPC was on one side. The factions unionized and the women shut up and played ball.

Coach Nancy Little has had her share of hell this season. She came in a greenhorn to collegiate ball and had a winning tradition to carry on. But it wasn't an easy job, even with the veteran squad there, and as time passed, it looked like the team problems were not as much coaching problems as they were team conflicts.

First, before Coach Little was even in the picture, was former coach Wanda Briley. Briley, no doubt, was a good coach and was largely responsible for putting High Point on the map, but when it came time for her to leave, several of her team members and strong team supporters were ready to pack up and go with her to Wake Forest. Suspecting that Briley had violated the AIAW rules by "recruiting" certain HPC players to Wake, the administration here put the heat on and any plans that may have been made to transfer by the players, were quietly squelched.

Enter Coach Little. Already having to battle being a new coach and being constantly compared to former coaches, Little also got to contend with some bad dispositions. Several of Briley's faithful followers had torn egos, resentment to the school and the team for blocking transferral attempts, and just down right upset feelings of their own to deal with. They didn't want to be here and they let everyone know it. Bickering was constant and team turmoil brewed like a boiling caldron. Several team members finally quit.

The team shrunk but perhaps it was a good thing. Besides the players who, by injury, were forced to quit, were those who quit by their own decision. For various reasons and inabilities to play for the new coach, the quitting players took their option and that was that.

Discipline has been another factor. Certain players chose various antics, for whatever reason there may have been, and stirred up the caldron again. Little probably hadn't seen that kind of stuff since junior high.

But the woman has done remarkably well to keep her sanity this long and put up with some of the childish sub-games that have gone on with the HPC women's team. The point that should be recognized is this -- the administration hasn't an unkind word for Little and she is here to stay until the time comes for her to travel elsewhere. The only odds she has against her are those of her own team and they will make or break their own season anyway.

Coach Little has a lot to learn -- about coaching, about students, and about inconsiderate poor sports. She makes

See Women, page 3

Letters to the Editor

Two sets of laws apply

Dear Editor:

High Point College possesses a constitution in which the laws and regulations are set forth for the protection of the College and the community of High Point itself. This, I hope, is common knowledge to the student body but there is also another message in the above statement that needs to be understood.

If a student breaks a campus law or regulation, in most cases, the student is also breaking a civil law or regulation. So don't be misled into believing that you are exempt from civil laws just because you reside on a college campus, which also has its own set of laws.

A student caught committing a crime on campus will be dealt with in the following manner: if the crime is a felony, the student can expect both the college and civil authorities to be involved. This includes possible arrest, conviction, jail term and a permanent record besides suspension or expulsion from school.

Only if the student commits a crime on campus of a small nature, such as possession of alcohol, will the student be dealt with by the school's judicial system and punishment.

Now, if you still find yourself puzzled as to the laws and punishments either the campus or community, my best advice is to read your Student Handbook very thoroughly.

The ideas and advice given herein are not from idle thought or fancy, but from experience. The plain truth is, I'd rather the students at High Point College read and know exactly what they can and cannot do instead of finding out the hard way.

Ward Wilson

"Unwritten law" denies rights

To The Editor:

During this school year the senior class (the class of 1980) has been very busy organizing, planning, and even taking surveys in an attempt to have an "improved" graduation ceremony this spring.

After many hours and many laborious tasks have been invested, representatives of this class presented their recommendations to the administration of High Point College. The response was somewhat negative and disappointing.

In essence, these representatives were told that students do not have the right to make such "decisions" for High Point College. As a result, the efforts of several concerned seniors were wasted.

Why? Because "unwritten law" says that these decisions are to be made by the administration and not students. The ultimate lesson learned was that a lack of communication and the existence of an "unwritten law" must be resolved and clarified.

Nevertheless, a basic underlying principle should be brought up by students. The principle is the one of student rights. What are the rights of students? Do they exist? How much input are students legally allowed to have in administering their school?

This should be the challenge which students need to present to school administration. There has been a lot of recent research and legal action taken involving students' rights across the country. Find out what your rights are as a student and stand up!

Bill Reisenweaver

Males lose from double standard

Dear Editor,

A recent college newspaper article declared that the art of dating no longer exists at High Point College. The author depicted the typical college male as more concerned with either getting drunk or getting "laid" than with the simple pleasures of female companionship.

College males are more concerned with wine and women as sexual objects than with dating. It's not the art of dating that's been lost, but rather the art of seduction. College males eagerly pursue sexual pleasure, but do so in astonishingly uncouth fashion.

Contemporary thought has altered the so-called "double-standard." College women now feel freer to pursue their own sexual pleasures. Yet, these desires are often squelched by the college male's inadequacy to seduce.

No longer can a college girl find the suave, sophisticated frat man who clearly knows and uses the techniques of sexual enticement. How can the college male expect to "get laid" if he's only brave enough to invite a girl to his room after he's become loaded? By the time he has drunk enough beer to muster his courage, he's too drunk to unbutton a girl's blouse, much less seduce her.

Clearly, college males are not benefiting from the dissolution of the "double standard." Not only are coeds turning toward older men for sexual pleasure, but some have even declared celibacy. So much for the sexual revolution.

Nancy Rivers

scrawl on the wall

Good workmen never quarrel with their tools

-Lord Byron

You didn't ask . . .

BY DAVID L. BOBBITT

I've been meaning to make a few complaints, but it wasn't until the holidays that I got a chance to write them down.

First I have a question. You see I don't live on campus, so I wouldn't know, but do the bleachers in the stadium REALLY glow in the dark?

That ungodly color has been haunting my eyes long enough. If there was any justice, the fellow who painted everything purple should hang! One thing is for sure -- it's definitely a deterrent to those who once "parked" on the field.

Now I don't know who the guilty parties are and I don't care but please let's get rid of those damn purple bleachers. I volunteer to help paint.

The second thing I want to blast is a phrase I've heard so often it's getting ridiculous. My dear friends, contrary to popular belief there ain't no such thing as "that point in time". There is a time and there is a point or a particular moment or an official date or calendar period but there is no "point in time". And at this point in time, for the last time, I'll tell you that if it's anything it's a waste of your breath and my time.

One other thing I'd like to rare back and put an end to is all this nonsense about beer on campus. (Oops, I said that word.) I've got the perfect solution. We'll all go out and buy those 'hide-a-can' labels. You know, the stick on labels you wrap around the can so Michelob and Bud became Coke and Seven-up. That way we can drink, carry and store our alcoholic beverages and the high and mighty hypocritical administrators won't have to let their eyes cast upon a naked beer can.

And one other thing -- there's a $25 fine if you get caught without your hide-a-label sticker. So we'll start a fund for the forgetful. Everybody chips in a quarter or a halfdollar or whatever and when you get caught the fund pays your fine and nobody goes broke. Hey -- fraternities and sororities could even sell the little stickers for fund raising projects.

Liquor is a little harder to hide -- but empty gingerale bottles work great. The glass is tinted and you can't tell what color the liquid on the inside is.

I don't think anyone really cares if you have a couple of quiet beers sitting in the suite, or a gin-and-tonic at bedtime, but good-God-in-heaven-help-us if one parent ever found out that drinking was legal at HPC (They would probably jerk their kid out and put him in State or Carolina).

[Note : If this column doesn't receive a barage of return mail -- I rest my case.]

Students respond to draft possibility

BY JILIAN PEEKE
Staff Writer

Due to the increasingly serious international situation, the possible need for a much stronger military is being considered.

A "volunteer military" has been in effect for five years; however, enlistment has not been up to expectation. At this time, there is not an adequate amount of men to protect America. This fact brings up the question of the draft.

Should America re-enact the random forced selection of people to defend herself?

The first draft was during the Civil War. It was instituted by the confederates and was eventually copied by the United States Armed Forces. However, there were so many loopholes it didn't succeed very well, and the draft was reinstituted during World War I.

In 1940, a peacetime draft was voted in as the European situation deteriorated. It continued through the fifties and sixties and, of course, during the Vietnam War.

At this point, nothing official concerning the draft has occurred. It is up to Congress. President Carter has recommended that at least registration should take place.

Dr. Smith, an HPC history professor, says, "The general trend seems to be that it (the draft) will happen."

Bob Lowdermilk, Dean of Students, seems to agree saying, "I do think registration will begin." The possibility of using college campuses as registration centers has been suggested.

David Leach, an employee at HPC and a Vietnam veteran, spent three years in the Army. He spent time directoy in Vietnam, witnessing death and firefights. He went through Basic Training at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Leach experienced two months of rain during the monsoon season and punji sticks -- sharply cut bamboo sticks placed in camouflaged pits used in guerilla warfare in which the victim falls in and is pierced to death. He recommends that people think carefully about going to war. "A lot of people got killed," he remembers when being asked about being drafted.

Students responded forcibly on whether or not to go to war. Scott Killian, a sophomore, said, "I wouldn't fight another Vietnam, but I would fight to protect my country."

"I would fight for the hostages (in Iran) but I would not fight against the Soviets," remarked Brent Stanley, a day student.

Beverly Darr says she would not go to war if drafted. "I don't believe in forcing people to go against their will. The only thing I would fight is the draft."

Women playing ball now

continued from page 2

mistakes like all of us, only hers are magnified because of her position.

Hopefully, the team has lifted itself of its dead weight and dull spirits. Hopefully the primary objective has turned back to basketball once again. And hopefully the sore losers in the stands will be able to look at HPC's record at the end of the year and know who's on top -- with no thanks to them.

Last week's victory over Wake Forest possibly was a turning point. Perhaps the chips-on-the-shoulders were knocked off and reality blinked back on like a shorted out light. At any rate it was a dream come true to see people (this time guys too!) on their feet screaming for that 100 mark. I only hope that the enthusiasm will continue to grow in all respects and that the women will secure a take-all season with Blanchard's big hand in the sky and Joanne hitting everything she puts up.

BY LISA D. MICKY

Summer schools abroad offered

GREENSBORO -- All college students interested in the cultural and economic advantages resulting from studying and living abroad are invited to participate in either of the seven Summer Schools Abroad to be offered in 1980 by Guilford College and UNC-Greensboro.

The seven programs to choose from are France, England, Spain, East-West Germany, Greece and Italy combined, Israel and a Special Education program visiting France, Switzerland and England.

Interested persons may contact either the Center for Off Campus Studies at Guilford College, Greensboro, NC 27410 or Dr. Claude Chavigne, International Studies, UNC-G, Greensboro NC 27412.

Claude Shotts of Guilford College pointed out that the number of credit hours students may earn during a summer school abroad can be worked out between them and their individual institutions.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Karen Koontz, from Southport, N.C., is responsible for the new masthead on the Hi-Po. The masthead was selected from four drawings submitted by Koontz.

The Hi-Po wishes to thank Ms. Koontz for her work and the new facelift.

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor	Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor	Alisa Walker
Staff Writers	Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson, Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis
	Karen Craver, John Hallis, Sharon Litchford, Jilian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge, Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark, Irish Gaymon, Greg Lukaszczuk
Typists	Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown, Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising	Sharon Kaler, Roger Dameron
Head Photographer	Edythe Mentasana
Photographers	Tom Reddeck, Marissa Furpi, David Schaller, Cyndi Roberts, Teresa Venuto, Monique Peyser
Art	Karen Koontz

New guidelines developed for absences

Resulting from actions of the Student Personnel Committee, the following guidelines concerning excused absences have become effective Jan. 23, 1980.

The following situations are considered as unexcused:

- Physician's appointments (unless emergency);
- Missing classes due to employment;
- Job/graduate school interviews;
- Inability to secure travel arrangements (airlines, friends traveling from High Point, etc.);
- Providing transportation and staying with a student at hospital or physician's office (except for emergencies);

and Participation in a wedding (as an attendant).

The following situations are considered as excused:

- Automobile mechanical problems (which prohibit a student from driving to class);
 - Inclement weather (ice, snow);
 - Deaths in family (within reason);
 - Illnesses (campus students must go through the Infirmary and its procedures, commuters must call the Student Personnel Office and may be asked to show physician's verification upon request); and Military duty, physical exams.-
- the following situations may or may not be excused, depending upon discretionary guidance of the Deans:

- The marriage of a student (reasonable time permitted);
- Court appearances;
- Child care; and
- Family sicknesses (pertaining to one's immediate family).

The Student Personnel Committee has asked that careful discretion be used in situations covered by the immediate above: The Deans may be allowed to exercise their judgement, however, in these and all other situations.

Excuses which may have previously been granted for conditions stated as unexcused are not to be retroactively denied.

In spite of some cold precipitation last week, spring flowers poke out waiting for warmer days. [Photo by Edythe Montesana]

Many HPC students relatives of alumni

BY APRIL CALLAHAN
Contributing Writer

Do you ever wonder how our students come to find out about High Point College?

Well, as you know there are recruiting agencies in several areas, college days are held, letters are sent, and, of course, word of mouth.

Much of this word of mouth comes from our alumni. In fact, quite a few of our students are sons and daughters of alumni. In an effort to find out how much influence these alumni have had, several interviews were taken with students who have relatives who are HPC alumni. The results are varied and interesting.

Jane Needham, a freshman from Thomasville whose mother and father, Rita Ward Needham (Class of '56) and W.H. Needham (Class of '54), are both alumni, stated that her parents did not push her into attending HPC. However, she did say that since she has come here, her mother and father are glad she decided to attend their alma mater.

Jane stated that her mother encourages her to do the things she did and that, "She knows it's a good, safe school and that I'm not goofing off too much." She also said that her mother likes to keep up with the changes that occur, and she usually asks about people in the administration.

Patricia Burns, a senior from Robbins, N.C., comes from a long line of alumni: brothers, sisters, and her mother, Iris Williams Burns (Class of '51). She said that although it was tradition, she wasn't pushed into attending HPC. Patricia said she was familiar with the college from having visited it several times, and she just decided to come here. She said her mother does not talk much about her college days, but maybe that was because she had already said it all to her older brother and sisters.

Carol Branton, a transfer junior from UNC-G, says this is a really neat school, and she had heard a lot about it from her mother, Caroline Beam Branton (Class of '47).

She said she wasn't pushed to come to HPC, but when she was unhappy elsewhere her mother suggested that she give the school a try. Carol also said that her mother told her it was a good school academically, and that it was a lot of fun when she was here.

Unlike some, Carol says her mother always talks about the people she went to school with -- especially the ones who are still here. Of Dr. Billy Pope, Carol's mother says, "He was always such a fine young man, and he was so entertaining."

When Mrs. Branton attended HPC, many married couples were living on campus, and that it was "so small you knew everybody."

Ann Holt, the daughter of our Registrar, Dave Holt, is a sophomore who came here after attending Brevard for one semester. She said her father always wanted her to come to HPC, but didn't push her. She made her own decision and is glad she came.

Parents, aunts, uncles, brothers and sisters have had a great influence in bringing students to HPC. Because of them, this school often remains a family tradition.

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES

INVEST Six Weeks This Summer

•19 May thru 26 June

OR

•9 June thru 17 July

OR

•7 July thru 14 Aug.

RETURN on Investment

- Cash: Approximately $500.00
- Travel: Airplane flight to and from
- Scholarship: Compete for two year full tuition scholarship

APPLY NOW in The ROTC Office

- See Cpt. Walters
- Rm. 19B, Roberts Hall

College Bowl underway

BY SCOTT HANCE

Associate Editor

College Bowl competition began last week with eight teams competing for the championship and a chance to move on to regional play.

Each team played on Tuesday and Thursday nights last week and again on Sunday night.

So far, the Lambda Chi A team is the only undefeated team, posting a record of 3-0. They recorded victories over the Pikas, the Flying Zams and the Paul Boyles team.

Four teams are tied for second with 2-1 records. They are the Delta Sigs, the Pikas, the Flying Zams and the Alan Dorsett team.

The Paul Boyles team is currently in sixth place with a record of 1-2 while the Mike Taylor team and the Lambda Chi B squad remain winless at 0-3.

Play will continue all this week with each team advancing to a single elimination tournament on Monday, Feb. 11. The championship match will be played on Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. All matches are being played in Meeting Room 1 of the Campus Center.

The HPC championship team will advance to regional competition shortly after local play is concluded.

Past decade one of change and expansion for HPC

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

The Seventies were years of expansion and change for High Point College. The construction of new buildings, open visitation, modern technology, additions and changes in curriculum, and domination in sports all typified happenings of the Seventies.

During the early years of the Seventies, Phase II of the Golden Decade Program was underway. Under this phase was the construction of the maintenance building, and the openings of the Holt McPherson Campus Center and the Charles E. Hayworth Sr. Memorial Chapel in 1972. The ten-year expansion program was culminated in 1974, but not before High Point College had acquired additional business property and erected six new campus buildings -- just in time for the college's Golden Anniversary.

Open visitation between dorms began with weekend visits in 1970, and continued to expand throughout the Seventies into its present form.

During the same year, modern technology in the form of an IBM system improved the offices of Student Personnel and Registration. Instead of taking four weeks to process grades, the job could be done in forty-eight hours.

In spring 1979, the IBM system was improved by a new computer system. The computer system processed grades and student personnel more efficiently and was instrumental in the change-over from a 3.0 grading system to the 4.0 system in September of 1979.

The initiation of the Contract Program in 1970, began a decade of expansion of the High Point College's curriculum. The Contract Program is limited to students whose educational goals are such that they can not be met under the standard college curriculum. It was a big step forward for the college to allow students to fulfill their specific needs.

In 1974, a Cultural Enrichment requirement was added to the basic requirements for graduation. Each student was required to attend five cultural/intellectual events during the academic year to accumulate one semester hour. The cultural requirement was dropped in 1978 because it was felt to be non-beneficial and simply didn't work.

October of 1975 saw the inauguration of the cooperative program between HPC and the Florida Institute of Technology. As a result, new studies were added to the curriculum: environment studies, oceanographic studies, air commerce, computer sciences, photography, and applied mathematics.

In 1977, Communications, Music, and Music Education were added as majors. Interim, a mini-semester offered between fall and spring semesters, was also dropped so that the college could go from a 4-1-5 calendar to a 5-5 Methodist calendar. ROTC and Gerontology were added in 1978 to an already diversified college curriculum.

1978 also saw the airing of WWIH, the High Point College radio station. After many years of planning, financing, and getting over organizational difficulties, High Point College finally got their radio station.

The Seventies saw High Point College emerge as a dominant figure in sports. Domination of the Carolinas Conference and recognition on Regional and National levels became reality in the latter part of the Seventies.

High Point College has won the Joby Hawn Cup, signifying athletic supremacy in the Carolinas Conference, the four years it has been given. The Panthers won the first cup in 1975-76 by capturing two conference championships in women's volleyball and basketball and finishing second in four other sports.

In 1976-77 the Panthers won five conference titles in soccer, baseball, volleyball, women's basketball and finished second in two other sports. Women's volleyball and basketball also captured state and regional titles and men's tennis was ranked eleventh in the nation. High Point was the first school in the conference to win five conference titles in one year.

In 1977-78, High Point won six conference titles in soccer, volleyball, men's and women's basketball, women's tennis and baseball, and finished second in two sports and third in another. State titles were also captured by the women's volleyball, basketball, and tennis teams. Volleyball and women's basketball also held Regional titles and the basketball team went on to win the AIAW Small College National Championship. During this year the cross country team was also discontinued for lack of funds. They had been District Champs for 9 of the last 10 years.

In 1978-79 the Panthers won five conference titles in volleyball, men's and women's basketball, women's tennis and baseball, and finished second in another sport. Volleyball captured their third straight title, and women's basketball advanced to win both state and regional titles. Men's basketball and baseball won District 26 titles and the baseball team went on to place second in the National tournament.

In the last three full seasons, the Panthers have amassed an over-all record of 648 wins, 243 losses and 5 ties for a .727 winning percentage.

The past decade's changes have been many but have made High Point College what it is today.

From the Dean's office

BY BOB LOWDERMILK

Spring Break is set for March 1-9, 1980. Residence halls will be closed during this period. . . and everyone is urged to make travel plans as soon as possible. Don't wait until the last minute!

Having a hard time getting into the swing of the new semester? Sometimes it's hard to get into the routine of studies when you were used to a three-week vacation. If you find that organizing your time and studies are getting you down. . . if life doesn't seem to be going well for you, if you need to talk about things, stop by our office, or catch us when we're visiting in the dorms. On a campus this small, there's no need to think that you can't get help.

Seniors. . . it's time to get your placement file prepared if you've not done so already. The Career Planning and Placement service can give you all the assistance you need, whether you're job-bound or off to graduate school.

Our office has begun receiving inquiries concerning the selection of residence hall staffs for next year. Details will be forthcoming about the application and interviewing process. Stay tuned!

It's Wednesday, two days before the Homecoming dance. Still don't have a date? Word has it that the salad bar in the cafeteria is an ideal place to make that date. Make a salad. . . make a date!!

TRY OUR
HOT FUDGE SUNDAE
ON FOR SIGHS!
ONLY 89¢ REGULAR $ 1.45

IT'S GREAT TO BE ON TOP!
THE CROWNING GLORY!

MY CRUNCH
IS AS GOOD AS MY BITE!

NOW AT LAST...
MY NAME
IN LIGHTS!
HOT FUDGE THICK AND SIMPLY DELICIOUS!

I'M ONE OF THE CLASSICS!
SMOOTH & HOMEMADE...
VANILLA!
OR YOUR FAVORITE
NATURALLY FLAVORED
ICE CREAM!

MAYBERRY

Guaranteed to brighten your day.™

COLLEGE VILLAGE
131 W. LEXINGTON
844 S. MAIN

Greek News

Homecoming preparations and initiations keeping Greeks busy

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

The Alpha Gams started the decade of the '80s with many exciting activities. On Jan. 26, the sisters and pledges of Alpha Gamma Delta had a mixer with the brothers of Delta Sigma Phi at the Lake Club Apartments. It was a very enjoyable evening for all.

The sisters and pledges are putting their talent together in the creation of a Homecoming float as well as a banner. The Gams are very proud to have five of our members as representatives on Homecoming Court and would like to extend their congratulations to these girls as well as the rest of the girls on the court.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

The Delta Sigs are proud of the 13 new brothers that were initiated two weeks ago. The new brothers are Auburn Bell, Joe Grabis, Greg Fox, Bernie Miller, Dave Gensch, Josh Fowler, Coy McNeil, Rich Muir, Mickey Powers, Scott Kilian, Bill Costello, Dave Morse and Johnny McDonald. The Sigs are also happy to have Brother Kent Spencer return this semester.

The Sigs enjoyed their Annual Dream Girl dance on Feb. 1 at the Thomasville Women's Club. Diane Bednarcik was chosen as Dream Girl for 1979-80.

The new and old brothers enjoyed a mixer with the Alpha Gams on Jan. 26.

In intramurals, the Sigs are in first place in the overall standings and expect to be strong in bowling and softball.

PHI MU

The Phi Mus recently initiated five new sisters into the sorority. They are Tracy Yarborough, Kelly Payne, Tana Parker, Corinne Cuba and Debbie Osborne.

Last week, the girls elected new officers for the year ahead. Elected president was Kathy "Kornhead" Neblett. Other officers are: Tracy Yarborough - Vice President, Kathy Shields - Treasurer, Debbie Barnes - Corresponding Secretary and Cyndi Roberts - Recording Secretary.

To celebrate initiation, the Phi Mus held a W&C party at Londonderry Estates on Jan. 29.

The Phi Mu's are hard at work on a float for the Homecoming parade and have scheduled a car wash for March.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

The Lambda Chi's are looking forward to a good Homecoming this year, with Nancy Houlberg as their representative. Danny McConnell and his committee are working hard on a float for the parade.

In intramurals, the Choppers are currently ranked third and, according to Athletic Chairman Eric Bohus, are looking forward to strong seasons in basketball, bowling and softball.

As far as social events are concerned, the Lambda Chi's are planning another Squamish Match at UNC-G in March. The event of the season, though, is going to be Conclave, Feb. 15-17, with representatives from 17 chapters in Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee expected to attend. There will be a dance at Kepley's Barn on the 16th, which should be one of the biggest in Chopper history.

KAPPA DELTA

1980 has proven to be a very successful year for Kappa Delta Sorority. Each new pledge made her average required for initiation. The sisters are proud to be able to initiate all of their pledge class.

The KD ladies of Gamma Gamma Chapter are eagerly anticipating their 25th anniversary on Feb. 12. They have been busy completing the plans for the 25th celebration. To commemorate the event, the pledges are giving a W&C party on March 21 and the sisters are giving a formal luncheon in the Annual White Rose Ball the following day. Besides finalizing these plans, the girls have been participating in intramural basketball and volleyball, various fund raisers and a sorority retreat.

Despite their busy schedule, the Greeks still have time for fun and games. Here, some Theta Chis spend a Saturday afternoon playing football.

[Photo by Edythe Montesana].

The pledges are giving a dinner party at Le Chateau on Feb. 22. The sisters' plans include a KD Day at the Rail on Feb. 7 and a mixer with the Pi Kappa Phi at UNC-G.

The KD's have chosen Cyndi Bingham as their homecoming representative. They wish her and the other girls the best of luck.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

The Zetas are set for their annual Sweetheart dance, which will be held Friday, Feb. 15 at the Benton Convention Center in Winston-Salem.

Everyone was entertained at dinner Monday night when the ZTA pledges put themselves up for sale... in a slave auction to raise money. The pledges are also selling mum corsages for homecoming. They are $3.00 and may be purchased in the cafeteria.

Sophomore Connie Mc-

Daniel is representing Zeta this year on the Homecoming Court. The Zetas are also proud to have seven other girls on the court: Debbie Baunchalk, Debbie Bouldin, Cindy Burbage, Kim Darden, Mylene Fisher, Nancy Houlberg, and Karen Magill.

THETA CHI

The Theta Chi Fraternity is sponsoring a Pre-Valentine Day Dance. The dance will be Feb. 13 from 8:00 p.m. - 1:00 p.m., and there will be an entrance fee of $1.50. Door prizes will be drawn during the night also.

The Annual Theta Chi Bong Show will be coming up on March 14. Start thinking of your unknown talents and maybe win the grand prize.

There will also be car washes coming up soon on Saturdays.

The brothers congratulate the Bull Pledges initiated into Theta Chi fraternity.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Ten members received initiation into Pika brotherhood during a ceremony last Saturday evening in the chapel. The new brothers are Till Brauker, Bryan Christian, Bill Deyerle, Bob Duarte, Jeff Norris, Art Prillaman, Bill Seay, Brent Stanley, John Van Horn and John Walters. Also joining our ranks as pledges this past week were Tim Fritz, Pete Gibson, Hap O'Hare and Julian Rivera. A ceremony will be conducted Thursday, Feb. 7 to induct new little sisters.

Several brothers will be participating in our regional conference in Charlotte during Homecoming weekend. Many new ideas are hoped to be gained through this experience.

The former pledge class will be sponsoring the Gangster's Ball on Friday, Feb. 22 in Greensboro.

Debbie Baunchalk will be representing the Pikas on Homecoming Court this year.

President Andrew Johnson had been a tailor and sewed his own clothing when in the White House.

WELCOME ALUMNI

Your Alumni Association

1980 Homecoming Court

Sophomores and sorority girls dominate

BY SCOTT HANCE
Associate Editor

The court in Alumni Gymnasium should be packed this Saturday night when 22 girls take the floor, each hoping to be named Homecoming Queen for 1980.

The girls will be representing all four classes, fraternities and sororities, publications, and other campus clubs and organizations.

The senior class will be represented by Therese Nowak and Mylene Fisher, who tied in the class voting two weeks ago. Fisher is a behavioral science major from Crystal Lake, Ill. and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. She will be escorted by Ron Byrne.

Nowak, a Communications major from Clearwater, Fla., is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta and will be escorted by Larry Morris. Nowak was a member of last year's Homecoming court.

Cindy Burbage will represent the junior class and will be escorted by Mark Lambert. She is a communications major from Raleigh.

Representing the sophomore class will be Jannell Welsh, a biology major from Randallstown, Md. Welsh is a member of the HPC field hockey squad, and Alpha Gamma Delta. She will be escorted by Jay Schwamberger.

The freshmen class chose Teri Scarchello as their representative. The Chantilly, Va. native is a cheerleader and member of Alpha Gamma Delta.

Eight Greek organizations chose representatives for Homecoming. Debbie Baunchalk, a sophomore from Wilmington, Del. will represent Pi Kappa Alpha. She is a business administration major and member of Zeta Tau Alpha. Dave Olson will escort Baunchalk.

Symposium featured

A symposium on Homecoming afternoon will be the main feature of the afternoon activities. The symposium, "High Point College Faces the 1980s" will be held in the Conference Room of Holt McPherson Campus Center.

Dr. Wendell M. Patton, President of the College, will moderate the panel composed of various areas of leadership within the college. Panelists will include

The Delta Sigma Phi representative is Nancy Chipman. She is a physical therapy major from Rockville, Md. and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta. Chipman, a sophomore, will be escorted by Toby Tobin.

Nancy Houlberg, a member of last year's court, will represent Lambda Chi Alpha. She is a sophomore from Miami, Fla. and is majoring in business administration. She is involved in SGA and Student Union and is a Pika Little Sister. Houlberg, a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, will be escorted by George Yates.

Alpha Gamma Delta Terry Brownell will represent Theta Chi. Brownell is a sophomore English major from Virginia Beach, Va. and will be escorted by Mike Taylor.

Representing Zeta Tau Alpha will be sophomore Connie McDaniel of High Point. She is an accounting major and member of the Student Union. Randy Laster will be her escort.

The Kappa Delta sorority will be represented by Cyndi Bingham from Bristol, Tenn. Bingham, a junior, is a psychology major and involved in Student Union. She will be escorted by Danny McConnell.

Sophomore Anne Ludwigson will represent Alpha Phi Omega. A Human Relations major from Seaford, Long Island, N.Y., Ludwigson is a member of the field hockey team and the American Humanics Association. She will be escorted by Arnold Hendrix.

Cathy Wilhoit, from Greensboro, will represent Alpha Delta Theta. Wilhoit, a sophomore, is majoring in childhood education with a minor in music. She is a member of the HPC Singers and will be escorted by Jan Reid.

Both the Hi-Po and Zenith

Mr. Charles E. Hayworth, Chairman of the High Point College Board of Trustees; Mr. Al Hassell, Director of Admissions; Mr. Cletus H. Kruger, Vice President for College Affairs; and, Mr. Robert E. Lowdermilk, III, Dean of Students.

Each of the panelists will speak to their areas of college support as the '80s decade is faced with challenges as well as survival.

chose representatives for Homecoming this year. Kim Darden will represent the newspaper and Natalie Harris will be the yearbook representative.

Darden, a sophomore from Winston-Salem, is a communications major and assistant editor of the Hi-Po. She is a Presidential Scholar and member of Zeta Tau Alpha. Steve Chandler will be her escort.

An art education major from Hopewell, Va., Harris is art editor for the Zenith. She is a cheerleader and a Phi Mu. The senior will be escorted by Larry Nesbitt.

The American Humanics Association chose senior Jocelyn Hart to be their representative. Hart is a cheerleader, a member of the HPC Concert Choir and a Phi Mu. The Baltimore, Md. native will be escorted by Mario Watson.

High Point native Debbie Bouldin will represent the Student Union. Bouldin is a Presidential Scholar majoring in business administration and is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. The sophomore will be escorted by Eric Bohus.

The SGA representative will be Karen Magill of Bowie, Md. Magill is a sophomore majoring in business administration and president of her class. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha and will be escorted by Rob Moss.

Donna Rowe of Winston-Salem will represent the Day Students Organization. Rowe is a freshman majoring in business administration and will be escorted by Davey Inman.

Representing the P.E. Majors Club will be Leslie Cockman of High Point. Cockman is a recreation and physical education major. The senior will be escorted by Terry Thompson.

The Tower Players will be represented by Leslie Meeds, a sophomore from Charleston, S.C. She is a communications major and is involved in the Student Union and WWIH. Chuck Claunch will be her escort.

Janet Riley, a pre-law major, will represent the Black Unification Movement. Riley is a freshman from Brooklyn, N.Y. and will be escorted by Duan Ricks.

These 22 girls represent a variety of interests and backgrounds. The candidates for Homecoming Queen come from nine states and represent 13 fields of study.

There are some similarities in the list of statistics for the girls. Twelve of the representatives are sophomores and five more are seniors. Sixteen girls are members of a sorority. Seven of the girls are from North Carolina, with three being from High Point. Five are business administration majors and four communications majors. Also on the list are three cheerleaders and three Presidential Scholars.

Most of the girls are involved in one or more campus activities and organizations.

Voting for Homecoming Queen will take place on Feb. 7 at lunch and dinner in the cafeteria.

Homecoming 1980 Schedule

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8
8:00 p.m. 'til 1:00 a.m. -- HOME COMING DANCE at the Village Green.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9
9:30 a.m. -- ALUMNI EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE BREAKFAST (Continental), Private Dining Room, Holt McPherson Campus Center.
9:30 a.m. -- AMERICAN HUMANICS REUNION BREAKFAST.

10:00 a.m. -- HOME COMING PARADE
11:00 a.m. 'til 5:00 p.m. --
HOME COMING REGISTRATION - The Holt McPherson Campus Center Lobby will serve as an informal gathering place for all Alumni.

11:30 a.m. -- MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DECEASED ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF THE COLLEGE, Chas. E. Hayworth Sr. Memorial Chapel.

Noon 'til 1:30 p.m. --
LUNCH, The College Cafeteria.

12:15 p.m. -- CLASS REUNION LUNCHEONS.

2:30 p.m. -- SYMPOSIUM - "High Point College Faces the 1980s" Conference Room, Holt McPherson Campus Center.

4:00 p.m. -- RECEPTION FOR ALUMNI AND GUESTS given by Dr. and Mrs. Wendell M. Patton in the Faculty Lounge, Holt McPherson Campus Center.

5:30 p.m. -- HOME COMING BANQUET, The Fellowship Hall, Christ

United Methodist Church, 1501 E. Lexington Avenue.

5:30 p.m. -- WOMEN'S BASKETBALL GAME, Alumni Gymnasium, High Point College vs. Mars Hill College.

7:00 p.m. or immediately following Women's Game --
PRESENTATION of The 1980 Homecoming Court, Alumni Gymnasium

7:30 p.m. -- 1980 HOME COMING BASKETBALL GAME, High Point College vs. Catawba College. 1980 Homecoming Queen will be crowned during halftime.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 10
11:30 a.m. -- ALUMNI WORSHIP SERVICE, Chas. E. Hayworth Sr. Memorial Chapel.

STARNES ART
CO.
124 Church Ave.
High Point

College Village Exxon

1100 E. Lexington
phone 889-7043

Service on American and Imported cars
Road Service Available

22 girls will vie for Ho

CATHY WILHOIT
Alpha Delta Theta

JANET RILEY
Black Unification Movement

CYNDI BINGHAM
Kappa Delta

ANNE LUDWIGSON
Alpha Phi Omega

MYLENE FISHER
Senior Class

TERRY BROWNELL
Theta Chi

NANCY CHIPMAN
Delta Sigma Phi

CONNIE McDANIEL
Zeta Tau Alpha

DONNA ROWE
Day Students

LESLIE MEEDS
Tower Players

JOCELYN HART
American Humanics

Vote for your choice on Feb. 7 at lunch and dinner.

becoming Queen 1980

NANCY HOULBERG
Lambda Chi Alpha

NATALIE HARRIS
Zenith

THERESE NOWAK
Senior Class

DEBBIE BOULDIN
Student Union

CINDY BURBAGE
Junior Class

KIM DARDEN
Hi-Po

DEBBIE BAUNCHALK
Pi Kappa Alpha

TERI SCARCHELLO
Freshman Class

KAREN MAGILL
SGA Legislature

LESLIE COCKMAN
P.E. Majors Club

JANNELL WELSH
Sophomore Class

Photos by

Edythe

Mentesana

The Turning Point

Marie Riley has rejoined the HPC women's team.

Riley reinstated after dispute

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

Wearied by a tense, crisis-filled season, first-year coach Nancy Little is at last breathing a sigh of relief.

"A turning point has come for the team," she says.

She felt the change, she says, just after she lifted the second suspension of the season for All-America Marie Riley.

Riley's suspension was the climax of a basketball season turned drama in which dissensions, suspensions, injuries, and disunity have upstaged fast-breaks, jumpshots, and flashy ball-handling.

Act I: Last year's starting point guard, Roxanne Moody, was injured in the opening minutes of the season's first game and made ineligible for the season.

Act II: All-Conference forward Sylvia Chambers and back-up guard Elaine Croker quit the team last month after differences with the coach.

Act III: Starting point guard Lisa Setzer, who was suspended along with Riley, remains off the team.

When Riley was suspended, the coach and the team had a talk.

"And the team realized what they wanted," Little says.

"They wanted Marie back, but also they wanted all of this to be over; they wanted to cut it out and play ball."

Riley, the two-time All-America and former national tournament MVP, is now back on the team and, says Little, "she has made a commitment to herself, to the team, and to me. She has shown in the last two games how much she wants to play and how hard she's willing to work."

Riley said that "things are getting better but we've still got a long way to go. Hopefully by the state tournament the team and coach will really be together."

If any bitterness still remains, it is from Setzer.

She and Marie were suspended when they violated team policy by smoking on the van after a recent Catawba game.

see Riley, page 13

High Point teams head Carolinas Conference

HPC men heads Catawba

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

With just under one quarter of its scheduled games left to play, High Point College has established itself as the team to beat in the Carolinas Conference. In the past two weeks the Panthers have emphasized that point by defeating conference foes Pfeiffer (65-55) and Atlantic Christian (70-65), thus raising their conference mark to 8-1. These wins enabled the Panthers to remain a game ahead of Catawba in the conference standings.

Against Pfeiffer, High Point wiped out an early Falcon lead. Freshman Jeff Anderson sparked a first-half rally for the Panthers, which erased the deficit and put High Point ahead to stay. Anderson led the Panther scorers with 16 points, while Danny Anderson and Bruce Floyd added 14 and 12 points, respectively.

In the Atlantic Christian game, the NAIA's 17th-ranked Panthers overcame a three-point halftime deficit early in the second-half to secure the win. Junior Brown led all scorers with 24 points while Jeff Anderson tallied 14. Sophomore Bruce Floyd added 12.

Outside of the conference the Panthers played .500 ball, beating one-time national powerhouse Gardner-Webb (72-61) for the second time this season, and lost to Lenoir Rhyne 85-80. High Point's overall record currently stands at 15-4.

Against Gardner-Webb, Floyd and Brown led the Panthers to a surprisingly easy victory over the Bulldogs. Floyd totalled 24 points and 11 caroms while Brown added 15 points.

Lenoir Rhyne handed High Point only its fourth loss in its last 19 games by jumping out in front of the Panthers by a 22 point spread. The Panther's erratic shooting caused the lopsided score in the early going, but the Panthers never gave up and continued to shoot. The shots finally see HPC, page 12

Bob Hovey slam dunks.
[Photo by Tommy Reddeck].

Women remain in race despite recent losses

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

The suspensions and controversy seem to be behind the High Point College's women's basketball team, but the Panthers have had some difficulty returning to the form that won them the AIAW national championship in 1978.

Although two-time All-America forward Marie Riley has been reinstated on the roster after a dispute with coach Nancy Little, the Lady Panthers dropped a key 65-64 decision to Pfeiffer Feb. 4 that befelled High Point into second place behind Elon in the Carolinas Conference.

Now 14-5 overall, the Panthers welcomed Riley back to the team against Wake Forest Jan. 31, when HPC hosted and routed the Deacons 100-68. The Panthers marched to a big lead in the first-half and cruised in the second behind the scoring of sophomore Teresa Holt, who had 32 points.

It was an emotional but crucial win for the Panthers, who beat former coach Wanda Briley for the second time this season. The Panthers pressed late in the game, forced bad passes and turnovers by the Deacons and reached the century mark on two Medley Warren free throws in the final seconds.

The Panthers' third loss of the season was at Appalachian State, where High Point dropped a 71-59 game. Although the Panthers picked up wins against North Carolina A&T and at Pfeiffer, High Point dropped another game, this time at East Carolina.

