Human chain' to move books
Smith Library to open February 1

BY LEWIS WHELESS
AND MARINA QUICK

High Point College Library Director Tom Gaughan labels himself the “ringmaster of the biggest circus this college has ever seen” in reference to his role in the move from the M.J. Wrenn Memorial Library to the new Herman and Louise Smith Library. Indeed, the atmosphere will be circus-like when 120,000 books are moved to the new $3.5 million structure Feb. 1.

If all goes as planned, students, faculty members, administration, alumni, trustees, members of the Board of Visitors and other volunteers will all contribute to a “human chain” so that the new library will be ready for use in eight hours. Classes will be cancelled and college offices will be closed in hopes of having at least 800 volunteers to move the books.

Beginning at 8 a.m. on Wednesday morning, volunteers will line up at the rear entrance of the old Wrenn Library to receive boxes of books stored in card catalog order. These boxes will be carried to the main entrance of Smith Library where trained volunteers will take the books and put them in correct order on the new shelves.

GAUGHAN PREDICTS that approximately 20,000 trips will be needed for completion of the library if inclement weather does not interrupt the chain. A rain date has been set for Wed., Feb. 1.

Gaughan said, “We decided to move the library with volunteer help, rather than professional movers, because everyone can get anxious to use the facility, and professional movers would disrupt library services for too long a period. Hiring professional movers would have been far easier, but it would have spread the duration of the move over a number of weeks.

“We want everyone involved to feel a sense that the Library belongs to them - this personal involvement should accomplish that.”

The new Herman and Louise Smith Library...
Moving the library;

moving the 'powers that be'

The move from the old Wrenn Memorial Library to the new multi-million dollar Smith Library will be a monumental day for High Point College. Faculty, administration, students, board members and alumni will all take part in one of the more memorable and fantastic events ever to take place on our campus. Nevertheless, there are students who have decided not to help move the new library in retaliation of 'ridiculous' college rules and regulations.

During a meeting of student leaders and college administration last Thursday, students said that other students they had talked to were not going to bother to help move books because they had been 'treated like children' far too long. Alcohol and attendance policies were cited as two major reasons for this dissatisfaction. It was also noted that some students said the college is trying to 'get something for nothing' by using volunteers to move library materials.

The result of the meeting reinforced an ongoing problem: There is simply not enough open, intelligent communication between students and administrations of High Point College.

Students should be able to take an active part in planning decisions that affect their education and way of life. We need healthy debate and compromise. Intelligent discourse is the only way we will ever accomplish anything -- whether it be a library move or an agreeable alcohol policy.

Student Life Director Michael Pittman suggested a need for open meetings wherein students and administration could discuss problems and grievances constructively. It is hoped the administration will carry through with such a plan and let us have a voice. After all, we are the ones paying thousands of dollars a year for an education. Without us, HPC will crumble.

Whether or not enough students show up to complete the move remains to be seen. To 'get back' at the college by not helping out is pure childishness. Perhaps a majority of the student body, rather than the majority of the student body, will make it better and stronger than ever before.

LEWIS WHELESS

Hi-Po
P.O. Box 3510 Room 209 Campus Center

Lewis Wheless Editor-in-Chief
Scott Morgan Advertising and Business Manager
Mark Phelps Sports Editor
Donna Burton Faculty Advisor
Scott Heinecke Head photographer

The opinions expressed in "Letters to the Editor" are not necessarily those of the college or the majority of the student body, rather, those of the writers. The editorials printed in this publication are the expressed opinions of the Editors of the HI-PO.

The HI-PO welcomes letters from its readers on topics of current interest. Letters must be typed, signed and an address must be included. It is warranted, requests for anonymity will be honored. The HI-PO reserves the right to edit letters as seen necessary.

Letter to the editor...

HPC alcohol position clarified

Dear Editor:

In the December 7, 1983 issue of the HI-PO, an article appeared announcing the adoption of a new Student Government Association Ethics Code provision concerning alcohol use and possession ("SGA Approves Ethics Code" by Cheryl Dougherty, December 7, 1983). The new Ethics Code provision lists penalties for use and possession of alcohol in accordance with official College policy as set forth in the 1983-84 Student Handbook. However, it should be noted that that article by Ms. Dougherty incorrectly stated that the new Ethics Code provision indicates "that alcohol is allowed in private rooms now." (page 1, HI-Po).

My purpose in writing this letter is to clarify that the position of the College is as it regards alcohol and how this relates to the new S.G.A. Ethics Code provision. First, High Point College unequivocally supports the position of the United Methodist Church (U.M.C.) as it regards alcohol and illegal drugs. The position of the U.M.C. is to "...support...abstinence from alcohol as a faithful witness to God's liberating and redeeming love for persons (Book of Discipline, 1980, page 72, section 1)" Secondly, the College alcohol and drug abuse policy states that "...High Point College will establish no policy or regulation in violation of the stated position of the United Methodist Church (page 9, Student Handbook)." Third, it should be noted that flagrant disregard of the stated position of the U.M.C. and the College shall subject offenders to disciplinary action by the College (page 9, Student Handbook) up to and or including dismissal." Fourth, flagrant disregard is defined as "...(a) public display, i.e., outside of a residence hall room of an alcoholic beverage in any form or amount regardless of type of container, that is cup, can, glass, bottle, etc..." (page 9, Student Handbook).

High Point College does not permit or allow use of alcohol and illegal drugs at all times and places both on and off campus. Thus, it would be inappropriate for any member of the campus community to believe that the College in any manner permits or condones the use of alcohol and illegal drugs.

Michael D. Pittman
Director of Student Life

The HI-PO is distributed on campus by Alphas Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.
sists of a ground level, main level, second and third floor levels. The ground level will house audio-visuals, typewriters for student use and a computer room. The main level will consist of staff offices and reference works and a special collections room. The second level will house the main collection, including fiction, biography and folio sections, and the third level will be used for further expansion.

Numerous reporters, photographers and TV crews are expected to cover the move, and Max Meeks of WMFR Radio in High Point will broadcast from a remote unit at Smith Library.

THE REFERENCE SECTION of Smith Library stands empty prior to moving day. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

Shelves soon to be filled

Cont. from pg. 1

THE NEW student withdrawal policy adopted by faculty

BY CINDY MIZE
Staff Writer

A new student withdrawal policy was adopted by the faculty on Nov. 16, 1983 and took effect at the beginning of the spring '84 semester.

Students are finding the new withdrawal policy elected by the faculty a little easier than before.

According to Dr. W.H. Bearce, Dean of the college, students don't have to drop within the first few weeks of the semester, but they can't wait until two weeks before the final exam to withdraw from the class. Bearce said, "Teachers didn't think that it was fair to the student if they had to give them a W because they dropped the class after the grace period with a failing grade." Bearce said that with the new policy students have nine weeks to drop the class without penalty. If they do not drop within this period, they will have to remain in the class.

The new policy states that students can drop a class within the first nine weeks of the semester without penalty. After this grace period is up, the student may not choose to drop a class. They will have to remain in the class. A student may not withdraw from a class after the instructor has requested that the student be removed because of inadequate class attendance.

The policy also states that if a student in good standing wishes to withdraw from all classes and to receive a grade of "W," he or she must start this process through a conference with the Student Life Director.

Financial aid planning should now begin

BY CINDY MIZE
Staff Writer

Now is the time for students to apply for financial aid for the 84-85 academic year.

According to Kay Stroud, Director of Financial Aid, the Financial Aid Form (FAF) and the Endowed Scholarship forms are available in the financial aid office. These forms must be filled out by March 1. If they aren't, funds may not be available to meet the students needs," Stroud said. Stroud said most of the information of the FAF form will come from the parent's 1984 tax form. There will be two workshops held to help students and parents complete the FAF. The first workshop will be held Tues., Jan. 24 at Southwest Guilford High School at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. The second workshop will be held in the college's campus center on Thurs., Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

After the form is sent in, the school will evaluate the student's need analysis and determine how much aid the student will receive, said Stroud.

"If students find that they have unusual financial circumstances that will cause them not to be able to come back for the 84-85 academic year they should come by and discuss this with us in the financial aid office," Stroud said.

Homecoming nominations begin

Plans are underway for the Feb. 18 Homecoming festivities, and organizations are submitting nominations to the Homecoming court. The process for submitting a nomination is as follows:

- Submit one nomination only from your organization.
- Submit the name of your nominee and the name of your organization no later than Wed., Feb. 1 at noon.
- Class elections for nominations will be Wednesday and Thursday, January 25 and 26.
- Final elections will be held Wednesday and Thursday, February 8 and 9.
- The court will be announced Friday, February 10.
- The court will be presented at the Homecoming Dance, Friday, February 17.
- The Queen will be announced at halftime during the Homecoming game, Saturday, Feb. 18.

Each organization has the opportunity to enter both Homecoming float and banner contests.
Reach, share, change tomorrow

HPC students attend American Humansics Institute in Dallas

By Scott Heinecke

Reach, Share, Change Tomorrow was the theme of the annual retreat in Humansics Management Institute held in Dallas, Texas from Jan 2-6.

The 2-day event was put on by the American Humansics national office and its sixteen campus units. Its purpose is to provide the Juniors and Seniors in the American Humansics program a chance to talk with national youth agency experts and personnel from major national youth agencies. J.L. Tarr, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, was attendance at this institute.

This year AHMI was held at the American Airlines Learning Center.

Six students attended from High Point College. They were David Young, Regina Jensen, Bonnie Hopkins, Tammy Johnson, Marsha Manos and Scott Heinecke.

The students raised $3,300 to attend AHMI through a corporate solicitation campaign.

The basic structure of activities at the Institute were workshops in the morning and afternoon and some type of activity in the evening. The workshops were run by personnel from all major youth agencies across the nation. ‘My favorite workshop was “Motivating Volunteers”, which was put on by Rick Ewing of the national office of the American Red Cross,” commented Regina Jensen, President of the High Point American Humansics Student Association. Types of workshops offered ranged from time/stress management to changing family structures to corporate fundraising.

Evening activities consisted of a gong show, in which every campus performed, attending Billy Bobs (the worlds largest bar), and a Hawaiian theme dance on the final evening.

“This was a great way to end the institute as we enjoyed some moments with the friends we made throughout the week,” commented Jensen. The limited amount of free time that students had was used to meet personnel from the national offices of the eleven partner American Humansics agencies and to meet students from other AH campus units.

Graduates face being overqualified or unemployed

Campus Digest New Service

Many graduates find themselves left out. Placement directors say general business-administration majors are not doing as well in the job search as graduates in accounting, finance and data processing.

The frustration may continue even after a job is found - if the employee is overqualified for the position. This problem is particularly common in college and university environments, where one specialty takes whatever is available when the other is offered a good job in his or her field. Graduating students unwilling to leave the comfortable college community often suffer this fate, also.

New fellows are old cliches go, in a tight economy there are many Ph.D.s stuffing envelopes, driving taxicabs.

A drop in staff turnover due to conservative times in education complicates the need for more student involvement.

Chaplain trying to increase student activities

By David Teckbury

The HPC Campus Chaplain Ben Curry is excited about increasing the realm of activity for the students of HPC. While religious life is Curry’s specialty, he realizes the need for more student involvement outside of the campus, floors and driving taxicabs.

Chapel activities will provide free movies for all students on Friday nights beginning soon after the new Smith Library is opened for student use. Many recent and popular movies will be shown each week.

Curry stressed that this is a strictly student run activity which is now being headed up by student Tom Lamb.

Curry is also instructing a leadership class which is meant to bring out leaders for both the High Point College campus and the world college graduates will be stepping into.

The Chaplain’s Office is also putting together a campus directory which will contain the names, addresses and phone numbers of all HPC students. The directory will be distributed to all students in the near future.

Curry is encouraged by the formation of a new Christian group of campus, the Wesley Fellowship. This new group will be led by David Matzko and will be held in the Campus Center Conference Room at 8:30 on Monday nights.
Coordinator of Religious Activities, "commented Ernest Price Jr., Director of the YMCA at Mississippi State, "Some of the positions Price served in were General Director of the YMCA at Mississippi State, Coordinator of Religious Activities at Louisiana State University and Deputy Director of Personal Services at the National Headquarters of the YMCA.

"I came to High Point College because it was a small church-related liberal arts college," said Price. "I also have academicians in my blood."

Price is active in the college and in the city of High Point. In the college community, Price has been the Director of the College United Way Campaign for three years, Chairman of the Faculty Affairs and of the Student Life Committee. He was a member of both these committees. Price also served as chairman of the on-campus fundraising campaign for a new library.

A big surprise for me was when I was awarded the Charles E. Kearns Professorship in 1982," commented Price. Price was the first recipient of this award, and he is also the recipient of the L.E. Moody Service Award for outstanding service to the campus community at High Point College, which is an award given annually by the Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

"He is a most interesting, warm, caring individual who has vast knowledge and resources and the ability to utilize them to the student's advantage," commented Regina Jensen, a Human Relations Major.

In the High Point community, Price is a member of the High Point United Way Board of Directors, the High Point Drug Action Council Board of Directors and the High Point Junior Achievement Board of Directors.

He also serves on the National Board of Trustees of American Humanities, Inc. "My hobbies are vegetable gardening, caring for my lawn, golfing and listening to classical music," said Price. "I am also a physical fitness buff. I like to get up in the morning and walk a mile and half, then sit down to a hearty breakfast and be at school by 8:30."

"I believe each person has the talent and abilities to make the world a better place to live in with emphasis on a feller life, a christian realism and allowing people to reach their full potential," said Price.

---

Students express musical opinions and tastes in survey

BY DAVID TEWKSBURY

A music survey distributed by the HI-PO last Thursday showed that nearly 200 students surveyed listen to rock or pop music and that the future of music is uncertain at best.

The random, unscientific survey was taken during lunch in the student center. Rock and pop music proved to be the most popular form of music while the other musical styles such as jazz, country, punk, and classical were listened to by less than 10 percent of those surveyed.

One question on the survey raised a counterpoint of the reason for the increase in record sales over the past few years. David Hartman, host of the Good Morning America show, reported last Thursday that record sales are up as a result of pay-channel concerts, music variety shows such as Solid Gold, and, of course, the music video channels like MTV. However, sixty percent of the students surveyed said that music may return to more basics styles as seen in the 1960's, the majority of the respondents conceded that music is going downhill. The only exception to this rule was the underclassmen of a young superstar by the name of Michael Jackson.

The favorite videos were Jackson's "Thriller" and "Beat It." Running a sluggish second place was the "I Love Drummed Man" video by ZZ Top. Jackson's videos grabbed 43 percent of the all-time favorites. Some added that the future of music is Michael Jackson.

The Night Manager of the Holi McPherson Campus Center is the person who sits in the office just off to the left as one enters the Student Center. He is in that office every night until 11 p.m. on weekdays, and until midnight on weekends, but very few people know who is and exactly what he does.

As Night Manager Danny Sparling openly admits, "It gets pretty boring sometimes." Sparling said that most of the time he just sits around doing his homework and listening to the radio. The job of the Night Manager is to open locked doors for people, watch for fires, and keep undesirables out. "My first night on the job I had to throw out three guys. They were bigger than me, too. That's about all the excitement I've had", said Sparling.

Night Managers usually spend about twenty hours a month working. According to Sparling, "It's the best job in the world."
Panthers defeat Elon on final shot

By MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

Coach Jerry Steele and his High Point College basketball team were involved in two cliffhangers last week, both against Cardinals Conference foes.

Last Wednesday, the Panthers defeated Elon 84-83, but fell to Pfeiffer in the closing seconds 54-51 in Saturday night’s action.

In the first half in the loss to Pfeiffer, High Point looked to be on the verge of making the game a slaughter. The visiting Panthers opened the half with 12 unanswered points and led by 21 at 28-7 with over three minutes left before intermission.

The Falcons did not quit, however, as they scored 12 straight points to narrow High Point’s lead to 28-22 at half-time.

Pfeiffer came out in the second half with a flurry as it tallied the first nine points. The Falcons held that lead for most of the remaining time only to see the Panthers roar back to get within one, as Mike Everett sank two free throws with 29 seconds left to play.

High Point then fouled Roscoe Turner, who calmly sank his two free throws. Seconds later, Turner scored on a layup to seal the victory.

Odell Walker led the Panthers with 15 points, while Jeff Allen and Everett added 14 each.

The Panthers were involved in an equally exciting game last Wednesday, but its result was much more pleasing to High Point fans.

The score was tied seven times during the game, the last being at 49 apiece with over five minutes left to play. Elon guard Mel Melton then connected on a shot with 5:06 remaining to give the Fighting Christians a two-point lead.

High Point forward Hugh Gelson was fouled with 3:01 remaining to give the Panthers another chance to tie. Turner, who calmly sank his two free throws, brought the Panthers within one, but fell to Pfeiffer.

Our cheerleaders have shown their approval. Our teams have played well-played defense, the students at High Point have demonstrated what it’s all about: Fun!

Our cheerleaders have done an outstanding job, not only with their performance, but also in encouraging good sportsmanship among the fans.

Our teams have played hard, have produced some exciting games, and our fans have shown their approval. Keep up the good work, y’all.

Thank you, High Point Fans...wh-o-o-o-sh!

Kitty Steele
Dept. of Physical Education and Athletics

Running events provide strength for HPC track

By KEVIN CONNOLLY
Sports Writer

When High Point College opens its 1984 season Thursday in Lynchburg, fans will see a new look in the team.

Last season, Coach Bob Davidson looked to the field events as the major contributors for his squad. This year, that strength has been passed on to the running events, which feature plenty of new faces.

Incoming freshmen Drew Gordon and Darryl Cook, both 440 sprinters, will be big additions and with the return of several key runners, all the running events look to be strong.

“Our strength last year was in the field events, but graduation hit us very hard,” Coach Davidson said.

“With solid returners and a good freshman class, the running events will be our strong point.”

Senior co-captain Jack Songster, who in the high jump leaped a record setting 6’9”, is back and a fine year is expected from him. Other members of the squad include Tom Burgess in the distance running events.

Freshman Fred Smily, who finished fifth in the mile as a senior in high school in Florida, will be the team’s top miler.

Steve Hath and Walter Hunter will be strong in the shot put and discuss, and Mike Lemmo, who will throw the javelin and do some running for the team.

Terry Alkens looks to be the man in the long and triple jump events. Ian Lewis will team up with Sides, Gordon, and Cook to form the 440 and mile relay teams. The relay teams look to be the strongest on the team with the potential for new school records in both events.

Student body displays positive support

At a time when sporting events are sometimes tainted by obscenities and poor sportsmanship on the part of the fans, when even at highly respected Duke University there have been pleas from the administrative, athletic and coaching staffs for the students to “clean up their act”, I’d like to commend the student body of High Point College for displaying positive support for the teams and the most pleasant enthusiasm I have seen in recent years.

Every collective “w-h-o-o-o-sh” on a stuff, to a chorale “Oh-h-h-h, ref, you made a b-a-a-a-a: call”, to the applause and vocal approval of well-played defense, the students at High Point have demonstrated what it’s all about: Fun!

Our cheerleaders have done an outstanding job, not only with their performance, but also in encouraging good sportsmanship among the fans.

Our teams have played hard, have produced some exciting games, and our fans have shown their approval. Keep up the good work, y’all.

Thank you, High Point Fans...wh-o-o-o-sh!

Kitty Steele
Dept. of Physical Education and Athletics

HIGH POINT COLLEGE WINTER and SPRING TRACK SCHEDULE - 1984

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>TEAMS</th>
<th>SITE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 26</td>
<td>Lynchburg Invitational</td>
<td>Lynchburg, VA</td>
<td>6:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 18</td>
<td>Lynchburg Relays</td>
<td>Lynchburg, VA</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 13</td>
<td>Outdoor Campbell, Methodist,</td>
<td>Buies Creek</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 15</td>
<td>Elon</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>2:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 21</td>
<td>Smith</td>
<td>Durham</td>
<td>2:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 24</td>
<td>Duke Davidson</td>
<td>Lynchburg, VA</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 27</td>
<td>Liberty Baptist Invitational</td>
<td>Lynchburg, VA</td>
<td>12:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 31</td>
<td>Elon-Ciwageh</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>2:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 3</td>
<td>Gardener-Webb Invitational</td>
<td>Boiling Springs</td>
<td>10:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 7</td>
<td>Francis Marion Invitational</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>2:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 10</td>
<td>Davidson Relays</td>
<td>Lynchburg, VA</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 14</td>
<td>Lynchburg, Elon</td>
<td>Florence, SC</td>
<td>2:15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 19</td>
<td>Francis Marion Invitational</td>
<td>Pembroke</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CONFERENCE MEET TRACK COACH: Bob Davidson
CAPTAINS: Jack Songster, Kent Sides
Panthers remaining, but he was only able to connect on one of two attempts. Elon then went into a stall to run the clock and was able to hold the ball for two minutes until Everett, who scored ten points, stole a pass to give High Point the ball with 1:04 remaining.

The Panthers went into a semi-stall of their own, looking for a good shot. With 15 seconds remaining, Allen's attempted shot fell short but Everett was able to grab the rebound. He was fouled and then proceeded to can both of his foul shots. With High Point in the lead, 52-51, Elon took the ball down court and Andre Hines attempted a shot which missed. His teammate, Kenny Richardson, was able to haul down the rebound and was fouled by Everett.

He sank both free throw attempts to give the Fighting Christians a 53-52 lead and presumably the game, but Everett and the Panthers had other ideas.

Everett grabbed a pass with less than six seconds remaining and launched a short jumper. As time ran out, the ball bounced around the rim and finally fell, giving High Point a dramatic win.

The Panthers take on High Point tonight, looking to extend their streak to five games. Everett and the Panthers will need to come out strong and play a solid game to keep their streak alive.

Scoreboard

MENS BASKETBALL STATS
Thru January 21

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>FGA</th>
<th>FG%</th>
<th>FT%</th>
<th>FT%</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>TP AVG</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Walker</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>22-27</td>
<td>.819</td>
<td>13-20</td>
<td>.650</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everett</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>52-68</td>
<td>.769</td>
<td>39-54</td>
<td>.722</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murphy</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>49-58</td>
<td>.875</td>
<td>15-20</td>
<td>.750</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>47-57</td>
<td>.828</td>
<td>24-35</td>
<td>.686</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hoffman</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>31-41</td>
<td>.780</td>
<td>12-27</td>
<td>.444</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Golston</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>29-37</td>
<td>.784</td>
<td>15-25</td>
<td>.600</td>
<td>51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Young</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>36-47</td>
<td>.766</td>
<td>9-16</td>
<td>.563</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hamilton</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>21-31</td>
<td>.683</td>
<td>19-32</td>
<td>.625</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Teleslyah</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>6-9</td>
<td>0.667</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miller</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>0.000</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TOTALS | 12 | 283 | .521 | 167-652 | .251 | 259 | 156 | 730 | 61.1

Opponents | 340 | 256 |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Everett</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Watt</td>
<td>566</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WOMENS BASKETBALL STATS
Thru January 21

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>FGA</th>
<th>FG%</th>
<th>FT%</th>
<th>FT%</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>TP AVG</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cassady</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>100-177</td>
<td>.565</td>
<td>18-21</td>
<td>.857</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thornhill</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>96-172</td>
<td>.556</td>
<td>19-26</td>
<td>.731</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jones</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>76-125</td>
<td>.608</td>
<td>25-35</td>
<td>.714</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McPherson</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>32-59</td>
<td>.542</td>
<td>33-44</td>
<td>.773</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moors</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>11-30</td>
<td>.367</td>
<td>13-21</td>
<td>.619</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10-41</td>
<td>.250</td>
<td>8-14</td>
<td>.571</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>2.3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thornhill</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>4-8</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>0-1</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8-20</td>
<td>.400</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0.8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>289</td>
<td>.434</td>
<td>146-343</td>
<td>.419</td>
<td>34.1</td>
<td>91</td>
<td>724</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOTALS</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>666</td>
<td>327</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Opponents | 10 | 257 | .405 | 115-602 | .295 | 39.5 | 629 | 62.9 |

URSULA WATT takes jump shot over Elon opponent. Watt has led the Lady Panthers to four consecutive wins, including this 78-70 victory over Elon on Jan. 18.

(Photograph by Scott Hiebenee).

“Match the mascots”

Match the following teams with their respective mascots:

1. UCLA
   a. Orange man
2. Georgia Tech
   b. Running Rebels
3. St. Johns
   c. Cougars
4. Houston
   d. Sooners
5. Syracuse
   e. Bruins
6. Miami
   f. Blue Demons
7. Alabama
   g. Hurricanes
8. Oklahoma
   h. Crimson Tide
9. Nev.-Las Vegas
   i. Yellow Jackets
10. Depaul
   j. Redmen

Stress hits everyone, especially college students

Campus Digest News Service
No one is immune to stress. At some time, everyone faces a period of stress, whether the reason is a death in the family, financial problems, deadline pressure, or any of a number of factors which upset the balance and routine of everyday life. Stress results in the same symptoms no matter what the cause—anxiety, depression, emotional upset. Most people can bounce back from pressure, but in some cases the stress becomes chronic and leads to severe depression, eating and sleeping problems, and sometimes suicide.

College students face severe stress over grades, majors, and poor job prospects. Some schools are reporting record numbers of counseling cases. The increase in the number of students seeking help can partly be attributed to a new awareness and capacity to seek help, and the acceptance of counseling as a viable alternative to antiquated beliefs of solving your own problems without outside help.

Today's crop of college students face a very uncertain future with an unreliable job market and little chance of a vast improvement once they do get into the work force. Maintaining grades while in school in order to have the best possible job opportunities upon graduation can be an overpowering worry for four years.

But according to counselors, if stress is recognized as the problem, it can usually be overcome. Stress management programs can sometimes be an effective way of learning how to cope with stress. More and more of these programs are being offered on college campuses across the country.

And take heart, some stress is actually good for you. But too much stress or an inability to deal with stress can lead to physical problems such as hypertension, migraine headaches, alcohol or drug dependency, and heart disease.