The Panthers regrouped against Guilford 10 days ago and romped over the Quakers 88-50. The High Point College frontline players -- Riley, Andreia Blanchard, Dee Dee Wardlaw and Holt -- combined for 52 points that enabled the Panthers to pull away from a 27-26 halftime lead. Blanchard led

see Women, page 12

Jeff Anderson flies past ACC defense for a bucket.
[Photo by Tommy Reddeck].

A Panther Purple Bug

GOOD COLLEGE basketball players, like gold on the world trade market, carries a high commodity in every college coach's recruiting emporium. The recruiting poop sheets and the Wall Street Journal, however, offer no guaranteed profit on prospective insects.

But High Point College Coach Jerry Steele didn't have to travel the freeways of New Jersey, the metropolis of New York or even to the dunes of an ant hill to find a blue-chipper -- college recruiters' equivalency to gold. Steele found one right here in Guilford County.

Neither did Steele have to check an Oxford's Dictionary nor World Book Encyclopedia to familiarize himself with one of the Carolinas Conference's peskiest performers. Although he plays with the intensity of an alien mite, Jeff Anderson is identified simply as "The Bug."

The reformation to college basketball from stardom at Greensboro's Grimsley High School was only a minor adjustment in his fledgling collegiate career. He's had to overcome much more distressful occurrences. In the duration of his 18 years, Jeffrey Raynard Anderson has had to adjust to a new name, a new nickname, and now, college basketball.

Although he is nicknameless in his early days as a small college player, the 6-3 freshman has swept all his other adversities under a rug. As it had turned out, this bug was as good an investment as the shiny, glistening rock.

When Anderson was five his parents split up and his mother changed his name from Luther to Jeffrey. Her mocking "Jeffbug" tag was shortened to just Bug a few years ago and the name stuck through high school. It just hasn't traveled down I-85 to High Point, yet.

TACKLING the identity crisis is just the minor adversity that Anderson has overcome. His disadvantageous height, but see Tuttle column, page 12

Faculty challenges Hi-Po

BY GREG LUKASZCZYK
Staff Sports Writer

What do you get when you cross a bunch of professors who think they can play basketball and an articulate sports editor who tells them they can't -- in print? You guessed it. A grudge match between the faculty and the Hi-Po staff.

In one of last semester's issues of the Hi-Po (The Fitness Freaks), Sports Editor Dennis Tuttle, an experienced journalist with limited basketball prowess, referred to his teaching peers as "turkeys" in his column. This remark brought an immediate response from faculty manager Dr. Murphy Osborne, who called for a showdown between the two generations. The game is scheduled for this Sunday, Feb. 10, at 8:30 p.m. in Alumni Gym.

Captain of the Hi-Po team, Associate Editor Scott Hance, feels he can pull together his motley crew of typists, talkers, and writers in sufficient time to rout his opponents. Tuttle, also optimistic, has indicated that the faculty team is just a quad-cane away from the wheel-chair.

Dr. Osborne's team consists of such campus teaching personalities as Dr. Jim Stitt, Dr. Alan Patterson, Dr. Earl Crow, Dr. Vance David and Dr. Butch Hodge; Mr. Bill Cope, SID Woody Gibson, coach Jim Speight, Bruce Tingle, coach Nancy Little, and Charlie Teague. Mrs. Shirley Rawley is expected to head up the cheer-leading corps.

see Grudge, page 12

Dr. Vance Davis [R] and Dr. Alan Patterson will be firing away for the faculty against the Hi-Po Feb. 10 [Photo by Lisa D'Micci].

Lack of staff, participants plague track

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

Last in a Three-Part Series

Rubbing his chin, adjusting his glasses and thoroughly thinking over the situation, High Point College track coach Bob Davidson convinced himself in a matter of seconds that womens' track could conceivably be a sport at the Methodist school some day. Davidson, however, pessimistically added that the chances of womens' track ever making the athletic agenda is highly unlikely.

Davidson noted in lieu of recent female participation in track at HPC, that if the demand was to become even higher, the College might consider adopting the sport. But like in softball, staffing the sport would pose problems. "We're not really staffed to have a team," the coach said. "Track is really a two coach sport with 17 events and people scattered all over the place. It's a big problem."

Another problem that exists is that the Carolinas

Conference does not have a womens' track league, thus there is no demand for High Point, or any other college, to start such a program.

Last year Sally Ledford, a freshmen from local High Point Andrews, became the first female to compete with the men on the track team at High Point. Ledford gained much publicity for enduring the practices and competing against the stronger men. This year five girls started the season on the team, now there are only two -- Ledford and freshmen Mary Hina.

Neither of the two girls receive any scholarship money for participating on the team because the track budget explicitly states that scholarship money is awarded to men. Thus, the two runners compete on their spare time, and for their own enjoyment. Ledford has requested that some money would be alleviated to her while hoping that her exploits on the mens' team

see Little, page 13

BOB DAVIDSON

Gary Meyn heads the Swaffers' scoring at 28 ppg.

Swaffers making run at A-League Crown

BY GREG LUKASZCZYK
Staff Sports Writer

The Swaffers, a team in its first year of basketball existence, has combined former High Point College basketball players and former high school standouts to gain the nod as preseason favorites in the A-League of HPC intramural basketball.

The team consists of four former players for the Panthers. This carries precedent for the team's preseason praise over such teams as last year's champions, Lambda Chi, and the Crew, runnersup a year ago. Junior Rick Callicutt and Jay Yow, and seniors Gary Meyn and Steve Johnson, all played for coach Jerry Steele at one time at HPC.

Captain Meyn, who at 6-6 is the tallest member of the squad, played a year and a half before calling it quits.

But Meyn is enjoying a fine intramural season, leading the team in scoring at 28 points per game (third in the

A-League) and has been a dominating factor on the boards.

Callicutt, 6-3, and sophomore Daniel Spainhour, 6-5, gives the Swaffers a strong scoring attack averaging 19 ppg and 20 ppg, respectively. Yow teams with Callicutt in the starting backcourt and the junior is contributing 13 ppg.

Another tall member -- 6-4 Kevin O'Connell -- had an excellent high school career in which his Surrattsville H.S. (Md.) team was third in the state 3-A bracket in 1978. O'Connell has been nursing sore ligaments in the first few weeks of the season but is expected to play some time this week.

Johnson, 1 6-3 forward, averages 15 ppg and provides a powerful inside game. He also played varsity ball at HPC. Freshmen Doug Glenn, 6-1; Bob Brighten, 6-2; and guard Larry Morris (5-10) round out the Swaffer roster.

Grudge match Feb. 10

continued from page 11

Dr. Osborne claims that his team is expected to play a collapsing defense (i.e. a defense that folds five minutes after the start of play). The Hi-Po staff figures to equally make the faculty suffer by displaying a potent fast break attack.

The stakes are high for this contest. The losers are treating the winners to pizza (if the Hi-Po wins it will be at Elizabeth's. If the Faculty wins it will be at Peppi's, where the Hi-Po can redeem the two-for-one coupons).

Dr. Osborne has let it be known that his team will show up to the game extremely hungry -- for pizza and vengeance.

HPC men seek crown

continued from page 10

started to find the bottom of the net and a furious rally in the final eight minutes fell just short, enabling the Bears to escape with the District 26 win. Brown once again led all scorers with 28 points.

High Point has been disabled somewhat with sophomore forward Anthony Parrish suffering some injured fingers and with freshman forward Butch Bowser catching the flu. Danny Anderson, however, seems to have recovered from the sore ankle he had in the early season and is beginning to play up to par. Jeff Anderson, a 6-3 forward from Greensboro, has filled in for the injured players excellently supplying needed rebounding and strong scoring punches -- both from the inside and the outside.

Junior Brown drives past ACC defense for two of his 24 points. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck].

Center forward Floyd has played well in the past couple of weeks adding strong rebounding and a good touch from around the key.

Teresa Holt shoots over Wake Forest defender [Photo by Teresa Venuto].

Women on right road

continued from page 10

all scorers with 22 points while Riley contributed 20, Holt had 18 and Wardlaw 10. HPC also had an excellent shooting night from the floor hitting 48 percent.

Blanchard continues to lead the time in scoring averaging 23 points per game while hauling in nearly 12 rebounds per contest. Riley has started to play with the intensity that she is reknown for by averaging 17 ppg and grabbing eight rebounds per outing.

Tuttle column

continued from page 11

excellent leaping ability, turned major college scouts away. By being the center on Grimsley's two back-to-back state 4-A runnerup teams, even when the Whirlies had a 6-11 player, raised many doubtful eyebrows and closed many coaches' notebooks.

"I really felt that I could go inside or outside," Anderson said in defense of his handicap. "When I came here I wasn't sure where I would play. But with my style I can get inside or outside. I never thought I'd be scoring from the inside like I have. But I've always been able to score if I could get inside."

Those who have heard of Anderson but have never seen him play, all those beautiful things he does with a basketball are not exaggerated. The Bug's ability to creep through tiny cracks in the zones and lure away double-team coverage on the man-for-man defense often leave teammates Bruce Floyd and Bob Hovey with roaming room down the middle. And when defenders lay off, Anderson's outside shooting takes the same effect as Raid--it kills on contact.

ANDERSON is even amazed at himself when he thinks about his freshman season, averaging nearly eight points per game in a small forward starting position. First of all, despite his All-Northwest N.C., All-State honors as a senior, he figured that at the best he'd get some time as sixth man. That's precisely the course his career has taken until swingman Anthony Parrish injured some fingers and freshmen Roosevelt Brunson and Butch Bowser endured academic problems.

"I never thought about starting from the beginning, although some people might have had that attitude coming into college," he said. "I can look back now and see why I didn't start early. But everything is going just right, it's up to me now. I still haven't been able to do everything I'd like with my type of game, but coach said for me not to worry about it."

As far as his nickname, he hopes that the Bug syndrome catches on quickly. "In high school they used to call me everything, even grasshopper. Bug stuck and I like it. But it just seems that every since I got down here nobody has called me that," Anderson pleaded, offering a slight hint for someone to rediscover his lost identity.

Scoreboard

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL A-League		7. Warren Owens, Flying Zams	16.6
		8. Dave Olson, Pi Kappa Alpha	15.1
W L		9. Derri Burnhart, Denotes	14.0
Crew	4 1	Mike Taylor, Theta Chi	14.0
Lambda Chi	3 1	10. Till Brauer, Phi Kappa Alpha	13.0
Swaffers	2 1	TEAM SCORING A-League
Born Losers	3 2	1. Crew	106.2
Delta Sigs	1 3	2. Born Losers	97.2
Pi Kappa Alpha	1 3	3. Swaffers	94.0
Bellacos	1 4	4. Bellacos	86.6
B-League		5. Lambda Chi	81.5
		6. Delta Sigs	68.5
		7. Pi Kappa Alpha	63.6
W L		B-League
Denotes	5 0	1. 76ers	73.5
76ers	5 0	2. Theta Chi	57.5
Flying Zams	4 1	3. 10	57.0
Theta Chi	3 1	4. Denotes	55.5
10	3 1	5. Flying Zams	54.5
Hackers	2 2	6. Hackers	50.3
Delta Sigs	2 2	7. OTP	48.7
Pi Kappa Alpha	1 2	8. Unionizers	47.2
Unionizers	1 3	9. P. Kappa Alpha	46.0
Bellacos	1 4	10. Midnight Radicals	45.0
Kappa Mu	1 4	11. Bellacos	43.2
Midnight Rascals	0 4	12. Delta Sig	42.5
QTP	0 4	13. Kappa Mu	39.3
Women's League		A-League
W L		Thursday's Games
BMU	2 0	Delta Sigs vs. Swaffers
Womens	2 0	Bellacos vs. Born Losers
Pro	1 0	Saturday's Games
Stair Climbers	1 1	No games scheduled, Home-
Kappa Delta	0 0	coming
Phi Mu	0 1	Feb. 11
Spaz	0 1	Lambda Chi vs. Pika
Wesley	0 1	Born Losers vs. Swaffers
Zeta	0 1	Feb. 12
(All standings include re-		Bellacos vs. Delta Sigs sults through Feb. 4.)		Swaffers vs. Born
SCORING LEADERS		Feb. 14
A-League		Delta Sigs vs. Born Losers
Must have played in three games		Crew vs. Swaffers
1. Mickey Stokes, Bellacos	37.0	Feb. 16
2. Robert Boney, Crew	36.0	Lambda Chi vs. Delta Sigs
3. Gary Meyn, Swaffers	28.1	Crew vs. Bellacos
4. Mario Watson, Crew	26.3	B-League
5. Craig Jones, Lambda Chi	24.7	Thursday's Games
6. Charlie Gross, Delta Sigs	20.7	Denotes vs. 76ers
7. Jeff Sloan, Born Losers	20.5	Midnight Radicals vs. QTP
8. Charles Dennis, Bellacos	20.2	Kappa Mu vs. Pika
9. Daniel Spainhour, Swaffers	19.9	Unionizers vs. Theta Chi
10. Craig Baldwin, Born Losers	19.0	Feb. 11
11. Rick Callicutt, Swaffers	19.0	Denotes vs. Pika
B-League		10 vs. QTP
1. Phil Parrish, 10	27.0	Flying Zams vs. 76ers
2. Chris Henson, 76ers	24.0	Delta Sigs vs. Hackers
3. John McCheskey, Theta Chi	23.2	Feb. 12
4. Mark Lambert, Hackers	23.0	Midnight Radicals vs. Bellacos
5. Tommy Nance, Denotes	19.3	Kappa Mu vs. Theta Chi
6. Blank, 76ers	17.0	Hackers vs. QTP
		Flying Zams vs. Pika
		Feb. 14
		Delta Sigs vs. 76ers
		10 vs. Bellacos
		Denotes vs. Theta Chi
		Midnight Radicals vs. Unionizers
		Women's League
		Feb. 6
		Climbers vs. Spaz
		Womens vs Pro
		Feb. 7
		Zeta vs. BMU
		Wesley vs. Phi Mu

Marie Riley says she's ready to play. [Photo courtesy Pete Petrea].

Tracksters 3rd at meet

The High Point College track team placed third out of four teams in the Lynchburg Indoor Meet Jan. 31, but Coach Bob Davidson was pleased with several early season performances.

Freshman Charles Dennis raced away from the pack in the 60-yard dash with a 6.37 time for a first place finish.

The field events brought the most points to HPC as junior Rick Callicutt was second in the high jump with a 6-6 leap, just failing to top the 6-7 mark. Tracy Lyons was second in the pole vault with a good early season jump of 12-6.

Little hope for track

continued from page 11

would project some interest to start the womens' team.

But Davidson pointed out that if all five girls had stuck out the season this year, the administration and the alumni association might have considered starting a team. Some girls had at one point approached volleyball-basketball coach Nancy Little about coaching, only to get an abrasive answer -- No!

"We've had a few girls to come out and compete with the men in meets," Davidson added. "But they have to compete with the men, we can't set up a different meet for women. If and when the circumstance comes we will try to set up some girls competition. I think if we ever got it, though, it would go over very good."

"I'm all for the sport but it's physically impossible (lack of needed coach). Until Sallye there was no question about ever having it here. But quite honestly, there hasn't been that great a show of interest," he added.

Riley, Panthers soothe problem

continued from page 10

"Marie was caught, but I wasn't," Setzer says. But after Little suspended Riley, Setzer confessed to having smoked also and said she would quit if Riley was forced to leave.

"She (Little) gave me a day to make up my mind," Setzer says. "On Wednesday, Marie and I both went to her and said we wanted back on the team. She let Marie back on, but didn't let me back on."

Continues Setzer: "I've apologized for the things I said to her and have told her how much I want to play ball and how hard I am willing to work."

"It was wrong for me to want to quit, but she hasn't given me a chance to make up for my misjudgement."

Dean of Student Affairs Murphy Osborne says that none of the problems with the girl's team "have been ones we did not predict."

"This is a natural response to transition between coaches," he said. He recalls that when coach Wanda Briley, now at Wake Forest, replaced the previous coach Jennifer Alley, now at Carolina, she had similar problems.

"She (Briley) had dismissals, too, her car was egged and all sorts of things.

"You didn't tell me it was going to be this bad," she said to me. And Alley had a miserable first year."

"With time, they proved themselves, and time is what the present coach needs. We fully support her."

"One reason we hired Ms. Little," said Osborne, "was that we wanted someone who would stay around for more than a couple of years." Both Alley and Briley coached here for only a few years before accepting job offers from the other schools.

Little hopes the curtain is falling on the final act of an unwelcome drama. "Everything is on the upswing," she says.

Riley says that the team is "trying to put everything else aside, just playing to win, forgetting what has happened."

"We're having even scoring, everyone is getting into the picture," said Little.

"We're ready to put the past behind."

Last Thursday night, High Point blew out Briley's Wake Forest team 100-48. The Panthers had five players scoring in double figures.

Sallye Ledford started the interest for women's track.

Discounts still available at High Point theatre

The Cultural Programs Committee of the college has voted to continue the student discount ticket program at the High Point Theatre for the spring semester. The program, inaugurated in the fall, was well received by High Point College students. In order to obtain a discount of up to three dollars from the regular student ticket price students must present a coupon and their I.D. card at the theatre box office. Coupons are available in the Dean of Student's office in the Campus Center, the literature tables located in the main floor hall of Roberts Hall, or from Dr. James Elson, Fine Arts Department.

A list of the attractions at the High Point Theatre this semester for which discounts are available as follows:

	Reg. Stu. Price	Discount	HPC Stu. Pr. w/Discount
Feb. 7 (8 p.m.)-NC Dance Theatre (Ballet)	4.50	3.00	$1.50
Feb. 9 (8 p.m.)-Charlie Byrd w/UNC-G Jazz Ensemble	6.50	3.00	3.50
Feb. 13 (8 p.m.)-Tommy Dorsey Orchestra (Swing)	7.00	3.00	4.00
Feb. 15 (8 p.m.)-Travelog: Egypt	2.50	2.50	Free
Feb. 22 (8 p.m.)-Julliard String Quartet	6.00	3.00	3.00
Mar 6 (8 p.m.)-Rowe String Quartet	6.00	3.00	3.00
Mar 7 (8 p.m.)-Travelog: Norway	2.50	2.50	Free
Mar 14 and 15 (8 p.m.) and Mar 16 (2 p.m.)-Ten Little Indians (Agathe Christie mystery) Community Theatre	4.00	3.00	1.00
Mar 19 (8 p.m.)-Ohio Ballet	6.00	3.00	3.00
Mar 28 (8 p.m.)-Travelog: Austria	2.50	2.50	Free
Apr 1 (8 p.m.)-NC Symphony with Beverly Wolf	3.00	3.00	Free
Apr 12 (8 p.m.)-Heath Brothers Jazz Quintet	6.50	3.00	3.50
May 2 (8 p.m.)-Peter Nero Orchestra	8.00	3.00	5.00

They were from separate worlds but you'll always remember them together.

"Voices"

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER presents "VOICES" starring MICHAEL ONTKEAN • AMY IRVING • ALEX ROCCO
Written by JOHN HERZFELD • Songs & Score by JIMMY WEBB • Produced by JOE WIZAN
Directed by ROBERT MARKOWITZ • A JOE WIZAN Production • METROCOLOR®
Read the WARNER Paperback • Original soundtrack album available on PLANET Records and Tapes.

Feb. 14 Chapel
7 & 9 p.m. $1.00

Girls can ask the guys.

Free red carnations to the first 25 couples -- each showing.

Students polled

What will the 80s bring?

BY SHARON LITCHFORD
Staff Writer

Say goodbye to the 70s and hello to the 80s. The years behind will leave memories for each person, but what will the 80s bring? High Point College students hold many different hopes and expectations for the new decade ahead.

Concerning the College, the students have talked about changes they would like, that in their opinion would improve campus life. Some students are concerned about campus facilities. Steve Chandler said, "The school needs better equipment and improved facilities."

Another student, Mike Latora, stated that "a new system should be devised in the cafeteria that would make the lines move quicker."

Other students wanted changes on a more personal level. "I would like the judicial representatives to have more of a voice instead of just being a tool of the administration," said sophomore Ann Bostrom. Elizabeth Brock said, "I would like to see sororities, fraternities and independents establish a better relationship and become closer."

Other students, who wished not to be named, said they would like a more liberal drinking policy, a change of the number of days one can miss a class, and longer visitation hours. Many felt that with so many restrictions the students are being led by the hand instead of being allowed to make their own decisions. The students want more responsibility.

Students have a more pessimistic attitude toward national and international matters, reflected by the tone in their voice. Almost all replies concerned the United States and relationships with other countries.

Some believed that the U.S. will be in a bad condition, feeling that international problems will get out of hand. A large concern was with the U.S. not taking stern enough action dealing with Iran. A Depression is another fear that many students feel is heading in their path.

Club to sponsor colloquium speaker

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

The Behavioral Science Club was established last year by two High Point College students under the direction of Mr. Beck. The club is open to interested people in the areas of Behavioral Science, Sociology, and Psychology. The club is presently active in four areas: conducting research, sponsoring colloquium speakers, attending conventions, and providing information for graduate studies in Sociology and Psychology.

On Wednesday, February 13th, the Behavioral Science Club will be sponsoring a colloquium speaker. Dr. Richard Roberts, who currently holds a chair in Clinical Psychology at UNC-G, will be speaking on the "Behavioral Techniques for Treating Impulsivity in Children." This topic is pertinent to anyone in the social sciences or education. All are invited to attend the colloquium which will be held at 11:00 in the basement of the Chapel. Refreshments will be served from 10:30 till 11:00.

If anyone is interested in joining the Behavioral Science Club, they are asked to contact Mr. Beck, advisor, or Mark Goodwin or Peggy Pesce, the newly elected officers of the club, for information concerning the next meeting.

Law school reports delayed

PRINCETON, N.J. -- Applicants to law schools are advised that delays in delivery of a new computer system have resulted in a backlog of Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) reports to law schools. Law schools have been made aware of the problem through frequent updating on the status of the processing schedule.

Although law school admission offices may be somewhat slowed in making their decisions, students can be assured that fairness will be paramount, and no individuals will be penalized for late reporting delays incurred by the LSDAS.

Because of the backlog, it is estimated that, at the current processing rate, there will be delays for about the next eight weeks. Staff have been greatly expanded and are working long hours to meet these problems. Educational Testing Service (ETS), which administers the LSDAS, regrets any personal inconvenience to candidates.

The LSDAS was begun in 1970 at the request of the law schools. Its purpose is to summarize information from college transcripts, test scores from the Law School Admission Test and other biographical information used for evaluation by the law school admission offices.

Happiness is . . . you & me and Stella d'Oro.

Enjoy now the excellent food and live entertainment of Stella d'Oro in High Point — a family restaurant specializing in Italian & Greek cuisine!

Entertainment

FRI. & SAT. LIZA McDOWELL

Mon.—Tony Davis, Guitarist; Tues.—Arnie Halo, Cordovoxist
Wed.—Lisa McDowell, Guitarist; Thurs.—Kim Cooke, Guitarist

All Beverages Served
HOURS: MON.-FRI. 11 A.M.-2:30 P.M.
Re-Opens 5 P.M.-10 P.M. SAT. 5 P.M.-10 P.M.

Stella d'Oro
RESTAURANT

in HIGH POINT MALL
869-2424

Circus is coming to Greensboro

The sensational new 110th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus opens Tuesday, Feb. 12th at the Greensboro Coliseum for 12 performances through Sunday, Feb. 17th. Producers Irvin Feld and Kenneth Feld present a brilliant kaleidoscope of the world's most prestigious Circus talent, illuminating every corner of the arena with superior skills, dazzling attractions, lavish costumes and special effects. A dozen new acts join the roster of sawdust superlatives and four brilliant imaginative production extravaganzas delight the hearts of Children of All Ages in this electrifying new edition of America's most beloved family entertainment.

Headlining the three-hour program of three-ring thrills is Ursula Bottcher with her magnificent polar bear display, the only one of its kind in America. Under Ursula's expert direction, the Arctic giants perform amazing ursine feats, leaping through fiery hoops, building polar pyramids, going up and down a sliding board and waltzing with their diminutive trainer!

An ageless, timeless wonder, holding a special place in the heart of the American public, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus is proud to begin its 110th consecutive season.

Ursula Bottcher gets a big kiss from Alaska, one of her towering Arctic charges in the 110th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

ARTIFACTS

MUSIC: Feb. 6 -- Mezzo -- Soprano Rowalind Elisa, High Point Theatre, 8:15 p.m., Tickets on sale -- $6.00 for adults, $3.00 for students.

Feb. 8, Aerosmith, Greensboro Coliseum, 8:00 p.m., Tickets -- $8.50, $7.50, $6.50.

PLAYS: Feb. 14, 15, 16 -- "The Waltz of the Toreadors," High Point College Auditorium, 8:00 p.m., Tickets at the door -- $1.00 for students, $2.50 general admission.

CIRCUS: Feb. 12-17 -- Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, Greensboro Coliseum, Seats reserved at $7.00, $6.00, and $5.00.

JAZZ: Feb. 9 -- Jazz '80, Charlie Byrd and The UNC-G Jazz Ensemble, High Point Theatre, 8:00 p.m., Tickets on sale now -- $6.00.

ART: Feb. 2 thru Mar. 26 -- Bold Statements: Paintings; WFU, SECCA. NCSA Artist in Residence; Frank Smullin: Constructivist Sculpture; SECCA, 750 Marguerite Dr., Winston-Salem.

Dance theatre to perform

THE NORTH CAROLINA DANCE THEATER, a professional contemporary ballet company, will appear at the High Point Theatre on Thursday, February 7. The words 'contemporary ballet company' mean the company performs classical ballet pieces as well as more modern works (although they are not a modern company in the sense of the Martha Graham or Paul Taylor Dance Companies).

The program for the February 7 performance includes: SYMPHONY THIRTEEN, choreographed by Duncan Noble, a classical piece in four movements; DREAMSCAPES, choreographed by Charles Czarny, a more modern angular piece -- with borrowings from kung fu and tai chi; CLOWNS AND OTHERS, choreographed by Salvatore Aiello, a humorous send-up of frolicking clowns set to Prokofiev's "Visions Fugitives-Opus 22;" and MEADOW DANCES, choreographed by Norbert Vesak, a classical ballet piece that is just what its title says, Meadow Dances.

Cakes sent anywhere

Heart shaped cakes, red roses or red hearts as expressions of feelings for loved ones have made Valentine's Day the most popular single gift-giving occasion for Telecake.

Lovers nationwide use the Telecake service to rush these sentimental greetings to lovers in college, the military or to anyone away from home.

Telecake is a nationwide network of bakeries which operates in a similar manner to the flower by wire systems. Throughout the year individuals use the service for birthdays, anniversaries, Father's Day, Mother's Day, etc.

By simply calling toll free 800/453-5710 a Telecake operator will bridge the distance between you and your away-from-home sweetheart.

GRAY-ART FLOWER SHOP
103 E. Lexington Avenue
High Point, N.C. 27262
Telephone: 882-8197

"Let Our Flowers
Say It For You"

Martha Holder performed a variety of music last week in the Old Student Center ranging from mellow acoustical music to rock 'n roll. [Photo by Edythe Montesana].

A Preview

First play to open soon

BY ALISA WALKER
Entertainment Editor

High Point College Tower Players-Fine Arts presents its first big play of the '80s, "The Waltz of the Toreadors." The play was written by Jean Anouieh and is being directed by James Forster.

The production is one of amusement, which the audience will most likely find to be exciting and comical. Being a French fiasco, the play is full of confusing affairs. General St. Pe' (Ken Swanson) is a lover of his time. His sickly wife (Tara Wine) spends most of her time in bed antagonizing him.

They have two daughters (Nancy Kear and Bev Darr) who are both full of boring wit and crazy silliness. Obviously, they will make the play all the more comical. Before the play reaches its climax, General St. Pe' will find that his best friend, Dr. Bonfant (David Douglas), is having an affair with his wife.

Some of the characters in the play have enjoyed participating in such a wild and crazy comedy. Nancy Kear and Nell Torain both say the play will make the audience forget about their depressing problems and escape to a world that is funny and exciting. Tara Wine says the play itself is very "melodramatic."

The play will open at 8:00 on Thursday night, Feb. 14 and will run through Feb. 16. General admission is $2.50 and $1.00 for students.

Tower Players rehearse spring production.

[Photo by Monique Peyser]

Camp Counselors Male and Female

Top Northeast Pennsylvania Co-ed camp seeks teachers, coaches and college students who love children. Specialists needed in all land, water sports (WSI) and cultural activities. Contact Joel, Greensboro representative at 272-0767.

The Hi-Po is circulated every Wednesday with the help of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

Ski trips planned

It's time to sign up for the Student Union ski trips. Two trips are planned. One group will be leaving Wednesday, Feb. 13, and the other will leave Thursday, Feb. 21.

Both groups will leave after lunch and arrive back to HPC shortly after midnight. Cost will be $7.00 for transportation, rentals and your lift ticket. Stop by the Student Activities office to reserve your seat to Beech Mountain.

In the event of an on-campus emergency and security can not be reached at the regular number (883-4016) there is a mobile unit number available to RA's, Housemothers and members of the administration. This is only to be used for emergencies and for that reason is not made available to the general student body.

The Hi-Po is interested in your opinion. Write to "Letters to the Editor," P.O. Box 3510. Copy is subject to editing.

Corsages for sale

Mum corsages for Homecoming may be purchased during lunch and dinner today through Friday, Feb. 8. The Zetas are selling these corsages for $3.00. They may be picked up in the Campus Center Lobby Friday afternoon before the Homecoming Dance.

Positions open Newsletter available

The Hi-Po has positions open to any student wishing either to sell ads or work in layout. Ad salespersons earn 20% commission. Both positions are ideal for communication majors to work off hours for their major.

IVCF publishes a newsletter and will be happy to send it to anyone interested. Contact President, Marcus Carter at 889-3035; Treasurer, Martha Vinks; or Secretary, Kim Darden, for further details.

Within 90 days the President can order the induction of eighteen-year-olds into the Armed Forces.

And some members of Congress want to bring back draft registration, "just in case."

Don't wait until Uncle Sam gets your name and number. Find out now what you can do to oppose draft registration, "just in case."

FELLOWSHIP OF RECONCILIATION Box 271, Nyack, New York 10960

Please send me information:

- ☐ The draft & what I can do
- ☐ Conscientious objection
- ☐ The Fellowship of Reconciliation

Name.....

Address.....

..... Zip.....

COLLEGE POETRY REVIEW

The NATIONAL POETRY PRESS

announces

The closing date for the submission of manuscripts by College Students is

February 15th

ANY STUDENT attending either junior or senior college is eligible to submit his verse. There is no limitation as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred because of space limitations.

Each poem must be TYPED or PRINTED on a separate sheet, and must bear the NAME and HOME ADDRESS of the student, and the COLLEGE ADDRESS as well.

MANUSCRIPTS should be sent to the OFFICE OF THE PRESS.

NATIONAL POETRY PRESS

Box 218

Agoura, Ca. 91301

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's
Bug Clinic

1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

Ride Needed to Wilmington, Del.
or Anywhere Close
Friday, Feb. 8
Contact Jeff Mentzer
Belk 104-A

STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

We are looking for girls interested in being counselors - activity instructors in a private girls camp located in Hendersonville, N.C. Instructors needed especially in Swimming (WSI), Horseback riding, Tennis, Backpacking, Archery, Canoeing, Gymnastics, Crafts, Also Basketball, Dancing, Baton, Cheerleading, Drama, Art, Office work, Camp craft, Nature study. Inquires - Morgan Haynes, P.O. Box 400C, Tryon, N.C. 28782.

COUPON

2209 N. Main
869-2171

Preppi's

CLIP THIS COUPON!

2 for 1
On Any Size Pizza

WITH COUPON
OFFER GOOD THRU Feb. 20 WITH COUPON
Not Accepted For Luncheon Special

Campus Paperback Bestsellers

1. Star Trek, by Gene Roddenberry. (Pocket, $2.50.) Further adventures of TV spaceship, U.S.S. Enterprise.
2. Mommie Dearest, by Christina Crawford. (Berkley, $2.75.) Life with mother: actress Joan Crawford.
3. The Mr. Bill Show, by Walter Williams. (Running Press, $4.95.) Story of TV puppet from "Saturday Night Live."
4. How to Eat Like a Child, by Delia Ephron. (Ballantine, $3.95.) And other lessons in not being grown-up.
5. The World According to Garp, by John Irving. (Pocket, $2.75.) Adventures of a son of a famous, feminist mother.
6. Chesapeake, by James Michener. (Fawcett, $3.95.) Multi-family saga along Maryland's Eastern Shore: fiction.
7. Mary Ellen's Best of Helpful Hints, by Mary Ellen Pinkham and Pearl Higginbotham. (Warner, $3.95.) Solving household problems.
8. Ashes in the Wind, by Kathleen E. Woodiwiss. (Avon, $4.95.) Southern belle vs. Yankee doctor: fiction.
9. Evergreen, by Belva Plain. (Dell, $2.75.) Jewish immigrant woman climbs from poverty on lower Manhattan.
10. In Search of History, by Theodore H. White. (Warner, $5.95.) Personal adventures of a famous journalist.

Compiled by The Chronicle of Higher Education from information supplied by college stores throughout the country. February 4, 1980.

New & Recommended

- Economics in Plain English, by Leonard Silk. (Touchstone, $3.95.) Explained for laymen with wit and brevity.
- Grave Mistake, by Ngaio Marsh. (Jove, $1.95.) Nursing home whodunit with Scotland Yard to the rescue: fiction.
- Night-Side, by Joyce Carol Oates. (Fawcett/Crest, $2.50.) 18 stories treating dreams, madness, the mysterious: fiction.

Association of American Publishers

Other winners named

Houlberg crowned Homecoming Queen

NANCY HOULBERG
1980 Homecoming Queen

BY SCOTT HANCE
Associate Editor

Following a three day delay, Nancy Houlberg was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1980.

Houlberg, a sophomore from Miami, Fla. was sponsored by the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. She was escorted by George Yates.

The first runner-up to Houlberg was Jannell Welsh who was representing the sophomore class. Debbie Baunchalk, sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha, was the second runner-up.

The court was presented at half time of the basketball game last Tuesday night with the crowning of the new queen coming after the game.

Houlberg was presented her flowers by Dr. Murphy Osborne and a silver plaque by Mr. Robert Williams. Last year's queen, Marcella Bullard, was on hand to crown the new queen.

In other postponed activities, the Zetas were the winners of the annual Rowdie Crowdie contest at the game and the Alpha Gams took first prize in the banner contest. The Theta Chi finished second in that contest.

The Homecoming parade was held Sunday and the winners of the float contest were announced following the event. The float by the Black Unification Movement took first prize with the Lambda Chis finishing second and the Alpha Delta Theta float taking third.

College to remodel house

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

If you hear the bang of hammers and the screech of electric saws early this spring, don't be alarmed; High Point College isn't building anything new, they're just remodeling.

The college recently bought the house next to Millis Dormitory on West College Drive and plans to renovate it this spring.

According to Earle G. Dalbey, Vice President for Financial Affairs, the job will take a lot of work and money, but the house should be converted to two rentable apartments by the end of April.

Is there any chance the apartments will be used as a fraternity or a sorority house? Not, according to Dalbey, "the cost is too high."

Despite rumors on the campus, the apartments "will not be rented to students," Dalbey said.

The house has been vacant for some time and the college bought it as an investment and to add to its other property in that area.

The house next to Millis will soon be occupied, but not by college students. [Photo by Edythe Montesana].

INSIDE

Spring sports previews

page 10

Play review

page 7

Student helps the aged

page 5

Letters to the Editor

page 3

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po - Wednesday, February 20, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

The last word on seduction

Okay folks. I get the last word.

In issue eight of the Hi-Po, a student utilized her editorial rights and sounded off on the "double standards" of seduction. As a result she received a variety of reaction from both sexes of students at HPC. Some were appalled, some agreed, some disagreed, and some didn't know what seduction was. At any rate, most everyone failed to see the satire of it all.

One quibble was in reference to Ms. River's sentence about the "suave, sophisticated frat man". Several students got quite upset over this, arguing their respective positions in factions of the greek/independent world. This argument was absurd.

Ms. Rivers merely used the "frat man" as a classification on campus. It was much easier than saying "all the males on campus with red socks and Nikes" or "all the males on campus who chew Juicy Fruit gum while playing basketball in Harrison Hall." The fact that some were disturbed by this categorization is funny, especially since everyone knows that frat men are no more suave or sophisticated than independents.

Another interesting reactionary outlet was endured by Ms. Rivers. By (conveniently?) misinterpreting the content of her letter, some males seized the opportunity to boost their egos and offer their company to her on these cold evenings. Ms. Rivers assured me that this reaction has been the funniest of all. Obviously these same people flunked their English comprehension tests long ago because they totally missed the boat this time too.

Finally, she must have hit a few raw nerves somewhere in her discussion of "the double standard" and women's new pursuit of "their own sexual pleasures." Face it fellows. Women have libidos too, and even though it may or may not involve you, you can get dumped just like you dump some women yourselves. That is not a new priority -- just a renewed one with clearer guidelines and bolder enforcement.

The so-called sexual revolution may just be a whirlwind of emotions and differences scrambled up, tossed about and dismissed as public folly. There are no rules, the strategy is weak and deviation is a no-no, but the times are a-changin' and all one can do is change with them. Slowly but surely, the double standard of sexuality dissolves in its own history.

Perhaps it would have helped some readers if we would have tagged Ms. River's article with a kicker that said satire instead of opinion since the uproar seemed to affect so many. Perhaps we should advocate the seduction of pet rocks. At any rate, absurdity is wonderful and we thank you for your contributions. If I may say so myself, so much for the sexual revolution!

LISA MICKEY

Homecoming disrupted by snow Hendrix stands by decision

*"In proving foresight may be vain:
The best-laid schemes of mice and men
Go oft awry,
And leave us nought but grief and pain,
For promised joy..."*
—Robert Burns

The winter snows hit High Point at the worst time two weekends ago when the bad weather caused the cancellation of most of the Homecoming activities.

The first event to be snowed out was the Homecoming parade which was called off in the early morning. Soon after, the class reunion luncheons had been cancelled by the Alumni Affairs office along with most other scheduled alumni activities.

By noon, the word was out that the Homecoming Court activities had been postponed. The decision came from SGA President Jacky Hendrix. It was this decision that caused the greatest uproar from the students.

By dinner, the snow had stopped and most of the roads in the area were fairly clear. So why not have Homecoming? The decision had already been made and there was no way to go ahead with the original plans.

In an interview with Hendrix, his reasons for cancelling the activity were very clear.

The major factor was the snow. The weather reports were calling for more snow and hazardous driving conditions. The inclusion of two day students on the court added to the decision to cancel.

"I was thinking of the safety of those two girls and their families," Hendrix said. "If they had had an accident on the way to the game, that would have been on my shoulders."

Another major reason for the cancellation was that most other events had been cancelled and it was "suggested" to Hendrix that he should cancel the Homecoming Court for the evening. These "suggestions" came from President Wendell Patton, Director of Alumni Affairs Robert E. Williams, and Vice President for College Affairs Cletus H. Kruyer.

"I was requested to cancel the activities," Hendrix remarked. "If I hadn't cancelled, they probably would have been cancelled by someone else."

After he made the decision, he then contacted Dean Hanson and Dean Lowdermilk. Both were in full support of the decision. Dr. Murphy Osborne was also behind Hendrix.

Hendrix also stated that at the time the decision was made there was still no decision on whether the ballgame would be played or not. That decision would not come until almost 4 p.m.

"A decision had to be made early. We either had to cancel the flowers or confirm the order," Hendrix said. "If we did not cancel the activities and the ballgame was cancelled, we would have lost a couple hundred dollars on the flowers."

It seems to me that after all the evidence is in, there is no question that the right decision was made at the time it had to be made.

I'm sure Jacky would be the first to admit that by game time, the Homecoming activities could have gone on as scheduled. But no one can look into the future; not even an SGA president like some people must believe.

Then there are those who wanted to question the authority of Hendrix. In case you too are wondering this, he was the person authorized to make the decision.

The person in charge of the Homecoming Court is the one who has to make the decision. Hendrix was in charge of the activities because of the illness of Kathy Connelly, SGA vice president. According to the SGA, the vice president is in charge of Homecoming but because of her sickness, Connelly asked Hendrix to take over.

I understand that this was also told to the one who decided he should check this out with the folks in Roberts Hall.

As Hendrix pointed out to me, it was not a decision of the legislature but rather it was up to him.

"I had no other choice but to cancel and I still feel that I made the right decision," Hendrix said.

I couldn't agree more.

And as for the questioner of authority, I think maybe you should go and check out your own authority.

SCOTT A. HANCOCK

Letters to the Editor

Girls should also entice

Dear Editor:

A recent college newspaper article declared that the art of seduction no longer exists at High Point College. My intention in replying is not to attack the authoress of the letter but to squelch the clamoring of those males and females who have taken her words to heart.

First, if females as a whole are so sexually liberated then let them practice the "techniques of sexual enticement" (seduction). Otherwise, the art of laying back to get laid will be mistaken for frigidity.

Second, there are enough teases around to confuse any "suave, sophisticated frat man" as well as us not so suave and sophisticated independents. How's a guy supposed to know if he has adequately refined his technique when his partner switches signals as often as a traffic light?

Lastly, if any of us were truly liberated at all we wouldn't have to apply the art of seduction. Talking, also known as the art of communication, is all one need do to express their willingness to abstain or entertain.

This letter is not written from first hand experience and does not necessarily express my desires. But in all fairness let's make a deal. College males have enough responsibility just wining and dining. If you girls want something then you make the move to woo and screw, but don't be surprised if more college males are practicing the art of rejection.

Douglas Hall

Convention helps HPC

Dear Editor:

Irish Gayman, Lee Williams, and Lori Forman and I attended the National NECAA Convention in Washington, D.C., February 14-16. It was an educational experience in which we shared ideas for better programming of campus activities.

One of the excellent features of any convention such as this is the potential for block booking of acts. If any schools in our area desire to book an act, they will encourage other schools to do likewise in the same routine and time period. If we play our cards right, we can save roughly $800.00 through this procedure.

Showcase after showcase featured such stars as Dr. Hook, Edmonds and Curley, Jan and Dean, Michael Marlin, and musical groups Oak Stonebolt, Todd Hobin Band, Rob Crosby Group, Trapper, and Stillwater. Many of these acts serve as opening acts for Allman Brothers, Crystal Gayle, Linda Ronstadt, Phoebe Snow, Charlie Daniels Band, and Tavares. It gave us a chance to see their performances before we book an act.

Movie showcases were presented also. We previewed the top films in America. We then negotiated with the movie producer's agent in regard to rentals. The fees were negotiable and we brought many of the prices down.

Ms. Forman arranged a deal to allow High Point College to rent some eight top films for roughly $100 per film. This is a savings of several hundred dollars per film. Being a member of NECAA allowed us this flexibility.

To sum it up, it was a tremendous conference. We learned a lot and feel thankful for what we have here at High Point College. We felt that we need to get more students interested in the performing arts and entertainment so that we can spread the Student Union budget out more.

If you have a particular interest that you would like to see us pursue, come to the Student Union meetings on Monday mornings at 11 a.m. in the Conference Room or see me personally. It is only with your input that we can make a more viable Student Union. Think about it. It is your student activity fee that is funding this group. Make it work for you.

Dean Bruce Tingle

Objectives not achieved

Dear Editor:

In the High Point College Catalog (1979-1980 Edition) on page six, the college published its goals and objectives. Listed within the objectives is the following paragraph:

The College strives to stimulate the love of learning and the expression of creative ability by encouraging its students in the habits of critical thinking. In so doing the College hopes to graduate men and women who, in the courage of their convictions, question mere conformity. As a church-related institution, High Point College emphasizes Christian values and supports and encourages its students and faculty to take an active part in serving the community.

There are three points about this paragraph I would like to bring out: First, the College hopes we will graduate; second, it wants us to graduate questioning mere

See College, p. 5

Mardi Gras lives

HPC alumnus Sandy Rittenhous, Bob Bednarcik and Kent Spencer couldn't make it to New Orleans but enjoyed a celebration closer to home. [Photo by Edythe Mentasana]

You didn't ask . . .

BY DAVID L. BOBBITT

Since 1924, High Point College has been in the business of educating people.

And I suppose that since the very first graduating class, someone has wanted to hold the graduation ceremonies outside.

The 1980 graduating class wants to hold the ceremony outside. And as a result of the unanimous vote, the Sr. Class officers have been hard at work planning and arranging outdoor graduation ceremonies.

At the first class meeting there were cries of liberty and student power -- graduation ceremonies, it was decided, would be held outdoors, come rain, shine, hell or high waters.

At the last class meeting, heads bowed in resignation -- talk of imprisonment and inequality.

Once again, President Patton had bestowed the responsibility, but none of the authority. It was not the Sr. class's place to decide anything -- only to recommend.

To the officers of the Senior class, I apologize on behalf of the human race for this double standard. You tried and did a good job, but were shot down in all your efforts. I've been 'shot down' by the same office before and believe me, my heart goes out to you.

I am told that the whole problem presented by Dr. Patton centers around 2,000 chairs. And who will set them up, take them down and provide them. However, you can not convince me that a mere 2,000 chairs would ever stand in the way of anything High Point College wished to do. I am inclined to believe that the truth of the matter is simply this -- Dr. Patton, and his administrative staff, don't want the ceremonies outside, therefore any excuse will suffice.

If that is not the case, then I am truly amazed that over all these years, the college has not been able to come up with a workable plan for hosting graduation ceremonies outside.

The senior class has been told that if they could come up with the necessary arrangements, it could be held outside. Again the Senior class's responsibility without any authority.

To this, I have only one conclusion: It is not this or any Senior Class's responsibility to host the graduation ceremonies. At the very least it is the obligation of the college to plan, pay for and produce a successful graduation ceremony.

So to future graduating classes, brace yourself. You've an impossible task to complete and an immense enemy at the end of the line. It is very unlikely that HPC administrators will ever allow an out-door graduation -- at least for now they lack the ambition to satisfy their paying customers.

And I seriously doubt that any administration that cannot successfully carry out an outdoor graduation ceremony, can possibly educate 1,000 students every year.

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor Alisa Walker
Staff Writers Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson,
Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis
Karen Craver, John Hallis Sharon Litchford,
Jillian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge,
Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark,
Nancy Rivers, Irish Gaymon, Greg Lukaszczuk
Typists Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown,
Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising Sharon Kaler,
Roger Dameron
Head Photographer Edythe Mentasana
Photographers Marissa Furpi, Tom Reddeck
David Schaller, Cyndi Roberts, Teresa Venuto,
Monique Peyser
Art Karen Koontz

"Fraternity Rock" standing in the way of progress

Used by permission
By JOHN LOWE
Enterprise Staff Writer

Doom appears nigh for High Point College's "Fraternity Rock," which will be blasted to pebbles soon.

It happens to stand in the way of progress.

The State Highway Dept. currently has contracted with Thompson-Arthur Paving Co. of High Point to widen existing access ramps to I-85 at the National Highway exchange in Thomasville. To allow room, massive banks of ground are to be cleared.

Embedded in one such bank on the southbound side of the interstate protrudes a boulder which -- at last check -- had been painted royal blue. The gaily-colored rock sports the Greek letters for High Point College service fraternity. Alpha Phi Omega.

There's no telling what color -- or letters -- the rock sports today. But president of the college's Inter Fraternity Council Richard Arning says there will probably be a race among the five frats to be the last to paint it before it's blasted out of the bank.

Arning says the rock has been a favorite with High Point College fraternity members since at least the early 1960s, and APO fraternity members have announced they would like to have the rock brought to campus.

But despite any sentimental attachment, Clarence Ward of Thompson-Arthur Paving Co. says the rock has to go, and he estimates that it will be done in about three to four days.

"Surely somebody wouldn't want to save something as ugly as that rock," he said recently while pointing to the pride of the college fraternities for decades past. "Somebody comes down here and puts a coat of paint on it -- they ought to have been thrown in jail for it in the first place -- and now they want to save it? I can't believe it."

And an evening in jail might not be out of the question should someone be caught painting the boulder, Ward said. In addition to defacing state property, the perpetrators also are guilty of painting signs on the interstate's right-of-way. "And that also is illegal," Ward said.

Persons interested in saving the rock need not waste time talking to Ward. He's ready to blast. "And if anyone's interested, the same thing's going to happen to that one across the street," he said, pointing to a more mundane boulder, which sported the call letters to social fraternity Delta Sigma Phi.

Ward did give advice to persons interested in saving the boulder. They should contact the state highway department, he said. If complainants can present a strong case for saving the rock, the state may act accordingly.

"But we're going to keep right on working until they give us the halt order," Ward said.

As of presstime, the APOs have tentative plans to relocate their boulder on campus. [Photos courtesy of Cris Petree, High Point Enterprise]

Continuing Education Program still growing

BY CHIP ALDRIDGE
Staff Writer

Just a little bit over a year old and still growing is the Continuing Adult Education Program at HPC.

There are now around 100 night students at the High Point College "Campus" (Cooke Hall) and 140 students at the R.J. Reynolds "Campus" involved in full time four year college degree programs. At a rate of two courses every 8 weeks, a participant can earn 36 hours a year (6 sessions a year) and complete a college degree in four years.

Ms. Shirley Rawley, Director of the Continuing Education program, looks toward enrollment at the High Point "Campus" expanding above 200. Then, she says, "we'd be able to offer the selection of classes that would be preferred." There is a large percentage in the 25-and-older-bracket that desire additional education.

The program at HPC simply, "makes it available at a time more feasible for working adults." Many employers are also interested in having their employees further their education. R.J. Reynolds Industry is so concerned with making educational opportunities available for employees that it has allowed RJR World Headquarters in Winston-Salem to become "Campus" for some 140 students three nights a week.

R.J. Reynolds adds additional incentive to the desire of the students by reimbursing the full tuition to employees for all courses they pass. After a positive response from more than 900 employees, an initial orientation program brought 380 to the stage of applying for admission. Final screening brought the number down to the 140 currently enrolled in the four year degree program. These students come from the RJR World: Health, Tobacco, Food and Dental Care Divisions and include at least one Vice-President (of their Arts and Graphics Department).

This co-operative program with RJR Industries appears to be the first of its kind. It has received extensive coverage through RJR WORLD publication and received notice in the New York Times and Chicago Sun.

Students in the Adult Education Program attend classes at night but they can be as involved in the same campus activities as any dorm student. Their main handicap to involvement is practically all of them work and 90% have families to maintain. School three nights a week in addition to a job and family leaves little time for extra-curricular activities, but some have managed campus involvement. At least one member of the night school has been active on the HPC track team.

Jean Kerr, a student in the Continuing Education Program, learned of the school through a newspaper ad. She is working on a degree in Business Administration. In an interview, she expressed how, with a regular job, "it would have been impossible (for me) to continue in school except at night classes." She prefers the atmosphere and the pace of night school through finding time for study and papers often gets rough.

But according to many of the faculty who work the night classes, these aren't typical students. These people have been involved in the "working world" and are more aware of their own ideas and ready to stand up for them. Mrs. Rawley expressed her surprise when "you assign them to read something and the next class, they've read it!"

Many of the comments fell along the line of "overall better student." "They become involved in class discussions" and "perhaps they care more." As it was pointed out to this reporter, "they seem more serious about education because they don't have as much time to just fool around -- they know what they want out of their education."

The majority of Continuing Education Students come for a Business major. Others often come for Psychology and Sociology majors. The most popular elective classes seem to be Religion classes because of the lively discussions that sometimes occur. The ages of those participating as students in the classes run from 25-56 and there is at least one mother-and-daughter pair taking classes at RJR.

Mrs. Rawley, assisted by Mrs. Libby Gurney (her right arm, left arm and good strong back), directs the Continuing Education Program from Cooke Hall where she is also head of the English Department. All scheduling, advising and recruiting of faculty originate at that office.

BMU schedules activities

The second annual Black Awareness Week, sponsored by the Black Unification Movement, is being observed on campus this week.

Every night this week, with the exception of Saturday, programs are being held on campus commemorating this occasion.

The remainder of events, each beginning at 8:00 p.m., are as follows: Wednesday: Cultural Talent Show, recognizing a variety of local talent, saluting Black Awareness. This is to be held in the Auditorium; Thursday: Attorney Henry McKinley Michaux, appointee of President Carter, presently U.S. Attorney General for the Middle District of N.C. and Rev. Frederick Bass, of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, will give scripture and prayer in Hayworth Chapel; Friday: a Semi-Formal Dance will be held in the Old Student Center.

Sunday: a Chapel Service will be held. Time and speakers are to be announced.

Clair and others enjoy helping the elderly

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

In a little house on the south side of town, an elderly couple, disabled and shut-in, stand overwhelmed as they watch a crew of High Point College students paint their living room walls, singing as they paint.

Luke and Hazel Turner, 407 Academy Street, High Point, are both unable to take care of their home themselves, to work, or to drive. Luke, 72, has had a lot of surgery, and Hazel, 63, has inner ear problems and arthritis. Because their oil furnace smokes, and because Mr. Turner smokes about 3 packs of cigarettes a day, the walls of their house were stained almost black. They were, that is, until HPC sophomore Susanna Clair learned of the Turners' needs, visited them and organized a crew of her friends to clean the house and paint the walls.

The crew painted two rooms in January and went back last Friday to paint more. Since Susanna met the Turners this fall, she has visited or called them about once a week and sometimes takes Mrs. Turner to the doctor. Usually, a few friends go with her each time she visits the Turners.

Susanna Clair chats with Mrs. Turner in one of her frequent visits with the elderly couple. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

Mrs. Turner was taken by surprise when Susan and her friends walked in with their brushes and pails again this Friday.

"They're so full of surprises, I never know what they're going to do next," she said.

"I was so thrilled, just tickled pink," she said. "Words just cannot express the appreciation I feel. I told them I just wouldn't even try to talk, 'cause I knew if I did, I would cry."

"I'm so happy because the house was in such bad shape and now it just looks fantastic."

Susanna, a Gerontology major, learned about the Turners through the High Point Council on Aging, a federally funded service organization for the elderly, and through her gerontology class.

I just really care for old folks a lot," she says, "and feel this is a way God can use me."

She says the Turners are "very special" to her.

"She's just so loving, and Luke too in a quiet way, that you just can't help but love them back. Everytime some kids go over there -- and last time it took about 5 hours to do everything -- they come to me and say, 'When are we goin' again?'"

"We all sing while we paint and have a good time."

Sophomore Marcus Carter, one of the paint crew, says it is especially fun "seeing how many different colors you can get all over your clothes."

"There's always a paint fight," he says.

"I guess what I really enjoy the most," he says, "is being together and working together with my friends and at the same time helping somebody out."

"Those young people -- they're so jolly and happy," says Mrs. Turner. "They sing and work and talk and sing and work and I just enjoy it so. Just being around them makes me feel better."

Mrs. Turner says weeks and weeks go by without her or her husband getting out of the house. They receive meals on wheels and Social Security.

"That's why it means so much when they come, I'm so glad to see them," she says.

Susanna has other elderly friends besides the Turners. She also visits a 54-year-old woman with arthritis who is caring for her 76-year old father. Another woman she visits is 80, lives in "practically a shack" and has a broken foot. "Her house has no electricity, no hot water or anything," Susanna says.

It was just this fall, when she began her work with old people, that she discovered a desire to make them her life's work.

"One day when I was driving back from Robbi's (the 54-year-old), I thought, 'Man, I could just do this all day.'"

Susanna, who transferred here this year from Taylor University in Indiana, used to be an education major.

"I was raised with such a respect for my elders, and I guess respect comes in so much in my feeling for old people," she says. "And they have such patience and appreciation. I talk to Robbi about things all the time, and she's taught me so much about appreciating where I am now in life."

Says Mrs. Turner of Susanna, "I'm crazy about her. I know I talk her to death and I tell her so, but she says, 'no!', and gives me a big hug, and I hug her."

Oh, she just brightens my day and I love her to death."

College goals not clear

continued from page 3
conformity; third, it supports and encourages its students and faculty to take part in serving the community.

On the first point: I'm really glad the College hopes for us to graduate. It even seems interested in helping us get into graduate school or being employed with respectable companies. Student personnel provides placement packets, individual counseling and arranges sessions on resume writing, etc. for us. It seems ironic then that after all this work to get us prepared for post-graduation the College can't excuse us for an interview with a graduate school or company.

On the second point: though it wants us to question "mere conformity" when we graduate, it doesn't seem to want conformity questioned while we are in school. If one has ever tried to contract a major, work out an independent study or develop an alternative to the traditional learning system, one is aware of the bureaucracy, forms, committees, questions, arguments and red tape one must go through to get beyond conformity. With all these barriers, it's interesting to note that listed in the goals of the college (1979-1980 Catalog, page six are the following statements:

With these objectives in mind, High Point College strives to help you attain:

1. Development of a comprehensive and systematic philosophy of life;
3. Appreciation of scholarship in the search for truth; and
4. The broadening of horizons geographically, socially and intellectually.

The third point concerns the College's support of student participation in the community. If one has been involved in the community on more than a superficial level he knows that the community doesn't operate on the same schedule as a student. In order for one to be actively involved or to maintain a job that provides practical learning experience it is sometimes necessary to miss a class or two. Unless one happens to find a job that always matches his schedule, one must at times take absences for employment, which are unexcused.

It amazes me that policies are formed with apparent disregard for the objectives that the policies should be helping to accomplish. On a campus where little room is left to make decisions toward what percentage of classes one will attend, what type of learning system one will use and how important one's community involvement is, it seems that an important goal of the college is left unnoticed: "... High Point College strives to help you attain. . . 2. Appreciation of the integrity and worth of the individual in a democratic society."

Sincerely,
Dave Worland
and Chip Aldridge

Guidelines not really new

BY SALLY DAVIS
Staff Writer

An article on page four in the Feb. 6 issue of the Hi-Po dealt with new guidelines for student absences. Actually, these guidelines are not new.

The Student Personnel Committee responsible for the list, is the group appointed by Dr. Patton and consists of five selected faculty members, in addition to Dr. Murphy Osborne, Mr. Charles Teague, and Dean Bob Lowdermilk, who are automatically members due to the offices they hold.

Four students, selected by the SGA President, are also on the committee. These students are Mike Hennis, Al Seymour, Linda Tyler, and Sue Pierce. The purpose of the committee is to represent the faculty and students in such areas as approving club charters and selecting Who's Who. Dr. Frances Hoch is chairperson of the committee.

As to why the guidelines explaining absences were established, Dr. Hoch commented, "The guidelines are not new. They have stayed basically the same. Dean Lowdermilk felt that it was time to let the students become more aware of just which absences are excusable and which ones aren't. Those examples that appeared in the Hi-Po are general guidelines."

Dr. Hoch continued to explain, stating, "We (Student Personnel Committee) are not a court -- we have nothing to do with deciding individual cases of student absences. The actual cases are left to the deans in the student personnel office and it is their prerogative to make any exceptions."

The guidelines have always been present, at least in verbal form. Now they have been put in print for all students to see.

ARTIFACTS

MUSIC: Feb. 21 -- Duke Ellington Orchestra, High Point Theatre, 8:00 p.m., Tickets in advance.
Feb. 22 -- Guest Recital, Karel Pankert, organ, 8:15 p.m., Crawford Hall, UNC-G, Admission is $2.00 per person.
Feb. 22 -- Juilliard String Quartet, High Point Theatre, 8:00 p.m., Tickets in advance.
Feb. 23 -- NCSA Orchestra -- Alexis Hauser guest conductor, 8:15 p.m., Crawford Hall, UNC-G, Admission is $2.00 per person.
Mar. 22 -- Kenny Rogers, Greensboro Coliseum, 4:00 and 8:00 p.m., Tickets now on sale.
PLAYS: Feb. 24 -- The National Theatre on the Deaf presents "The Wooden Boy", Aycock Auditorium -- UNC-G, 8:15 p.m., Tickets now on sale.
Feb. 29 -- Drama Repertory Company II, "The Learned Ladies" 8:15 p.m., Crawford Hall -- UNC-G, Admission is $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for students.
LECTURE: Feb. 24 -- Jackie Torrence (The Story Lady), High Point Theatre, 2:30 p.m., Tickets in advance.
Feb. 25 -- Philadelphia Economist to give Harriet Elliott Lecture, UNC-G Cone Ballroom of Elliott University Center, 1:15 p.m. and 3:00 p.m., free.
CONVENTION: Mar. 21, 22, 23 -- Sci-Fi, guest speaker will be George Takei, Mr. Sulu of Star Trek, Elliott University Center at UNC-G, Tickets in advance $6.00 and $7.00 -- banquet. David Allen, Box 1712, Shaw Hall, UNC-G, 27412.

Car service to airport possible

BY LINDA CAIN
Staff Writer

Need a ride to the airport at break?

If so, see Bruce Tingle, Assistant Dean of Students. Another college, Elon, employs a service similar to us to pick up an athletic team or college group that flies in. While Brevard College, a junior college in the mountains, provides transportation for students to the airport at breaks.

According to Carol Branton, who went to Brevard for one year, the service was widely used by students since the airport was 45 minutes away from the school.

Creation of a service like this at High Point College would eliminate students having to find a ride to the airport themselves.

"For freshmen without cars it's a good idea," said Craig Messner, a sophomore.

According to Tingle, "The college would question if the use of a college vehicle was for college purposes."

The Assistant Dean feels that the service would be greatly used by students and would eliminate them having to take their car to the airport and leaving it. Now, he added, students could park their cars in front of the security guard's office.

Tingle said that the idea of the college providing transportation to the airport hinges on a student organization sponsoring it and the availability of the college's vans. He estimated that four trips to the airport would cost $12.

Mark Synder, a member of Student Union, feels it would be an excellent service for students but that to be effective, a time schedule would have to be set up.

Tingle said that the day before break and the day after were slow for him and that he could do the driving, since a faculty member has to make arrangements to get the van. He said that in the past he had made a few trips to the airport to pick up a student, and ended up with several others.

HPC fund campaign successful

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

High Point area businessmen recently raised $25,750 in pledges and cash for High Point College.

The gifts were made by High Point businesses, to support the college's continuing operational expenditures, as part of the HPC Annual Fund campaign.

Dr. Wendell M. Patton, president of the college, was pleased with the campaign saying, "Not many colleges have the support of the community that High Point College has."

Co-chairmen of the campaign were Pete Armstrong, president of Pete Armstrong Veneer Inc., and J. Edgar Pleasants, senior vice president of North Carolina National Bank.

Chairman of the board of trustees, Charles E. Hayworth, said the strength of the campaign came from its dedicated workers who volunteered to solicit businesses in the community.

The announcement of the gifts came at a luncheon attended by 20 volunteers and college officials in the trustees dining room.

In an overview of the campaign, Cletus Kruyer, Vice President for College Affairs, brought up the possibility of the campaign expanding into the Winston-Salem and Greensboro areas of the triad in the future.

★ FRESHMEN & SOPHOMORES ★ INVEST 6 weeks this summer during one of the periods listed below

- 1st cycle ► 19 May thru 26 June
- 2nd cycle ► 9 June thru 17 July
- 3rd cycle ► 7 July thru 14 Aug.

Return on Investment

- Approximately $500.
- Free Round trip transportation
- Free Room & Board
- Outdoor Adventure training
- Chance to try ROTC with no obligations
- Qualify to enter Advanced ROTC earning $100 per mo.
- Compete for a 2 year scholarship

Apply now to reserve a space in the cycle of your choice.

Contact CPT. WALTERS.

RM 19B, Roberts Hall

ARMY ROTC BASIC CAMP

Tower Players present fast-moving production of play

BY CHIP ALDRIDGE

Staff Writer

The Waltz of the Toreadors, presented by the HPC Tower Players and Fine Arts Department, was a clean production of a French farce high-lighted by several entertaining and poignant moments.

Directed by James Forster of the Theatre Arts Faculty, Waltz carried quickly and lightly through three acts of what could have been extremely slow line throwing. Though some of the humor was lost because the audience had difficulty in understanding dialogue between Ken Swanson (General St. Pe) and David Douglas (Dr. Bonfant) one could not help smiling at the pomposity of their characters and laughing at their antics.

Both gentlemen are to be

Ken Swanson and Cindy Briggs explain their secret to David Douglas. [Photo by Peyser-Roberts]

commended on the style they portrayed -- parts made for much older actors. Miss Briggs was delightful as a sugar-sweet and overly faithful, affection-starved "young lady." Also quite entertaining was Art Prilleman as Gaston, secretary to General St. Pe. Mr. Prilleman was convincingly pristine as a semi-chaste young man who comes to an enjoyable awakening of the bounties a woman can offer.

Especially laughable in a cameo appearance (and practically a scene stealer) was Dr. James Elson as a slightly inebriated priest, Father Ambrose. Also in cameo appearance were Beverly Darr and Nancy Kear as the "ugly daughters" (Sidonia and Estelle) whose most notable scene culminated in a fight that left the secretary, Gaston (their sweetheart) a bit more than speechless.

Tara Wine, as the pseudo-invalid wife of General St. Pe was adequately irritating to put the character on its feet. Also appearing were Peggy Pesce as Eugenie, Sandy Smith as Mms. Dupont-Fredaine and Nell Torain as Pamela.

Costumes by Wendy Appleton deserve a standing ovation. With a combination of built and borrowed period costumes, she made Waltz a show that was enjoyable to the eye. Otherwise, technically it was a simple show with one most interesting "disappearing wall" used in Miss Wine's bedroom scenes. Sets and lighting were designed by Dave Appleton and functioned well despite known difficulties in securing student support during final stages of construction and preparation.

Cast and crew, Mr. Swanson and Miss Wine in particular, are to be applauded for the fine style in which they continued the Friday night show, which had to be called during Act II because of the city-wide blackout. All in all, it was an enjoyable production that spoke highly of HPC's ability to stage not-so-basic theatre.

Art Prilleman revives Cindy Briggs in an unusually intimate scene. [Photo by Peyser-Roberts]

Dorsett team captures College Bowl

BY SCOTT HANCE

Associate Editor

The Alan Dorsett team captured the HPC College Bowl Championship last week and went on to represent the school in regional competition.

The team of Dorsett, Dave Schaller, Marybeth Weber and Robin Henson finished the intramural competition with a 4-3 record and tied for third place with the Delta Sigs and the Pikas. The Lambda Chi "A" team finished first at 6-1 with the Flying Zams taking the second spot with a 5-2 mark.

In the playoffs, the Dorsett squad downed the Mike Taylor team and then won a close match over the Lambda Chi team to advance to the finals against the Flying Zams.

The Zams made it to the finals by posting wins over the Paul Boyles team and then the Delta Sigs. The Dorsett squad then handily defeated the Zams to earn the HPC spot in the regionals at UNC-Charlotte.

The team lost its first two matches in the double elimination tournament.

According to Bruce Tingle, Assistant Dean of Students, the majority of the teams in the regional tournament play all year and so are much more prepared than any HPC team. He also said that next year College Bowl will probably be held both semesters in order to better prepare the HPC team for competition at a higher level.

Scholarship weekend near

BY DANNY BERRIER

Special to the Hi-Po

The weekend of March 14, 15 and 16 will be an important one in the life of many prospective High Point College students.

On this weekend, numerous high school seniors from up and down the eastern seaboard will be on the college campus competing for Presidential, Honor and Merit Scholarships. These awards, valued at $1250, $750, and $500 per year respectively are presented to incoming freshman who have exhibited outstanding scholarship leadership, and citizenship in their high school activities.

The majority of potential scholars will be arriving on March 14 and will be escorted to rooms made available for use by present students. The following day will be a full day of activities for the students and their parents, beginning with a general meeting of all the nominees with representatives from the college.

The primary activity of the day will be interviews of each prospective student by a panel consisting of faculty members and current Presidential scholars. The day will be capped off with a tea for the nominees, their parents, faculty, and present scholarship holders.

Recipients of the three scholarships will be notified by mail shortly after the weekend. All awards are subject to renewal with the stipulation that a B (3.0) average must be maintained each school year.

Every one of the potential scholars has reached a high level of achievement in their high schools and all would be a valuable addition to the High Point College community.

College Village Exxon

1100 E. Lexington
phone 889-7043

Service on American and Imported cars
Road Service Available

Lady Panthers peaking as post season tourneys near

BY SUSAN PARKER
Staff Sports Writer

High Point College's Lady Panthers are going through many ups and downs in recent games. They started out the month with a big win over Wake Forest 100-48, then suffered from two upset defeats from Pfeiffer and East Carolina, but soon regained their ground and went on to post three big wins over Pembroke, Mars Hill and UNC-Asheville.

Teresa Holt lead the way for the Lady Panthers victory over the Deacs, scoring 32 points. Andreia Blanchard and Dee Dee Wardlaw hit 16 points. Lena Scriven added 12, and Marie Riley collected 10. The half saw the spread of 25 points over the Deacs. HPC hit 45 of 85 shots from the floor and the win brought the team's record to 13-3.

The games with ECU and Pfeiffer proved less fortunate, though. ECU topped the Lady Panthers with a score of 92-72. Although the Panthers provided a first half threat the Pirates maneuvered to a 16 point spread to stump HPC.

In the game with Pfeiffer, HPC took the lead in the game and was leading at the break 27-26. Blanchard scored 21 points in the game, but the Falcons took the game in a 65-64 win, dropping the Panthers record to 14-5.

The win over Pembroke sent the Lady Panthers rolling again.

At the half the Panthers held a commanding 44-31 lead, and maintained the margin for a 96-66 win. Riley scored 25 points and Blanchard added 24. The win raised the team's record to 16-5.

Perhaps their most talked about game was against Mars Hill. All-America center Blanchard and two-time All-America forward Riley lead the way to the destruction of Mars Hill 105-58, at Alumni Gym. Blanchard had high scoring honors with 30 points on turnaround jumpers. She also pulled down 18 rebounds. Riley scored 21 points, and had 12 rebounds. Pam Henline scored 13, and Medley Warren and Holt hit 10 apiece.

The Lady Panthers continued their hot streak by romping past UNC-Asheville 93-49. Blanchard and Wardlaw teamed for 50 points while Riley scored 14 and Henline and Holt scored 10 each. The win lifted the Panther's overall record to 15-5. The team is now getting ready to compete in the Carolina Conference Tournament at Catawba Feb. 27-March 1.

Andreia Blanchard muscles inside against Winston-Salem State. [Photo by Teresa Venuto.]

High Point College's Hi-Po

Page 8 - The Hi-Po
Wednesday, February 20, 1980

High Point clinches tie for title

Joey Yow is hemmed in by a Catawba defender. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck].

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

The past two weeks have been quite a mixture of events for the Carolinas Conference-leading Panthers, and a good indication of the way their entire season has progressed.

The Panthers, 19-5 overall and 11-2 in the conference, clinched at least a tie for the regular season championship, and must now defeat only last-place Pfeiffer (5-20) next Saturday at Alumni Gym to gain the No. 1 seeding in the league tournament and an automatic berth in the District 26 tournament. To achieve their current status, however, the cardiac cagers from High Point College have fought off many stiff challenges, and have given their fans more than their share of thrills and scares.

Against Pembroke State the Panthers sleepwalked through the first-half with their seemingly characteristic poor early play on the road. The Panthers soon found themselves 17 points down to the aggressive see Panthers, page 9

A night Mario Watson will long remember

BY DAN COLLINS
Contributed to the Hi-Po

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dan Collins is a sports writer for the Winston-Salem Journal, who caught on to Mario Watson's "Once in a Lifetime Game". Collins' story is reprinted with permission from the Feb. 15 Journal.

The players on a High Point College intramural team, being the magnanimous fellows they are, have decided to hold no grudge against varsity Panthers or head coach Jerry Steele.

School spirit seemingly knows no bounds.

Just the same, Steele has leading scorer Mario Watson to thank for Tuesday's 51-43 victory over Barber-Scotia. When the Panther coach depleted his available roster by suspending five curfew violators prior to the game, he turned to the team known as The Crew, for a warm body.

Steele got more than he bargained for -- 13 points and the 40 solid minutes from the 6-2 Watson and the altruistic support of his intramural teammates.

"I can't play intramural ball anymore," said Watson, who after failing as a walk-on earlier this season, is now a full-fledged Panther. "I figure our team's 106 point scoring average will go down."

"But the great thing about it, I know who my friends are. When my chance came, I had to go for it."

Five players were all Steele had, so all were extremely pleased the game didn't run into overtime. Regular guard Danny Anderson, a 6-1 guard moved to forward, 6-0 Joey Yow played guard, 5-11 Johnny McQueen played guard, 6-3 Jeff Anderson played center and Watson, at 6-2, played the other forward.

"At the pregame meal we were sitting around and started joking," Watson recalls. "We said we can shoot all night long and the coach can't pull us. We were saying 'I'm going to score 50 tonight.'"

"At the game you could feel something funny in the see Dream, page 9

MARIO WATSON
...A night to remember...

Panthers win close

continued from page 8

Braves. High Point continued to trail for much of the second-half until the combination of costly Pembroke mistakes and timely High Point shooting tied the game at 65-65 and set the stage for senior guard Danny Anderson's last-second heroics.

With just three seconds left to play Anderson drilled home an 18-footer jumper to break the tie and give the Panthers a 67-65 win, and their second narrow victory over the Braves this season. Danny Anderson was the Panthers' high scorer for the game with 21 points on a 10-for-13 shooting night from the field. Anthony Parrish returned to the lineup after missing five games with a broken hand and tallied 18 points, while sophomore Bruce Floyd and junior Johnny McQueen added 12 and 10 points, respectively.

The Catawba game was a hotly contested match from the opening tap with the Indians coming out on top 66-59. With the win Catawba moved to within one-half game of the Panthers in the Conference standings.

Freshman guard Junior Brown came off the bench to pace the Panthers with 14 points, while senior center Bob Hovey added 11.

The preview to the Barber-Scotia game was almost as exciting as the contest itself. Coach Jerry Steele announced prior to the game that six of the team's members were suspended for one game for curfew violations the night before. The Panthers dressed seven players for the game including Mario Watson, Jeff Pumbo (an infielder on the baseball team), and the team trainer, Kevin McCown. Watson, who was red-shirted early in the season, often practiced with the team but hadn't played in High Point's previous 21 games. On top of all of that, senior Joey Yow was playing despite a 102-degree temperature.

Spurred on by an enthusiastic crowd, however, the determined Panthers fought their way to a gutsy 51-43 victory over the Sabers. Danny Anderson led the Panthers scoring attack with 15 points, and Jeff Anderson and Watson tallied 13 points apiece.

Against Wingate the Panthers once again fell behind early, but rallied in the last 12 minutes to wipe-out a 13-point deficit and manager a 72-71 win. McQueen hit five straight free throws down the stretch, including the game winners with four seconds to play. Floyd led the Panthers with 25 points and 10 rebounds, while Brown contributed 18 points.

In the game that clinched at least a tie for the Carolinas Conference Championship for the Panthers, High Point outrebounded the usually strong rebounding Guilford Quakers 33-19 in leading HPC to a surprisingly easy win. Danny Anderson was the team's high scorer with 15 points, Brown, Jeff Anderson, and Floyd added 14, 13 and 11 points, respectively. It was the rebounding of Jeff Anderson and Floyd, however, that determined the outcome of the game -- both had 10.

The collage of the Faculty-Hi-Po game displays the awkwardness and the sincerity the enjoyment of contest. [Photos by Lisa D'Micci].

Dennis Tuttle

A dream came true

continued from page 8

don't believe they'll ever forget it."

Watson, who also writes sports for the school paper, had been working out with the team in hopes of latching on next season. But when Steele suspended five players for missing a Saturday night curfew, though, Watson's chance came sooner than expected.

He was, nevertheless, more than ready.

"You know that Chuck Mangione record 'Give It All You Got?' " Watson asks. "It's the theme song for the Winter Olympics. Before the game I played it three times.

It got me psyched up to play."

Watson played again Wednesday night in a 72-71 victory over Wingate, only for two minutes. Whether or not he plays again this season, though, Watson figures his debut came at a prime time.

"They crowned the homecoming queen at halftime," Watson notes. "So the gym was full of pretty girls." air. Most of the people come to the games to see how many we're going to lose by, but the other night everybody was pulling for us. It was a game I'll never forget. And the people who came, I

Dean Smith, bless your big-nose soul, for once I gave thanks to your chicken-hearted offense.

Just ask Greg Clark, Scott Hance, Mario Watson, John Hallis, Stephanie Higgins or Sharon Kaler, for they payed wearily but patriotically for my hindsight.

At a juncture when this pride-deprived skeleton had given up all hope for rescuing the Hi-Po staff to a victory over the vengeance hungered Faculty team, Dr. Murphy Osborne issued the order to spread out the offense. And I know of seven people who were sure as hell glad to see it.

The Faculty, in a good spirited gesture, halted the Hi-Po 60-54 thanks to two backdoor plays off the spread in the final 3:30 of the game. The spread offense and the final margin gave the bandwagon of professors and ageless has-beens the opportunity to slap this columnist in the face, which someone did right before the end of the first-half.

Nevertheless, for two reasons the Faculty is not pressing for an apology for being called a bunch of birds: 1) they beat us in the grudge match and 2), I wouldn't apologize regardless, even if on the guillotine.

Other than the Faculty's opportunity to display their basketball prowess to seven out-of-shape youths, the game brought a stream of light through the often dark cloud of poor student-faculty relations. The players -- on both parts -- often joked, poked and pranced on the court. Dr. James Stitt didn't sling his razor shape elbows and Dr. Alan Patterson didn't exhibit a hatchetman image.

Instead, there were excellent plays and some congratulatory moments. Time-after-time Watson romped through the lane for baskets while basketball coach Jerry Steele watched with an attractive eye from the

see Tuttle, page 11

Revenge 'tis so sweet

Spring Sports Previews

Following 1979 feat will be for Panthers

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

Trying to repeat last year's finish may be a devious, if not almost impossible task to ask of the High Point College baseball team. But the Panthers, despite losing five starters from the team that finished as NAIA national runners-up have high expectations for the season ahead.

Catcher Danny Wilbur, first baseman Jeff Kennedy, and outfielders Joe Garbarino, Gerald Culler and Fred Poole have all departed. And all, with the exception of Poole, had garnered an All-Conference, All-District award in their four-year careers.

Coach Jim Speight, who miraculously led the team to the finals after taking over the team in late February after 20-year coach Chuck Hartman departed for VPI, enjoyed a fine recruiting year. Among his top prospects are infielder Jeff Pumbo and outfielders Sam Atwood and Delbert Hickman. But Speight also has the majority of his lineup returning from last year. Second baseman Tim Reid, shortstop Mike Pisano and third baseman Kenny Carter are among the returnees.

The pitching staff returns 30 wins from last year's 38-8 team and offers much promise for the new season ahead. Junior Jay Schwamberger is just one of many talented pitchers on the roster and the Charlotte, N.C. lefthander will be vying to top his 7-2 record of a year ago.

Schwamberger, who was drafted by the Chicago Cubs out of Independence High School, pitched a no-hitter in his first collegiate game two years ago. His only losses last year were to Atlantic Coast Conference power Clemson and to N.C. State, which Clemson clobbered 40-11 in one contest. Jason Crump, Mark LeFranco and Terry Thompson figures prominently in Speight's starting rotation plans. Thompson is back after shoulder surgery a year ago and LaFranco is being moved from the bullpen.

Junior Jay Schwamberger will be the Panthers' top starting pitcher while coach Jim Speight's [inset] team will be vying for the NAIA championship this year, not runnersup.

The bullpen will be just as strong as a year ago with Jimmy Purcell returning after posting a 5-1 record last year. Mark Lackey is attempting to move from a designated hitter role to relief pitching while transfer Tom

see Baseballers, page 11

Bolen, Aydelette return for HPC golfers

BY GREG LUKASZCZYK
Staff Sports Writer

The sudden warm weather and the slightest glint of sunshine brings a smile upon golf coach Woody Gibson's face. The sudden change in climate gives the High Point College golf team a chance to practice, and from their performances in the past, well...