The first step is recognizing that you are becoming emotionally upset. If your anxiety is a direct result of worrying about an exam or an assignment, then take a break. Get away from the stress-producing situation for awhile. It sounds simple, and it is. A twenty-minute walk can change your perspective and revitalize you. Or just talk with a sympathetic friend or counselor who can provide the necessary lift.

Denying yourself necessary recreation time can really depress you. Exercise not only provides a nice diversion but it can also physically revive you and get your blood pumping. If the pressures of college are becoming too much for you, take a step backwards and look at the situation from a distance. Are you expecting too much of yourself? Would you be able to cope with everything if you just a) dropped a class, b)look a day off to “revitalize”, or c) set your goals at a more realistic level?

If you examine your alternatives and try to see what is causing you to feel so overtaxed, then perhaps you can try to alleviate the problem or at least learn to keep it under control.
Announcements

ART IN EUROPE
A study tour, called "Art in Europe" will be conducted for the fifth year on July 17-21. The trip will include visits to Haarlem, Delft, The Hague, and other sites.

Students in English 141-148. All Bi-weekly Reports must be submitted to the instructor the practice every two weeks. Reports must be signed by both the student and the professor.

Service Station Attendant
Person to pump gas and do minor tire repair. Contact AAA Employment-White pages.

TRIP STUDENTS
Students in TRIP for Spring, 1984, are reminded that their two-hour a week attendance in the Writing Center begins the week of January 23. Work must be recorded in the student's folder in the lab and verified by lab assistant.

All junior English majors in all three programs (Writing, Literature, and Media Communications) are reminded to sign up for the SCIP Internship for Summer or Fall, 1984, on the Bulletin Board in Cooke Hall by Friday, February 17.

Endowment funds earn record return
Investments made by college endowment officials paid off in a big way this year. The record return of 42.2 percent is compared to last year's loss of 0.9 percent and a 10-year average of 9 percent (compared to 8.4 percent inflation), according to a recent survey by the Princeton Higher Education Business Officers.

The amount of money making its way back into current budgets, however, skyrockets largely because a college's fund is set up to buy. Institutions with budget formulas for spending a percentage of the market value, for example, are affected more strongly than those spending only the interest and dividends earned.

Most college investments include a mixture of stocks and bonds; stocks made greater gains on the financial market in the last year than bonds.

Campus Digest News Service
A recent report stated that in 1980 Americans experienced 19.1 average days of restricted activity, which refers to those days spent in bed or otherwise missing from work because of health reasons.

The 19.1 average is one day more than in 1975-76. Based on 1980 statistics, the report reflected interviews 103,000 people in 39,000 households.

Money seems to make a difference, as families with incomes of $25,000 or more had the lowest rates of restricted activity and those with incomes of less than $5,000 had the highest rates for disability. That's an average of five days yearly of missed work.

Blacks with higher restricted activity rates, missed fewer school days than whites — 4.1 to 5.4.

Surprisingly, people living on the sunny West Coast had three more days of restricted activity than the national average.

HI-PO Valentine's messages, 50¢
Want to send that special someone a Valentine's message or poem through the HI-PO classifieds? To order a "sweetheart message," send 50¢ and a message of no more than 25 words to the HI-PO, P.O. Box 3518, campus mall. Your message will appear in the Wed., Feb. 8 issue, pg. 8.
In Mens' dorms

Controversial escort policy withdrawn

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

The escort policy currently in effect in the Womens Dorms was extended to the Mills and McCulloch dorms due to "concerns over the students safety," but was withdrawn due to unfavorable student reaction, according to Michael Pittman, Director of Student Life.

The escort policy in the Womens Dorms was extended to the dorms of Mills and McCulloch for three basic reasons: the type of crimes which had been committed with in the vacinity of the campus, a growing concern over a major act of violence being committed against a dorm student and a concern of the administration of trying better to protect the HPC dorm student. The policy was withdrawn due to unfavorable reaction of dorm students who did not understand the reasoning behind it, according to Pittman.

One alternative being considered at this time is to begin locking the doors of McCulloch and Mills at night and issuing late night keys to its residents. In order to do this, crash bars would have to be installed on all doors to meet city fire regulations.

The current status of the policy is being evaluated by the administration and additional student reaction is being sought from Student Government and the Student Life Advisory Committee, which is related to the Student Life Office.

Scholarship weekend begins

High Point College will conduct competition for 30 prospective Presidential scholars this weekend. Fifty-five students from 10 states will compete for these awards. The group will be hosted by current Presidential scholars.

The prospective scholars will be on campus from today until Sunday, getting a glimpse of campus life and being interviewed by current scholars and faculty.

Trying for a better informed campus

"Working for a better informed campus"

Volume 56 Issue 9
February 10, 1984

BY LEWIS WHELESS
Editor-in-Chief

The High Point College book move is complete, and now the library staff is in the process of making the library functional for its users.

Tom Gaughan, director of library services, said it will probably be midsummer before the new Smith Library functions "routine-ly."

At 8 a.m. on Wed., Feb. 1, an estimated 400-500 students, faculty and alumni began forming a human chain to move books from the rear entrance of the Wrenn Library to the front entrance of the Smith Library.

STUDENTS BEGAN LINING UP at the basement door of Wrenn Library at 8 a.m. to begin the moving process. Volunteers moved 130,000 books in twelve hours. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

Donned in sweatshirts, jeans and tennis shoes, the book movers picked up boxes of books from Wrenn, walked about 50 feet across the parking lot to Smith and were directed to take books to the right and periodicals to the left.

Volunteers inside the new library placed the boxes in numerical order and shuffled hurriedly emptied the boxes and filled shelves. Refreshments served in Smith, and Pizza Hut donated pizzas for lunch.

Volunteers could also eat free lunch in the cafeteria.

Outside, television news crews, newspaper reporters and TV helicopters recorded the human chain and the remaining 25 percent of the books.

According to Gaughan's research on library moves, it is possible that the High Point College move may have set a record. Gaughan said moving one book per second is the fastest time he is aware of; however, according to his calculations, the HPC collection was moved at a rate of two books per second.

Referring to the move, Gaughan said, "Nobody knew it would work. I said it wouldn't be because of lack of conceivability. It was clear that if it didn't work, it wouldn't be because of lack of effort" (Photo by Scott Heinecke)
Opinion

Working together

February 1st, 1984 was a day of working together to accomplish a task. It was a day to be long remembered in the history of the college. It was a day when administrators, faculty, staff and students came together to work as a team to move books and establish a bond of friendship never seen before in this college.

The book move may be history, but its spirit of teamwork and cooperation still lives on. The time is now for students, faculty, staff and administrators to build upon this new bond and to work together to iron out the current problems facing the school. It is time for student leaders and students to voice their opinions in a constructive manner to school officials about problems in the college. The time is now for students — besides SGA officials — to voice their opinions. The time is now, High Point College - let's not blow it.

SCOTT HEINECKE

Gaughan thanks volunteers

To The High Point College Community:

This letter is a sincere, but inadequate, expression of my appreciation and admiration for the people who made the move into Smith Library a reality. You made a complex and enormously difficult task a day long celebration.

There was never any certainty that we could move the Library in one day. My estimates of how long the job might take were just that - estimates. It was the individual and collective will, energy, intelligence, endurance and cooperative spirit of students, staff, faculty, alumni and friends of HPC that allowed the move to succeed. I hope you are as proud of your success as I am proud to say that I am a member of your community.

Sincerely yours,
Tom Gaughan
Director of Library Services

Smith examines equality of opportunity

BY JOHN SMITH

It's always bad to begin the new semester with a column which deals with a sensitive subject, but the one discussed in the following words is one that needs to be examined.

America has traditionally been the land of opportunity for all to seek, find success in, and enjoy the fruits of. We are an open society which lends itself well to philosophy of equal opportunity for everyone. It is a troublesome thing, then, when our philosophy is distorted to one of equality of outcome rather than equality of opportunity.

Twenty years or so ago, Americans began to try to end much of the racial and sexual discrimination that was prevalent in society. A well-intentioned move, to be sure, but one which sadly ballooned into a political playground for vote-seeking pork-barrellers who managed to turn the direction of the original civil-rights platform in a directin opposite from the one it began in.

Today, instead of government agencies asking questions about any actual discrimination which may be involved in work or housing situations, we have commissions asking for numerical quotas which, in their minds, will ensure a fair balance of suspect classes in a variety of situations. For example, hiring workers, especially for government positions, is still a search for the most qualified individuals, but also for the worker who best fits the racial and/or sexual description which has been drawn up for the job.

In just one case, public universities in North Carolina now have very specific guidelines for the hiring of new faculty members. The rules clearly spell out that the person doing the hiring must exhaust all possible ends for finding a female or minority (which on the guideline form is defined as Black) person before ending the job search. Then, if there is in fact a gasp!, WHITE MALE hired, the person responsible for doing so is likely to be deluged with questions from superiors and government quota watchdogs concerning the matter.

Although it is reasonable to expect a department which has 30% black majors to have a more than 2 or 3% black faculty, this idea of hiring based on the tone of skin or happenstance of sex is, in effect, a real put-down to women and minorities. It is almost like saying they are inept and need a helping hand to get the jobs "on their own." Consider it for a moment: How would you like to be a person who has to spend the rest of your career always wondering if you really were qualified for the job, or if your race or sex had something to do with your acceptance?

Further, it is simply silly of those who believe in such policies to think women and minorities are the only groups in society who suffer the brunt of discrimination. With such hiring guidelines in place, what kind of a chance for a job does a person - especially a white male - who comes from a working-class family, has poor grammar, and holds his silver like he's ready to fell a redwood have? These traits will surely handicap him, but quotas ensuring the hiring of those types of people will never be seen.

We have also in recent years instituted the slogan "Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action" on job ads. This, as any student of logic can tell you, is an oxymoron. The two cannot exist in the same frame of reference. To have complete equality of opportunity in the decision-making process of hiring, those doing the hiring could not under any circumstances consider race or sex in their decisions.

Since "affirmative action" in hiring policy would necessarily involve the consideration of race and/or sex, any opportunity would have to be instantly removed.

Discrimination is a horrible social factor. But it will not be corrected by the implantation of reverse discrimination. Two wrongs can't make a right. We can only thank our lucky stars and an incredibly clear-thinking president for our current Commission on Civil Rights. If they are successful in their quest to erase the damage which has been undermining America's sound philosophy of equal treatment for all, we will all live in a much finer society, with no discrimination, direct or reverse.

Letter to the editor... Chemical Society given credit

Dear Editor,

I would like to clarify to your readers an impression which was given in an article in the last edition, January 25, Volume 56, Issue 8, entitled, "Chaplain Trying to Increase Student Activities." The student directory is a project I have encouraged and supported for over a semester. I did not do the "legwork" or "deskwork".

Sincerely,
Ben W. Curry
Chaplain
HPC residents asked to report strangers

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

Campus intruders have prompted Ed Cannady, Director of Public Safety, to ask campus residents to be wary of strangers around dorms and other buildings.

"I will always protect the names and backgrounds of student informants because I cannot solve my cases with out them," said Cannady. They can send me the information anonymously, but they do not have to give us their name."

The college security office is looking for a tall black male in his late twenties, who is of a light complexion. The last time he was seen he was wearing a brown toboggan. He has entered rooms in the dorms of McCulloch, Belk and Mills twice during this semester and last semester. He pretends to be looking for the basketball suite. "If anybody sees him, I ask that they either notify security at 885-4135 and ask for unit 8 and notify the police at 885-5031," said Cannady. "Since spring is approaching, there will be more of the same type of people out."

HPC President Dr. Charles Lucht, in response to this problem, has authorized the security department to hire students to man the security office during the day. This will allow the security office to put more officers out on patrol. The security office will be open during the following hours: Monday through Friday 12 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Sunday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The hours will be expanded if the need arises. The students will be able to help with minor problems and contact someone on the security force.

"One noticeable improvement this year has been the locking of doors and the following of visitation hours over in the women's complex. This has helped our job tremendously," said Cannady.

One officer of the security force attended a two-day crime prevention workshop to learn more about new crime prevention techniques in an effort to bring the college up to date in prevention techniques.

"It has been a good school year security-wise. There have been very few room thefts. The student cooperation with security has been great and it has been a real pleasure working for the college," commented Cannady.

Increased emphasis on alcohol sparks increased alcohol fines

BY TED CORYELL
Staff Writer

Colorful beer cans, bottles, and mugs have become a permanent part of Mr. Michael Pittman's office decor since the advent of High Point College's new alcohol policy.

According to Pittman, Director of Public Safety, the policy has eight to 10 administrative hearings on alcohol each week. His number one priority this year – as dictated by the administration – is discipline.

Pittman said, "the increased fines are not so much that students are drinking more, but because of increased emphasis on alcohol by the security staff and Resident Counselors staff."

"This is a new policy," said Pittman, "until people understand it, there will continue to be a lot of confusion. The old policy was much more clear in what it meant. The new policy is vague and people have been finding out the hard way."

Pittman said he would "like to see a policy clearly written showing what can be done and what can't be done and the punishments for the offenses." In an administrative hearing at this time there are no definite punishments. These are solely left to the discretion of Pittman.

Paula Winton, Attorney General of SGA, is the student's representative at the hearings. "The only reason there are so many fines is that the policy is so vague," Winton said, "the alcohol policy has been moved to a greater degree since President Lucht's evening visit to the college last semester." Winton is referring to Lucht's presence on campus for an early morning security check late in the fall semester.

College Bowl underway

Flashlighting lights and tacky buggers signal the start of this year's College Bowl competition. College Bowl is an intramural event where student teams compete against one another answering questions of trivia, sports, literature, and religion, history and general knowledge.

This year's teams are: APO, 4-Play, Simpletons, Sigs, Pika A, Pika B and the A Team.

Reporters
Kevin Calvillo, Ted Coryell, Scott Heinecke, Janine Josen, Bert Lee, Cindy Mize, Mark Phelps, Michael Roberts, David Tewksbury

Features Editor
Janine Josen

Entertainment Editor
Bert Lee

Hi-Po Staff

Chris Grantham

Staff Writer
BY LEWIS WHELESS
Editor-in-Chief

The HPC admissions office will host a Commuter Visitation Day for prospective day students on Tues., Feb. 28 from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Admissions Counselor Neil Teague, who is coordinator of the project, said the visitation day will "be an opportunity for students in the vicinity to visit the college and get the commuter aspect of High Point College.

Local high school guidance counselors will be present to speak to the prospective commuters. The program will consist of lunch in the snack bar, a campus tour, meetings with the academic faculty, a meeting on student life and a financial aid presentation.

The admissions office is sending letters to 50 local high schools to invite students and guidance counselors. Any current commuter students who want to help with the project should contact Teague in the admissions office for further information.
'BM's OC' move it in 1984

DIRECTOR OF LIBRARY SERVICES and "Ringmaster" of the move, Tom Gaughan presides over the book move. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

CLETE KRUYER, Vice President for College Affairs, draws the name of a winner for one of the many prizes given away during the day. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

DON UNGEMAH stretches out for an afternoon "siesta" after a hard morning of moving books. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

FACULTY AND STUDENTS work together to load the reference section into boxes for moving into the new Smith Library. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

CAPTAIN CROCKER AND CAMILLE DAVIS take a break from loading books in Wrenn library. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

TWELVE HOURS AND 20,000 TRIPS LATER. Junior William Cotham brings the last box of books into Smith Library. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

BY TED CORYELL
Staff Writer

BMOC, in collegiate atmospheres, used to mean "Big Man On Campus", but on Wed., Feb. 1, it was "Book Mover On Campus" for men, women, Greeks, alumni, faculty, and staff.

To capture the flavor of the event, Hi-Po's Roving Reporter, Ted Coryell randomly solicited quotes from "Book Move" participants.

Q: What do you think of the Book Move?
From students:
"I think it's been great."
"Did I win anything?"
"Well...I think it's highly organized."
"I am undecided."
"It's good Public Relations for students and faculty and brings them closer together."
"I like the food and all the freebees."
"More participation than I expected - and I'd wish they'd have a party."
(Referring to a box of books): "It ain't heavy; it's my brother."
From two alumni:
First: "They should have bought a couple of kegs and it would have been better participation."
Second: "Yeah, if we're gonna take an afternoon off work they ought to give us something."
From a girl: "There aren't enough cute guys out here!"
From a tired looking individual: "Well...it's beyond words."
By a student leader: "Move it, move it, move it!"
And finally from Director of Student Life, Mr. Pittman: "Hey man, I can dig it."
Followed by Director of Public Safety, Mr. Cannady: "Ditto Pittman."
The prof and the robot

"Scholarship is largely an effort to find out what is going on," says Dr. Marion Hodge, who presented a paper recently at the 1984 Southern Humanities Conference. To find out what is going on, he reads widely in the popular press regarding robots, Hodge studied articles in Omni magazine.

"Robots will soon have the profoundest effect on questions about industrialization, our political system, and what it means to be human," Hodge says. "They have already displaced thousands of workers, and they will displace thousands, maybe millions, more before the end of the century."

Hodge believes such effects may have a negative impact on democracy itself. "It may be that as more people see robots around them, government will have to step in to maintain order. People may start fighting each other over jobs and food. More government control usually means less personal freedom," Hodge says.

Centered on workshop

Wesley Fellowship group seeks self-discovery

BY DAVID TEWKSBURY

Staff Writer

David Matzko, the acting leader of the newly-formed Wesley Fellowship on campus, says that the primary focus of the group is to allow an atmosphere in which the students can discover their own attitudes and feelings and their relationship with the others in the group.

Matzko said the idea for a group came about last year when he was talking with other students who felt a need for a fellowship like the Wesley group. According to Matzko, "Other students and I wanted a group where we could express our feelings about each other, and worship God together."

Matzko, a Religion and History major, added that he had a special thanks to the support of Rev. Bee Curry and the Chaplain's Office has helped sponsor the fellowship through both encouragement and funding.

Although it is a group centered on worship, Matzko said, "It is mostly unconventional worship. Sometimes it's not worship at all. Sometimes it's just a lot of fun." Generally there are fun and often ridiculous skits and self-discovery games. "The group is nothing beyond its members," said Matzko. "Sometimes I get scared it (the activities) won't go over. But student openness and willingness to be involved makes everything go well."

In worship, Matzko likes to involve the students and make them participants, not observers. "We try to make worship not like church, (with the worshipper sitting still, but you are participating. You are doing something.)"

Matzko said, "God is a large part of that (the group) just because God is a large part of our lives in general."

While fun and worship are the activities of the group, Matzko said the true purpose of the Wesley Fellowship is, "Simply a time to get your mind on who you are and to be refreshed: not drained but full."

The Wesley Fellowship meets in the Campus Center conference room each Monday night at 8:30. The meetings usually last one hour.

The "Basement Bums"

Life unusual for basement dwellers

BY MICHAEL ROBERTS

Staff Writer

In the basement of HPC's Yadkin Dormitory live ten guys who are affectionately known as the "Basement Bums." They consist of five seniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen, all of which have been nicknamed. The original three "bums" are Tony Matthews, Barr Gartley, and William McCorkle, all of which have lived there for three years. According to Barr Gartley, "I had originally wanted to be known as the 'Cellar Dwellers'."

The Basement Bums have an intramural basketball team by that same name. "We're out there mainly to have fun," says Matthews. "We lost two guys to injuries in our third game, and we thought of changing our name to the 'Walking Wounded.'"

When asked if there have ever been any run-ins with the girls of Yadkin, they replied that the girls don't really pay them much attention. "I've always thought of us as High Point College's best kept secret," said Daniel Firebaugh.

"I guess you could say that we have a fraternity-life atmosphere in the basement," says Matthews. "We have that brother-life affection toward each other. But mainly, we're just people having a good time."

The "Basement Bums" are as follows: Tony Matthews (Rocky), Tony Rober son (Barney), Kevin Curlin (Stork), William McCorkle (Farmer), Daniel Firebaugh (Scraps), Tom Harraghy (Boobie), Barr Gar tley (Irish), Walt Hunter (Wee ble), Chris Dalton (Sport), and Michael Roberts (Rub ber Duckie).
HPC Intramural program thriving

BY KEVIN CONNOLLY
Assistant Sports Editor

The intramural program at High Point College is prospering. According to Intramural Director Bob Watkins, the students are responding to the program very well. "Right now there are 21 basketball teams and 16 bowling teams. That's pretty good," said Watkins.

In the men's basketball league there are approximately 210 participants and in the women's there are about 80 players. There are 54 participants who comprise the 16 teams. The league is scheduled for every Tuesday and Thursday nights at 9:30 in the High Point Lakes buildings.

MIKE EVERETT shoots from the foul line in the recent Catawba game. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

Students gear up for Winter '84 Olympics

BY KEVIN CONNOLLY
Assistant Sports Editor

The general consensus on campus is that the Olympics will affect student's study patterns. Most people will try to work their schedules around the prime time telecasts on ABC, channel 8 in High Point.

"The Olympics will make it very hard to study, but I'll find the time to do both," said Brad Miller. "They only come around every four years, so I'll make the time." The majority of people on campus are looking forward to the Olympics, especially the ice hockey. "I just hope the 1984 hockey team can produce the same miracle as the 1980 team did," says Jerry Min, who will try to watch all 63 hours of television coverage.

There is a small group of people, however, that really don't care if they see the Olympics. Eddie Harmon, for example: "I'm not going to let the Olympics interfere with my work schedule. If I get to see them, fine; but if I don't no big loss.

The games will be on ABC every night from 8 to 12 for the next two weeks. The outcome will determine how well our fellow Americans match up with the rest of the world.

Correction

In the February 1st issue of the HI-PO, it was incorrectly stated that Tom Burgess is a long-distance runner, when in fact he is a shotputter. We regret this error.

Homecoming: A look back, next issue
Hoffman: ‘At the right place at the right time’

Team Talk

WITH JANINE JOSON

B.A. in sociology with a teacher certification in sociology and elementary mathematics from Randolph Macon and a masters in school administration from Pembroke University.

Hi-Po: What made you major in sociology?

C.H.: Actually, when I was in college, I decided I wanted to coach at the high school level. At that time, sociology was just introduced into the Virginia schools’ curriculum, so I figured there would be more of a demand for teachers in sociology.

Hi-Po: Did you end up teaching sociology?

C.H.: No, in the spring of 75, I was asked to be the assistant coach for Randolph Macon. Before then, I had applied to several schools and found an opening to teach elementary mathematics. I was a few credits short for getting a certification in mathematics, so I finished in the summer. I was teaching part time and coaching the rest of the time until I was asked to be a full-time assistant coach.

Hi-Po: How did you finally come to High Point?

C.H.: I met Coach Steele when scouting for Pembroke University in the fall or winter. He was a very impressive man. I notified him before coming and I was sitting in the top corner of the bleachers. About fifteen minutes before the game, Coach Steele came up to where I was sitting, introduced himself and spoke with me for a good, long time. That’s rare for a coach to take that kind of time before a game. I knew then that he would be a man I’d like to work with.

Hi-Po: How did you finally accomplish that?

C.H.: Well, I heard in the spring that his assistant left and I applied right away. I got the job and I’ve been here ever since.

Hi-Po: It seems to me you were at the right place at the right time.

C.H.: Actually, when I was at High Point, I just happened to be at the right places at the right time.

Hi-Po: How did you finally accomplish that?

C.H.: I notified him when scouting for Pembroke University in the fall or winter. He was a very impressive man. I notified him about marriage?

C.H.: I have nothing against it, but if you’re asking me if it’s in the near future - no. Hi-Po: What now? Where do you plan to go from here?

C.H.: I prefer to concentrate on today. Tomorrow will come whether you want it to and then again, maybe it might not come. I’m only 31. I’ve got a lot of living to do.

Panthers

Cont. from pg. 6

Increasing participation in UNC-C Indoor Soccer Tournament

BY PHIL VALENTE

Special to the HI-PO

The High Point College soccer team participated in the UNC-Charlotte Indoor Soccer Tournament on January 27 and 28. The team consisted of a ten man roster, six of which played on the court at one time.

On Friday, Jan. 27, the Panthers defeated Appalachian State University and Catawba College, but lost to Winthrop College. They were then seeded tenth in a field of 20 teams.

In Saturday’s action, the Panthers defeated Berry College and Lander College, sociology and elementary mathematics from Randolph Macon College for undergraduate studies and Pembroke University for his masters studies. During the interview the experiences of Richard Hoffmann (physical education instructor, assistant basketball coach, and advisor for the High Point College cheerleaders) were uncovered and a new meaning was placed on “being at the right place at the right time.”

Hi-Po: It wouldn’t be safe to assume that your major was physical education, so why don’t you tell me what each diploma is for?

Coach Hoffmann: I have a B.A. in sociology with a teacher certification in sociology and elementary mathematics from Randolph Macon. Before then, I had applied to several schools and found an opening to teach elementary mathematics. I was a few credits short for getting a certification in mathematics, so I finished in the summer. I was teaching part time and coaching the rest of the time until I was asked to be a full-time assistant coach.

Hi-Po: What made you finally come to High Point?

C.H.: I met Coach Steele when scouting for Pembroke University in the fall or winter. He was a very impressive man. I notified him before coming and I was sitting in the top corner of the bleachers. About fifteen minutes before the game, Coach Steele came up to where I was sitting, introduced himself and spoke with me for a good, long time. That’s rare for a coach to take that kind of time before a game. I knew then that he would be a man I’d like to work with.

Hi-Po: How did you finally accomplish that?

C.H.: Well, I heard in the spring that his assistant left and I applied right away. I got the job and I’ve been here ever since.

Hi-Po: It seems to me you were at the right place at the right time.

C.H.: Actually, when I was at High Point, I just happened to be at the right places at the right time.

Hi-Po: Where did your love for basketball come from?

C.H.: was just introduced to the Virginia schools’ curriculum, so I figured there would be more of a demand for teachers in sociology.