As the March 1 opener approaches, last season's less than pleasing results are now bygones. However dampened the Panthers' spirit may have been, High Point's fourth place conclusions in the Carolinas Conference and District 26 tournaments, the post season success of district powers Guilford, Elon and Gardner-Webb offers some cheer.

Three returning players are expected to make the season more successful. Senior French Bolen, an all-conference and all-district player from last year, Tony Flippin and junior Bob Aydelette provide experience that could make the Panthers a contender for the conference title. Senior John Caldwell and sophomore Larry Corson return from last year after seeing plenty of action on the course.

Gibson pointed out that every player must play up to his capability before the team can win the conference, and the Panther coach confidently believes that there is enough talent on the team to win the conference. Freshman Tad Palmer, sophomore Craig Baldwin, George Phillips and Jan Reid are expected to fight for a starting position.

Wrestling Anyone?

Any student who would be interested in participating in an intramural wrestling tournament should drop his name and approximate weight that he could wrestle at to Mike Wallace, campus box 3904, before spring break. If enough interest is shown, the tournament would be held shortly after the break. Prior wrestling experience is suggested but not necessary.

HPC tennis teams have potential

BY NANCY RIVERS
Staff Sports Writer

The ending of winter and the advent of spring brings each year to High Point College another season of tennis. The upcoming 1980 men's season should prove to be as fast-paced and successful as those in recent Panther history, as six veterans return to the courts.

Another important factor in the favorable outlook is the addition of several top-rate freshmen, as well as the talents of a transfer student returning to High Point for a final season of play.

The 1980 lineup is predicted to be a major contender in the district and Carolinas conference, as well as in national rankings. With five of the returning netters playing the final games of their college career, the experience of the team will be a definite "plus" in the possibility of another winning season.

Though faced with a see Men, page 12

Kinta Otterman [L] and Willem deGroot are clutch performers for HPC netters. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck].

BY SUSAN PARKER
Staff Sports Writer

Since Jan. 15 High Point College's Womens' tennis team has been practicing in and out of the snow, getting ready for their upcoming season.

"They've worked hard and have a great attitude and are anxious to get the season started," commented coach Kitty Steele.

The lineup looks much like it did last year, minus two players. Temma Allen, who was a starter all four years, and played at No. 4, is now ineligible and Donna Pfister, who played as No. 6, has transferred.

This year three returning juniors hold the top starting position. Vicky Williams, Kinta Otterman, and Kathy Neblett hold positions 1, 2 and 3, respectively. The team is also hoping for the return of senior Marie Riley after she finishes the basketball season. Other team see Women's, page 11

Callicutt, Barnes head field events

Running events make tracksters stronger

BY MARIO WATSON
Staff Sports Writer

As winter sports begin to draw to a close and tournament time is just around the corner, the High Point College track team has been preparing for the upcoming season all through the snow and cold.

Coach Bob Davidson is confident about the upcoming season although the team is on the upswing of its rebuilding stage. "Comparing this year to last year it's a big difference," the Panther coach said. "We had only one sprinter last year and this year have four," he used for an example.

Among those who are aiding the renovation is freshman Charles Dennis of Maryland, who will perform in the 60 and 100 yard dashes, and the 220 and 440 relays. Dennis' top time in the 100 is 9.6 and he has clocked a 6.3 in the 60-yard dash.

Other sprinters include freshmen Doug Glenn of nearby Ledford High School and Jon Richardson, and sophomore Ralph Barnes, who is also one of the top field events performers.

And the field events are where the Panthers figure to gain the majority of their points. Senior Tracy Lyons and junior Rick Callicutt, two of the team's top performers, have already begun to show potential for setting some school records. Calli-cutt will be trying to top his 6-6 leaps in the high jump while Lyons has already pole vaulted 12-6 in early season relay events.

Triple jumper Ralph Barnes is just one of many talented persons in the field events. [Photo by Teresa Venuto].

Barnes could be a key if he can stay healthy, unlike a year ago. Barnes has already triple jumped 43-6 and better leaps will be expected in the latter stages of the season. Freshman Eric Hanson also adds some depth in the field events.

The biggest question mark that the team has is in the middle distances, where the performance of Bill McCowen could make the difference in the team's success.

Baseballers anxious to start

continued from page 10

Waynick and freshman Chris Otoni offers some promise.

The outfield has three openings. Vinnie Espada, Don Groseclose, Atwood, Hickman, Jimmy Garlington, and Bernie Miller are all fighting for the three positions.

Replacing Kennedy at first will either be Neil Van Asche or Joe Grabis. Van Asche performed brilliantly in the DH role a year ago getting some clutch hits in the post season tournaments.

The vacant catcher's job is also hotly contested with senior Chip Baker, transfer Barry Roberts, Bob Herrin and Randy Wilhoit all trying to gain the nod.

The team will be powerful once again this year with Reid, an all-conference second baseman, leading the hitters. But as usual, the Panthers play a tough schedule facing North Carolina, N.C. State, Clemson and playing nine double-headers.

The team should once again be a hard hitting club with Reid being a long ball threat. Pisano improved on his offensive game as the season drew to a close and Atwood and Polumbo had high averages in high school.

Women's tennis is ready

continued from page 8

members returning for this year are sophomores Michele Parsons, Monique Peyser, and Kim Wall, all who saw action in last year's games.

New additions to the team this year are freshmen Susie Urmston of Jacksonville, Fla., and Hellen O'Brien of Greystone, Ireland. Coach Steele has positive feelings of both players abilities. "I feel Susie will make the top six and bring added depth to the team. Hellen comes as a most pleasant surprise." Twisting in her chair and smiling, Steele added, "She played in the fall at No. 4 and held her position quite well. She compensates for her size, 4'11", 98 pounds, by her great will power and good court sense. She runs her opponents to death."

Coach Steele feels that this is the strongest lineup she has had since she has been at HPC.

Doubles teams haven't been set but it is assumed Vicky and Kathy will make a doubles team.

The team will begin their season, Feb. 22 when they travel to UNC-Charlotte. After spring break the Carolina Conference Division II begins.

Several large schools have scheduled matches with HPC. Some of them will be traveling down on a southern swing. Among those schools are, VPI, University of Miami-Ohio, Skidmore College from Saratoga Spring, N.Y., and two Division I teams from North Carolina, Appalachian and N.C. State.

Tuttle column

continued from page 9

sidelines. Watson's performance, as it turned out, became a determining factor in Steele's choice to place him on the varsity roster against Barber-Scotia.

English prof Butch Hodge consistently dropped in jumpers while leading an early fastbreak assault. Clark, Hallis and Watson easily controlled the boards and ever so exhausted, Hance and myself rotated with Kaler and Higgins in the backcourt. Watson and Clark bravely played a solid 40 minutes.

And when the Hi-Po worked to several six point leads in the latter stages of the first-half and in the second, the Faculty maintained their composure and rebounded aptly. Of all people, Bill Cope started the Faculty surge that lifted them over a 46-40 deficit with seven minutes to play.

With Hallis taking a short breather, I was playing on the leftside of the zone. Cope sneaked in from the baseline, received the ball and banked in a 15-footer. After Cope broke up a drive down the middle on the defensive by knocking the ball loose from the shooter, he once again dropped low on the leftside.

Pausing, puffing and finally stopping completely, he came up close and we leaned against each other. "You better not get it again," I warned, panting for air. "I don't want it," he sighed, equally exhausted. Next thing I knew Cope banked in another from the corner and the lead was two -- 46-44. He'd gained his revenge, with a personal touch.

Tiring and aching from the excruciating trot back-and-forth the varsity length court, Watson cooled off from the floor, Clark disappeared somewhere inside a mass of double-team coverage and Kaler and Higgins didn't, for some obscure reason, take a shot the whole night.

The Faculty, on the other hand, countered by shuffling fresh players into the lineup frequently.

The Faculty jumped ahead 52-50 and never trailed after, dropping into the four-corners and giving us all a needed rest. With their tempo control the Faculty proved their point; that they weren't such poor physical specimens -- and after all these years they have managed to maintain some athletic ability.

Bulletin Board

Men netters experienced

A $1000 grand prize will be awarded in the Poetry Competition sponsored by the World of Poetry, a quarterly newsletter for poets.

Poems of all styles and on any subject are eligible to compete for the grand prize or for 49 other cash or merchandise awards.

Says contest director, Joseph Mellon, "We are encouraging poetic talent of every kind, and expect our contest to produce exciting discoveries."

Rules and official entry forms are available from World of Poetry, 2431 Stockton Blvd., Dept. N, Sacramento, California 95817.

★★★★★

"DRESS FOR LESS"

The YWCA Women's Center is sponsoring a "Dress for Less" fashion show on Saturday, March 8 at 2:00 p.m. at the YWCA, 112 Gatewood Avenue, High Point. The fashions will be from area showroom and discount houses.

Tickets are $2.00 and can be purchased in Student Personnel or at the door. For people who like to dress in the latest trends yet must keep within a budget, this could be useful survival tips.

★★★★★

Roles of top-quality and varying quantity are open to the campus community and the High Point community at tryouts for the next Tower Players Production, 7:00 Tuesday February 26 and Wednesday, February 27 in the HPC Auditorium.

★★★★★

WORKING STUDENTS. If you are working to pay for or help pay for your college expenses, I'd like to talk to you -- day students and dorm students. Leave your name on the sign up sheet in student personnel and when you'd be available to talk. I'm conducting a report to the college on TOMORROW'S STUDENT, COPING WITH THE COST: ECONOMICALLY AND EMOTIONALLY. Show your willingness to be HEARD, leave your name in Student Personnel. Thanks -- David L. Bobbit.

In the event of an on-campus emergency and security can not be reached at the regular number (883-4016) there is a mobile unit number available to RA's, Housemothers and members of the administration. This is only to be used for emergencies and for that reason is not made available to the general student body.

WASH. D.C. AREA -- Need 2-3 riders on Thurs. Feb. 28, late afternoon. Susan Burditt, Belk 402, 889-3651.

★★★★★

Don't forget to drop by the career planning conference today from 9:00 - 12:30 in the campus center.

★★★★★

On February 12th, the High Point College Baptist Student Union held a Valentine's Day party for the residents of Oakview Rest Home in High Point.

The BSU members made handmade valentines for each resident. An activity of bingo was played with the residents along with musical entertainment. Refreshments were served to the rest home residents.

A reminder -- there will be a BSU meeting on Tuesday, February 26th at 7:00 p.m. in meeting room #1. Everyone is welcome to attend!

continued from page 10
tougher-than-usual roster, High Point is in top contention for the higher titles. As Jim Holleran and Joe Alamo, and Griff Thompson from Washington, D.C. area. All three of these freshmen were recruited, and top-ranked players in their areas.

Two more players are currently practicing with the team, in order to begin the rebuilding process that will occur when the five seniors graduate in May.

Although the seeds have not yet been determined, it is certain that the talents of deGroot, Parrish, Hohnhold, Evans, and Burgess will be in the past, the "Big Four" teams may prove unbeatable, but for the most part, the Panthers are preparing for their year with confidence.

All-America Willem deGroot, Chris Hohnhold, Phil Parrish -- both All-District and All-Conference players -- David Burgess, and Lane Evans are the senior members. Another veteran is sophomore Tom Willoughby. Scott McFarland transferred from Flagler College.

New additions to the squad include New Yorkers used to fill the top five spaces. In doubles, the same top seeds will compete as partners.

★★★★★

To increase the HPC community's understanding of the culture and lifestyle of the Native American (North American Indian) a week of activities has been organized that will culminate in an on-campus demonstration of Indian dancing (pow-wow).

Further information and announcements of this special week will be made following break. For more information or to offer assistance one may contact Chip Aldridge, P.O. Box 3004, Phone 889-5661.

Reasonable Rates on Quality Framing

I mount, matt and frame photos, artwork, prints or certificates for much below frame-shop cost. If interested contact me prior to February 28 and work can be finished during Spring Break. A down payment will be required. An example of my work is hanging in the Student Personnel Office over the couch. Chip Aldridge P.O. Box 3004, 889-5661 College Relations House Rm. 1.

STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

We are looking for girls interested in being counselors - activity instructors in a private girls camp located in Hendersonville, N.C. Instructors needed especially in Swimming (WSI), Horseback riding, Tennis, Backpacking, Archery, Canoeing, Gymnastics, Crafts, Also Basketball, Dancing, Baton, Cheerleading, Drama, Art, Office work, Camp craft, Nature study. Inquires - Morgan Haynes, P.O. Box 400C, Tryon, N.C. 28782.

FOR SALE

In Excellent Condition, Never Used -- Set of 10 famous Cutco carving knives and forks and matching racks; Two matching Cutco steak knives and solid oak chest; Cutting board; Knife sharpener. High Quality Workmanship. Contact Karen L. Craver, W-S 764-0502 or Hi-Po office, if interested.

The Hi-Po is circulated every Wednesday with the help of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

The Hi-Po is interested in your opinion. Write to "Letters to the Editor," P.O. Box 3510. Copy is subject to editing.

EVERGREEN

MCAT-DAT Review Course. Take the course individually in Atlanta in 3 to 5 days. P.O. Box 77034, Atlanta, GA, 30309, phone (404) 874-2454.

...voice of the '80's

"I have never seen an audience so wrapped-up in a performance in all my years as a director of student programming."

—Father Jim Doherty
Director of Student Activities
King's College
Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania

Mini-Concert
Tonight
OSC 8:00
FREE

COUPON
2209 N. Main
869-2171

Preppi's
CLIP THIS COUPON!
2 for 1
On Any Size Pizza
WITH COUPON
OFFER GOOD THRU March 19 WITH COUPON
Not Accepted For Lunch Special 26-31-8

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's
Bug Clinic

1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

Camp Counselors
Male and Female

Top Northeast Pennsylvania Co-ed camp seeks teachers, coaches and college students who love children. Specialists needed in all land, water sports (WSI) and cultural activities. Contact Joel, Greensboro representative at 272-0767.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

"Working for a better
informed campus"

Published by the students of High Point College
High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 52 Issue 10

March 19, 1980

Yearbook picture still blurry

Griffin under fire

BY SALLY DAVIS
Staff Writer

No topic, since President Carter's announcement of draft registration plans earlier this year, has gained more interest and concern on the HPC campus than the question of whether or not there will be a Zenith yearbook published this year.

GRIFFIN

Phyllis Griffin, senior, is the Editor of the Zenith. When approached with the question of the yearbook's chances of survival, Griffin admitted that there are definitely some problems. Several unforeseen difficulties have hampered the Zenith staff throughout this year.

Griffin did not receive notice that she was to serve as editor until last summer. She admitted that she could have used more training, stating, "I was a little unorganized at first. I lacked the experience I needed and I had to be trained from the beginning of the year."

Adding to the problem of Griffin's inexperience was the lack of interest shown by students. Some HPC stu-

See Yearbook, p. 3

HENDRIX

Trespasser reveals himself -literally- to Belk residents

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

A male trespasser walked into a fourth floor Belk suite last Sunday, March 9, asked where Admissions was, asked to use the bathroom, stayed in the bathroom for 20 minutes, then finally emerged -- minus his clothes.

The flasher, described as a black male about 5'10", approximately 35 years, very slender build, mustache, walked into suite 403 about 4:30 and asked sophomore Linda Underwood where the Admissions office was.

"He was dressed very nice and was very polite," she

"I told him that since it was Sunday there probably wouldn't be anyone there and then he asked to use the bathroom, so I said okay."

At the time the man entered, there were only two girls in the suite because the others hadn't gotten in from Spring Break yet. Linda said it was very quiet then, but almost as soon as the man went into the bathroom "people started coming in and out and there was a lot of commotion."

"Well, he stayed in the bathroom and he stayed in the bathroom," Linda said.

"I thought it was a little strange, but since there was so much going on, I didn't pay that much attention to it, and I thought he might be sick or something."

Then, said Linda, everything got quiet.

"April (Callahan) and I were sitting out in the lounge talking and all of a sudden he just wandered back out through the lounge looking really spaced out, went to the door, turned around and looked at us and asked again where the administration building was. Then, without saying a word, he just turned

See Intruder, p. 4

Osborne skeptical

BY SCOTT HANCE
Associate Editor

After six months of cover-ups, the real story of the Zenith was told to 16 concerned students and faculty members in an "emergency meeting" last Tuesday.

The meeting, held in the Student Personnel office, was called by SGA President Jacky Hendrix after the school received a statement from the yearbook publishers. The statement simply said that they had not received any pages from the Zenith.

This was the first time this year that the real story about the yearbook was made known. Throughout the year, there have been stories about so many pages already at the printers and so many being lost in the mail.

"This year we are as far behind as any Zenith in history," said Dr. Murphy Osborne, Vice President for Student Affairs. "Is it even a possibility?"

The situation was made known to everyone that something must be done immediately if the Zenith is to survive. Right now, the final deadline for submitting pages to the publisher is long gone by and the first page has not been sent.

OSBORNE

Phyllis Griffin, Editor of the Zenith, told the group that 50-60 pages had been completed but were scattered throughout the book and could not be sent in that manner. (It was discovered after the meeting that only

See Zenith, p. 6

INSIDE

Junior Marshals
page 4

Bong Show photos
page 5

Senior basketballers
page 10

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po, Wednesday, March 19, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

Voting -- the abused opportunity

With elections taking place today and tomorrow, I take this time to encourage each of you to vote and to vote wisely.

Far too often the democratic voting process is abused. What takes place as a result is not an honest, evaluative selection of a candidate, but merely a mockery of the purpose -- a popularity contest. Candidates should have more pride than to plea to friends and factions to vote for them as a mass vote. Those same candidates should also learn that such a vote does not necessarily reflect a group's support in them as the best candidate. It merely reflects a trend, and a poor one at that.

Anyone with eyes and ears knows that such things as the aforementioned happen right here at High Point College. One begins to see the absurdities of political distortion, all the while hearing "Promises, Promises" in the background. After the games and finger pointing are over, one finds the situation a little disheartening. That half-assed vote begins to take its toll, and many times that candidate who was slapping you on the back just last week, telling you how wonderful you are, finds trouble in remembering your name. That's the breaks. Welcome to the sucker club.

Sometimes it's hard to tell what is worse -- the individual who falls victim to his ignorance (and a shrewd candidate's smooth talk) or the individual who doesn't vote at all. There is, however, a defense for the non-voter even in his or her apathetic state, and that is that none of the candidates were believed competent. The fact that incompetency exists should yield concern, and concern should yield more candidates with a wider variety of platforms.

Many students will go to the state and national polls this year for the first time. In contrast, student elections seem very insignificant. It is this writer's belief, however, that voting habits may in fact start on the student level. Concern of issue and familiarity with candidates' positions are necessary on both levels of voting, and as the rising adult population, it becomes our vote that counts to make our tomorrow what we want it to be.

As much as we insult our America we should take time to just be grateful that we have the opportunity to actually have a vote or say-so in our governmental processes. A vote is a powerful thing -- an instrument of guidance, a tool of opinion, and one vote may often determine the outcome of a given situation.

I sincerely hope that on all levels you will weigh the candidates well and chose the individual who best represents what you seek in government. Throw away your bias and be your own judge, but most of all, vote to make your government work for you.

BY LISA D. MICKEY

Letters to the Editor

Who makes the distinction?

To The Editor:

White Awareness Year 1980???

You may feel this is ridiculous. I do. This is as Ridiculous as Black Awareness Week. I would like to ask you: Just who is making the distinction, whites or the blacks. When I meet a person I can tell with my own two eyes if they are white or black. I do not need anyone to insist on telling me that they are black and proud. I do not express, "Hey, I am white, proud, and you better remember this." So why should anyone else impose on me their insecurities.

I feel that there is no difference between white, black, Chinese, Indians, etc. until someone shows me, tells me, insists that there is a distinction.

My impression was that we are supposed to be together not separate. Who is reaching towards segregation now? Why doesn't The Black Unification Movement focus their efforts towards American Awareness and Togetherness instead of dividing the country. If there was a group established "White Awareness" I would feel the same way towards them.

Thank you for reading my opinion.

Names withheld
by request

Director appreciates article

Dear Editor:

Difficult decisions are never easy or are they welcomed by those who are affected by them. Such decisions demanded attention on the morning of February 9, Homecoming Day. Because of the winter snow and inclement weather which hit the surrounding community, well thought through decisions were made. They were decisions with which we could live.

Homecoming is an event with numerous activities which are planned months in advance. These activities are done for alumni and students alike. Thus, the decisions were made with alumni and students in mind.

Scott Hance's article in the February 20 issue of the Hi-Po is well received and appreciated by those who had to make cancellation decisions which affected so many people. I am appreciative of student and faculty understanding of the situation.

Cordially,
Dr. Robert E. Williams,
Director of Alumni Affairs

Speaker replies to criticisms

Dear Editor:

On two occasions this year in the Hi-Po, The Student Legislature of the SGA has been the object of criticism from a member of each of the other two branches of the SGA, those being the Executive Branch and the Judicial Branch. As Speaker of the Student Legislature, I feel it is time that I reply to those criticisms.

The first criticism came from the Chief Justice of the Judicial Branch (Letters to the Editor, Dec. 12, 1979). He described the Legislature as sitting "in a utopian dreamland of parliamentary procedure and bake sales," and as being concerned with the "niceties" of college life. Legislature as I see it is hardly a "utopian dreamland" since we concern ourselves with the very real problems that affect students on campus. We do not rely on a utopian impression of the "ideal student" or the "ideal college community" in making our decisions, but rather on our knowledge of HPC and its students, and our thoughts as to what would be best for both.

As for the "niceties" referred to in the Chief Justice's letter, I am not sure I understand just what he meant. It is true that the Student Legislature sometimes deals with matters that seem to be trivial. This is the case with any legislative body. The Legislature deals with the same problems that the Judicial Branch deals with; the only difference being that our concern is in proposing and implementing rules governing student life, and the Judicial's concern is in enforcing these rules. Both groups must consider what is best for the college community, while also considering what is fair and just to each individual student. It is here that I see a similarity in the purposes of the Student Legislature and the

See Speaker, p. 6

You didn't ask . . .

BY DAVID BOBBITT

Well it might just be that this old world needs a few more 'troublemakers'.

When the Zero Population Growth movement began, we were all scared to death (pardon the pun) that pretty soon there wouldn't be enough food and land to go around. Now those some advocates of ZPG are wondering who is going to pay for their Social Security.

Right now we're told to conserve energy. Twenty years from now we will have found an alternative to oil, and they'll be wondering what to do with all the excess gas we have on hand.

It continues to amaze me how otherwise fairly intelligent people continue to gaze into their crystal ball and come up with the most self-centered, egotistical, conclusions.

And they told me sheep were dumb.

You know that if one sheep runs off a cliff, every single one behind her will follow. If one sheep "baaas" 'wolfe', a thousand others will trample each other to death trying to get out of the way.

Are we any different?

Let me give an example. Several years ago, Duke Power Co. told us that if we didn't stop using so much electricity, they were going to have to go up on their rates to keep up with the demand. Well, we conserved the energy. And Duke Power has continued to raise its rates because they aren't making as much money as before. I got to believe that the less we use, the more they'll charge.

Duke power cried wolfe, and we killed each other trying to get out of the way. BUT -- you were forewarned. A small group of 'troublemakers' told you what would happen -- they were not in the majority, were against the norm, they questioned the authority.

Zero Population advocates ran off the cliff, and like good little sheep we followed. Now the only people having children are the mentally ill or otherwise less intelligent people in our society. The results: our populace is getting less intelligent and older.

Another example. OPEC is saying that if we don't curb our use of their ridiculously priced oil, we're going to run out. And OPEC has accused (rightly so) our own oil industries of running the price higher than need be. Now I ask you why OPEC, or anyone in the oil industry, would tell you the truth -- even if they knew it.

It's simple logic, my dear sheep. Simple human greed -- special interest, self-centered egotistical greed. The more complex any problem sounds, you can rest assured, the simpler it really is.

One other thing. If you think OPEC gives one single tinkers damn about Americans, think again.

As much as seven years (or longer) ago, a report to the Pentagon predicted, in very much detail, the Russian invasion of Afganistan. The author of the report, the 'troublemaker', forewarned us, yet America was caught with its defenses at rock bottom -- pants down around the knees and kneeling over.

'Troublemakers'? No. The people cited above aren't even identifiable. They were the ones who dared to go against the norms. The ones who challenged the majority and the authority.

'Troublemakers'? Not really, just people who gave a damn, and didn't mind telling others. The ones who stopped at the edge of the cliff.

'Troublemakers'. People who care.

Letter to the Editor

Baseball team says thanks

Dear Editor:

On Thursday night, February 7th, the Zeta sorority and the High Point College baseball team had a mixer at Londonderry Estates. From anyone's memory, this was the first time the baseball team had ever had a mixer with a sorority. All the players had a great time and the girls voice similar opinions, with some saying it was one of the best mixers they had ever had!

The team wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to the Zetas for the good time and for breaking that barrier of confining mixers to frats only. They found out that baseball players aren't just jocks, but intelligent as well as humorous individuals who can socialize as well if not better than any frat on campus. Thank you, Zetas.

The Baseball Team

Editor positions available

The Publications and Communications Committee requests that all students who would like to be considered for the positions of Zenith editor, Hi-Po editor, Apogee editor, and WWIH Station manager submit to the Committee a paper listing their reasons for wanting the position, their qualifications, and, briefly, their plans for the 1980-81 school year.

Their paper should be submitted to Dr. B.G. Bowman, Chairman of the Publications and Communications Committee, by 5:00 p.m., Friday, March 28, 1980. Dr. Bowman's address is 215 Haworth Hall of Science, Campus P.O. Box 3151. Final decisions will be announced by Monday, April 7, 1980.

Yearbook production way behind

continued from p. 1

dents showed up at the beginning of the year to work, but as the weeks passed, the staff size dwindled.

The Zenith staff has operated with no official advisor. "This has resulted in a lack of direction being given to the students," according to Dr. William DeLeeuw, who was recently appointed to serve as acting advisor to the staff.

The yearbook cannot be produced by one or two people. On Monday, March 17, a meeting was held which was open to all students interested in working on the yearbook. The turnout and interest shown would determine whether or not the Zenith had a future. Approximately thirty-five students attended the meeting.

Griffin began by stating an "apology for any unorganization I caused." She stated that only twenty-four pages have been completed out of the proposed one hundred, forty-eight. The explanation for this is that some pages were lost in the mail on the way to Josten's American Yearbook Company.

The general consensus among those in attendance at the meeting was that the students want a yearbook. Griffin announced that office hours will be in effect for the Zenith. She expressed the hope that the students would contribute their time towards working on the yearbook during the new hours. Griffin urged, "I need help! Anyone, with or without experience, can be given a job to do."

In order for the Zenith to be available by August, a deadline of May 26 must be met for all materials to be turned in to Josten's. It is possible that a reduction in the number of pages may be necessary so that the deadline can be met.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Griffin commented on the outcome. "I was very enthusiastic about the response! Everyone sounds like they are willing to work hard but this next week will be critical. The amount of help we receive during our office hours will be the final determining factor in whether or not we get the yearbook we want."

Dr. William DeLeeuw, acting advisor, added, "I am optimistic but cautious. A great deal will depend on the daily turnout we receive during this next week."

Another meeting will be held next Monday night in the Campus Center to make the final decision on the situation with the Zenith.

Rooms burglarized over break

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

When students Dave Schaller, Dan Darden, John Machesky and Brian Caskie returned from break last Sunday, they found a combined total of approximately $1875.00 worth of valuables missing from their rooms.

Schaller and Darden, who are roommates in 101B Belk, found approximately $900 worth of items missing from their room. Darden's collection of 42 record albums was gone and Schaller found 42 cassette tapes, a tape deck, a dissecting kit and two hunting knives missing.

Machesky's $800-$900 stereo system was stolen from his and Caskie's room, 213 Millis. Caskie's $125 turntable was also gone.

"And as the week has gone on we've found other things missing, like John's two nice leather jackets, my down vest and a brass lighter," said Caskie.

In both cases, High Point Police came and wrote up a report.

"They told us not to count on getting a thing back," said Schaller. The police report on Schaller's and Darden's thefts said that the burglars probably entered through the window because Schaller found the window unlocked Sunday night. He is certain that he locked the window before he left the Friday before, and the Belk Resident Assistants, who secured the building that Friday, are also sure it was locked. However, Mrs. Mary Young, Resident Counselor at Belk, Assistant Dean

See Valuables, p. 12

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor Alisa Walker
Staff Writers Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson,
Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis
Karen Craver, John Hallis Sharon Litchford,
Jillian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge,
Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark,
Nancy Rivers, Irish Gaymon, Greg Lukaszczuk
Typists Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown,
Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising Sharon Kaler

Head Photographer Edythe Montesana
Photographers Marissa Furpi, Tom Reddeck
David Schaller, Cyndi Roberts, Teresa Venuto,
Monique Peyser
Art..... Karen Koontz

Campus buildings house fallout shelters

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

Assorted medical supplies, 17-year-old biscuits, and debris-covered floors are nearly all that's left of what was once a frightening possibility at High Point College -- having to use a fallout shelter.

During the early 1960s, the U.S. Department of Civil Defense asked to use several buildings on campus as shelters in case of a nuclear attack or natural disaster.

With the college's approval, they picked parts of six buildings on campus to be used in case of an emergency: Robert's Hall, Haworth Hall of Science, Men's Hall (McCulloch), Women's Hall, the Fine Arts Building, and Wrenn Memorial Library.

Since then, little or nothing has been done to update the facilities except throwing out some of the supplies that were thought to be outdated.

All but one, Wrenn Memorial Library, are still considered "working" shelters by the Civil Defense Department, according to Paula Peace, civil defense officer for the High Point area, although only two shelters are presently stocked with supplies at HPC.

A narrow room in Robert's

Hall off of the projection room is where most of the original shelter supplies are still stored.

All 60 boxes of biscuit rations in the shelter are dated around or before 1963. "People could eat them in case of an emergency," Peace said, "but it could cause dysentery."

Medical supplies, which at one time included morphine, are for the most part, open and scattered throughout the store room.

The elevator shaft in Hawthorth Hall of Science acts as a small store room for that shelter.

An eight by 16 foot bomb shelter stands at one side of the Robert's Hall store room, but is unusable because the ceiling is falling and the door is off its hinges.

The large yellow and black Civil Defense signs that were supposedly posted outside the shelters have been torn down or removed over the years.

Will the shelters ever be restored? "Yes, they will as soon as the federal government gives the Civil Defense Department the money," Peace said, "but they haven't given us any funds."

According to a governmental document on civil defense in High Point published in the early 1970s, HPC shelters are supposed to support 707 people from the community and campus.

Intruder pays another visit

continued from page 1

around and walked back into the bathroom."

"Now that I thought was strange," she says.

So Sue Pooley, who was then in the suite and said "his breath smelled loaded with liquor," went down to tell Mrs. Mary Young, Belk Resident Counselor, about the man, and the other girls went outside the suite to the balcony.

As Mrs. Young was calling security, the girls stood on the balcony and through the window saw the man walk out of the bathroom nude.

"I about flipped out," said one girl.

After he "wandered around the suite" for a few minutes, he went back into the bathroom and slammed the door. Meanwhile, security pulled up in front of Belk.

"He must have known something was going on because he came back out dressed in about a minute," Sue says.

The man walked out of the suite, down the stairs and "right past the security guard," the girls said.

"We were yelling 'that's the guy, and he didn't have his clothes on,' but the security guard let him walk right off campus and into the sunset," said Linda.

Mrs. Young, who was with the security guard in front of Belk, explained why the man, who has trespassed on campus at least twice before, was not apprehended.

"We are running people off campus all the time," she said, "and to hold a person for trespassing it has to be the second time; you have to warn them first."

There was also a communications problem. The guard, Paul Alexander, said he did not hear the girls yell that the man had taken his clothes off.

"As the guy walked by, Paul warned him," Mrs. Young says. "Then I told Paul I thought he should call the Police Department, because this was the third time the guy had been on campus. He said he couldn't because he had to officially warn him first. Then I told him he had taken his clothes off. Well then he called The Police Department immediately, but it was too late; he was already gone."

Mrs. Young said that about a month before Spring Break the same intruder "walked right into Vicky William's room and scared her to death," (suite 401). He asked her where Admissions was also, and after walking across the hall to Carol Labosky's room, walked out of the suite and down into the dorm lounge where he asked Mary Beth Weber where "Bruce" was. During break, he walked into suite 201 where two tennis players had been given permission to stay and asked them where admissions was.

"I've heard that he's been over in Womans too," Mrs. Young says. "And he always wears a full-length top coat."

Walk set for April 12

The High Point College SGA is sponsoring Project Concern's Walk for Mankind on April 12.

Project Concern is a non-profit organization that helps the underprivileged with medical and dental care. Walks for Mankind are the major fundraising effort and provide a way that one may become involved in helping someone else.

Each year more than 125,000 youth and nearly one million sponsors participate in 110 cities throughout the nation to help Project Concern. Because of these walks, each year Project

Concern is extending care and healing to an estimated 1.5 million patients in more than 80 countries.

Project Concern needs you to become involved in any way you can, whether it be walking in the walk or helping with the operations of the day. Sponsorsheets may be picked up in the Student Activity office, Roberts Hall, or from any walk chairmen.

If you would like to get involved in the walk, contact Steve Burton or Scott Hance, the walk co-directors. The headquarters for the walk is in the student activities office.

Junior Marshals chosen

The following students are nominated to the Faculty to be JUNIOR MARSHALS for the 1979-1980 academic year. The grade point average of the students ranges from 4.0 to 3.368.

DANNY GLENN BERRIER - Chief, High Point, N.C.

ROBERT LEE BROWNLOW, Jr. -- Co-Chief, Advance, N.C.

COLLEEN NORA BLACKNEY, Claymont, De.
STEVEN DREW CHANDLER, Severna Park, Md.
LEO DANIEL CORDER, JR., Franklinville, N.C.
STEPHEN THOMAS HANCOCK, Trinity, N.C.
ROBIN GAIL HENSON, Brevard, N.C.
GLENN A. JONES, Medford Lakes, N.J.
SHARON ANN KALER, Huntington Station, N.Y.
GINA LEN MARLETTE, Graham, N.C.
MICHAEL EDWIN MORAN, Bowie, Md.
JONI KAY POWELL, Jamestown, N.C.
KATHERINE ANNE HARRILL TROTTER, Thomasville, N.C.

TERRY JENNINGS WARD, JR., Lexington, N.C.
MARGARET ANN WHEELLESS, High Point, N.C.
TERESA GAIL WILLIAMS, Jamestown, N.C.
VICTORIA L. WILLIAMS, Alexandria, Va.

Reserve rooms ahead of time

The Campus Center is a building that is used by a large number of students and faculty during any given day or time period.

Please cooperate by reserving the rooms that you need ahead of time. Stop by the Student's Activities Office and complete the Reservation for Facilities form. It will make for a smoother operation of the Campus Center.

No rooms will be opened for any group or individual without having the reservation form on-file.

Wed. March 19 9:00 Auditorium Admission: $1.00 DOOR PRIZES

Weekend trip planned to Charlotte speedway

The foot-stomping sound of authentic mountain music will blend with the high-pitched whine of sports car road racing machines when the 5th annual Spring Sprints for Diabetes weekend raises the curtain on the 1980 season at Charlotte Motor Speedway later this month.

The "Spring Sprints Mountain Music Invitational" -- a unique two-day competitive program featuring 16 of the best "old time" and "bluegrass" bands in the Southeast -- is set for Friday and Saturday nights, March 28 and 29.

Over 400 competitors are expected to square off in the 1110 WBT Spring Sprints for Diabetes which traditionally opens the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) "Bonus Nationals" season. The weekend's final seven 20-lap sprint events over the demanding 2.25-mile CMS road/track course are set for Sunday, March 30, with the first race beginning at 12:30 p.m.

"Adding the 'Mountain Music Invitational' to our Spring Sprints weekend will give us a true Spring festival of sights and sounds that every member of the family can enjoy," said CMS General Manager H.A. (Humpy) Wheeler. "Sports car road racing during the day with banjo picking and fiddle playing at night... it's a perfect combination for total entertainment." Wheeler discounted rumors that the Union Grove Fiddler's Convention was being moved to the Speedway.

"We considered doing that but feel that the combination of our own music festival and road racing was geared more to family entertainment than the pure music festival," Wheeler said.

"However, we feel like the music competition that we will have will be on a par with the best of the Fiddler's Conventions including Union Grove and Galax, Virginia."

The mountain music competition is scheduled to begin both Friday and Saturday nights at 6:30 p.m. with judging continuing each evening until approximately 11:30 p.m. The bands will appear on a specially prepared stage which will be moved into place on the start/finish line of the racing surface directly in front of the recently expanded main grandstand area.

The HPC Student Union is planning a trip to the weekend at CMS. The cost of the trip is $10 and includes transportation to and from, tents, and tickets into the park.

The group will be leaving HPC on Saturday morning March 29 at 9 a.m. and will return on Sunday at 8 p.m.

Interested students may sign up for the trip in the Student Activities Office. The last day for sign-up is March 25 and there is a 39 person limit.

If you need more information, contact Mark Snyder or Pete Gibson of the Student Union.

Bong Show attracts many spectators and contestants

The Fourth Annual Theta Chi Bong Show hosted many contestants and anticking judges, who were received by a rowdy HPC crowd. [Photos by Marisa Firpi]

Furniture curriculum fills void

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

A new curriculum at High Point College "fills a void in preparing people at the entry level of a career in the home furnishings industry," Robert P. Gruenberg, vice president of the Southern Furniture Market Center, said recently.

A degree program in home furnishings marketing is now being offered at HPC as one of the options offered in a B.S. Degree in business administration.

The new degree is designed to help students in concentrated aspects of the furniture industry.

"Most graduates will either go into retailing or manufacturing," said Dr. Richard Bennington, chairman of The Earl N. Phillips School of Business at the college.

The curriculum is currently in the college catalog and will be graduating its first majors (mostly transfer students) next year, according to Bennington.

New carpet and heating facilities were added to room #7 of Cooke Hall and the library of the Jiranek School of Furniture Design and Technology, New York City, was given to the college for the new major recently.

Bennington and Richard Burow, retired president of Kroehler Manufacturing Co., were responsible for most of the work in securing the new degree, although there was "a lot of input from the furniture industry," Bennington said.

HPC is the first college to offer career training in the marketing aspect of furniture manufacturing and retailing, according to an article by Jeff Johnson in the High Point Enterprise recently.

"The furniture industry keeps telling us there will be plenty of job opportunities for our graduates," Bennington said.

Bennington plans to offer a course in the retailing aspect of the industry next fall and furniture marketing and manufacturing in the spring.

"We hope to be in a position to offer each furniture course once each year," Bennington said.

VOTE

Today and Tomorrow

Lunch and Dinner

Campus Center Lobby

Speaker answers editorial

continued from page 2
Judicial Branch.

The second criticism I am speaking of appeared in Scott Hance's article, "Homecoming disrupted by snow; Hendrix stands by decision" (Hi-Po, Feb. 20, 1980). In this instance however, I feel the criticism was directed at me personally rather than at the Student Legislature. I think the word "legislature" was put in as a decoy of sorts.

Mr. Hance was reporting on an interview he had had with SGA President Jacky Hendrix concerning the postponing of the Homecoming Court activities. At one point, Mr. Hance dealt with "those who wanted to question the authority of Hendrix," explaining why the SGA President was in charge of Homecoming instead of the SGA Vice President as is usually the case. Mr. Hance went on to say, "I understand that this was also told to the one who decided he should check this out with the folks in Robert's Hall." To my knowledge, I am the only person who "checked it out with the folks in Robert's Hall." Mr. Hance further reported that, "As Hendrix pointed out to me, it was not a decision of the legislature but rather up to him." Considering my position in the Student Legislature, and the use of the word "legislature" as what I believe to be a decoy, I believe that that entire section of the article was directed toward me as being the "questioner of authority."