Hi-Po: Did you end up teaching sociology?

C.H.: No, in the spring of 75, I was asked to be the assistant coach for Randolph Macon. Before then, I had applied to several schools and found an opening to teach elementary mathematics. I was a few credits short for getting a certification in mathematics, so I finished in the summer. I was teaching part time and coaching the rest of the time until I was asked to be a full-time assistant coach.

Hi-Po: How did you finally come to High Point?

C.H.: I met Coach Steele when scouting for Pembroke University in the fall or winter. He was a very impressive man. I notified him before coming and I was sitting in the top corner of the bleachers. About fifteen minutes before the game, Coach Steele came up to where I was sitting, introduced himself and spoke with me for a good, long time. That’s rare for a coach to take that kind of time before a game. I knew then that he would be a man I’d like to work with.

Hi-Po: How did you finally accomplish that?

C.H.: Well, I heard in the spring that his assistant left and I applied right away. I got the job and I’ve been here ever since.

Hi-Po: It seems to me you were at the right place at the right time.

C.H.: Actually, when I was at High Point, I just happened to be at the right places at the right time.

Hi-Po: Where did your love for basketball come from?

C.H.: was just introduced to the Virginia schools’ curriculum, so I figured there would be more of a demand for teachers in sociology.

Hi-Po: Did you end up teaching sociology?

C.H.: No, in the spring of 75, I was asked to be the assistant coach for Randolph Macon. Before then, I had applied to several schools and found an opening to teach elementary mathematics. I was a few credits short for getting a certification in mathematics, so I finished in the summer. I was teaching part time and coaching the rest of the time until I was asked to be a full-time assistant coach.

Hi-Po: How did you finally come to High Point?

C.H.: I met Coach Steele when scouting for Pembroke University in the fall or winter. He was a very impressive man. I notified him before coming and I was sitting in the top corner of the bleachers. About fifteen minutes before the game, Coach Steele came up to where I was sitting, introduced himself and spoke with me for a good, long time. That’s rare for a coach to take that kind of time before a game. I knew then that he would be a man I’d like to work with.

Hi-Po: How did you finally accomplish that?

C.H.: Well, I heard in the spring that his assistant left and I applied right away. I got the job and I’ve been here ever since.

Hi-Po: It seems to me you were at the right place at the right time.

C.H.: Actually, when I was at High Point, I just happened to be at the right places at the right time.

Strictly Classified

CAREER ALUMNI DAY
February 16th, 9:30-12:00, Holt McPherson Center - 2nd Floor Study Lounge.

FOR SUMMER (June 1-July 7), booklets will be available. For information contact Ms. Wainer.

Vocational Testing by appointment with Ms. Wainer.

On-going Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships for sale - push button telephone. Brand new, never been used. Call 889-8349.

FOR SALE

Employment

Position: Typists, Delivery persons, part-time; Employer: Knights of Columbus Phone 899-0022; Contact Person: Bob Rooney

Position: Accounting Assistant, part-time; Employer: Dickson Odom and Co. Contact Person: Ms. Jackie Templeton 889-8156.

Position: Marketing/Sales Advertising; Employer: Carolina Beauty Systems; Contact Person: Faye Allen

CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER (Room 100 Campus Center) and CAREER LIBRARY (200 Campus Center).

Hours: Career Development Center - 8:30-5:00 Monday-Friday Career Library - 11:00-5:00 Mon/Wed/Fri; 10:00-5:00 Tue/Thurs. Vocational Counseling by appointment with Ms. Wainer. Vocational Testing by appointment with Ms. Wainer.

Information is available on: Internships; Graduate Schools and Programs; Books on Career Planning and Specific Careers; Books concerning Self-Assessment/Career Assessment; Resume/Interviewing Skills/The Job search; Pamphlets/brochures on career fields/Pamphlets/brochures on Employers; Current literature on career and job opportunities (magazines, reports, newspapers, etc); Graduate Tests (GRE/GMAT/LSAT, etc.);

Job Listings on Microfilm and in newspapers in Room 110 Campus Center.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.

Attention Seniors: Feb. 8th - United Methodist Camps, N.C. Conference 2:00-5:00 in Old Student Center. Mr. John Farmer will be recruiting.

Also Summer Internships Available. Salaries approximately $150/week in Raleigh. Deadline for applications is Feb. 10th - see Ms. Wainer.
Homecoming 1984 begins Friday

BY DAVID TEWKSBURY
Staff Writer

Beginning Friday, the full list of Homecoming activities will commence with the Annual Homecoming Dance, which will be held at High Point’s Top of the Mart from eight o’clock until 12 midnight.

The Hollywood Brats will provide live entertainment, playing everything from Top 40 to The Beatles. Ticket costs will be $1.50 and $3 for singles and couples respectively. At the door, rates will be $3 for singles and $5 for couples.

Saturday, the annual Banner and Float competition will be held. They will be judged and the winners announced later on Saturday.

Suzanne Zuroff, co-coordinator of the dance along with Diedre Fleenor, said a shuttle bus will run from the Campus Center to the Top of the Mart starting at 8 p.m. and every half-hour thereafter. “I encourage everyone to take the bus if they are drinking,” said Zuroff.

‘Out of control’

Battling anorexia nervosa, bulimia

BY LEWIS WHELESS
Editor-in-Chief

Editor’s note:
The following story is a true account of the struggle of a High Point College transfer student who was stricken with anorexia nervosa and bulimia, two eating disorders common among many teens and college women. By request of the subject, her name has been changed in the story to provide anonymity.

“Laura” has always strived to do her best at everything she undertakes. She had big plans for her senior year of high school, as she was an award-winning swimmer, a cheerleader and editor-in-chief of her school newsmagazine.

The pretty blond 19-year-old is a perfectionist, so she constantly works to get things right. Laura wanted her senior year to be right. But Laura found that her senior year—and the year after that—would be a series of personal struggles as she had to battle anorexia nervosa and bulimia, which are psychologically-induced eating disorders. The disorders are a result of an insatiable desire for perfection and acceptance coupled with low self-esteem, according to Mary Beth Bigelow, Director of Counseling Services at the Carolina Christian Counseling Center in High Point.

The feeling of a need for control and difficulty in dealing with emotions cause many teenage girls to turn to food because they can control eating. “An anorexia, a preoccupation with looks,” results, said Bigelow.

“My boyfriend Eddie (not his real name) and I weren’t getting along so I thought I wasn’t perfect enough. I decided to lose some weight. Everyone my boyfriend looked at was skinnier than I,” said Laura.

Career Alumni Day

Alumni to speak to job-seekers Thursday in Campus Center

BY TED CORYELL
Staff Writer

Old and new Alumni will be coming to High Point College for “Career Alumni Day” this Thurs., Feb. 16. Ms. Kim Darden-Shaver, who is a 1985 graduate and a reporter for “Furniture Today” and Mr. Carl Whitaker, a Captain for High Point City Police, graduate of the class of ’60, are two alumni who will attend.

Shaver and Whitaker not only graduated at different times, but they have applied their education to their current careers in different ways. Shaver is a general assignment reporter who specializes in upholstery. She majored in Communications and says “there has been a long debate if the Liberal Arts education is good to get a job. At High Point I received both the Liberal Arts background and the hands-on training of a technical school.” She adds that she feels she “matured as a writer and a person at High Point.”

Capt. Whitaker, who majored in Religion and Philosophy, says that his major “didn’t directly influence his career,” but “the basic philosophy of dealing with people at High Point College has helped him. Many people think policemen put people in jail,” said Whitaker. “Most police work is dealing with people and their problems.”

The Career Day program will consist of career stations set-up where students can go and talk to alumni who are professionals in their field. Some of the areas will be: accounting, banking, aviation, advertising, government, insurance, hotel management, recreation, education, television, newspaper, social services, furniture industry, sciences, and others.

Joyce Wainer, head of Career Development, said that “alumni acting as career representatives should emphasize to students that High Point College graduates get jobs.”
Opinion

New library needs new (and longer) hours

Dear Editor,

With three chapters of Economics read and a Journalism exercise completed, I sank back into my comfortable chair and thought—this new library is great. You can really accomplish a lot of work in here.

This place isn’t like the Campus Center. I mused, which is about as quiet as Millis Dorm on a Friday night. Between the blaring of MTV and the pseudo-Olympic events (like the indoor 40-meter couch hurdles or the free-for-all cushion fights) the Campus Center just isn’t conducive to studying.

"Excuse me," came a voice from behind me, "you’ll have to leave, the library is closing." Surely this lad is confused. I thought, it’s only 10 o’clock. "It’s only 10 o’clock," I replied, "I was at 10 o’clock.

I was flabbergasted as I exited the library. I started thinking—why do the students move out of the library? So often have they closed it down at 10 o’clock and let only people who were still awake stay there. I know there was a good reason, because my brother always told me good reasons are why things are the way they are.

I was flabbergasted as I exited the library. I started thinking—why do the students move out of the library? So often have they closed it down at 10 o’clock and let only people who were still awake stay there. I know there was a good reason, because my brother always told me good reasons are why things are the way they are.

Ted Coryell

The HI-PO is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Salesmen too persistent.

Car-buying is a big hassle

About two weeks ago, my father and I went off to buy a new car. We hadn’t been gone more than an hour when both of us grew weary of the same old line from the salespeople. "It’s just the thing for you, you’ll love it," they would say before they would even know what model we were looking for.

Every time we would turn into a car lot, there would be about twenty hungry-looking people who would turn to stare at us. It’s like an African Safari through lion country I thought: you’ve got to keep moving, or they’ll pounce. Whenever we did stop, though, a riot would ensue within the building, caused by the panic over who would get to wait on us. Soon, one of them would dash out with one hand out to shake one of our hands, with the other out to take in the cash.

We would talk to them for a while, because they obviously weren’t going to go back inside at any cost. Even if we would say we were just looking, they would want to tag along and look with us. "Did they want to try one of them," I wondered? No. Sales only.

Finally, I got used to the routine concerning options. If what wasn’t on there, forget it. Only immature status-seeking types went in for that kind of stuff anyway.

Once I was even told by one of them that I didn’t need to test drive any of the other models of the same type, as they were "all the same." That’s funny, and I thought I thought those power ask trays made all the difference.

The real clincher came one night when the salesman decided it was raining too hard to go outside and look at one of the cars. That stunned me, as I thought those people would do anything for a sale. "No," he said, "I don’t want to catch cold." That’s O.K., he caught neither a cold nor my money.

Well, I really don’t know what to say about car salespeople, and I won’t even go into the part about haggling over the price once I know what car I wanted. Oh well. I sometimes wish cars were sold at K-mart. You would just walk in pick the one you wanted, and take it to the check-out. Who knows, they might even have some terrific blue light specials.

YMCA group becoming a reality

BY DAVID TWEKSURY
Staff Writer

The Student YMCA is now planning to expand the choice of student activities. With a formal membership of 10 students, the planning stage is coming to an end and new activities will soon become reality.

The group is headed up by students Claire Hall and Marsha Manos. Advising the group are HPC professor Ernest Price; Rick Brown, the District Executive of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of North Carolina; and Al Reiken, Athletic Director at the High Point YMCA.

According to Hall, the activities are not only physical but intellectual.

Events include a Night at the Y, in which all HPC students can swim or exercise for discount rates, camping trips or retreats, and special Dinner Discussions in the faculty dining room. The speakers will discuss controversial subjects such as nuclear disarmament and abortion.

The group, which is affiliated with the National Association of Student YMCA, is presently awaiting a chapter Charter so that things can get underway. The HPC chapter will be working in close conjunction with both the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of High Point and other chapters of the Student Y’s in North Carolina and Virginia.

The group will take a road trip to the chapter at UNC-CH to learn from that group and in late March the group will have a camping retreat with the Virginia Tech chapter to develop leadership skills.

The purpose behind the group is, according to Hall, “getting to know one another and ourselves.” The Student YMCA meets every Friday in the lounge of the Campus Center at 2 p.m.

Is an MBA needed?

BY JOHN R. SMITH

Many people who graduated last spring with an MBA found that having an MBA in your hand does not necessarily ensure a great-paying job or starting a successful career. The following article is based on the options of MBA graduates in our pool of graduates.

Cambridge News Service

Many people who graduated last spring with an MBA found that having an MBA in your hand does not necessarily ensure a great-paying job or starting a successful career. The following article is based on the options of MBA graduates in our pool of graduates.

More than 50,000 people received master’s degrees in business last spring. Graduates of the more prestigious business schools may have difficulty finding high-paying jobs, in fact many were sought after by many different companies. But for those who received their degree from schools other than Stanford, Harvard, Wharton and the like, the picture was not so rosy. Many of them had difficulty finding recruiters to talk to much less find openings to apply for. And many of those graduates had to settle for a much lower starting salary than they had anticipated. While Harvard MBA’s may start at $50,000, a lesser school’s MBA graduate may be lucky to get a job offering $20,000 in the same specialty.

Recruiting efforts vary considerably. Hundreds of companies go to the big-name business schools to recruit.
'Vanities' Show continues Friday-Saturday

BY BERT LEE
Entertainment Editor
The Fine Arts Department will present "Vanities," a comedy-drama play by Jack Heifner, on Friday and Saturday, 17 and 18 in the HPC Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Paul Lundrigan, Acting Chairman of the Fine Arts Dept., will be directing the play. "The play will focus on three girls who live together through high school, college, and into adulthood. Therefore, there will be three separate casts for each age group," said Lundrigan.

The role of Cathy will be portrayed by Peggie Arvidson, Cathy in college by Danleigh Arsenaultz, and Cathy in adulthood by Alison Collins. The role of JoAnne will be portrayed by Kim Thomas, JoAnne in college by Betsy Driver, and JoAnne in adulthood by Pam McIlhenny. The role of Mary will be portrayed by Jennie Lundrigan, Mary in college by Eileen Lynch, and Mary in adulthood by Debbie Scallon.

Tickets are now on sale at the auditorium box office or by calling 688-5101, ext. 288 or 232, Mon.-Fri., 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. All sets are reserved, and advance tickets are discounted.

SCJ to conduct annual 'Day of Celebration'

The High Point College chapter of the Society for Collegiate Journalists will be conducting its annual Day of Celebration on March 23, 1984, in the Campus Center for area high school and High Point College students.

The Day of Celebration is designed to celebrate the power of the written word. The theme this year will be careers in advertising and public relations. The main speaker will be Sharon Bridwell, Director of Marketing and Public Relations at WGLD Radio in High Point. Participants can then attend 2 of 6 workshops on various aspects of the media.

A registration fee of $3 entitles participants to attend the general sessions and workshops and to submit an entry for judging in one of three categories: 30-second radio commercial, news or feature story, and H&W still photography. The deadline for application with submission of entries is Monday, February 27. The deadline for application with no entry is Thursday, March 15.

Application forms and details for submission of entries are available outside the TV Lab in Cooke Hall. For further details, contact Renee Heath, President, Society for Collegiate Journalists.

The Society is an honorary organization affiliated with the National Society. Election into the Society as a full member is first determined by the number of hours of work on campus publications (120 hours for full membership).

The Society meets every Monday, at 2:30 p.m. in the TV Lab in Cooke Hall.
Homecoming Court 1984

Photos by Scott Heinecke

KRISTIN BROWN
Representing Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity
Senior Communications major; Activities - member of Zeta Alpha (Vice-President); Pi Kappa Alpha Little Sister; class legislator of SGA 1980-82; Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl 1983; Pi Kappa Alpha Little Sister of the Year 1983.

TERIANN CLEARY
Representing SGA
Senior Business major (psychology minor); Activities - Homecoming Court 1983; Senior Class Rep. for SGA; member Alpha Gamma Delta 4 years; Gam Vice-President 1983 and outstanding pledge 1981; Panhellenic President 1984; member of Panhellenic 2 years; Intramurals 4 years; Orientation 3 years; 1 year core committe.

JEANNE DAVIS
Representing Freshman Class
Freshman Biology major; Activities - member Alpha Gamma Delta (4 years); Thets Chi Little Sister (2 1/2 years); Senior Class President; Gam Vice-President of Scholarship; Thets Chi Little Sisters President junior year; Vic-President of Panhellenic 1982; Theta Chi outstanding Little Sister 1982; Alpha Gamma Delta's Activities award 1983; current member of SGA; Homecoming Court 1983.

LYNN PORTALEZA
Representing P.E. and Recreation majors club
Junior Physical Education and Recreation major; Activities - member Zeta Tau Alpha 5 years; Women's Intramural Supervisor; Homecoming first runner-up 1983; Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl 1983; Vice-President of P.E.-Recreation majors club junior year and secretary sophomore year.

MIRIAM O'MALLEY
Representing Senior Class
Senior Biology major; Activities - member Alpha Gamma Delta 6 years; Theta Chi Little Sister 3 years; Senior Class President; Gam Vice-President of Scholarship; Theta Chi Little Sisters President junior year; Vice-President of Panhellenic 1982; Theta Chi outstanding Little Sister 1982; Alpha Gamma Delta's Activities award 1983; current member of SGA; Homecoming Court 1983.

KARA TAMACCIO
Representing Lambda Chi Alpha
Sophomore International Business major; Activities - member Zeta Tau Alpha, Scholarship Chairman, member High Point Singers; Homecoming Court 1983; SGA 1982 - Publicity Committee.

At Coliseum:
A Police
'Love Affair'

BY MICHAEL ROBERTS
Staff Writer

What's the hottest band in music today? The safest guess would probably be the Police. The new wave group that has taken the music world by storm recently held two performances at the Greensboro Coliseum. Both performances were sold out in a matter of a few hours.

Opening for the Police was Reflex, who currently has a top 20 tune called "The Politics of Dancing." Reflex played for nearly an hour and received a favorable ovation from the audience.

The Police opened with the title cut from their new album, Synchronicity, amid an array of red, yellow, and blue lights. The audience erupted into a frantic ovation. The audience remained standing throughout the entire concert, as the Police played songs from their platinum album.

Every movement of Sting brought tremendous screaming from the fans. They crowded to the front of the stage to get a closer look, and those on the upper level stood crowded to the rails. The beginning of each song brought a louder ovation than the one preceding it.

Other songs performed that night were, "Every Breath You Take," "Wrapped Around Your Finger," "Don't Stand So Close," and "Spirits in the Material World." The biggest arousal came from the hit "King of Pain," as the audience sang the song in unison.

After the last number, the audience remained standing in an ovation that lasted five minutes. This brought out the Police for one more song, which was "I Can't Stand Losing." After that tune the band disappeared backstage, despite the deafening ovation. The Police definitely provided their fans with a concert they will remember for a long time. me," said Laura.

Laura, who is five feet, five inches tall, weighed 115 pounds before her decision to lose weight. She was making me feel full, but I thought I could afford to lose some weight," she said.

While on a swim team, Laura had always eaten three meals a day to maintain a high level of energy. She stopped eating all meals except dinner.

"I was out of control," Laura said, "I thought food was making me feel full, but I really felt empty all the way around."

"In high school I'd go out to eat lunch with my friends and they or my mom would beg me to eat. I'd go out to eat. I'd get mad at myself and throw up to lose weight," Laura said.

Shame, self-disgust and guilt, according to Bigelow, cause bulimia to assert control of their lives by purging, denying meals, binging and purging again. The bulimic enters a vicious cycle that makes the problem grow rapidly.

For Laura, the binge-purge cycle grew from purging once or twice a week to purging daily. At first, she was able to continue a normal routine of swim practice, school and social activities. But the physical deterioration associated with bulimia took its toll after one month.

"It got worse and worse. I kept getting weaker. Things also got worse with bulimia and Eddie. I was real depressed and always very worried. I had to eat lunch with my friends and they or my mom would beg me to eat. I'd go out to eat. I'd get mad at myself and throw up to lose weight," Laura said.

Unable to confront her mother, Laura still tried for a book she was writing, and she would rarely eat any of the meals.

At summer's end, Laura entered a full scholarship, where she found an abundance of pamphlets and literature on eating disorders. She decided to seek help from the local mental health center when her condition worsened during the fall. She knew too much about herself to kill herself, but I was too smart to kill myself, and I was too smart for that. My mom never real-ly knew how bad my situation was. I'd write letters to her, but I'd chicken out before letting her read them.

In one letter to her mother, Laura said, "Mom, I can't help it anymore. If I don't tell you guys, I'm going to go in sane. I know how hurt you will feel when you find out I'm not the smart little self-secure person you thought I was."

Unable to confront her mother, Laura still tried for a book she was writing, and she would rarely eat any of the meals.

During the summer, Laura read numerous articles on bulimia and discovered that some people take laxative pills to lose weight. She immediately went out to buy a box of laxative pills.

"At first, I took one more pill than the laxative directions suggested. Then I'd take two more, then three more and finally I was taking as much as 30 laxative pills every other day," Laura said.

By taking laxatives and purging, Laura restricted herself to the consumption of 500 calories a day. "I was an expert on calories and how much it took to work them off. Through exercise, I could bring my caloric intake down to a hundred a day."

"A normal person my weight should have at least 1600 to 1700 calories a day. It's never safe to go below a thousand," Laura said.

Laura said that Susan Squire, the reporter, "wrote me because my letter was 'well-written' and because I sounded so desperate."

Squire sent Laura a list of medical doctors who treat anorexia, but Laura did not have a treatment because she "could not afford it."

"I don't think the doctor at the mental health center knew too much about bulimia. I cried and cried in his office, but it didn't do much good. This first experience with the local mental health center turned me off. I got worse and worse. I was taking more laxatives, and my head became screwed up. But I did manage to gain up to a hundred and thirty pounds," Laura said.

Because the female metabolism slows down at the age of 18-19, many college freshmen gain weight quickly. "About 20 percent of all college women will have bulimia," Laura said. "Dorm life brings it on."

In Laura's case, the weight gain and struggle to lose it caused her grades to drop and made life with a roommate almost impossible.

Finding it difficult to adjust to college life and wanting to lose weight, Laura decided to return to college.

"I wanted to get away with no money because I'd be able to diet with no food," Laura said. After a few days, she returned home to High Point and confronted her mother, who suggested that Laura make an appointment with a counselor at the High Point Mental Health Center.

A trip to the High Point Center proved fruitless-again, because of what Laura considers to be inexperienced counselors—so she decided to return to college where she could seek help from an eating disorders specialist.

At the university, Laura consulted a female psychologist who suggested group therapy, assertiveness training and a physical examination. Laura said the psychologist's counseling and group sessions helped to improve her condition. The medical exam showed that Laura had done no permanent damage to her body.

"I quit taking laxatives altogether, but I still threw up some occasionally on the weekends when I'd go home from school. My roommate kept a watch on me during the week. I thought of her as a spy, but I managed to make it through the semester," Laura said.

The laxative withdrawal, according to Bigelow, is fairly easy to accomplish because the counselor can reason with the bulimic by showing her that the laxatives do not create a large amount of weight loss.

The primary treatment procedure used by Bigelow is rational emotive therapy in which the counselor logically asks the patient why she is abusing herself. See Bulimia p. 8

Out of Control

Cont. from p. 1

Laura spent much of her time alone researching eating disorders and reading about others like herself. She was reading the articles of the disorders specialist who authored one of the articles she read.

Although the specialist did not reply to the letter, a magazine reporter noticed the teenager's inquiry while interviewing the specialist for a book she was writing on treating and overcoming eating disorders.

"I broke up with Eddie during the week. I thought of her as a spy, but I managed to make it through the semester," Laura said.

Laura said that Susan Squire, the reporter, "wrote me because my letter was 'well-written' and because I sounded so desperate."

Squire sent Laura a list of medical doctors who treat anorexia, but Laura did not have a treatment because she "could not afford it."

Let her read you the following. It's never safe to go below a thousand calories a day. It's never safe to go below a thousand calories a day. It's never safe to go below a thousand calories a day. It's never safe to go below a thousand calories a day.

"I don't think the doctor at the mental health center knew too much about bulimia. I cried and cried in his office, but it didn't do much good. This first experience with the local mental health center turned me off. I got worse and worse. I was taking more laxatives, and my head became screwed up. But I did manage to gain up to a hundred and thirty pounds," Laura said.

Because the female metabolism slows down at the age of 18-19, many college freshmen gain weight quickly. "About 20 percent of all college women will have bulimia," Laura said. "Dorm life brings it on."

In Laura's case, the weight gain and struggle to lose it caused her grades to drop and made life with a roommate almost impossible.

Finding it difficult to adjust to college life and wanting to lose weight, Laura decided to return to college.

"I wanted to get away with no money because I'd be able to diet with no food," Laura said. After a few days, she returned home to High Point and confronted her mother, who suggested that Laura make an appointment with a counselor at the High Point Mental Health Center.

A trip to the High Point Center proved fruitless-again, because of what Laura considers to be inexperienced counselors—so she decided to return to college where she could seek help from an eating disorders specialist.

At the university, Laura consulted a female psychologist who suggested group therapy, assertiveness training and a physical examination. Laura said the psychologist's counseling and group sessions helped to improve her condition. The medical exam showed that Laura had done no permanent damage to her body.

"I quit taking laxatives altogether, but I still threw up some occasionally on the weekends when I'd go home from school. My roommate kept a watch on me during the week. I thought of her as a spy, but I managed to make it through the semester," Laura said.

The laxative withdrawal, according to Bigelow, is fairly easy to accomplish because the counselor can reason with the bulimic by showing her that the laxatives do not create a large amount of weight loss.

The primary treatment procedure used by Bigelow is rational emotive therapy in which the counselor logically asks the patient why she is abusing herself. See Bulimia p. 8

Book Talks: Fulcher examines 1984'

Articles in magazines and newspapers reminded us early in the year that 1984 will commemorate the publication of George Orwell's popular prophetic novel Nineteen-Eighty-Four, widely published and translated since the first edition in 1949. The special end-of-the-year issue of U.S. News & World Report (January 2) featured an illustrated nine-page section, whose title posed the intriguing question, "Orwell's 1984 Coming True?" Some of the many questions raised by Orwell's 1984 will be examined in the next round of Book Talks at High Point College.

The afternoon program will feature a discussion of the Orwell novel by Dr. J. Rodney Fulcher, chairman of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, whose research and writings in political philosophy include studies on utopian and "dystopian" social thought in Western society.

Following the presentations on Orwell's 1984, Eugene H. Bohi, known in the field of public media communications, will lead the audience response and discussion of current social issues related to the novel.

Guests for the program will be welcomed by the Director of Library Services, Mr. Thomas Gaughin, to the lecture room on the lower level of the Smith Library.

A reception will follow the Book Talks program in the Special Collections and a Rare Book Room of the Smith Library, providing an informal opportunity for discussion and refreshments for guests.

---

Ellington's Florist

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE

889-4748

Specializing in cut flower arrangement*

1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE

889-4748

FREE DELIVERY TO

We Have Balloons
Cardiac Cats' take lead in conference

BY MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

High Point College's own "Cardiac Cats" continued their last-second heroics Saturday night as Mike Everett sank a pair of free throws with six seconds remaining to seal a 55-53 victory over Guilford.

The win, coupled with Pfeiffer's loss to Pembroke State, moves the Panthers into a first-place tie with the Falcons. Both have 9-3 conference records.

High Point, holding a 31-25 halftime lead, saw Guilford rally in the second period and finally tie the game at 51 with 3:40 left to play. Everett then connected on a shot with 1:40 remaining to give the Panthers a 53-51 lead.

The Quakers countered with 40 seconds left when Steve Norton hit a basket to tie the game at 53. Everett was fouled on his attempted shot, and proceeded to drill the game-winning free throws.

Everett led all scorers with 22 points while Danny Murphy and freshman Jeff Allen added ten points each.

High Point travels to Elon tonight to tackle the fifth-place Fighting Christians. Both have 9-3 conference-leaders, his Panthers are a matchup between the conference-leaders, his Panthers were in no way looking past tonight's game.

"We only defeated Elon by one point up here (54-53), so we can't be looking ahead to Saturday. Our strategy tonight is to play as good a defense as possible and take good shots."

High Point's overall record of 13-5 doesn't indicate the closeness of their games this season. The Panthers are averaging 60.7 points per contest while limiting their opponents to 59.1 points. Coach Steele commented on his team's success this year.

"It's good in respect of the record, but I measure our success on two things. One is that we have learned to play smart, and second, that we have kept our poise well."

Lady Panthers in second

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

"The teams performance this year has been a very pleasant surprise," commented Womens Basketball Coach Nancy Little.

High Point's current record is 9-3 in the Carolina conference, 11-4 in District 26 and 13-5 overall. This translates in terms of standings as second in the Carolina Conference and fourth in District 26. If the Lady Panthers win their next two games, they will finish second in the Carolina Conference and be seeded second in the conference tournament. If the ladies win their final game of the season against Campbell, they should host a District 26 playoff game on February 20th.

"The next two games are very important to the team. We must win our next two to be guaranteed the second seed in the district tournament," commented Coach Little.

The ladies' next two games are against Atlantic Christian and Pembroke State. High Point has lost to both ACC and Pembroke earlier in the season, but both of these games were won in the last few seconds. "Our chances are good of defeating both of these teams, but we need the support of the students at both of these games," commented Coach Little.

The last regular season game will be on February 26th at 7:00 against Campbell University in our gym. This will also be the last regular season game that seniors Karla Thornhill, Ursula Watt and Melaine Hamilton will play for High Point College. "A big crowd was appreciated that night to honor these seniors," stated Coach Little.

The mainstays of this years team have been Watt, junior and team captain Susie Ramirez and freshmen Angie Green. Watt leads the team in scoring with a season average of 19.6 per game and is second in rebounds with an average of 9.9 per game. Watt is also second in scoring for the Carolina Conference.

Green leads the team in rebounds with an average of 8.7 per game and is second in scoring with a 13.2 average per game. Ramirez is third in scoring rebounds.

"We only defeated Elon by one point up here (54-53), so we can't be looking ahead to Saturday. Our strategy tonight is to play as good a defense as possible and take good shots."

High Point's overall record of 13-5 doesn't indicate the closeness of their games this season. The Panthers are averaging 60.7 points per contest while limiting their opponents to 59.1 points. Coach Steele commented on his team's success this year.

"It's good in respect of the record, but I measure our success on two things. One is that we have learned to play smart, and second, that we have kept our poise well."

High Point hosts Carolina's Conference tournament

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

High Point College will host the 1983-1984 Women's Carolina Conference Tournament on February 23, 24 and 25. The top seed for the tournament will be Pembroke State University. The Lady Panthers will be seeded either second or third, depending on the results of their last three season games." If any High Point students have friends who would like to attend any tournament games have them see Coach Nancy Little.
Mike Everett: Cool under pressure

After what I thought to be a "stand-up", I found Mike Everett, small forward for the HPC Panthers and his friend John zealously studying in the library. Quite embarrassed that our interview had slipped his mind, I stated, "You were MVP? Leading did you play basketball for?"

Hi-Po: I suppose my first question should be how did you become interested in playing basketball?

Mike Everett: I was eight at the time. My parents wanted me to join this little league at my new school so I could meet friends - give me something to do, I guess. After I had been playing awhile, they tried to get me to quit, but I wouldn't. (chuckle)

Hi-Po: Where were you born and raised?

Mike Everett: Summerfield, N.C. I was born in Greensboro which is close to Summerfield.

Hi-Po: What high school did you play basketball for?

Mike Everett: Western Guilford High School.

Hi-Po: How was your basketball career there? Were you MVP? Leading point scorer?

Mike Everett: No. I was a walk-on. Hi-Po: Did you decide to come to High Point then try out for the team?

Mike Everett: My high school coach said I couldn't get a scholarship right away, but if I went to H.P.C. and then tried out for the team, then made it, I would probably get one.

Hi-Po: So, your basic intention was to play basketball here.

Mike Everett: Basically. Hi-Po: What has been your best year here?

Mike Everett: This year. Our record is 11-5 and we're tied for second in the Conference.

Hi-Po: Would you say you all have a good chance at Nationals?

Mike Everett: I'd say a good chance; better than the years before. The teams are more even. There's no one dominating team.

Hi-Po: What would you say your toughest game has been?

Mike Everett: Uhuh...all of them. We've only beaten two teams by ten points or more. Every other win has been won on last second shots.

Hi-Po: Speaking of those last second shots, you've made quite a few.

Mike Everett: I've made two or three out of the four out of five games that were like that.

Hi-Po: What goes on in the huddle when those situations arise?

Mike Everett: We ad lib on last second shots. We don't call any time-outs so that the other team has less time to set up defensively. Then, we just go for it.

Hi-Po: Enough about basketball. What about you? Hobbies? Interests?

Mike Everett: Well, I read about sports a lot. I'm very sports minded. I play baseball and I played a little football, but I'd have to say I like basketball the best. I play basketball year round. It's not just a sport to me; it's a hobby, too.

Hi-Po: What are you majoring in?

Mike Everett: Physical Education. I have one more year to go, but this is my last year to be able to play basketball. I have one more year left in basketball.

Hi-Po: Do you have any brothers or sisters?

Mike Everett: One brother.

Hi-Po: Is he older or younger?

Mike Everett: Younger by six years.

Hi-Po: Does he play basketball, too?

Mike Everett: No, he likes music. He can play many instruments and he plays by ear.

Hi-Po: Do you play any instruments?

Mike Everett: No. I played a little guitar, but I really had no time.

Hi-Po: How would you describe yourself? How do you see yourself?

Mike Everett: I'm basically shy. Once I get to know someone, I'm not shy, but I'm not the type to just go out and meet people.

Hi-Po: Would you say the team is close?

Mike Everett: Yes, I would say we are, but not as close as past years. Maybe it's because we have six returning players and eight new ones.

Hi-Po: Do you all pretty much stay together?

Mike Everett: Yeah, we pretty much hang out together. Once your on a team, it's like being in a fraternity. You really need to be close. We're closer now, than in the beginning of the year.

Hi-Po: Do you think about Coach Steele?

Mike Everett: I think he's great personally. I like him really. He's done a lot as far as helping me in school. His daughter was like a freshman when I was a senior in our high school.

Hi-Po: What are your plans after next year?

Mike Everett: I'd like to coach at the high school level at first, but my true dream is to coach a college team.

Hi-Po: Any particular team in mind or any place you'd like to go?

Mike Everett: I'd go anywhere to coach college.

Lady Panthers

with a 10.8 scoring average and a 1.7 rebounding average respectively. These three girls have been nominated for consideration as All-Carolina Conference Team Members.

The other two starters are Melaine Hamilton and Lisa Jones. The 6th and 7th ladies off the bench are GiGi McPherson and Alison Thornhill and the back up to Watts is Kathy Cassidy.

The team has only nine players.

"The team's smartness and hard playing ability has surprised our opponents and has allowed us to do so well," commented Coach Little.

SCOREBOARD

Remaining Women's Basketball Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Opponent</th>
<th>Site</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 16 Pembroke State University</td>
<td>Pembroke</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 20 Campbell University</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 23 Carolina District Tournament Game</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 28 District 26 Tournament game</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 5-10 Area Tournament</td>
<td>Cedar Rapid, Iowa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mar. 14-17 NAIA National Tournament</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Remaining Men's Basketball Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Opponent</th>
<th>Site</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 16 Elon</td>
<td>Elon</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 18 Pfeiffer College</td>
<td>High Point</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feb. 25 Gardner-Webb College</td>
<td>Boiling College</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mar. 4-6 Carolina Conference Tra.</td>
<td>Elon College</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mar. 6-8 District 26 Tournament</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mar. 12-17 NAIA National Tournament</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CONT. FROM P. 6

"The next time you stop by for the best Eatin’ around!" bring along this money-saving coupon.

STEAK & EGG BISCUIT W/ ORANGE JUICE $1.29

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer. Per order. Customer must pay sales tax. This coupon is not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good during regular breakfast hours only or participating Hardee's Restaurants through May 31, 1984.

REGULAR ROAST BEEF SANDWICH, REGULAR FRIES & MEDIUM SOFT DRINK $1.79

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer. Per order. Customer must pay sales tax. This coupon is not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good after 10:30 AM, only at participating Hardee's Restaurants through May 31, 1984.

M.E.: I'd like to coach at the high school level at first, but my true dream is to coach a college team.

Hi-Po: Any particular team in mind or any place you'd like to go?

M.E.: I'd go anywhere to coach college.
New library telephone numbers announced

SMITH LIBRARY TELEPHONE NUMBERS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Position</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Phone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Library Director</td>
<td>Tom Gaughan</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reference</td>
<td>Carol Harris</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-V</td>
<td>Jill Reiner</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 304</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Circulation</td>
<td>Karen Mohn</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 392</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Technical Services</td>
<td></td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acquisitions</td>
<td>Karen Bowles</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 360</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cataloging</td>
<td>Sheila Bailey</td>
<td>887-3514 Ext. 300</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Cont. from p. 5

Bulimia

The therapy is designed to bring about emotional responses from the patient. Bigelow said the most difficult part of treating eating disorders is getting the patient to realize she has a problem. “Maybe 10 percent (10 bulimics) can recover on their own, but most need professional help,” Bigelow said.

“In my high school French class while we were watching a movie, I felt I wasn’t doing anything to burn off the calories I started crossing my legs back and forth real fast while in my seat.”

Laura, who sought professional help and recovered from her battle with anorexia nervosa and bulimia, has now transferred to High Point College and is living off-campus.

“My mind has never been the same as it was before I got anorexia and bulimia. I think about being alone and being thin—all that still prevails, but the guy I’m dating now says he loves me no matter how I look. I just have to learn to like myself for who I am and not for whether I’m skinny or fat,” Laura said.

Aid for athletes

Campus Digest News Service

A new program at the University of California at Los Angeles is trying to help ex-athletes find careers after college.

Many athletes come to college with the hope that they will follow their college sport career with a professional sports career. However, when they fail to make it into the pros, they are often at a loss as to what to do with their lives.

The career planning counseling for athletes is intended to help make athletes into students, too. Many athletes, according to June E. Millot, director of educational career services at the placement center at UCLA, do not draw correlations between their athletic skills and job market skills. The counseling helps to make them realize that these same skills such as discipline, motivation, organization can be applied to a chosen career objective also.

Strictly Classified

CAREER ALUMNI DAY: February 16th, 9:00-12:00, Holt McPherson Campus Center - 2nd floor Study Lounge.

REAS REPRESENTED WILL BE: Accounting, Banking, Aviation, Advertising, Government, Gerontology, Insurance, Hotel Management, Retailing, Volunteer Agencies, Recreation, Education, TV, Newspaper, Social Services, FBI, City of Raleigh, Furniture Industry, Sciences...and others.

ON-GOING ACTIVITIES IN CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER: (Room 100 Campus Center) and CAREER LIBRARY (200 Campus Center).

Hours: Career Development Center - 8:30-5:00 Monday-Friday. Career Library - 11:00-5:00 Mon/Wed/Fri; 10:00-5:00 Tue/Thu. Vocational Counseling by appointment with Ms. Wainer. Vocational Testing by appointment with Ms. Wainer.

Information is available on Internships; Graduate Schools and Programs; Books on Career Planning and Specific Careers; Books concerning Self-Assessment; Career Assessment; Resume/Interviewing Skills; The Job-search; Pamphlets/brochures on career fields; Pamphlets/brochures on Employers; Current literature on career and job opportunities (magazines, newspapers, etc); Graduate Tests (GRE/GMAT/LSAT, etc); Job Listings on Microfilm and in notebooks in Room 101 Campus Center.

For Sale

For sale - push button telephone. Brand new, never been used. Call 889-8349. $7 or best offer.

For sale - car power booster and equalizer-25 watts per channel. $15 or best offer call 889-8349.

Employment

Position: Typists, Delivery persons, part-time.

Employer: Knights of Columbus Phone 889-0022.

Contact Person: Bob Roosevelt.

Position: Accounting Assistant, part-time, $3.50/hr.

A new program at the University of California at Los Angeles is trying to help ex-athletes find careers after college.

Many athletes come to college with the hope that they will follow their college sport career with a professional sports career. However, when they fail to make it into the pros, they are often at a loss as to what to do with their lives.

The career planning counseling for athletes is intended to help make athletes into students, too. Many athletes, according to June E. Millot, director of educational career services at the placement center at UCLA, do not draw correlations between their athletic skills and job market skills. The counseling helps to make them realize that these same skills such as discipline, motivation, organization can be applied to a chosen career objective also.

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the Hi-Po by Sunday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run only one week. This is a service provided by the HI-PO free of charge to students and faculty of High Point College.

Announcements

STUDY IN LONDON

Join us in London this summer (June 1-July 7). Earn college credits - many subjects available, plus travel time. For details, contact Ms. Howell (25-9 Cooke Hall, ext. 296).

For Sale

For sale - push button telephone. Brand new, never been used. Call 889-8349. $7 or best offer.

For sale - car power booster and equalizer-25 watts per channel. $15 or best offer call 889-8349.

Employment

Position: Typists, Delivery persons, part-time.

Employer: Knights of Columbus Phone 889-0022.

Contact Person: Bob Roosevelt.

Position: Accounting Assistant, part-time, $3.50/hr.

A new program at the University of California at Los Angeles is trying to help ex-athletes find careers after college.

Many athletes come to college with the hope that they will follow their college sport career with a professional sports career. However, when they fail to make it into the pros, they are often at a loss as to what to do with their lives.

The career planning counseling for athletes is intended to help make athletes into students, too. Many athletes, according to June E. Millot, director of educational career services at the placement center at UCLA, do not draw correlations between their athletic skills and job market skills. The counseling helps to make them realize that these same skills such as discipline, motivation, organization can be applied to a chosen career objective also.

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the Hi-Po by Sunday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run only one week. This is a service provided by the HI-PO free of charge to students and faculty of High Point College.

Announcements

STUDY IN LONDON

Join us in London this summer (June 1-July 7). Earn college credits - many subjects available, plus travel time. For details, contact Ms. Howell (25-9 Cooke Hall, ext. 296).

For Sale

For sale - push button telephone. Brand new, never been used. Call 889-8349. $7 or best offer.

For sale - car power booster and equalizer-25 watts per channel. $15 or best offer call 889-8349.

Employment

Position: Typists, Delivery persons, part-time.

Employer: Knights of Columbus Phone 889-0022.

Contact Person: Bob Roosevelt.

Position: Accounting Assistant, part-time, $3.50/hr.

A new program at the University of California at Los Angeles is trying to help ex-athletes find careers after college.

Many athletes come to college with the hope that they will follow their college sport career with a professional sports career. However, when they fail to make it into the pros, they are often at a loss as to what to do with their lives.

The career planning counseling for athletes is intended to help make athletes into students, too. Many athletes, according to June E. Millot, director of educational career services at the placement center at UCLA, do not draw correlations between their athletic skills and job market skills. The counseling helps to make them realize that these same skills such as discipline, motivation, organization can be applied to a chosen career objective also.

STRICTLY CLASSIFIED is for personal ads, services wanted, items for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown. To submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and turn it in to the Hi-Po by Sunday night before the issue that you want it to run in. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. Please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. If there is no designation, the ad will run only one week. This is a service provided by the HI-PO free of charge to students and faculty of High Point College.

Announcements

STUDY IN LONDON

Join us in London this summer (June 1-July 7). Earn college credits - many subjects available, plus travel time. For details, contact Ms. Howell (25-9 Cooke Hall, ext. 296).

For Sale

For sale - push button telephone. Brand new, never been used. Call 889-8349. $7 or best offer.

For sale - car power booster and equalizer-25 watts per channel. $15 or best offer call 889-8349.

Employment

Position: Typists, Delivery persons, part-time.

Employer: Knights of Columbus Phone 889-0022.

Contact Person: Bob Roosevelt.

Position: Accounting Assistant, part-time, $3.50/hr.

Homecoming '84
Kara Tamaccio named Queen

BY TED CORYELL
Staff Writer

Students receive job tips

BY MICHAEL ROBERTS
Staff Writer

SGA passes Student Life Motion

Long-time HPC Coach, Virgil Yow dies

BY CINDY MIZE and LEWIS WHELESS
HI-PO Editors

SGA elections end today

BY CINDY MIZE and LEWIS WHELESS
HI-PO Editors
Opinion

Gaughan responds to library requests

Dear Editor,

Since February 2, 1984, the staff of the Library has been keeping a list of comments, complaints, and suggestions offered by the users of the Library. We appreciate the interest that many people have taken in the Library and I want to report to the College community on our progress in attempting to meet the needs which you have expressed.

The most frequently expressed need is for extended hours of Library operation. Since the Smith Library opened we have been monitoring use of the Library to justify increasing Library hours. Smith Library is being far more heavily used than was the Wren Library and this fact makes me confident that we will be able to increase Library hours to meet the needs of our users.

Many questions have been asked about equipment, from pencil sharpeners to microcomputers. As equipment arrives it is being installed and I am happy to report that Smith Library will be as well equipped as any small college library in the country. I regret any inconveniences that delivery delays have caused Library users.

Another frequent complaint concerns the lack of decoration in the Library. Paintings, prints, clocks and other accessories are being obtained but emphasis was and is being placed on getting furniture set up (a few pieces of furniture have not yet been installed).

The process of moving the card catalog is ongoing and is more than half finished. Our card catalog contains 500,000 cards and in several important ways is more difficult to move than the collection. Again, we regret any inconveniences and we appreciate your patience. The front door has been oiled!

Making the Library useful to the users should be an ongoing, evolutionary process. I hope that you will continue to make us aware of your needs and challenge us to provide services of the same quality as the Smith Library facility.

Sincerely yours,
Thomas M. Gaughan
Director of Library Services

The HI-PO is distributed on campus by Alpha Phi Omega, a National Service Fraternity. This is the fifth year they have provided this service.

Book barter proposed

Do you ever feel you're not getting a fair shake when it comes to selling your books back at the end of the year? Well, I have a solution to the problem of getting fifty cents for that economics book you paid six months' savings for sixteen weeks earlier.

What we need is to designate one day, maybe at the end of the year or at the beginning, or both, in which everyone could get together with their old textbooks from past semesters and seek out others with the books they want and swap their books with other people who want their books. An area such as somewhere in the student center or maybe in the main room of the old library could be used as the central meeting place. All you would have to do is see your professors and find out what text is going to be used. This would eliminate any confusion over what book is needed for the course and if a new edition of the book is coming out (in which case a trip to the bookstore would be necessary).

Maybe one of the fraternities and/or sororities could staff the place where the trade would be undertaken. That way, if you couldn't find someone right off with whom you could trade, you could sign a list showing what books were wanted and what books were up for trade.

While this would save the students possibly over one hundred dollars a piece every semester, it will probably never be allowed, as a small school such as High Point needs the revenue from book sales.

But if you don't consider it wishful thinking to have

Wainer thanks Career Day volunteers, helpers

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank the following students who actively helped in the planning and implementation of Career Alumni Day. The 40 students listed below were involved, (see attached list).

Also our appreciation to the faculty who were involved in the planning and programming of Career Alumni Day: Dr. Richard Bennett, Mr. Wilson Rogers, Mr. Earnest Price, Mr. Charles Futrell, Ms. Mary Ann Busch, Dr. Carol Head, Dr. Allen Thacker, Dr. John Ward, Mr. Lyman Rickard, Dr. William Delesue, Ms. Jane Burton, Mr. Jim Nelson, and Dr. Charles Teague.

And a special thanks to all of the guest representatives. There were 38 representatives from different career fields, out of which 29 were alumni.

We feel that approximately 250 students who visited Career Alumni Day benefited greatly from their contacts with the representatives. One senior was able to obtain 10 different leads for job opportunities, and has already set up an interview with a possible representative in his field. Contacts are an important part of the job search and our alumni provided an excellent resource for all students.

Freshmen and sophomores benefited from having an opportunity to discuss their particular major career fields, as well as helping them in their search for a direction. Being able to discuss openly pros and cons of different career fields was an advantage that students found in talking with High Point College alumni who were willing to share their personal experiences with the students.

Student Workers

Art Payne
Jennifer Borroughs
Toriann Cleary
Tammy Riggs
Denise Watts
James Scott

Jill Harris
Chuck McCarthy
Karen Ford
Lee Whitney
Terry Henderson
Nancy Young
Susanne Zuroff
Kirsten Kezar
Susan Duane
Sherri Hill
Rick Amos
Carolyn Hamilton
John Hamilton
Robin Rogers
Genny Dunn
Sid Fields
Regina Jensen
Amy Stanley
Luanne White
Jennifer Linquist
Jackie Barner
Sandy Brownbell
Marwan Shaban
Wylen Kwan
Bonnie Hopkins
Kim Maness
Michell Shovelain
Debbi Frazier
Renee Cartrett
Melinda Burton
Miriam O'Malley
Angela Franco
Shannon Moore
Bill Frampton
Joyce Wainer

March 16 is the last day of semester to drop courses
Language pros to attend conference

BY JUDY JONES
Special to the HI-PO

Two professors from the Modern Foreign Language Department will be attending a Conference at the University of Louisville on Feb. 23-24.

Dr. P.J. Lapaire and Dr. John Gabriele will be presenting papers at the conference on the special topic of 20th Century Literature and Politics.

Lapaire said he attends these conferences to see what people are working on, their methods, and to find out "the reactions our own ideas get."

"Teaching is a two-fold profession," Lapaire said, "We teach, and we research."

One of the dangers of the profession is that we forget to check our ideas with our colleagues."

Gabriele said members of the Foreign Language Department have attended four conferences this year, and he is pleased that the department is making an effort to attend these conferences to hear the work of their colleagues.

Goldwasser speaks on campus

BY MICHAEL ROBERTS
Staff Writer

On Tuesday, Feb. 14, educator Dr. Edwin L. Goldwasser visited High Point College. Dr. Goldwasser was a graduate of Harvard University and the University of California at Berkeley where he received his Ph. D. in Physics.

Throughout most of his career in teaching and research, Dr. Goldwasser has been associated with the University of Illinois and the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory. His research has been primarily concerned with the interactions of the fundamental particles of matter, and he English majors have quickly moved up to important positions. Leslie Davis went immediately into the position as morning host at WGHP-TV and then to Spicer Productions. She is now currently a producer with WXEX-TV in Richmond. Susan Spaulding (80) worked at WGLD Radio in High Point in sales and marketing. Since her interest was in sports broadcasting, she now works with ABC Radio in New York with Howard Cosell. Her twin sister, Janet Spaulding, was promoted to Sales Manager at WGLD to its sister station WHKX in Raleigh, N.C.

Dean’s List correction

Due to incomplete information given to the HI-PO, the following names were omitted from the Fall 1983 Dean’s List in the last issue:

William Vaughn, Jr.
Jeffrey Yuskus
Martha Warner

Questron CORPORATION

America’s newest and fastest-growing nationwide corporation invites you to earn next year’s tuition before June. If you are energetic, outgoing, ambitious, and enjoy meeting new people, we may just have the opportunity you’ve always wanted.

Work part-time or full-time. Set your own hours.

We need Local Representatives and Area Coordinators.

For students, this expands into a highly-lucrative summer position, which flexes back into fall to fit your academic schedule.

Many permanent positions are available nationwide, as well.

This is a rare and unique ground-floor opportunity which probably will not repeat, once the necessary personnel have been acquired.

To apply, send a self- addressed stamped business-size envelope. Application form and information will reach you by return mail.

Questron Corporation
Suite 204
2012 Grove Avenue
Richmond, VA 23220

Hi-Po Staff

Reporters...

Kevin Connolly, Todd Coryell, Scott Heinecke, Janine Janson, Bert Lee, Cindy Mize, Mark Phelps, Michael Roberts, David Tewsbury, Features Editor Janine Janson
Entertainment Editor Bert Lee

Lab Technician, Chris Grantham

Improvements planned, assault investigated

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

The towing of student automobiles will be some time this week for the non-payment of fines, according to Ed Cannady, Director of Public Safety.