Let me explain my actions on that day. First of all, I was never told explicitly that Jacky (Hendrix) was to be in charge of the Homecoming Court activities. I knew that Kathy Connelly, the SGA Vice President, was sick, and I assumed that Jacky would probably take over her responsibilities. Secondly, after the decision to postpone the Court activities was made, a member of the Court approached me about it. She said that she and many of the other girls on the court whom she had talked to wanted to go ahead with the activities as scheduled. She asked me if I could check into it for them and I said that I would. Since I could not get in contact with Jacky, I spoke with Mr. Cletus Kruyer, Vice President for College Affairs, and with Mr. Bob Williams, Director of Alumni Affairs. They told me that from their standpoint they had no objections to proceeding with the activities as scheduled, if the girls on the court wanted to. They said that I should talk to Jacky about it. While I was trying to contact Jacky by phone, Mr. Kruyer came into the room and said that Dean Hanson had said that the decision to postpone the activities was final, as it was too late to reverse it. I said that that was fine and I went on about my business.

The point is, I did not question Jacky's authority for my own personal interests. I questioned his decision for the benefit of the girls on the court who had asked me to check into the situation. I am an elected representative of the students to the SGA. One of these students came to me with a question and I checked it out for her. My personal interests had nothing to do with my actions.

Too often in journalism, both sides of a story are not told. By not finding out who the "questioner of authority" was, and by not getting that person's account of the events, Mr. Hance made an unfair implication. I would hope that in the future, Mr. Hance will investigate a story more thoroughly before reporting on it, so that he can be sure to get all of the facts.

Mike Showalter

Zenith receives added support

continued from p. 1

24 pages were actually completed at that time.)

Griffin then went on to say that the book could be delivered by Aug. 9 if all the materials were completed by May 26.

"This is not just a yearly problem," Osborne said. "We've had problems fairly consistently." He then explained that over the past 8 or 9 years there has always been problems with the yearbook.

Griffin said that she thought the book could be done by the May 26 deadline. She stated that the Society for Collegiate Journalists had volunteered to help her and that an appeal was going to be made asking for any student to come and help.

The question of quality was then brought up.

"Some of our books in the past were not as good as high school quality," Osborne replied. He also said that he felt many students were displeased with the yearbooks they were getting.

It was decided that a meeting be set up to see how many students would reply to an appeal for help and to decide the fate of the Zenith after that meeting.

On Monday night, some 35 people attended the meeting and some reorganization of the staff was accomplished and office hours were set up so students could come work when they had time.

An encouraged Osborne said following the meeting that he thought there was now a possibility.

"The students have rallied. I think there is hope," he said.

Hendrix was also pleased with the turnout and stated that the final decision would come next week. "The situation will be evaluated next Monday and we'll see how much work has been done in one week."

"I don't know if we will have the yearbook as previously perceived," Osborne said. "We'll see what's been done in a week."

Elders Day Schedule

8:30-9:45 a.m.	Registration, Coffee, and Get Acquainted in the lobby of McPherson Center.
9 a.m.	Attend the Class of your choice
10 a.m.	Attend the Class of your choice
11 a.m.	Address in Hayworth Chapel The Image of Older Americans In The Media by Lydia Bragger
12:30 noon	Lunch in Campus Center. Tickets $2.40
1:30 p.m.	Meet Mrs. Bragger; informal session with Senior Citizens and students

April 9 is Elders Day

Elder's Day will be held on the High Point College campus on April 9, 1980.

This is an opportunity for senior citizens to participate in college classes and discussions of their interest.

There will be a lecture at 11 a.m. in the Hayworth Chapel by Lydia Bragger, chairperson of the National Gray Panther Media Watch. The topic will be "The Image of Older Americans In The Media." All students and faculty are invited to attend.

Any persons interested in participating with Elder's Day on campus please contact Dr. Karmel in the Gerontology Department as soon as possible. Your assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Students are needed to act as host/hostess to elder visitors and escort them to a class.

Feel free to invite all your older friends and relatives.

Attorney speaks during Black Awareness Week

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

"This country has never been the land of opportunity for black people," U.S. Attorney H.M. "Mickey" Michaux said recently.

Michaux spoke at one of the many events sponsored by the Black Unification Movement of High Point College as part of Black Awareness Week Feb. 18-24.

"Black mothers are three times more likely to die in childbirth than white mothers, and the unemployment rate of blacks is twice that of whites," he said.

In his speech, Michaux expressed his feelings on how black people could become "truly free" in a predominantly white society.

"We must find a new self-image," he said. "The one thing we must do is to become deeply involved in the political process. With a dynamic will, we must transform our minus into a plus."

Shuttle service used

The Student Union sponsored a shuttle service to and from the Regional Airport over the Spring Break.

Eighteen persons signed up for the rides to the airport on Friday with three going to the bus station.

On Sunday, some 33 persons were brought back to the campus via this service.

Dean Tingle did the driving due to the College policy of having a staff member drive the vehicles.

"After hearing that the one-way fare to the airport was $7.50, I knew that many students were being taken for a loss and Student Union decided to do something about it!"

"After all, this is student money and it is time that they received a direct benefit from their student activity dollars," Tingle said.

AL'S BICYCLE SHOP

800 MIDLAND AVENUE
THOMASVILLE Phone 476-2028

Bicycle Sales and Service

Hours: Tues. thru Fri. 1-6
Sat. 10-6
Take National Highway 1
block past Unity St. then turn right on Midland.

BEESON HARDWARE COMPANY

214 N. Main St. - Ph. 887-3141

Hardware & Sporting Goods

Since 1883

GRAY-ART FLOWER SHOP
103 E. Lexington Avenue
High Point, N.C. 27262
Telephone: 882-8197

"Let Our Flowers
Say It For You"

Census takers will also visit campus

The twentieth nationwide Census will take place soon, starting April 1. Students should be aware that cooperation with the census is required by law.

The purpose of the census has not changed since its beginning in 1790, which has been to help guide the distribution of billions of dollars in Federal funds to State and local governments, help in government housing planning and in other ways.

Every household in the United States will receive a census questionnaire in the mail. Those households that do not mail back the completed questionnaires will be visited by census takers who will obtain the required information. Every one per cent of the population that cooperates with the requests to mail back the completed questionnaires will save taxpayers $2 million in follow-up costs.

All census information will be kept confidential by Federal law. Violation of the law would cost a census employee a prison term of five years and a fine of $5,000.

College campuses will be visited by census enumerators. The questionnaires are usually delivered to all student housing. Students should then fill out the questionnaires and either drop them in a provided deposit box, or give them to a census enumerator when he/she visits.

Enumerators must call on students who do not return the questionnaire as an added expense to taxpayers.

Finally, students who live off campus will receive questionnaires by mail. Students attending college and living at home are counted with the family household.

Honor society selects new member

The Order of the Lighted Lamp, High Point College's oldest honor society, has selected its new members for 1980.

The requirements for the society call for an average of 2.75 for the last five semesters the candidate is in school, excellent character, leadership and outstanding service to the school.

The following seniors have been selected to the society in addition to the members already initiated: French Bollen, Ellen Carmine and Ross King; Winifred Adkins, Diane Bednarcik, Cindy Briggs, Katherine Connelly, Willem deGroot and David Douglas.

William Reisenweaver, Michael Rogers, Janet Spaulding, Mark Walling and Vickie Williams were also senior selectees.

Juniors selected to the society were Steven Burton, Tammy Garrison, Jacky Hendrix and Michael Showalter.

Next Parents Day set

The next Parents Day will be held September 20, 1980 when parents will be invited to spend the day on campus for a visit with the faculty and College administrators. Calendar problems required a change from the date of April 12, originally set for the annual visitation.

Parents Day is managed by Mr. Kruyer, vice president for college affairs. Mr. Kruyer said he hoped that all the students would notify their parents of the new date, and that families would make plans for attendance in the fall.

Student Union elects officers

The HPC Student Union recently elected its officers for the upcoming year.

The new president for the group is Irish Gaymon, a junior from Greensboro. She is a communications major.

Debbie Hutter is the new business manager and Peggy Pesce was elected as secretary.

Nine other people were elected as committee chairmen. Three committees elected co-chairmen. These include Pete Gibson and Mark Snyder, Recreation and Tournaments; Terry Spittel and Tracy Yarbrough, Movies; and Elizabeth Brock and Carolyn Shughrue, Dance.

Lee Williams was chosen as the publicity chairman and Foncia Bowman will serve as the coffeehouse chairman. The new concert chairman is Eddie Mullis.

The Student Union is open to all students. Meetings are held on Mondays at 11 a.m. in the conference room of the Campus Center.

All newly elected officers and chairmen welcome new members in order to generate programming ideas. A student may become a voting member by attending three consecutive meetings and being sworn in.

APO members saved their rock from I-85 construction but not from phantom painters. [Photos by Marisa Firpi]

Library report released

BY DANNY BERRIER
Contributing Writer

Based on the information contained in the report issued by the Library Committee, a new library for the HPC community still appears to be a distant dream.

The report was published at the halfway mark of visits of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and has been made public to provide the student body with details concerning the progress made toward satisfying the recommendations made by the Association on its last visit in 1974.

Of the sixteen proposals made by the Association, six have received no action. Much progress has been made in the remaining areas, including more staff help in the library, attempts at making the present structure more appealing to the students, and enlarging the periodical collection.

The main recommendation made by the Association was the need for adequate library space to house the various materials needed for an active college community. This could be interpreted to mean either the building of a new structure, or expansion of the present facility. The Library Committee did complete a study on the construction of a new library in 1977 and submitted this plan to the Board of Trustees. As of January 1979, the Trustees had made no response to the proposal.

The report of the Library Committee does include a letter from President Patton to Mr. Lyman Rickard, Chairman of the Committee, dated October 5, 1979. In this letter, Dr. Patton states that the most promising outlook for new library buildings appears to be additions to the present structure, financed one step at a time. The reasoning behind this policy is the difficulty the Trustees feel would be met in raising funds for a new library.

Much progress has been made in completing many of the recommendations made by the Association, but the highest priority issue, the need for an adequate library, still has a long way to go before it is satisfied. A copy of the total report is available in the present Library to any interested student.

College Village Exxon

1100 E. Lexington
phone 889-7043

Service on American and Imported cars
Road Service Available

Happiness is . . .
you & me and
Stella d'Oro.

Enjoy now the excellent food and live entertainment of Stella d'Oro in High Point — a family restaurant specializing in Italian & Greek cuisine!

Entertainment

FRI. & SAT. LIZA McDOWELL
Mon.—Tony Davis, Guitarist; Tues.—Arnie Melo, Cordionist;
Wed.—Lisa McDowell, Sitarist; Thurs.—Kim Cooke, Guitarist

All Beverages Served
HOURS: MON-FRI 11 A.M.-2:30 P.M.
Re-Opens 5 P.M.-10 P.M. SAT. 5 P.M.-10 P.M.

Stella d'Oro
RESTAURANT

in HIGH POINT MALL
869-2424

ARTIFACTS

MUSIC: March 22 -- Kenny Rogers, Greensboro Coliseum, 4:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.

March 23 -- Bob Seger, Greensboro Coliseum, 8:00 p.m., tickets now on sale.

March 25 -- Piedmont Artists Concert Series presents Anita Bultman Tritt (Pianist), Hayworth Chapel, 8:00 p.m., free.

ART: March 7 - April 27 -- Henry Betak and Norm Schulman: Acrylic Painting and Ceramic Sculpture, SECCA, Weekdays 10 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. (except Mondays); Sunday 2:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. No admission fee.

March 19 - 30 -- Jim Coates: Solo Exhibition of 5 Word Sculptures, SECCA, Time same as above. No admission.

March 19 - 30 -- Theodora Skipitares: Solo Exhibition of Performance Pieces by the WFU, SECCA. Time same as above. No admission.

March 20 - 21 -- Gerry Tsonakua Rancourt (Canadian Abenaki, artist and story-teller), High Point College Old Campus Center, 8:00 p.m., free.

March 22 -- Tipi Demonstration -- Set up and display of plains style Cheyenne dwelling, (weather permitting) Grassy areas between Roberts Hall and Womans Dorm.

March 22 -- Pow-wow (Social dance) demonstration, (weather permitting). Same as above, otherwise -- upstairs Campus Center, 2:00 p.m.

DANCE: -- March 19 -- Ohio Ballet, High Point Theatre, 8 p.m. Tickets -- adults, $7.00; students, $3.00 using discount tickets available in Student Personnel.

Perry Leopold, who has performed with such artists as Jerry Garcia, Janis Ian and Hall and Oates, will appear in a HPC coffeehouse, Thursday night, March 27. The coffeehouse will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the old Student Center.

Program helps students work abroad

Now, more than ever before, students can reduce the cost of a trip abroad by living and working in another country. This summer, hundreds of U.S. students will find jobs in France, Ireland, Great Britain and New Zealand through the WORK ABROAD program sponsored by the Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE).

Participants must find their own jobs, but they receive help from cooperating student organizations in each country. In France and New Zealand, they may work during the summer; in Britain and Ireland, they may work at any time of the year for up to six months and four months, respectively.

The jobs are usually unskilled -- in factories, department stores, hotels, etc. -- but they pay enough to cover the cost of room and board. A typical job might be that of a chambermaid or porter in a hotel in London's West End.

Last summer, one enterprising student found work as a wool presser on a New Zealand sheep farm.

Students must be at least 18 years old and able to prove their student status. To work in France, they must be able to speak French. For more information and application forms, contact CIEE, Dept. PR-WA, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, NY 10017; or 312 Sutter Street, San Francisco, CA 94108.

A review

First concert presented

BY ALISA WALKER
Entertainment Editor

The High Point Arts Council presented its first spring concert of the Piedmont Artists Concert Series Tuesday night, March 11 in Hayworth Chapel.

Opening the first night of the concert series was Janet Schumacher O'Brien, mezzo-soprano. With Louise Feeme Schubert at the piano, the beautiful mezzo-soprano sang a program devoted exclusively to the French art songs.

She chose songs by Faure (NELL), Debussy (BEAU SOIR), and Bachelet (CHERE NUIT). She also did a group of songs from My Fair Lady by Loewe and Lerner. As each song was sung one could realize that the French songs contain masterpiece after masterpiece.

O'Brien studied voice with Ellat Toedt at Juilliard School of Music. She also studied under Nevada Van der Veer at Cleveland Institute of Music.

O'Brien's singing pursued the familiar course like that of a professional performer. She sang each song as if she were telling a story. In each song she mastered the great techniques of singing. Her diction and dynamics were excellent. Each word could be understood perfectly.

Her accompanist, added greatly to the French songs. She also mastered each song perfectly. Schubert studied music for 17 years privately with Elmer C. Steuk, a Leschetizky exponent. She also studied organ.

This concert was only the beginning of the three more to be performed in Hayworth Chapel. All in all, it was an enjoyable program.

Students shown native lifestyle

BY LINDA CAIN
Staff Writer

The High Point College community is learning about the life style of the North American Indian through a group of days designated as Native Awareness Days. The days March 10-22 emphasize the art, dance, and music of a people whose culture is closely tied to the earth.

The Days were organized by Chip Aldridge as part of an Independent Study for Dr. Hawk.

Through the Native American Awareness Days, Aldridge "hopes to be able to enlighten people who have a limited knowledge of Native American ways, help them to know that Native America is a living culture, and give a broader understanding of their depth of art and understanding of dance."

Highlights of the week include an art exhibit by the graphic artist Allen R. Waters of Stoneville, North Carolina in the lobby of the Campus Center, a talk by Aldridge on Modern Native Social Dancing from a cultural perspective, and a visit by Gerry Tsonakua Rancourt.

ALDRIDGE

Aldridge became interested in Indian and Indian Culture through the "Order of the Arrow" an Honor Organization in the Boy Scouts.

The organizer said he met Rancourt at an Order of the Arrow sectional conclave, where Rancourt was serving as a judge for dancing competition. Since then he has had contact with Rancourt at several pow-wows and seminars on Indian culture.

Rancourt, a Canadian Abenaki artist and story-teller, is currently artist in residence and programs coordinator for the Charlotte Nature Museum. He has formally held positions with Metrolina Native American Association and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. He has also been associated with American Indians for development and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

During his visit to High Point College he will lecture to the religion and sociology classes and give a display of his art work.

He will give a fire-side story telling on March 20 at 8:00 p.m. in the Old Student Center. The following day interested students are invited to have lunch in the Faculty dining room with him.

The week will conclude with a Tipi Demonstration of the plains style Cheyenne dwelling between Roberts Hall and Womans Dorm and a Pow-Wow.

Art competition open

The Center for Creative Leadership announces an art competition for residents of Guilford County.

The winner of the competition will be selected by a panel of three judges, and will be disclosed at an opening reception to be held on June 20, 1980, at the Center. The works submitted will be on exhibit during the month of July.

The winning selection will become the property of the Center for Creative Leadership, and will be used in a Fourth of July card -- a four color reproduction -- with a notation giving the artist's name and information about the work. The winner will receive $250.

This card, with a short message from the Center, will be mailed on July 4th to approximately 10,000 interesting people.

Callicutt sets new High Point College high jump mark

CALLICUTT

Junior Rick Callicutt broke his old High Point College high jump mark of 6-7 1/4 March 16 when he leaped 6-9 in the Panthers' loss to Towson and J.C. Smith.

A native of High Point, Callicutt snapped his previous high jump record set a year ago. Injuries have plagued each of his three seasons here and not until Saturday had he been able to vault powerfully. The new record is also a personal high.

Callicutt graduated from Ledford High School in 1977, where he was a three sport athlete -- specializing in football and track. He holds four Ledford school records for the track and is also participating in basketball.

High Point College's Hi-Po

The Hi-Po, Wednesday,
March 19, 1980 - Page 9

HPC left from AIAW field

BY GREG LUKASZCZYK
Staff Sports Writer

When the AIAW national tournament concludes at the end of this month, noticeably absent from the field of contenders will be High Point College. By virtue of an eighth place finish in the Regional II tournament in early March, the Lady Panthers, winners of the coveted national crown in 1978, failed to receive a bid to the national for the first time in four years.

LITTLE

High Point finished the season 24-8 and concluded its season at the regional tournament in Radford, Va. Following the tournament nine at-large invitations were extended and the Lady Panthers were not among the recipients. Two North Carolina schools -- Elon and Lenoir Rhyne -- did receive bids.

It seemed imminent that the Lady Panthers' post-season future was bleak after an opening round regional loss to 1979 national champion South Carolina State 100-72. The Panthers rebounded by ousting Kentucky Division II champion Campbellsville 95-81, and Radford 101-85 to finish the tourney fifth.

"Without a doubt they're the best team we've played," see Women, page 11

Coach Jerry Steele discusses High Point's "deep freeze" strategy in championship loss to Catawba. [Photo by Pete Petrea]

Stalls fail, HPC concludes season with losses

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

The Panther's season came to an end with a 40-37 loss against Belmont Abbey in the first round of the NAIA District 26 Tournament.

High Point won a spot in the District 26 playoffs by defeating Pfeiffer 62-47 in the Panthers' last home game of the year. The win was the Panther's 20th this season against just six losses.

In the opening round of the Carolinas Conference Tournament the top-seeded Panthers played last-place Pfeiffer again. Jeff Anderson scored 16 points in leading the Panthers to a 61-54 win over the Falcons. The Panthers advanced to the semifinals against Guilford.

In the semifinal game Junior Brown scored 20 points on a 10-for-14 shooting right from the floor as the Panthers defeated the Quakers, 73-64. Bruce Floyd tallied 15 points and the Panthers advanced into the Carolinas Conference Tournament finals against second-seed Catawba. Leading up to the tournament finals Catawba had won its last nine games including two meetings against the Panthers.

Coach Jerry Steele decided to employ a spread offense in an effort to contain the Indians' running game. At half-time the Panthers had taken only one shot. When the final buzzer sounded the scoreboard showed that Catawba had won the patte of patience 10-9.

Steele explained his strategy stating that "Catawba was on a nine-game winning streak and our team doesn't match up well with theirs." Coach Steele said that the Panthers played the game exactly as they did when they defeated Gardner-Webb earlier in the season,

see Panthers, page 11

Panther nine struggles to early 5-4 record

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

The Panther baseball team played nine games so far this season despite cold weather and a great deal of rain. The Panthers are currently 5-4 with a 1-1 record in the Carolinas Conference play. In their opening game of the season against UNC-Pel Hill the Panthers had hits and 9 runs, but the Quakers scored 10 runs. The Panthers stranded 15 men on base. Coach Jim Speight credited untimely hitting to the team's major problem for this season. He said, "We played a good game close. They have good hitters throughout their line-up. We played fairly well."

The Panthers next swept a double-header from Susquehanna, 5-1 and 15-0. Sophomore Bob Hearon led the offense for the day with two home runs and seven runs batted in. Tom Waynick and Mark LaFranco were the winning pitchers.

The Panthers then travelled to South Carolina to play perennial powerhouse Frances Marion. The Panthers scored five runs in the seventh inning to win, 5-1. Coach Speight credited the win to the team's pitching. He noted, "We got real good pitching from (Jason) Crump, (Jay) Schwamberger, and LaFranco." Senior LaFranco was credited with his second win of the young season.

High Point's next game came against N.C. State. The Panthers were losing 5-3 going into the fifth inning when the Wolfpack scored nine runs. State added 14 runs in the next four innings for a 28-3 win.

The Panthers next hosted conference rival Atlantic Christian for a double-header. The Panthers, behind the pitching of Crump, defeated ACC 8-6. In the second game the Panthers fell behind early and were unable to catch up, losing 7-1. Coach Speight said, "We were never really in the game. If Jay (Schwamberger) gives up ten hits every time he pitches, it's going to be a long year."

Fairmont State of West Virginia was the Panther's next foe in a double-header. It was the first time that Fairmont had been outside to play baseball due to the weather. Everything seemed to go right for Fairmont and they went on to win, 4-3. Speight explained the loss, "I think Fairmont played over their heads in the first game. Sometimes after a team has laid off for awhile they seem to perform better their first time out." The Panthers avenged the first game loss by whipping Fairmont State, 13-3.

Speight is extremely optimistic for the season's outcome. Although the Panthers see Speight, page 11

Seniors, Do You Remember . . .

. . The Times of Your Life

The past four years have been some of the most memorable in High Point College sports history. In this pictorial, reflecting the past four years, these graduating basketball players have been a part of gilded days. 1]. The Women's 1978 national championship team. 2] Coach Jerry Steele instructs his 1979 District champs. 3] Danny Anderson was a four year starter and Marie Riley [4] was twice All-America. 5]. Joey Yow was a big contributor. 6] Pam Henline played under three different coaches. 7] And Bob Hovey celebrates the Panthers' 1979 league championship.

Blanchard selected league's top player

All-America HPC womens' basketball center Andreia Blanchard has been chosen as Carolinas Conference Player of the Year. The 6-1 Blanchard led the High Point College team to the conference regular season championship with a 24.4 points per game average.

Selected to the league all-conference team from High Point were senior Marie Riley and Bruce Floyd of the regular season mens' team. Danny Anderson and Junior Brown were named honorable mention.

Blanchard shot 66 per cent from the floor while leading the team in rebounds (12.3 rpg). She scored a season's high 39 points against Pembroke Feb. 29, in which she also grabbed a season's high 19 rebounds.

Riley was added to the team for the fourth straight year. The two-time All-America forward led the team in assists with 156, averaged 17.6 ppg and 7.9 rpg. Riley had the year's high in assists with 12 against Guilford Feb. 9.

Floyd was the only male Panther to make the squad. The Philadelphia, Pa. sophomore paced the men in scoring at 11.8 ppg and connected on 57 per cent of his floor attempts. Floyd held one season for High Point, hauling down 15 rebounds against Lenoir-Rhyne Jan. 12.

Andreia Blanchard shows her All-American form
(Photo by Tommy Reddeck)

Women complete season

continued from page 9

"HPC coach Nancy Little said of S.C. State. 'I told my team we'd have to have a very smart game and we didn't do many smart things. It's a defensive and mental game and that's where we'd have to win it.'"

Post-season tournaments offered no rewards for the first-year coach, whose team failed to win the Carolinas Conference for the first time in five years, dropped the state, and floundered at the regional. The Lady Panthers lost to Atlantic Christian for the conference championship 68-63. The loss was HPC's first in 12 tournament games dating back to 1975.

High Point opened the tourney with a 95-45 rout of Catawba in which all ten players scored. Center Andreia Blanchard connected on 10 of 11 floor shots for 22 points while Marie Riley chipped in 17 and Dee Dee Wardlaw added 12.

The Lady Panthers then lost to ACC after failing behind 39-28 at the break.

Speight remains optimistic

continued from page 9

thers lost a great deal of experience from last year's NAIA runnersup, including the entire outfield and catcher -- Speight remains optimistic. "We have a chance to be as good as last year. Almost all of our pitching is back and if Terry Thompson and Tommy Waynick return successfully from shoulder problems, we'll be stronger than last year."

Speight recruited freshman Sam Atwood from Bowie, Md. The second year coach considers Atwood to have all the tools necessary to become an excellent outfielder. The infield is almost identical to last year's, with the exception of sophomore Neil Van Asche at first base.

Speight summarized the outlook for this year's team, "We have a key stretch coming up with four district games in four days. If we win those four games, we'll have a good jump on a good year."

HPC netters weather rough start, but wins

BY NANCY RIVERS

The High Point Men's tennis team has begun another tough season of action, and currently holds a 5-4 record as they enter the fourth week of play. Though the netters have met with several strong contenders, the big matches are yet to come.

The Panthers began their 1980 season with a home win against West Virginia University, followed by a second victory against Livingstone College. The netters suffered a conference loss to Appalachian State with a disappointing 5-4 match.

The Panthers picked up some stride with a strong win against Westchester State, but were defeated brutally by conference powerhouse Carolina (9-0).

On March 11, the man defeated the University of Rochester, and on the 15th they aced Mercyhurst 5-4. Two upsets came to the team against Presbyterian and East Tennessee State, both matches went 5-4.

Senior player William deGroot is currently the number one seed, and plays number one doubles with netter Lane Evans. Phil Parrish, another veteran member, held the number two seed until recently, when he suffered an injury during a match.

Chris Hohnhold, playing at the number three position, has not had a strong season thus far, but is playing consistently at number four, and in the number two doubles team. Veteran Dave Burgess is showing his abilities at number four, and has had several important wins.

Freshman Jim Halloran is clearly a tough conference contender at five, and has had a successful season to date. Griff Thompson, another freshman, is playing at number two -- and though a rookie on the squad, he recently surprised the Panthers with a close loss against Mercyhurst.

Senior Lane Evans holds the most successful record, with seven wins and one loss to his credit. At the number six seed, Evans promises to be a tough player in the conference.

Several big conference matches are upcoming -- the netters will meet Guilford and Atlantic Christian back-to-back in April. This week, the team plays Elon at home today, and Wake Forest at Wake on Thursday.

Road Race Set

The Second Annual Greenville Road Race, sponsored by the Easter Seal Society, Bond's Sporting Goods and the Coastal Carolina Track Club, has been slated for April 5.

Interested runners can obtain applications for the race from the Northeast Regional Office of the Easter Seal Society, 114 East Third Street, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Registration for the run is $5.00, all of which goes to the Easter Seal Society.

Panthers' season ends with tourney losses

continued from page 9

except the Indians refused to try to force the action. Asked if he was faced with the same situation and the same choices of game plans again, Steele emphatically said, "I'd play the game the exact same way." Coach Steele emphasized that the team performed very well and that he accepts full responsibility for the loss. "We gambled on the spread offense, the team accepted my strategy, and played well. We lost, that's about it."

That loss was followed by the Panthers' final game in the opening round of the NAIA District 26 Tournament. The Panthers finished the season with a 22-8 overall record. The season marked the second consecutive 20-plus win year for Coach Steele, bringing his lifetime record to 276-179.

Coach Steele summarized the season, "I feel that we had a pleasant, surprisingly good year. Of course I'm momentarily disappointed that we didn't go farther, but we played well and we went farther than we could've possibly expected. We had a young team and we weren't overpowering, we played hard and smart. I feel that this year we played harder and smarter than we played in the last eight years -- we had to.

Among the many surprises and disappointments during the season, Steele said that the biggest surprise this season had to be the performance of the four freshmen -- Junior Brown, Jeff Anderson, Butch Bowser, and Roosevelt Brunson. He said, "They played way above anyone's expectations." Coach Steele considered the only disappointment this year to be the injuries to seniors Danny Anderson and Bob Hovey. "I feel very badly for Danny and Bob because they were injured for a great deal of their final seasons. Danny and Bob, along with Joey Yow deserve a great deal of credit for contributing to the program for four years."

Coach Steele's main recruiting interest is in added rebounding strength. Steele said that the kind of year that the team will have next year depends on how the players conduct themselves off the court. He said, "If they conduct themselves well and work hard on their books, as well as their game, we'll look forward to another fine year."

BRUCE FLOYD

Valuables taken over break

continued from p. 3

Bruce Tingle and Schaller and Darden all say that unlocking the window from the outside without breaking it would be impossible because of the way the window is constructed.

"We think someone had a key," Schaller said. He added that because of a safety mechanism on their door it cannot be opened with a credit card.

Mrs. Young said a key has never been lost in that suite.

A group of basketball players who stayed in that suite until Tuesday of Spring Break because of District Playoffs said that they kept the suite door locked at all times even when they were in their room.

Caskie said that his roommate, who left after he did the Friday before break, was sure he locked the window and the door.

"And when he came back, all he had to do was open the door -- it was unlocked," Caskie said.

Schaller said that his dissecting kit was taken from his desk drawer that that it was obvious someone had gone through all his drawers.

"We felt that whoever took these things must have been familiar with the room," he said, "because the tapes were under my bed where I always keep them and my tape recorder was on a bottom shelf."

Dave and Dan also noted that a brand new stereo system and a typewriter which had been "sitting right in the open" had been left behind. "All of the things that were stolen could have been easily concealed," they said.

Vice President of Financial Affairs Earl Dalbey said that in the last year around $15,000 of valuables have been stolen from students' rooms during breaks.

About 90% of the things stolen have been stereo equipment," he said. "And all the thefts appear to be the work of professionals. More than one person has to be involved because it would take at least two to carry out one of those stereos. And it's also weird that the rooms with the best stereos are hit.

Scholar weekend termed successful

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

This past weekend, March 14 through 16, High Point College saw the arrival of 86 candidates vying for Presidential Scholarships. A total of forty-five scholarships at varying degrees of monetary value were competed for.

The Presidential Scholarships are worth $5,000, $3,000, and $2,000 respectively over a four year period. The amount of the scholarship awarded depends upon the qualifications of the individual nominees.

All the nominees are academically strong, but of equal importance in the scholarship process are the interviews which were held during the weekend. The nominees are individually interviewed by interview groups made up of two faculty members and three current Presidential Scholars. Guidelines were followed which focused on the candidates' future goals, leadership qualities, and community involvement. A combination of high academic potential and a high interview rating will merit the awarding of a scholarship.

There were also various social events to attend which familiarized the prospective scholars with the college, such as the Theta Chi Bong Show, the afternoon tea on Saturday and the Student Union sponsored movie, "Every Which Way But Loose." Nominees also had the chance to meet and talk with the college administration: The President of the College, Dr. Patton; Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Osborne; and Director of Admissions, Mr. Hassel. The overall response of the prospective scholars and their parents was one of impression with the quality of faculty and students on campus.

Dr. Osborne attributed the weekend's high success "primarily to the organization by present Presidential Scholars, the complete cooperation of HPC students, and the participation of faculty members in the area of interviewing."

STUDENT OPPORTUNITIES

We are looking for girls interested in being counselors - activity instructors in a private girls camp located in Hendersonville, N.C. Instructors needed especially in Swimming (WSI), Horseback riding, Tennis, Backpacking, Archery, Canoeing, Gymnastics, Crafts, Also Basketball, Dancing, Baton, Cheerleading, Drama, Art, Office work, Camp craft, Nature study. Inquires - Morgan Haynes, P.O. Box 400C, Tryon, N.C. 28782.

Bulletin Board

SOCIETY MEETING

The Society for Collegiate Journalists will have a meeting Wednesday, March 19 at 11:00 a.m., in meeting room #2 of the Campus Center. All members should plan to attend this important meeting, bringing nominations for the student and community individuals who have contributed most to publications.

BOOKSALE

The Society for Collegiate Journalists will sponsor a booksale this Saturday March 22, at the High Point Mall. The sale will take place inside the mall outside of Roses Department Store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Any book donations will be appreciated from students or faculty members.

The remaining publication schedule for the Hi Po is April 2 and April 16. Dead lines will be the Friday before the dates listed.

Meet people in the furniture industry, area schools and senior citizens' homes -- a great opportunity for business, education, gerontology, and communications majors.

Gain practical experience by working on the publicity committee for "The Tavern."

Sign up on the call board in the Fine Arts building, or see Ray Daniel or Martha McCoss as soon as possible.

Next semester, a new practicum course, English 291, will enable writing lab assistants to obtain academic credit for their help, along with receiving the usual financial benefits. In addition to working in the lab each week, the assistant will be assigned a certain number of students for which he is responsible.

By attending the freshman class with his students, he will be better able to help them with individual writing problems. Any interested student is encouraged to apply. For more information about this new and exciting opportunity, contact Miss Mary Jo Southern, Writing Lab Director.

The Hi-Po is interested in your opinion. Write to "Letters to the Editor," P.O. Box 3510. Copy is subject to editing.

LOST SOMETHING

Stop by the Student Personnel Office and retrieve the following items that have been turned in.

- 3 jackets
- 1 sweater
- 1 hat
- 3 pairs of glasses
- 5 sets of keys
- an assortment of watches
- bracelets, rings
- chemistry notebook
- sociology notebook

Camp Counselors Male and Female

Top Northeast Pennsylvania co-ed camp seeks teachers, coaches and college students who love children. Specialists needed in all land sports, swimming (WSI), small crafts, sailing, waterskiing, and cultural activities. Contact Greensboro representative, Joel, at 272-0767.

EVERGREEN

MCAT-DAT Review Course. Take the course individually in Atlanta in 3 to 5 days. P.O. Box 77034, Atlanta, GA, 30309, phone (404) 874-2454.

COUPON

2209 N. Main
869-2171

Peppi's

CLIP THIS COUPON!

2 for 1

On Any Size Pizza

WITH COUPON

OFFER GOOD THRU April 2 WITH COUPON

Not Accepted For Luncheon Special

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's Bug Clinic

1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

"Working for a better
informed campus"

Published by the students of High Point College
High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 52 Issue 11

April 2, 1980

Magill wins VP race; protest overruled

BY KAREN L. CRAVER
Staff Writer

A large turnout at the polls ushered in several new candidates and some critical questions when student body elections were held at High Point College March 20-21.

There is some discrepancy in the eligibility of one of the candidates who ran for Student Government Association vice president.

The candidate in question is Karen Magill, who won the election for SGA vice president.

According to Bettie Bolen, who was also a candidate for SGA vice president, Magill was too late in turning in her petition of 100 signatures to become eligible for her name to be placed on the ballot.

A candidate can run for an office if he or she does not have 100 signatures, but the candidates' name is not placed on the ballot; it must be written in by the voters.

Magill, who was also Elections Chairman, set an 11:00 a.m. deadline for petitions to be turned in to her the Friday before spring break, but several candidates asked to turn them in to her later that day and she agreed.

Bolen wrote an appeal to the Executive Council of the SGA concerning the alleged late petition, which was dismissed at SGA judicial meeting due to lack of evidence.

However, in the investigation it was discovered that 13 signatures on Magill's and Bolen's petitions were duplicated which exempts all 13 from both petitions.

Bolen ended up with 102 names, enough to remain a candidate on the ballots, but Magill only had 87 remaining names on her petition. Technically, Magill was not eligible for her name to be placed on the ballot unless it was written in by the students.

By the time these discrepancies came to light the election had already been held and Magill had won.

"This is one of the toughest situations they (the SGA) have ever had. We shouldn't have rules if they're not going to be followed," Bolen said.

A judicial meeting Tuesday, March 25, decided to have a new election for all candidates with enough duplicate signatures on their petitions to make them ineligible to be placed on the original ballot.

The ruling of a new election was appealed by SGA President Jackie Hendrix and overruled by President Patton.

"If there are violations with the elections, you have to turn them in within 48 hours or forget them," Dr. Murphy Osborne said.

President Patton ruled there would not be another election because of a rule in the student handbook under the Constitution of the SGA which stated that a violation of election procedure must be reported within 48 hours of the violation in order to remain valid, Hendrix said.

BETTY BOLEN

KAREN MAGILL

Magill, as Elections Chairman, was in charge of checking the petitions for repeated signatures but failed to do so.

"As Elections Chairman, I collected the petitions and turned them over to Kathy Connelly. I didn't know you were supposed to check (for repeated signatures)," Magill said.

"I'm going to recommend that we change the constitution so that only a senior can become Elections Chairman. Then there is no way a chairman can be a candidate too," Bill Reisenweaver, SGA Attorney General said.

Students rally Zenith as deadline nears

BY SALLY DAVIS
Staff Writer

We will have a Zenith this year!

The weeks of recent controversy have subsided as students have rallied to save the yearbook. The final result will be a cutback in the number of pages originally proposed.

In the March 19th edition of the Hi-Po, it was reported that the issue of the Zenith was still up in the air. At a meeting held on March 17th for any students interested in working on the yearbook, it was decided that the Zenith's future would be determined according to the amount of work done in the week to come. A follow-up meeting was set for March 24th.

On Monday, March 24, ten students (thirty-five attended the March 17th meeting) were present at the Zenith meeting. Phyllis Griffin, Editor, reported that the response during the past week had been good, commenting, "We've now used up most of the pictures. We need pictures for many of the campus organizations. Fifty-three pages are now in existence but most of them lack a picture or some typing."

Dr. William DeLeeuw, acting advisor, added that "things look bleak." He stated, "The Zenith is a serious issue about to erupt. We need to decide on a definite plan of action now."

Mr. Harry Thomas, Josten's representative, was present at the meeting on Monday. He commented, "I would suggest not giving up. Proceed with the idea of

See Zenith, page 4

INSIDE

Lots of Letters
pages 2-3

Harrison Hall controversy
page 6

The Crew, 76ers are champs
Page 8

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po - Wednesday, April 2, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

Zenith yanked by the bootstraps

Students at HPC seem to have been awakened to the fact that the yearbook is in trouble. Many of them have banded together in an effort to bail the situation out of irons and out of what appeared to be an inevitable end. Perhaps the old saying "better late than never" applies well here.

For the past few years, the yearbook's enthusiasm, leadership quality, and activity have been embarrassingly poor for the college level. Excuses have been uttered, blames have been passed and fingers have been pointed. No doubt a lot of factors have contributed to the inefficiency of this publication, but it seems to me that no matter what happens, it is the student body's fault for not coming in and demanding to know what's going on with their publication -- a publication that is financed with their own money.

After a period of deceiving silence and inactivity, the roof blew off recently for the Zenith and many things were exposed. The only good thing to happen from it all was that students got together and discovered that they didn't like the way things were going and it was high time to do something about it.

Bootstraps were yanked and suddenly, a handful of determined students quickly reorganized and started to pull off a small miracle. Quick work and hard work, but a new awareness and determination prevailed. Nobody forgot that Jesus walked on water either.

I would be a pompous snob to slander Phyllis Griffin in this column now. It is too late for slander and it is definitely not what she or anyone else on the yearbook staff needs. My inclination as a writer and organizer tells me to crucify; my tendencies towards compassion and hope tells me to believe that there is a tomorrow for the Zenith.

Okay, I believe. I believe that mistakes have been made. I believe that time has been wasted. I believe that students have come to a new realization and a new sense of responsibility. I believe that time may be beaten. I believe that the Zenith may be pulled off and yeah, that Jesus probably walked on water.

But most of all, I believe that students can do what they want to do and see what they want to see finished if they want it badly enough. Sometimes hard lessons have to be learned. Sometimes loss is all that is left.

Things can't get worse for the Zenith; they can only get better. Only thing, the Zenith can't write itself. It needs students who are willing to help and who are willing to look for the light at the end of the tunnel. That light is there, folks, but it's yours to find.