If your car is towed, you will be faced with a $25 towing bill, a possible fine of a fine and the possible loss of parking privileges on campus. If you have a driver's license and a parking ticket, you may appeal it to the student traffic court which meets every Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. "The court is very fair, but firm in the enforcement of college parking regulations," commented Cannady.

***

Major campus safety improvements will occur over the mid-senster break. This will consist of paving the Millis Dorm Parking lot, filling in the pot holes around campus and adding lights around camps to make it fully lighted in all parts of the campus.

A recent confrontation between a Millis dorm resident and a High Point citizen is being resolved according to Cannady. The issue has been resolved to the satisfaction of the participants involved with further action being referred to the Office of Student Life.

English majors in any one of the three program concentrations -- literature, writing, and media communications will be faced with a $25 towing bill, a $3 per day storage charge, and a $250 lot fine.

On Tuesday, Feb. 14, several professors will be presented at the conference on the special topic of 20th Century Literature and Politics.

Lapaire said he attends these conferences to see what people are working on, their methods, and to find out "the reactions our own ideas get."

"Teaching is a two-fold profession," Lapaire said, "We teach, and we research."

One of the dangers of the profession is that we forget to check our ideas with our colleagues."

Gabriele said members of the Foreign Language Department have attended four conferences this year, and he is pleased that the department is making an effort to attend these conferences to hear the work of their colleagues.

This spring semester, six majors are currently enrolled in the internship program: Kristin Brown and Lionell Reg (radio/television, WQEX-TV, High Point, N.C.), Pat Connelly (WMAC Radio, High Point), Crystal Hedgecock (Greensboro Daily News), Renee Heath (WGHP-TV, Greensboro Daily News), Michelle Pruitt (Greensboro Daily News). Michelle Pruitt is the first major intern, with the Crescent Observer, a monthly newsletter newspaper serving the Triad Area and emphasizing local and regional events in the arts, entertainment, and advertising.

In the summer of 1983, Glenn Groseclose was the first major to intern with a media business outside the 40-mile radius. He worked with Spicer Commercial Productions in Baltimore, Maryland, under the supervision of Leslie Davis, who graduated in 1980 and had formerly interned with WGHP-TV before going to Spicer Productions.

As a result of the internship program, area businesses are also hiring majors for part time jobs in the summer and during the academic year.

Eleven new businesses have indicated an interest in participating in the internship program, including WQEX, WT 8 K Radio, WJJS/WT-QR Radio, and High Point Community Theatre.

In fall, 1983, the following majors interned with area businesses: Karla Green (Greensboro Daily News), Cynthia Mize (WGHP Radio), Bill Sledge (Channel 48 and Channel 12 TV), Brent Holshouser (WMAG Radio), and Kim Higgins (WGHP-TV).

The English major, with its strong concentration in writing and research, is one reason area businesses seek interns from High Point. With additional support courses in other areas and the liberal arts, English majors have a definite edge over other college students. The Media Communications concentration owes its success to the fact that it is a program in the English Department, not a separate technical major like other colleges.

As a result, many alumni have quickly moved up to important positions. Leslie Davis went immediately into the position as morning host at WGHP-TV and then to Spicer Productions. She is now currently a producer with WXEX-TV in Richmond. Susan Spaulding (80) worked at WGLD Radio in High Point in sales and marketing. Since her interest was in sports broadcasting, she now works with ABC Radio in New York with Howard Cosell. Her twin sister, Janet Spaulding, was promoted to Sales Manager at WGLD to its sister station WHKX in Raleigh, N.C. Development grants.
Anorexia causes, cures weighed in 'Slender Balance'

Alarming as it may sound, anorexia nervosa rates among the top ten discussion topics among many teens and college women. The subject is one of great significance and doesn't need to go unnoticed. Susan Squire, author of the Los Angeles Magazine has recently written a book pertaining to this subject. Her book, "The Slender Balance," contains information on the causes and cures for bulimic, anorexic, and the weight-loss/weight-gain seessaw.

The Slender Balance is an exceptional account of the contemporary phenomenon known as the eating disorder. If you are tired of being more than one weightless diet in your life, if you feel that being thin is the answer to your problems, if you're terrified of gaining five pounds, if you regularly binge, and then try to make up for it by starving, making yourself vomit, by taking laxatives, diuretics, amphetaamines, or enemas --they are use of millions of Americans for whom the term "eating disorder" applies. The Slender Balance will help you identify the problem and get back on the track of eating normally without obsessive concern over weight.

As Susan Squire explains, current evidence shows that in our pursuit of thinness as a match for well-being, our mental perceptions of ourselves as they relate to food and body image have become very unhealthy. In our struggles to maintain "boyish slimness," our eating patterns have become very abnormal. An estimated one in five college-age women are plagued by anorexia and engage in odd eating patterns.

The Slender Balance gives accounts of Jennifer, an adolescent in danger from anorexia and bulimia; Sarah, the college student with a guilty secret about binging and fasting; Mary, Pamala and Francine intelligent achievers on their own who succumb to the pressures of "making it" with episodes of dietary chaos including anorexia, binge-vomiting, and fasting. Most important, we learn about how to take charge of ourselves, how to stop fighting with our weight, how to eat normally and live a full and happy life free from fear of fat.

I have read this book from front to back and recommend that every teenage girl and college woman read it.

--Marina Quick

Career

Cont. from p. 1

a division of the R. H. Macy Company out of New York City. Harding, a Marketing/Management alumnist, is the "new guy with Marke" having only worked there six months. "I knew I wanted to get into advertising. I was bit by the ad bug," said Harding.

Real estate was handled by realtor Tom Gray, who worked for Stockton, White, and Co., a statewide firm affiliated with First Citizens Bank that deals with development and sales. Gray, a 1979 Business Administration graduate, manages a building for First Citizens owned by Neuse Inc.

Holistic Weight Program

Registration tomorrow at 11:15 a.m.

Are you tired of trying to get in shape for summer? If so then come join the Holistic group to begin March 15 at 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Center. Cost is $10.00 which includes pamphlets on dieting that tell you how to know healthy eating. The group is limited to 25 people. Marina Quick will be teaching the classes which will range from exercising to studying materials on nutrition, sensible dieting, calorie counting, and fats in food. The students will get free books on calorie counting. Sign up in upstairs Campus Ctr. on Thr., Mar. 1 between 11:15-12:00. This group is only for those who need to lose 10-20 lbs.

Practica Students gain experience

This spring, several of the English Communications students are gaining practical experience with on campus publications in order to prepare them for their major experience in the SCP Internship program.

The latest addition to the practicum sequence (English 147, Phototypesetting) prepares students to use the new Computer Graphic Editor Typesetter, the same typesetter used by all major printers and publishers in the Triad area. Students are learning to change font and type face, call files, program files and store them, process files for pasteup for printing, and experience the difficult lesson of programming tabulations on the typesetter. Students currently enrolled in this practicum are Melanie Epserson, Mike Ernst, Barbara Hurley, and Rochell McAuley. Of the students who completed this practicum in the fall, John Higgins is currently working with the Informational Services Office to typeset small college publications and the summer school brochure for 1984. The other student in the fall practicum typset the final issue of the Hi-Po in December, 1983.

The TV Practicum (English 142) has been working on completing the Vertical File of newspaper articles for majors. They have compiled a field trip to R.J. Reynolds, Piedmont Airlines, and WJJS/WQQR Radio in Winston-Salem. At WQTR, they talked with show host Mike Weaver about the new studio for WJJS and the new digital audio recording equipment at WQTR. WQTR, a country-western format station, has the largest share of any listening audience in the United States. One of its announcers, Billy Buck, has the highest rated radio show in the country-western format across the nation. Soon the students will be operating the video taping equipment in order to record the audio-visual reports for students enrolled in English 150, Media Law. Some of the students also worked with students in English 352, Broadcast Production, to video tape the library move on February 1.

In addition to assignments from the students they were given to do for WJJS and the new digital audio recording equipment at WQTR. WQTR, a country-western format station, has the largest share of any listening audience in the United States. One of its announcers, Billy Buck, has the highest rated radio show in the country-western format across the nation. Soon the students will be operating the video taping equipment in order to record the audio-visual reports for students enrolled in English 150, Media Law. Some of the students also worked with students in English 352, Broadcast Production, to video tape the library move on February 1.

Students in the practicum earn one hour of credit for 40 hours of work or for 20 hours of work with a 1500 summary report of their experiences. All students are encouraged to keep copies of all materials for use in a job portfolio.

English majors in the Media Communications program concentration must complete a minimum of 2 hours credit in the practica courses.

GTCC joins Consortium

BY CINDY MIZE
Assistant Editor

Guilford Technical Community College has joined the Greater Greensboro Consortium after an invitation from the administration of High Point College.

The Greater Greensboro Consortium is a program where students from participating colleges can take college parallel courses. The seven participating colleges are High Point College, Greensboro College, UNCG, A&T, Bennett, Guilford College, and GTCC.

According to Dr. W.H. Bearce, Dean of the College, the administration decided to invite GTCC to join the consortium since GTCC became a part of Jamestown.

Bearce said, "There are lots of courses offered at GTCC that have to be approved by the administration. GTCC is an important partner in this consortium. The important thing is that students need for GTCC to take their major at HPC, they don't offer it at HPC."

According to Bearce, belonging to the consortium gives the students more flexibility. The other colleges have special classes that students need to take for their major that HPC does not offer.
Keeping fit: Blood, sweat and tears

BY JANINE JOSON
Features Editor

“My heart beats a lot and I usually feel very refreshed. I can even stay awake in Economics.”

“Sweat is pouring down my face and I feel full of energy afterwards.”

“It’s the best!”

I walked into Spa Lady and Spa Women singing the “Main Event” with a chorus of “ch’s” accompanying her. A lady’s voice pierced my hear-ting "totally fit"? Aside from "the blood, sweat, and tears", there is a price involving the Nautilus Family Fitness Center, located in the College Village and The Spa Fitness and Spa Lady Center set up in High Point Mall, I discovered that quite a percentage of college students take part in the membership of these places. According to K.T. Mills, director of NFFC, in High Point, 10-14 percent of NFFC’s members are college students. Richard Field, an employee of Spa Fitness, also claims that 15-25 percent of their members are college students.

So why do some students workout at the Spa while others prefer the Nautilus? What are the differences? When I asked Mills to assess the differences, he replied that nautilus works on the total body by separating muscle groups. “Our machines are designed to exercise the heart and lungs,” he claims. “The Spa has a more general type workout.” Speaking on the Nautilus, Field states, “Equiment is the main difference. We have a more diversified set up with polaries machines, as well as free weights. The design of our machinery is an improvement over theirs.”

As for Spa Lady (where only women work out) they have differences with their partner, Spa Fitness. According to Elizabeth Greeson, Nikki Dale, and Dee Dee Marshall, all employees of Spa Lady, they do not have as much machine as the men. Their fitness is concentrated toward aerobics.

All three fitness centers put their members on programs where their progress can be charted. The nautilus also offers a testing program for athletes and activity groups. Every four months an athlete’s body fat, blood, and cardiorespiratory system is tested. On the other hand, Spa Fitness places all beginners on a program on a woman’s age, weight and need, will determine what type of program she will be undergoing.

Not only can one feel refreshed after an exhilarating workout, but other

Order of Lighted Lamp announces nominees

Nine HPC seniors and 3 juniors have been nominated for the 1984 Order of the Lighted Lamp Award.

Senior nominations include Theresa Anne Geary, juniors have been nominated according to Elizabeth Greeson, Nikki Dale, and Dee Dee Marshall, all employees of Spa Lady, they do not have as much machine as the men. Their fitness is concentrated toward aerobics.

All three fitness centers put their members on programs where their progress can be charted. The nautilus also offers a testing program for athletes and activity groups. Every four months an athlete’s body fat, blood, and cardiorespiratory system is tested. On the other hand, Spa Fitness places all beginners on a program on a woman’s age, weight and need, will determine what type of program she will be undergoing.

Not only can one feel refreshed after an exhilarating workout, but other

Order of Lighted Lamp announces nominees

Nine HPC seniors and 3 juniors have been nominated for the 1984 Order of the Lighted Lamp Award.

Senior nominations include Theresa Anne Geary, juniors have been nominated according to Elizabeth Greeson, Nikki Dale, and Dee Dee Marshall, all employees of Spa Lady, they do not have as much machine as the men. Their fitness is concentrated toward aerobics.

All three fitness centers put their members on programs where their progress can be charted. The nautilus also offers a testing program for athletes and activity groups. Every four months an athlete’s body fat, blood, and cardiorespiratory system is tested. On the other hand, Spa Fitness places all beginners on a program on a woman’s age, weight and need, will determine what type of program she will be undergoing.

Not only can one feel refreshed after an exhilarating workout, but other

Frat co-founder dies

MY MICHAEL ROBERTS
Staff Writer

Dr. Glenn Gray Perry, an alumni of High Point College, died at his home Saturday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to his head.

Perry, a proctologist, received a degree in biology and chemistry at High Point College. He also helped to find what was to become the Lambda Phi, Chi fraternity.

In 1973 Dr. Perry was honored by the Piedmont Proctologic Society for his “invaluable contribution” to the advancement of procto-logy.

bloodmobile to be Mar. 16

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

“We are grateful to the students for their support of our blood program,” commented Betsy Farrell, Blood Director for the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter.

The third and final bloodmobile of the school year will occur on Fri., Mar. 16 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The goal of this bloodmobile, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, will be to raise 125 pints of blood.

This bloodmobile is one out of 64 bloodmobiles conducted annually by the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter. The blood from these drives will go to a regional blood center in Winston-Salem to be tested and processed. It will then be returned here to be used locally at High Point Memorial and Thomasville Community General Hospitals. The average use of blood in these hospitals combined is about 500-600 pints a month. "The shelf-life of blood is thirty five days but most blood is used with in 24 to 48 hours after being tested and sent to a hospital,” said Farrell.

Bloodmobile to be Mar. 16

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

“We are grateful to the students for their support of our blood program," commented Betsy Farrell, Blood Director for the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter.

The third and final bloodmobile of the school year will occur on Fri., Mar. 16 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The goal of this bloodmobile, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, will be to raise 125 pints of blood.

This bloodmobile is one out of 64 bloodmobiles conducted annually by the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter. The blood from these drives will go to a regional blood center in Winston-Salem to be tested and processed. It will then be returned here to be used locally at High Point Memorial and Thomasville Community General Hospitals. The average use of blood in these hospitals combined is about 500-600 pints a month. "The shelf-life of blood is thirty five days but most blood is used with in 24 to 48 hours after being tested and sent to a hospital,” said Farrell.

Bloodmobile to be Mar. 16

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

“We are grateful to the students for their support of our blood program," commented Betsy Farrell, Blood Director for the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter.

The third and final bloodmobile of the school year will occur on Fri., Mar. 16 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The goal of this bloodmobile, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, will be to raise 125 pints of blood.

This bloodmobile is one out of 64 bloodmobiles conducted annually by the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter. The blood from these drives will go to a regional blood center in Winston-Salem to be tested and processed. It will then be returned here to be used locally at High Point Memorial and Thomasville Community General Hospitals. The average use of blood in these hospitals combined is about 500-600 pints a month. "The shelf-life of blood is thirty five days but most blood is used with in 24 to 48 hours after being tested and sent to a hospital,” said Farrell.

Bloodmobile to be Mar. 16

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

“We are grateful to the students for their support of our blood program," commented Betsy Farrell, Blood Director for the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter.

The third and final bloodmobile of the school year will occur on Fri., Mar. 16 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The goal of this bloodmobile, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, will be to raise 125 pints of blood.

This bloodmobile is one out of 64 bloodmobiles conducted annually by the High Point/Thomasville Red Cross Chapter. The blood from these drives will go to a regional blood center in Winston-Salem to be tested and processed. It will then be returned here to be used locally at High Point Memorial and Thomasville Community General Hospitals. The average use of blood in these hospitals combined is about 500-600 pints a month. "The shelf-life of blood is thirty five days but most blood is used with in 24 to 48 hours after being tested and sent to a hospital,” said Farrell.
Pitching, outfield are Panthers’ strengths

BY KEVIN CONNOLLY
Assistant Sports Editor

The pitching staff and outfield look to be the strongest areas on this year’s team.

John Carty, who hit .369 last year, is back to come in centerfield. Carl Bradsher, a junior college transfer, will play right and bat third. Charles Waynick, maybe the best outfielder on the team will play in left. Junior Mark Barnes, will be the forth outfielder.

On the mound, the Panthers will be led by Andy Dupree, Danny Mizell, Wayne Griffin, William Milteur and Roscoe Turner. Behind the plate there are two fine young catchers. Brain Kemp and David Hooker will split the job as of now. If everything works out the way I want it to, catching will be an asset for the next several years.

They just need to get some experience," according to Coach Speight. If that plan fails the team can turn to the versatile Lee Whitney.

Right now the infield is up in the air. ‘We’re just trying to find the right combination,” says Coach Speight. Ronnie Lucan can play any third and shortstop. Mike Horn and Nick can go at eight second or short. Bob Barra is a solid second baseman and Freshman Chip Stroup could end up at shortstop. Mike Everett, who is starring for the basketball team will help at third or first. After basketball season last year he worked his way into the line up at third.

Offensively, the three outfielders, Carty, Bradsher, and Waynick can all swing right now. Dupree, Whitney, and Hooker are swinging the bat well.

This year, like the ones in the past, the schedule is tough. In the Carolina Conference, Elon, Wingate, and Pfeiffer are the best team. ‘If everything comes together, we have a good chance.”

Steele named Coach of the Year

BY MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

The league’s eight head coaches met Friday at a luncheon and voted Jerry Steele as coach of the year in the Carolinas Conference.

The honor, which was the second woned by Coach Steele since he has been here, was awarded in view of the Panthers’ improvement from last year’s dismal 6-19 record. The team’s winning shots in the closing seconds.

Rounding out the squad were Mike Emanuel, Ricky Melvin, and Darryl Martin of Pembroke. Guilford’s Darryl Dozier, Wingate’s Wayne Griffin, William Milette and Roscoe Turner of Pfeiffer, Atlantic- Christian’s Curtis Livingstone, and Mark Simpson and Art Rose of Catawba.

Simpson was selected as the league’s player-of-the-year.

Allen paces HPC win

By Mark Phelps
Sports Editor

High Point College ended it’s regular season on a high note Thursday night with a 35-32 victory over Gardner-Webb. The Panthers were paced by the sensational play from freshman center Jeff Allen, who scored 18 points and added eight rebounds.

More importantly, Allen limited the Bulldogs’ All-American center Eddie Wilkins to a mere ten points and three rebounds. The 6-10 senior played most of the game in foul trouble and was able to connect on only four of seven shots.

High Point owned a 17-15 lead at halftime after both teams had struggled offensively in the first half. The second half saw little improvement in the shooting as the score remained tight and low. Allen sank a shot with just over two minutes to play to give the Panthers a semi-comfortable lead of three points at 30-27.

High Point was able to increase it’s lead to 33-28 on Allen’s two free throws with 40 seconds remaining. It then gained the biggest margin of the game 18 seconds later on Danny Murphy’s layup. After 22 seconds left. The Bulldogs scored the final three points to end the night’s scoring.

The victory leaves the Panthers at 14-7 overall, 9-5 in the conference, as they head into tonight’s Carolinas Conference tournament game with Elon. Gardner-Webb fell to 13-14, and their 32 points was the lowest total in the Bulldogs’ history.

CCC tournament getting underway

First-round action in the Carolinas’ Conference Tournament in Elon got underway last night as top-rated Pembroke and last place Atlantic Christian squared off at 7:00.

The game included second-ranked Pfeiffer against seventh-ranked Guilford.

High Point will begin it’s first-round game tonight at 9:30 as the Panthers take on rival Elon. The opening game will match-up third seeded Catawba against sixth-ranked Wingate. A coin toss determined the seeding of Wingate and Guilford after they tied for sixth with identical 3-11 conference records.

CC Tournament Pairings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>#1 Pembroke</th>
<th>#2 Pfeiffer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>#4 High Point</td>
<td>#5 Elon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>#3 Guilford</td>
<td>#6 Wingate</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Lady Panthers qualify for District 26 Tournament

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

"Fourteen wins and seven losses is a great record considering we were shooting for a .500 record," commented women's basketball coach Nancy Little.

The Lady Panthers qualified for the District 26 Tournament and were scheduled to play their first game last night against Mars Hill College. The score of the game was not available as the paper went to press.

The Lady Panthers were eliminated by Wingate in the first round of the Carolina Conference Women's Basketball Tournament. The score of the game was 71-67.

Senior Ursula Watt was named the Carolina Conference All Conference Women's Basketball Team.

Watt ended the regular season as the team's leading scorer with a 15.1 per game average. She also had the season high for most points scored in a ball game, which was 33 points against both Pfeiffer and Catawba.

Coach Nancy Little was named Carolinas Conference Co-Coach of the year along with Coach Carole Mckeel of Astatic Christian University.

See tennis preview next issue
strictly classified

strictly classified is for personal ads, services wanted ads for sale or buy, and rides to or from your hometown.

to submit an ad, type the ad double-spaced and return it to the HI-PO by Sunday night before the issue that you want it to run. Any ads turned in after this deadline will be held until the next issue. please designate on the ad how long you want the ad to run. if there is no designation, the ad will run only one week. this is a service provided by the HI-PO free of charge to students and faculty of High Point College.

Artifacts

BY BERT LEE
Entertainment editor

CONCERTS:
March 1 - Gordon Lightfoot:
Greensboro Coliseum Auditorium: 8 p.m.: Tickets are now available at the Coliseum Box Office and all Ticketron outlets including Sears stores.
March 2 - Dave Brubeck:
a jazz legend:
High Point Theater: 8 p.m.: Tickets $13.50 per person and are available at the High Point Theatre Box Office.
March 11 - Raymond Jackson, a concert pianist:
HPC Auditorium: 5 p.m.: For ticket information, phone 885-5101 ext. 288 or 232.

THEATRE:
Feb. 29 - Fifth of July,
a comedy/drama by Lanford Wilson:
N.C. School of Arts in the Agnes de Mille Theater: 8:30 p.m.; For ticket information, phone 721-1945.
March 1 & 3 - The Matchmaker:
N.C. School of Arts in the Agnes de Mille Theater:
8:15 p.m. on the 1st and 2 p.m. on the 3rd; For more information, phone 721-1945.

ART:
Now through March 14 - Paintings by Norma Kessler Shields:
High Point Theater Gallery.

FILMS:
March 16 - Superman II & III:
HPC Library: 8 p.m.; Free Admission.

OTHERS:
March 1 - Dinner Discussion, sponsored by Student Y.M.C.A.:
Cafeteria: 4:45 p.m.-5:30 p.m.

If you would like to have an event included in this calendar, please let us know by noon Friday before the Wednesday day issue. Events can be mailed to the HI-Po Entertainment Editor, HPC P.O. Box 3825.

ATTENTION SENIORS: Recruiting Schedule for March 1984:
First Citizens Bank, March 26
Haverty Furniture Co. (Business and Home Furnishings majors only) March 26
Milliken and Company (all majors) - March 29
Come by and register early in the Career Development Center.

Resumes are needed; see Mrs. Wainer if interested.

For sale:
For sale - 1978 Gremlin, 4-cylinder, 4-speed, new clutch, AM-FM stereo-cassette, radial tires in excellent condition; $1700 for sale or trade. Call Franka at 883-4475 anytime, including weekends.

Can you find the hidden legal terms?

ABATE     ACT OF GOD     CAVEAT EMPTOR
AGENCY     CONSIDERATION     DAMAGE
ARBITRATION     DECAY     DEED
BAILMENT     Cont. next column

advertisement

Also, please let us know by noon Friday before the Wednesday day issue. Events can be mailed to the HI-Po Entertainment Editor, HPC P.O. Box 3825.
Faith in the Administration

By Dr. Starr Ty-Po
Newcomer

The phrase "faith in the administration" has never been stronger at High Point, according to a recent survey.

Students working under the head administrative office conducted a poll asking students what they felt about the administration's recent decisions on the escort policy, two faculty members' dismissals and other administrative decisions.

The results of the survey, released by unknown source, showed 90 percent of the student body had no conflicts with the administration and its decisions.

As in any survey, eight percent were in opposition to the decisions and were considering petitioning in protest. When asked of a man in Roberts Hall, what will become of this, he replied, "It will blow-over in a couple of days. We know how to handle these type of people."

The remaining two percent disagreed with the decision, but were instructed by their parents to obtain in order to protect themselves from harassment.

By the current situation, Juniors and Seniors, who had lived under the old administration, are not wanting to graduate.

"I've never had it so good. The old administration believed in the students, which was a bad idea. To operate a college effectively, students must not be given a decision in the matter. They will basically screw things-up, if allowed," said Ura Tyant, a senior Sociology and Media Communications major.

Alumni and Parents are also excited about the college.

They feel the college has done a superb job with student/faculty relations. "I had a choice of any college in the nation. I picked High Point because of the rising cost, the "quality education with a personal touch", and the helpful attitude of the administration. It's good to see them trying to improve on the best," said Alumnus Myuss, a 1980 Communications major.

In a related matter, High Point College students wish to thank the administration for all it has done and hopes that little, if anything, remains to be revised.

Third Floor of Library to be bar and roll-a-rink

By Norm Newsworthy
Tyo Staff Writer

A roller-skating-rink and bar will be open next fall on the third floor of the library.

"By our calculations, using the increase of books and periodicals for High Point College over the last fifty years, we have determined that the third floor (of the library) would not be used until the middle of the twenty-second century," said Tom Gaughan, director of library services.

Research from Duke University has shown that students who can effectively release stress study 40 percent more effectively.