LISA D. MICKEY

Letters to the Editor

Independents get the leftovers

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the usurping of rights given to a certain group on this campus -- the independents. The independents form the majority of this campus which may come to some people's surprise since the sororities and fraternities are so predominant. It is true, though, that the independents make up 37% of this campus. So why are they treated like a minority? Why do they have less rights than those in the Greek society?

As room reservation time rolls around one can see how unfairly the independents are being treated. Millis Dorm has four rooms that have to be left open for independents giving rooms to eight independents. North and Yarkin Dorm has its third floor "designated" for independents and first and second floors "designated" as "sorority halls." The sorority girls have first choice over the rooms that they wish to live in -- sometimes displacing independents who have been living there previously. If there's room left on "the hall" after all of the sorority girls have had their choice, then an independent may move onto "the hall." It doesn't seem to matter that we all pay the same amount of money for these rooms and yet the independents don't have a fair choice regarding the room they'd like to live in. The same situation holds true in Millis.

So where are all of the remaining independents to go? They could go to Belk -- if they know someone and can afford it -- the guys can go to McCulloch and live the life of a ghetto bum -- if they wish -- and the girls can go up to third floor -- the farthest haul to any room. There is one other alternative -- moving off-campus.

Why should this burden of worrying about where one is going to live year after year be left to the independent? Why does the independent get last choice? Administration says that rooms are assigned as the room reservations and payments come in but it is "suggested" to the independents that they do not put a room on a sorority or fraternity hall as their first choice. Administration also says that sororities and fraternities are not allowed to be the only people on a hall but they allow it anyway. What they say and do are two different things.

What's the difference anyway? The Greeks from each hall all get together and choose their rooms first while the independents stand around and wait to see what is left over for them. This system just doesn't seem fair to me.

Lisa Baumann

To the Editor:

As a participant in the SCIP Program during the 1979 Fall Semester, I found the experience to be very rewarding.

I actually played the part of an employee in a real estate office where I was in charge of all advertising. I wrote copy, did layouts for a magazine and the newspapers, and wrote radio commercials. I was given a great responsibility where nothing could go wrong.

The SCIP program allows a student to work independently in a business establishment to attain actual job experience. College credit is given for six, nine, twelve or fifteen hours.

I am a Communications major and participating in SCIP was required of me. Many of the other majors have SCIP in their curriculum and some do not.

If students will check with their advisors they may find that the SCIP program is open to them. The opportunities are very rewarding.

Phyllis Griffin

Editor's Note: The Hi-Po staff encourages students to voice their opinions by writing Letters to the Editor. All letters must be signed, but the right to withhold names by request is an option for submitting writers. Students wishing to utilize this policy must request that their names be withheld. Names will be withheld only by request. The Editor keeps all withheld names confidential. Typed letters are encouraged.

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to let the student body know how much I have enjoyed being at High Point College.

This semester, with the aid of the Consortium program, I am taking Public Relations and Furniture Marketing. I have enjoyed every minute of it. the students here are the greatest.

The faculty in the business department should also be praised. Since I am a student at UNC-G, it is a welcome change to see professors more interested in the students, than their research for publication in various journals. This is a valuable asset to your school.

Sincerely,
Lynn Spagh

Student court feels Patton's decision unfair

To The Editor:

As Chief Justice of the High Point College Judicial Committee, I would like to act as spokesman for the court concerning a recent committee hearing. The case involved violations of the Student Government Election Procedures.

The committee ruled that in at least one of the recent election races a re-election was in order because of clear violations of election procedures. The court also ordered that all petitions involved in the elections were to be checked and those winners with improper petitions would have to face re-election. The reasoning behind the court's decision was the fact that with an improper petition, the candidate never should have been on the ballot in the first place.

On an appeal to President Patton, the court's ruling was overturned. President Patton felt that the re-election had to be overruled because he felt the case was out of the court's jurisdiction and he also felt that such a re-election would not be in the school's "best interests."

President Patton felt the case was out of the court's jurisdiction because of a passage in Section P, Article X of the Student Government Association Elections Procedure which states, "These violations must be reported in writing within forty-eight hours of their occurrence." President Patton interpreted this to mean that the violations had to be reported within forty-eight hours after they took place and not when they were known (thus placing the case out of the court's jurisdiction).

The court's interpretation was that the violations had to be reported within forty-eight hours after they were known; and if you look up the word occurrence in the Funk and Wagnall's New Standard Dictionary of the English Language, you will find the definition to read "an event considered not as being brought about, but simply presenting itself to notice; an unexpected or unsought event, happening."

According to the definition, I believe President Patton's interpretation to be incorrect. In terms of the decision not being in the "best interests" of the school, the court feels it should remind the administration that the present court is made up of responsible members of both the faculty and student bodies and feels itself a viable spokesman for the schools "best interests." The court spent quite a period of time debating the case and feels it came up with a fair and proper decision.

This is not the first time this year that a court decision has not been upheld and the court feels belittled by President Patton's actions. I feel that the administration should realize the type of authoritarian regime that they are running and should see such an overruling to be very detrimental to the school's "best interests."

The election procedures' violation presents us with a clear disparagement of both justice and principle. President Patton decided to let these violations "slide by" and let both justice and principle fall by the wayside. The court feels President Patton's decision to be unjustified and sees it as an abuse of his power.

Phil Ponder
Chief Justice

(The need for an editorial is supported by the entire High Point College Judicial Committee and the opinions herein reflect the majority opinion of the court.)

Letter says give greeks a chance

To the Editor:

Probably since the beginning of their existence, there has been a rivalry between greeks and independents, as well as between the fraternities and sororities themselves. A portion of this is due to natural competition and is to be expected. However, recently this rivalry problem seems to be increasing while a new rivalry between the greeks and the administration is just beginning.

There have been numerous criticisms that the greeks isolate themselves, are "cliqueish" and offer little to the school. However, there are many facts and figures to the contrary. The only difference between a greek organization and any other group, team, club, or group of friends is that the sororities and fraternities are nationally affiliated and more formally organized.

The participation of greeks in school activities for itself. The greeks make up about 37% of this school's on-campus population and of that 37%, approximately 60 to 70% participate in at least one other school activity. In the recent SGA and class elections, out of 30 people running for a position, 20 of them were greeks. Six out of the twelve Student Union chairmen are greek. About 40% of the presidential scholars are greek. A good portion of the Hi-Po staff and other publications are greeks. The co-chairmen of the Walk for Mankind are greek and the majority of the check points will be manned by greeks. And these are just some of the statistics.

I am not implying that greeks are any better... They are not. People should be considered as individuals, and I'm the first to admit that the greek life isn't for everyone. I am also not implying that the greeks should receive any special privileges, but I do feel that it is about time that the greeks quit being criticized.

The only "privilege" that the fraternities and sororities now receive are reserved areas of the dorm, which is only right since the school prohibits these groups from having their own house on or near campus.

Very recently, parts of the administration have joined the criticism and have increased restrictions on the greeks. The rent that the fraternities pay for their lounges has been raised from $500 to $600 a year. This is rather a steep jump at any rate of inflation. On top of this, some of the fraternities have been threatened that they may lose their lounges.

All four sororities share the panhellenic lounge. They have been given the option of paying rent of $360 a year or vacating it so that some other non-greek organization can use the space-free of charge. This hardly seems fair especially since they once had use of the panhellenic house which is now used as housing for students.

In conclusion, to the independents, I ask that you be open-minded and give the greeks a chance. You may be surprised, because after all we are just people too. And, to the administration, I ask that you take notice that the greeks are active and interested in our school. Maybe some of this interest should be returned.

Colleen Blackney
Box 3061

BMU feels purpose was misunderstood

To the Editor:

This letter is more or less a feed-back letter on the letter you printed in the Hi-Po entitled "Who makes the Distinction?"

I must say the person who wrote this letter should have submitted their name for the simple reason that I need to talk to them so that they could understand what Black Awareness Week is and its purpose. From what this person wrote I see they do not know.

Black Awareness Week is not a week in which black people try to get everyone to realize they are black, nor is it for black people to say they are black and proud. during the Black Awareness Week, the black students from my knowledge, did not walk around and say, "Hey, I'm black, proud and you better remember this." We as black people are not insecure in any form or fashion.

This person obviously has a very poor impression of Black Awareness. Black awareness Week is a week that the Black unification movement thought would be a good time to allow all people to learn some of the things black people have done, to learn of Black History and Cultures.

It is also a time for all people to come together and learn somethings that are not often printed in our high school and college history books. There are plenty of people, black, white, Chinese, Indian and so on, who are not aware of Black History. Black Awareness Week is a week of learning and memories of great people.

I wonder if the writer of this letter even came to any of the Black Awareness Programs. I do not feel you did, because if so, you would not have written such a biased letter.

Thank you,
Janet Riley

Vice-president, BMU

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor Alisa Walker
Staff Writers Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson,
Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis,
Karen Craver, John Hallis Sharon Litchford,
Jillian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge,
Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark,
Nancy Rivers, Irish Gaymon, Greg Lukaszczuk
Typists Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown,
Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising Sharon Kaler
Head Photographer Edythe Montesana
Photographers Marissa Furpi, Tom Reddeck
David Schaller, Cyndi Roberts, Teresa Venuto,
Monique Peyser
Art..... Karen Koontz

Zenith production increases as deadline nears

Continued from page 1
completing a book, but remember that it will take us ten weeks from the time we receive all of the complete material until the time the books are shipped."

The main holdup at this point seemed to be a lack of pictures. It was decided that appointments would be made to take pictures of HPC students will not receive their Zenith until registration next fall. The yearbooks will be mailed to graduating seniors.

The following decisions concerning the 1980 Zenith were made by the present acting advisory (Dr. DeLeeuw), the representative from Jostens (Mr. Harry Thomas), and the student editor, Phyllis Griffin.

The original 148 pages are being reduced to 100 pages with no color except for the cover design. Cost will be reduced about $1200. The money saved will be partially used to mail copies to all seniors from the Jostens plant.

The following dates and deadlines will govern the final production of the yearbook:

Monday March 31 - Proof and approve cover design

Tuesday April 2 -- Mail Cover Design

Friday April 11 -- Mail 1/2 of the pages

Friday April 18 -- Mail remaining 1/2 pages

May 9 -- First set of proofs mailed to college

May 16 -- Second set of proofs and remailing of all final approved pages to Jostens

August 11 -- Jostens mails copies to seniors and remaining copies to college for distribution during fall registration, 1980

McCulloch dorm still stands after 56 years.

McCulloch still stands

Once it was HPCs finest

BY LINDA CAIN
Staff Writer

McCulloch Dormitory. Most students refer to it as the "slums" or "the project." But little do they know that it was once one of the finest dorms on the High Point College campus.

It is one of the three original buildings on campus and was named for Dr. J.F. McCulloch, who was instrumental in the college's founding.

According to Dr. N.P. Yarborough, who came to the college to teach foreign language two years after its opening in 1926, the dorm was originally built to house one person per room and was arranged in suites with a total occupancy of 96.

The professor said that when enrollment went up, two people were placed in a room.

Yarborough, who lived in the dorm until 1932, said that the boys used to stack their beds and use the empty room for a sitting room. The professor commented that he had a bedroom and an office in the middle section that had been designed for the Dean of Students.

According to Yarborough, there was a lobby downstairs and one upstairs. The downstairs lobby had a big fireplace, a piano, and a telephone.

In 1943, the dorm became barracks for the college training detachment.

"We ran 715 students through in a series of six week sessions. The students took courses in geography, physics, math, and English," said Yarborough. If not for this, Yarborough believes, the college would have closed. Regular students at this time were asked to find another place to live.

"It was at this time that 3rd floor was finished," said Yarborough.

It has been over a quarter of a century since Yarborough lived in McCulloch and he can still remember the boys playing the songs "If I could get to it on time" and "Some of these Days" on the piano and at night he heard the bell in the tower at 1:00 a.m.

Yarborough said that by the time he had climbed up to the top of the tower, it had stopped ringing, but he found a cord that had been tied to the bell which extended to a sweet gum tree outside McCulloch. When he got outside, three boys slid various campus organizations on Wednesday, March 26. Another staff meeting would be held on the evening of the 26th to reach a final decision on the yearbook.

See McCulloch, page 12

DR. WILLIAM DELEEUEW

On Wednesday, March 26 the Zenith staff gathered once again. It was decided that the yearbook will contain 100 pages. Meeting room #1 has been given to the Zenith staff for their use for the remainder of the semester. A deadline of April 18th was set to have all materials mailed to Jostens. Student help is still greatly needed if the deadline is to be met.

SGA and class election results

SGA Executive Council

President
Vice-President
Secretary
Treasurer

Jackie Hendrix
Karen Magill
Tracy Yarbrough
Peggy Pesce

President
Vice-President
Secretary-Treasurer
Legislators

Class of '81

President
Vice-President
Secretary-Treasurer
Legislators

Scott Hance
Charlie Gross
Karen Graupensperger
Cyndi Roberts
Lisa Mickey
Stephanie Higgins
Keith Chance

Judiciary

President
Vice-President
Secretary-Treasurer
Legislators

Judiciary

Class of '82

Jan Harrison
Patty Fortus
Debbie Bouldin
Nancy Houlberg
Bryan Christian
Martha Vink
Sharon Litchford

Class of '83

Mandy McGuirt
Gary Heaton
Nancy Sierstead
Sean Russell
John Van Horn
Debbie Hutter
Carol Rogers

Alumnus donates drums

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

A High Point College Alumnus recently donated a designated sum of money to the High Point College Pep Band for the purpose of purchasing a new set of drums. According to Mr. Robert E. Williams, Director of Alumni Affairs, Mr. George S. Erath, President of Erath Veneer Corporation and a member of the Panther Club, saw what the pep band had accomplished and wanted to provide a permanent basis for its continuation.

The gift of the drum set will include a bass drum, snare, three tom-toms, two cymbals and a high hat, according to a report in the High Point Enterprise.

Lynn Upchurch, drummer and band leader for the pep band, has used borrowed drums in the past and the gift of the drum set will alleviate a major problem. "It's been a rough struggle and there was no way the College would be financially able to help out. Mr. Erath's gift has fulfilled a need and has stimulated more interest. The people currently in the band are excited about the outlook for next year, and all are extremely appreciative to Mr. Erath for his generous gift," said Upchurch.

It is Upchurch's hope to incorporate more freshmen next year and possibly have the pep band chartered as a formal College organization.

Elder's Day comes to High Point College

BY JILIAN PEEKE
Staff Writer

"Older people aren't presented in an admirable or desirable way," says Dr. Karmel, head of the two year old gerontology program here at H.P.C.

General Hospital breaks for a commercial. A thin young blond dashes out, advertising a perfume guaranteed to attract good looking men. The next commercial shows an older person. They would like to talk to the viewers about irregularity. This image, that older people use laxatives and are senile, is one that many people are trying to eliminate.

KARMEL

Lydia Bragger, chairperson of the National Gray Panther Media Watch, will be speaking on the treatment of senior citizens by the T.V. networks on April 9, 1980.

The occasion, Elders Day on campus, is geared towards educating people on concerns of people over 60 and mingling older people with younger people. Older people are going to be attending certain classes on the ninth. Many activities are planned and one can participate in one or all activities. After lunch, there will be an informal session where people can meet Mrs. Bragger. "I'd just love to have students participate," says Dr. Karmel.

Dr. Karmel teaches Gerontology, the study of aging. She thinks "through Gerontology, barriers can be broken down and bring older people into contact with younger people for the mutual benefit of both." She also feels, "It's unfortunate that people fear aging. It gets better!"

Students are encouraged to participate in Elders Day on campus. The date is April 9, 1980. Activities will be going on from 8:30 until 1:30.

SNEA awards, officers selected

BY SALLY DAVIS
Staff Writer

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) Convention was held in Greensboro, March 28-29. Members of SNEA participated in the various workshops, meetings, and exhibits throughout the weekend.

The HPC chapter of SNEA was recognized with two awards, including, "chapter with the Most Significant Increase in Membership over the previous year," and "chapter with the Most Significant Number of Freshmen SNEA members."

SNEA Held its regular monthly meeting on March 27 with Carol Kroll, National SNEA President, as guest speaker. Craig Withrow, President of Student North Carolina Education Association, was also present.

During the business session of the meeting, officers for the 1980-1981 school year were elected. They are: Cathy Wilhoit, president; Vickie Cockerham, vice-president programs; Elaine Johnson, vice-president membership; Sally Davis, secretary; and Sherry Cheek, treasurer.

Correction

The following names were inadvertently omitted from the list of 1980 Junior Marshals in the last issue of the Hi-Po. They are:

Margaret M. Pesce, Bowie, Md.;
Nancy C. Reichle, Fayetteville, N.C.; Jean Edward Small, Goldsboro, N.C.; and Michael Lane Staley, Jamestown, N.C.

Teachers award sponsored

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

The John C. and Kathleen Y. Foy Distinguished Teaching and Outstanding service award consists of a United States Savings Bond in the amount of $1,000.

The award recognizes outstanding classroom performance, interest in students as expressed through availability for advising, community and church interest and activities, production of scholarly papers, articles, books, or monographs, evident interest in professional growth by attendance or professional meetings and participation in professional organizations.

Any member of the College community may send a letter of nomination to the President of the College, and students are asked to partake in this nomination. The letter should include a description of the activities of the teacher which justifies the nomination.

The nominee must be a full-time faculty member, either full-time teaching, or a combination of teaching and administrative assignments. The nominee must also be employed by the College for three years, plan to return to the College next year, and can not have received the award within the past five years.

The selection of the award recipient will be made by a committee appointed by the President of the College, and will include two administrators, nominated by the President; two members of the Faculty, nominated by the Faculty Affairs Committee; and two students, nominated by the President of the SGA. A majority vote of the six member committee will determine the recipient.

Scholarships available

Several scholarships are available to High Point College students through the Alumni Office. These scholarships are the Louise Adams Alumni Scholarship, the P.E. Lindley Memorial Scholarship, the High Point Area Chapter Day Student Scholarship (for day students only), and the E. Vera Idol

Memorial Scholarship (for English majors only). The monetary value of these scholarships vary as to the personal situation of each recipient.

If you are interested in applying, pick up an application in the Alumni Office by April 30.

Freshmen . . . Sophomores . . .

Two Philosophies of the Summer Job

Your Basic Summer Job

- You pay to get there & back
- You pay for room & board
- Work all 14 weeks of the summer
- Your basic job description:

Your normal summer hire type job . . . working for someone else . . . not much potential for future growth or use . . . payment for your services ranging from $700 to $3000 . . . you come back to school with a little money in your pocket . . . but still have things you'd like to do or buy once you're back on campus . . . but don't have the BUCK! to do it . . .

(pretty close?)

Our Basic Summer Job

- We pay round trip air fare
- We pay your room & board
- Work only 6 weeks of your summer
- Our basic job description:

Out-door adventure type work with challenging physical and mental demands. . . Paid round trip travel to Kentucky. . . Opportunity to test your leadership abilities and potential by leading fellow men and women college students from universities across the nation. . . A chance to test your endurance and build your physical stamina & get paid for doing it. . . $500 up front plus $100 per month for the next 2 school years in college (total. . . $2500) . . . Also an opportunity to compete for a full tuition scholarship for your next 2 years at High Point worth over $7,400.00. Challenges of a lifetime in 6 short weeks. . . An experience you'll never forget!!!

Tell us. Which philosophy do you prefer?
Applications for the ROTC Leadership Summer Training Camp in Kentucky, are being accepted through April 6th, 1980.
Apply in person at the ROTC Office, lower level, Robert's Hall.

Happiness is . . . you & me and Stella d'Oro.

Enjoy now the excellent food and live entertainment of Stella d'Oro in High Point — a family restaurant specializing in Italian & Greek cuisine!

Entertainment

FRI. & SAT. LIZA McDOWELL

Mon.—Tony Davis, Guitarist; Tues.—Arnie Halo, Cordovariist;
Wed.—Lisa McDowell, Guitarist; Thurs.—Kim Cooke, Guitarist

All Beverages Served

HOURS: MON-FRI 11 A.M.-2:30 P.M.
Re-Opens 5 P.M.-10 P.M. SAT. 5 P.M.-10 P.M.

Stella d'Oro
RESTAURANT

in HIGH POINT MALL
869-2424

1-17N

Harrison Hall stands despite rumors

Though aged and battered, Harrison Hall still weathers threats of being torn down.
[Photo by Marissa Furpi]

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

There it stands like a bent old man, almost sagging in the middle, with its boarded windows and broken doors and aging brick. Inside, it is dark and musty, the faded pink walls are covered with patches, and the floor is slowly rotting.

Built in the middle of the depression, the floor laid by students and faculty members paid with sacks of potatoes and flour, it is a stubborn building. Though the Trustees threaten every year to tear down 50-year-old Harrison Hall, it still stands. Though, in President Wendell Patton's words, it is the "most horrible, ugly, filthy building on campus," it is also "the most used building," he said.

Not only does it officially house guys' and girls' basketball and volleyball intramurals, but from the time its old doors open at 3:00 every afternoon, it is never empty.

This year, as always, there have been rumors the building would be torn down, but with talk of a new library, the rumors intensified. So much so that in February, sophomore Jeff Kroehler, Vice-President of the P.E. Majors Club and next year's intramural director, went before the Interclub Council urging campus wide support for Harrison and for a renovation of the "vital building." He stated then that its location was one of three prime sites for the library.

That possibility was soon nullified however when talk of a new library changed to talk of an addition to the present one. As of now, it looks like Harrison will still be around for awhile.

Head of the P.E. Dept. Dr. Alan Patterson said, "I don't think there is any basis to think that next year or the next year that it will be torn down."

But the problems of Harrison still remain. As one student who plays basketball in the gym said, "that floor has hills, valleys, and swamps -- and nails sticking up in crucial places, like under the baskets."

Koehler emphasized to the Innerclub Council that the walls are "essentially a series of patches over holes," the boarded windows and dark walls are unattractive and add to the dark atmosphere of the building, the doors need to be changed and secured better, and the floor needs to be dusted and the bathroom cleaned more often.

President Patton says that the Trustees would not be willing to invest new money into such an old building for any kind of "permanent renovation." He is keeping the building open now against the wishes of the Trustees as it is, he said.

But according to Vice President for Financial Affairs Earl Dalbey, $2,000 has been spent this year just on maintaining the building -- lighting, repairs, providing heat when possible -- and a comparable sum has been spent in the past.

The changes Koehler advocates are mainly "cosmetic" ones that would not be too expensive, he said.

"It pretty much only needs a facelift," Koehler said. "The floor may not look the best but it is in pretty good shape. If the walls could be painted a brighter color and could be some kind of solid uniform surface, if the equipment thrown around was picked up and it was dust mopped every day; if the lights were improved, it would look 100% better." He added that better supervision of the building is also needed.

Said Patterson, "In my position, we need to start addressing the future of the building."

"The factor is safety. I don't know when the time will come when it will just be unsafe."

Once the building becomes unsafe, it will definitely be torn down, Patton said.

"It may not be the ideal facility, but it's a whole lot better than playing in the parking lot," Patterson said.

Koehler feels that, "In order to get anything done as it stands now, it will take a student effort."

"I think we would certainly consider any recommendations (students) would have," Vice President Earl Dalbey said.

It would be easy to say that the building has no future. But people have probably been saying that for the last ten years. And still Harrison stands stubbornly.

Society to hold dinner and dance

The first annual Dinner and Dance for the Society for Collegiate Journalists will be held on Friday, April 18, 1980, from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Village Green in Greensboro. All members of the Society, Communications majors, English majors, members of publications staff are invited. Reservation forms have already been mailed out.

Reservations and payment must be received by Tuesday, April 15. Cost is $10 per person attending, which includes a buffet dinner, entertainment by Greg Allen, DJ for WOKX, and eligibility for drawing for door prizes. Local merchants have donated gift certificates or actual items for the drawing.

The basic agenda is: 7-8 p.m. -- Social Hour; 8-9 p.m. -- Dinner; 9:00 p.m. -- Presentation of Awards; 9:30 p.m. -- Dancing and Entertainment; 12:00 midnight -- Drawings for Door prizes; and 1 a.m. -- Close.

The Society will recognize the full voting members now enrolled in the National Society rolls. These same students will also be recognized on Honors Day.

This dinner and dance, however, is a social function of the Society and does not constitute a formal meeting. The dance is also not an official function of the college.

For further details, contact Lisa Mickey, president.

Law school applicants expect delay

PRINCETON, N.J. -- Law School applicants are advised that the eight-week delays in processing Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) reports, caused by the late delivery of a new computer system, have been reduced to two weeks -- the level experienced in the past at this time of year.

Because earlier delays slowed the decision process in some law schools, the Law School Admission Council, sponsor of the LSDAS, has recommended that the earliest deposit date of law schools be extended from April 1, 1980, to May 1, 1980. Individual law schools, however, determine their own deadline dates.

As an additional measure, the LSDAS has also asked law schools to verify that each school has all the information from the LSDAS necessary to complete its admission decisions for the year.

More than 275,000 LSDAS reports have been produced by the system so far this year, according to Educational Testing Service, which administers the LSDAS for the Law School Admission Council.

The LSDAS was begun in 1970 at the request of law schools. Its purpose is to summarize information from college transcripts, test scores from the Law School Admission Test and other biographical information used for evaluation by law school admission offices.

Students who are faced with specific problems involving LSDAS reports are asked to write to Law Programs, Newton, Pa. 18940.

AL'S BICYCLE SHOP

800 MIDLAND AVENUE
THOMASVILLE Phone 476-2028

Bicycle Sales and Service

Hours: Tues. thru Fri. 1-6
Sat. 10-6
Take National Highway 1
block past Unity St. then turn right on Midland.

214 N. Main St. - Ph. 887-3141

Hardware & Sporting Goods

Since 1883

Play Preview

Guest actor adds class

BY RAY DANIEL

Contributing Writer

Guest artist Lucius Houghton, of the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival, will be featured in the upcoming High Point College Tower Players production.

The play is George M. Cohan's "The Tavern", recently described by the director, Mr. David Appleton, as being "sheer craziness, with absolutely no redeeming social, literary or moral value." It will be presented at 5:00 p.m. April 17-19 in the HPC Memorial Auditorium.

Although the mood of the play is "mad-cap", Appleton said that Houghton has added "a prestige" to the production and inspired the actors to work harder than they may normally do. "The rehearsals have a very professional atmosphere," he said.

Tim Gray, a student who plays Freeman, the inn keeper, said he has learned a lot from Houghton's expertise. Gray feels that Houghton has helped him with his stage presence and has helped all the students improve their presentation.

Gray had thought that a professional actor would be pompous and hard to get along with, but instead he has been impressed with how Houghton has worked with the students.

Houghton plays the part of the witty, charming, and hilarious Vagabond, the dominant role of the play.

Appleton pointed out that since 35 people auditioned for the play, he was able to choose an excellent cast. "They are very excited and are enjoying themselves. They are not intimidated by Lucius, but see him as an example and work hard to achieve his professionalism," he said.

Being a frequent theatre-goer, Gray said that Houghton "is an excellent performer: one of the best I've seen."

Gray admires Appleton also for being "demanding, but not too demanding. We put in four hours a day, about six days a week, but the enjoyment is worth it," he said.

Having performed in several productions before coming to H.P.C., Gray said, "this is the most demanding schedule that I've ever had."

A member of the community, Earle Ludgin, will play the part of the Governor. Gray believes that it was good to bring in someone from the community because he has an "authoritative presence" that would be difficult for a student to achieve.

Ludgin is "spontaneous, he wants to do a good job," said Gray. Karen Craver, a crew member who watched a rehearsal said Ludgin was "just how I pictured the Governor. I couldn't believe it."

With such a good cast, Appleton's main challenge in this production is to pace the show, to keep the audience off guard and laughing. He said, "there's not any depth to the play. It's only entertaining."

Martha McCross, "Sally" in the play, said about the show, "I absolutely love it! I laugh the whole time."

Noting the great contribution that Houghton has made to the production, Appleton hopes to be able to do a guest-artist production every year. "It would give us the opportunity to do many shows that we couldn't do otherwise because of the requirements of certain characters."

Appleton first got the idea of a guest artist because the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival is here in town, and they do not have productions in the Spring. Recognizing this great opportunity, he requested funds from the student-faculty Cultural Programs Committee. They agreed to fund the project. But to do an annual guest-artist production, "we would have to secure some way to finance it," he said.

Henry Duckett greets one of his works to be displayed at BMU art show.

Senior to show art

BY JERRY BLACKWELL
Staff Writer

An art show featuring the work of Henry Duckett, a senior, will be sponsored by the Black Unification Movement April 11 in the lobby of the Campus Center.

Duckett, an art major from Winston-Salem, has contributed his artistic talent to many campus projects. A collection of his work was recently featured on display during the BMU's past observance of Black Awareness Week here on campus. This is the first time, however, that all of the artist's work will be publicly shown.

The show will consist of approximately 40 pieces of artwork which includes drawings, paintings, woodcuts, sculpture, and ceramics. Most of the work was done during the past five years, with the majority being completed recently. Duckett is presently working on several pieces of sculpture and ceramics which will also be included in the show.

During his freshman year, Duckett was among the group of students who participated in painting the wall mural in the game room of the Campus Center. He will also be painting the room partitions located in the upstairs lounge of the center. When completed, the partitions will display the college's seal, and mascot, the Purple Panther. Duckett informed us that this is being done through the Art and Theatre Departments, in order to stimulate more school spirit.

According to Barbara McQueen, coordinator for the affair and former president of the BMU, the show will be held from 7 to 9:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served and a special presentation to Duckett will be made.

Writers Club announces contest

The United Arts Council of Greensboro has announced the award of a Grassroots grant to the Greensboro Writers Club, in association with Guilford College and the Visiting Artist Program at Guilford Technical Institute, for a Writing Festival to be held Friday, May 9, in Founders Hall at Guilford College in Greensboro.

The Festival will be preceded by three literary contests, one for junior high students, another for senior high students, and the third for adults. A contestant may submit one entry in each of the following categories: poetry, fiction and non-fiction. Entry blanks and additional information may be obtained by writing to Thomas Heffernan, Visiting Artist Program, Guilford Technical Institute, PO Box 309, Jamestown, NC 27282. A special supplement to The Greensboro Sun will publish winning entries in each category, and other prizes will be awarded.

The Guilford County Writing Festival on Friday, May 9, will have a morning session primarily for junior and senior high school students across the state. From 10 a.m. until noon, a program of events will include an awards presentation for student winners of statewide contests, a refreshment break, and workshops in poetry, short-story, and non-fiction. The evening session primarily for adults will feature an awards presentation at 7 p.m. for adult contest categories; workshops in poetry, fiction and non-fiction at 7:30 p.m.; and readings by prominent literary figures at 8:30 p.m. The Festival will conclude with a 10 p.m. reception in Founders Hall.

The Grassroots grants are made through the generosity of the North Carolina State Arts Council in Raleigh.

Scrawl on the wall

Though pride is not a virtue, it is the parent of many virtues.

--M.C. Collins

ARTIFACTS

ART: April 2 - April 27 -- Henry Betak and Norm Schulman: Acrylic Painting and Ceramic Sculpture, SECCA, 10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Tuesday - Saturday and 2:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Sunday, No Admission.

April 12 - May 25 -- Southeast Seven III, SECCA, Time same as above. No admission.

April 12 - May 25 -- Ray Kass, Paintings, SECCA, Time same as above, No admission.

MUSIC: April 8 -- Piedmont Artist Series presents "The Trio da Camera" -- Dr. James Davidson, Pianist: Michael Clapp, Violinist; and Linda Neville, Violinist, Hayworth Chapel, 8:00 p.m. No admission.

April 15 -- Piedmont Artist Series presents "Linda McDonald Brown, Flutist, with Fay Reed McLaurin at the piano, Hayworth Chapel, 8:00 p.m. No admission.

Crew thwarts Lambda Chi for A-League title

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

A magnanimous band of High Point College students called The Crew were crowned the new A-League intramural basketball champions March 20, avenging a year old championship loss and a week old defeat from the Lambda Chi's for a easier-than-it-seems 65-57 win at Alumni Gym.

Free throw shooting, the basis for its semifinal win over the Swaffers, failed the Lambda Chi's in the title match. A horrid 5-for-19 night from the line -- split between leading scorers Bernie Encarnacion (4-for-12) and Craig Jones (1-for-7) -- neglected the defending champs from retaining the crown.

The Crew, however, had great difficulty in shaking the Lambda Chi's and with leading scorer Robert Boney on the bench with five personal fouls for the final 3:32 of the contest, it appeared that the Lambda Chi's had acquired the long awaited opportunity to snatch the lead. It never came.

Forward Bon Hannum pulled the Lambda Chi's to within 56-55 with 2:13 left to play but The Crew's top scorer -- Dennis West with 20 points -- banked from 17 and four free throws by forward Richard Brucki in the waning seconds iced the win.

Despite second half foul trouble in which Boney fouled out and West and Brucki each had four, the Crew maintained its poise in the light of Lambda Chi spurts. Jones and Encarnacion scored 31 of the Lambda Chi's final output but totaled only 14 in the final, decisive half.

The quicker Crew was stifled from its blistering transition game in the opening minutes but West finally cranked up the motors.

See Crew, page 11

Denotes' Tommy Nance fires jumper over Mike Vogler. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

The Crew's Dennis West leads the transition while "Bird" Birndaum [R] breaks free. Lambda Chi's Bob Hannum [center] prepares himself. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

Henson-led 76ers win B-league

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

In a season where poor first-halves held precedent, the 76ers became B-League intramural champions by virtue of its second-half exploits and overall good fortune in routing the Denotes 54-32 March 21 at Alumni Gym.

"I didn't think we could win it at the first of the year," said 76ers' Chris Henson, a former Allen Jay High School star, who propelled his troops with 20 points. "I didn't know who all was in the league we're all a bunch of guys who sit around at the lunch table."

Feasting on the Denotes worst game of the year -- scoring only 18 points in the final half and connecting on a mere 13 field goals for the game, the 76ers capped the season with a 12-1 record. "We always have a bad first half," Henson explained of his team's narrow 16-14 advantage at intermission. "We're always slow and stiff and a little scared."

But the 76ers loosened up as soon as the final 16 minutes started ticking off. Only Tommy Nance was able to keep the Denotes as close as it was. And that alone was considerably less. The Denotes committed nine team fouls in the first seven minutes of the deciding half while scoring only five points -- three by Nance -- and the game was practically over.

Guard Pepe Perrone ignited the 76er drive with three straight baskets on the break and Henson surged, scoring 14 of his output in the final half, that resulted in several 23-point margins.

Nance, who completed the game as the only Denote in double figures with 18 points, scored eight straight of his team's points in the final six minutes. But Mike Vogler tallied all 12 of his points against the Denotes vulnerable man-to-man defense that produced the league title.

See 76ers, page 11

Intramurals gave Boney an extra chance

Life, as once seen through Robert Boney's eyes, was a scope of heralded publicity and high school fame. As he abruptly discovered, the falter from high school stardom to collegiate nonentity says a little something about one-track tunnel vision.

Once upon a time there were awed reporters and impressed college scouts. A Delaware state championship made his senior year a 12-month Christmas and it became a justifiable deduction that Robert Boney -- scoring extraordinaire -- could be college basketball's next scoring leader.

Dennis Tuttle

Suddenly, his beaming career lost focus.

Contrary to what protective mothers believe, decisions are a part of an 18-year-old's life. And Boney, after making the High Point College basketball team as a walk-on, was confronted with a rather harsh but critical decision. His mind-making, however, made a motley group of HPC athletes known as "The Crew" the 1980 intramural champions.

Dejected but determined, Boney accepted coach Jerry Steele's request to red-shirt his freshman year on the Panther basketball team. His confidence shredded and his pride chopped, Boney's determination apparently knew no limits.

Boney joined The Crew just before the start of the A-League intramural season and his old form returned, producing a better-than-expected 39-point per game average and the eventual league championship. "I looked at intramurals to keep

see Tuttle, page 10

ROBERT BONEY
... Smooth Shooter ...

Local prep basketball stars eye High Point

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

The college basketball season is barely over and already, High Point coach Nancy Little has started the year's "second season" -- recruiting.

Little, who guided the Lady Panthers to a 24-8 record in her first season at the reign, has her eye on several outstanding local prep stars who could make next year as bannerful as the 1978 national championship year. The Panthers are desperately seeking for a center-forward to either replace graduating All-America Marie Riley, or fill in for rising senior Andreia Blanchard, the Carolinas Conference player of the year.

AMOS

To fill that hole could be 6-1 Rebecca Cowles of Wilkes Central High School in Wilkesboro. Cowles plays much like Blanchard inside and averages 17 points per game and 14 rebounds per contest her senior year. She shot 56 per cent from the floor during the season while connecting on 71 per cent of her attempts in post-season play.

COWLES

Another prospect is 5-9 sharpshooter Cissy Little of nearby Asheboro High School. Little would be a perfect wing player and 30 ppg senior year average could be a compliment to Blanchard's inside game.

Little was leaning toward High Point a few weeks ago but since garnering several post-season awards, she has shown a growing interest in North Carolina. She scored a career high 49 points against North Forsyth early in the year and usually played against a triple-team defense, to no avail.

DULA

But if coach Little doesn't grab the Asheboro product, 5-11 Teresa Dula of Hibriten could fit in nicely. Dula reportedly has already committed to HPC, bringing in an 18 ppg average.

LITTLE

An excellent passer and shot-blocker, Dula was selected the Northwestern 3-A conference Player of the Year over Cowles, who had won the league honor the previous two years.

Coach Little is also concerned with filling a point guard position, thinking ahead in case sophomore Roxann Moody doesn't fully recover from knee surgery. And Jill Amos of Davie County could be the perfect player.

The 5-8 guard started in 112 straight games over her four-year high school career

See Little, page 11

HPC Golfers playing par

Consequentially, the High Point College Golf Team has been through an up-and-down season.

The team, however, has enjoyed some high places in some of its tournaments while in others, has suffered through long rounds. Having to play in adverse weather conditions and attempt practices on wet courses, the Panthers are, nevertheless, playing a better than par season.

Senior French Bolen and junior Bob Aydellette, as expected, are enjoying fine seasons. Bolen was third for medalist in High Point's third place completion at the Pembroke State Invitational. Bolen shot a final round one-over par 73 for a 147 total, four shots off the pace set by Francis Marion medalist Glenn Ruthven.

Aydellette headed the Panthers opening round of the Carolinas Conference tournament on March 20 with a 76. HPC was fourth after the first round with the final round of the tourney slated for April 19.

FRENCH BOLEN

Other tournament scorers were Larry Corson 77 and Bolen and Tony Flippen with 78.

At Pembroke State, Flippen followed Bolen with a 75, Aydellette shot a final round 76, Corson contributed with a 79, Derri Barnhardt shot 81 and senior John Caldwell had an 82.

Mankind walk slated

High Point College students are planning an 18 mile (or 30 kilometer) Walk for Mankind on April 12 for the benefit of improvement in health care in the U.S. and 25 other countries.

Registration for the Walk, sponsored locally by the Student Government Association of the College, will begin at 7:30 a.m. at the Holt McPherson Campus Center the day of the Walk.

Anyone interested in the total project may participate in the walk, either for the distance or for shorter walks to the frequent checkpoints along the way.

Walkers will make a circular route around the downtown area.

Baseballers struggle early but withholds from panic button

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

The Panther baseball team continued to struggle the past two weeks, winning just three of their last eight games. The Panthers' overall record stands at 8-9.

The Panthers defeated Oberlin twice and Gardner-Webb once during the eight-game stretch. In the first game of the doubleheader against Oberlin, HPC scored 19 times while Oberlin managed just one run. Pitchers Jay Schwamberger and Jim Purcell combined for the win while sophomores Bob Hearon and Neil Van Asche homered. It was Hearon's sixth homer of the season and Van Asche's second.

In the second game senior Randy Wilhoit was credited with the win as the Panthers shut out Oberlin 3-0.

High Point's only other win came in the second game of a double-header against Gardner-Webb. The Panthers fell behind 5-0 before rallying for eight runs in the final three innings for the 8-5 win.

Senior Don Groseclose had two hits and three RBI while sophomore Mike Pisano added two hits. Schwamberger was the winning pitcher.

The Panther losses came against Liberty Baptist (6-1), Gardner-Webb (6-2), UNC-Chapel Hill (9-3), and Guilford (7-6).

In the Guilford game the

High Point shortstop Mike Pisano pops up. [Photo by Dave Schaller]

Panthers scored two runs in the top half of the ninth to make a 9 lead 6-5. Hearon drove in the tying run and Van Asche added the go ahead tally. Guilford, however, scored the tying run in the bottom of the ninth before loading the bases with one out. The Quakers added the winning run on a "suicide squeeze."

The Panthers are now 1-3 in Carolinas Conference action and 2-4 in District Competition.

In addition to the Panthers losing ways, junior pitcher Schwamberger will be lost to the team for a week to 10 days with inflamed tendons in his left shoulder.

Mark LaFranco in relief

Injuries take toll

Tracksters experiencing rough start

BY MARIO WATSON
Staff Sports Writer

As the track season reaches the halfway point and conference and district action is just around the corner, the High Point College team has a 1-4 overall record.

The Panthers lost their first meet by a narrow one-point margin, dropping a 73-72 decision to Towson State. High Point then lost to Davidson in a tri-meet but finished ahead of Wingate.

Freshman sprinter Charles Dennis missed the tri-meet because of an injury.

High Point finished third in a home meet against Wake Forest and Elon, absorbing two more losses.

Coach Bob Davidson stated that although the season hasn't been what he and his squad had hoped for, the overall team attitude has been pretty good.

"I feel that during the Wake Forest and Elon meet that we got down on ourselves but we also had a number of injuries. I feel that we will make much progress in the conference and district tournaments.

"The big thing is to get rid of our injuries and get some warm weather so we can be in good condition," the Panther coach added, pointing out that injuries in the running events played a vital role in the loss to Wake Forest and Elon.

There have been some noteworthy finishes for individual members of the track team this season. Rick Callicutt broke his school high jump record with a 6-9 1/4 leap; freshman Doug Glenn clocked a 10.7 100 meter run at Davidson; Bill McCowen has raced a 15.0 in the high hurdles; Tracy Lyons has pole vaulted 14 feet and the 440 relay team of Dennis, Ralph Barnes, Glenn and Jon Richardson has recorded a 43.5 time. Richardson has also heaved the javelin 168.0.

The district meet will begin April 18 in Mocksville with the conference meet set for April 24 at Pembroke

BILL McCOWEN

... HPC hurdler ...

Netters regroup from injuries

BY NANCY RIVERS
Staff Sports Writer

The High Point College men's tennis team is well into the 1980 season, and is proving pre-season predictions of producing a strong, well-balanced team. Currently, the overall record is 14-4 -- impressive for a team beset by various troublesome factors.

Early in the season senior player and number two seed Phil Parrish was benched with a hand injury. Griff Thompson, a freshman, was seeded in his place, and has surprised the team with his abilities at the position.

Other welcome surprises to the team have been freshmen Jimmy Holleran and Joe Alamo, who play singles and doubles respectively. Senior Lane Evans still holds the best single's record, with 16 wins and two losses to his credit.

Though the netters suffered defeats to powerhouse Appalachian State, North Carolina, Wake Forest, and Virginia Tech, they have had little trouble in overruling the other opposing squads. Two very important matches are yet to be played -- Guilford (April 3, home) and Atlantic Christian (April 5, away).

One of the tightest matches of the season was played against St. Augustine on March 23 at home. The High Point men won 6-2, with Chris Hohnhold, David Burgess, and Evans winning at singles, and all three doubles teams winning.

The weekend of March 28 the team traveled to Blacksburg, Va., where they met Virginia Tech, and Washington-Lee. A match scheduled against Radford College was rained out. The team lost to Tech 7-2; Evans won at singles, while the number one doubles team of Willem DeGroot-Scott McFarland won.

Against Washington-Lee, a strongly reputed team, the men won 7-2. On March 31 the netters cruised over Wisconsin 9-0. The next home match is April 2 against West Liberty; the final home match is against Guilford on April 3.

Kathy Neblitt fires serve against Atlantic Christian.

Steele pleased with Lady Panther netters

By SUSAN PARKER
Staff Sports Writer

The HPC women's tennis team shows an overall record of 10-2 after defeating Atlantic Christian. The Lady Panthers swept the singles matches with Vicky Williams over Tracy Eubanks 6-1, 6-2; Kinta Otterman took control over Yolanda Rodrigues 2-6, 6-3, 6-2; Kathy Neblitt took the advantage over Mercedes Gion 6-3, 6-4, and Helen O'Brien whipped Allison Hopkins 6-0, 6-1. Susie Urmston unleashed a 6-1, 6-2 win over Karolyn Cotton and Carolyn Caggiano took the upper hand to defeat Sandra Lamm 0-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Because of rain the doubles matches were reduced to pro sets. Williams-Neblitt took the opener 8-0 and stand undefeated in the doubles bracket. Teammates O'Brien-Urmston did a quick replay by defeating Rodriguez-Hopkins by the same score.

In other matches earlier this season, the Panthers were making a path for themselves by cutting through Pembroke State early March 29 and later that day destroyed Mars Hill.

Their upset over Pfeiffer put them in an 8-2 position going into the Carolinas Conference contest against Elon, which

See Netters, page 11

-Tuttle column-

continued from page 8

up my confidence and to keep in shape," the Wilmington, Del. native said.

"I wanted to prove to myself that I could play, not to prove anything to coach Steele. I felt that I could play on the varsity and people said that I should have. But that's the breaks."

Boney's intramural accomplishments, unappealing as they may be to the innocent bystander, carries a lot of weight for the next four years -- to the applier and the mentor. Boney believes that a good intramural season made him a different person and that Steele will offer positive playing time next winter.

"Coach Steele told me all season that I could be a helluva player," the slightly shy Boney said. "So, I'm looking forward to next year already."

"It was really a letdown when he asked me if I wanted to play a little this year or red-shirt and play five years. I couldn't say that I could help the team, but I would have liked to try."

Boney acknowledges that next year may never come, or at least, the opportunity to play at High Point. A few other colleges are interested, mainly LaSalle, and the offer is almost too good to pass over.

"Right now I don't know if I'll be back at High Point next year or not," he said. "I might be and I might not. The coach at LaSalle wants me to come to his camp and he's pretty interested in me. Coach Steele gave me a fair chance and he had a lot of other good players. And I was a walk-on..."

The shining light that silhouetted Robert Boney as a prep star may be positioning at 12 o'clock again for him. "Intramural season was fun and it wasn't an individual thing to show what I could do. We won because we played as a team. But this could be my last intramural season," he said, not indicating whether the second most important decision of his life would reflect on the resurgence of his career or right back in his eyes.

The Crew staves late comeback

Continued from page 8

Leading the bursts off the defensive boards, West hit Lane Evans, who promptly popped a 15 footer; Greg Mebane outraced the defense downcourt for a layup; and Boney maneuvered inside posting the Crew to an 18-14 lead midway through the first half.

And Boney, a 39-point per game scorer, pushed the lead to 22-16 with 6:27 left on a 15 footer. Plagued by fouls, though, the 6-2 freshman finished with only 16 points.

But the Lambda Chi's refused to concede. Encarnacion and Jones bunched seven straight points and the lead shrank to 30-29 with 2:02 remaining. Back-to-back buckets by Boney and West's drive past Bohus produced a 36-31 lead at the break.

The Lambda Chi's never fully rebounded from that first-half surge by The Crew. Although trimming the lead to one point late in the game, the Chi's fell behind by nine points on three occasions. Encarnacion headed the Lambda Chi's with 18 and Jones chipped in 15. Evans cracked double figures for the new A-League champs, contributing 10 with clutch outside shooting.

A-League Championship

LAMBDA CHI (57) -- C. Jones 7 1-7 15; Bohus 0-0 8; Encarnacion 6 4-12 16; Hannum 4 0-0 8; Moran 2 0-0 4; G. Jones 1 0-0 2. TOTALS: 24 19 57.
CREW (65) -- Birnbaum 0 1-2 1; Evans 5 0-0 0; Boney 7 2-2 16; West 7 6-8 20; Mebane 3 3-6 9; Brucki 2 5-6 9. TOTALS: 23 17-24 65.
HALFTIME: The Crew 36-31.

Little begins recruiting

Continued from page 10

and averaged 18 ppg this season in leading the Eagles to the state 3-A playoffs. She also contributed greatly in other categories, dishing off 83 assists and swiping the ball from opponents 82 times. Amos, however, is leaning toward UNC-Wilmington.

And there are other players that the HPC coach is interested in, such as Reidsville's Bunny Cardwell, South Iredell's Sherry Cash and Northern Nash's Marcia Richardson. Cardwell has already decided on Mars Hill and Cash is close to signing with Lenoir-Rhyne.

Denotes Scott Tomsic fights 76ers' Mike Deppe for rebound position in B-League championship. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

Accidents will flurry

Warm weather revives cyclists

A Sports Analysis

The gas crunch has accelerated the use of mopeds, bicycles and motorcycles as an alternative to the car.

Railroads are putting in bike and moped racks at stations and so are some business companies. Women are going to the market on bikes, sometimes carrying their children along as passengers. The public is demanding more bikes, but...

...two-wheel vehicles are the number one ranked accident prone product on the Consumer Product Safety Commission's list.

Approximately 100,000 motor vehicle-bicycle accidents occur annually. Last year North Carolina's two million bicyclists had 1,000 accidents and 30 deaths involving car-bike collisions.

But there is some good news for bicycle lovers. The death rate for motorcyclists is three times higher than bicyclists. The steady increase in motorcycle use has reflected in the even-greater numbers of accidents and deaths. There are now nearly 5 million motorcycles registered in the U.S. and the fatality rate is up to nearly 5,000.

The helmet has been one safety precaution but in a recent survey, the Department of Transportation discovered that only 21 states required helmets use.

The Crew's Greg Mebane looks for an open man on the outlet as Lambda Chi's Mike Moran moves in. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck]

76ers triumph behind Henson

Continued from page 8

"They surprised the hell out of me the way we played for a while," said Nance of his tired, aggravated teammates, two of which were missing because of HPC spring sports meets elsewhere.

Other than John Caldwell and Derri Barnhart being absent leaving the Denotes with only six players, forward Scott Tomsic was befelled by a cut over the eye with 1:02 left in the first half, never returning to action. Thus, by the end of the contest, the Denotes were down to four players when Bob Challenger fouled out with 1:13 left to play. The 76ers led comfortably 52-29 at that juncture.

B-League Championship

76ERS (54) -- Blank 1 0-2 2; Perone 3 0-0 6; Henson 6 8-9 20; Deppe 4 0-0 8; Vogler 6 0-1 12; Shaver 1 0-0 2; Spangler 1 0-1 2; Norris 1 2-4 4. TOTALS 23 10-17 54.
DENOTES (32) -- Nance 8 2-4 18; Tomsic 1 0-2 2; Challenger 2 0-0 4; Seidl 0 0-0 0; Motsinger 1 1-2 3; Bently 1 3-4 5. TOTALS 13 6-12 32.
HALFTIME: 76ers 16-14.

Lady netters winning

Continued from page 10

they toppled 7-2 upon their arrival.

Williams, Otterman, O'Brien and Urmston whipped the visiting Elon performers in singles 6-0, 6-1; 6-0, 6-0; 6-0, 6-1; 6-0, 6-2, respectively.

The two team losses the team suffered were at the hands of Miami-University of Ohio 5-4 and Division I Appalachian State 6-3. Seven of their wins have been conference triumphs and the remaining three were Division II wins.

Coach Kitty Steele said, "I'm pleased with the play so far, but we've all been frustrated with the weather. We need to improve the sharpness of our game and play with more intensity to show in the state conference."

April 1 the Panther netters will host Skidmore College from Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Then they will visit arch-rival and conference foe Guilford April 2.

College Village Exxon

1100 E. Lexington
phone 889-7043

Service on American and Imported cars
Road Service Available

High school students gathered at HPC

The North Carolina Student Academy of Science, District IV, met Saturday, March 22, on the High Point College campus in the Hawthorth Hall of Science. The day-long program for high school students and their teachers included the presentation of 53 original research papers.

Papers in biological science, earth and space science, environmental science, behavioral science, physical science, technology and engineering, and mathematics were submitted in the competition. The papers were judged by faculty members and student majors of the High Point College sciences and local high school science teachers. Nineteen papers were selected to compete at the state level.

In addition to paper sessions, a business meeting was held in the afternoon. After the meeting, tours of the science facilities of the College were conducted.

District IV is comprised of 11 piedmont North Carolina counties. According to Dr. John Ward, a biology professor and also co-director of the Student Academy, "The sciences of High Point College were delighted to host this annual meeting. It was a successful meeting with good attendance. We are sending some high quality papers into state competition."

McCulloch begins to age

Continued from page 4
out of the tree, one of whom was caught.

Aside from this, McCulloch dorm has made the Hi-Po on two occasions during its early years. The first in the April Fool's Day edition in 1927 when the boys in McCulloch were to exchange dormitories with the girls in Woman's Hall because McCulloch was in such good shape and the heat was so good. The boys thought the changes were unfair because the girls had torn up their own dorm, but the change was ordered by the faculty. The girls were in McCulloch again in 1928, when a group of girls toured the dorm to find the "five best rooms in terms of arrangement, neatness, and cleanliness."

McCulloch Dorm has stood for almost 60 years. Its physical qualities haven't changed -- only its occupants.

High Point College students were recently involved in an Indian Pow-wow.

Rates reduced for China cruise

Reductions from 10 to 25 percent are being offered to students, teachers and instructors for 14-day cruises to the People's Republic of China aboard the m/v Aquamarine.

The reductions are for cruise departures from June 11 to August 6. Further incentives are offered for groups of six or more. The Aquamarine sails alternately from Hong Kong and Kobe, Japan visiting Shanghai (Soochow or Wushi) and Hsingkang (Tientsin and Peking). The reductions do not apply to air fares, but the cruise rate only, which includes all meals aboard ship and in China; two hotel nights in Tientsin, and all tours, guides and visa documentation charges. Regular rates begin at $1,950.

Further information and brochures may be obtained from Travelforce / Aquamarine, 153 Kearny Street, San Francisco, CA 94108, (toll free: 800-227-4766).

The Society for Collegiate Journalists will meet April 16, at 11:00 in meeting room #2. All members should plan to attend. Details about the dinner dance, and officer elections will be the topics of the meeting.

ANNOUNCEMENT

If any one has books in the A.P.O. Student Book Exchange, you must come by and pick them up by the end of this Semester. Failure to pick up books by May 4 will give A.P.O. Book Exchange chairman the right to determine the disposition of all books left in the exchange.

Because many departments are changing texts next Semester, the A.P.O. Student Book Exchange will not be accepting any books this semester. We are sorry for any inconvenience.

A.P.O. Book Exchange

REWARD

for finding an AMF Hart aluminum tennis racquet w/ cover, resembles Head Professional, 4-3 1/2 grip. No questions asked. Susan Burditt 889-3651, Belk 402.

EVERGREEN

MCAT-DAT Review Course. Take the course individually in Atlanta in 3 to 5 days. P.O. Box 77034, Atlanta, GA, 30309, phone (404) 874-2454.

GRAY-ART FLOWER SHOP
103 E. Lexington Avenue
High Point, N.C. 27262
Telephone: 882-8197

"Let Our Flowers
Say It For You"

Camp Counselors Male and Female

Top Northeast Pennsylvania co-ed camp seeks teachers, coaches and college students who love children. Specialists needed in all land sports, swimming (WSI), small crafts, sailing, waterskiing, and cultural activities. Contact Greensboro representative, Joel, at 272-0767.

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's
Bug Clinic

1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

Pinball competition set

Fraternities and sororities nationwide are invited to compete for 20 new Stern pinball machines, top prizes in a three-day campus fund-raiser, April 11 through 13, proceeds of which will benefit the American Heart Association (AHA).

Colleges and universities across the country have already joined the fight against heart disease by signing up to participate in a national fund-raiser competition in April, AHA's "Youth Awareness Month." The contest has been designated a national special event by the National Youth Committee of the AHA and is being sponsored by Stern Electronics, Inc. (a major pinball game manufacturer) and National Lampoon magazine.

Any sorority or fraternity chapter is eligible to enter by staging a three-day fund-raising activity the weekend of April 11. Nineteen Greek houses raising the most money will be awarded Stern's explosive new Muhammad Ali pinball game; the next 50 houses will receive complimentary life subscriptions to National Lampoon. In addition, one "Ali" machine will be presented to the fraternity or sorority that raises funds in the most novel or comedic manner.

In May, a representative of the house creating the most original fund-raiser event and a delegate of the top fund-raising chapter will be flown to Stern Electronics in Chicago for an award dinner.

Applications and total Alpha to Omega rules of entry are available by telephoning the American Heart Association at (214) 750-5300. Information inquiries must be received by April 1.

The Hi-Po is interested in your opinion. Write to "Letters to the Editor," P.O. Box 3510. Copy is subject to editing.

"The Seafaring Camp of the South"

ON THE COAST OF NORTH CAROLINA
BROTHER CAMP TO CAMP SEAFARER

SUMMER JOB OPENINGS FOR CAMP COUNSELORS at Camp Sea Gull (boys) and Camp Seafarer (girls) on the coast of North Carolina. The camps feature sailing, motorboating, and seamanship, plus all usual camping activities including a wide variety of major sports. Early June through mid-August. Challenging work with young people, 7-16 years of age - outdoors - enjoyable - stimulating. Qualifications include ability to instruct in one phase of the camp's program, a genuine interest in young people, and excellent references. Quick answer upon receipt of letter of application which should include a brief resume of training and experience in area(s) of the camp program in which you are best qualified to instruct. Apply to Wyatt Taylor, Director, Camp Sea Gull/Camp Seafarer, P.O. Box 10976, Raleigh, NC 27605

COUPON

2209 N. Main
869-2171

CLIP THIS COUPON!

2 for 1

On Any Size Pizza

WITH COUPON

OFFER GOOD THRU April 16 WITH COUPON

Not Accepted For Lunch Special

ES-31 B

HIGH POINT COLLEGE'S

HI

"Working for a better informed campus"

PO

Published by the students of High Point College
High Point, N.C. 27262

Vol. 52 Issue 12

April 16, 1980

Elder's Day highlight

Gray Panther speaks to elderly guests

BY KIM DARDEN
Assistant Editor

Old people are carefree, sexy, "where the action is, and part of a pioneer generation," according to Mrs. Lydia Braggar, who spoke here Wednesday on the depiction of the elderly in the media as part of High Point College's 2nd Annual observance of Elder's Day.

Braggar is an executive member of the Gray Panthers, a national organization that fights discrimination on the basis of age, and National Chairperson of the group's Media Watch Task Force, which monitors television and other media programs for discriminatory depiction of the elderly.

"The media depicts old people as ugly, decrepit, toothless, and sexless, and we don't like it," said Mrs. Braggar, 77.

"The media is largely responsible for the negative image of the elderly in society," she said.

Partly because of the media, she said, "Society treats us (the elderly) as a homogeneous mass; we are supposed to dress and act alike at a certain age... when the fact is we are individuals at any age."

"Once when I was a guest on a talk show and stepped up on stage," she recalled, "the man said to me, 'My, you're spry for a person your age.'"

"Spry. Now would he have ever called a younger person who was energetic 'spry'?"

"And you're supposed to have gray hair. I wish my hair were gray, but it just won't get gray," she quipped.

The audience, which included about 52 senior citizens, responded with laughter.

The senior citizens in her audience were the special guests of HPC's Elder's Day. Elderly persons from all over High Point were invited to the college to attend morning classes of their choice, hear Braggar's talk, eat lunch in the cafeteria, and to take part in an informal discussion session after lunch with Braggar and students.

"This new generation of the elderly is part of a pioneer generation," she said.

"We are the first group organizing and fighting for our rights. It's exciting to be old now."

Mrs. Braggar, who said she "finds life beautiful at her age" and described now as the "freest time of her life," said she would like to see Media, page 5

Hi-Po takes second

The Hi-Po has won second place in the overall national College Division newspaper competition at Columbia University, New York.

According to Charles R. O'Malley, Director of the Collegiate Scholastic Press Association in a telephone interview, the Hi-Po placed second in the C.S.P.A. ratings.

All competing newspapers get rated in first, second, and third catagoreis. The second place rating wins points between 700 and 849 out of a possible 1000 points.

Mr. Raymond Petrea, Director of Informational Services and also advisor to the newspaper, relayed the message to the editors Monday afternoon. "I'm very proud of the Hi-Po," he said.

This is the first time the Hi-Po has won an award from the Association since 1967.

Students vie for positions

BY STEPHANIE HIGGINS
Staff Writer

Six students are vying for the editorships and the station manager of the four publications here at High Point College. The students have all handed in applications and are being considered for the editorship of the Hi-Po, Apogee, Zenith, and station manager of the College Radio Station, WWIH.

Scott Hance is the sole applicant for the position of editor of the Hi-Po which will be vacated by Lisa Mickey after two years. Hance has served as associate editor of the Hi-Po for the past two years and was in charge of layout and design of the paper. Hance has also worked on the staff of the Calvert Journal-Gazette in Maryland for three years and the Thomasville Times for one football season.

Gina Marlette and James Grose are vying for the Apogee editorship vacated by Greg Norris. Marlette is an English major who has served as the Phoenix Club vice-president, English departmental secretary for three years, and writing lab assistant for two years. She has also worked with the Phoenix Poetry Festival for two years and served on the Apogee reading committee last Spring.

James Grose is interested in poetry and printing and has worked on the Phoenix Poetry Festival's judging committee. Grose is also interested in increasing creativity and student participation in the Apogee.

Artis Prillaman and Yvonne Hurley are seeking the editorship of the Zenith, vacated by Phyllis Griffin. Prillaman has served on his high school yearbook for three years as editor of the organizations section. He was also editor of his high school literary magazine and served as assistant editor on the Zenith this year.

Yvonne Hurley was editor see Editors, page 3

Elder's Day participants interested in Braggar's comments.
[Photo by Marisa Firpi].

INSIDE

Seniors featured
page 7

Greek news
page 6

Dean comments
page 3

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510

Room 209 Campus Center

Page 2 - The Hi-Po - Wednesday, April 16, 1980

Lisa D. Mickey Editor
Scott Hance Associate Editor
Sharon Kaler .. Advertising Manager/
Business Manager
Dennis Tuttle Sports Editor

The opinions herein are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the Hi-Po.

Disregarding the asparagus

Two years ago, I took over the position as editor for this publication. Since that time, and like a balanced Libra, there has been both steak and asparagus on my training table -- the good and the bad, and I have choked on both.

Food. It's relatable enough. There are definitely savouring moments to every palate -- moments when you have bitten into something you want to chew and digest. The moment. You live for it and it fulfills you. You develop a taste capacity and you know what you want. I pass the asparagus and smile. It isn't on my diet.

The parallel is that one must choose his own means of fulfillment. High Point College, like any other institution, offers much to an individual for outlet energy. Mine just happens to be this form of communication. I have watched it grow in pages and in hands, and I have seen more eyes peering into its folds than ever before. I console myself. Reading students. Steak.

Break-ins, thefts, suspensions, lies -- all a part of the job. How easy it is to see the bad. How easy it becomes to disbelieve, to stoop to bias, to present the tip of the iceberg. Asparagus and a prodding devil, and I have learned to ignore. My scales level out.

I wish to thank you for all of your support during my editorship and I hope that it will continue for future office holders of the student press. I believe in the viability of this publication and judging from others, I have seen how important it is to have a staff that works, an audience that reads, and a faculty/administration that cares and cooperates. If it weren't for these groups, there would be no newspaper, and a student body without a newspaper has no voice in anything.

It is your voice. It is my appetite. The list of names to thank is far too numerous for this space but they are silently recognized and reverently so, especially those who urged me on when I wanted to throw up my hands.

Thank you again for helping to make the Hi-Po a successful publication. Find your niche, disregard the asparagus and savour while you have the gums to do it. The rest will fall into place.

LISA D. MICKEY

Scrawl on the wall

Our lives are love and a continual farewell.

-Yeats, "Ephemera"

Letters to the Editor

Students galled over destruction

To the editor:

It has recently come to my attention that some of the students here at HPC are not as wholly responsible as many are believed to be. Recently, a student or group of students took it upon themselves to maliciously damage a sign built, painted and erected by the 1979 Spring pledge class of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

This sign was to help HPC students to better identify the location of the APO Book Exchange. The Book Exchange and the newly built sign was a service to the campus community and not for the mere benefit of the APO fraternity.

It galls me to think that an individual or individuals would do such a juvenile -- yes, juvenile act, as pull a sign out of the ground and split it into two or three pieces.

Apparently the culprit(s) lack a total respect for other organizations on this campus. This act was nothing less than stupidity on the culprit's part and I hope that you are completely satisfied that you managed to make a total imbecile out of yourself.

This incident will probably never be fully resolved by our fraternity or the Dean of Students. If the person(s) responsible for this were to ever admit to their lack of good judgement, I'm sure something could be worked out with a minimum of disciplinary action by the Dean of Students. However, few persons on this campus are decent enough to admit to such malicious acts.

By the way, this sign was placed in the memory of Roy

Hardee, an alumni brother of our fraternity and a graduate of HPC who was killed in an automobile accident during HPC's Christmas break.

Mark J. Snyder

To the editor:

Over the past weekend I was shocked to discover that the sign that was placed in front of the APO Book Exchange was destroyed.

Leadership, Friendship and Service are the cardinal principles of our fraternity, and over and over we have provided much service to the HPC campus in many different forms such as litter pick up, blood drives, ID's made, etc.

This sign was constructed to provide the High Point College students with another service of communications as a bulletin board.

But as usual this act will go unpunished as so many vandalistic acts are. I would also like to add, at this point, that this was a gift to the campus in memory of an alumni, Roy Hardee, of the fraternity and campus, who lost his life in a car accident this past December.

So as you read this comment in the Hi-Po, I would like you (culprit or culprits) to just remember who distributed it to you at no cost.

Allan Zaback

Student pleased with paper

To the editor:

Since this is the last issue of the paper for which you will be responsible, I thought I'd write and let you know what a good job I think you have done. GOOD JOB LISA!!!

I'd also like to say that the sentiments expressed here are sincere. At first, I didn't really pay any attention to the Hi-Po, but recently I had the good fortune of seeing just how much work goes into the production of this paper. This experience made me appreciate the Hi-Po and the people who put their time and energy into its publication.

Name withheld by request

Caufields say thanks

To the editor:

We have just received the sum of $30.00 which was raised by the day students for our beloved daughter, Mary, who was critically injured twenty-two months ago. We should like to thank the day students, the faculty and staff, and all of the other students who contributed to this fund-raising. As you might imagine, Mary's bills have been exorbitant and there are many which are not covered by insurance. These are the ones helped so much by the generosity of good people like you. We are very appreciative.

Again, thank you.

Most sincerely,
Frank and Irene Caufield

You'll notice that I've worked with uncivilized administrations before.

From the Dean's office

Looking beyond our walls

The final edition of the Hi-Po is a tangible reminder that the '79-'80 academic year is nearing its conclusion. Indeed, we are in the "last days," and perhaps many who read this paper are feeling the tension about to begin in crescendo fashion.

In the rush and frantic anxiety of finishing the semester's work, it becomes easy to forget where we've been during the year, and what our priorities should be. In this medium, and in other forums during the year, our thoughts have been pre-occupied with a host of issues which stay in the "top 10" each year: campus security, Greek/non-Greek relations, faculty teaching competence, student body/Administration relations, autonomy and the judicial system... just to name a few. (Oh, yes, we've also considered the matter of dating etiquette and the art of making it with members of the opposite sex -- no doubt an issue that will long live in the hearts of faithful Hi-Po readers!)

Issues have been raised and responded to; misinformation has circulated along with attempts to correct it; voices have become high-pitched at times; emotions have often overtaken reason. Such is the nature of life on a campus. The concerns that have been raised within this community have certainly been vital ones. They have merited our attention and will hopefully prod us to move in the direction of growth and improvement. Matters close to our hearts and the ideals we hold to should never be shrugged off.

But, as I look back at the issues that have begged our attention, I'm left with an empty feeling of sorts, in that many of our societal and global concerns have not been fully discussed (outside the classroom) in either public or private forums. Table-talk tends to focus more on who's doing what to whom rather than on some of the deeper matters which we should consider. Have you really stopped to consider some of these? Have you begun formulating your position? Do you even think beyond the walls of the college?

What do you know, care, think about the role of the United States in the world today? About an uncertain economy in which sky-rocketing prices and interest rates threaten our purchasing power and the economic plight of us all? What conclusions are you making concerning the future energy needs of our nation, about the role of nuclear energy, and our dependence upon high imports of oil? What stand have you taken concerning the U.S. boycott of the summer Olympics, the creation of life in test tubes, the waste of tax dollars by the federal government, and ethics in business?

The day-to-day experiences and issues which we face within our college walls are certain to occupy a major portion of our thought and discussion. If we are to improve ourselves, this must continue. But, as the year comes to a close, I would challenge each of you to look beyond our own walls and face squarely those matters that affect us economically, politically, and morally. If an education in the liberal arts tradition does anything at all, it should begin to sensitize you to those issues in human life which have shaped our past, which linger in the present, and which must be confronted in the future. This means that we should do more than simply bark at college policies, take an apathetic view towards life on campus, or think that students are always "out to get their teachers." It means that each and every person must go beyond the bounds of his or her path and consciously come together to wrestle with matters whose consequences may be far-reaching.

In a matter of days, each of you will go in various directions. Some of you will graduate, some will return; some will take employment, some will take additional schooling; some will be married, some will remain single; some will have a sense of direction, some will wander. Whatever your status in the coming weeks, I would challenge you to look beyond your own interests and pet peeves, stopping to think about your place in the world today and the factors that affect you now, and in the future.

Look beyond your own walls -- and for that matter, the walls of the college. There's something on the other side to see... and believe me, that "something" won't go away, no matter how much you try to ignore it.

--BOB LOWDERMILK

Burditt receives research award

Susan Burditt, a senior from Rockville, Maryland, recently took first place at the annual meeting of the Collegiate Academy of the North Carolina Academy of Science.

Burditt won the John Bowley Derieux Research Award for her work concerning the effects of lead poisoning on tadpoles. The meeting was held at East Carolina University.

Burditt said that her idea to do the research stemmed from her summer job at the National Institute of Health and her interest in lead poisoning. She ran a series of different tests over a two week period and found that lead "inhibited growth and reduced the activity level" of the tadpoles. She won a plaque and will publish her work in CANCAS, the Collegiate Academy of North Carolina Academy of Science magazine.

The Collegiate Academy is an affiliate of the North Carolina Academy of Science. Membership is open to any undergraduate student of science. The purpose of the Collegiate Academy are to promote interest in scientific research among undergraduate students.

The John Bowley Derieux Research Awards are given each year to the students whose original undergraduate research is judged to be the best presented at the annual meeting of the Academy. Winners are invited to publish their papers in CANCAS, the annual journal of the academy.

Burditt has been accepted at North Carolina State University Graduate School where she plans to study microbiology.

1980-81 Tuition Figures

Semester	1980-81 Year
TUITION	$2300.00
General Fee	125.00
Campus Center Fee	75.00
Student Activity Fee	50.00
$1275.00	Total for Day Student $2550.00
Resident Students*
1940.00	McCulloch Dorm $3880.00
	Women's Dorm
	Wesley Dorm
1980.00	North Dorm 3960.00
	Yadkin Dorm
	Houses
1997.50	Millis Dorm 3995.00
2020.00	Belk Dorm 4040.00

*Figures for resident students include tuition, and fees, plus room, board and health service.

Editors not final

continued from page 1

of her yearbook for one year and served on the Zenith staff this year as editor of the student life section.

Art Prillaman and Yvonne Hurley have proposed a co-editorship of the Zenith. They feel that, "with two editors instead of one, the responsibility could be equally split between the two, greatly decreasing the chances of a late book." This proposal is still being considered by the Publications Committee.

Edward Mullis has applied for the position of general manager of WWIH-FM, vacated by Lynn Preston. Mullis has served as assistant operations manager this past year under outgoing operations manager, Edythe Montesana. He has also hosted a regular show, the Rainbow Connection, which aired every Monday night, nine until one.

Dr. B. Gray Bowman, Chairman of the Publication Committee, said that all decisions will be finalized by the end of this week.

New legislature meets

New class officers were sworn in at the last meeting of the Student Legislature and new committee chairmen were elected.

Speaker-Mike Showalter
Speaker Pro-tem-Maureen Tormey
Elections chairman-Lisa Mickey Budget chairman-Scott Hance
Security chairman-Bryan Christian

Public relations chairman-Debbie Hutter
Handbook revisions chairman-Sean Russell

Also at the meeting, the legislature approved Danny Berrier as the new Attorney General and Keith Chance as Chief Justice.

The legislature also nominated Dean Bruce Tingle for the L.E. Moody Service Award.

THE HI-PO

Assistant Editor Kim Darden
Entertainment Editor Alisa Walker
Staff Writers Jerry Blackwell, Robin Henson,
Diane Cook, Mario Watson, Sally Davis
Karen Craver, John Hall's Sharon Litchford,
Jillian Peeke, Susan Parker, Chip Aldridge,
Linda Cain, Stephanie Higgins, Greg Clark,
Nancy Rivers, Irish Gaymon, Greg Lukaszczuk
Typists Kitty Bell, Teresa Brown,
Ann Wheelless, Cindy Briggs
Business and Advertising Sharon Kaler
Head Photographer Edythe Montesana
Photographers Marissa Furpi, Tom Reddeck
David Schaller, Cyndi Roberts, Teresa Venuto,
Monique Peyser
Art..... Karen Koontz

Elector speaks

Electoral college subject of lecture

BY KIM DARDEN

Assistant Editor

A former member of North Carolina's Electoral College who helped to formally elect Franklin D. Roosevelt to his third term in office in 1940 spoke to Dr. Carl Wheelless's U.S. Government classes last Wednesday, April 2.

Dr. Lynwood Smith defined the often nebulous term of electoral college as "an assembly elected by the voters to perform the formal duty of electing the President and Vice-President of the United States."

"People think when they go vote for president, that's it, they're voting for president, but actually he is elected by the electors," Smith said.

Smith recounted the procedure of nomination he went through to become one of N.C.'s 13 electors in 1940 and described the duties of the office.

N.C. is divided into 11 congressional districts, and two senatorial districts, he explained, and each district must choose a presidential elector.

The procedure of nomination for Smith, who represented one of the congressional districts, began with the County Convention. County Conventions are held between the primary in May and the general election in November, and each party has a separate convention. Smith attended the Democratic convention in Robertson County, which is part of the Fourth Congressional District, and was nominated there to represent that county.

That made him Robertson County's delegate to the Fourth Congressional District Convention a few months later, and there, from among seven county representatives, he was elected as the Democratic Presidential Elector for the Fourth District.

After the general nationwide election, with the Democratic candidates F. D. Roosevelt and his Vice-President Henry Wallace winning the plurality of votes, Smith was summoned to Raleigh with the other 12 Democratic electors to cast the official N.C. votes for the President and Vice-President.

When the electoral college met in Raleigh, each elector took an oath to vote for the candidates receiving the plurality of popular votes in the state, Smith said.

"Then the Attorney General comes over," he said, "and brings each of us the distinguished certificates beautifully printed in Old English, dressed in ribbon, with the N.C. State Seal inscribed upon it, and we cast our vote for the President and the Vice-President."

The certificates are then carried away by guards and entered into three vaults: that of the Secretary of State in Washington, the Speaker of the House in Washington, and the Secretary of State in N.C., he said.

On the following Jan. 6, the president of the Senate, presiding over a joint session of Congress, opens the certificates, counts the votes, (535 in all), and the election is officially decided by a majority of the total electoral college vote.

The Electoral College system has long been criticized. The "winner-take-all" system, by which the entire electoral vote of a state customarily goes to the candidate receiving a plurality of the state's popular vote, permits a candidate who was outpolled by his opponent to be elected President. Three times -- in 1824, 1876, and 1888 -- the person elected President actually received fewer nationwide popular votes than another candidate.

Smith defended the Electoral College system.

"You may have such a close vote nationwide," he said, "that there will be big arguments about it. And you can't go back and count the votes again. This (the electoral college) eliminates all that, because you can't argue with or attack the constitution and the electoral college is set down by the constitution."

Smith said he wanted to be an elector because "I just love politics and I love people, and it is next to a congressman in distinction."

Plans for station not final

BY KAREN L. CRAVER

Staff Writer

Is the radio station going to 100 watts?

Well, at press time, the question is still up in the air. "We had two major problems," Earl Dalbey said Friday. "The first problem concerned getting an additional advisor. We've solved that. We got Dr. Bowman who knows something about radio electronics."

The second problem concerns financing the station, Dalbey said. "We haven't solved that problem yet,"

Dial
a summer job:
800-331-1000

Work as a Manpower temporary. Flexible schedules. Good pay. Assignments available in your college town or hometown. Please call, toll free.

he said.

In order for the station, WWIH, to stay on the air according to a new Federal Communications Commission ruling, it has to increase its power to 100 watts and apply for another license to replace their existing license which expires in 1982.

Increasing the wattage means the station will have to buy a lot of new equipment, including a new transmitter which may cost $6500, or $2500 for a used one.

According to Dr. Smith, advisor for the station, the funding for the new additions to the station will have to come from the SGA.

"The basic outcome of a meeting with President Patton was that the station can operate as long as students support it. The college doesn't have the money to put into it," Smith said.

The station is asking the SGA for a $2800 operating budget and another $7500 as a capital expenditure from the contingency fund to be used to buy equipment.

"I think we're over the hurdle," station manager

Steve Stultz said. "I think they realize our importance and will give us the funding we need."

The FCC requires all 100 watt radio stations to have a first class radio engineer. Presently, the station only has a second class engineer.

"We hope Dr. Bowman can get certification enough to help us out with some of the engineering work," Smith said.

If the SGA approves the budget of the station and gives them the money for new equipment, there is a possibility the station will relocate.

The station is presently in the top of Robert's Hall.

Switching the location of the station to the old student center may solve some of the security problems in Robert's Hall, Smith said.

If the SGA fails to supply all of the needed funding for the station, there may be other alternatives.

"I've heard there are people in town who would be happy to help us," Dalbey said.

College Village Exxon

1100 E. Lexington
phone 889-7043

Service on American and Imported cars
Road Service Available

Zenith meets first deadline

BY SALLY DAVIS

Staff Writer

The Zenith is making progress. On Friday, April 11th, the first deadline was met and forty-eight pages were mailed to Josten's Yearbook Company.

As for meeting the remaining deadlines, Editor Phyllis Griffin replied, "If I can get the rest of the pictures we need and get some students up here to help lay out the pages, we'll meet the rest of our deadlines. School work has caused a cutback in the amount of help we've had. We still need students who are willing to contribute some time towards getting the Zenith finished."

Griffin added a final comment. "I'll be glad when April 18th gets here (the final deadline for mailing completed pages)! I would like to wish good luck to next year's editors. Hopefully, the Zenith will be more organized. There will be a definite advisor and students will receive credit for the class so the work will have to be done."

The new Zenith editors will attend a workshop this summer at UNC-Wilmington, where they will be trained in areas such as layout and copywriting.

AL'S BICYCLE SHOP

800 MIDLAND AVENUE
THOMASVILLE Phone 476-2028

Hours: Tues. thru Fri. 1-6
Sat. 10-6
Take National Highway 1
block past Unity St. then turn right on Midland.

Bicycle Sales and Service

Media topic of Braggar speech

continued from page 1

see T.V. expand its limited view of the aged and depict the elderly more accurately.

Of 31 million elderly citizens, 25 million are healthy, busy, and functioning, she said.

She would like to see T.V. explore old people as interesting, fruitful, and "in the mainstream of life, interacting with others," she said.

Braggar cited several examples of "agism" (age discrimination) in the media which her group has protested. She recounted that once Media Watch, after observing a pattern of what they felt was insulting depiction of the elderly on the Carol Burnett show, wrote a letter to the president of CBS voicing their objection. At the president's invitation, Braggar and some of her fellow media watchers met with the vice president in charge of program practice at CBS, who asked them to make a presentation to the National Association of Broadcasters (made up of the three major network executives).