The new "Drink-a-Rink" as it is to be called will be the object of much study from universities around the country.

"We could be on the forefront of educational excellence with this new innovation," boasts Gaughan.

"The Drink-a-Rink could open High Point College to much ridicule," said Charles Lucht, HPC President, "but its implications for success outweigh its possibilities for being criticized." Lucht said he and the board were "basking in euphoria" over the new idea and are beginning construction immediately.

By Lewie
Head Ed.

Christine Craft, labeled by former employer Metromedia, Inc. as being "too old, too unattractive" and a "mutt," has fled to HPC where she vows to stand behind a podium until Metromedia meets her demands.

"The folks at High Point College really gave me a good time when I was there in November. That Ted Coryell is some host. He has all the poise and charm I like in my men, so I decided to come back here until I get satisfaction."

"I'll give her some satisfaction," said Coryell in an interview this morning. "Craft's a real babe."

A spokessthing for Metromedia said the company is relieved that Craft is "out of our hair. She's your problem now, Bud."

The APO Service Fraternity has been sending Craft left overs from the cafeteria. "I just love those seaman patties. It makes me ecstatic."

"I've never had it so good," said Tom Gaughan, director of library services.

"The silly satire and ridicule contained in this issue will hopefully be read with an open mind and a sense of humor. It's April Fools Day—go out and be a fool!"

Craft stands until they meet her demands
By LU-LU

THE SOCIETY AGAINST HIGHER EDUCATION
HAS STRUCK AGAIN! A group of SAHE members broke into the new library this morning and stole all 120,000 volumes by assembling a "human chain" between the library rear door and several moving vans.

A year ago today--as you may remember--the SAHE bombered the campus with bulldozers and demolished the library construction. "We finally completed the library again," said Library Director Tom Gaughan, "and now this.
I'm going to see if we can cancel classes one day and get all students, faculty and alumni to set up another human chain and steal the books back from the SAHE."

Wainer promises
‘jobs for all’

By Norm Newsworthy
TyPo Staff Writer

Graduates relax!

"That's right," said
Joyce Wainer head of Career Development,
"we're sick and tired of making excuses why people aren't employed.
We've beefed-up our placement division to such a degree that we can guarantee 100 percent of HPC grads will have jobs just one month after graduation."

Part of the Wainer brainstorm has included internships with AT&T, and a few selected guests.
According to Lucht,
Dr. W.H. Bearce, Dean of the College, is head of the graduation planning committee and has worked hard in making these plans work.

Bears said that he arranged for graduation
to be held in the Kennedy
Center in Washington,
D.C. Graduates and their guests will arrive
on May 12.

Bears said that he arranged for graduation
to be held in the Kennedy
Center in Washington,
D.C. Graduates and their guests will arrive
on May 12.

Bears said that he arranged for graduation
to be held in the Kennedy
Center in Washington,
D.C. Graduates and their guests will arrive
on May 12.

Bears said that he arranged for graduation
to be held in the Kennedy
Center in Washington,
D.C. Graduates and their guests will arrive
on May 12.

Bears said that he arranged for graduation
to be held in the Kennedy
Center in Washington,
D.C. Graduates and their guests will arrive
on May 12.
BY SCOTT HINEN-KIN  Woman Tamer

"Winning the NCAA tournament has meant a tremendous step forward for the High Point Basketball program and for the NAIA," commented Jerry Steele, Mens Basketball Coach and UPI Coach of the Year.

The Panthers were the first NAIA team to qualify for the NCAA Tournament. The Panthers were invited to play when the NCAA selection committee could not find another team to play in the expanded 106 team tournament. The Panthers were invited to play as the number 12 seed in the South East region.

The Panthers first game was against highly regarded Georgia, who were trying to qualify for the final eight for a second year. The Panthers put an end to this dream by beating them 88 to 87 in triple overtime. They then proceeded to clobber the University of New Mexico, and kill the Bruins of UCLA in the regional finals. "After the UCLA victory, I began to wonder whether this was a dream or a reality," stated Coach Steele.

The Cats first game in the final eight was against the mediocre North Carolina State. The Cats easily defeated State by a score of 79 to 61. The Cats then stunned Patrick Ewing and the Georgetown Hoyas in double overtime 61 to 60. This victory set up an historic NCAA championship final between the Cats and the dark horse Orangemen of Syracuse. "It took me a full day to realize that me and the High Point College Mens Basketball team would be playing for the NCAA championship," said Coach Steele.

The High Point-Syracuse game might have been historic but it was a classic basketball blow out as the Cats defeated the Orangemen, 90 to 65. "I could not believe it and still don't believe it that we won the NCAA Mens Basketball Championship," stated Coach Steele.
A member of the college's writer's club has won a Pulitzer Prize for her book of poems. Lisa K. Stowe, a member of the Writer's Club and editor of the Apogee has written a book of poems called "The Antimated Dead and other sing-a-longs".

In a telephone interview this morning, Stowe said, "I didn't realize that my first book of poetry would have such an effect on social consciousness. Actually I thought it was trash."

Stowe's book of poems beat out a rediscovered manuscript of a volume of poetry by John Milton. Dr. Arcadia Darrell, chairman of the judging committee said in a telephone interview (we have a huge phone bill) that the judges had a tough decision between Milton's poems and Stowe's poems.

"After reading Stowe's poems for the sixth time we decided that Stowe would be the winner."

McCulloch and Womens Dorms to go co-ed

By S. Heineken

He made Milwaukee famous

"A constant compliant this year has been the small size of the rooms in McCulloch compared to the large size in Womens, so we decided to take action on this complaint," commented Mike Pittman, Director of Student Life for this here college.

McCulloch and Womens Dorms will become co-ed dorms beginning with the fall '84 semester. The Womens dorm will be renamed so as to reflect the change in sex. It will probably be called Cape Co(e)d or N.E. Thing Goze. "It is the decision between Milton's poems and Stowe's poems." said Pittman.

"This change is great for the males because I have no idea what small yung'uns are. They ain't too mannerly, but they'll give ya plenty of road exces- cise."I'll probably need ya most anytime, and if you and the yung'uns hit it off alright, then ya just might be able to keep the little krit- ters.

"CONTACT: Dr. Wrigley, 377 Poverty Rd., Backwoods, Tenn.

PHONE: Ain't got none.

---

Stowe wins Pulitzer

By Lois Lane

---

McCulloch and Womens Dorms to go co-ed

By S. Heineken

He made Milwaukee famous

"A constant compliant this year has been the small size of the rooms in McCulloch compared to the large size in Womens, so we decided to take action on this complaint," commented Mike Pittman, Director of Student Life for this here college.

McCulloch and Womens Dorms will become co-ed dorms beginning with the fall '84 semester. The Womens dorm will be renamed so as to reflect the change in sex. It will probably be called Cape Co(e)d or N.E. Thing Goze. "It will be divided about evenly in the numbers of females and males that will be in each room," said Pittman.

"This change is great for the males because I will not have to live in a cell like I have done for the last year and a half," stated one male student, "And having a female roommate will surely keep me entertained. Who needs coffee-houses (just cold showers) when you have such great dorm life?"

"This conversion is very unfair to the females because a lot of females own a few clothes and room decorations. We will never fit everything into what they call rooms in McCulloch. They are more like prison cells," commented one angry female student.

"The security problems surrounding this conversion before and after will be one gigantic headache," said Ed Cannady, Director of Campus Safety, "and we will probably have to call in the National Guard to ease the process."
Administrators seek to explain tenure and promotion policies

BY LEWIS WHELESS
Editor in Chief

The controversy surrounding High Point College's decision to nonrenew or change the tenure status of two faculty members is ongoing. William DeLeeuw, Media Communications Department Chairman, and Dr. Jack I. Bardon, Professor of Education, have written letters to students in protest of the contract nonrenewals, and at least one High Point College administrator and one tenure and promotion committee member have written letters to the media upholding the college's decisions not to rehire the two professors. Student protest letters have also reportedly been written to the Board of Trustees members to protest the decision.

Dr. Charles Lucht, President of High Point College, wrote a letter to students dated March 22 explaining the major issues involved in the present situation. "In the present situation," he stated, "the tenure status of two members of our faculty" and "the names of those denied are shared with the Board's Academic Affairs Committee." Lucht did not specify which professors were denied promotion or tenure.

A group of approximately 50 sociology and media communications majors planned pickets to protest the contract renewals and former SGA president Tom Leech planned a proposal to the Student Government Association to reinstate the two professors. As of press time, the picketing plans have not been carried out.

Several Continuing Adult Education Program students enrolled in DeLeeuw's and William's classes have written letters to area media in protest of the contract nonrenewals, and at least one High Point College administrator and one tenure and promotion committee member have written letters to the media upholding the college's decisions not to rehire the two professors. Student protest letters have also reportedly been written to the Board of Trustees members to protest the decision.

Dr. Charles Lucht, President of High Point College, wrote a letter to students dated March 22 explaining the major issues involved in the present situation. "In the present situation," he stated, "the tenure status of two members of our faculty" and "the names of those denied are shared with the Board's Academic Affairs Committee." Lucht did not specify which professors were denied promotion or tenure.

A group of approximately 50 sociology and media communications majors planned pickets to protest the contract renewals and former SGA president Tom Leech planned a proposal to the Student Government Association to reinstate the two professors. As of press time, the picketing plans have not been carried out.

Several Continuing Adult Education Program students enrolled in DeLeeuw's and William's classes have written letters to area media in protest of the contract nonrenewals, and at least one High Point College administrator and one tenure and promotion committee member have written letters to the media upholding the college's decisions not to rehire the two professors. Student protest letters have also reportedly been written to the Board of Trustees members to protest the decision.

Dr. Charles Lucht, President of High Point College, wrote a letter to students dated March 22 explaining the major issues involved in the present situation. "In the present situation," he stated, "the tenure status of two members of our faculty" and "the names of those denied are shared with the Board's Academic Affairs Committee." Lucht did not specify which professors were denied promotion or tenure.

A group of approximately 50 sociology and media communications majors planned pickets to protest the contract renewals and former SGA president Tom Leech planned a proposal to the Student Government Association to reinstate the two professors. As of press time, the picketing plans have not been carried out.

Several Continuing Adult Education Program students enrolled in DeLeeuw's and William's classes have written letters to area media in protest of the contract nonrenewals, and at least one High Point College administrator and one tenure and promotion committee member have written letters to the media upholding the college's decisions not to rehire the two professors. Student protest letters have also reportedly been written to the Board of Trustees members to protest the decision.

Jack Bardon to be commencement speaker

BY CINDY MIZE
Assistant Editor

The speaker for this year's commencement exercises has been chosen. Dr. Jack I. Bardon, Professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G, will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G will be the speaker. He was chosen by the Board of Trustees member who has been chosen.
Dear Students:

By now many of you are well aware of the controversy surrounding the tenure status of two members of our faculty. Since there is some misunderstanding surrounding this matter, I am writing to give you information about our present promotion and tenure procedures, including their historical background, and to clarify the major issues involved in the present situation.

At the March 1981 Spring Meeting of the Board of Trustees, because of general dissatisfaction with the part both of faculty and the Board, the Board requested the Faculty Affairs committee to conduct a study of the entire promotion and tenure area. The results of that study, including a set of recommended procedures for awarding promotion and tenure, were presented to the Board at the March 1983 meeting. Further study seemed desirable, and so a special committee of faculty, administrators, and Board members was appointed to revise the proposals. The revisions were presented to the Executive Committee of the Board in April, 1983, and given approval. The first implementation of the new promotion and tenure procedures was in the fall of 1983 when nine faculty members were recommended and approved for promotion. Several others were denied promotion following the approved qualifications for academic rank.

Persons eligible for promotion or tenure for the first time apply in the late fall of 1983, and the recommendations of the Committee on Promotion and Tenure regarding these applicants were presented at the March 1984 Board meeting. Six persons were recommended and ultimately approved for promotion, and one for tenure. Again several persons were denied. In every case, the names of those denied were shared with the Board's Academic Affairs Committee. Below is followed as outlined in the Faculty Handbook.

The major point of contention has been who is responsible for each specific step in the process. The Faculty Handbook, which is consistent with common practice at other colleges and universities, is quite clear on this point. The faculty member is required to make application at the appropriate time; the Committee on Promotion and Tenure, composed of six faculty members and the Dean of the College, is required to carry out the review and make its recommendations to the President; the President reviews these recommendations and passes on to the Academic Affairs Committee of the Board those he approves; the Academic Affairs Committee reviews and recommends to the Board those which it approves. In every case to date, the recommendations of the Committee on Promotion and Tenure have been accepted completely and passed on for eventual approval by the full Board of Trustees.

The second major point of contention surrounds the meaning of tenure. Most people seem to believe that tenure is guaranteed life appointment. This, however, is not the common perception. Tenure, in the historical and common practice, means two things:

First, the award of tenure is an expression by one's peers that they wish to have an individual as a permanent part of that faculty. This decision is always based on a broad variety of considerations. However, the faculty member is required to make its deliberations public. The courts have clearly stated that the faculty is responsible for its promotion and tenure decisions.

Second, the award of tenure is a promise by the institution that a faculty member will continue with the institution until retirement for age or physical disability, subject to the same kinds of recommendations from the faculty as are required for other appointments. The Faculty Handbook (p. 29) gives examples of such "adequate causes."

With this information as background, there are several points that should be highlighted.

First, many persons in the faculty, the administration, and the Board have argued that the time and effort since 1981 in developing the present set of procedures for awarding promotions and tenure have been wasted. These discussions have been ongoing since 1981, when I came to the College. During the past four years, the faculty has been reassured that this is not the case. The faculty has been reassured that their analysis and recommendations are respected by the administration. If the faculty perceived otherwise, they would be unwilling to work as closely with the administration.

The faculty has come to count on its own members and ex-colleagues to act collectively. As a result, the recommendations of the committee have been given extra time for no additional compensation. As in the case of the members of the Committee on Promotion and Tenure, they have been willing to accept the potential of being unpleasant.

The faculty has been reassured that their analysis and recommendations are respected by the administration. If the faculty perceived otherwise, they would be unwilling to work as closely with the administration.

The faculty has come to count on its own members and ex-colleagues to act collectively. As a result, the recommendations of the committee have been given extra time for no additional compensation. As in the case of the members of the Committee on Promotion and Tenure, they have been willing to accept the potential of being unpleasant.

The faculty has been reassured that their analysis and recommendations are respected by the administration. If the faculty perceived otherwise, they would be unwilling to work as closely with the administration. The recommendation has been accepted as valid, and will continue to be the basis for the tenure status of each faculty member.

The second major point of contention is the meaning of tenure. Most people seem to believe that tenure is guaranteed life appointment. This, however, is not the common perception. Tenure, in the historical and common practice, means two things:

First, the award of tenure is an expression by one's peers that they wish to have an individual as a permanent part of that faculty. This decision is always based on a broad variety of considerations. However, the faculty member is required to make its deliberations public. The courts have clearly stated that the faculty is responsible for its promotion and tenure decisions.

Second, the award of tenure is a promise by the institution that a faculty member will continue with the institution until retirement for age or physical disability, subject to the same kinds of recommendations from the faculty as are required for other appointments. The Faculty Handbook (p. 29) gives examples of such "adequate causes."

With this information as background, there are several points that should be highlighted.

First, many persons in the faculty, the administration, and the Board have argued that the time and effort since 1981 in developing the present set of procedures for awarding promotions and tenure have been wasted. These discussions have been ongoing since 1981, when I came to the College. During the past four years, the faculty has been reassured that this is not the case. The faculty has been reassured that their analysis and recommendations are respected by the administration. If the faculty perceived otherwise, they would be unwilling to work as closely with the administration.

The faculty has come to count on its own members and ex-colleagues to act collectively. As a result, the recommendations of the committee have been given extra time for no additional compensation. As in the case of the members of the Committee on Promotion and Tenure, they have been willing to accept the potential of being unpleasant.

The faculty has been reassured that their analysis and recommendations are respected by the administration. If the faculty perceived otherwise, they would be unwilling to work as closely with the administration. The recommendation has been accepted as valid, and will continue to be the basis for the tenure status of each faculty member.

I have hesitated to make a public statement regarding this matter because of the confidentiality granted all involved. However, it is the prerogative of the staff members of the College to share such information and since this operation has been exercised, I felt that a statement clarifying the policy of the College and the faculty committee, and the Board committee that dealt with this matter needed to be made.

In conclusion, I hope that this letter answers any questions you may have had about this subject. I would urge each of you to have faith in the process and in the people responsible for implementing that process.

Sincerely,

Charles Lucht

President
Cont. from pg. 2

tract, they would be not only violating the tenure policy, but also violating the sanctity of the tenure committee's decision, and even more so, the tenure committee would probably reflect on the reputation of Dr. Williams.

It is my opinion that the response of the tenure committee, Dr. Lucht and Dr. Bearce, and if this decision is overturned, God help the college. The pressure will be exerted by request

Gabriele answers 'propaganda'

Dear Editor,

I recently came across an anonymous document entitled, “Can High Point Survive?” I was convinced that the printed material was in some way connected with the surplus of underpaid propagandas and unintelligible squabble that has recently ensued on the High Point College campus. Having no respect whatsoever for the document or the personalities involved in the controversy, I decided to see for myself whether the propaganda was as venomous as it appears to be. I went to the refuse before depositing it in its proper place and became instantly outraged to find that my name had been included in the document. I had directed to those individuals responsible for the compilation of the sensation the name and the question. Only you will know why, for you have chosen to remain anonymous in your outright display of vanity.

I resent wholeheartedly the liberties you have taken in associating my name with your vile methods. Protest if you must; however, do not make me responsible for ideas I have never expressed. It is possible that I am leaving High Point College due to administrative disac- cord in that I am leaving High Point College. My name with your vile methods. Only you will know who you are. for and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred.

Dear Editor,

Sincerely yours,

John Philip Gabriele
Assistant Professor of Spanish

Cont. from pg. 2

... consisted with accented practice in

... convinced that the printed material

... constantly outraged to find that my

... its proper place and became in-

... at the refuse before depositing it in ... display of vanity.

... anonymous in your outright

... for you have chosen to remain anonymous in your outright display of vanity.

... I resent wholeheartedly the liber-

... Protest if you must; however, do not make me responsible for ideas I have never expressed. It is possible that I am leaving High Point College due to administrative disac- cord in that I am leaving High Point College. My name with your vile methods. Only you will know who you are. for and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred. You have assumed my support of your cause and you have erred.

... and you have erred. You have as-

... of facts, disrespect for others and dis- regard for the truth. It is somewhat

... tempts at recognition are based on the implications of the others. The facts you ignore or misstate

... Furthermore, “Can High Point College Survive?” The answer would have to be no if such self-

... to raise their money for the MOD

... I believe need attention if future elec-

... What were SGA ballots numbered? One’s personal vote could be traced by the tab versus the actual ballot. This is against all practices of impartial, private voting privileges.

... Why were SGA ballots numbered? One’s personal vote could be traced by the tab versus the actual ballot. This is against all practices of impartial, private voting privileges.

... Why were SGA ballots numbered? One’s personal vote could be traced by the tab versus the actual ballot. This is against all practices of impartial, private voting privileges.

... Why were SGA ballots numbered? One’s personal vote could be traced by the tab versus the actual ballot. This is against all practices of impartial, private voting privileges.

... Why were SGA ballots numbered? One’s personal vote could be traced by the tab versus the actual ballot. This is against all practices of impartial, private voting privileges.
Four HPC faculty members promoted to associate professors

Several faculty promotions were recently approved by the High Point College board of trustees at its semi-annual meeting.

Four faculty members have been promoted from assistant professor to associate professor.

They are:

Robert Davidson, health and physical education, who was a member of the college faculty since 1962. He received his bachelor's degree from High Point College and his master's degree from UNC-Chapel Hill. Davidson has been chosen Carollinas Conference "Coach of the Year" for men's track 10 times and for men's cross country eight times.

Carole Head, modern foreign languages. Dr. Head, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and UNC-Chapel Hill, served as department chairman since 1963. She has been a Fulbright scholar and has studied at universities in France, Switzerland, Austria and West Germany.

many. She has been on the HPC faculty since 1978.

Dr. Marion Hodge, English, holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Tennessee State University and a doctorate from the University of Tennessee. He joined the local faculty in 1979. He has written numerous poems, book reviews and articles for literary review magazines and is a member of the Modern Language Assn.

Dr. Charles Teague, religion and philosophy. Teague is a graduate of High Point College and Emory University. He has been on the faculty since 1972 and was college chaplain from 1972-75. He is a member of the Higher Education and Campus Ministry Legislative Committee for the United Methodist Church's annual conference sessions.

Dr. Pierce J. Lapiare and Dr. Hali Beck have been promoted in the College's Foreign Languages Department.

Lapiare has taught modern foreign languages at High Point College since 1983. He received his undergraduate and master's degrees from the University of Perugia in France and a master's degree from UNC-Chapel Hill. He is a member of the American Psychological Assn. of Teachers of French.

Beck, a graduate of East Carolina University, earned his doctorate from UNC-Greensboro. Beck joined the human resources department faculty in 1979 as a psychology instructor. He is a member of the American Psychological Assn. and the National Communication Association.

The faculty of High Point College has recently reinstated the academic major in French. The Modern Foreign Language department has added French 301-302, a two-semester survey of literature course, which will be offered in the fall of 1984 and will deal with literary expression in France from the Middle Ages through the eighteenth century.

By acquiring a double major in foreign language, students specializing in such divergent areas of Business, Religion, Social Science, Sociology, Communications, History, and Political Science can add a very valuable component to their professional preparation, thus enhancing their chances for success.

HPC reinstates French major

The faculty of High Point College has recently reinstituted the academic major in French. The Modern Foreign Language department has added French 301-302, a two-semester survey of literature course, which will be offered in the fall of 1984 and is now able to offer students a sufficient number of courses for the major. The first part of the survey course, French 301, will be offered in the fall of 1984.

To speak at HPC on April 13

BY SCOTT HEINECKE

American Red Cross executive stresses people first

"My philosophy of life is 'people first.' I work to accept people as they are and support their efforts to fulfill their potential. When I look at contemporary management, I see personal growth or personal growth processes and support their efforts to fulfill their potential.

"Memorable moments in my career involve people. Usually these times are almost invisible. I first felt this when I graduated from seminary and entered the Tennessee Missions Association. Ten years later in a pre-school child sat on my lap after five weeks of running away because of problems at home and the helpless feeling as I talked to a former youth volunteer who had to drop out of college because his family could not afford to pay tuition."

"When I worked as an instructor at Wilminton College in Ohio, where I directed an on-site degree program at a medium security prison. I have served as Director of the Headstart Program in Clermont County, Ohio, and as Director of Youth and Community Services for the Cincinnati, Ohio American Red Cross Chapter, before moving on to his present position at the National American Red Cross Headquarters.

"I have been involved in the American Red Cross for over 20 years. It is a way of life and a career that I have always enjoyed." said Ewing.

"My mentor is a 55-year-old woman, who is a secretary now, after being a sales office manager and a plant manager. She has always been a stranger in a foreign land and has always been a stranger in a foreign land and has always been a stranger in a foreign land and has always been a stranger in a foreign land."

"I believe that Peace Corp Volunteers bring home to the United States more valuable experience than they provide to their host country," said Ewing.

"My philosophy of life is 'people first.' I work to accept people as they are and support their efforts to fulfill their potential.

"Memorable moments in my career involve people. Usually these times are almost invisible. I first felt this when I graduated from seminary and entered the Tennessee Missions Association. Ten years later in a pre-school child sat on my lap after five weeks of running away because of problems at home and the helpless feeling as I talked to a former youth volunteer who had to drop out of college because his family could not afford to pay tuition."

"When I worked as an instructor at Wilminton College in Ohio, where I directed an on-site degree program at a medium security prison. I have served as Director of the Headstart Program in Clermont County, Ohio, and as Director of Youth and Community Services for the Cincinnati, Ohio American Red Cross Chapter, before moving on to his present position at the National American Red Cross Headquarters."

"I have been involved in the American Red Cross for over 20 years. It is a way of life and a career that I have always enjoyed."

Editor's note: Rick Ewing will be giving a workshop on campus. The date is April 13 in the Focal Point at 12 noon. The title of the workshop is "Corporate change, personal change." The workshop is sponsored by the High Point College American Humanities Student Association.

Seven faculty members honored by Board

Seven members of the High Point College faculty were honored by the college's board of trustees at its recent semiannual meeting in the faculty dining room at 12 noon.

Dr. Nelson F. Page, professor of mathematics, and Earnest Price, Jr., distinguished lecturer and director of the college's humanities program, have been named Charles L. Kearns professors.

Page, a member of the faculty since 1973, is chairman of the department of mathematical sciences. He earned his bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees from UNC-Chapel Hill.

Price served in various capacities with the Peace Corps in America for 3 years before coming to High Point College in 1977. He holds a bachelor's degree from Mississippi State University and a master's degree from Texas A&M University. He earned his bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees from Wake Forest University and his doctorate from the University of South Carolina.

The board also announced that Mary Anne Busch, instructor in English, has been teaching at High Point College since 1979. A graduate of High Point College, she received her master's degree from Wake Forest University and her doctorate from the University of South Carolina.

"I have been teaching at High Point College since 1979. A graduate of High Point College, she received her master's degree from Wake Forest University and her doctorate from the University of South Carolina."

HPC Theatre presents "The Miser," April 6-7, 13-14

The hilarious story of an old miser and his amorous pursuits will come to the stage in a production diricted by the High Point College Theater presents "The Miser." This delightful farce by Moliere will be heard on April 13 and 14.

Performances are scheduled at 8:00 p.m. on two consecutive Friday and Saturdays, April 6 and 7 and April 13 and 14. All performances will be presented in the college's Memorial Auditorium on Monticello Avenue.

For ticket information, call High Point College at 885-5101.
Senior citizen's relations and its effect on the demands on society to increase services to these people. In response, the field of gerontology - the study of human aging - has recently begun to expand to meet these needs.

Gerontology is the examination of the aging process and its effect on the elderly person's relationship with others. Because the physical decline that accompanies old age often causes elderly persons to retreat from society, gerontologists work to improve the quality of life for these people by helping them deal with their problems and worries.

On Thursday, April 5, High Point College will hold a seminar on career in the field of gerontology. Dr. Jim Carpenter, executive director of Guilford County United Services for Older Adults, will talk about the employment prospects in the field of aging. He will look at the current picture and also note future trends.

Mrs. Mary Anne Busch, director of High Point College's gerontology program, which is one of two in North Carolina, will discuss the educational background an individual may need for a career in gerontology. A short question and answer period will follow the two presentations.

Mrs. Joyce Wainer says that the program is open to anyone who wants to know more about the field of gerontology. "We encourage all individuals in the Traid who are interested in careers in an expanding field to attend this seminar. Many different educational and occupational backgrounds are suitable for a career in gerontology. Some of these areas are sociology, medicine, theology, education, recreation, home economics, public administration, social work, and psychology."

Wainer says that careers in gerontology can be found in administration, community development, psychology, social work, and architecture, according to a recent career publication she has received.

The program will begin at 7:00 p.m. and take place in the Campus Center at High Point College. There is no admission charge. For more information, contact the Career Development Office at High Point College by calling 888-5191.

Prof writes book on furniture

BY MARION HODGE

Special to the HI-PO

He leans back in his chair. He smiles. He kids: for "fame and fortune"—that's why Dr. Richard Bennington has written a book about the furniture industry.

"Furniture Marketing from Idea through Distribution" is to be published in May by Fairchild Books of New York.

Bennington kids about the fame and fortune because he knows there won't be much of either—too narrow a topic—won't appeal to a general audience. Nevertheless, when he speaks of the book, he is obviously satisfied, even a little proud, although he seems too modest to speculate on his accomplishment.

His real motive, he says, was a singular lack of materials, the lack of a compact, comprehensive work on the furniture industry. He assumes his book will become a college textbook and a reference work for the industry.

Bennington also mentions that he hopes High Point College will receive some favorable notice from the book.

The process of researching, writing, re-writing, finding a publisher, and getting the book into its final form as been a long, tedious one, and the process is not quite over.

The first step was research. "I spent a lot of time reading, talking to people, and observing the various aspects of the furniture industry," Bennington says.

Finding a publisher was not easy, but not as difficult as it might have been with another kind of book. There are not many who specialize in this type of book. He sent out eight queries, each consisting of a cover letter and a tentative table of contents. Fairchild discussed the matter for six months before reaching a decision, Bennington says.

Writing the book entailed three separate drafts—three drafts of a manuscript of over 300 pages. Each draft was read for content by people in the furniture business, experts in each area discussed the book.

Bennington completed preliminary work last March and, after proofreading and editing, he sent the final manuscript to Fairchild last June. He had been working on the book for a year and a half.

His New York editor still calls once a day, asking for better pictures and for captions for pictures. And Bennington is still mailing packages, of advertisements, for example, to be used as illustrations.

The purpose of the book, Bennington says, is to provide an overview of the furniture industry and to present the process by which furniture is marketed. Among the topics discussed are the various types of furniture, the history of furniture design, and the steps required.

RICHARD BENNINGTON in furniture manufacture. But marketing, Bennington says, is the primary topic.

"I've tried to cover the planning, the writing, the physical distribution," he says. "I discuss advertising, salesmanship, promotion and public relations, as well as design and physical distribution." The book will also contain a glossary of appendices on furniture trade publications (there are about 30) and trade associations (there are about 50).

The project grew out of a much more modest circumstance. Bennington says that Richard Barrow, director of High Point College's furniture marketing program, had many problems which part of which was to be used to print Bennington's book locally.

That seems like a very long time ago, and now as he leans back in his chair and kids quietly, modestly, the pleasure and the agony of his accomplishment.

The next book? Where's the next book? Where's the next challenge? Let it be a small one, for now.

Student Award Program postponed

BY BILL FRAMPTON

Special to the HI-PO

At the SGA meeting on March 28, 1984 the Student Achievement Award Program was abolished. This program had many problems which could not be resolved in time for its application this year.

The problems involved are:

1. If the underclassman award recipient were under Title IV funds from Financial Aid, this aid would be substracted from their total financial aid package.

2. The wording of the award, it must be determined 15 days before Honors Day Convocation. That means the selection process would have to be finished by April 7. Since this was a new program, more time was needed to inform students and faculty of how the award was set up, and what they needed to do to nominate someone. Also, with this being a new award, it is unknown how long the selection process would take once the nomination's eyes.

Although this program has been abolished, the concept of an award program has not been abandoned. The SGA will once again consider a program of this type.
High Point College

SPORTS

High Point takes third in G-W Invitational

BY MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

High Point College's track squad finished third among eleven teams at the Gardner-Webb Invitational last Saturday. The Panthers totalled 87 points, just behind Francis-Marion's 104 and Prebyterian's 95. The highlight of the meet for HPC was its victory in the 440 relay. The team of Darryl Cook, Ian Lewis, Drew Gadson, and Kent Sides broke an eight-year-old school record in the time of 42.24.

Their fine performance, however, was soured when Sides later went down with a pulled hamstring. The star hurdler is listed as doubtful for the relays this weekend. High Point's leading point getters were Lewis and Gadson with 21 points each. Fred Smiley and Cook added 18 1/2 and 17 points respectively.

Last week, the Panthers hosted Elon and Catawba in a tri-meet. H.P.C. fell to Elon by just one point, 56-55, while Catawba took third with 49. The key to the loss was High Point's failure to finish both hurdle events. Coach Bob Davidson said that if just one Panther had completed either the 110 or 220 hurdles, High Point could have easily won the meet.

"If we could have just crossed the finish line, we would have scored points and won," said Coach Davidson.

Sides led all scores with 11 points. He won the 220 in 22.6 and took a second in the 100.

Smiley collected 9 1/2 points with victories in the mile run and the 880. He also took a third in the three mile run.

Gadson took a first in the 440 with a time of 51.25. He also teamed with Cooke, Lewis, and Sides to win the 440 relay in 42.75 seconds and the mile relay.

Medina discusses life in the United States and at High Point

BY JANINE JOSON

"Is Bjorn Borg your favorite?"
"Yes."

In the beginning of our interview I needed to look at her High Point College I.D. to make sure I spelled her name correctly. But by the end of our interview Ana Marie de Medina (better known as "Diez de") a senior playing the number 2 position on the Women's tennis team, revealed that she learned much more about the United States than just the language.

Hi-Po: Did you come to High Point because of the tennis program?
D.D.: Yes, basically. But also because of the area and the people I met when I first visited the school. A former student of High Point who was also from Bolivia recommended High Point to me.

Hi-Po: So Bolivia is where you were born?

Hi-Po: Had you been planning all along to attend school in the United States?
D.D.: Yes, because it's more competitive here. Competitive athletics is not as important in Bolivia as it is here.

Hi-Po: How did you become interested in tennis?
D.D.: As you notice, tennis, (laughs) I like sports in general. I like to water ski. I'm not good. I'm just learning, but I like it. I also like art—just to look at it.

Hi-Po: What are you going to do after graduation?
D.D.: I'd like to stay here for graduate school or maybe get a job.

Hi-Po: How are your classes? Are they tough because of the language barrier?
D.D.: My freshman year was the toughest. After I became familiar with the language, it became easier, but there was definitely a language barrier. I had an intensive study of English for months before I came here at the University of Miami.

Hi-Po: Do you miss home?
D.D.: Yes, I only get to go home once a year.

Hi-Po: Do you have any last words?
D.D.: Why don't you ask
See Medina pg. 7

Can the video tape replace human judgement?

The Revolver

BY JOHN R. SMITH

Many times, things which are done in order to improve bad situations actually create problems. Recently video tape has been used to determine close calls in sporting events. This sounds great on the surface, because there are many times in which the referee does not make the right call on a play. The video tape replay could correct this problem, but it might cause some unforeseen difficulties.

In all likelihood, you've seen you favorite team sligtly at some point in a game by a wrong call by a referee. In this case the tape replay could be used to discover the actual error. Also, another plus for the use of tape would be to prove that a referee is in all actuality, "a bum," as many of the fans would say. In this way, a referee who consistently makes bad calls could be removed from the court.

But there are minuses to the system also. A coach who knows he has access to replays of games might request a replay of every play that does not have an obvious reason for being. This could cause many minutes of delay in a game (and some games could do without any more delays).

Also, the original problem of interpretation of a foul could carry over into the video replay. The call might still be contested, even when seen in slow motion. Often the referees are in a better position to make the calls than the people who view the replay, who might be seeing a picture taken by a camera positioned in a poor angle. Who's going to decide on the error in the video replay?

Further, will teams which are able to have all their fouls replayed on tape be given a different consideration by the referees? In other words, would a team which can show that many of the calls made against it be able to intimidate the referees and cause them not to call the fouls which they see? Also, might some referees become afraid of being publicly embarrassed or even dismissed because of the calls they make, and therefore not make as many?

All, whatever happens, it can be said that there are definitely both pluses and minuses to using video tape replays in sports games. Time will tell about the wisdom of the decision to use tape to examine close call, if that decision is made.

Wolfpack eager to transfer to H.P.

N.C. State's Terry Shackelford, a 6-10 center from Denton, N.C., has announced his intention to transfer to High Point College next fall. He played in five games for the Wolfpack and scored just two points during the past season.

As a standout at Denton High School, Shackelford averaged 24.7 points and 10 rebounds per game as a senior. He was named to the All-Conference, All-County and All-District teams as well as being named Honorable Mention All-State. He competed in the East-West All-Star game in Greensboro last summer.

Under NAIA rules, Shackelford will be eligible in late December after sitting out the first semester.
Lange beat Mike Anderson at Oak Hollow Country College, 5-4 on Monday. Tennis team defeated Elon 4-6, 6-0, 6-3 in a fine match.

Hooks soundly beat 6-3, 6-0.

Nanhi beat Elon's Jeff Pekka Makela defeated Nick on what?

High Point College defeated Elon 6-1, 6-2, 6-1 respectively.

Two and three teams fell 6-4, 6-0. High Point's number one team of Makela and Stienholm and Howard 6-1, 6-0. High Point's number one team of Makela and Stienholm and Howard 7-6. In doubles play, the match of the day. Matt Ranck was the only player Narhi and Lange also went 1-1 in the two matches. West, Bloch and Ranck all went 1-1 in the two matches.

m. Barnes 8 13 0 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Barra 13 48 5 14 0 9 1 0.292
Bradsher 13 54 9 16 1 7 2 0.296
Carter 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Carty 13 56 11 15 1 12 2 0.268
Dupree 13 47 6 13 1 11 2 0.277
Everett 6 21 3 5 0 4 1 0.238
Fitz 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Hamilton 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Hooker 11 31 5 6 0 2 1 0.194
Horniak 5 11 1 0 0 0 0 0.000
Kemp 8 17 4 4 0 2 0 0.235
Lucas 13 40 6 8 1 6 1 0.200
Marotta 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Fate 5 5 0 2 0 0 0 0.200
Speas 3 3 0 0 0 0 0 0.000
Street 2 3 0 1 0 0 0 0.000
Waynick 13 53 8 13 2 4 2 0.245
Whitney 13 43 12 18 1 11 3 0.419
TOTALS 13 446 71 114 7 68 14 0.256

PITCHERS

Name GS IP H HR R SO ERA W-L
Albrecht 3 17.0 15 2 15 8 3.71 1-3
D. Barnes 1 12.2 18 2 15 5 9.59 0-0
Carty 0 1.0 1 0 1 0 9.00 0-0
Collins 1 13.0 12 2 12 2 8.31 0-1
Dupree 2 14.1 11 0 5 1 1.91 1-0
Gamble 1 20.0 19 1 13 1.50 1-1
Horniak 1 4.0 6 3 1 11 12.00 0-0
Mizell 1 8.0 6 0 3 3 3.38 1-1
Scott 4 20.2 20 1 18 11 6.68 1-2
TOTALS 13 112.1 113 9 88 51 5.78 5-8

“Don’t know talent when they see it!”' explains Don Stewart. "I’ve performed at the Bong Show for the past three years and I have never won a d— thing – not one year."

I sat in the cafeteria wondering if Don Stewart, an accounting senior here at High Point College, is for real. Don Stewart, an accounting senior here at High Point College, claimed his hobby of juggling began out of sheer boredom.

"I used to work at a pool as a pool attendant. You know, cleaning the skimmers and stuff. I’d get bored so I started balancing frisbees to blackboards.

When Don is not up to his balancing tricks, he’s involved with people and athletics, his other hobbies and interests, he says.

His trick? He wouldn’t tell me. But his biggest feat was when he balances 323 Happy Meal boxes at the McDonald’s he work at in New York.

When Don is not up to his balancing tricks, he’s involved with people and athletics, his other hobbies and interests, he says.

During the Pi Kappa Alpha Spring Rally Friday, the Alpaga Gams claimed first place for the third year in a row. The Zetas took second

Medina came here? Hi-Po: O.K. How was it when you first came here? D.D.: I hated hamburgers and hot dogs. I still do. But I eat them now. I’m forced to (laughs)

Chocolate ice cream and peanut butter.

Spring rally results

BY KEVIN CONNOLLY Assistant Sports Editor

BY JANINE S. JOSON Features Editor

The next time you stop by for the Best Eatin’, bring along this money-savin’ coupon.

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer, per visit. Please. Customer must pay any sales tax due. This coupon not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good during regular breakfast hours only at participating Hardee’s Restaurants from May 31, 1984 through May 31, 1984.

STEAK & EGG BISCUIT AND ORANGE JUICE $1.29

REGULAR ROAST BEEF SANDWICH, REGULAR FRIES & MEDIUM SOFT DRINK $1.79

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer, per visit. Please. Customer must pay any sales tax due. This coupon not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good after 10:30 AM, only at participating Hardee’s Restaurants through May 31, 1984.
Strictly Classified

Art in Europe

A study tour, called “Art in Europe,” will be conducted for the fifth year on July 14-31. The trip will include London, Paris and Amsterdam with side trips to Haarlem, Delft, The Hague, Strasbourg and Versailles. The trip is open to all HPC students and community members. Contact Jane Burton in the Fine Arts Department, Ext. 262, for more information.

The Living Museum Presents Mountains of Life

April 5 (tomorrow) at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the Holt McPherson Campus Center.

Attention Math and Science: May Graduates

RARE OPPORTUNITY: Opportunity for Fellowship (full tuition paid) for 2 year program leading to Master of Science Degree in Textile Technology: Scholarship worth 12,000 plus 85,000 guaranteed summer job placement in Industrial setting. INSTITUTE OF TEXTILE TECHNOLOGY: P.O. Box 391, Charlottesville, VA 22902

Call Ms. Wainer in CDC if interested

Call Dean William Harris, Collect: 904/296-511 if interested and have above a 2.8 GPA.

Please give names to Ms. Wainer in Career Dev. Office immediately.

DEADLINE FOR CONTACTING MR. HARRIS: April 8, 1984.

Information on School Available in Career Dev. Center

Prudential Insurance Co. will be recruiting again on campus April 12th (Thursday) from 9:00-5:00. Interested students see Ms. Wainer right away in Career Dev. office and have resumes (some spaces still available).

Employment

Art Dept. to take Museum Tour

The HPC Art Department will be taking a tour of the North Carolina Museum of Art, on April 18th, leaving at 9 a.m. and returning at 4 p.m. The trip will service as an introduction to art majors of the Museum's outstanding collection of paintings and sculpture, considered to be among the most important in the country.

At the same time students will be able to see the special exhibition, The North Carolina Artists Annual Exhibition. Otherex on campus who are interested in making the trip, if space is available, may call the Art Department (extension 282) for information.

Ruth Fiege and Beverly Clement, High Point College art majors, are exhibiting their work in the Foyer of the Holt McPherson Student Center from March 21 through April 6. Ruth Fiege, an Art Education major from Rockville, Md., is exhibiting her drawings and ceramic pieces. Fiege is presently practice teaching at Andrews High School in High Point. After completing a recent internship at the High Point Theatre Gallery where she assisted the director in hanging shows, recruitment of artists, planning exhibitions, Fiege is considering a career in the museum or gallery field. Her passion of spring? The expression of spring in Europe after graduating in May. Beverly Clement, an art major from Brevard, N.C., transferred from Brevard Junior College in 1982. She is exhibiting Paintings, prints, and ceramic work. Clement will be entering Southern Theological Seminary Social Work program to obtain a graduate degree in the fall of 1984. She feels that her art training will be useful in her future work.

Members of the Crafts class at High Point College are exhibiting their work in the Holt McPherson Center galleries next week.

Kites and baskets decorate the ceiling and walls - an expression of spring? The show will continue through April 27th.

Art Dept. to take Museum Tour

The HPC Art Department will be taking a tour of the North Carolina Museum of Art, on April 18th, leaving at 9 a.m. and returning at 4 p.m. The trip will service as an introduction to art majors of the Museum's outstanding collection of paintings and sculpture, considered to be among the most important in the country.

At the same time students will be able to see the special exhibition, The North Carolina Artists Annual Exhibition. Other ex on campus who are interested in making the trip, if space is available, may call the Art Department (extension 282) for information.

Ruth Fiege and Beverly Clement, High Point College art majors, are exhibiting their work in the Foyer of the Holt McPherson Student Center from March 21 through April 6. Ruth Fiege, an Art Education major from Rockville, Md., is exhibiting her drawings and ceramic pieces. Fiege is presently practice teaching at Andrews High School in High Point. After completing a recent internship at the High Point Theatre Gallery where she assisted the director in hanging shows, recruitment of artists, planning exhibitions, Fiege is considering a career in the museum or gallery field. Her passion of spring? The expression of spring in Europe after graduating in May. Beverly Clement, an art major from Brevard, N.C., transferred from Brevard Junior College in 1982. She is exhibiting Paintings, prints, and ceramic work. Clement will be entering Southern Theological Seminary Social Work program to obtain a graduate degree in the fall of 1984. She feels that her art training will be useful in her future work.

Members of the Crafts class at High Point College are exhibiting their work in the Holt McPherson Center galleries next week.

Kites and baskets decorate the ceiling and walls - an expression of spring? The show will continue through April 27th.

ADT's make music

On Wednesday, March 14, in the basement of Hayworth Chapel, Alpha Delta Theta sponsored an evening of music and fellowship with the Presbyterian Home Band. The evening's events included a concert given by the band, a sing-a-long, the songs of "yesteryear," and "Call You Sweetheart," and a refreshment and immediate plans are to return at 4 p.m. The trip will service as an introduction to art majors of the Museum's outstanding collection of paintings and sculpture, considered to be among the most important in the country.

At the same time students will be able to see the special exhibition, The North Carolina Artists Annual Exhibition. Other ex on campus who are interested in making the trip, if space is available, may call the Art Department (extension 282) for information.

Ruth Fiege and Beverly Clement, High Point College art majors, are exhibiting their work in the Foyer of the Holt McPherson Student Center from March 21 through April 6. Ruth Fiege, an Art Education major from Rockville, Md., is exhibiting her drawings and ceramic pieces. Fiege is presently practice teaching at Andrews High School in High Point. After completing a recent internship at the High Point Theatre Gallery where she assisted the director in hanging shows, recruitment of artists, planning exhibitions, Fiege is considering a career in the museum or gallery field. Her passion of spring? The expression of spring in Europe after graduating in May. Beverly Clement, an art major from Brevard, N.C., transferred from Brevard Junior College in 1982. She is exhibiting Paintings, prints, and ceramic work. Clement will be entering Southern Theological Seminary Social Work program to obtain a graduate degree in the fall of 1984. She feels that her art training will be useful in her future work.

Members of the Crafts class at High Point College are exhibiting their work in the Holt McPherson Center galleries next week.

Kites and baskets decorate the ceiling and walls - an expression of spring? The show will continue through April 27th.

SGA Class Officer elections end today--

vote at lunch and dinner

Notice to Those Who Can't Vote at Lunch Time

Contest Ends - April 13th

$5 - 2nd Prize

On now for those who can't vote at lunch time. The worst poem contest is called the "Worst Poem Contest - April 13th, 1984." Send entry to Writer Club Box 3009, or to Dr. Piacentino.
New library dedicated at ceremony on Saturday

BY LEWIS WHELESS
Editor-in-Chief

The Herman and Louise Smith Library at High Point College was dedicated during ceremonies Saturday in the library.

Dr. Thomas S. Haggai, High Point minister, well-known speaker and chairman of the third largest grocery chain in the world, presented the dedication address. Haggai was general chairman for the fund-raising campaign that raised $3 million for the new library.

Herman and Louise Smith and their family were special guests for the ceremony and participated in the ribbon-cutting to mark the official opening of the building. Charles Hayworth, chairman of the High Point College Board of Trustees, recognized the Smiths for their generous contributions to the college.

"These two people ought to be Mr. and Mrs. High Point," Hayworth said in honoring the Smiths.

Haggai credited Board member Ed Pleasants for his work on the library campaign and Clete Kruyer, Director of College Affairs, for their participation in the fund-raising campaign. He said 85 percent of the money already paid came from the triad area, and 75 percent came directly from High Point.

"There's not any school that has the whole-hearted business support (of its city) as High Point College."

Hayworth and HPC President Charles R. Lucht presented a large, framed photo of the new library and a photo album entailing the library progress to the Smiths. "I'm proud of it," commented Mrs. Smith.

Sharon Sweeney, Senior Class President, presented a painting by Bob Timberlake as a gift from the senior class.

Library equipment is arriving

BY SCOTT HEINECKE
Staff Writer

"Opening the Smith Library has been the most exciting and interesting and difficult work I've ever done." Commented Tom Gaughan, Director of Library Services for the College.

The library staff has faced many problems in opening Smith Library and has solved the majority of them but is still working on solutions for the rest. Problems that

Graduation plans finalized

BY CINDY MIZE
Assistant Editor

Graduation will be held May 6 in the Alumni Gymnasium at 10:30 am. According to Dr. W. H. Bearco, Dean of the college, the HPC singers and the High Point Symphonic Band will perform the music for graduation.

The graduation speaker will be Dr. Jack Bardon, professor of Education and Psychology at UNC-G. The Baccalaureate will be held on May 5 at 8 pm in Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church.

The bookstore will be open during graduation for the seniors to buy momentos and pick up their caps and gowns.

Class officers installed

BY TED CORYELEL
Staff Writer

Spring has always been a symbol of rebirth and the Student Government Association is no exception. New SGA officers were installed for next year at the last meeting.

Senior Class:
President, Denise Metiever
Vice President, Hope Phelps
Legislators: Suzanne Gillespie, Shannon Moore, Todd Harman

Junior Class:
President, Jennifer Austin
Vice President, Tammy Riggs
Legislators: Alicia Wright, Janet Temple, Ted Coryell, Carol Bidermann

Sophomore Class:
President, Jeanne Davis
Vice President, Karen White
Legislators: Terri Smith, Mike Stakes, Peggy Cain, Kristin Howard
Letters to the editor...

Alumna 'embarrassed'

Dear Editor,

Three cheers for High Point College, indeed! In regard to Dr. Carl Wheelless' letter in the April 4 edition of the Hi-Po, perhaps Dr. Wheelless misread my letter of March 18 to the High Point Enterprise. If I did not care about High Point College, I would not have bothered to express my concern publicly. It is my right to be angry, I think, as an apathetic to remain silent while the world is burning all around them. In my respect Dr. Wheelless' thirty years of service at the college as an unspoken statement of his love and dedication to the institution. On the other hand, I have known very few persons who have worked for the college for that length of time without becoming complainant about its inner workings. It is easy it is to register a vote of confidence for someone or something when you are secure and the worry about whether you are secure is being threatened! Dr. Wheelless questioned my con- tact with professors at High Point College who care more about education than money. I can say that I have been exposed only to those who cared enough to go the prover- bial extra mile by teaching night students who were in a second chance at a college education. The salary the professors receive for their extra efforts may help them make ends meet, but I honestly believe they teach us because they want to. We would welcome Dr. Wheelless and his administration, in a word, my opinion of the Hi-Po, perhaps Dr. Wheelless misread my letter of March 18 to the High Point Enterprise. If I did not care about High Point College, I would not have bothered to express my concern publicly. It is my right to be angry, I think, as an apathetic to remain silent while the world is burning all around them. In my respect Dr. Wheelless' thirty years of service at the college as an unspoken statement of his love and dedication to the institution. On the other hand, I have known very few persons who have worked for the college for that length of time without becoming complainant about its inner workings. It is easy it is to register a vote of confidence for someone or something when you are secure and the worry about whether you are secure is being threatened! Dr. Wheelless questioned my con- ta

CAEP student responds to letter

Dear Editor,

I have been exposed only to those who cared enough to go the proverbial extra mile by teaching night students who were in a second chance at a college education. The salary the professors receive for their extra efforts may help them make ends meet, but I honestly believe they teach us because they want to. We would welcome Dr. Wheelless and his administration, in a word, my opinion of the Hi-Po, perhaps Dr. Wheelless misread my letter of March 18 to the High Point Enterprise. If I did not care about High Point College, I would not have bothered to express my concern publicly. It is my right to be angry, I think, as an apathetic to remain silent while the world is burning all around them. In my respect Dr. Wheelless' thirty years of service at the college as an unspoken statement of his love and dedication to the institution. On the other hand, I have known very few persons who have worked for the college for that length of time without becoming complainant about its inner workings. It is easy it is to register a vote of confidence for someone or something when you are secure and the worry about whether you are secure is being threatened!