"They were astounded and upset by our presentation," she said. The presentation included clips of discriminatory portrayal of the elderly on T.V.

As a result of Media Watch's presentation, the word "age" was inserted into the National Television Code, which now reads, "There shall be sensitivity in programming in regard to Race, Color, Creed, Sex... and Age."

As a representative of the Gray Panthers, which now has over 200 groups nationwide, Mrs. Braggar has traveled across the country and Canada speaking on different subjects.

"The most rewarding part of it all," she said, "is when I stand up and talk to a group and a young person comes up to me afterward and says, 'I don't mind so much getting old now.'"

Dr. C.H. Skelton, 73, who participated in Elder's Day, called Braggar "a real firebrand." "She was a real pepper-upper to us all and made me want to get out and do more for others."

He said that Elder's Day was "one of the nicest things that has happened to me since I've been here in High Point."

Dr. Marilyn Karmel, head of the Gerontology Dept. which sponsored Elder's Day, said it was "a good exchange between the older citizens and the students, of intergenerational conversation."

Walk for Mankind cancelled

BY SALLY DAVIS

Staff Writer

"If you can walk, you can save a life."

Project Concern's Walk for Mankind, sponsored by High Point College and the SGA, was scheduled to take place last Saturday, April 12. Plans fell through and the walk did not materialize.

The Walk for Mankind was cancelled at a meeting held on Thursday, April 3. According to Mike Showalter, Speaker of the Student Legislature, those students present at the meeting consisted of some members of the Executive Council of SGA and the committee chairmen for the walk.

"We based the decision to cancel on two problems - lack of checkpoints and lack of publicity."

Showalter stated that he received a phone call on Wednesday night, April 2, concerning the fact that the scheduled checkpoints had not been confirmed with their sites. As a result, six out of the ten checkpoints cancelled out.

Showalter then called Jan Pritts, regional director for Project Concern. Pritts admitted that there had been a problem in getting the walk materials through the mail to HPC.

Showalter stated that 200 letters had been sent to various community organizations, asking for support in the way of food and other supplies. No response was received from the organizations until April 3.

McDonald's and Burger King withdrew their support, stating that since there had not been any community publicity about the walk, they did not want to take part in something that could be a failure.

The situation needed immediate concern, thus, the meeting was called.

"We felt it would be in the best interest of everyone to cancel the Walk rather than go through with it and have it turn out to be a failure. I don't feel that it was the fault of either director. The situation simply evolved from a combination of circumstances," stated Showalter.

Scott Hance and Steve Burton were co-directors for the Walk for Mankind. Hance was out of town at the time the meeting took place. He had no knowledge of the problem until he arrived back at school on Sunday.

Burton was misinformed about the scheduled time for the meeting so he arrived after the decision had been made. Hance and Burton had mixed feelings on the subject of the Walk being cancelled without their consultation.

Hance was angry with the decision.

"I don't feel that these people who made the decision had the right to do so.

The issue could have waited until Monday when I was back in town. I believe we could have had a walk. Why did they cancel it without consulting us?"

Burton was disappointed, though not angry, about the cancellation of the Walk.

"I'm sorry it was cancelled. It's a worthwhile project but there's more work to it than we thought. We simply ran out of time."

"I do think the decision could have waited until Scott got back. However, I don't know if we could have pulled it (the walk) off successfully. We learned from our mistakes so we'll be able to plan better for the next Walk."

The first attempt at sponsoring a Walk for Mankind failed. Plans are being made for another Walk to be scheduled either for next fall or next spring.

EVERGREEN

MCAT-DAT Review Course. Take the course individually in Atlanta in 3 to 5 days. P.O. Box 77034, Atlanta, GA, 30309, phone (404) 874-2454.

U.S. GOVERNMENT SURPLUS DIRECTORY - How and where to buy thousands of articles at a fraction of original cost, such as, motorcycles, jeeps, scooters, aircraft, boats, musical instruments, calculators, typewriters, clothing, camera, etc.

Send $2 to Research 135-53 Northern Blvd. No. 154, Flushing, N.Y. 11354.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE STUDENT UNION

presents

The 1st Annual

LAST CLASS BASH!

Friday--April 25, 1980

3 p.m. - 1 a.m.

On Campus!

OUTDOOR CONCERT

featuring

PEGASUS

(now called Taint)

World Champion

Frisbee Spectacular

Featuring:

Martha
brings'em back!

Outdoor Picnic!

FREE for Students, Faculty, and Administration

(Sponsored by SGA)

5-6 p.m.

DANCE! DANCE! DANCE!

at the Armory

featuring:

9 p.m. -
1 a.m.

$3

Greek News

Greeks winding up semester's activities; beach trips ahead

ZETA TAU ALPHA

The Zetas elected new officers for 1980-81. The new officers are Krista Ellis, President; Patty Fortus, 1st Vice President; Deborah Shaver, 2nd Vice President; Debbie Boulden, Secretary; and Millie Greene, Treasurer.

Recently, all of the Zetas of North Carolina met for State Day in High Point. Our chapter is proud to have received Zeta Pride Award which is the highest presented. We also won the Quota Award and the Panhellenic Spirit Award.

The chapter awards of this year include Zeta Sweetheart-Donny Layne; Best Senior Sister-Tammy Garrison; Best Sister-Krista Ellis; and Zeta Pride-Nancy Houlberg.

The Zetas have also had fun this semester. We enjoyed a mixer with the Sigs and also a mixer with the Baseball team. Also, on March 22, we held our Sister's Dance in Winston-Salem.

Our future plans include helping with the Special Olympics on April 22. In June, Krista Ellis and Anne Bostrom will represent us at the National Convention in Louisville, Kentucky.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

The Delta Sigs have been working hard the last few weeks in preparation for Sailor's Ball 1980 at Myrtle Beach, S.C. on April 18-20.

Rusty Hawes was recently elected as president of the Sigs. Other officers elected were Dave Morse, Vice President; Johnny McDonald, Secretary; Barry Curry, Treasurer; and Charlie Gross, Sergeant-at-Arms.

This semester, the Sigs have enjoyed mixers with the Zetas and Alpha Gams.

In sports, the Sigs are still in first place overall in intramurals and expect to finish high in bowling and softball.

THETA CHI

Theta Chi would like to congratulate Laura Burdette for being chosen our Theta Chi Dream Girl for 1980. Also, congratulations to all who received awards that evening. These awards were given and received at our Dream Girl dance, which took place at the Thomasville Women's Club. The meal and evening was an excellent and enjoyable time for all!

Theta Chi had a car wash on March 29 and this fund raiser went over very well. Thank you all who came to get your car washed! We hope to have a night at Scarlett's soon, so be ready to party and relax!

Sports wise, Theta Chi has been playing among some very good teams in softball.

This year, as you all are aware, there are many very good teams and the competition is very high! So far the Theta Chis are at a 2 wins, no losses, and 1 tie.

ALPHA DELTA THETA

Alpha Delta Theta is bringing the 1979-80 year to a close with a beach retreat on April 11-13 at Long Beach. They hope to get away for the weekend to enjoy the sun and help strengthen their sisterhood.

This year has been a rather good one for Alpha Delta Theta. They've been out to the Presbyterian Home quite a few times and have even adopted a grandmother and two grandfathers. These people, as well as the other members, have become very special to the sisters. They have also made Easter Baskets for the Children's Home in Winston-Salem.

New officers for the upcoming year were elected April 8th. They include Teresa Williams - President; Martha Vink - Vice-President; Cathy Wilhoit - Secretary; Ava House - Treasurer; Karen Caudle and Beth Myers - Pledge Trainers; Layne Rickard and Vickie Barnes - Historian and Publicity; Rachel Eldridge - Chaplain. These officers will be inducted at the Beach retreat.

The sisters are looking forward to next year, and hope it will be their best yet.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

The Alpha Gams have had a busy schedule since Easter. In an attempt to raise money for their 25th Anniversary Rose Ball they have had doughnut and candy bar sales, room cleanings and a car wash at the Pizza Hut on Main Street.

On April 2 they held a

Greeks relax at recent Greek Day party at TOC. [Photos by Terry Gardella].

night at Scarlett's -- which was a big success.

On the morning of April 12, an International Reunion Day was held at Howard Johnsons and later that night, the Alpha Gam Rose Ball, which was a great time for everyone, was held at the Downtowner from 9:00 til 1:00. Mark Poore was chosen as the Alpha Gam Sweetheart. A senior sendoff is planned for Wednesday night, April 16th.

Everyone is looking forward to a wild time at Myrtle Beach at the end of this semester. Congratulations to all of the newly elected officers and a special good luck to Colleen Blackney, the new Alpha Gam president.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Lambda Chi Alpha held its White Rose formal on April 5. There was a large turnout of Alumni and the dance was a big success.

Recently, the Chis initiated 18 new brothers. They were Sam Averett, Gordon Bowen, John Carl, Ted Coyle, Jim Davis, Joe Davis, Mark DiCarlo, Jim Gladden, Mike Keaton, Stuart Kneeder, Mark Lambert, Greg Lukaszczuk, Art Michael, Bob Mitcheltree, Craig Mock, John Norton, Sean Russell, and Kevin Smith.

On Sunday, April 13, the Chis had a barbeque at Mill's House Orphanage for all the children. It was enjoyed by all.

In February, HPC was the site of the Lambda Chi Alpha 1980 Colonial Conclave. Over 125 members from North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia attended. The entire weekend, including a dance, was a tremendous success. French Bolen of the HPC chapter was the conclave organizer.

In softball intramurals, the March 21-24 proved to be a very exciting and memorable time as sisters of Gamma Gamma, present and past, joined together to celebrate the chapter's 25th anniversary. Highlighting the weekend was the crowning of Gary Thomas as the new KD Sweetheart, while one of the first KD Sweethearts, Barry Newsome, looked on.

The 1979-80 Pledge Class also presented the sisters a silver pitcher set. Scholarship awards were also presented to Ellen Carmine and Robin Henson, Highest Sister Average; Sue Saxe, Highest Pledge Average; and Ellen Myers, Most Improved Average.

On April 8, two new pledges accepted bids. They are Laura Ridenour and Denise Machamer. We are proud to have them join our circle.

A mixer with the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity is also planned for April 26. On April 27, the Honor Initiates of Gamma Gamma chapter are holding a luncheon at Emerywood Country Club.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The Pikas had their elections recently. The new officers are Steve Burton, President; Bill Seay, Vice President; Art Prillaman, Secretary; Bryan Christian, Treasurer; and Bob Duarte, Pledge Master.

On April 14, the Pika Little Sisters had a slave auction. The brothers are planning a car wash for Saturday, April 26.

The semester is coming to an end and will be celebrated with the annual Dream Girl dance on Friday, April 18.

PHI MU

The Phi Mus are proud to have recently taken in six new Phi's. They are Erika Allion, Jo Conkin, Kathy Hanson, Monique Peyser, Anne Soots, and Tracie Willis.

Recently the Phi Mus enjoyed Phi Mu Weekend. During the weekend Jon Richardson was announced as Sweetheart.

Future plans include a Night At Scarlett's on Thursday, April 17. Admission will be $.50. Also, a car wash will be held at First Union, North Main, on Saturday, April 19.

KAPPA DELTA

It is with great pride that the sisters of Kappa Delta look back on the month of March. On March 11, the new council was installed. The new officers are Nan Lytton, President; Cyndi Bingham, Vice President; Debbie James, Secretary; Rita McNealy, Treasurer; and Nancy Siersted, Assistant Treasurer.

*A look at the
Class of '80*

Photos by Edythe Montesana

VICKY WILLIAMS

Comeback sparks netters to title

BY SUSAN PARKER
Staff Sports Writer

"I was extremely pleased of the tremendous comeback by the girls after being down, and to go on and win the championship," an elated High Point womens' tennis coach Kitty Steele said after her team claimed its fourth straight conference title.

The Lady Panthers came from a three-point deficit after the first round of play to beat Guilford for the league title last weekend here at High Point. The Panthers won four singles titles and two doubles flights to capture the crown.

Going into the April 12 finals Guilford had six singles and all three doubles teams still alive. But in the end, High Point's Vicky Williams, Helen O'Brien, Susie Urmston and Marie Riley had claimed singles championships.

And the doubles teams of Kinta Otterman-Riley and O'Brien-Urmston had titles, giving High Point a five point victory margin in the tourney.

The Panthers iced the tournament with Otterman-Riley winning at No. 3 doubles, topping Guilford's tandem of Randle-Rosenburg 6-3, 6-0. O'Brien-Urmston added a 7-6, 6-2 triumph over Dunn-Ireton of Guilford.

In singles action, Kathy Neblitt lost in the semifinals to Carol Durki of Pfeiffer in three sets while Williams won the No. 2 crown with a 6-4, 6-1 win over Sue Ireton of Guilford. Otterman was forced to default her No. 3 semifinal match to Pembroke's Bobbi Click.

Bur freshman O'Brien retaliated with a straight set 6-4, 6-3 win over Guilford's Shawn Phillips at No. 4 singles. Urmston went blazing through the No. 5 bracket and capped the year with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Peg Shaeffer of Guilford. Riley upset Joan Murray of Guilford 7-6, 6-0 for the No. 6 crown.

Dennis Tuttle

The End Nears

Daylight Savings Time approaches quickly and Tim Reid realizes that with each passing day, despite the additional sunlight, that his baseball days are actually getting shorter.

Baseball has initiated each spring for the senior infielder for countless years, however, next year will be different. Old No. 5 will not graduate with the post-college prestige that High Point has for baseball players. Instead, Tim Reid, realistic but resentful, hasn't a snowball's chance in hell to extend his career.

Reid is the last legacy of a baseball family at High Point, a clan that played together and prayed together. Otis Foster hit home runs to the tennis courts, Jimmy Mugele made spectacular stabs in the shortstop hole and Joe Garbarino stole a NAIA record 44 straight bases.

Today, they all have other careers.

The Youngest

By being the youngest member of those Panther prodigies Reid has learned that professional baseball offers little security to a steady-hitting second baseman. Any ballplayer can be steady, but super prospect is what the scouts vie.

"I thought about it before the season. Playing pro would be a fringe benefit," he said. "I'm optimistically hoping, but I've got to be realistic and put things in perspective. It doesn't seem like it is possible. If it happens it happens."

Irate about the political aspect of professional baseball, Reid deters the who-you-know syndrome. "It's a big ego trip. If you get the chance to play you usually have a big head. I've played with and against a lot of guys who I thought I had as much ability as they did, and they got a chance to play.

"And I've been the opposite of most. I never really thought I'd make it. If it's not in the cards and people don't think I can play that's alright with me."

A Solid Performer

Solid performances have been a part of Reid's High Point career. A year ago during the Panthers' national-runners-up season he hit .317 in the second slot, batting behind Garbarino. Presently he's hitting .363, leading the team in

See Tuttle, page 10

Harrison Finklea, a 6-8½ center from West Forsyth, is high on coach Jerry Steele's recruiting list. [Photo courtesy Winston-Salem Journal].

Steele seeks height for HP

BY DENNIS TUTTLE
Sports Editor

High Point College coach Jerry Steele is still shopping for replacements for three graduating basketball players. But the Panther coach is having some problems getting commitments, although he believes that an announcement from one of eight sought-after players is near.

Steele is seeking replacements for guard Danny Anderson, center Bob Hovey and forward-guard Joey Yow. Steele wouldn't elaborate on his out-of-state prospects, who are usually numerous. But he did mention three local players who are high on his list.

Ironically, all three fit the positions open for next season. Tops on the list is 6-8½ center Harrison Finklea of West Forsyth High School, just outside of Winston-Salem. Overlooked because of his rail-thin 170-pound frame, Finklea is an awesome shot-blocker and if riled, can be equally strong inside.

Another is 6-3 Bill Gross of nearby Westchester Academy. Gross is a solid

See Replacements, page 10

Little waiting for signees

The mailbox remains empty for High Point College womens' coach Nancy Little, who ventures to the post office daily looking for letters of intent from recruits. The last few days have kept her curiosity high, along with her blood pressure.

"I wish I knew something," she said. "I know pretty much who is interested in coming here. But the problem has been grades. Some of the players we are interested in hadn't decided to go to college until their senior year and had not taken the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test). So, we're waiting for SAT results to see if they can get into school."

Little doesn't see any problems, though. Three of the four local players she explicitly desires in Panther purple have shown great interest in High Point. However, the most open position -- point guard -- is still vacant. This is, if sophomore Roxann Moody transfers to Wake Forest. Or if she stays, she could still be lame from last fall's knee surgery.

Little showed disappointment at losing David County guard Jill Amos, who signed as expected with UNC-Wilmington. "She was the first player we looked at this year and she could have fit in," Little said. "But she liked the beach and I think they offered her some money to play tennis, also."

See Mailbox, page 10

Slumping Panthers fail to reach district

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

For all intents and purposes, the Panthers' 1980 baseball season came to an end during the past two weeks as they lost seven out of their last twelve games. Hopes for a District 26 Tournament berth were crushed April 10 as the Falcons of St. Augustine defeated the Panthers, 3-2. The district loss eliminated High Point from any post-season play.

It's been a tough year for the Panthers, with disappointment heightened by the incredible success of the team's 1979 NAIA Tournament runners-up finish. In fairness to this year's club, however, inexperienced, new faces playing new positions seemed to be one of the major obstacles this year.

Success for the 1980 Panthers constantly seemed one play away, whether it was a key hit, a critical defensive play, or a crucial strikeout. All too many times the team was unable to get the plays it needed at the times it needed them most. Lack of clutch hitting, stingy defense, and solid pitching in important situations turned what could have been another outstanding season into a season full of disappointment.

During the past two weeks the Panthers were unable to establish any kind of winning streak. To begin the period High Point lost to conference foe Catawba 6-2 before bouncing back to sweep a double-header from Towson State 12-3 and 6-5. Back-to-back 7-3 losses to previously winless Towson State and perennial batting average booster N.C. A&T, followed by the determining St. Augustine loss, caused the Panthers to start all over again in their search for a winning streak.

Slippery Rock State fell victim to the Panthers as High Point swept a double-header 4-3 and 7-1 before Pembroke State swept two from the Panthers 4-0 and 3-2. High Point fell to Wingate 8-6 and then ended the period with a rain-shortened 5-inning victory over St. Augustine 5-4.

The Panthers received solid offensive punches during the two-week period from senior, All-Conference candidate Tim Reid, junior Kevin Albertson, and sophomores Neil Van Asch, Kenny Carter, and Bob Hearon. Senior Mark LaFranco proved to be the stalwart of the Panther pitching staff, while junior Jay Schwamberger pitched well in relief after returning from a bout with tendonitis.

The Panthers' overall record stands at 14-15, while their district record is currently 4-8.

High Point is seeded last in the Carolinas Conference Tournament, and will take on top-seeded Atlantic Christian in first round action in Greensboro, April 17, at 8:00 p.m.

Young experienced helped HPC

BY NANCY RIVERS
Staff Sports Writer

With every sport season there are surprises and disappointments, victories and defeats, winners and losers. Yet, it does not necessarily mean a player is a loser if he doesn't "win," but rather, he is a winner if he has given his game his 100 percent. Two such players graced High Point College's tennis courts this season and both were welcome surprises to the 1980 squad.

Freshman Griff Thompson began the 1980 season from the sidelines. When Phil Parrish, the No. 2 seed injured his hand, Coach Charlie Futrelle gave Thompson his chance -- and placed him in the No. 2 slate.

Thompson's action on the court came as a big surprise to the other team members, as he played with a style comparable to more seasoned members. Several of the players feel he will be High Point's best player in another year.

Thompson admitted to being nervous about his position. It held more responsibility than he had thought he would be given as such a young player. His doubles partner, freshman Jim Holleran, also added to the depth of the team.

Though Thompson's overall record was not the best on the team, he was certainly one of High Point's winners this year. The squad looks forward to his skills in the next season.

The other surprise to the squad was returning letterman Lane Evans. Evans, the No. 5 seed his freshman year, did not play his sophomore year. During the 1979 season he played at No. 7. This season, however, Evans came back to action and ended his season with an impressive 20-4 record.

There is an evident change in Evans' game and attitude from past seasons. As a freshman, he was known for his determination and competitive nature on the courts. When he did not play in the past two seasons, Evans said he felt unsure about the 1980 year. He, as well as other players, knew that he held the ability and strength to play well -- if only given the chance.

The change in coaching staff gave Evans his chance. At the No. 6 seed he played a strong game the entire season, and made it to the finals of the conference tournament.

Both Thompson and Evans will return to High Point's team next season -- both should again prove themselves to be quality players -- quality winners.

Burgess, Holleran claim titles

BY NANCY RIVERS
Staff Sports Writer

The High Point College men's tennis team has ended the 1980 season with a solid record. On April 8 the team played their last match of the year against Appalachian State in Boone.

Although the team lost the final match of the season 5-4, the overall record was outstanding at 16-9. Of those matches, five were lost at 5-4 -- impressive for a team sporting two freshmen.

Willem DeGroot, Chris Hohnhold, Dave Burgess, and Phil Parrish are the graduating members on the squad. Returning next season will be Lane Evans, who held the best single's record for the year at 20-4, Griff Thompson, Jim Holleran, and Joe Alamo.

During the weekend of April 11-12 the men traveled to Guilford College to compete in the Conference Tournament. After the first round team scores were Guilford 16, High Point 15, and Atlantic Christian 14. Three singles players made it into the finals on Saturday: Evans, Jim Holleran and Burgess. The doubles teams of De-Groot-Parrish, Holleran-Thompson and Hohnhold-Burgess made it to the final competition.

The final point totals ended with Guilford as the Conference Champion. At singles Holleran and Burgess won conference championships. All doubles teams lost.

This weekend the team travels once again to Guilford for the district title. The matches will determine the District Champion -- the winner will travel to national competition.

JAY WEINBERG: LIVING PROOF YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS COUNT.

These days, Jay Weinberg's most difficult battles take place on the tennis court. Five years ago, he had a different kind of fight on his hands: against one of the toughest forms of cancer. Cancer research and treatment have made Jay's kind of recovery possible for almost 2 million people. Which means that your donations have helped buy Jay Weinberg a very beautiful gift: his life.

CANCER CAN BE BEAT.

American Cancer Society

THIS SPACE CONTRIBUTED BY THE PUBLISHER AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

Tuttle column

Continued from page 8

hits, triples and walks. And defensively he's always been superb.

So what's the hangup?

High Point is struggling this year, failing to qualify for the district and having a sub-.500 record. Pro scouts seldom seek a prospect unless his team makes post-season tournaments.

"I've given it all I've got in my four years and I've tried to make a contribution. There's nothing more I can say if people don't give me the chance," he said cortly. "I never really thought I'd make it. But when it came down to making a decision -- if I did get the chance -- I thought I wouldn't make it.

"I've always been on a winner and I've felt that I've had as much ability as some who got a chance at the pros. That aggravates me."

So in two weeks Tim Reid will no longer wear Panther purple, no longer be a baseball player and will no longer have to lose sleep over aggravation of unimpressed scouts.

Simply because good guys always finish last.

Mailbox is empty

Continued from page 8

But the first-year Panther coach fully expects some good news from 6-1 Rebecca Cowles of Wilkes Central and 5-11 Teresa Dula of Hibriten. Two Northwestern 3-A Conference players have verbally committed to High Point, but their letters of intent have yet to be received.

The other highly recruited player is 5-8 Cassandra Little of Asheboro High School. The senior sharpshooter averaged 30 points per game for the Blue Comets this season and has brought on a horde of interested coaches from all over the state. But she has yet to make a decision and reportedly has narrowed her choices to High Point and North Carolina. "And she may not go to school at all," Little sighed.

"Those were the four players that we were really interested in," she added. "With Jill going to Wilmington we have to start looking elsewhere, and fast, for a point guard."

Bob Aydellette hits his driver at Oak Hollow. The Panther golf team will enter the conference tournament this weekend. [Photo by Edythe Mentessana].

Replacements are Panthers' top priority performer who shot 63 percent from the floor last year and had 36 dunks. An excellent leaper (40 inch lateral) for his size, Gross contributed 17 points per game and 10 rebounds for the private school Wildcats.

Continued from page 8

One of the top guard prospects in the state, 6-3 Mel Melton of Greensboro Page could figure prominently to High Point's control offense. Averaging 15 ppg, Melton was a solid performer who Steele said could contribute greatly because "he's been taught in a winning program."

But Steele has yet to hear from Melton, Gross or Finklea, or any other player. Obviously Steele is concerned but he noted that several times in the past that his best recruits didn't come until August.

"It's not unusual to have someone signed by this time," he said. "It's pressure and you wish it was over. I wish I knew what they were going to do. It's getting to the point where it would be a relief to know what they intend to do."

Steele doesn't have his hopes too high on the local players, all of whom are top small college prospects. "I wouldn't be surprised and actually, not that disappointed if they called and said they weren't coming. We're interested in them and they're interested in us. But they're still interested in two or three other schools. I wouldn't bet a dollar on them either way."

Injury, surgery ruined Thompson's career

BY JOHN HALLIS
Staff Sports Writer

Pitching once meant only two things to senior Terry Thompson -- success and a ticket to the major leagues. With the events of the past few years, however, pitching has taken on two totally different meanings: pain and disappointment.

After an outstanding American Legion pitching career of 80 wins and 12 losses, Thompson anticipated being drafted right out of high school by a pro team. He had just completed his senior year in legion ball, and it had been one of his finest. The Asheboro native posted a 13-2 record while averaging nearly two strikeouts an inning. He also set a personal record by striking out 23 opposing batters in a nine-inning ballgame.

Scouts from the Chicago Cubs, Cleveland Indians, and Los Angeles Dodgers were keeping track of this young righthander's impressive career very closely. But they wanted to see how Thompson would fair in college ball before taking a gamble on him. So Terry enrolled at Wingate. "I thought I'd get drafted right out of high school and when I didn't, I thought maybe after my first or second year of college I may. I knew definitely that if I had to wait four years I'd definitely be drafted. I went to school only so I could play ball."

Terry Thompson's career was ruined by shoulder surgery. [Photo by Tommy Reddeck.]

At Wingate he suffered early season control problems before finding the groove and posting a 5-1 record. School recessed for the summer and Thompson made plans for playing summer league ball.

His team had a good record and made it to the play-offs, that's where Terry's problems began. Early in the play-off series Thompson pitched his team to a nine-inning victory, just another routine win in an outstanding career. That night, however, he was awakened by a great deal of pain in his right shoulder. By the next day Terry couldn't raise his arm past his waist. The severe pain lasted for nearly two weeks. He rested his injured shoulder until it felt strong enough to give pitching another shot.

Thompson later attempted to pitch in another play-off game, but the pain returned and he couldn't get past the first inning. "A lot of people thought the injury was the coach's fault for throwing me so much, but I never had any problems with my arm before, it didn't get tired, and it never bothered me. A lot of people still blame the coach, but I don't know."

Thompson's injury was diagnosed as a tendon related, where the tendons became enflamed from throwing so much and caused the two bones in the shoulder to rub together, resulting in a great deal of pain. The doctor elected to operate in an attempt to cut away some of the bone in the shoulder and thus alleviate the friction. Thompson underwent surgery in August, 1978, and let his injured shoulder mend for three months.

After transferring to High Point, Thompson was the starting pitcher against national powerhouse Clemson last season. He pitched four innings before his shoulder began bothering him again and he had to be relieved. The pain continued so he dropped off the team in order to save a year of his eligibility.

Last December Thompson started working out at Nautilus Fitness Center in an effort to strengthen his weak shoulder. "I thought it had helped, but the more I threw and the harder I threw, the more it hurt," he said. "It was the same thing all over again." Terry once again dropped off the team and is now turning away from his

See Thompson, page 11

Beach lists laws to aid vacationers

As a public service announcement from the Dean of Students, the following code of laws from the city of Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, are listed to familiarize vacationers with the city ordinances.

Sec. 7-2-3. Drinking prohibited in specified places.

It shall be unlawful for any person within the city to:

(a) Publicly engage in the drinking of alcoholic liquors, beer ale, porter, wine or any other similar malt or fermented beverage.

(b) Engage in the drinking of alcoholic liquors, beer, ale, porter, wine or any other similar malt or fermented beverage upon any premises upon which an athletic contest is being conducted.

(c) Drink alcoholic liquors, beer, ale, porter, wine or any other similar malt or fermented beverage on the premises of any retail, wholesale or manufacturing alcoholic liquor business or business establishment. (Code 1966, Sec. 4-3; 3-21-68).

Sec. 7-10-4 - Sleeping on public beach after 9:00 p.m. prohibited.

It shall be unlawful for any person to sleep on the public beach within the city between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and sunrise. (Code 1966, Sec. 6-4)

Sec. 8-1-13. Riding on Portion of Vehicle Not Designed for Passengers.

No person shall ride on any vehicle upon any portion thereof not designated or intended for the use of passengers. This provision shall not apply to an employee engaged in the necessary discharge of duty, or to persons riding within truck bodies in space intended for merchandise. (Code 1966, Sec. 19-10)

Sec. 9-1-34. Automobiles -- Sleeping in.

It shall be unlawful for any person to sleep in any automobile or other motor vehicle in the city between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and sunrise. (Code 1966, Sec. 21-6)

Sec. 9-3-4. Carrying of Certain Weapons prohibited.

It shall be unlawful for any person in the city to carry, either concealed or not, any pistol, dirk, slingshot, metal knuckles, razors or other deadly weapons used for the infliction of injury to person or property. Upon conviction thereof, besides that penalty as may be imposed by the court, he shall forfeit the weapon to the city. (Code 1966, Sec. 31-4)

Sec. 9-1-7. Breach of the peace; disorderly conduct; drunkenness in public.

It shall be unlawful for any person to commit any breach of the peace, conduct himself in a disorderly manner, be publicly drunk or under the influence of intoxicating beverages, be loud and boisterous or conduct himself in such a manner as to disturb the peace and quiet of the public. (Code 1966, Sec. 21-9)

Sec. 9-1-33. Trespass.

(a) No person shall enter upon the lands or premises owned or in possession of another after notice from the owner or person in possession prohibiting an entry.

(b) No person shall enter upon the lands or premises owned or occupied by another for any other than a legitimate cause.

(c) No person shall fail or refuse to leave lands or premises owned or occupied by another, after being requested to do so.

(d) No person shall enter in or upon private or public property for the purpose and design of creating or inciting a disturbance, or when any entry might be calculated to create or incite a disturbance. (Code 1966, Sec. 21-36)

§16-7-110. Wearing masks and the like.

No person over sixteen years of age shall appear or enter upon any lane, walk, alley, street, road public way or highway of this State or upon the public property of the State or of any municipality or county in this State while wearing a mask or other device which conceals his identity. Nor shall any such person demand entrance or admission to or enter upon the premises or into the enclosure or house of any other person while wearing a mask or device which conceals his identity. Nor shall any such person, while wearing a mask or device which conceals his identity, participate in any meeting or demonstration upon the private property of another unless he shall first have obtained the written permission of the owner and the occupant of such property.

Rogers named

Mr. J. Wilson Rogers was recently named president of the Carolinas Conference. Rogers teaches in the Earl N. Phillips School of Business and has been active in the women's tennis program at HPC.

Movie needs students

Anyone who wants to be "on camera" for national viewing is invited to come to the front of Roberts Hall at 11 a.m. Monday, April 21.

Ms. Susan Corrigan, director of filming for Media Resources in Washington, D.C., has selected High Point College as the location of a scene needed for a production of the Department of Labor.

Students should bring a book, or notebook, and will be asked to enter and exit the front door of Roberts Hall as though classes have just changed.

Neat dress is suggested by Ms. Corrigan.

Thompson's comeback bid fails

Continued from page 10
hopes of a pro career, "I don't think that the operation was a success at all. I guess I just threw too much. It's a tough thing to accept."

Thompson has learned some important lessons concerning athletics and school. He admits, "If you're involved in sports, take school seriously! I didn't and I wish I had. It's been pretty depressing since I hurt my shoulder. I never took school seriously, the only reason I

Dorms to get carpeting

Twenty-six students on third floor North dorm petitioned for floor runners Jan. 28. The carpet runners were requested for safety and noise absorbing purposes.

As a result, Mr. Earle Dalbey, Vice President of Financial Affairs assured the residents of the North and Yarkin dorm complex that they will in fact, see carpet in their halls again. It will be restored on each hall in North and Yarkin.

The carpet was originally removed because of water fights. When the carpet was lifted in order to mop up the water, the floor tiles came up too. Since the carpets needed are an odd size without paid alteration (90 foot halls), Dalbey said the old carpets, which are 60 feet long, will be cleaned up and reinstalled.

"The runners will most likely be placed in the dorms next fall. It will take that long to clean them up," said Dalbey.

However he warned, "If you have water fights, we'll have to take them out again."

Some members of the Army ROTC Orienteering class prepare to run the course as Captain Walters gives final instructions. The event took place last Saturday at Hanging Rock State Park. [Photo by Lisa D'Micci]

Alpha Chi represented

The Alpha Chi Honor Society, Region III Convention was held at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia on April 10, 11, and 12. Region III encompasses the southeastern portion of the U.S., and includes 48 chapters of Alpha Chi. The High Point College chapter was represented by Patricia Burns and Carol Labosky.

The main purpose of this convention was to give students in Alpha Chi the opportunity to share their accomplishments in various forms of research, music, and drama. Also, students and sponsors were able to exchange ideas regarding services that their individual chapters could perform for the campus community. Plans were made concerning the National Convention to be held in Nashville, Tennessee next April.

This is the first year the High Point Chapter of Alpha Chi has participated in this regional convention, and our representatives stated that attending this convention should be one of the major priorities in the upcoming years.

THIS SPACE CONTRIBUTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

ARTIFACTS

MUSIC: April 22 -- High Point College Choir and High Point College Singers to present Spring Concert, 8:00 p.m., Hayworth Chapel, Free.
 April 17 -- Senior Recital -- Laura Medlin, clarinet, North Carolina School of the Arts (Winston-Salem), 8:15 p.m., Crawford Hall, Free.
 April 18 -- Faculty Recital -- Joseph Kalichstein, piano, 8:15 p.m., NCSA, Crawford Hall, Admission is $2.00 per person.
 April 20 -- Student Recital -- Cathy Dudley, viola, assisted by Rebecca Barrow, piano, Louise Bergston, viola, 2:00 p.m., NCSA, Crawford Hall, Free.
 April 20 -- Franck Organ Works -- NCSA organ students, 4:00 p.m., NCSA Crawford Hall, Free.
 April 21 -- Senior Recital -- Sue McPherson, voice, 8:15 p.m., NCSA Crawford Hall, Free.
 April 22 -- Senior Recital -- Kurt Eslick, horn, 8:15 p.m., NCSA, Crawford Hall, Free.
 April 23 -- Senior Recital -- Dan Devaney, guitar, 8:15 p.m., NCSA Recital Hall, Free.
 April 26 -- Conway Twitty, Greensboro Coliseum, 8:00 p.m. Tickets now on sale.
 May 1 -- The Grateful Dead, Greensboro Coliseum, 8:00 p.m. Tickets now on sale - $8.50 and $7.50 (reserved seating).

EXHIBITS: April 19 -- Super Flea, Greensboro Coliseum, 8:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m., Free.
 April 16-May 25 -- Southeast Seven III, SECCA, Winston-Salem, 10:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m., Tuesday-Saturday and 2:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. Sunday, Free.
 April 16-May 25 -- Ray Kass Paintings, SECCA, Time same as above, Free.
 April 24-June 14 -- Jewel Stern: Color Xerox Projects, SECCA, 10 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Tuesday and 2:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. Sunday (except during June), Free.

A preview

Cohan play to be performed

BY RAY DANIEL
Contributing Writer

Thunder! Crash! Shots! Screams! "What's a goin' on in the Tavern tonight?" cries confused Willum, the crazy hired man (Art Prilleman) in HPC's guest artist production of "The Tavern".

Poor ole Willum never really figures out what's going on in this hilarious mystery comedy by George M. Cohan, which does have a delightfully surprising ending.

The play, to be presented at 8:00 p.m., April 16-19, in the HPC Memorial Auditorium by the Tower Players and Fine Arts Department, will feature Lucious Houghton of the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival. He will play the demanding role of the Vagabond, the part which Cohan originally wrote for himself.

Some other characters of this "convoluted crazy bunch of happenings", as the director, David Appleton, described the play, include a woman (DuBose Bartol) searching for the man that drove her to the streets; The Governor (Earle Ludgin, of the community) and his family who have just been robbed; a flashy sheriff (Mario Watson) with his men; and an authoritative Innkeeper (Tim Gray) with his enamored son (Bob Spangler) and ever-screaming hired girl (Martha McCoss).

This unusual gathering of strange characters in "The Tavern" creates a comical situation, and every bit of comedy is brought out and amplified by the Vagabond.

"He infuses us with his energy," Bartol said. Ludgin, who has acted in community theatre before, said that because of Houghton, "instead of becoming a chore, these rehearsals have been a continual delight."

The students agree that the professional actor makes a definite difference. They said that the rehearsals are much more serious, but there is a good sense of fun and humor.

Houghton has not acted with students since he graduated from the N.C. School of the Arts. Although he has been in the "actor in the school" program, it just involved performing for the students, not interacting with them. He described his work with the student actors as "fun".

"Everyone has worked real hard. They've grown. It's very exciting to see it all come together," Houghton said.

Spring Concert upcoming

The High Point College Singers and Choir will present their Spring Concert on Tuesday, April 22, at 8:00 p.m. in Hayworth Chapel.

Included in the program will be some folk songs, modern arrangements of popular hymns, and selections from musical comedy. Also included will be a medley of big hits from the Forties.

Dr. James Elson is the director of both groups. Carol Amundsen accompanies the High Point College Choir and Teresa Williams accompanies the singers. Williams also acts as assistant director and will play a piano solo.

Bulletin Board

Anyone interested in going to Myrtle Beach, S.C. May 4-11 contact any KD or call 889-4080.

Notice to Sigs: Don't forget to come to see "The Tavern" Wednesday night before going to the beach.

Book Buy at the Bookstore will be April 30, May 1st and Fri. May 2nd.

The Library Committee has completed a report on the current status of the High Point College library. This report is available to all students, faculty and any other interested persons. Reports can be picked up in the Wrenn Memorial Library during regular library hours.

Study Law in Washington

Day & Evening Classes
Begin September 1980

POTOMAC SCHOOL OF LAW THE WATERGATE

2600 Virginia Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20037
(202) 337-3880

LSAT/LSAS REQUIRED

Potomac School of Law is not yet accredited by the American Bar Association. If provisional accreditation is not received before a student graduates, the student may not be eligible to sit for the bar examination in most jurisdictions.

VW SERVICE, REPAIR, PARTS, & SALES

Gene's Bug Clinic
1702 English Road • High Point, N.C. 27260
Phone 886-5136 or 886-7324

SUMMER JOB OPENINGS FOR CAMP COUNSELORS
at Camp Sea Gull (boys) and Camp Seafarer (girls) on the coast of North Carolina. The camps feature sailing, motorboating, and seamanship, plus all usual camping activities including a wide variety of major sports. Early June through mid-August. Challenging work with young people, 7-16 years of age - outdoors - enjoyable - stimulating. Qualifications include ability to instruct in one phase of the camp's program, a genuine interest in young people, and excellent references. Quick answer upon receipt of letter of application which should include a brief resume of training and experience in area(s) of the camp program in which you are best qualified to instruct. Apply to Wyatt Taylor, Director, Camp Sea Gull/Camp Seafarer, P.O. Box 10976, Raleigh, NC 27605

COUPON
2209 N. Main
869-2171

Peppi's
CLIP THIS COUPON!
2 for 1
On Any Size Pizza
WITH COUPON
OFFER GOOD THRU May 3 WITH COUPON
Not Accepted For Lunch Special

DRACULA
Your favorite pain in the neck is about to bite your funny bone.

LOVE
at First Bite
PG An American International Release
© 1979 American International Pictures, Inc.
Sat. April 26, 1980
Aud. 9 p.m.
Admission $1.00