Hi-Po

P.O. Box 3510 Room 209 Campus Center

Lewis Wheless Editor-in-Chief
Cindy Mize Assistant Editor
Marina Quick Advertiser
Mark Phelps Business Manager
Kelly Cagle Sports Editor
Donna Burton Faculty Advisor
Scott Heincke Photography Editor

The opinions expressed in "Letters to the Editor" not necessarily those of the college... famous hypnotist also to perform

Last Class Bash to feature Jimmie ’J.J.’ Walker, bands

BY MICHAEL ROBERTS

Student Union Chairman Ted Coryell and Bob Rossi have organized a Last Class Bash, which according to Rossi, "will surpass anything we've ever done." Coryell and Rossi, along with Mr. R. W. Pittman, went to a national talent convention in Nashville, Tennessee to bring HPC the best talent available. The trio spent three days scouting comedians, bands, jugglers, and magicians. They have put together what they believe is the best four day show possible.

Tuesday features two world class comedians. Starting off will be Robert Nelson, "a juggler and comedian. Nelson will be warming up for Jimmie Walker, of the hit show "Good Times."

Wednesday marks the return of Gil Eagles and a famous hypnotist whose talents are widely sought. "Gil came last year and the students loved him. We feel really fortunate to have him this year," said Coryell. "The hypnotist whose name I cannot mention," added Rossi. "We feel very lucky for the campus skate. There we could see what exactly we would be paying for," said Rossi. Rossi added that performers such as Thomas Dolby, "Fireball," "Marshall Tucker Band," Robert Clive, and "The Michael Stanley Band" were also available, but refused to do just one show. "Because we saw the acts we booked earlier in the year we got them at lower prices," added Coryell.

All performances will be held at HPC auditorium with no admission charge. Tickets will be sold to the public at $3.00 per person. Painters' caps will be given to the first 100 people at each event. Weather permitting, a bonfire will also be held during the week.

Due to the job done by Ted Coryell and Bob Rossi on HPC's Last Class Bash '84 they have been interviewed for a segment on PM Magazine.

STREETS, composed of Billy Greer, Timmy Gehrt, Mike Slemmer and Steve Walsh will perform during Last Class Bash festivities. Other performers include comedian Jimmie Walker, famous hypnotist Gil Eagles, The Mighty Majors, and the Skip Castro band.

Alumni/Senior Banquet held

BY CINDY MIZE

Assistant Editor

Several professors will be leaving High Point College this year and are looking for new careers. They will all be taking positions at other schools.

Dr. Charles Teague, Assistant Professor of Religion, will leave after this year to become chairman of the Religion and Philosophy Department at Brevard College. Teague served as Chaplain for four years and in 1976 he received a Doctor of Ministry in Ministry Administration from Asbury Theological Seminary.

Teague said that the highlight of his teaching was working with the students and watching them develop and mature. "I have been fortunate to have the friends in the department and the students that I have grown to love. I now have a number of reasons. I have a position of Full Professor of Religion and Chaplain at Brevard. I'll be going back home to the mountains, there will be a nice increase in pay, and I will have more potential for advancement and more time in teaching," Teague commented.

Dr. John Gabriele, Assistant Professor of Spanish, has been at High Point College for approximately 3 years. Gabriele went to HPC to teach at Purdue University. Gabriele is from Waterbury, Connecticut and he received his BA and MA from the University of Connecticut.

He received his Ph.D. at Chapel Hill, and he holds a degree in Romance Languages and a Ph.D. in Spanish. Gabriele will be getting married March 12 and will go to Indiana.

Gabriele said that his highlight in teaching at High Point College was knowing that he helped directly with strengthening the Spanish program. "The enrollment in upper level Spanish courses has increased. I have been a part of meeting the students' needs that justify," Gabriele said. Gabriele also said that he is leaving HPC because it is time for him to move to a new position. "I'm just is individual to leave. "My primary teaching goal is to graduate level Spanish Literature. I will be doing that at Duke. I love to research, so I want to be at an Institute that has research facilities. What I want professionally I cannot be done here," Gabriele said.

Dr. J. Allen Tacker is retiring after a 49-year association with High Point College.

Tacker graduated from HPC with an A.B. in History and English in 1939. He was appointed Professor of Education in 1965, and became chairman of the Education Department in 1969. He received his M.S. from Duke University and his Ph.D. from UNC-Chapel Hill. Before coming to High Point College, Tacker taught at Pfeiffer and other public schools in North Carolina.

Tacker served as advisor to the NCAE/NAE student chapters and to the education profession. He is a member of Lighted Lamp. Tacker's professional ability in North Carolina includes work on evaluation and review projects of teacher education programs and students.

They're cloth. The popcorn machine will also be running at all events.

Bob Rossi commented that the success of this year's booking were accredited to the national talent show in Nashville. There we could see what exactly we would be paying for," said Rossi. Rossi added that performers such as Thomas Dolby, "Fireball," "Marshall Tucker Band," Robert Clive, and "The Michael Stanley Band" were also available, but refused to do just one show. "Because we saw the acts we booked earlier in the year we got them at lower prices," added Coryell.

All performances will be held at HPC auditorium with no admission charge. Tickets will be sold to the public at $3.00 per person. Painters' caps will be given to the first 100 people at each event. Weather permitting, a bonfire will also be held during the week.

Due to the job done by Ted Coryell and Bob Rossi on HPC's Last Class Bash '84 they have been interviewed for a segment on PM Magazine.

Senior class, presented a painting that seniors bought for the new Herman and Louise Smith library and presented Dr. Jack Williams with a plaque for his services to the senior class and the college.

Gari Evans, director of alumni affairs, presented the alumni of the year award to Dr. Allen Tacker and the senior of the year award to Denise Watts.

Career news

The following career placement news has been announced Joyce Wainer, Director of Career Development for HPC.

Attention Seniors: Although recruiting is over there are still jobs available. Managers trainees are needed at Pilsburg, Burger King, Zayre and A.L. Williams. Sales representative positions are also available at Cablevision, Hoover, Universal Furniture, Lazy Boy Chair Company. A National Career Conference will be held June 8-9 in Fayetteville, N.C. Recruiters will be at the Bordeaux Shopping Center to set up interviews. See Mrs. Wainer at room 101 in the campus center for employment information and details about the rising junior chemistry major scholarship.

Library

From pg. 1

Major Barnwell and Captain Davis of the High Point College ROTC program awarded the library staff a certificate of achievement as a "testimony to excellent planning and detailed organization" in moving the library.

Bill Frampton, SGA President, said it is "a pleasure to be in the new building. (The) facility will be well used by the students.

The Herman and Louise Smith Library was completed in fall 1983 to replace the M.J. Wrenn Memorial Library which was built in 1937 to accommodate 20,000 volumes.

The new facility is designed to hold more than three times the capacity of Wrenn. It currently accommodates approximately 120,000 volumes.

Richard A. by Sol Yurick

Avon Books, 1983

Here's a book for the summer, perfect for the mind.

It is 1962. The Cuban missile crisis is nearing the flash point, and Richard overhears things he would be better off not knowing, evidence of conflicts between the CIA and KGB, and worse. Soon he's being hunted by both, and by a shadowy organization that seems to believe that concepts like nationalism and political ideologies like democracy and communism must cease to exist. Each精读 with Richard; not to kill him but to use him to achieve their ends. Each group has been riddle with double meanings, and Richard must believe. What to believe?

The reader has no better idea than does Richard, but is swept along at a breathless pace. "Boxes within boxes" says Edward Kelley, the mysterious, amoral head of the shadowy internationalists. Each revelation the author gives as a prelude rather than enlightens.

Who to believe? What to believe? Should you believe what Richard tells you that Richard A. is a first rate thriller? It's up to you.

Tom Gaughan

The amazing Lives of Cell

"The mere existence of a cell should be one of the greatest astonishments of the earth. People ought to be walking around all day, all through their waking hours, calling to each other in wonderment, 'Got nothing except that cell... nothing else in life can ever be so puzzling.'" So writes Dr. Lewis Thomas, author of The Lives of a Cell and its sequel, The Medusa and the Snail.

The book of essays is comprised of selections of Thomas's "Notes of a Biology Watcher" column in the New England Journal of Medicine, and reading them is a real intellectual pleasure. They have been extremely successful as they have won literary awards and stimulated thousands and thousands to take an interest in science.

These essays could just as well have been published under the title, "A Celebration of Life." After reading them we feel better about ourselves and the world. Obviously, the author's scientific investigations do not stop in his laboratory, but even extend to a philosophical experience of nature and life. Hope is a pervasive mood throughout the essays which range in subject from life throughout the biosphere to life under the microscope, from cloning to health care to the experience of nature and life. They have been published in a number of magazines, and many have won literary awards and have been nominated for literary prizes. The sheer elegance and poetry of the language of these essays, as well as the somewhat shrewd, yet optimistic and gentle perceptions of the human situation are not what one would expect to find in a scientifically oriented book, which is exactly why the first collection of essays received the National Book Award -- not in the area of science, but in the area of letters.

Given the pessimistic tenor of our age, it is quite refreshing to read Dr. Thomas's collection of essays.

Dr. John E. Ward, Jr.

WWIH still struggling to obtain 100-watt license

BY TED CORYELL

Staff Writer

WWIH has gone to 100 watts! This statement is only true historically, for the WWHF staff...for now.

What is true, however, is that "just about everything is being done." The campus radio station can achieve 100-watt status, said former WWHF Station Manager Craig Van Steenburgh.

Van Steenburgh said, "rather than asking about ten-thousand dollars in lawyers, frequency searches, and applications to the FCC (Federal Communications Commission)" in order to get a 100-watt license.

Charles Hartsoe, business manager of the college, said he could not confirm the $10,000 figure because he has only been at High Point for two years. "We're not listening to the traffic or the transmitter, according to Van Steenburgh.

The station lost its first license last spring "because we actually never legally had it," said Van Steenburgh. He added, "Our irresponsible lawyer, Cliff Bond, forged an FCC official signature on our 100-watt license application. This resulted in the loss of the license."

Van Steenburgh said that he thinks the station should be funded by the school because it will cost much for SGA to pay. It presently, WWHF received $3,000 from SGA and $2,600 from the school.

Phi Sigma Iota is newest High Point College honor society

BY JUDY JONES

Special to the H-P-O

Phi Sigma Iota is the newest national honor society at High Point College.

This organization is one to honor outstanding achievements in the study of any foreign language and is the highest honors that students in the college can receive in the field of foreign languages.

Requirements for entrance of a student are: 1) concentration in a foreign language; 2) "B" average in the entire college course of study with a concentration in the aggregate of all foreign language study; 3) completed at least one course in third year level in a foreign language; 4) enrolled at the institution at the time of induction; 5) 35 percent of their class.

For a faculty member to be inducted, one must have taught for at least one year and have demonstrated ability in the field.

The College has one other honor society for foreign languages, Sigma Delta Pi, but he is only open to those student with a concentration in Spanish.

Students being inducted are:

Spanish: Ana Maria Diez de Medica

Charles McDaniel

Camille Davis

Kelly Brissentine

Pat Connelly

Carmen Cottle

Carlene Dix

Judy Jones

Debbie Scanlon

French

Crystal Hedgecock

Anne Jarrett

Kirsten Kezar

June McDowell

Kim Woosley

Alisa Wright

Faculty members being inducted are:

Dr. Carole Head, Dr. John Gabriel, Mrs. Olson, Dr. P. J. Lapaire, and Mrs. Kamenish.

Head presents paper at conference

BY JUDY JONES

Special to the H-P-O

Dr. Carole Head, Chair of the Modern Foreign Languages Department, presented a paper at the Conference on Foreign Languages for Business and Professional Women.

The conference was held April 5-7 at Eastern Michigan University and featured over 100 speakers from various colleges and universities.

Head's paper dealt with the different means of getting the business language into the foreign language classroom.

When we had a conference last fall, many teachers said they didn't have business courses in foreign languages, and they wanted ideas for activities with business aspects," said Head. "So my presentation suggested various activities or exercises for all levels of students so they can use the language for all purposes."

Some of the suggestions included "password," "What's my line," and job interview situations. These activities activities are "like building blocks to going into a specialized course," according to Head.

Head said she believes in trying to focus on business and professions a little in all courses, except literature, because of the importance of the "myriad of implications of the study of foreign languages."

Lapaire to present paper at Colloquium '84 in Georgia

BY JUDY JONES

Special to the H-P-O

Dr. P. J. Lapaire will present a paper for the Georgia Colloquium '84 at the University of Georgia, Athens on May 3-5.

Lapaire's paper is titled "Les Juges integres: noedul de La Chute," and it dealt with the key importance of the Van Eyck brothers' paintings The Just Judges in Albert Camus' The Fall.

The conference is an annual colloquium on the 19th and 20th century literature and foreign languages. The theme for this year's conference is "Literary Cross Pollination: Literature, the Arts, Literature and the Sciences."
The most important building on campus'

—Tom Haggai

SENIOR CLASS representatives present a Bob Timberlake painting as their gift to the new library during ceremonies Saturday afternoon. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

TOM GAUGHAN, Director of Library Services takes part in ribbon-cutting ceremonies the dedication of the Herman and Louise Smith Library. Tom Haggai, pictured at right, presented the dedication address. (Photo by Scott Heinecke)

Lisa Stowe: A poet in an ‘isolated image’

BY MARION HODGE
Special to the HI-PO

Lisa Stowe has brought honor upon herself, upon the English Department, and upon High Point College. She has placed among the finalists in the annual poetry contest sponsored by Hollins College. The poem she entered is called “Isolated Image,” and it’s about “a little old lady who cleans up, gets things in order, before she dies.”

Stowe is something of an isolated image herself, an artist in an institution which is putting emphasis on utilitarianism, a poet in a department of mass communicators.

So the little old lady is making a conscious decision to die: she’s going “ready to go”? She knows she’s getting “ready to go”? She’s going to die? The poem’s origin, Stowe says, is “Isolated Image,” and it’s about “a little old lady who cleans up, gets things in order, before she dies.”

Stowe is generally optimistic about the future. Poets will continue to write about the things they have always written about—life and death, love and hate.

Are all your poems based on personal experience? “Yes, of one kind or another.”

Even reading is experience. The poet uses the experience of others, too. And there’s universal experience. One can imagine it.

“If the times value imagination very little. You can see that in our majors—business and communications, and even by the number of submissions to the Apogee—much fewer than in the past. And the quality is not as high as it used to be. People don’t seem to have been working at it.”

Stowe’s own work is in the modern mode. It’s not structured, she says. It is free verse.

“I don’t write long poems. I seem to want to get everything down to one thing, one image.” Like the old lady.

“Well, yes. The value of poetry is in the human touch, the personal. It comes from within and moves out.”

Can everyone appreciate poetry? “I don’t know. When I first came here I didn’t understand it, didn’t see it. Modern poetry is difficult. You have to open up to it, experience it, pretend to be the poet. The key is participation.”

Stowe is generally optimistic about the future. Poets will continue to write about the things they have always written about—life and death, love and hate.

Retiring

Cont. from pg. 3

Nelson Rogers, Associate Professor of Business Administration, will retire this year after teaching at High Point College for 21 years. Rogers is married and has four children. He graduated from High Point College and received his MBA from Western New York University. He taught Business at the University of Kansas, served and worked in business 25 years prior to teaching here.

Rogers has been involved with the athletic program here for many years. He has served as the assistant coach for the girls’ tennis team. Rogers said that he has seen many students throughout his years as a professor here. “I’m going to miss it, but I’m looking forward to retirement. I will continue to live in High Point.”

Fernis Lindsey, a member of the cafeteria staff, will be retiring this year.

According to Frank Caulfield, director of food services, Lindsey has been here for approximately 40 years. Lindsey worked in the cafeteria when it was in Roberts Hall and Harrison Hall. He will be 80 years old this June.

Caulfield said, “Fernis has seen quite a few graduation classes go through. He gets along well with the students, and he never misses a day of work.”

HPC grad helps press cover Winter Olympics

by ABC Radio Information
New York

Janet Spaulding, an English Media Communications graduate of 1979 from High Point College, travelled with nine other top producers/reporters to Sarajevo to handle coverage of the Winter Olympics for ABC Radio Sports, along with the selected expert commentators and network anchors, announced Shelby Whitefield, Executive Producer and Director of Sports Broadcasting.

“AT ABC Radio Sports, (we prepared) for the most extensive coverage of Winter Olympic games ever undertaken by a radio network. In order to accomplish such a feat, we needed the best producers and reporters available, and I believe we found those people,” said Mr. Whitefield.

A producer and writer for ABC Radio Sports since December, 1982, Janet Spaulding produces a plethora of sports programs for the Adult Radio Networks, as well as daily sportscasts. Ms. Spaulding is also responsible for coordinating coverage assignments for all major sports events, both nationally and internationally. Her experience in sports coverage includes USFL and college football games. Prior to her appointment at ABC, Ms. Spaulding was the Sports Director for WOKX Radio in North Carolina.

Ellington’s Florist
1122 EAST LEXINGTON AVENUE
889-4748
Specializing in cut flower arrangements, corsages, and boutonnieres.

Friday Flowers - $3.00
FREE DELIVERY TO
HIGH POINT COLLEGE
We Have Balloons

Michael Roberts has been appointed Editor-in-Chief of the HI-PO for the 1984-85 academic year.

Roberts, a rising sophomore, worked as a staff writer this year. He is a communications major from Raeford, North Carolina. He said he hopes to “keep the campus well informed in an objective and thorough manner.”

Michael Roberts
Guilford halts Lady Panthers streak at six

BY MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

Guilford ended High Point College's hopes for its seventh consecutive conference championship as the Quakers won the Carolinas Conference women's tennis tournament Saturday.

Guilford collected 22 points to edge the Lady Panthers' 19. The two totals were far ahead of third place Atlantic Christian's eight points.

Leading the Quakers was unseeded Julie Topper, later selected as the conference player-of-the-year, who defeated High Point's second-seeded Annell Kiviniemi 6-3, 7-5 at the number one position.

HPC did have two singles champions. At the number two position, Ana Medina upset top-seeded Melanie Bischoff of Guilford 6-3, 6-1. At the number three position, Lynn Sharkey defeated Guilford's Claudia Mauhart 6-4, 7-5.

High Point's Therese Bognante feel to Quaker Lisa Miller at the fifth spot 6-3, 6-1, while upset-minded Dori Johnson fell to top-seeded Lilli Carpenter of Guilford 6-3, 6-2 at the number six position.

The team of Medina and Kiviniemi claimed the Panthers' one doubles championship by defeating Lena Linne and Annika Audborn of Atlantic Christian in the number one position.

The Lady Panthers will look to defend their District 29 championship next Friday with an opening match at UNC-Wilmingtong.

Recruiting news

High Point announces basketball signings

High Point College basketball coach Jerry Steele announced that 6-foot guard Mike Johnson has signed a grant-in-aid.

Johnson, a native of Mouth of Wilson, Virginia, to a 24-5 record as he averaged 10 points, three rebounds, four steals and four assists per game.

Johnson is originally a native of Woodbridge, Virginia.

Forest Hills was defeated in the finals of the district tournament by Southwest Guilford, the eventual state champion.

As a senior, Staton averaged 18 points and five assists per game and was selected the Union County Player-of-the-Year. She had been an All-Conference and All-Union County selection for three seasons.

Also signing is 6-foot center Debbie Johnson of Cape Fear Christian Academy in Erwin. Johnson, an All-Conference selection in the Southeastern Independent Conference, led her team to a 16-6 record and a spot in the state tournament.

During her final year, Johnson averaged 8.2 points and eight rebounds per game. She will also play volleyball at High Point.
Appalachian State defeats Panthers, 7-2

The High Point College tennis team fell to Appalachian State Monday 2-7. Pekka Makela defeated Lance Vagols 6-4, 7-5, 7-6 at the number one position for the Panthers' only singles victory.

At the number two spot, Randy Way defeated Sami Nahri 7-6, 6-3; Rob Beretly downed Matt Lange 7-5, 6-2 at the sixth position.

Makela and Wahri teamed up to defeat Vagols and Way for High Point's only doubles victory.

Sets records

Freshman Cook leads Panthers

BY MARK PHELPS
Sports Editor

Freshman Darryl Cook set two meet records in leading the High Point College track team to a second place finish at the Francis Marion Invitational.

Cook, who was chosen the meet's Most Valuable Performer, won the 100 meter dash in 10.03 and the 220 meter dash in 22.25. He joined Ian Lewis, Drew Gadson, and Fred Smiley on the winning mile relay squad.

Other top Panther performers included Mike Lemmo, who took first in the javelin with a personal best effort of 157.9 inches. Jack Songster, just returning from an injury, jumped 6'6" to take second in the high jump.

High Point headed to Pembroke State yesterday for the Carolina Conference meet.

Mens Intramural Softball tournament

Winners Bracket

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Pi Kappa Alpha</th>
<th>Lambda Chi</th>
<th>Swaffgang</th>
<th>Swaffgang</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Lambda Chi &quot;B&quot;</td>
<td>Oxen</td>
<td>A.I.A.</td>
<td>Jerry's Kids</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oxen</td>
<td>Jerry's Kids</td>
<td>Maintenance</td>
<td>Pikes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pikes</td>
<td>Garnet &amp; Gold</td>
<td>Lambda Chi</td>
<td>Signs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Losers Bracket

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Loser #19</th>
<th>Garnet &amp; Gold</th>
<th>Loser #4</th>
<th>Loser #16</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Loser #15</td>
<td>Loser #18</td>
<td>Loser #10</td>
<td>Loser #9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Faculty-student softball roster

Student Team:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Sherry Campbell</th>
<th>Lynn Fortalez</th>
<th>Bill Frampton</th>
<th>John Higgins</th>
<th>Ray Hotz</th>
<th>Victor Kosinski</th>
<th>Tony Welvertan</th>
<th>Suzy Ramirez</th>
<th>Don Stewart</th>
<th>Lynn Watts</th>
<th>Dave Weigle</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Alpha Gamma Delta</td>
<td>Zeta Tau Alpha</td>
<td>Student Government Association</td>
<td>Society for Collegiate Journalists</td>
<td>Pi Kappa Alpha</td>
<td>Alpha Phi Omega</td>
<td>Theta Chi</td>
<td>Phi Mu</td>
<td>Lambda Chi Delta</td>
<td>Kappa Delta</td>
<td>Delta Sigma Phi</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FACTOR: Tod Coryell, Student Union

Faculty Team:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Dean</td>
<td>Psychology</td>
<td>Information Services</td>
<td>Security</td>
<td>Business Office</td>
<td>Security</td>
<td>Library Director</td>
<td>Physical Education</td>
<td>English</td>
<td>English</td>
<td>Human Relations</td>
<td>Psychology</td>
<td>Admissions Office</td>
<td>American Humanities</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Repect Cont. from pg. 6

who have handled a bad situation well."
The last home game will be Friday, April 27, against St. Augustine. Coach Speight hopes everyone will give the seniors a warm farewell.

Hardee's

MAKE TRACKS FOR THE BEST EATIN' AROUND! The next time you stop by for the Best Eatin', bring along this money-savin' coupon.

STEAK & EGG BISCUIT AND ORANGE JUICE $1.29

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer, per visit, please. Customer must pay any sales tax due. This coupon not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good during regular breakfast hours only in participating Hardee's Restaurants through May 31, 1984.

1983 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

REGULAR ROAST BEEF SANDWICH, REGULAR FRIES & MEDIUM SOFT DRINK $1.79

Please present this coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer, per visit, please. Customer must pay any sales tax due. This coupon not good in combination with any other offers. Offer good after 10:30 AM, only in participating Hardee's Restaurants through May 31, 1984.

1983 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.
Pikas awarded plaque by MDA

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity was recently awarded a plaque by the Muscular Distrophy Association for its contributions to the organization. The plaque was awarded to the fraternity for raising $1,700 through various means, including donations collected in a raffle.

The fraternity also donated $500 for Big Brothers/Big Sisters through donations collected in a raffle.

Summer School registration is changed

According to Dr. David Holt, Registrar, the summer school registration will be done differently this year. Instead of having an extra day of classes on July 2, there will be a new "station" for everyone 19 and older to meet with their friends and pay.

The process of decorating the library is taking place right now. The senior class has given a Bob Timberlake print to the library which was presented at the library dedication.

The OCLC, an international research computer system, will be installed in July. It will be fully operational by the start of the fall term, and will allow students to request books from 2,700 other libraries around the world. The library has received 1,200 books so far, and the staff are currently working on implementing the system.

The Depot

On the 'right side of the tracks'

BY JANINE S. JOSON
Features Editor

If one leans over the railing, a sharp drop leading to lines of train tracks is first noticed. The murmur of voices accompanied with music indicates a party may well be occurring in the building behind. As soon as one walks into the room, sheets-white, printed and pastel colored—envelope past. People wrapped in these sheets makes one feel they may have stepped back in time to Greece and Roman days. As soon as one's eyes wander to the wooden floor, deck shoes, high top sneakers are being worn. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.

There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.

The Depot

On the 'right side of the tracks'

BY JANINE S. JOSON
Features Editor

If one leans over the railing, a sharp drop leading to lines of train tracks is first noticed. The murmur of voices accompanied with music indicates a party may well be occurring in the building behind. As soon as one walks into the room, sheets-white, printed and pastel colored—envelope past. People wrapped in these sheets makes one feel they may have stepped back in time to Greece and Roman days. As soon as one's eyes wander to the wooden floor, deck shoes, high top sneakers are being worn. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.

There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.

The Depot

On the 'right side of the tracks'

BY JANINE S. JOSON
Features Editor

If one leans over the railing, a sharp drop leading to lines of train tracks is first noticed. The murmur of voices accompanied with music indicates a party may well be occurring in the building behind. As soon as one walks into the room, sheets-white, printed and pastel colored—envelope past. People wrapped in these sheets makes one feel they may have stepped back in time to Greece and Roman days. As soon as one's eyes wander to the wooden floor, deck shoes, high top sneakers are being worn. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.

There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot. People are singing, talking, laughing, and shuffling around. There is a $5 charge for admission to the depot.